WILL PRESERVE PEACE.

India's Victory Uses Plain Words to Natives of Both Sexes.

BRITAIN NEUTRAL, BUT FIRM.

Religious Quarrels Will Not be Tolerated—Those Who Wish to Kill Cattle for Food Must Not be Interfered With.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Viceroy of India in speaking at Agra said that the Government did not intend to allow the exhibition of lawlessness which had been made in the recent cow riots. It would preserve a strict neutrality and toleration to all religions and the nation were not to imagine that the killing of kine under proper regulations for sacrifice or food would be tolerated.

It was Britain's intention, he said, to protect all religions impartially, but any violence on any side would be visited with extreme severity.

The Viceroy appealed to the leaders of the native community to impress upon their less enlightened fellow-countrymen the folly and disastrous consequences of such acts as were lately perpetrated and through the both sexes and vernacular, to explain to the people the desirability of a calm and temperate spirit. He denounced a miserable falsehood, that the Government encouraged religious quarrels in order to show dissensions between class and class.

In conclusion he enjoined upon the Hindu respect of the susceptibilities of their Hindu fellow-countrymen. He recommended that the Hindus by all means organize societies for the protection of cattle from ill-treatment. At the same time they must allow these societies to become associations for spreading the poison of class hatred. He promised to both parties fair and impartial dealing on his own part in any case of violation of the law or exhibition of partiality by subordinate officials.

A STEAMER SUNK.

A Collision in the Lime Kiln Crossing has a Serious Result.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Nov. 13.—On Saturday evening about six o'clock the lake steamer "C. B. Lockwood," bound down with iron ore, collided with the schooner "Nicholas," bound up with coal in the channel at Lime Kiln Crossing.

The schooner's stern gear gave way when within a few yards of the steamer and she swung across the channel. The steamer struck her forward works and sank immediately, but not before her bow had gone hard on the rocks, and the sudden stop caused her to break in two. The schooner was very slightly damaged, and proceeded on her way.

The divers were at work all day trying to patch the leaking in the Lockwood so the ore can be taken out of her by the hand pumps. Her position does not obstruct the passage, but leaves only about seventy-five feet and makes it very difficult.

The steamer "Onko" in coming down took a sheer, caused by the current and struck the Lockwood in the stern and drove her down five feet farther down stream, placing her in a worse position than before and doing her more injury.

It is said the damage to the Lockwood alone will exceed $65,000.

IN SIX INCHES OF WATER.

A Confirmed Invalid Commits Suicide by Drowning.

BRACEBRIDGE, Nov. 13.—A young man named Joseph Dunn, son of Mr. George Dunn, post master of Bracebridge, committed suicide by drowning. He left his father's house and was supposed by the rest of the family to have gone over to the house of his brother, who lives a short distance away. Not returning his father became alarmed and went after him. It was found that he had not been at his brother's.

In the afternoon one of the family found tracks leading to a lake, a short distance north of the house, and the unfortunate young man's body was discovered lying face down in about six inches of water. He had been in the water for about eight years and had several times attempted to drown himself, but had not got better soon. As there were no suspicious circumstances at all, Coroner Bridgman did not consider an inquest necessary.

DISAPPOINTED IN LOVE.

An Englishman Commits Suicide in a Bath.

BRACEBRIDGE, Nov. 13.—News has been received here that an Englishman named Daniel Prosser shot himself fatally at Oshawa, where he was situated. He was 33 years of age, 33 miles from here.

He walked into the kitchen of Cole's Hotel, took a gun from the wall and asked one of the girls if it belonged to Fred Biggs. On being informed that it did, he proceeded to load it. A few minutes after he placed the muzzle to his forehead and fired, the charge coming out at the back of his head. Disappointment in love is supposed to be the cause of his suicide.

Coroner Bridgman was notified, but did not consider an inquest necessary under the circumstances.

A TEXAS SCHOOLMARM.

Remarkable Life and Heroic Death of a Prairie Queen.

SHE KILLED ELEVEN COMANCHES.

A Brave Pioneer on the Outposts of Civilization—A Primary School-Teacher—Her Heroic Deeds.

It was in 1848 that Ellen Quinn came from western North Carolina to this part of Texas, writes a Belcherville correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

As a woman she was a pioneer, and as a school-teacher she was a heroine.

She was a woman of a nature to break up the story told by Luckey of securing the boots on the train on the way to Smith's Falls.

