Horrible Crime Committed by Tramps in Elgin County.

Victim a Young Man of Twenty Years of Age-Holda Second-Class Teachers' Certificate But Assists His Mother In Cultivating a Little Farm-Three Suspects Arrested at Hagers ville-Threats of Lynch Law.

St. Thomas, Nov. 8 .- This city and district is stirred to the lynching point by a crime at Springfield.

The story told by the victim, Richmond Beck, is that he was going to the woods on his mother's farm to work, when he was accosted by three work, when he was accosted by three tramps, who were sitting on the fence. They asked him his name, and he gave it. Then he asked their names. The oldest one replied "Baldwin." The tramps asked where they could get a drink of water, and were told by Beck, who went with them to get a drink. On coming back Baldwin started to lift a log at one end, and then Beck lifted. Then Baldwin lifted the whole log. Then he remarked that Beck was log. Then he remarked that Beck was a husky youth, and started to wrestle with him. He threw Beck three times. On going down the third time, Beck, in some manner, struck Baldwin on the shin accidently, whereupon Bald-

At noon yesterday a crowd of 400 people gathered at the Springfield Station, expecting that the men captured at Hagersville would be brought back on the M. C. R. mail train. There was talk of violence, but the men did not come on the train.

Beck, who is twenty years of age, and who holds a second-class teachers' certificate, is said to have no enemies, and is a quiet inoffensive youth. Hit father left the neighborhood twelve years ago, and ever since then Beck has been working on the little farm to assist his mother, and two sisters.

Coal Gas Kills Aged Man.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 8 .- Escaping gas from a kitchen range resulted in the death of William Lee of Durle street yesterday morning. Deceased, who was 80 years of age, lived with his wife and two daughters. The family retired as usual, but must have left the damper turned in the stovepipe. At a late hour yesterday merning one of the daughters awoke in a dazed condition. She was almost overcome with the fumes of gas, and seeing that the others were overcome, managed to make her way to Mrs. Wilcox, a neighothers were overcome, managed to make her way to Mrs. Wilcox, a neigh-bor. Dear Sir:

I hereby resign my position as a member of the Board of Public School Trustees for the City of Chatham.

In doing so, may I express the great regret I feel in terminating my relationship with the members of the Board at this time. I need scarcely say to you that I have taken much interest and pleasure in the work of the Board and that I have endeavored during all the years throughout which I have held a seat at the Board to exercise my best judgment in honestly promoting our educational interests, and in administering the affairs of the Board with economy and prudence. I therefore economy and prudence. I therefor very much regret feeling constrained to resign my position.

Yours sincerely,

WM. ROBERTSON.

The foregoing communications, received and acted upon by the Public ly honored by the highest educational School Board last evening, formed the dramatic climax to the misunderstanding and interchange between the Board and Mayor Cowan during the past few weeks.

The meeting was a quiet and dignified one. There was no "grandstanding"-no strong statements or wealth of adjectives. The letters were couched in careful and thoughtful terms; they were the result of honest and manly consideration, and, while received by the Board with profound regret, they were instantly accepted in the spirit in which they, were tendered-a desire to do the

There were explanations submitted on several of the accounts, however, that showed that the Mayor's thrusts had been duy noted—and a spirit of mild sarcasm permeated this part of the discussion

In moving the acceptance of the three resignations, Dr. McKeough paid high tribute to the retiring Trustees. "It has been my portion," he said, "to have been called upon in he said, "to have been called upon in the past to move the acceptance of the resignations of many very popular and efficient teachers, but never did I make a resolution more reluctantly than I do to-night. ### YOUNG MEN'S SOCIAL CLUB

A Re-Organization Meeting Held in the Park St. Me hodist Church

Preparations. Made for the Year's Work -Officers Elected - All Young Men Invited

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather last evening, a large num-ber of young men attended the reorganization meeting of the Young Men's Club of the Park street Methodist church in the school room. Ald W. H. Westman, the President of the Club, occupied the chair. The following officers were elected:

Hon, President—Rev. Mr. Rutledge.
President—W. H. Westman.
First Vice-Pres.—Dr. Thornton.
Second Vice-Pres.—W. J. Young.
Sec.-Treas.—H. Shillington.
Program Committee—P. Morley,
chairman, W. Shannon, J. Harrington, Mr. King and Mr. Broad.
Amusement Committee—P. Bedford, chairman, Mr. Oldershaw, Mr.
Summers, Mr. Munroe, Mr. Swift

Gentlemen of the Board:
We all very deeply regret the resignation of Trustees Robertson, Paxtong and Bensen. It is not necessary that I should in any way refer to the events which have led up to this action on the part of our colleagues.
We are perfectly convinced that no ratepayer in the city thinks for one moment that one single cent has been misappropriated, or that these trustees have committed any monal wrong. Summers, Mr. Munroe, Mr. Swift.
After the election of officers much discussion followed and resulted in bringing out many valuable helps to concerned, there is only one course open to us. We must accept these resignations, deeply as we regret the necessity for so doing. Only those who have sat with these three trus-tees can realize their worth to the city.

bringing out many valuable helps to the young men. The admission fee for the Club was left the same as last year—fifty cents. It is the intention of the Club to bring the membership of the Club up to two hundred This season if possible.

