The Nerves Not Understood

By most people and by many doctors—Hence their treatments fail.

It is not so very many years since diseases of the nerves were attributed to the presence of evil spirits and more recently sufferers from nervous derangements have been told that they only imagine they are sick.

Now the very best authorities claim as did Dr. Chase that the only way to cure diseases of the nerves is to make the blood rich, red and nutritious and to build up the wasted nerve cells by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. W. E. Rutherford, St. Andrew, Mass., writes: "In 1903 I was stricken with paralysis, fell helplessly to the floor and had to be carried to bed. The doctor said he had to give me a tonic to give me power in my tongue and left leg. For six months I lay in that condition without benefit from the doctor's prescriptions. My husband advised me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by use of this treatment all the symptoms disappeared. I can now talk plainly, my leg is all right and I can do all my own housework." 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edinason, Bates & Co., Toronto.

An Acadian Spring.

Across some mistreared lake
As evening falls,
I love the night birds give
Their vesper calls.

The tinkling bells of kites
Float down the vale
And low their melody
Along the trail.

From the old mill-race
Their comes the roar
Of waters falling as
They fell of yore:

White firs in yonder gorge
A restless stream
Makes music to the night
Wind's gentle dream.

Across the marshland drifts
A silvery screen
Of fog, the lake moon casts
Her silver gleam.

Upon Tappan's hill
The Acadian Spring
And cool, dark firs now move
The best to sing.

And of memory
Faint echoes
And quiet Acadian days
In dim disguise.

—English Notes, in the June Canadian Magazine.

A Prophet in Baby-lon.

BY W. J. DAWSON
Continued.

"Father, do you mean that? Say do you mean it? You shut the door once—on Robert. Will you shut it on me too? O father, why inflict such suffering on yourself?"

"Ask yourself who inflicts the suffering. It is not I."

"It is you father. I can live here, and love and care for you as I have always loved and cared. What will it matter that I give some of my time to the service of the poor? Am I to be an outcast for that?"

"It does matter. I tell you, if you go my house will be desolate. It will be made desolate by your self-will. But I could bear that better than to see you here, knowing all the time that you were defying my wishes."

"It is not self-will father. O, I would yield to you, if I could. But I am so sure that this is my path, the one path I must tread. I have struggled not to think so. I have even prayed that I might think otherwise. But it is useless—the conviction has grown in me in spite of myself. And I cannot silence the inner voice. If I did I should never again be happy, and I should have no right to happiness."

"I know that there is such a thing as obedience to parents—I have never been unfaithful. But there are other duties too; duties to oneself; duties to one's own conscience; and whatever duties I might fulfil, I know that if I left these duties undone I should be miserable. There comes a time when one must live one's own life—it is such a little life, it is all we have. And when that time comes it is the voice of one's own soul that must be obeyed—and I have heard the voice."

"Then it must be so. It appears to be the fate of parents nowadays—at least it is my fate—to bring up children who rebel against them."

"If it is rebellion, father, it is the kind of rebellion of which all lovers of truth have been guilty—all honest men and women. Don't you see that in this matter I have no choice? Would not you, in my place, do as I am doing? Why do you press me so hard? If I had committed a crime, you could not be harder on me."

"And it is a crime you are committing, Olivia. A crime against common sense. But go—leave me—I can endure no more. Sleep over it, pray over it if you can—to-morrow it may be you will think differently."

"I cannot think differently on this subject."

"Then you know the consequences. There is nothing more to be said. Jordan, turned and left the room. For some minutes Olivia stood perfectly silent; then the relief of tears came. She left upon her knees and prayed. The house grew very still, the awe of midnight filled it.

"What was her prayer? It was the prayer which the divines of all ages uttered in the crisis of his fate—most pathetic, most human of all."

"If your back aches or is weak, if the joints are stiff, or if you have a headache, or if you are suffering from any of the ailments which are common to the human race, you will find relief in using this hair food. It is a tonic and a restorative, and it will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell it."