A Chateaugay Miracle.

PHYSICIAN'S PRAISED RECOVERY.

INCREDIBLE.

The Remarkable Experience of Mr. L. J. Jos. Braddy, of St. Ursula—His Friends Called to His Support—His Recovery—His Health and Strength—A Public Acknowledgment of His Gratitude.

From the Montreal Herald.

There has appeared in the columns of the La Presse during the past two years, many articles bearing witness to the great good accomplished in remedy the many of which is now one of the most familiar household words in all parts of the Dominion.

And now comes a statement, from the county of Chateaugay, over the signature of a well-known resident of St. Ursula, which speaks in positive and unmistakable language as to the value of this wonder-working medicine.

MR. BRADDY'S STATEMENT.

"I feel that I owe it to you Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I desire to make grateful acknowledgment and to give you a complete statement of my illness and cure in the hope that my experience may be of benefit to some other sufferers."

At the end of October, 1891, being on the advice of an American doctor whom I had consulted, I left home for the north to invest in farming lands with the intention of curing myself.

I had been afflicted with a species of paralysis caused by the rupture of a blood vessel over the right eye, and which stopped the circulation of the blood on the left side.

I was at the time employed by the Messrs. Lacaille Bros., Lawrence, Mass. The doctor had advised a change of work so as to have less mental and more physical exercise.

This I resolved upon, but before long as I did not see any improvement until the following October. Arrived at my destination I perceived symptoms of my previous illness making themselves felt once more.

I went at once to a local physician who endeavored to understand my case. However, he gave me some medicine to ease the pain I felt in my head, particularly at night.

This afforded me relief for a few minutes, and sometimes enabled me to get a little sleep, but the awakening was always worse than before.

On the last of October I went to bed as usual after taking my medicine as directed, and slept the whole night, but the next morning I found myself unable to get up.

I found myself so weak that I could not stand and could scarcely speak. My wife, surprised to see me in such a state, ran to a neighbor's and requested him to go for a doctor.

The doctor arrived almost immediately, but could not afford me the slightest relief. The priest then arrived, and seeing the condition I was in, told me my case was critical and to prepare myself for the worst.

On the following day both the priest and the doctor advised my wife to telegraph to my friends, as they considered their approaching, and two days later my two brothers arrived.

The doctor asked me if I preferred that he should hold a consultation with another physician, and on my replying in the affirmative, he telegraphed to a doctor living at a distance of about fifteen miles.

The doctor came, and after asking me some questions and retired for consultation. The result of this was that my wife was told that I could not possibly get better.

Said the doctor to her, "The greatest trouble with you is that you cannot live a year." When my wife told me this I determined to pay the doctors and discontinue their services.

It cost me about $80 to reach this verdict. Two or three weeks passed without my seeing any improvement in my condition and I was so weak I could barely move around the house with the aid of a cane.

One day I wrapped a parcel lying on the table noticed in a newspaper, having nothing better to do I began to read it, and after a while came across an article headed "Miraculous Cure." I read it, and the longer I read the more interested I became.

ATHENS, NOV. 14, 1893.

THE PREACHER'S VACATION.

The old man went to meetin' for the day was bright and late. The step was slow and lettery, and he had his fingers crossed for the gospel, so he trotted on the road in rough and dusty, with the weary way.

By and by he reached the building, to his much happy thought. Then he wiped the sweat drops from his wrinkled face: He looked around him, for the old did not tell.

So he looked upon his pilgrim's staff, and said: "What does it mean, this staff, till it seemed to him a cross."

He had walked the dusty highway, and he had just to go on more to meetin' ere the sun came to rise.

Then he saw a little apple basket on the meadow side. So he looked along to read it, and he read it "er and over."

Why, that was odd! notice stuck on the meadow side. "Pastor absent on vacation," never heard this before!

"Why, when first I joined the meadow, very many years ago, I was in the circuit, in the heat and through the snow."

Why, that was odd! notice stuck on the meadow side. "Pastor absent on vacation," never heard this before!

"Would the farmer leave his cattle, or the shepherd leave his sheep? Who would give them care and shelter, or so it were, when a man of his holy hands had to leave on vacation, and forsake his tender lambs."

"Didst thou get such a notion? Did a Wesley did they in the heat of summer turn from their duty? Did they shut up their meeting-just go and lounge about? Why, surely, they would, Satan would raise a shout."