The Club is not only for those who attend the Methodist church, but is for any young man who cares to join. All the young men of the city are welcome. The ebject of the Club is to bring together the young men of the city and thereby form a social friendship with one another that can not be reached in any other way.

It was decided to field a meeting once every week, Tuesday evening being the night set for that purpose, when games and other amusements can be taken part in. The meetings will be held in the club-rooms of the church.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Thornton as teacher of the Club on Sunday afternoon and he was elected to that position again by an unanimous vote of the boys.

After considerable discussion it was decided by an unanimous vote of those present to hold a special service for the benefit of the young men on Sunday evening, November 19. Rev. Mr. Rutledge has promised to deliver a special sermon to young men on that evening, which will no doubt be interesting and instructive. Special music will be provided for the occasion, given by the young men of the Club. The male choir will in all probability be in charge of Miss Hollinrake. The boys promise to make this service one of the best for the "year. for the year.

SUNDAY PAPERS

It is to be hoped that the judgment handed down by Police Magistrate Glenn of St. Thomas relative to the sale of American Sunday papers-which was noted in yesterday's Planet-may stand as a precedent in this Province. There is no reason why the Yankee publications should be permitted an immunity from the law which prevents the Canadian merchant or book and magazine seller from conducting his business on the Sabbath.

The Lord's Day Act is an excellent piece of legislation, a credit to Canada and a great boon to the working man. And it is well that it should be earnestly and emphatically enforced.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES RESIGN.

There can be no question that, in tendering their resignations as members of the Public School Board last evening, Messrs. Bensen, Paxton and Robertson took the right and dignified course. No one believes that they knowingly took advantage of their position as Trustees, yet it became evident that, by indiscretion and thoughtlessness, their colleagues had permitted them to come within the condemnation of legal technicality. As honorable men there was nothing else for them to do but withdraw-and that this position was taken promptly and voluntarily, speaks well for the sentiments which govern the Board.

That the citizens will appreciate their position and the course taker The Planet has no doubt. They are men who, as their colleagues bore testimony last night, have rendered invaluable service to the public-service that the public will not readily overlook. It is earnestly hoped that the Board will bring on the bye-el ctions at the earliest opportunity and that the long service and proper position taken by the Trustees in question will be recognized by their early return to their duties at the Board,

Meanwhile, let the unfortunata cocurrence be a warning and protection against legal indiscretions by all our civic representatives. There is a general feeling that there has been some laxity in the past-and that it has been, by no means, confined to the School Board or the gentlemen in question. Wouldn't it pay our Council to undertake some earnest heart-to-heart probings-and form some new and vigorous resolutions.

BABY BLANKET.

A Dainty Affair, Durable, Warm and

If the saving is true that as a stool can stand on three legs so anything is bound to be a success that has three qualities to recommend it, the baby's blanket illustrated is certainly worthy of consideration, for it combines the three practical qualities of being easy to make, durable and warm, as well as Flannelette Blankets having the dainty beauty so necessary to a baby's belongings.

To make it, knit on medium sized wooden or rubber needles in plain garter stitch two pieces nearly a yard square, one blue, one white, using Shetland floss.

When the squares are completed put a sheet c a vool wadding between them and tack, as you would a comfortable with blue ribbon, having the tiny bows me on the blue side of the blanket. With the blue wool join the edges with single crochet; then crochet a bor-der in knot stitch. This is done by pulling a loop on the needle up until it s about an inch long. Through this loop pull another loop, this time very close, as it is the first loop of a single crochet. Take the second loop of the single crrchet through the first long loop and the close loop. This gives two stitches on the needle. Pull the wool through both, and the single crochet is finished. Then draw the loop on the needle out about an inch; pull a short loop through it. Make a single crochet into the fourth or fifth stitch on the edge of the blanket and repeat

Decorating For a Barn Dance For those fortunate folk who stay in the country until the bright autumn lays are over it is the season now for harvest home festivals, barn dances and the like. A big, roomy barn is the ideal place for this sort of festivity, but the harvest home effect can be obtained even in a city home by a judi-cious commingling of ingenuity and crape paper. At a big barn dance at Newport rows on rows of shocks of corn represented an autumn cornfield and no one not in the secret suspected that every one of those cornstalks was made of crape paper. Another festivity given early in the season in the Thousand islands had abundant decorations of autumn foliage, and the

It is in the tropics of course that serpents chiefly abound. All snakes are of tropical origin, but some species have spread into cooler latitudes. In very cold countries there are no snakes. Contrary to the popular belief, there are some snakes in Ireland, but they are very rare. The smallest serpents in the world are the "worm snakes" of the tropics. They are about as big as fair sized earthworms. Some snakes lay eggs, while others bring forth their young alive. In the latter category are vipers, rattlesnakes and nearly all water snakes, Pythons incubate their eggs after lay-

How many women have you heard say:
"My how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc.
These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terr-ble kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

PORTABLE FIRE ESCAPE. Small But Efficient and Always Ready For Use-Can Be Carried In One

Hand With Ease. In the accompanying engraving is illustrated a small but very efficient fire escape which will be found useful in hotels or may be kept in the home ready for use in case of emergency. No hotel is perfectly fireproof, and a traveling man is constantly exposed to the danger of fire. For such person this fire escape is particularly advantageous because it occupies a minimum of space in the valise or trunk. It consists essentially of a roll of steel tape coiled on a drum and having a grapple attachment to the free end, which may be hooked over the window sill. The drum is completely inclosed in a casing except for a pair of hubs which project on opposite sides and carry a pair of brake bands attached to a brake lever. The drum is mounted on a shaft which has bearings in a pair of side straps. The latter extend below the drum and form a handle by which the apparatus may be grasped. A shackle is attached to the lower end of the handle, and this carries a belt which may be passed around the body of the escaping person.