A Good Hair-Food
Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is a genuine hair-food. It feeds, nourishes, builds up, strengthens, invigorates. The hair grows more rapidly, keeps soft and smooth, and all dandruff disappears. Aid nature a little. Give your hair a good hair-food.
Do not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's
You need not hesitate about using this new Hair Vigor from any fear of its changing the color of your hair. The new Hair Vigor gives the hair its natural color, but does not change the color of the hair even to the slightest degree.

in that exalted mood to which any form of self-sacrifice, or self-immolation, for an ideal, secures a positive attraction rather than a deterrent.

"My idealism was somewhat rudely handled at the theological seminary, as you will understand; but I consoled myself with the thought that I was only in the position of the painter who finds the hard technique of art a very different thing from the vague dream of art which impels his feet to the studio of the master. At all events my idealism survived. I told myself that soon I should be in a church, and there the atmosphere would be very different. Like the difficulties of technique, I should emerge into a free world, where I could breathe and work with unimpeded joy."

"At last the hour of my deliverance came. I was the minister of a church. It was a church that stood high in general repute, and my prospects were much brighter than those of scores of men who started with me. I entered on my work resolved to build this living Kingdom of God among men, to preach nothing but the truth as the truth was revealed to me, to give the whole strength of my mind and body to the task, to make religion a reality in my own life and the lives of those committed to my charge. By slow degrees it dawned upon me that my church was out of sympathy with ideals which were the very breath of life to me."

"It was clear to begin with, that my church did not want the truth in the sense in which I used the term. They were content with traditional truth, but with truth in any living form they were totally unacquainted. Certain doctrines or forms of words were to them symbols; they were used to the symbol, but the moment I used language which transgressed the symbol they were offended or alarmed."

"Again, it was clear that they did not regard religion as having any practical bearing on the actualities of daily life. Religion was for them a series of propositions and assumption dealing with matters which lay beyond the province of the reason. It was a romance of the imagination and the emotions. It could not be conceived in the terms of plain conduct."

"Please do not think that I speak in any spirit of contempt. I will say as often and with the sincerest sincerity that the people who composed my congregation were almost all good and kindly people. They were kind to one another and to me; they were charitable to a variety of good causes and institutions; they lived on excellent terms with one another. But it soon became clear to me that they would have been just the same kind of persons without religion as with it. Religion had furnished them no doubt with a series of valuable restraints for conduct, but it had wrought no vital change in their characters. It was not an experience; it was only an external creed. Well, it might be said, surely there was enough good material here in any case out of which to build the Kingdom of God? I can only reply that I found it otherwise, quite otherwise. For the very virtues in which these people excelled had bred in them an immense complacency. They were wholly satisfied with themselves; so much so that they could conceive of no need for improvement. And, being for the most part people of middle age, occupying assured and comfortable positions in society, they were equally satisfied with the world as it was

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JUNE 11, 1909.

While the season has been backward, this week nature has left no doubt of her old-time power. A more beautiful sight than that which the apple-orchards, with their wealth of verdure and blossom, are now presenting, one could not well picture. It would seem as though, tardy in her work, she had for that very reason wrought with a more prodigal hand. As far as the eye can reach the whole valley presents one mass of blossom, red and pink. This, against the background of the dark green foliage, and the still deeper green of dyke-land, and the mountains and the sea, the scene is such that the eye may well linger upon. Nature has indeed smiled upon the fruitful valley.

An excursion under the auspices of the Halifax Board of Trade is to visit the valley next week. and will be at Wolfville on Tuesday. They will travel by a special train which will reach here at 11:55 a. m. The party will include leading merchants of the city, who will like to meet in an off-hand way their customers all along the line. It is expected that the party will remain in Wolfville for an hour, and we trust every citizen will do his utmost to make their impression of our town pleasing. It seems unfortunate that their visit could not have been arranged for this week, when the orchards are at their best. This, however, was impossible.

