KILLED DURING A RIOT.

A RUSSIAN TOWN WITNESSES MUCH BLOODSHED.

Twenty-eight Persons Killed and Fifty More Injured at Slatousk in the Ural Mountains

St. Petersburg, March 30.-A great strike riot, accompanied by much bloodshed, has occurred at the Town of Slatousk, in the Government of Oofa, among the Ural Mountains. Twentyeight persons were killed and fifty were iniured.

The strike started in the State Iron Works, where 500 men walked out, demanding the release of three of their comrades who had been arrested. The Courages who had been arrested. In the Governor of the Province, who went to inquise into the affair, was mobbed as he was entering the house of the manager of the works. The rioters stormed the house and smashed in the doors and windows. The Mayor, with a force of gendarmes and a detachment of treops then arrived on the scene a force of gendarmes and a detachmen of troops, then arrived on the scene and ordered the rioters to disperse. The latter, however, stood their ground and the Mrayor was wounded by a re-volver shot. The gendarmes and troops immediately replied, firing volleys at the mob, and killed or wounded seven-ty-eight mea.

DEWEY TALKED TOO MUCH.

Admitted Pointed Reference to Germany.

Washington, March 30.-At the in stance of the President, Admiral Dewey called by appointment at the White House Saturday and made explanation of a recent newspaper interview in which the admiral was quoted as saying that the Caribbean Sea manoeuvres were "an object lesson to the Kaiser more than to any other person." The admiral assured the President that he had no intention of reflecting on Germany, her Emperor, or her navy, and that while the statements credited to him were substantially what he said he neglected he neglected to caution the interviewer against quot-

Admiral Dewey, published in a newspaper of Newark, N.J., and containing references to the German navy and German Emperor. The officials say they are reluctant to believe that the admiral was correctly quoted, "especially in view of the good-will he showed toward Germany in the messages exchanged with Prince Henry.".

The interview with Admiral Dewey has angered the newspapers. Even those of a usually moderate tone refer to it in a bitter manner. For instance, the Vossische Zeitung says:—"The American navy is evidently suffering from a disease of infancy—lack of modesty. Its leader evinces something unspeakably immature. One can only stand amazed that such intensified self-complacency should take root in a people of Germanic origin. Such behavior would not excite wonder if it had occurred in some Central or South American republic, or in Hayti. Admiral Dewey is a worthy imitator of Captain Coghlan, who at a New York club gave a boastful toast bristling with insults to Germany, and warmed up the exploded story that Admiral Dewey compelled the German fleet at Manila to lie to when it refused to respect the blockade. Captain Coghlan was disciplined, and President McKinley expressed to the German Ambassador his regret that the incident occurred. The same thing must perhaps be done now, in order that superheated Deweys may be cooled down. Political generals and admirals, at any rate, are not a sign of wholesome political conditions."

FIGHT TO A FINISH.

SEVENTEEN THOUSAND ON STRIKE AT LOWELL

Lowell, Mass., March 30.—In preference to fighting the textile union of Lowell, the agents of seven big cotton mills have to fighting the textile union of Lowell, the agents of seven big cotton mils have ordered an entire suspension of work for an indefinite period. Two days ago these agents officially announced that a canyass of the help showed that upward of 80 per cent. were non-union and were opposed to a strike. This sentiment changed yesterday, and when a second canvass was taken of the loom fixers, mule spinners, carders, nappers, weavers and beamers to-day, it was seen that the Taxtile Council was able to fulfil its threat by calling a strike and close the mills to-day.

Without delay notices of a shut-down to take effect at once, were posted on the gates, and as the piece hands completed their work they were told to leave. When speed went down at noon fully 17,000 operatives were in idleness. The length of the shut-down is problematical, but it is likely to last many weeks, as theunions have been promised financial support from the United Textile Workers or America, the National Mule Spinners' Association, the American Federation of Labor and from the local Trades and Labor Council, composed of 45 unions.

Agent W. S. Southworth of the Massachusetts Mills, Secretary of the Manufacturers' Association, says that if the total people think the shut-down will instead a serve positively told that all the operatives when agents will consider the matter of resumption. Other mill agents say the strike fever has been brewing for years and that, while a few little strikes have been won by the mills, the great principle of union dictation has not been fought to a finish. The agents admit that the battle will be fought now.

The shut-down will cause many hundreds of people to leave the city, especially those who came here from the Canadian Provinces. Every spring the French-Canadians, who have farms in Quebec, return, and the number will be avoided by provincials, who flock here every spring, seeking employment in the building trades.

Just as the second act of "L'Autre Danger," at the Theatre Francais, was about to commence, the audience was startled by the report of a pistol shot startled by the report of a pistol shot in the foyer, where a man was seen to fall with a wound in his head. The would-be suicide proved to be a dramatist named Gustave Salary, aged 60 years, residing at Villejuil, a remote suburb of Paris. He was taken to the hospital, and the bullet, which had lodged in a bone near the right eye, was extracted. His life was found to be in no danger. Mr. Salary said he had just had a play rejected by the management of the Theatre Francais after having been given to understand after having been given to understand that it would be accepted, and, being disheartened, he had resolved to end his life in the theatre which caused his

New York, March 30.—The Sur has the following special from Rome:-There was a stormy debate is Parliament to-day over the mysteriou arrest of the wealthy Jew, Goetz, at the Grand Hotel, Naples, last Monday, on suspicion of being implicated in plot to kill the Czar during his coming visit to Italy. Deputies of all parties strongly disapproved of the action of the Ministry, saying it showed too much subserviency to Russia. Signor Golditti, Minister of the Interior, explained that Goetz was a dangerous individual, and the arrest was a preliminary step to his expulsion. The Minister admitted, however, that the papers seized in Goetz's trunks did not reveal any crime, thus covertly alluding to the rumored plot to assassinate the Czar. MARRIAGE STOPPED

It was once said, by a person wh claimed to know, that "the course of true love never runs smooth.'