In use with the granula hadde and CAN BE CARRIED IN THE HAND.

In use, with the grapple hooked over the window casing and the belt buckled around the body, the operator buckled around the body, the operator seizes both the handle and brake lever in his hand and lowers himself out of the window with anextra strap hooked at one end to the grapple. When ready this strap is released, and the tape is then let out under control of the brake bands—that is, the downward motion can be entirely arrested or varied in speed by varying the grip on the brake lever.—Scientific American.

The Deepest Happiness.

The deepest happiness is not that which has never suffered but that which has passed through the experience of sorrow and has been comforted. The happiest home is not one which has never known grief, but one whose songs of gladness have in them a minor strain. There is a story of a German baron who made a great Aeolian harp by stretching wires from tower to tower of his castle. When the harp was ready he listened for the music. But it was in the calm of Summer, and in the still air the wires hung The Deepest Happiness. mer, and in the still air the wires hung silent. Autumn came with its gentle breezes, and there was faint whispers of songs. At length the Winter winds or songs. At length the Winter winds swept over the castle, and now the harp answered in majestic music. Such a harp is the human heart. It does not yield its noblest music in the Summer days of joy, but in the Winter of trial. The sweetest songs of earth have been sung in sorrow. The richest things in character have been reached through pain,

A Kindly Scot.

A Kindly Scot.

The late Dr. George Macdonald was noted for his kindness. He once went into a chapel at Malvern, records a biographer, and was distressed beyond endurance at the worn aspect of the dispirited preacher. When the service was over he told the preacher that it was high time he took a holiday, and that it was his duty to do so. He was met by the statement that it was impossible. He asked that the officers of the church should be summoned. When they came in he revealed his identity, and described himself as a preacher out of harness, but prepared to take there and then the conduct of the service for the next month. But now a fresh difficulty arose; the gratified minister had nowhere to go, so George Macdonald told him that this was easily settled. He could go to his own house at the seaside; and so the compact was settled.

house at the seaside; and so the compact was settled.

On another occasion (says the same correspondent), he went into a shop in the town in which he then resided, and seeing at a glance that the girl who served him looked fragile and ill, he enquired the cause. She was standing at the counter all day, and nursing a sick mother overnight. "Then," said he, "I will just send one of my own. sick mother overnight. "Then," said he, "I will just send one of my own girls to take your place every day for an hour or two, while you get a breath of fresh air"—and he was as good as his word.

The Earl of Darnley.

The Earl of Darnley.

The Earl of Darnley, who took his seat in the House of Lords as one of the Irish representative Peers, says The London Star, restores the number of these noblemen from Ireland to the full total of 28 provided under the act of union, a number not reached, in a strict sense, until 1885, when the late Viscount Powerscourt, sitting as a representative Peer, was raised to the Baronage of the United Kingdom. Though the Earl of Darnley enters the House of Lords in this manner, all his predecessors in the title since 1722 sat there in their own right as Barons Clifton of England. The Earl of Darnley is Baron Clifton in the Irish Peerage, but he is only heir to the Barony of Clifton in England, now held by his niece, the youthful daughter of his brother, to whose Irish Earldom he succeeded nearly five years ago. The English barony descends through the female line when there is no direct male heir. The new representative Peer is a kinsman of the late Mr. Charles Stewart Parnell, having had a common ancestor in the father of Sir Henry, Parnell, first Baron Congleton, a disancestor in the father of Sir Henry Parnell, first Baron Congleton, a dis-tinguished member of the House of Commons in his time.

pleaded the cause of his countrymen so eloquently some fifty years ago. Then as now it was the Emperor Francis Joseph with whom the advocates of Hungary's rights had to reckon. The elder Kossuth was Governor of Hungary during the brief period of its independence in 1849, but on the failure of the movement he led was for many years in exile.

riod of its independence in 1849, but on the failure of the movement he led was for many years in exile.

Louis Kossuth died in 1894 in Italy. He had lived in that country during the later years of his life, although by the amnesty of 1867 he might have returned to his native land. Francis Kossuth was a civil engineer in Italy when the call came to him soon after his father's death to go to Hungary, take a seat in the Hungarian Parliament and lead the party which the elder Kossuth had once led. He responded to the call, gave up his Italian citizenship and on arrival in Bucharest was the recipient of many honors. In outlining the policy upon which he had determined he said he would hold fast to his father's principles, but would seek another way toward their realization. He declared in favor of working for the economic independence of Hungary through peaceable means, expressed his admiration for the Emperor Francis Joseph and avowed his belief that the foundation for the latter's authority over Hungary would be more secure were the independence of that kingdom from Austria in all matters of administration recognized.

The relations existing between Austria

the recognized.