"Do the taverns close their doors, just to take a little rest? Why, would the height of noon, for they were ever known to happen, or hear anybody Satan absent on vacation and closed the doors?"

"And shall preachers of the gospel pack their trunks and go away? Look, here is a man, and sinners used to get along as best they may!"

"Why, that is, I cannot answer, but my feelings here are stirred—'trotting footsteps to hear the gospel word! But the thought is very strange, and the meadow house is closed."

"I cannot be very trying, hard indeed to keep composed. Tell me when I tread the valley, and go up Will I hear no angel singin', will I see no Will the golden harps be silent, will I meet no Will I see no more there?"

"Tell me when I reach the city, over on the Will I find a little notice tucked upon the gold-rod. Telling me, mid dreadful silence, writ in words list out and burn."

"Jesus absent on vacation, heaven closed till his return."

A Memory. The last glimmering ray of the sun had faded ere the western horizon ere we reached the home of our friend.

It was one of those beautiful autumn evenings when the splendid glory of the starry firmament was plainly mirrored by the tranquil brooks along the way.

The loving herd had gathered to their accustomed resting place on the hill-top, and the newly shocked corn cast a sweet odor on the air, seeming plainly to evince that "plenty, crowns the industry of the farmer."

The sound of familiar voices now broke upon our ears, by which we were glad to know the terminus of our journey was at hand, and we were soon not only enjoying the comforts of their home, but, more to be desired, the company of our friends.

During the course of the evening, our attention was called to some relics which workmen, while repairing the house, had discovered, having been lost years ago through a hole in the chamber wall.

Amongst the rest, was a coverless hymn book of somewhat ancient design and bearing in large, round letters the hand writing and the name of "Frank."

THE SHIPMAN TRIAL.

A verdict of manslaughter—seven years in the Penitentiary. The trial of Charles Shipman for the murder of John Fitzsimmons near Lakeside on March 24, 1893, and of Albert Joels, Mrs. Joels and Thomas Shipman, accessories in the crime began at Brockville on the evening of Tuesday last.

Mrs. Joels is a daughter and Thomas a son of Charles. The Shipmans and Joels had been jointly with Fitzsimmons about certain property and the latter had taken possession of the house when the shooting occurred. The prisoners were taken to possession and a fight resulted, in which several shots were fired by Fitzsimmons, when Thomas Shipman, the boy, went and got gun for his father, who fired through the door, killing Fitzsimmons.

The prisoner alleges that the gun went off accidentally and he traveled quite a distance to get himself after. When the court assembled, the trial came to an abrupt termination by the prisoner withdrawing his plea of not guilty to the charge of murder, and pleading guilty to manslaughter. He was sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary, and the other prisoners were discharged.

Visited a Lizard. The Winchester Press states that one day recently Mrs. Geo. Henderson of that place was visited by a handsome reptile and she was so surprised and horrified vomited up a lizard measuring about ten inches in length. The head of the reptile was in a fair state of preservation but all that remained of the body was its skeleton. It is supposed that the reptile was swallowed in its infancy while Mrs. Henderson was taking a drink of water and that it developed in her stomach. It has been preserved by some parties in alcohol.

In Favor of the Plebiscite. At the meeting of the quarterly official board of the Lyn circuit it was moved by R. McCord and seconded by Nelson Shipman, and unanimously resolved that this quarterly board should express its hearty sympathy with all legitimate efforts to suppress the liquor traffic, and that its members hereby pledge themselves to heartily co-operate with the members now in progress throughout the township of Elizabethtown and the county of Leeds, the aim of which was under the act of the Legislature of 1892, to be the securing of as large a vote as possible on behalf of the cause of prohibition in connection with the approaching plebiscite.

The Cheese of Lanark and Leeds. Perth Courier: "Mr. Geo. F. Publow, Inspector of Cheese for Eastern Ontario, arrived in Perth from the Chicago Fair on Wednesday. He confirms the news already received that the Canadian cheese exhibit swept the prize-list, and was astonishingly honored above all competitors there."

Mr. Publow says that in the limited time left for selection he could not get around to all the entries, and had to curtail the territory to get all the sections represented in the competition. He feels proud of the record made by Canada in the cheese show, and especially by the counties of Lanark and Leeds."

Such a compulsion of disease yielding so quickly to this remedy should encourage sufferers to give it an honest trial.

Terrible Disaster on Lake Nipissing.