The reliability of this aphorism wa demonstrated the other day in the case of a certain young couple of this city who possessed a fervent and throbbing desire to go through the marriage act. After a number of long years of blissful wooing, the man in the case finally mustered up enough courage to ask for the fair maiden's hand. A few moments of bashiul si-lence and she blushingly consented, then—well, the deal was considered as

The two, shortly afterwards, wended their way to an issue of marriage li-censes and the prospective groom bold-ly asked for the necessary certificate and ring. They proceeded on their hap-py way to a clergyman's house. The man with a face beaming with newly-ferend in a proper service of the lifound joy, proudly produced the li-cense and petitioned the preacher to honor it with the necessary endorsa-tion. The lad, with perhaps pardonable thoughtlessness, had produced the li-cense from his trouser pocket, and in his nervousness, extracted the entire contents A couple of greenbacks fell contents A couple of greenbacks fell to the floor and the accident seemed to add alacrity to the acquiescence of the matrimonial marketer. THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL AND KENT COUNTY.

The redistribution bill will be in troduced at Ottawa within a few days and there is much speculation in regard to the probable changes in the boundaries of the constituencies Owing to the proportionately small gain of Ontario in population, the province stands to have its representation reduced by five members, and while it is certain that Bothwell will be wiped out, Kent with its 57,422, and Lambton with 56,642 population must be content two members each, although the two counties are almost entitled to five members according to the unit of population for each member. We speak of counties above because it is assumed that the Government will stand, in this case at least, by the old Liberal pledge to not divide counties even to equalize the reprementation.

The County of Kent, therefore will be given two members, and here it is that local politicians find room for speculation in regard to how the county will be divided, so as to have the two ridings nearly balance in population. Some naturally con clude that the present division of the riding for Legislative purpose will be followed, but when it is pointed out that according to the recent census returns, West Kent's population exceeds that of East Kent by over 10,000, they are not quite so sure of their ground. The fact is, as the figures prove, that while the two ridings were nearly equal in population in 1871 (the East at that time having a population of 19,772 and the West a popula tion of 20,862), the latter has been constantly increasing, while the East, since 1881, has been losing, until the disparity, as already stated, exceeds 10,000.

The Dominion authorities cannot well follow the division of the county for Ontario elections.

the following detailed table taken from the three last census returns, taken in connection with the total returns for 1871 given above, will no doubt prove interesting at this particular time.

Bleeding Patients.

Caspar-Among the ancient doctors bleeding the patient was the first operation in treating a case. Charlie-And now it's the last.-HarPessimism of Educated Youth.

Almost any evening, at dinner time, there may be seen in a well-known down town restaurant a group of young men, who occupy always the same corner and spend a long time talking over their coffee and cigars. They are all college graduates of a recent date, occupied in the day in getting a start in life, or, as one of them, who is engaged in some sort of literary work, more picturesquely puts it, "bucking the metropolis with a stub pen." Few have heard their talk, for when a stranger falls among them they are decorously polite, but uncommunicative, in the spirit of their leader. A few, however, have been initiated, and describe the conversations as "a series of carefully cultivated cynicisms, led by a lecture." Thus do their guests become victims to phrase-making.

"It would be hard to diagnose their complaint," said one of these victims; "they are so cheerful in their woe. Nothing at present suits them, and they all pronounce their daily tasks a bore. But they are not bothered with reform no-

"they are so cheerful in their woe. Nothing at present suits them, and they all pronounce their daily tasks a bore. But they are not bothered with reform notions and don't make a public fuss. I suspect they all cherish secret ambitions of winning commonplace successes, and swap their melancholy epigrams because they have no other way at present to maintain that academic seclusiveness your college graduate usually feels the lack of during the first years of his plunge into life. However, there's some truth and humor in their talk that needn't be summarily dismissed as downy faced cynicism."

And the speaker narrated as nearly as he could a speech of the leader on the subject of "How to Be Successful Though Educated." The young man knocked his cigarette ash into the dregs of his coffee and said: "Tve thought this all out, as Devery does his brilliants. It's not impromptu. I was burdened with the conception by too much paternal advice on how to succeed. We get too much of that advice on all hands. The path from the log cabin to the White House has been exploited and explained; we have been taught how to be happy though married, and it only remains to put the teaching into practice—a minor detail; magazines conducted by underpaid editors have told us how to get from home to college with a cow for capital; the lives of our captains of industry have been laid bare from their always humble beginnings, but the really useful work is the one not done. Who will tell us how ginnings, but the really useful werk is the one not done. Who will tell us how to be successful though educated? "The worst that may be aid of a col-lege training (until the chair of success is founded) is that it gives a young man ambitions. After all, the youth whose capital is a cow in most ins nees precapital is a cow in most ins nees pre-fers to keep his capital and m ik it; the boy in the log cabin hopes some day to build a house with store shingles; the young worker in the steel mill thinks he may in time rise to be a foreman, and is content if he does. But the college graduate has ambitions. Nurtured is romance, fed on history, filled with the keen relish for intellectual excitement and the power of intellectual mastery, he is yearly turned by the thousand into the hard world, with ambitions, but no job the hard world, with ambitions, but no job.

"There are open for him the law and medicine; but each requires three or four more years of training, and then an additional period of unremunerative waiting. There is business, but already the high school graduate has a four years' start, which, when all is said, the classics and French literature do not help to overcome. He might write novels, but his taste is too good, while a knowledge of art bars him from the drama. To be sure, there is teaching; the world still puts up with a little education in its teachers. Yet, as wemen will teach cheaper, even that field is restricted. It is no wonder that there are so many men of culture in the mines of Mexico and Alaska, or that so few of us college men marry before we are thirty. "Then someone asked this gloomy teacher of twenty-three, whose remarks were greeted with no applause, but quiet approval," said the outsider, "what he proposed to do about it. His answer was characteristic. "To-morrow I play golf,' he said."—N. Y. "Tribune."