The relations existing between Austria and Hungary are peculiar. The two countries constitute a joint monarchy, and Francis Joseph I, who is now seventy-five years of age, is Emperor of Austria and apostolic King of Hungary. He became Emperor of Austria in 1848 and was crowned King of Hungary in 1867. The two states united under this rulership have their separate constitutions and Parliaments, and each has for most branches of state affairs its own ministry and administration, but they are closely bound together by the identity of the ruler and by a premanent constitutional union which, upon the common principle of possession and defense, was first proclaimed by the present. ciple of possession and defense, was first proclaimed by the pragmatic sanc-tion of 1723 and has since been regu-lated by the so called "compromise" of 1867.

In accordance with the constitution al union, foreign affairs and the greater part of war affairs and finances re-lating to them are dealt with by common Ministries. The control of these Ministries and the voting of the common budget are exercised by delegations chosen from the Parliaments of the two countries. The proportion of expenses to be borne by each state is fixed by agreements.

For some time there has been discontent in Hungary because of a belief that the rights of that state under the agreements forming the basis of union between it and Austria were being infringed upon. The Hungarian parties which have formed a coalition under the leadership of Kossuth demand reform of the electoral law and future universal reformed a mander than the state of parties which have formed a coalition under the leadership of Kossuth demand reform of the electoral law and future universal suffrage, separation of Austrian and Hungarian customs and introduction of the Hungarian language and flag in the army, as contemplated in the "compromise" of language and flag in the army, as con-templated in the "compromise" of 1867. It is reported that the Emperor has agreed to reforms in the electoral laws in the direction of universal suf-frage. Whether he will make conces-sions in other respects sufficient to stay the impending storm remains to be seen.

And you know why, too. It's those gray hairs! Don't you know that Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair? Well, it doe. And it never fails, either. It stops falling hair also, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Do not grow old so fast! No need of it. J. C. Well, Mass.

A FUNNY LITTLE CRAB.

How the "Fiddler" Folds Up For His Long Winter Sleep.

A little more than a half century ago Louis Kossuth was one of the most prominent figures in the public eye as the foremost champion of the liberties of Hungarians. Now Hungary again is writhing in the throes of a movement for greater liberty or possible independence, and again a Kossuth is halled as leader. He is Francis Kossuth, son of the patriot who inert against the body, while the legs are folded up until the entire animal is snugly closed upon itself, and it re-mains in this dormant condition until the spring. Early in April the "fid-dlers" awaken and immediately attend to clearing out their burrows. The large claw is useless for eating, only the small one being available for this purpose. It is amusing to see the delicacy with which this little claw feels about and picks up the particles of vegetable matter and places them in the mouth, while the eyes are all the time raised aloft on their stalks and apparently looking off into the distance. The female crabs have both claws small and of equal size, so they are both used in feeding, and she can satisfy her hunger just twice as easily and quickly as the male. These "fid dler" crabs also gather food and store it in the burrows for future use.

Of all overworked women probably the farmer's wife is the hardest worked. She has so much to attend to with very little help. Hard work can be very much lightened if she knows the value of system and she should try and take a short rest in the day time. A physician who has become fameus almost around the world, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the specialist on women's diseases, for many years practiced medicine in a prosperous farming district in Pennsylvania. He there observed the lact of system in the planning of the work.

If it is a headache, a backache, a sensation of irritability or twitching and uncontrollable nervousness, something must be wrong with the head or back, a woman naturally says, but all the time the real trouble very often centers in the womanly organs. In nine cases out of ten the seat of the difficulty is here, and a woman should take rational treatment for its cure. The local disorder and inflammation should be treated steadily and systematically.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, the proprietors and makers of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

TORONTO JUNCTION LIVE STOCK.

Mot day was a comparatively quiet day on the Union Stock Market, but following after the heavy receipts of last week the fact was not a regrettable one. Two causes operated to render yesterday's trade a difficult one handle. One of these was the unfavorable weather, and the other and chief one the unfanished nature of the stock offered for sale. Altogether 46 cars were on the market, consisting of 962 cattle, 12 cars and 3 horses.

Fair to medium butchers brought from $3.50 to $3.75, but not many at the last named price. Hough and interior sold at from $2.75 to $3.25 and butcher cws at $2 to $3.25 per cwt.

In feeders and stockers the run was a light one, and the quality was like the other grades, not good enough for the demand. A fair besis of value for this class would probably be as follows. For choice stockers, $3.40 to $3.75; common, $2.40 to $3, and bulls, $2.50 to $2.75.

The market altogether for the feeder and stocker trade was fairly good and more good stock would have found a fairly ready market.