A despatch from North Bay, dated Nov. 8, says: While the steamer John Brown was en route from Alexander to Deception, Hay & Co's lumber camp on the western end of Lake Nipissing yesterday morning a fire broke out, burning the boat to the water's edge and costing the lives of twenty men, the only members of the crew who escaped, being the fireman and cook.

A crew of about 20 men was in tow, but was cut loose for the purpose of allowing it to run to shore, and is still drifting. Seven men in all were saved. The cause of the fire is unknown. A life boat belonging to the burned steamer has been found drifting with a hole in one side.

But if heat is a great purifier cold is no less a preserver from decay. Amid the eternal snows of the Arctic region the unburied carcasses may lie fresh and uncorrupted for months. The fish of the same month, buried in the frozen soil of Siberia, has retained during for untold centuries, and perhaps we have one of "nature's hints to foresters," for most is now largely preserved by freezing.

"Electricity is also a sanitary agent. When Professor Tyndall was experimenting with atmospheric dust in his classical researches on the origin of the lowest forms of life, he found that an electric discharge passed through a dusty atmosphere purified it by which the minute particles to settle. And long before these researches were commonly said and believed that a thunder-storm purified the air. Thus a sanitary foundation is found for the popular belief, and the lightning flash takes its place as an accredited sanitary agent.—Chambers' Journal."

He entered the meteorological service of the Government. "This 'ere' where you give me weather predictions, ain't it?" The clerk nodded.

THREE HUNDRED WERE INJURED. And as Many More Were Injured by a Dynamite Explosion.

TERRIBLE DISASTER IN SPAIN. The Governor and Many Other Officials Killed—Hundreds Rendered Homeless—A Great Fire Follows Threatening Destruction to the City.

SANTANDER, Spain, Nov. 5.—The ship Cabo Machalao, having a cargo of dynamite, exploded at 9 o'clock last night. The Governor of the Province personally directed the efforts of the firemen in attacking the flames. Suddenly there was a dull roar followed by a report that shook the city. Every house around the quay and wharves, the walls being blown down.

The Governor was killed and his body was blown into the bay. The commandant of the Civic Guard and many officials and workmen were badly injured.

The streets in the vicinity of the quay where the explosion occurred were filled with all sorts of wreckage from the houses blown down.

A number of living persons are under the ruins. At the time the ship blew up the launch of the Spanish steamer Alfonso XII. was being towed by the tugboat. The steamer was completely destroyed. All her officers and 40 of her crew are missing and it is certain every one of them was killed.

It is estimated that 300 persons were killed by the explosion. Many more are missing, but most of them are believed to have gone to the houses of friends after their homes were destroyed, among the dead are the Prefect, the chief of police and two judges. Sixty houses were wrecked, and many others were in ruins.

Groups were met early this morning from Santona 15 miles from Santander to pull down the buildings rendered unsafe by the explosion and to clear the streets. The station began to burn a moment later. The station master was burned to death and many passengers were injured.

Duzens of persons living near the bay fled from their burning homes and in terror threw themselves into the sea. The Ministers of Finance and the Interior left Madrid for Santander.

Some papers go so far as to intimate Italy may yet regret her display of friendship for England, and that the combined French and Russian squadrons in the Mediterranean are capable of dictating terms to any combination which Italy and England may present in the Mediterranean or elsewhere.

Another Plot Suspected. MADRID, Nov. 13.—Three more Anarchists were arrested here last evening. Numerous warnings had been sent to brokers here that the Anarchists were plotting to blow up the Bourse. Saturday and Friday, therefore, the attendance was restricted to holders of special admission cards.

The Anarchists held a meeting in Barcelona yesterday to celebrate the outrage in the theatre. The Anarchists did not have the meeting until it was nearly over and arrived at the hall too late to make any impression on the audience.

The police caught the Anarchist Navarro who was seen leaving the theatre on the evening of the explosion.

LESBOS, Nov. 13.—Three Anarchists, who distributed manifestos calling for a meeting in this city in memory of the "Chicago martyrs," were arrested.

End of the Trouble. SAN SALVADOR, Nov. 13.—Minister Young telegraphed to the Honorable Minister of Foreign Affairs asking if his Government accepts the responsibility for the act of the Anarchists who had shot Amalia when she fled upon the Pacific mail steamer Costa Rica, when she was being the American flag.