Anæmia or any depressed state of the bodily functions are frequent causes. The exhaustion resulting from rheumatism also makes it easy for neuralgia to get a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion has for years been recognized as a powerful agent for good in giving new life to the worn-out nerve centers and building up the weakened tissues which are responsible for neuralgia.

In Scott's Emulsion the pure cod liver oil is combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda, the latter contributing strength to the blood and bones.

As the principal mission of Scott's Emulsion is to give healthy, solid flesh, active tissue, pure blood and rich bone marrow it will be readily seen why Scott's Emulsion is so effective in driving out the causes of neuralgia.

GE,

Mr. A. Shepherd, 46 Farley Ave., Toronto, Had Rheumatism So Bad He Had to Give Up Work-Was In a Very Bad Condition.

A Few Bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone Destroyed the Disease Germs and He Was Cured to Stay

About three years ago I contracted rheumatism. I at once put myself in my doctor's care and he relieved me. In a few months the rheumatism came back a great deal worse than it was before. I then tried different advertised cures, but I did not receive any benefit. By this time I was in a bad condition and was discouraged. I suffered intense pain and my wife put on hot water applications, which eased me a little. I was at this time recommended to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. In a short time I began to feel better and by the time I had taken a few bottles every symptom of pain and rheumatism had left my body. This was in January, 1901. I have not had the least symptom of this distressing disease since.

To Powley's Liquified Ozone is due.

Yours truly,

Toronto, Jan. 29, 1908. Ozone Cures Rheumatism Quickly and For All Time to Come.

Mr. Shepherd's case is simply one among hundreds. Every day cures of eumatism are being effected by Powte's Liquified Ozone that you hear nothing of. It is two years since Mr. Shepherd was cured and the fact that he has had neither ache nor pain since proves that he was cured to stay cured. By destroying the germs that cause the disease Ozone effects cures of theumatism when all drug preparations fail. It is sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

smopolitan London Affords Examples of Curious Customs of Nations.

Until recently few people seemed to be aware that such a large num-ber of foreigners—Germans, Poles, Russians, Armenians, and Chinese— were resident in England.

These people to a great extent re-tain many of their quaint manners and customs as well as their langu-age. In no particular is this more noticeable than when a wedding takes age. In no particular is this more noticeable than when a wedding takes place.

Pearl street, Spitalfields, is crammed with Poles, exiles from their own country. Although miserably poor, weddings are very frequent with them. These take place at the Greek Church, and a curious ceremony is enacted when nuptials are about to be celebrated.

The best man gets to church first and takes possession of the bride-groom's seat. The latter next arrives, and makes the former a present to vacate it. Then the veiled bride arrives, escorted by four men bearing a crimson cloth in front of her. This is to conceal her from her future husband's gaze. The bride's "Suacha," or agent, goes through a pretense of dressing her hair, and then puts a crown upon her head. From a silver basin the priest takes a handful of hops and throws them over the heads of the assembled guests. Having ascertained the patron saints of the young couple the priest next holds pictures of them over the bride and bridegroom, and makes an invocation on their behalf. Wax tapers are next lighted and given to the man and woman to hold. While doing so they drink three glasses of wine. The womenfolk present at this Juncture make a pretense of taking hold of the bride's dress and pulling her away from her newly acquired husband. The bride on her part clings to her groom's arm. Rings are exchanged, and then tian bride would be with the exception that no veil was worn. The bridegroom, a young Hindu, was most gorgeously arrayed in a pink silk coat, embroidered and brocaded in gold. He wore a red and white silk turban, and his bridal robes had cost him £120! The other gentlemen of the party were attired in English dress, but each wore a red fez. Mr. Quilliam, who was arrayed in his gorgeous official garments, officiated, the service being in sonorous Arabic.

omiciated, the service being in sonorous Arabic.

Three times was the question asked of both the bride and the bride groom if he or she were marrying by his or her own consent and free will. An affirmative having been given, the Sheikh next turned to the guests and asked them to bear witness. Then, in the name of Allah and Mohammed his prophet, the pair were declared man and wife.

Prayers followed, and each of the male friends of the man kissed him twice on the brow and on either cheek.

Mile End is the Mecca of the German Jew. Numberless little synagogues are to be found in this district, with very devout congregations who can scarcely speak English. Perhaps the ones in New Road and Vinecourt are the most typical. A patriarchal gentleman in a high hat, with a gold band and an elaborate cloak, the arms of which are likewise adorned with gold lace, is really the presiding genius at every German-Jewish wedding.

The other day a most prepossessing German-Jewish widow was married in Mile End. The synagogue

The arrival of the bride, attended by six friends of her own sex, was the signal for two more ladies to come forward and make pretense at dressing the bride's hair and to adjust a veil. She was then escorted to the dais and took her stand beside the groom under a canopy held by four gentlemen friends. The rabbi now stepped forward and read the marriage articles. These were signed by the bridegroom and the bride's relations.

Then the former took the bride's hand and said: "Be thou my wife." hand and said: "Be thou my wife."
Rings were then exchanged, for the Roosevelt and the Reporter.

President Roosevelt, is regarded as a ready assistant to newspaper men, and it is no uncommon thing for him to discuss freely state and political matters with correspondents. But there are occasions when his friendliness is put to severe tests. One of these came soon after the Roosevelt family settled at Sagamore Hill last summer, when many greatly exag gerated stories of the exploits of the Roosevelt children found their way into the columns of the daily press. The President decided to put an end to these stories, and one day summoned a correspondent who had been active in supplying his paper with this class of news.