There were few milch cows offered for sale and these went out at unchanged prices, selling all the way from $35 to $50. In sl-tep. export ewes are quoted at from $4 to $4.15 and bucks at from $2 to $3.50. Lembs are worth from $5.50 to $6 per cwt. and calves from $2 to $10 each.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Cables from Liverpool and London came weak on Canadian cattle and prices show a further decline of \( \frac{1}{2} \)c. we were stored to the former market at $1\frac{1}{2} \)c. to $1\frac{1}{2} \)c. and in the latter at $2\frac{1}{2} \)c. to $1\frac{1}{2} \)c. and sheep were steady at 12c. This weakness is due to heavy supplies of home cattle being pressed upon the market, compled with the liberal shipments from here. Present prices are said to be the lowest on record and exporters are losing barrels of money. Shipments last week were $22\text{0} \)c. title $25$, milch cows, 2000 sheep and lamba, 200 calves, 400 hogs. Owing to the unfavorable weather and the continue heavy supplies of cattle an easy feeling prevalla, but prices show little change. The demand was fair and a number were left over. Good cattle sold at 4c to 4\frac{1}{2} \)c. to $2\frac{1}{2} \)c. per lb. The milch coss were a common at $2\frac{1}{2} \)c to $3\times \( \text{0} \)c. of $3\times \( \text{0} \)c. Smallest State Blotted Cut An agrement has been reached be-tween Belgian and Prussian Govern-An agrement has been reached between Belgian and Prussian Governments for the cession of Belgium of the neutral territory of Moresnet, or Altenburg, in exchange for a strip of land adjoining the town of Eupen, in Prussia, elquen miles from Aix-la-chapelle and close to the Belgian frontier. Thus the smallest European State has been blotted out. The existence of Moresnet as an independent State dates from the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle. Later it was under the joint protectorate of Prussia and Belgium. The latter country now takes over the entire sovereignty of the territory. Moresnet is divided between the Belgian Province of Liege and the Prussian Rhine province southwest of Aix-la-Chapelle. It is divided into Prussian Moresnet, Belgian Moresnet and Neutral Moresnet. The neutral territory, just ceded to Belgium, is about seventy acres in extent and contains the valuable Calamine mine of Altenberg.

A Find of Ancient Coins The archaeological excavations in the island of Delos have recently resulted in the discovery of three leaden vases containing Athenian coins. The largest vase held 249 coins of four the containing and our properties. The largest vase held 249 coins of four drachmas each, made during the rule of the Archontes. These coins are in an admirable state of preservation and seem never to have been in circulation. Another leaden jar contained 172 coins, dating from the same period, and in a third jor were found thirty-six coins, some in gold and some in silver. The jars were under the cellars of houses at a considerable depth below the surface. Numismatologists consider this to be the most important discovery of ancient coins ever made in Greece.—Argonaut.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD

ject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism, and many other fads along the same line. Restaurants may be found in the larger cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food crank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors, who lived four-score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and muthealth on roast beef, pork and mut ton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind, from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

EARL GREY AS ADVISER

DEVELOP NATIONALITY ON THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE LINES.

Canadians Should Not Only Aim at High Ideals, But Should Inspire Others to Strive for Purity in Social and Political Life - Address Delivered In Winnipeg, But For Canadians Everywhere.

Probably no speech ever delivered in Winnipeg by a representative of the Crown produced a deeper impression than that which Earl Grey made before the Canadian Club during his recent visit to that city. His theme was the uplifting of civic politics and the need for eradicating social as well as agricultural weeds. In the course of that speech His Excellency said:

"I am glad that I have been able to accept the invitation from your club. I have accepted it because I am aware that the Canadian Club is composed of men of ali parties, whose one object Probably no speech ever delivered in that the Canadian Club is composed of men of ali parties, whose one object is the advancement of the public good. I believe it is the ambition of the members of the Canadian Club of Winnipeg to win a high place for the Dominion in the British Empire, and to win a high place for the British Empire in the great confraternity of civilized nations. That, I understand, is the grand and the noble ambition which stirs the young and resolute which stirs the young and resolute hearts of the members of this club. That being so, I might quote, I think with absolute appropriateness, that well-known stanza from Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome," which might almost have been started. almost have been dedicated to the members of this club:

"When none were for a party And all were for the State, When the rich man served the man, And the poor man loved the great, When lands were fairly portion And spoils were fairly sold, And Romans were as brothers In the brave days of old."

True Citizenship.

"When I see such a large assembly of gentlemen of Winnipeg, who have come here as members of a club which has been created to advance and promote the public well-being, not in the interests of any party, but of the State, I do not think I am wrong in assuming that they are animated by the same spirit which moved the ancient Romans in the brave days of old. At the same time, I do not wish to pretend to take up the attitude that it is wrong to belong to any party. On the contrary, I remember that the laws, I think of Sparta, decreed that the men who refused to take one side or the other when a point of high principle, affecting the national well-being, was at stake, should receive the death penalty.

"Well, having been a party of all which is a party. "When I see such a large assembly ally.

"Well, having been a party politician myself, and a very keen one when great issues were at stake, I confess great issues were at stake, I confess I have some sort of sympachy with the spirit which inspired that rather drastic law. But I confess I have still great er sympathy with one of the greatest Canadians the Dominion has ever prosuced, one of the most inspiring orators and political teachers the British Empire has ever produced, I refer to the Nova Scotian, Joseph Howe, when he said, he hoped he might live to see the day when the question asked of every politician would be not "to which party do you belong?" but "what great public improvement do you mean to advocate, and to which great public measure, tending to advance the public welfare of the people, are you pledged?"

Few Things Impossible.

Few Things Impossible.

Few Things Impossible.

"Now, Mr. Chairman, if this Canadian Club is in favor, and resolutely and earnestly in favor, of the application of any great moral principle to the conduct of public affairs, such as sweeping away corruption and self-interest out of the public service, then I say these Canadian Clubs of Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa can do it. It is a favorite belief of mine, which thas been confirmed by experience more and more every day, that there are few things which are impossible to the man who is really in earnest. I heard a most encouraging and inspiring sentence Herridge, the great Presbyterian preacher in Ottawa, who said: In the region of high endeavor there is absolutely no limit to the ultimate horizon of a sworp hypersea.

solutely no limit to the ultimate horizon of a sworn purpose."