Some Liberal papers in Nova Scotia object to the proposal that the new managerial commission of the Inter-colonial should advertise the movement of its train in Conservative as well as Liberal papers. The ground outwardly taken is that such advertising would cost money, and it is advisable that the road should save money. The real cause seems to be a feeling that it is not meet to take the swill from the Government pig trough to fatten strangers' pork, says the Montreal Gazette.

At the instance of Sir Frederick Borden a man named Carruthers was prosecuted at Kentville for circulating a defamatory libel. The jury brought in a true bill and the accused gathered his witnesses and was ready for trial. Then the crown postponed the trial for a term. The law can be used at times in a way that hardly comports with the principle that justice shall neither be denied or sold. The crown when ready to indict a man should be ready to try him.—Montreal Gazette.

The St. John Standard says the Nineteenth Century editors may be sorry they apologized when they hear from Kentville.

Keeping Children Well.

Every mother should be able to recognize and cure the minor ills that attack her little ones. Prompt action may prevent serious illness—perhaps save a little life. A simple, safe remedy in the home is therefore a necessity, and for this purpose there is nothing else so good as Baby's Own Tablets. They promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, destroy worms, break up colds, make teething easy and keep children healthy and cheerful. Mrs. Joe Levesque, Casselman, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have always found them satisfactory. My child has grown splendidly and is always good natured since I began using this medicine." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Thompson Crowe, son of Mrs. Crowe, of Kentville, was killed in the North Packing and Provision Company's slaughter-house. At Somerville, Mass., on Saturday last. One of the employees named John Murphy, became suddenly insane, and uttering a maniacal shriek struck down the government inspector, who was standing near, and drove hundreds of his fellow-workmen and women before him. In his rush he killed Crowe and three others and several more are expected to die. The men were killed with wonderful precision, Murphy with his long experience with the knife striking direct for the heart. Mr. Crowe was a married man, who left Kentville about fifteen years ago and had worked a long time in Somerville. His mother and brother and sisters here are terribly grief-stricken over the shocking tragedy. A telegram reached them Sunday of his death but it was only in reading the daily papers on Monday that they learned of the particulars.

A 12 foot bronze statue of Robert Burns, mounted on a pedestal of pink Nova Scotia granite, has been erected at Millwaukie in a triangle formed by three streets. It has been erected by James A. Bryden for presentation to the city. The dedication and presentation ceremony will be on the 26th.

Sir Frederick Home.

Members of parliament who support the government tell us that money is scarce at Ottawa and that small sums for much-needed improvements cannot be obtained. Take for instance the Yarmouth post office, where the lack of accommodation is simply a disgrace to so important a town as Yarmouth. But the palace cars still flourish and can be seen fittingly hither and thither in every section of the Dominion. On Friday last the Intercolonial train from Montreal arrived at Windsor Junction and had attached to it one of these costly and sometimes necessary travelling mansions. It contained Sir Frederick and Lady Borden and family, also a retinue of servants, all bound to Canning, Kings County, the Nova Scotia home of the Knight. The party was dropped off at the Junction and the car attached to a special engine which conveyed it to Canning. Twenty years ago Sir Frederick was one of those who complained because the late Sir John A. McDonald occasionally used a private car, but the Nova Scotia Knight was then in opposition and talking hot air about the extravagance of the spendthrift Tories. It costs money to haul a palace car from Ottawa to Canning, and the cooks, waiters and others employed thereon are not working for their health. Liberal ministers have no objection to spending thousands to add to their personal comfort, but when a few dollars are asked for a public service the member is told that money is scarce and that the people can wait.—Yarmouth Times.

Outdoor Sport and Zam-Buk.