The President lost no time in stating the object of the summons.

"I have noticed, Mr. —, that a great many stories have appeared in the regarding the exploits of my children. They have been very good stories indeed, and I assume you are responsible for them. I have only one fault to find with them, and that is that they are not strictly accurate. Now, you know I am always ready to give you the facts and hereafter whenever you wish exact information about the doings of members of my family, I wish you would come to me. I shall only be too pleased to oblige you. I will give you a bully good story right now, if you wish it."

The reporter sat up eagerly, even it somewhat crestfallen over the rebuke, as the President continued:

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I are going riding just as soon as you depart. We shall ride 'cross country, jumping exactly twenty-seven fences and six ditches, and when we return we shall go bathing in our riding-habits. My son Theodore is hunting this morning, and I have just received a bulletin from the jungle informing me that he has already killed two elephants and a tiger."

The reporter saw through the President's little play, but there was no way to escape.

"Isn't Theodore a wonder!" cried the President, and then continued: President Roosevelt, is regarded as speculty vanished—His Statement to the Public.

Toronto, March 30.—(Special).—One of the most dreaded and dangerous forms of Kidney Disease is Diabetes. With its sense of weight and acute pain in the loins, bleeding of the gums, swelling of the feet and ankles, emaciation and weakness, and its other painful and disagreeable accompaniments, it is held almost in horror by those who have been unfortunate enough to make its acquaintance, and every evidence of a complete and reliable cure is hailed with delight by all classes of society.

For this season the statement of A. W. Holman, of 193 1-2 Mutual Street, Toronto, is of peculiar interest. Mr. Holman says:

"I have been troubled with Diabetes for years and I have tried all kinds of medicines, but it was of no use. My attention was called to an advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I determined to try them. From the first box I got relief, and after using six boxes I am in a position to say that I am completely cured. I highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who may suffer as I have done." dent's little play, but there was no way to escape.

"Isn't Theodore a wonder!" cried the President, and then continued:

"Archibald, my second son, went out a little while ago to fish for tadpoles to be used as bait for whale. Ethel is tearing down the windmill at this very minute—step around the house and you can see her. Kermit, aged about seven, has just thrown a 200-pound secret service man two bouts out of three in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match, and Ouentin, my baby, is even now setting catch-as-catch-can wrestling match, and Quentin, my baby, is even now setting fire to the back part of the house.

"There, Mr. —, you have what I should call a fine story!" said Mr. Roosevelt, in all seriousness. "The facts are exactly right, and I trust you will not exaggerate if you use them. After this, please come direct to me, and I will give you these stories about my family whenever you desire them. Delighted to have seen you. Good morning."

Real Aristocracy.

Real Aristocracy.

The real aristocracies of Europe, such as the consular families of Rome and the magnates of Austria-Hungary, hold English pretensions to long descent in supreme contempt. It is not only true they despise the peerages of the Victorian age and such growths of the Reformation as the Cecils and the Cavendishes and the Russells, but they even think scorn of our mediaeval glories, and hold Seymours and Howards and Percys to be merely ennobled squires. There are, however, some three or four English families which are ranked as great even by the exacting requirements of Rome and Vienna, and eminent among these are the Talbots, the Stanleys and the Nevills. This reflection gives piquancy to Lord William Nevill's just-published book on convict life. To number "Warwick the King-maker" among his ancestors, to have one's home in the oldest inclosed deer park in England, to have been oneself the best-looking, best-ressed and most popular young man in London, and then to pass with perfect equanimity and contentment to drawing a cart on a convict fazor and washing medicine bottles in a convict infirmary is, indeed, to have established a social record of unusual interest.

Not Likely to be Readmitted to Germany.

Berlin, March 30.—The Government's intention to abolish the provision of the law excluding Jesuits from Germany announced in the Reichstag by Chancellor Von Buelow recently will not be realized. It is learned that the agitation against the measure that followed the action of Bishop Korum in March last, in threatening the parents of Roman Catholic children who attended the State schools of Treves with ecclesiastical penalties, has resulted in such changes of views on the part of the varyons. of views on the part of the various of views on the part of the various Governments that the Bundesrath now has a majority against the Jesuits' readmission. The question goes to the Bundesrath after Easter, where it will either be voted down or indefinitely postroned. postponed

Halifax, N.S., March 30.—Three ocean teamers, the Dominion Liner Canada and the Carthaginian and Bavarian the Allan Line. landed a total of 3.88 passengers here on Friday. The Allan
Liner Carthaginian was fourteen days en passengers here on Friday. The Alian Liner Carthaginian was fourteen days en the passage. Her passengers totalled 638-225 second and 413 third class. They were mostly all British, with a sprinking of foreigners. She had among her passengers to returning Canadians of the Seuth African Constabulary. They had been two months on the trip from Preteria and Bloenfuntein. They tell the same story as related by others recently arrived, of Canadian officers being removed and British and burgher officers being put is their places, and they were disgusted with the manner in which affairs were being conducted. They had to pay their own way from South Africa to London, and Lord Strathcona, the Canadian High commissioner, paid their way to Haiffax, and they were assisted from here to their homes. The returning soldlers were: John Lehrman, W. G. Briney, W. Thomsa, W. MasGilliwray, all of Calgary, N. W.T.; J. Miller, Duinnville; F. Hodgson, F. Hunser, W. Eacker, J. Price, H. Mann, Foronte; T. "IT'S GOOD TEA."

This is what the proprietor of Red Rose Tea claims for it. Some say the Rose Tea claims for it. Some say the claim is too modest, but you may notice that a grocer is very often asked,—"Have you any good tea?" The word "good" in this sense is probably intended to mean "best." So perhaps Red Rose Tea is The Best Tea.