"If you study the lives of such men as Father Damien, Charles Gordon, Cacil Rhodes, General Booth and Dr. Barnardo—all men practically of my own generation, you will realize that there is a divine force in each of you which, if you will only let it grow, will enable you to remove mountains.

Dr. Barnardo

Dr. Barnardo. "I cannot mention Dr. Barnardo's name without giving expression to the grief which has caused Canada to stand as one of the chief mourners by grief_which has caused Canada to stand as one of the chief mourners by the grave side of one of the greatest benefactors either Canada or England ever had. A Spaniard by birth, a British citizen by adoption, Dr. Barnardo, by the strength of the Divine power which worked within him, was able, absolutely single-handed, and without any advantages to help him, to carve a way into the region of practical benevolence, and to find a haven in Canada for thousands of friendless children who, but for his helping hand, would, instead of becoming good citizens of the Dominion, have been swept by the force of circumstances for which they had no responsibility whatever, over the moral falls of Niagara.

"I hope Winnipes may one day be able to give artistic expression to the lessons to be learned from Dr. Barnardo's life, and I say that because I believe there is no part of the world which has benefited so much from his benevolence as has the Province of Manitoba.

"The story of the penniless Spaniard working for lost humanity and for Canada from the standpoint of a citizen of London, supplies a vivid and graphic illustration of what the British Empire means to all who recognize in it the most potent instrument that has ever been created for assimilating the virtues of manitind from whatever race they spring, and for using them as a force for the regoneration of the world.

Prey of Eccellers.

"This Canadian Club, composed as

Prey of Boddlers.
This Canadian Club, composed as it is of men whose first ambition is to serve the State, and to help every movement outside party lines which can advance and promote the national well-being, is the greatest guarantee any city can obtain that its life shall continue to be high, noble and cultured, and that the energy of its citizens shall be directed to noble ends. For the want of such institutions as this many English-speaking cities have become the prey of boodlers and grafters, of men who have sought public positions with the sole object of obtaining as much as they could out of them, with no idea of serving the public, the only idea being to serve themselvits. It is, I say, for the want of such clubs as this that this sort of, men have been able to direct the pollities of many cities, and to become the vampires and not the guardians of the people whose trust and confidence they have betrayed.

"I have been delighted to see in driving about Winnipeg a most inspiring command, "Citizens protect your property." At every turn of the city, through all your beautiful boulevards, I have seen this injunction, and have said that at any rate this city is safe, for its citizens may be relied on to protect their own pockets and taxes as well as the grass and flowers which adorn your streets.

Good Out of Chicago.

Good Out of Chicago.

"I would remind you that the res "I would remind you that the resolute action of a few fearless citizens in Chlcago and other cities, has cleared the pirate gangs of boodlers and grafters out of their City Councils, and that a few private citizens have been that a few private citizens have been able to rouse a wave of civic enthusiasm which has swept corruption out of their cities. I say, if it has been possible for a few men to do this, it stands to reason that a club such as yours will be strong enough to prevent the evil of corruption from ever showing her loathsome and leprous visage in your midst.

showing her loathsome and leprous visage in your midst.

"Last week, riding through your beautiful wheat fields, I noticed here and there a field which was evidently intended by the farmer for wheat, but which appeared to be a much finer crop of thistles and weeds than the wheat he hoped to reap. The farmer had not destroyed the noxious weeds at the right time. It is the business of a Canadian Club, to whatever city it belongs, to prevent the thistles and the noxious weeds overrunning their city by extirpating them before they the noxious weeds overrunning their city by extirpating them before they become too numerous.

"It is an obvious truism that no such period of national history is so solemn or important as its dawn. Every day of the early life of a man Every day of the early life of a man or of a nation is fixing in permanent features the character of its future complexion, and your Canadian Club can, if it chooses, secure for your city a character which will make its influence great for good, not only throughout the Dominion, but the whole of the British Empire.

A Lot to Learn.

"I have been told that the many na "I have been told that the many nationalities you have in Winnipeg may be a. weakness. I prefer to regard it as a strength. I think it was Ruskin who said: In every moment of our lives we should be trying to find out, not in what we differ from other people, but in what we agree with them. And so, I think it would be conduct in accordance with that suggestion, and wise, too, to try and seek out the virtues which distinguish the various races of which the fair Dominion of Canada is composed.

races of which the fair Dominion of Canada is composed.

"We have all a lot to learn from each other, and if we look for it, I dare say we will find something to be copied in the Galician, the Frenchman, the German, the Scandinavian, the Englishman, the Irishman and even the Scotchman. Fuse all those virtues together, and roll them into one good Canadian.
"I am glad to meet the members of

"I am glad to meet the members of "I am glad to meet the members of your club, because I believe it is your aim and ambition to develop your nationality on the highest possible lines, and that a people can only be great in proportion as they develop this principle of nationality. I hope it may become through the action of this club, that it may be the glory of the City of Winnipeg to be an influence which shall make itself felt throughout the whole of Canada for all that is highest and best in the national life, and that from Winnipeg shall issue a force which shall inspire the people to keep high ideals constantly before them; ideals which shall require them to esteem honer before them; ideals which shall require them to esteem honor before success, the spirit of sacrifie and service above that of selfishness and greed, and the cult that makes for true nobility and efficiency, rather than the pursuit of pleasure and the gratification of self-indulgence. indulgence.