Every athlete, every ball-player, every swimmer, every canoeist, every man or woman who loves outdoor life and exercise, should keep a box of Zam-Buk handy. Zam-Buk is a purely herbal preparation which, as soon as applied to cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, blisters, etc., sets up highly beneficial operations. First, its antiseptic properties render the wound free from all danger from blood-poisoning. Next, its soothing properties relieve and ease the pain. Then its rich herbal balsams penetrate the tissue, and set up the wonderful process of healing. Barbed wire scratches, insect stings, skin diseases, such as eczema, heat rashes, ringworm, babies' heat sores, chafed places, sore feet—all come within Zam-Buk's power. It also eases and cures piles. All druggists and stores.

Profanity Among Boys.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Sir,—Of late we see many accounts both in the United States and Canada calling attention to how profane and bad language is increasing among the boys. The truth of this cannot be denied by any one who happens to come in contact with the group of boys who congregate in public places and on the streets. This is really a sad state of affairs, as if such a low habit is to be allowed to continue and become a fixed one among the coming youths, it cannot do otherwise than eventually lead us to become a very irreverent and disrespectful race. The class of youths who seem to be come most addicted to this habit are those ranging in ages from 12 to 20, who seem to believe that an oath or some other form of bad language makes them appear more manly. What is the most shocking of all is the way in which they can be heard calling on the name of Jesus or Jesus Christ, or calling upon God to "damn" everything. Blasphemous and other degrading language has become very common of late, not only among the lower classes, but also among those in the higher walks of life, which seems almost incredible, seeing that such a low habit as profanity answers no good purpose, and can only be an indication that the people who do so are naturally inclined to fall into low and degrading habits. The reason of this practice becoming so epidemic among the boys can only be placed to the way in which it has been used by the elders in the past, but it must be credited owing to the strong opposition that has been brought to bear against it by the press, the church, the holy name societies, etc., etc., that it has been greatly lessened amongst the men, but I do not believe that it will have the desired effect among the youths where the need of profanity has been so, and who are practically innocent of its evil. It has been stated that the schools might assist greatly in checking this habit among the children, but I do not believe that they can accomplish very much without its use being discontinued by the older people and by their parents in their homes.

Yours truly,
GEOFFREY WATSON.

Married at Port Williams.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday morning at the home of Bedford Chase, Esq., Port Williams, when his second daughter, Miss Sarah Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Mr. J. W. Harvey, of the Hilsley & Harvey Co. The ceremony was performed on the lawn by Rev. George McMillan, of Kentville, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride, who is one of Port Williams' fairest and most popular young ladies was attired in a travelling suit of blue and looked very charming. After a washing breakfast and congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Harvey were driven to the station where they embarked for an extended wedding trip, which will extend as far as the

Put a little "Sunshine" in your home. An old-fashioned, oil-working furnace is a non-producer.

It consumes the coal, but through leaks and cracks wastes the heat. It is not economy to have such a furnace in your own home, or in your tenant's home.

If you are thinking of building you should be interested in Sunshine Furnaces. It adds 100 per cent. to home comforts. As soon as you let the contract for your house decide on your furnace. The "Sunshine" man will be pleased to tell you just how the rooms ought to be laid out with an eye to securing greatest heat from the smallest consumption of coal.

If you want to experiment with the question don't specify "Sunshine".

If you want to settle the question specify "Sunshine."

NYAL'S SPRING TONIC.

A pleasant bitter, purely vegetable, an energiser and stimulant. Composed of those vegetable tonics and bitters which supply the system with material that has been denied during the winter. At the spring season the body craves just those elements which are combined in proper proportion to produce the greatest human energy. Nyal's Spring Tonic is good for any season, but particularly necessary in the spring. It gives new snap and spring to the muscles, braces up the tired nerves and stimulates the appetite.

We have the formula and so can thoroughly recommend it.

Lack of space prevented our making mention in last issue of the graduating recital of Miss Daisy Elizabeth Sleep, of this town, which took place in College Hall on Friday evening, May 28th. Miss Sleep completed the course in elocution being the first student of the Seminary to receive a diploma in elocution. Her graduating recital took the form of a 'Van Dyke recital', the selections from that writer being: 'His other Engagement', 'My April Lady', 'Spring in the South', 'Lilie' and 'The Other Wise Man.' Miss Sleep has a charming voice, and easy and graceful carriage, a distinct enunciation and carrying quality of tone that enables her to be heard with pleasure throughout the large hall. The varying phases of human nature in her selections were accurately portrayed and the peculiar humor of the author fully exhibited. Her readings were given a hearty ovation.

