GREENWICH ITEMS

Mrs. Ceryl Hiltz (nee Gwendoline Brown), of Kentville, visited friends here last Saturday. We understand Mrs. Hiltz is spending the summer in a nice new bungalow at Kingsport, with her two small children.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Forsythe are visiting friends and relatives in New Brunswick for a time, leaving here last Saturday.

Miss Annie Shaffer, of Truro, was a guest for the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson.

Our tennis court is being much enjoyed by a number of the young people afternoons and evenings, a good healthful exercise.

It was with a glad interest the friends in this place of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bishop, learned of the birth of a little daughter to them, last Wednesday night, their first child, but with the deepest regret and sorrow learned of its death when only about twenty-four hours old. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. Emma Harvey, where the birth took place. Just a short quiet service, conducted by Rev. Mr. Chipman, of Port Williams. A number of interested and sympathizing friends were present. Burial was at Oak Grove Cemetery, Kentville. Much sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bishop.

"Hats off" and a "Bravo" from our residents to the people of Western Kings, with heartiest congratulations for showing such steady perseverance and enterprising pluck for some time, with final accomplishment of their grand aims of and for the first-class and up-to-date Hospital, in memory of their fallen heroes in the Great War. They deserve the praise and credit of all for their push and stick-at-it-iveness. To them alone credit is due in Western Kings.

WOLFVILLE AND WINDSOR PLAY TIE GAME

The Wolfville base-ball team played its first game in the Valley League at Windsor on June 8th, when they played 10 innings with a score of 4-4. The Wolfville boys took the lead in the first innings, scoring four runs to Windsor's nothing. Nevertheless their good start was their ultimate undoing for in the second and third innings when it was quite possible to score they did not appear to take the game seriously and failed to come across. Later in the game when runs were much needed they were unable to make good. Windsor scored two runs in the sixth innings, one in the seventh and with one out in the ninth brought in the tying run. Due to the lateness of the hour it was decided to play one more innings each, which was done without further score. Brown pitched for Wolfville with seven strike outs and four walks to his credit, while W. Singer served them up for Windsor with nine strike out and four walks. The Wolfville boys fell down in their batting but played a good brand of ball in the field, seven of their players being errorless. R. Dill and P. O. Annis refereed the game and both testified to the advisability of having non-local experts umpire for these games. The teams were as follows:

Wolfville—W. Barteaux, s. s.; H. Evans, c. f.; E. Kenney, 2nd; S. West, 1st; A. Brown, p.; C. Langille, c.; G. Rand, 3rd; B. Elderkin, l. f.; R. Ferris, r. f.

Windsor—Black, 2nd; Morell, c.; Hughes, 3rd; P. Smith, 1st; Fogarty, l. f.; M. Singer, c. f.; Clark, l. f.; H. Smith, s. s.; W. Singer, p.

RALPH CONNOR'S BOOK IN MOVIES

One of the big moments in "God's Crucible", the picturization of Ralph Connor's novel "The Foreigner", a Hodkinson release which will be offered next week to the patrons of the Opera House, takes place in a court room, where the young hero is on trial for his life. When Ralph Connor wrote the novel he described this court room at very great length, and because it played so prominent a part in the unfolding of the story, in fullest detail. He was enabled to do this because he did not call upon his imagination, but rather described an actual court room which existed in the City of Winnipeg.

When Alexander MacRae went to Winnipeg to bring Mr. Connor's novel to the screen he at first thought that it would be necessary to reproduce this court room in the studio, but was delighted to learn that through the courtesy of the city officials it would be possible for him to "shoot" his scenes right in the very room described by Mr. Connor in the novel.

So that when theatre patrons see the court room scene in "God's Crucible" they will be seeing not a make-shift but the real thing. Not only that but the Court Crier and the clerks and many of the attendants are men who have officiated in their respective offices for a great number of years, therefore their technique is quite perfect. Even the newspaper men are not "extras" but actual reporters connected with the Canadian Free Press, which seems to insure the last word in realism.

WOLFVILLE'S BIG DAY

Dominion Day Will be Celebrated on Monday, July 3rd, in Wolfville.

Arrangements are being made for a real day of sport to be held in Wolfville on Monday, July 3rd. It will be primarily an inter-school athletic meet and will be participated in by the schools of Wolfville, Kentville, Canning, Hantsport and the sections lying between. A list of the events is published on another page in this paper and is a most attractive one. The competitors must be bona fide members of the schools represented and of good standing in their studies. In addition to these school events it is proposed to put on other interesting features, including an automobile parade, ball games, etc. It is not often that Wolfville undertakes anything of this kind but when she does it is well done, as is proved by past history. Our readers should watch for further announcements in this paper and by posters and those out of town will do well to arrange to visit Wolfville on Monday, July 3rd and enjoy a feast of good things.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

Sir:—We are often being reminded of the beauties of Wolfville, its institutions, and possibilities, and rightly so, in these matters Wolfville and district are favored beyond what even her greatest admirers dream.