High Ideals.

"I would ask the members of this club to aim at having in Winnipeg the best schools, the best churches, the best music, the best art, the best newspapers and the best literature in the Dominion, and to spare no effort and no money to arrive at those posses; sions. This may seem difficult to obtain. It is certainly a high ideal to aim at, but as I believe in the omnipotence of a club like this, if you only have the right spirit among you, and I am confident if you only have one man in this room who is really in earnest in striving for these results, that he will leaven the whole lump, and that you will reach the ideal which I have attempted roughly to lay before you." University Not "Godless."

Toronto is wont to be classed as a "godless university" by a number of individuals who should know better. As a matter of fact, she is exceedingly solicitous for the spiritual welfare of her children. Her connection with the theological colleges doubtless has done much to counteract the negative attitude which she is compelled to adopt towards questions of creed, but in various ways she contributes indirectly to the religious life of the undergraduates. Courses in religious knowledge, Bible training and Church history have recently been added to the curriculum, and students have the option of taking these at the college of their own denominations. Another method which has been followed with eminent success is the delivering of university sermons. Famous preachers who are in a special manner adapted to an audience of university men are secured at frequent intervals. Last Sunday Rev. Prof. Kilpatrick of Knox College addressed the students in Wycliffe Convocation Hall. On Nov. 5 Rev. Dr. Mills of Kingston, Bishop of Ontario, will be the speaker. Toronto is wont to be

he writes, "and heard a simple fellow open the praise of church musique and exclaiming against men wearing their hats on in the church." Later he notes that he saw a minister "preach with his hat off, which I never saw before." The hat was then an integral part of both male and female costume, and Pepys catches "a strange cold in my head by flinging off my hat at dinner.

A few years ago a black woman in Natal was charged with drunkenness. With a surprising grasp of the law, however, she pleaded guilty, but urged that the bench had no power to deal with the charge, as she was on private property. Somewhat chagrined, the police withdrew the charge, but taxed her with being in possession of a quan-dity of liquor. The delinquent in the dock again admitted the charge, but in triumphant tones pointed out that the said liquor was contained within her skin and that such a method of conveyance or possession was not an offense within the meaning of the act.
After such a subtle defense the lady of much legal learning deserved to esca se, but the prosecutor, with a weary smile, inverted the seemingly empty bottle, and, to the annoyance of the damsel, who imagined that she had drained it to the last drop, the said last drops slowly dribbled out, and a conviction followed. - Dundee Adver-

No one needs to be told that there is from in the blood, but it has remained for a French chemist, M. Barruel, head of the chemical laboratories of Paris, to make commercial use of the fact. He used to practice medicine and was accustomed to bleed his patients in the old fashioned way. He extracted the iron from the blood drawn from human arms and kept it in the form of minute globules, or pearls. At last he had enough to make an iron ring, which he wears on one of his fingers.

OUTSIDE THE WARD

By A. M. DAVIES OGDEN

Copyright, 1905, by A. M. Davies Ogden

Nurse Humphreys was hardly what would be termed popular. Tall, hand-some, in a dark, cold type of beauty, she was much admired, and the doctors all respected her clear, keen intelli gence and executive ability. But the patients regarded her with evident awe. No one urged her to come and sit for a moment by his bedside.

Nurse Humphreys herself regarded the patients as so many human ma-chines to be tended and cared for. It was her work to superintend the doing of this. What more could be required of her? And then one day a tender, helpless little morsel of a child was carried into the ward, and Miss Humphreys experienced a strange sen-sation. The blue eyes looked appealingly into hers; the thin little arms were extended. "Molly lonesome," mirmured a baby voice. And Miss Humphreys, rather shamefacedly, bent and kissed the tiny face.

From that day a new life began for the nurse. All the pent up tenderness of years, all the starved affection of the woman's heart, sternly repressed for so long, were unstintedly lavished upon the child. It was a bad case. Miss Humphreys flung herself with tireless energy into the battle with death. Molly could not die; she must not die. And love won. The fatal crisis was passed;" the little life began to tighten its hold on existence. Miss Humphreys rejoiced until one day came a sudden, most unwelcome came a thought. Molly was out of danger Molly was growing well; Molly would seon leave the hospital and go home. Miss Humphreys started and tried to banish the thought. But it would not go. It pursued her, obsessed her, became a nightmare. Outside the big ward was a small room where Miss Humphreys sometimes sat. Late one afternoon she was there, still haunted by the thought of Molly's departure. It seemed terribly near. How could she let Molly go back to that aunt—that narrow faced, hard eyed woman—from whom the child palpably shrank upon the occasions of her rare visits? Was she unkind to the little thing? Miss Humphreys wondered A sudden sense of discouragement possessed the nurse. Molly was nearly convalescent, yet to the doctor Miss Humphreys had dilated at length upon unfavorable symptoms, inherent weaknesses, and this morning, this very morning, she had deliberately altered the temperature line on the patient's chart. That was unpardonable. She had fancied that the doctor had looked at her rather oddly as he returned the chart. Did he suspect anything? Must she let her go-this child with Tom's name and with Tom's own blue eyes? Where had Molly found them? The aunt, a dry, uncommunicative person, only said that the child's mother was dead. Molly babbled of a daddy al-most always from home. The idea had once flashed across Miss Humphreys' mind that Tom himself might be this daddy, but she had dismissed the suggestion as too improbable. There were doubtless thousands of Brennans, It brought the man to her mind, how ever. Tom! Where could he be? He had loved her once. Why had she let him go? Miss Humphreys looked about the plain little room, thought of the ward beyond. She had sent Tom away had left her home, come to New York and entered the training school, worked, denied herself, suffered, inspired, sustained by no ignoble am-