Spring Remedies.

It has been the custom to take blood purifiers in the Spring. The reason for this is that the blood is most apt to be impure at this season. If you really need a blood purifier there are apt to be surface indications; pimples, blotches, boils or other eruptions. Lassitude, headache, a "tired feeling," and loss of appetite are the constitutional symptons.

Our BEST SARSAPARILLA we believe, as perfect a blood purifier as can be made.

GENEROUS OFFER

Bandmaster Harry Philp has a valuable suggestion to offer in connection with the proposed bungalow building on the Park. The members of the baad-about 24 in number—will receive their half pay from the Regiment this year. The total amount due to the band will be over $100. Mr. Philp proposes to donate this money to the building fund, providing the building is arranged so that one room will be set apart for the use of the band in practices, etc. A balcony can be built off the building facing the Park and here the band can give their popular band concerts during the summer. The suggestion is a good one and will likely be acted upon. Citizens generally are be acted upon. Citizens generally ar taking a live interest in this bunga low scheme and it will, no doubt, b carried to a successful issue.

THE RETURN RUN

The special C. P. R. passenger train which went through the city from Detroit to Toronto the other day carrying the kindergarten teachers of Chatham it carrying the kindergarten teachers of Detroit, returned Saturday night. The run from Detroit to Toronto was made in four hours and 23 minutes, but the trainmen Saturday night, when their train stopped at the local station to take on water, said they would beat that time. Leaving Toronto at 3.30 in the afternoon it arrived in Chatham at 7 o'clock, having lost a good deal of time between Toronto and London. The run from London was made at the rate of a mike in 57 seconds. The trip was made, according to the London Free Press, in four hours and 24 minutes, five minutes less than the former trip.

"So the G. T. R. still has the record," said an employee of the G. T. R. this morning, "and we can beat the C. P. R. record half an hour with one of our good engines. Besides, we'll back our statements with the green, too."

HISTORY OF MAN WHO WAS DOYEN OF IRISH AGITATORS.

Friend and Foe of O'Connell and Prime Minister of Victoria-Worked With D'Arcy McGee-End of the Young Irelanders-Goethe Was Duffy's Model-Glimpses of Great Men.

Death has removed the doyen of Trish agitators in the person of Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, at the age of eighty-seven years. The friend and foe of O'Connell, the intimate of Carlyie, the colleague of D'Arcy McGee, the young Irelander of Uister, the Prime Minister of Victoria, this is the career brought to mind by the mention of Duffy's name. Though it cannot be said of him that he was as great as O'Connell, O'Leary, or Davis, he made up for the lack of pure genius by a streak of common sense which won for him fame and riches in a new country, while many Death has removed the doyen of sense which won for him fame and riches in a new country, while many of bis friends, worn out in early middle age by their heroic struggles for the land of their birth, died in hopeless exile. Three young men working side by side in the dingy little office of The Dublin Nation; three strong-hearted Irishmen, a Canadian Minister of Agriculture, an Amparican general, a Victorian Premier—here are McGee, Meagher, and Duffy, 'the stones rejected by the builders.' One of them died at the Duffy, 'the stones rejected by the bufflers.' One of them died at the assessin's hand on the streets of Ottawa, cut off suddenly at the height of his career, the other, the inferior intellect of the three lives to receive a knighthood from his Sovereign, as a recognition of his service to the Empire.

Sovereign, as a recognition of his service to the Empire.

Worked With McGee.

Charles Gavan Duffy was born of well-to-do Roman Catholic parents, in Monaghan, in the year 1816. The grim tragedy of '98 was fresh in the minds of Irishmen in those days, and as the boy grew, he drank in hatred of English rule with every breath. An early inclination to literature pointed out his path for him. White a mere stripling he took an active part in an election against a landlord, and as a result some of his father's property was confiscated. Gavan went to Dublin, and became sub-editor of a paper when 20 years old. Five years later he was already prominent in the seething discontent of the time. Young Duffy was a worker, and though his newspapar duties might well have kept him busy, he read for the bar during his spare hours. In 1842 he took the step upon which depended the whole of his future career. With Davis, one of the brightest names in the history of Ireland, and Dillon, the father of the present Nationalist, Meagher, D'Arcy McGee, and Smith O'Brien, Duffy founded The Nation, a journal devoted heart and soul to the cause of Ireland. With O'Connell their leader and idol, they toiled at the time-honored Celtic profession of agitating. Surely the atmosphere of the little newspaper office must have been fairly electrical with genius. Then came the dark days, when O'Connell, suspected of timidity by his friends, and accused to treachery by his foes, stood undecided and dumb while all Ireland waited for his call to arms. But the far-famed meeting at Clontarf was never held, and the great Liberator's sun was set. The Nation turned on him, and so did the Young Irelanders, who cried, "We'll die for Ireland." And the "mighty, magnificent, mean old man" answered with a jest: "You and I, boys, will live for Ireland."

End of Young Irelanders.

When the courts pursued the gallant young Irishmen, and McGee and Meagher fled the country, the former to glorify Canadian politics, the lattroops in the Civil War, Duffy alone escaped exile. He languished in jail for nine months, and on his release carried on the old campaign for six years, in Parliament and out of it. But failure, famine, and depopulation had taken the heart out of those who dully listened to him, and then Duffy decided to shake the dust of the Emerald Isle from his shoes forever. In "My Life in Two Hemispheres" he says of his leaving: "I determined to quit Irelanc."

determined to quit Ireland.

I could no longer promise the fering people relief; and to wit injustice without curb and wiwithout remedy would render life painful. An Ireland where epainful. An Ireland where Mr.
Keogh typified patriotism and Dr.
Cullen the Church was an Ireland in which I could not live." So he went to Australia, and rose in Vitoria as McGee rose in Canada. Ar ter having been Prime Minister, he accepted the position of Speaker in Goethe Was Duffy's Model.

