Extremely Sad Much sympathy is extended to C. Cobden of the local police force and residing at 28 Spring St. in the loss of his son, Albert Abel, aged 4 months, who died yesterday. The case is rendered extremely sad owing to Mrs. Cobden having passed away only a few months ago.

CIVIC HOLIDAY

It has become the custom in all Ontario centres to set one day apart in each year as a civic holiday.

Some people contend that, in this section of the Province, at least, there should be mutual agreement as to one date for such cities as Toronto, Hamilton, London, Brantford, Guelph and so on; but should there?

Take the case of the Queen City as an example. On the date of its recent celebration there the papers recorded such an overwhelming tax upon transportation facilities that many hundreds of citizens could not be accommodated.

If several communities chose the same date, how on earth would the railway and kindred companies be able to supply enough cars for in-and-out business?

And while on this subject it might be as well to refer to a quite general cry that Brantford has too few local attractions on holidays—that people have to go out of the city to obtain their fun.

This is largely true, but the city which attempted to supply an attractive home program for all such days, or even for more than one of them, would pretty soon find itself in a financial hole.

The time has passed when the running of races, or tugs-of-war, or some such things of that kind, are sufficient to draw any kind of a gate. In the case of cities, there has to be an elaborate and expensive list of attractions, not only to attract outsiders, but also to keep residents at home.

Take the last celebration as an example. Many citizens worked hard on behalf of that, and the program—it was in celebration of the Coronation of King George—was splendidly arranged, with military features, big display of fireworks at night, and all the rest of it. The subscription list was large and the receipts were large, yet at the close the deficit was quite big. In fact, it was necessary to call upon the balance of the gala day fund left by the late Mr. Thomas Elliott when Mayor—a balance derived from a somewhat inexpensive program, which sufficed in those days when the public did not expect so much for their money.

This article is not written with the idea of discouraging home programs—far from it—but to show that those who say in a light way that something should be done haven't been through the mill.

It might be a good idea to make Brantford's civic holiday, each year, the occasion of a big set of attractions, and with a strong committee at the back of things that date might no doubt be made a big annual success.

FEMININE ATTRACTIONS

All members of the fair sex like to appear attractive when liable to public observation. That is natural and proper, and there only seems to be one exception to the rule—that is during housecleaning time, when no known daughter of Eve ever seems to care whether she looks like the breaking-up of a hard winter, or a rag-bag with a towel around the top.

A somewhat dangerous phase of this feminine desire to look as well as possible is reported in connection with girls who work among machinery. An exchange points out that the factory inspectors of Ontario complain that it is difficult to induce the female factory operative to do her hair in a manner that ensures neatness and safety. It adds that many will recall the old song, "And her golden hair was hanging down her back." Well, this may be all right for young women in the home, but in the factory the golden curls are a menace to the young women's safety. It is liable to get caught in the machinery; it is, moreover, regarded as unsanitary. The Ontario Factories Act contains a provision which prescribes the manner in which factory girls must arrange their hair during working hours. The girls are instructed that their heads must not be "fussed up" until evening, when their "steady company" comes to see them. Do the girls bow meekly to the law's decrees? They assuredly do not. They love their little marcel waves and other modes in coiffure too much for that. They are saucy about it. One of the inspectors, Mrs. Brown, says the girls are very independent in tone, and defy the efforts of forewomen who try to make them wear their hair plainly pinned up, or covered by caps. Another inspector, Miss Carlyle, makes the same complaint. And what is the Government going to do about it? All it can do is to fine the proprietor who permits his employployees to wear their hair "fussed up." Miss Carlyle threatens to be severe with such individuals in future, but if factory girls are determined to disobey this brutal "man-made law" they will probably beat it. Some years ago some proprietors of large stores tried to abolish what shop girls deemed the harmless necessary "rat," but they did not succeed very well. The desire of the average working girl is for an impressive coiffure, irrespective of the danger involved.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Come to think of it, "civic" is one of those words which may be spelled hind end backwards, and it makes no difference.