A Pretty June Wedding.

On the afternoon of June 9th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Mitchell, Walbrook, was the scene of a very interesting event when their eldest daughter, Frances Pitt, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Coldwell, of Melanson.

The ceremony was very pretty and attractive, being performed under an artistic arch of apple blossoms and evergreen erected on the lawn. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. D. Spidell, of Kentville. Miss Flossie Palmer, of Grand Pre, who has just returned from the Seminary at Sackville, rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march in a very pleasing manner.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Ross Coldwell and Miss Margaret Coldwell, sister of the groom, performed the office of bride's maid. The bride was given away by her father and looked very attractive in a gown of silk mull with the conventional veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden-hair ferns.

The bride's train was of grey broadcloth with hat to match. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome oak sideboard, to the bride's maid an amethyst ring and to the organist a gold brooch set with uncut pearls. The presents were very numerous and costly attesting to the popularity of the young couple. Among them may be mentioned a mahogany parlor suit and other handsome pieces of furniture from the bride's parents.

On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Coldwell will reside at their home in Melanson. THE ACADIAN extends congratulations.

Fruit Men Meet at Kentville.

MR. EDITOR.—A very informal meeting was held at the Aberdeen, in Kentville, on Tuesday evening, to meet with Prof. Cumming and Mr. Howard, the Agent General for Nova Scotia in London, who is now in the province for a holiday trip, and to become acquainted with the needs of the people, especially in regard to the shipping and marketing of our fruit. A large number of leading fruit growers and dealers were present. Many questions relating to the Fruit Show of last autumn were asked by men who had seen fruit, and much information elicited as to the methods pursued in granting awards by the Royal Horticultural Society.

We were given to understand that our success in taking the lead last year had stirred up both British Columbia and Ontario into more active operations for this coming season and that to hold our leading position we must take the utmost pains to make the show of 1909 the very best that it is possible to produce.

We were told that British Columbia and Ontario sent men with their fruit to place it on the tables and look after it generally and also to answer questions as to methods of growth and cultivation, and the qualities of the varieties, as to the season, and whether for table or kitchen. In that respect we were handicapped for want of a man thoroughly acquainted with the varieties.

For this reason the unanimous sense of the meeting was that a man should be named to supervise the selection and packing, as far as possible, of the fruit that may be exhibited next autumn, to sail on the same steamer and that it is properly staged and attended during the show. It was also suggested and approved, that the selection of a suitable man be made by the Executive of the Fruit Growers' Association.

The Reason why We Feel Tired.

The reason you are overpowered with poisonous waste matter, is because you have been working hard, for the activities of the muscles of brain cause a great amount of heat, or burning up, we might say, and after while this waste becomes clogged with the system and you feel tired.

But you are often tired when you have not been working hard and in this case the conditions are much the same but the presence of the poisonous waste matter is due to the derangement of the excretory system and restoring healthful digestion.

WHEN THE BOOM BUST.

How the Winnipeg Merchant Silenced the Banker.

They tell a story in Winnipeg about one of the largest and wealthiest wholesale houses in the city that illustrates both the state of affairs in the Canadian West just after the collapse of the famous "boom" and also the real solidity and recuperative power of that country.

This pioneer firm had been optimistic during the boom, and when the tide went down it was left with a lot of bad accounts on its hands and little good business. It was struggling to get on its feet.

The banker saw that the merchant meant what he said. He handed back the keys, and the firm had more money than it knew what to do with.

Let Me Tell You Something

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is to blame for her own wretched condition.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in Canada and the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what these women say: Believer, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus."

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.