Goethe became his idol. He constluded that true philosophy was best edisplayed by the great German novelist when he shut his ears to the world-clamor of the French Revolution, locked himself in his study, and wrote books. So Sir Charles for the last twenty years of his life devoted himself to literature. Chief among his publications are "Young Lower Warrs of Irish His. among his publications are "Young Ireland," "Four Years of Irish His tory," "League of the North and South," "My Life in Two Hemispheres." The best society in Europe was open to him; success in Europe was open to him; success in the new country had healed the wound of failure in the old. His declining years must have been the happiest in his life. Once he wrote to a friend that he was weary of mew countries, and "longed for the green pastures where we wandered of old."

Glimpses of Great Men.

It has been said of him that he was utterly incapable of appreciating O'Connell's denunciation of slavery in the United States, that he was a niggard in his praise of the devoted men who took up his task when he laid it down, that he was to paraphrase Orsini, "a prince is swords, a beggar in action."

when Duffy found the Irish Tenant League, when he defeated the Chief Secretary for Ireland, when he initi-ated the present system of indepen-dent Opposition in the House of Commons, surely he was the man of Commons, surely he was the man of action. His writings show him at his best. He has the pollsh of the literary man, the easy charm of the cosmopolitan. His pages abound in charming biographical tit-bits of the great men of the century. We are introduced to Bright, Browning, Carlyle, Disraeli, Gladstone, Peel, Mill, Macaulay, Forster, Newman, Manning, and Thackeray. Tom Moore went to see him one day, and is described as "A little middle-aged man, with pleasant smile and lively described as "A little middle-sgd man, with pleasant smile and lively gyes, but of a countenance far from comely, and so elaborately dressed that the primrose gloves which he wore fid not seem out of harmony with the splendor of his attire." The last of the Young Irelanders has passed away, a grey-haired old man, but his memory will long be kept green on two continents.

Houses are not numbered according to Houses are not numbered according to their sequence in Japan, but according to the order of their erection. That is to say, No. 72 may adjoin No. 1, with No. 102 on the opposite side. No. 2 is probably a mile down the street. The city of Tokio is made up of thirteen hundred and thirty streets, in which are three hundred and eighteen thousand three hundred and twenty houses. These houses are divided up into fifteen wards. three hundred and twenty houses. These houses are divided up into fifteen wards. If a street passes through more than one ward the houses are numbered according to the wards in which they are—that is, a street passing through six wards will possess six number ones. It would be like hunting for a needle in a hay-stack for a stranger to try to find a number in Tokio, but a jinrikisha driver knows the position and number of almost every one of the houses in Tokio. He is able to do this by having made this business the one study of his life.

FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., the well-known Contractors and Builders, Welland, Ont., tells of how he was oured; "For fourtien years I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity the last five years. My most serious attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my, back, floating specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood."

Cost of England's Wars.

If we consider total expenditure, the South African war is the most expensive war that England has ever waged, with the single exception of the twenty-three years' war with France (1793-1815), the great cost of which was nearly four times that of the South African war. The Boer war, however, will have cost over twice as much as the war with the American colonies, two and a half times as much as the Seven Years' war, more than three times the cost of the Crimean war and from four to fifty times that of any of the other wars. Taking the duration of the wars into consideration, the South African war is by far the most costly war that Great Britain has ever been engaged in. The average annual cost of the Boer war is over $53,000,000. The war with France (1793-1815) cost £36,150,000 per year, or about 68 per cent. of the annual cost of the South African war; the Crimean war cost about £35,000,000, or 65 per cent; the Seven Years' war and the war with the American colonies cost each less than 20 per cent., and no other war-has come up to one-tenth of the average annual cost of the South African war.—"Annals of American Academy. war.- "Annals of American Aca-

Bake in small tins or a single cake, as perferred. It is excellent either hot or cold.

Cheese custards served with thin bread and butter sandwiches are often given as a separate course before des-sert. Into a cupful of warm (not hot) milk stir one teaspoonful of cornstarch until dissolved, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, half a saltspoon full of white pepper, a few grains of cayenne, a quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard, and salt to taste. Heat carefully in a double boiler until the cheese is dissolved. Add four eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately until light and brown. The mixture should be baked separately, for each person, in paper cases or pattypans, and eaten as soon as done. All cheese dishes should be served very hot.

New Form of Goose Culture. A North Dakota farmer has dis-covered a new way of increasing his flock of geese without going through the usual formality of buying or hatch-ing them, and yet he does not steal them. As the story goes, there is a great sand bar near the home of the farmer. This piece of land projects into the Mississippi river, but in such an exposed condition that a hunter cannot reach it without being seen. For many resting place for flocks of wild geese on their long flights to the far north. Recently the farmer in question saturated several pecks of corn with alcohol and distributed the "doctored" grain over the surface of the bar. The first flock of geese that alighted eagerly gobbled up the corn and soon became decidedly intoxicated. Some of them rolled over and went to sleep; others squawked absurdly and staggared about the bar. and still others tried to fly, but only plunged around in the air awhile and again alighted on the strip of the sand. The farmer, who had been in hiding, watching the effect of the scheme rushed to the sand bar and captured nearly the entire flock. He now has plenty of geese.-Exchange.

Fertile Eggs.

When a hen steals her nest and is allowed to sit, the result is usually a large hatch. When hens have been fed carefully and have produced eggs for a long time, it is folly to expect good regults from setting such eggs. Nature causes the female to become "broody" when her nest is full of eggs; therefore, the first twelve or twenty eggs laid are strongly fertile, and will produce healthy chicks. The result is less satisfactory as the number of eggs increases. I have experienced this, and do not breed from my layers.