The Government of Honduras promptly disavowed the conduct of its officers and expressed sincere regret for the occurrence.

A cable message from Minister Young establishes the fact that the shots were fired at the Costa Rica with the intention of hitting her, and not as was thought at first, across her bows for the purpose of bringing her about.

SPAIN'S POSITION. No Money to Put the Extra Forces on a War Footing. MADRID, Nov. 6.—The great expense to be entailed by calling the three years' reserve to their colors has excited grave apprehensions among the members of the Government. It is difficult to see how in the unfavorable conditions of Spain's finances the necessary money can be raised to put this force on a war footing and perhaps send it to Mexico.

More meanness is felt here owing to the growth of the anti-English sentiment among the lower classes. A special patrol was set out at the English embassy last evening, to protect it from any hostile demonstration. It is reported that French agents are stirring up the people with stories of English interference in Morocco.

Sympathy at Havana. HAVANA, Nov. 6.—The death of Gen. Martago, commanding the Spanish troops on the 25th of October at Melilla, was caused great sorrow here in Havana, arousing the sympathy of the people, who are showing their patriotism by subscribing large sums of money for the vigorous prosecution of the families of troops who have been slain in battle. Some $14,000 in gold has been forwarded to Spain.

Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Nov. 13, 1893.

Francis Will Not Make Terms. PARIS, Nov. 13.—The Government has refused to make terms with the Anarchists, the former King of Dahomey, to negotiate for terms of peace.

WOULD LIKE GIBRALTAR. France and Russia May Support Spain's Demand for Its Surrender.

PALM, Nov. 13.—The speech of the Italian Ambassador at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London, on November 9, is causing angry comments from the French press. Referring to the visit of the British squadron to Tarraco, he said: "The Italians have no need to go into Tarraco or to turn on their heels and make out what receiving foreign guests." This was plainly a reference to the Franco-Russian alliance and to the friendship existing between England and Italy.

Some papers go so far as to intimate Italy may yet regret her display of friendship for England, and that the combined French and Russian squadrons in the Mediterranean are capable of dictating terms to any combination which Italy and England may present in the Mediterranean or elsewhere.

Another Plot Suspected. MADRID, Nov. 13.—Three more Anarchists were arrested here last evening. Numerous warnings had been sent to brokers here that the Anarchists were plotting to blow up the Bourse. Saturday and Friday, therefore, the attendance was restricted to holders of special admission cards.

The Anarchists held a meeting in Barcelona yesterday to celebrate the outrage in the theatre. The Anarchists did not have the meeting until it was nearly over and arrived at the hall too late to make any impression on the audience.

The police caught the Anarchist Navarro who was seen leaving the theatre on the evening of the explosion.

LESBOS, Nov. 13.—Three Anarchists, who distributed manifestos calling for a meeting in this city in memory of the "Chicago martyrs," were arrested.

End of the Trouble. SAN SALVADOR, Nov. 13.—Minister Young telegraphed to the Honorable Minister of Foreign Affairs asking if his Government accepts the responsibility for the act of the Anarchists who had shot Amalia when she fled upon the Pacific mail steamer Costa Rica, when she was being the American flag.

The Government of Honduras promptly disavowed the conduct of its officers and expressed sincere regret for the occurrence.

A cable message from Minister Young establishes the fact that the shots were fired at the Costa Rica with the intention of hitting her, and not as was thought at first, across her bows for the purpose of bringing her about.

SPAIN'S POSITION. No Money to Put the Extra Forces on a War Footing. MADRID, Nov. 6.—The great expense to be entailed by calling the three years' reserve to their colors has excited grave apprehensions among the members of the Government. It is difficult to see how in the unfavorable conditions of Spain's finances the necessary money can be raised to put this force on a war footing and perhaps send it to Mexico.

More meanness is felt here owing to the growth of the anti-English sentiment among the lower classes. A special patrol was set out at the English embassy last evening, to protect it from any hostile demonstration. It is reported that French agents are stirring up the people with stories of English interference in Morocco.

The Rifians Were Silent. MADRID, Nov. 6.—The Spanish fort at Melilla, commanded by the Italian lines all yesterday, but no response came from the trenches. ATHENS, NOV. 14, 1893.

THE FRANCHISE VACATION

The old man went to meet for the day was bright and fair.

By and by he reached the station, to his son's happy face.

Then he looked at the great crowd of people, and he said to himself: "What a fine day!"