A detective in Ontario, during the course of an investigation, went to a garden and dug up $1400. Had the amount been in gold, he could have classified the find as carrots.

The Toronto Star (Liberal) declares that the Conservative party is a "victim of nerves." Perhaps so. They have their own still intact, and have also cabbaged the former nerve of the Grits.

If some of the fathers of Hamilton of one hundred years ago could see what is being done there in honor of when they would be apt to think that instead of "Ambitious" it should be known as the "Rampageous City."

An archaeologist announces that he has discovered a tablet in Babylon whose inscription declares that it was the women who caused the Flood. And it couldn't have been suffragettes, at that, because if so no males would have been allowed on the ark.

The C.P.R. has cancelled a recent order to have train crews assist women, dressed in the latest fashion, on and off trains. Well, if the effort on their own part involves divided skirts, they will only have themselves to blame.

The Toronto Globe is still banging away at the idea that Reciprocity would be a good thing for Canada. Surely the people gave the Laurierites a hot enough dose at the polls over that, without the organ seeking to still further parade that defunct issue this warm weather.

British medical men made a pilgrimage to South Kensington museum to examine the head of the general recently dug up in the Old Land whose cranium is computed to be half a million years old. At the same time, Canadian oarsmen have been cleaning up championships in the United States. Which skill honors would you prefer?

Renfrew Mercury (Liberal): The Globe and its whisky advertisements, despite elaborate explanations, continue to harm Mr. Rowell's cause. Learned men may see the force of the arguments why the Globe may assail the traffic, and yet take its advertisements, but the average man does not see through these fine distinctions.

The British, French and German Governments, it is officially explained, recognized President Huerta as "Provisional President pending an election," because it was felt that such a course was "likely to assist in the restoration of order." This was recommended on recommendation of the representatives of those countries, and it was Mr. Wilson, U. S. ambassador, who made a congratulatory speech to Huerta regarding the same. Now President Wilson has refused to adopt that course as far as his nation is concerned, and the fat is in the fire, because Huerta realizes that by defying Uncle Sam he is adding greatly to his own popularity.

Stead M. Gamble In Court To-day

(Continued from Page 1) ployees asked for five cents an hour more wages the company locked out union men?" asked Dewart. Ryley didn't know if it were a strike or lock-out, but there was trouble at an event.

Ryley told of riding from Agincourt to the bridge on the work train on June 6 with Gamble and McCaughey. He did not invite them to go along. "If both these men swear you said to them, 'Come along! Dixie Hollow, will you swear you didn't' asked Dewart.

One of the men Ryley said had a quart bottle of whiskey. The supposed container of the acid was a flask. "You have known Gamble a good while?" "Yes." "Pretty decent fellow?" "Yes." "Not the kind of a fellow who would saturate a rope with acid?" "I thought he would have more sense." "He hasn't that kind of a reputation?" "No." This concluded Ryley's examination and at 12.10 court adjourned. To the victor belongs the spoils, or what is left of them after the lawyer gets his.

The Chinese Rebellion.

Montreal Star: What has been occurring in Mexico and the Balkans has drawn away attention from the deplorable state of affairs in China. There is little doubt that the action of the powers over the notorious loan was largely instrumental in precipitating the latest rebellion. Had the powers been less greedy and given the Republic the loan which she needed on any sort of generous terms, the new government might have steered itself into a position of stability. But instead of doing so the Powers, who claim to bear the burden of civilization, hagglod and quarrelled until the densest of Chinamen could see that they all meant to grab some of his patrimony in return for their loan. They wanted to lend China more than she needed so that they might seize territory when she was unable to repay. They squabbled over the appointment of the officials who should look after their interests in the debt until it became apparent that they were trying to jockey one another rather than help China. If any westerner can find any satisfaction in this treatment of China he is welcome to it.

Sir Richard McBride Speaks Out.

Peterboro Review: Sir Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia, has been stating, in his own straightforward way his views on various subjects; more particularly on the navy question and the question of Oriental immigration.