But, sir, there is a little institution upon the hill not so well known or as highly prized as it should be. This is the Westwood Hospital. Recently it was my misfortune to have to spend some little time within its walls. It was my good fortune to be able to, and such was the care, skill and devotion of both the superintendent and every nurse in the institution that I really want to publicly express my appreciation. Night or day, I might say night and day, they never neglected a duty, or made us feel that anything was too much trouble or too trivial. It may be that some will suggest that they are paid for all this. Cold cash may be the standard by which some people live but it is not the standard of those who provided or those who were in the Westwood Hospital.

The only thing that pains one is the fact that there are so many of our poorer brothers and sisters who must suffer, and perhaps die for the want of such care and skill. Those of us who may be able to pay our way and foot the expenses connected with an illness have a chance to pull through. But I am thinking of a poor old man, eighty-two years of age, with a wife over eighty years of age. I visited them last winter, for twelve weeks the old man had not been to bed, night and day he sat in his chair by the stove, and one night sleep got the better of him, but while asleep he fell upon the stove and was severely burned. What a pity there was no hospital for him. Surely our county should make some such provision for its poor.

Our mutual friend, Rev. Mr. Dixon, wrote last week of the wonderful service being rendered by Miss Harry. He did not say too much or speak too highly of such service, but how much more easily he could send her patients, or take them to a hospital.

Perhaps some person whom the good Lord has blessed with wealth may feel that he is his "brother's keeper" and find here an opportunity to send material up to heaven out of which the angels may be able to build for him a room in the Father's House.

MIDDLETON DE-FEATS WOLFVILLE

In League Ball Game—Score 8 to 1

The first league game in Wolfville this season was played Wednesday afternoon between Middleton and Wolfville boys. In spite of the threatening weather a good sized crowd turned out to witness the game, which was a poor exhibition of ball. The visitors scored eight runs in the first six innings, due to numerous errors by the home team. After that the locals tightened up and prevented further scoring. In the sixth frame, the fans were treated to some real baseball when a triple play was made. Ross was on third and Harlow on first. Phinney hit a single, on which Ross was trapped between home and third. Harlow was immediately despatched and Phinney then tried his luck at sliding into the third sack, but was tagged out by Barteaux who, as usual, played a fine game.

The local team were weak at batting and received only two safe hits. Their only run came in the eighth, when Rand hit a hot one to V. Reagh, but the pitcher did not hold it and Rand, after stealing second, ran home, when Brown was called safe at first.

Vaughn Reach pitched a stellar game for the winners, allowing but two hits and striking out eleven men. Brown also pitched a good game for Wolfville, striking out five men. Ross, who caught for Middleton, sprained his ankle while running bases in the sixth inning and was replaced by Appleby. Carl Angus acted as umpire behind the bat and officiated to the satisfaction of all. Herman Baird was base umpire.

VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES

Does the work of our nurse, Miss Harry, need to be brought before the public eye? In general, no; and yet a glimpse into specific cases and a survey of numerical facts will serve to enlighten us all.

In the month of May, Miss Harry made 203 visits including three continuous nights. Of these, 100 were "paying calls", and 103 free calls. In April she made 216 visits of which 143 were free; that is, the families were unable to pay the fee of 65 cents a visit.

A few months ago, a poor woman of the town was in urgent need of an operation. Her life was in danger. There was no time to lose. With a hospital in the town the case could receive proper attention, but there was no fund to draw upon. The money collected in January by the canvass, and the Town's gift of $300, are expressly for the nurse's salary, and not for hospital cases. However, the amount of $75 was collected when the emergency arose, the Town giving $10, the I. O. D. E. $15 and the remaining $50 coming from individual donors. The operation was successful, and today the woman is caring for her husband and five children as usual. (The doctors gave their services free in this case. The expense was for hospital board.)

Two weeks ago, a poor tubercular patient was taken to Kentville for examination, and pronounced curable if she could spend six months in the sanatorium. She is a young woman, a mother of three little children, a hard worker and most deserving, as was, also, the case described above. There was only one course to be taken. The V. O. N. must stand behind this case until the woman is cured. Again, there is no fund available, but the woman is in the Sanatorium and the V. O. N. is at work raising the necessary $200.

The Philathea Class of the Baptist Sunday School donated $10, towards the fund.

On Saturday afternoon, June 17, there will be a Pantry Sale in the Town Hall to raise money for this object.

Further efforts from time to time will be put forth, and posters or notices will mention the V. O. N. Hospital Fund.

We must raise $200, for the present emergency. But what about the future? There will be other cases, and a permanent fund is needed in the town to defray the emergency hospital cases as they arise.

The V. O. N. is a town organization. Every citizen of Wolfville is at liberty to call upon the nurse in time of illness. All should be interested in the raising of an emergency hospital fund. Co-operation of all the organizations in town, that stand for brotherhood and public service, is what we need. Why not vote a definite sum for this fund at your next regular meeting? Think it over and then act.