The best results are obtained by mating two or three-year-old females with yearling birds, keeping such fowls back until you wish to mate. Breeding fowls can be allowed to run at large or mated with one male; partial confinement with more than one male will lead to trouble and lack of fertility.

Do not blame your incubator or the place where you set your hens; the trouble can be further off.

Eggs that do not test strongly fertile at the end of seven days, will not give a big hatch or healthy chicks.

Thirty years of exeperience has taught me that the key to the situation lies in the capiton of this short letter.—D. E. Howatt, in Country Gen-

Is it not apparent, then, that if this stomach churn is "sour" it sours all which is put into it? The evil of a foul stomach is not the bad tasts in the mouth and the foul breath taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of the blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. The Boy was glad of this, for his faith in himself was about gone. He gathered up his brushes, throwing a few curses at the weather as he did so in a bravado sort of fashion. He was determined not to be a fool this time and seek unsatisfactory sympathy from people who could not understand. Instead, he would go down to the "Vesuvio" and allow its liquid flame to consume his mood. "Better be drunk than foolish," he said to the Girl as he started for the door. "I'm tired of this breathless pursuit of the Ideal. After all, if I did overtake her, I don't suppose she'd be worth

"Envied me? Don't laugh at a fellow because you've happened to find the way to success. Suppose you do manage to naint good canvases and win plaudits. Ten million people have had the same little reward for the same mighty struggle. Already the wear and worry is showing on you. In ten years youth will be gone from you and all you'll have for it will be the memory of heart's blood painted into canvas for trivial imention,' and tragic realization of your limitations. The wise man is he who refuses to do what he is able to do; our ability always seems so much greater ability always seems so much greater to us until we put it to the test. Never give yourself a chance. That's the only way to escape heart-break."

The Girl was fragile in the gray light

The Girl was fragile in the gray light. She stood at the window looking into the twilight that fell in hopelessness among the crowding walls of unsightly buildings. The Boy took a step toward the door. Then the Girl turned.
"I wish you would not talk like that." she said. "It hurts. Have I ever said expected to do great things? You know I haven't. I was mean to-day and half envied you for your gift. But I don't want to envy anybody. I try-not to think of future or fame, for it is thinking of self-glory that brings pain and disappointment. I try to do my work as best I can because it is my nd disappointment. I try to do my rork as best I can because it is my work as best I can because it is my work and because I must do it. I know it is delightful to win success. We can't help feeling that our effort has won approval. But I don't work for success. I put my heart into my pictures because I have to, and if by so success. I put my heart into my pic-tures because I have to, and if by so doing I can soften, if only for an in-stant, some other heart; bring a look of wistfulness into a careless eye; waken a longing in a dreamless soul, I have the greatest of rewards. "I know how weak I am and how discouraged I grow even yet. But discouragement never lingers long. All I need do is remind myself that I am not an isolated toiler wearing out my own destiny in unsympathetic solitude, but one of many who are working to carry to completion the wonderful plan of the great Designer of things beautiful.

"There are no failures. Your discouragement helps me to catch the shadows my portion of the picture needs to-day; my rebellion shows you the glorious light of patience and sympathy your brush must depict."

The Girl laid her hand lightly on the Boy's shoulder. "What great work you are going to do," she said. "Some of the wonderful touches in the picture have been reserved for you. You are not 'tired of the pursuit of the Ideal.' You are only impatient that your hand has not yet the wonderful skill your soul demands of it. Be patient; there's not only Time but Eternity for our work."

They stepped into the corridor and paused in silence. From a room opposite some divine melody drifted to them. The Boy was glad of the darkness, for his eyes were wet. He grasped the Girl's hand.

"I thank you," he said. "I guess I was only impatient."—Leavenworth MacNab.

ACTORS ROTTEN-EGGED IN A NEW YORK THEATRE.

Were Presenting "McFadden's Row of Flats," Which Displeased a Large Number of Irishmen.

New York, March 30 .- Two hundred Irishmen, whose feelings had been outraged by the performance of the travesty "McFadden's Row of Flats" at the new Star Theatre, rose in their seats in the theatre, at a signal, tonight, and pelted the performance with rotten eggs, decayed vegetables and fruit. The audience of over 2,000 were thrown into an uproar, and the actors fruit. The audience of over 2,000 were thrown into an uproar, and the actors were driven from the stage. Five of the disturbers were arrested.

The assault is openly declared to be the work of the allied Irish societies of the city and its vicinity. Major McCrystal, late of the 69th Regiment, declared forcibly last night that the Irishmen of the city are banded to-leave put his very kind of work until the burlesquing of Irish characters is stopped. Other Irishmen said the same thing. The protests against the play, which is old, having been brought out by Barry & Fay, of variety stage fame, several years ago, have gone on in New England and in this city, and the Irish have all the time been growing warmer over the continued performances. A few women were among the persons standing up last night as the eggs began to five. Not a person on the stage escaped being hit by at least two or three eggs, but none of them got manny more than that. The donkey was a sight. Eggs hit him everywhere, and he stood it just like a donkey. One egg went right into an ear, closing it up, whereat he blinked one eye solemnly, but stood stell, as if it were part of the show, and he the hero.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Britaish Government Was Almost Defeated.

London, March 30 .- In the lobbies of Parliament Saturday the opinion re sarding the Irish land bill was rather to be a measure of such complexity that its only chance of existence lies in the rather doubtful possibility of all pasties consenting to accept in a genparties consenting to accept in a gen-erous spirit, and that an active opposi-tions from any quarter must inevitably wreck it. The Nationalists already are displaying restlessness. Lately they have rather consistently support-ed the Government in the divisions, but last night, on a private member's built of hithe consequence, they voted against the Government, with the re-sult that the Ministers only escaped de-feat by the narrow majority of thir-

This uncertain attitude of John Redmonda supporters is giving the Government great anxiety, and it is believed that if the Irishmen show a carping spirit towards the land bill many Univousist supporters of the Government will counsel its withdrawal, on the ground of its unpopularity among the British electors, who are already smarting under the burdens of a heavy war taxation.