On the naval question and emergency he gives his opinion very plainly and forcibly, he says: "Some talked continually of emergency, urging that there was no emergency and therefore no necessity for aid. I have no patience with such doctrine. If there has to be an emergency established to impel Canadians to do their duty, I would say, 'for shame.'"

Drydock for Canada.

Ottawa Journal: The despatch from Montreal this morning stating that the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Lake Manitoba," would have to go to drydock at Brooklyn, N.Y., for repairs which cannot be secured in Canada owing to the absence of a drydock sufficiently large for the purpose, draws attention to the fact that the Board of government has just let the contract for the construction of a large, up-to-date dry dock on the North American continent. Work of construction will be commenced immediately and it is hoped that the dock will be in readiness to accommodate the largest ocean liners within three years.

With the City Police

The police court this morning was held in the magistrate's office, and was disposed of early. Adjournments and drunks were greatly in evidence, no less than six revellers being arraigned.

J. A. Sanderson, autoist, contributed $13 to the court funds. Mr. Sanderson was very nice about it, sending his check forward.

Wm. Howie, who was up for not working, was allowed to go. Jas Taylor, a vagrant, after getting cleaned up, was let out to get a job.

Jno. Powers, a billed man, who got under the influence of liquor, was fined ten dollars and costs.

Mr. Joseph Beals has his son, Christopher from the city, assisting him repairing his barn this week.

Miss Bandy McIntyre was the guest of Mrs. John Bian on Thursday.

PRINCE TO HEAD AERONAUTIC SOCIETY

PRINCE ROLAND BONAPARTE, GRANDSON OF NAPOLEON I.

Prince Roland Bonaparte, grandson of Napoleon I, has been re-elected president of the International Aeronautics Federation, which will meet next year in November at St. Petersburg. Before adjournment the federation voted to raise the age of candidates for licenses of dirigible pilots from eighteen to twenty-one years. Each candidate must make twenty-five trips before obtaining his license. This will tend to minimize the chance for accidents.

Woke Up Waterford
There was fun galore at Waterford last night when the M.C.R. train pulled into the "local option village." The excursionists had three and a half hours to wait before they could get a T. H. & B. train to Brantford, and the excursionists made the best of it. They grabbed the village sprinkling cart and pulled it down to the station. Not satisfied with that they proceeded to have a general good time, with the result that the village policeman arrested a couple of boys for fun making. No damage was done, but the boys simply woke up the sleeping village.

PRIME MINISTER OF FRANCE A SUPPORTER OF ENGLISH CHANNEL TUNNEL SCHEME

M. Louis Barthou, the French Prime Minister, is an enthusiastic supporter of the English Channel tunnel scheme. He said—"Conditions have changed, and the objections raised in England are disappearing one by one. For our part, here in France, the channel tunnel scheme has never met with anything but support. This even at a period when our relations with England were far from being as cordial and intimate as they have become, as was so eloquently shown by the President's visit to London. It therefore goes without saying that we can only be warm supporters of a scheme which would tighten our bonds of mutual friendship, and at the same time bring to both nations a considerable increase in trade and a consequent increase in wealth."

MUSICAL SURPRISE

Big Number at Canadian National will be a Novelty.

The musical surprise, a tuneful medley of marching and music, is one of the big novelties prepared for this year's Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. That it is a big number is evidenced by the fact that eight bands, 100 Cadets and 100 Boy Scouts will be worked into its intricacies. John Henderson of London will stage it, and that means it will be artistic in every detail.

A PARIS FROCK SHOWING THE BOLERO AND APRON

There is little continuity of line in the fashionable gown of the minute. This new model by Premet is much broken up by its various features. There are, for example, the draped skirt and bolero coat of black lansdowne, the draped satin vest and apron tunic, turned up at the edge to show a facing of the black lansdowne; the inner vest of Futurist printed chiffon, and the belt and sleeve trimmings of Oriental embroidered banding. Several colors are combined in this banding, but the general suggestion of the costume is dark.