THE SHIPMAN TRIAL

A Verdict of Manslaughter—Seven Years in the Penitentiary.

The trial of Charles Shipman for the murder of John Fitzsimmons near Lansdowne on March 24, 1893, and of Albert Joes, Mrs. Joes and Thomas Shipman as accessories in the crime began at Brockville on the evening of Tuesday last.

The Shipman and Joes had had difficulty with Fitzsimmons about certain property and the latter had taken possession of the house when the shooting occurred.

The prisoner alleges that the gun went off accidentally and he travelled quite a distance to give himself up.

When the court assembled, the trial came to an abrupt termination by the prisoner withdrawing his plea of not guilty to the charge of murder, and pleading guilty to manslaughter.

He was sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary, and the other prisoners were discharged.

Visited a Lizard. The Winchester Press states that one day Mrs. Geo. Henderson of that place was visited by a nauseous sensation and shortly after to her surprise and horror vomited up a lizard measuring about two inches in length.

At the meeting of the quarterly official board of the Lyn circuit it was moved by R. McCordy and seconded by Nelson Shipman, and unanimously resolved that the quarterly board should express its hearty sympathy with all legitimate efforts to suppress the liquor traffic, and that its members hereby pledge themselves to heartily co-operate with the movement in progress throughout the county.

In Favor of the Plebiscite. At the meeting of the quarterly official board of the Lyn circuit it was moved by R. McCordy and seconded by Nelson Shipman, and unanimously resolved that the quarterly board should express its hearty sympathy with all legitimate efforts to suppress the liquor traffic, and that its members hereby pledge themselves to heartily co-operate with the movement in progress throughout the county.

The Cheese of Lanark and Leeds. Perth Courier: "Mr. Geo. F. Purlow, Inspector of cheese for Eastern Ontario, arrived home at Perth on the Chicago Fair on Wednesday. He confirms the news already received that the Canadian cheese exhibit swept the prize-list, and won astonishing honors above all competitors there."

November 23rd seems a ridiculously late day for the National Thanksgiving. All tokens of harvest joy will have long since disappeared, the snow will probably be on the ground, and December will be only a few days away.

It is of every kind, on humor of animals, cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Warranted by J. P. Lamb.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused Lumps and Blemishes from horses, Blood Spavin, Curbs, Splints, Ring Bone, Stiffles, Stiffles, Sprains, Sore and Swollen Throat, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted by J. P. Lamb.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—South American Rheumatic Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Warranted by J. P. Lamb.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsville, Ind., says: "I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which does me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I have ever done in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy." A trial bottle will convince you. Warranted by J. P. Lamb.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture. Send 25 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers (wrappers bearing the words "Why Does a Woman Look Old Sooner Than a Man?") to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market and it will only cost in postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

A Keene Lady. A lady named Mrs. T. C. M. Humphries, living in Keene, Ont., who used only two bottles of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, has forwarded a statement to the effect that it completely cured her of inflammatory rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles. Such a complication of diseases yielding so quickly to this remedy should encourage sister sufferers to give it an honest trial.

Natural Sanitary Agency

There is no more effective sanitary agent than fire. The ancient who made his riches of asbestos had but to throw it into the furnace, and it could not be burned.

Electricity is also a sanitary agent. When Professor Tyndall was experimenting with atmospheric dust in his classical researches on the origin of the lowest forms of life, he found that an electric discharge passed through a dusty atmosphere purified it by causing the minute particles to settle.

He said to himself: "I've got around that rich old granddaddy of mine at last. His interest in me is so good. It worries him almost sick to see so much misery in the world. How delighted he would be to find that I had come to the support of the poor, friendless orphan!"

He Overdid It. Begged to himself: "I've got around that rich old granddaddy of mine at last. His interest in me is so good. It worries him almost sick to see so much misery in the world. How delighted he would be to find that I had come to the support of the poor, friendless orphan!"

A Bad Umbrella Habit is Cured For. Some years ago I answered an advertisement which offered in return for a $1 bill to send an infallible remedy for colds and coughs.

My indignation at this barbed satire was so great that what the advertiser actually happened. The incident and illustration both became so photographed in my mind's eye every time I carried an umbrella I thought of the absurd illustration, and the dollar I thought thrown away has since saved me many dollars a year.

Send for pamphlets giving sworn evidence from many cured (persons of both sexes) before the "Supreme Court of New York," lately.