ROSEBERY'S DAUGHTER.

Married at Epsom to Lieut. C. J. C. Grant.

London, March 30.—The Earl of Rosebery's eldest daughter, Lady Sybil was married at Epsom on Saturday to Lieut. C. J. C. Grant, of the Coldstream Guards, son of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert Grant. The wedding was quiet only near relatives and internete friends of the families being present. Lord Rosebery gave away his daughter, who was attended by eight bridesmaids, including Miss Muriel White, wearing the Earl's racing colors, printrose and pink. A wedding luncheon afterwards was served at the Durdans, Lord Rosebery's seat at Epson. The display of presents-rasely has been equalled. King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family sent diamond. only near relatives and intrinate friends bers of the royal family sent diamond bracelets or brooches. Lord Rosebery's gift amounted to a large fortune in diamond and pearl tiaras, necklaces sprays, bracelets, etc. The Rothschilds and Sassoons sent the bride numerous costly iewels.

If House Concludes, Judges Will Meet Soon

Toronto, March 30.—The proceedings in the Legislature today will to a large extent detremine the immediate course with reference to the Royal Commission on the Gamey charges. The Opposition still assume a critical attitude toward the evidence act, but Mr. Foy rather with drew his open hostility when Colonel Gibson challenged him on the occasion of the last references to the measure. of the last references to the measure. If the bill passes to-day Chief Justice Moss will make a special trip to the Parliament buildings to give royal assent, and the commission will organize some day toward the end of the week, though they may not commence taking evidence before next Monday.

The Opposition promise a fight over the question of adjourning the House until April 21, though Mr. Whitney said he hoped to conclude the business to-day if the members are present for voting. The other contentious sand he hoped to contribute the business to-day if the members are present for voting. The other contentious matter is the voting of $340,000 supplies asked for April, without which the service and all persons having business with the Government will be greatly inconvenienced. Then there will be the address in reply to the speech from the throne, the proposal to pass which Mr. Whitney objected to on Friday night. The disposal of this, however, is not absolutely necessary before adjournment, although his Honor may not think the House very respectful if they defer their formal offering of thanks until after the approaching long adjournment.

There seems little doubt but that Mr. Gamey will go before the commission. At least the concern of the Opposition over the terms of the evidence will give solve the terms.

Opposition over the terms of the evidence bill gives color to that view. In any case Mr. Gamey, if summoned, as he doubtless will be, will be under the same regulations for compulsory attendance and answering of questions as any person else.

SCOTCHMEN PROTEST.

Desire to Give Macdonald National Funeral.

London, March 30.—The despatch of the remains of Major-General Macdon ald, who committed suicide in Paris, to Scotland by train, was the occasion for a remarkable demonstration owing to the fact that his widow had decided that the burial shall take place at 6 o'clock in the morning, immediate ly after the arrival of the body at Edin burgh. Hundreds of Scotchmen, representing. Human east of sections and several Scotch members of Parliament, gathered on the platform at the King's Cross Railway station here. Most of the Scotchmen were their national cost tumes, wreaths were placed on the con-fin in the name of the different clans, and the pipers played national dirger as the body was entrained. All at-tempts to persuade the widow to delay the interment and permit the Highland ers to arrange for a national juneral in the Highlands having failed, a large number of influential Scotchmen adjourned to the hotel in the railway station and held a meeting of protest. The Scotch members of Partiament, Allans and Lames Calloway Wais and other and James Galloway Weir and others, made speeches, and a resolution was adopted urging the Lord Provost of Edinburgh to renew the efforts to get the funeral postponed.

GIVEN A CHANCE

"It is far worse to steal from your employer than from anyone else, because your employer trusts you," remarked Judge Houston this morning in passing sentence on James Bradshaw, convicted of stealing wrenches and shells from A. H. Patterson, the shaw, convicted of stealing wrenches and shells from A. H. Patterson, the hardware merchant. I have gone carefully over the evidence. I came down early this morning to do it and I find that there is no reasonable doubt of your guilt. If absolute proof were required, there would be very few convictions. In consideration of your previous good character your family, and the fact that you are a good workman, I will suspend sentence for six months. If at the end of that time you come back with a good character, I will give you a light sentence. Too many regard suspended sentences lightly and only wipe them off when they come up to answer to a second charge." After warning Mr. Bradshaw to return at the end of six months, the Judge ordered his release from custody.

Crown Attorney Herbert D. Smith prosecuted and O. L. Lewis defended in this case.

ABOLISH ENCORES

"Encores should be abolished at church entertainments," remarked Judge Houston this morning. "I know they are nice and that the performers like them, but they make the program too long. One of the best church concerts I ever attended was at the Jarvis street Baptist church, Toronto. The late Mr. Pegley and myself were in the Queen City on legal business. We heard of the concert but decided not to go as we didn't care to be up half the night. A friend told us that we needn't be afraid of that as the concert would begin at 8.30 and be through by 10 o'clock. Mr. Pegley was very fond of music so we went. We learned on our arrival that all emores wer forbidden. It was a splendid idea. One of our party desired to hear a solo on the organ repeated. He asked the organist if he wouldn't play it over once. The musician assented, but said that he would have to wait till after the concert and he wouldn't touch the instrument till every person was out of the church. The abolishment of the encores improved the concert wonderfully.

"There is another thing I would like to see advocated, and that is that no person be allowed to enter while a number on the program is being given. Besides annoying the audience and distracting attention, the entrance of anyone always bothers the performer." "Encores should be abolished at