Well achieved her goal. Was she not head nurse in this busy hospital ward? Again her eyes traveled around the dreary little room. Was this then what her ambition meant, a solitary woman growing old alone? Miss Humphreys, tired and depressed, knew that she was morbid; sought to shake it off, but the feeling was too strong for her. The reaction from the years of effort had set in, and all at once a wave of heartsickness seemed to submerge her in its depths, forcing the unaccustomed tears to her dark eyes. Miss Humphreys uttered a little Was what she had won worth the sacrifices demanded? Did life hold no more than this? The sound of voices outside the door coused her. The doctor was speaking. "So I thought it best to send for you yourself and explain matters," he was saying. "She is one of our best nurses and has worked night and day to save your child. Indeed, that the child lived at all is largely due to her untiring vigilance. But there is no reason no why Molly should not leave the hospi It sometimes happens, however that a nurse takes a fancy to a patient and tries to keep him overtime. There fore I preferred that you should come and remove Molly. I would not wish to hurt Miss Hum-phreys' feelings," he added kindly, for he was a humane man and could sympathize with the dullness of the nurse's "We all think so much of Mis-

Humphreys." "Miss Humphreys," repeated the man. And at the voice the woman started and clasped her hands over her heart. "Miss Humphreys, you say? Could-could I see her?"

The doctor considered a moment. "I hardly think that she is on duty now," he said slowly. "Oh," with a sudden recollection, "she often sits in that little room. Possibly she may be there

Molly would go away. What was there left for her? The doctor knew what she had lone. She might have to leave the nospital. But she did not care about that. Brennan took a step forward. "Margaret," he cried; "oh, Margaret, why did you send me from you?" There was a whole lifetime of pain calm self possession was gone. The doctors would not have recognized their cool, capable nurse.

"You-don't-know?" echoed Bren nan. A sudden well known gleam sprang to the blue eyes. "You-don't-know," he repeated. "Then-might there be a chance for me after all? he asked squarely. Miss Humphreys, sobbing, had sunk into a chair. The man bent over and with soft fingers reverently touched the shining hair. "I-I loved my wife," he said lovally. "She was a dear, sweet soul. But you were my first love and I could never quite forget. You have saved Molly for me," he added unsteadily, "but she needs you still-we both need you. Won't you come and make us appy, sweetheart?" a sudden inten sity deepening the strong voice.

"Won't you, dear?"

And Miss Humphreys whispered

SPEEDY CURE IN EACH

"I feel it my duty to tell you of two most wonderful cures of sore eyes by Cuticura Ointment. My little son had an attack of measles which left his eyes in a shocking state. The lids were inflamed and sore, and every lash fell out. They would be stuck in the morning, and bleed when washed, causing untold suffering to the child. I tried everything recommended, but nothing did any good. Then I got Cuticura, and from the first application I have had cause to be thankful. Before I had used one box the lashes showed signs of growing, and in a few months they were as healthy as ever. I recommended Cuticura to a Mrs. Phillips, whose little one was cured of sore eyes with less than one box.—Mrs. C. Todd, Old South Head Road, Waverly, Sydney, N. S. W."

Paper's Teach Their Readers.

A bow should always be returned even though one may be mistaken for some one else, and to give the cut direct is a discourtesy of which no person of good breeding should be guilty. It is perfectly easy to acknowledge a salutation with such dignity but brevity of glance as to plainly show that one does not care to have anything but a very formal acquaintance with the person spoken to.

A man always raises his hat when pissented to a woman or to another man. He should also raise it when meeting or taking leave of a woman, when she first speaks to him for whatever reason, when he offers his services in any way, even though she may be a stranger to him, such as when entering an elevator where women are present or in opening a door for a While disputing about the division a camel driver came along and offered to settle the question. This he did by loaning them one of his own camels, thus making eighteen in all, when the division was easy. No. 1 took nine camels, No. 2 six camels, No. 3 two camels—seventeen in all—and the borrowed camel was then restored to its rowed camel was then restored to its owner. How can we explain the fact that each son got his share and some-thing over?

'Royal Household' is in a class by itself.

> Flour that gives half nourishment and double work to digest is not good flour.

Cheap and inferior flour gives the digestive organs double work and half pay-inferior flours contain indigestible waste-

—this waste must first be overcome by nature,—that means extra digestive work.

Indigestibles destroy the nutriment of flour, therefore poor flour gives more work and less nutriment to the system.

Royal Household Flour is in a class by itself—it is the only really pure flour-and it is pure because it is purified and sterilized by electricity. it is the most easily digested and most nourishing because it is absolutely pure. The moment a woman puts her hands into "Royal Household" she knows it is a finer flour than she ever used before.