Although Playing Like D Holiday's Games b Games Made Inter Fielding--Malloy Ma

The Red Sox celebrated Civic day and their return to the city dropping both games to Lou Rube Deneau's men won the morning game by the narrowest possible margin 1 1/2 to 1. Had it not for a home run by Ivers in the closing of the afternoon game Londoners would have scored shut-outs. Both games were exciting and the audience treated to two good games and brand of baseball.

London won because they were more use of their bats and hit ball just at the right time. Brant was lamentably weak with the bat and though very favorable opportunities were presented, the Red Sox were hopelessly incapable of advantage of them.

Both games were genuine pitched battles, with the Forest cityers securing the long end of the line in the morning game Beebe for don and Gero for the Red Sox a battle royal. In fact it was a London vs. London, for Brant was useless when at Beebe held the Red Sox to 4 while Gero was touched up 10. Although Beebe had only 4 chalked against him Gero was as good as Beebe if not better. Gero pulled himself out of some very difficult situations, which his

NO DRINKING MAN NEED DESPAIR

The Neal Cure—Greatest of All Modern Discoveries—Offers a Means of Escape from the Curse of Drink. A cure of the Drink Habit is Guaranteed in Three Days no Matter Whether the Patient is a Hard and Constant Drinker, Social Tippler or Goes on Occasional Spree. There was wandering in the streets of Toronto lately a homeless man, who at one time held a splendid position, but drink was his downfall. To-day his wife, a cultured woman, works out by the day, endeavoring to support herself and little family. Think of it, you wives and mothers, who have homes of comfort and all that makes life worth living, what it would be to you to be deprived of these and forced to face the wash tub for an existence, as this poor wife has to do today? But this home which was made a hell on earth through strong drink—as every drunkard's is—may be made into a heaven upon earth, as many have been made, as a result of the Neal Treatment. Three days only—the wonder of it—to effect a cure and make the victim of strong drink a new man, physically, morally and mentally. We undertake to guarantee to effect a cure of the Drink Habit in Three Days, no matter whether the patient is a hard and constant drinker, social tippler, or goes on occasional sprees. Are you interested in a poor fellow going down, down through the curse of drink? Then bring your influence to bear on him and bring him to the Neal Institute for treatment, drunk or sober, and we will undertake to remove the awful appetite for strong drink and deliver him to you a new man. Here is an opportunity for REFORMATION SOCIETIES for INEBRIATES or any institution for the reformation of the drunkard, to test our ability to change the hard drinker into a new man, physically and mentally, in THREE DAYS' treatment. We invite these Societies or any institution interested in the poor drunkard and the problem of dealing with him, to send us four treatment any victim of the drink habit, it makes no difference how much enslaved, and we guarantee to effect a cure in each and every case. Can you spend your money to better advantage or in a way that will bring in greater returns than in redeeming these victims of strong drink and giving back to their families kind fathers, brothers, husbands, and to the country most desirable citizens? ## FESTIVE CENTENNIAL BEGINS IN HAMILTON

Municipality Celebrates its Hundredth Birthday by Inauguration of Industrial Exposition, While Citizens Make Merry in Old World Carnival Fashion at Night.

HAMILTON, Aug. 12.—Hamilton was given over to the license of the carnival last night, and from an early hour in the evening till long after midnight thronging crowds filled with a spirit of frolic were joining each other along the main streets, acting with the irresponsible freedom of children. Young men fantastically garbed, some wearing modern improvements on the ancient carnival costumes, others with abbreviated "fools' caps gaily decorated" and with ribbon streamers attached to their clothing, paraded up and down blowing horns and making raucous and discordant noises on social instruments of torture devised for the occasion.

Others both young men and women with small feather dusters were dusting the faces and heads of all whom they met, and as the evening wore on, tussles for the most part good natured, over the possession of the dusters, became common. Many of the young people in the crowds wore legends about their hats or on their clothing, most of them in their wording, and occasionally when some gay youth read the legend literally, there was a small tussle. Small impromptu processions mingled with the crowds of motor cars and other vehicles, while the street cars, their bells clanging constantly, got along as best they could.

Hawkers by the dozen, their voices hoarse beyond the hope of recovery helped to swell the pandemonium while passers-by made jokes at their efforts at oratory.

All this pleasing was in connection with the centenary of the foundation of Hamilton, which was more soberly and officially commemorated in the morning when the Centennial Industrial Exposition was opened by the Lieutenant-Governor, who severed the tri-colored ribbon stretched across the entrance to the Armouries and gave access to the building where is displayed a variety of articles from 168 firms of manufacturers who have plants in the city.

SHE TOOK HER FRIENDS ADVICE

And Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her Son.

SPRINGHAVEN, Yarmouth Co., N. S., Aug. 12.—(Special)—Simple and straight to the point is the statement of Mrs. Erven C. Trefry, of this place, but it tells of another grand cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My fifteen-year-old son Angus," Mrs. Trefry states, "suffered from passed-on kidney disease, and a pain over his eyes.

"He was so bad he could not walk across the floor. My friends advised me to give him Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured him."

"That young Trefry's kidneys were wrong is evidenced by the cure. Dodd's Kidney Pills only cure diseased kidneys. They never fail to do that.

"The reason they cure rheumatism, backache, gravel, dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and kindred diseases, is that these all spring from diseased kidneys.

"If you have any of these diseases you haven't tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbors. They'll tell you Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

JEW AS FARMER PROVE BIG SUCCESS

Visit to Oudshoorn, Cape Province, Will Reveal Achievements.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—It is frequently suggested by our friends and hurled at us by our enemies that the Jew as an agriculturist is a dire failure. It need only a visit to Oudshoorn (Cape Province), to dissipate this fallacy forever. As demonstrating what has been achieved by Jewish persistence, energy and industry, the following observations from a visitor may be appropriate.

Oudshoorn is the source of the world's supply of ostrich feathers, and ostrich farming forms the staple industry of the town and district. Our coreligionists, numbering about 3,000, almost entirely control the ostrich feather trade, and it is to their assiduity and acumen that the enormous growth in the production and export value of ostrich feathers is due. It is not only that the Jew predominates as merchant, as buyer, as seller, but as actual farmer he is also to the fore. In the employment of modern and scientific methods in farming, the use of the most advanced machinery, in the irrigation of land, in the conservation of water, the Jew has set an example, followed closely and emulated slavishly by others. Arid and barren land, untilled and uncultivated, replete with noxious bushes, has in a few years been transformed under the guiding genius of the Jewish agriculturist into most productive soil, and its value enhanced a hundred fold. It is a truism that land in the Oudshoorn district is almost unprocurable, and farms have been known recently to have changed hands at the enormous figure of £160 per acre, eclipsing in value any other cultural land in the world.

"Before arriving at Oudshoorn," writes a tourist, "I traveled in the train with a venerable coreligionist, whose English vocabulary consisted of 'Yes' and 'No' and 'Please,' but who spoke of a farm for £36,500, authenticated by documentary evidence, with the most concern and nonchalance, conveying the impression that if there were more farms available, there were more £36,500 forthcoming."

The town of Oudshoorn is distinctly Jewish. It boasts two synagogues, a minister, a chazan, two shochetim, etc., and is in every direction advanced and up to date.

KANSANS MOVING TO CANADA

Grasshoppers and Drought Driving Many Farmers from the State

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12.—George Cook, Canadian government immigration agent at Kansas has just arrived in Winnipeg with a party of six, representing 60 families now located in the state of Kansas. These visitors have come up into the north west with the intention of securing suitable locations for their friends back in the state. Up to the present time they have looked over certain parts of northern Manitoba, and they are now about to go on to the Battleford and Prince Albert districts. They will inspect these latter points before making a final selection.

Mr. Cook, who enters a large territory in the south, states that he has received a larger number of enquiries about the Canadian west than ever before. He explains that the crops in the state of Kansas are suffering from drought and also from grasshoppers. He says that unless rain comes in a few days the farmers will face a very grave situation. For this reason there is every reason to suppose that the immigration from Kansas will be heavier than ever before.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—Frank Nelson, aged 14, of 103 Gilbert Avenue, Earlscourt, is in a serious condition as the result of being attacked by a dog. He is confined to his bed and is under the personal care of Dr. Warren, the M.O.H. of York Township.

hope that it would make a great city industrially and commercially, and I have also witnessed the fruition of those hopes.

"The Industrial Exposition which we have just witnessed shows that Hamilton is bound to become the Birmingham of Canada. There have been important newcomers to its midst, captains of industry, many of them men from the States, and they have made good citizens. There has been a certain amount of reciprocity in our relations with them. We welcome them and like them, and nearly every American who has come here has said that he likes Hamilton.

With hopes for a continuation of the fine weather which the carnival week has opened, the Lieutenant-Governor concluded by predicting that the exhibition in our relations with them. We welcome them and like them, and nearly every American who has come here has said that he likes Hamilton.

LUNCHEON AT THE ROYAL

After the official opening of the Industrial Exposition at the Armouries the visitors were entertained at a luncheon in the Royal Hotel, and a series of speeches followed. The guests at the high table were the Lieutenant-Governor, Bishop Clarke, Mayor Hocken, and H. J. Waddie, chairman of the Industrial Exposition, to the chairman's right, and Mayor Allan, R. S. Gourlay and Adam Brown, the venerable honorary president of the Centennial.

The chair was occupied by John Lennox, president, while most of the Executive Committee and officers were also present.

The toast to "Our Country" was responded to by Sir John Gibson, who expressed his regret that the Duke of Connaught was not present to respond to it himself, but assured the company that he would take the liberty of sending to him a report of the events which had taken place, where he was sure would be of great interest to the Governor-General.

"So far as the province is concerned," said Sir John, "but from now on I give notice that I intend to be in evidence as an old Hamilton boy only."

Declaring that he intended to renew many old acquaintances, Sir John recalled the story of the friends who were brought to his mind by the sight of the "good old man," Adam Brown. He also spoke with high appreciation of Col. Moore whom he characterized as a reliable friend and an admirable citizen.

"I have been a citizen of Hamilton between 60 and 70 years," continued Sir John, "and have had an opportunity of watching the city and the difficulties of its growth. I have had feelings of despair that it would ever make more progress, and also the

PRINCESS CHRISTIAN DEPIES QUEEN MARY

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Queen Mary seems fated to have trouble with the occupants of the Royal gift residences. The latest of these to be brought into a dispute with the Queen is no less a person than Princess Christian, aunt of King George, who with her husband lives at Cumberland Lodge, Windsor Park.

For a couple of months the Princess has been adding to her husband's rather slender income by selling bottles of perfume made by herself at Cumberland Lodge, and she has been actively aided by Princess Patricia of Connaught. Princess Christian recently began putting labels on the bottles telling that the perfume was made at Cumberland Lodge.

When this reached the ears of the Queen she ordered Princess Christian to cease selling the perfume in bottles with such labels. The Princess maintains that she has a perfect right to do so, and refuses to comply with the request of the Queen.

BARRELL top, peg top, suffragette or any of the other names by which the new skirt lines are heralded, all have the same thing in common, seams are superfluous, and there is more material in the skirt than in preceding seasons. It is not about the feet. In fact, so far, excepting in a few isolated cases, all extra fulness is introduced in various ways, but more generally, as in the skirts just named, by taking a very wide piece of material and literally encircling the figure loosely with it. The extra material, usually removed by darts or gores, is simply pleated into the waistband in triangular shaped pleats. These are always left unstitched and often unpressed also, which gives the effect of added dress material and thickens the figure considerably between the waist and the knees.

Another skirt, not quite so new, has this extra fulness, the one wide piece of material placed about the figure, but widely crossed in front and drawn up into pleated unstitched folds to the belt. The lower edges are rounded off. When of clinging material and hanging in about the feet because of the slash the garment looks like modern style Turkish trousers.

Still another style of skirt somewhat on the lines of the last one, in so far as using one width of cloth is concerned, has drapery folds on one side and is caught up and fastens below hip depth into a horizontal fold on the other side.

Corsages are soft, shapeless layers of chiffon tulle and lace with the skirt material mounting up in girde or pointed tabs. Sleeves are loose without being exactly puffed, of no definite shape, sometimes short, sometimes long.

All this is a part of the new idea in dressmaking. Gone are the fitting or semi-fitted dresses and coats, and in their place are flowing lines and drapery that affect even the attitudes of the fashionable woman. No longer is an erect pose necessary, so that the gown may fit the figure like a glove. Instead, the new aesthetic poses that go well with the artistic lines.

As a side issue there is an ever increasing tendency toward the fashion of the '80s, vague, perhaps, but none the less increasing as the season advances. This is a sort of modern japonaise fastened with numberless buttons down the front and with a bit of polonaise drapery. The skirt slash remains, but it is a very different one from that of preceding seasons. It is a lapped slash, which makes it much more modest for the average gown, and when the dress is also drawn up enough in front to expose the instep and ankles the lapped folds above hardly ever separate enough to show lacy skirt or silken ankle.

Three views of a three piece gown worn by a charming French actress are pictured here, in Nos. 3, 4 and 5—the front and back views of the dress and the little short blouse coat.

The skirt is of light gray charmeuse, the corsage of gray crepe chiffon matching here, in Nos. 3, 4 and 5—the front and back views of the dress and the little short blouse coat.

skirt, which mounts in a point in the back only over the corsage, has a most amusing tiny frill made from the lower edge of the triangle of chiffon. A darker gray satin slash folded about the waist drops in the back, finished by a flat knot and loop. The skirt has the one side drapery and pleat already mentioned. The short blouse coat is of natter blue satin. There are gray embroideries on both collar and cuffs. It has separated surplice front edges and short bouquets in the back. Chiffon sleeve ruffles fall from the cuffs. The other three piece dress, pictured here in two views, is also of gray charmeuse, the skirt lines slightly different. Here the drapery is arranged to give a little more width in the skirt. The blouse fronts separate to reveal a net yoke and the sleeves have something in their looseness of cut of the leg of mutton-sleeve of the nineteenth century.

there is a deep shaped insertion of this same net. The wrap, of gray charmeuse like the skirt, is as vague and apparently shapeless as the corsage figure beneath. characteristics of the present season is the custom of wearing elaborate toilettes every afternoon. People are beginning to be much less stay-at-home, and since the society which now frequents the smart tea rooms or the half-public, half-private hotel salons where the tango is danced, she necessarily adopts a much smarter afternoon dress than she used to wear before these reunions became the fashion. Many smart women are adopting little short "garments," such as the bolero, the "saute en barque" and the "mantelet," as they find them an excuse for utilizing in their composition all sorts of old lace and charming old-fashioned embroidered tulle. As the summer is warm and sunny this idea is carried out to a number of lingerie dresses, and little short loose-fitting paletots are also made

A very pretty novelty to be especially noted is the dress in broderie anglaise of the same shade, or else in some color of pink or pale yellow which harmonizes well with the rest of the toilette.

The different materials now used in the same costume, when they are mingled successfully, produce a very original and personal toilette.

Fashions for Little Girls.
DESIGNING fashions for the little girl along the lines followed in the gowns of her mother is the new note in Parisian designs for the childish costume. A model of charming simplicity, intended for a girl of five or six, has the separate bolero jacket and lace frill now so much used in the gowns of grown-ups. The little jacket, made of satin, is cut away slightly at the neck and is edged with the frill of lace. The bottom of the bolero is fashioned in scallops, as are also the base of the sleeves, and an edging of gazon-braid finishes them very prettily. The jacket opens in the front, and six but-