KINDNESS APPRECIATED

COUNTY CRICKET

Annapolis County Defeats Kings in Interesting Match

The cricket match on the Campus last Saturday afternoon between teams representing Annapolis and Kings counties furnished excellent sport. The Annapolis county team consisted almost entirely of Bridgetown players, while the locals had six Kentville players and five from Wolfville. The Bridgetown team will be weakened the coming season by the loss of the Ollerhead brothers, who sail for the Old Country this week. In their inning these two players made a stand and hit everything that came their way. C. W. Ollerhead was especially good, making four long hits, one for seven runs, two for six and one for four.

The Kings county team fielded poorly and many easy chances were missed, thus prolonging the game. Kings was in first and with the aid of Miller and Doll they collected 61 runs. The Annapolis team then took their innings. The first two men were out for only two runs and it looked as though the bowlers would hold them, when the next were out for only six more runs but the Ollerhead brothers were yet to be in and when they retired Charles had made 62, half of his team's runs, and enough to win. His brother contributed exactly half as many, scoring 31. Then Mr. Bothamley added 21 to the score before he was caught out by Vereker. The final score was: Annapolis 138, Kings 61.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL AND PRESCRIPTIONS

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:
Dear Sir: Kindly publish the following in your next issue:

I notice that the Social Service Council meeting which recently convened at Kentville passed the following resolution concerning the Temperance Act:

"Whereas the Nova Scotia Temperance Act provides that in the case of any physician who in the opinion of the Inspector-in-Chief is imprudent or careless in the giving of certificates that may be given by such may be limited by the inspector to a number approved by him"; Therefore resolved that this convention of the Social Service Council requires the Valley Medical Association to take action to the end that the smallest number possible of such certificates be issued, and they suggest twenty-five prescriptions to be the maximum number. When any lay societies and those who are not qualified to speak, can force their opinions on a learned profession such as our medical men, it is certainly an insult to our doctors to say the least.

A physician studies four and five years and should know when alcohol, digitalis, cocaine and other drugs are required, but when they are forbidden by law to express an opinion and moreover to have their opinions over ruled by ignorant prohibition inspectors who know more about pickles than medicine.

There should of course be a limit to prescriptions and in my opinion the doctor is the best judge.

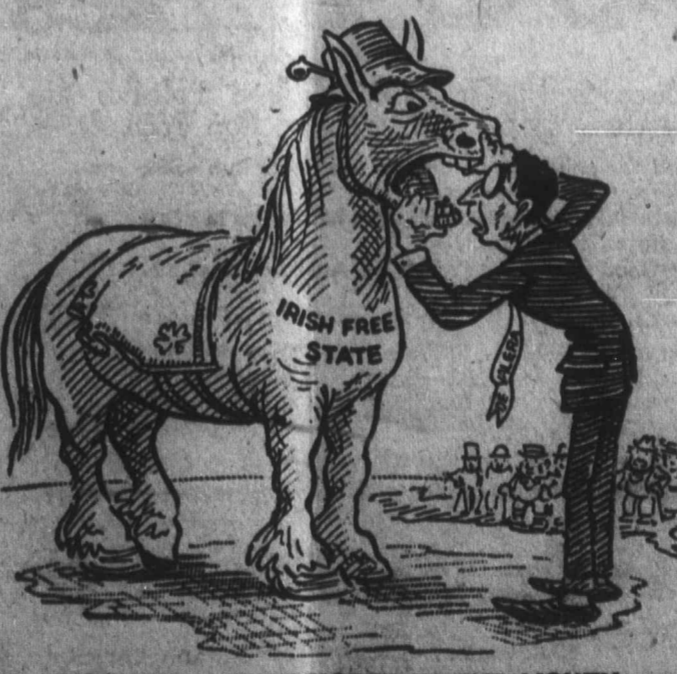

Yours truly,

WORLD NOTES

"If ever the people decide to have Prohibition they will be better off in health, happiness and economic prosperity. I am not frightened of saying it. I believe that when the working man realizes the truth he will be for prohibition."—Viscountess Astor, M. P.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes reports that during 1921 property valued at $12,907,693 illegally used in the illicit liquor traffic, was seized and confiscated, including 600 automobiles, 40 boats, 26 carriages, 45 horses, and one aeroplane.

"The truth seems to be that Prohibition is actually being well enforced in nine-tenths of the United States, and in the remaining one-tenth is sufficiently well enforced to make it a great improvement over the licensing system."—Capper's Weekly.

The "Allied Medical Association" repeatedly quoted by the liquor press of Europe as opposed to Prohibition, is an association formed in America by a number of quacks of all kinds, who are disqualified as members of the American Medical Association, probably the largest medical association in the world.

The W. C. T. U. of America has resolved to carry the truth about Prohibition into Cuba and Mexico. Miss Anna A. Gordon will conduct campaigns in both countries, visiting Havana, Matanzas, Santiago, Isle of Pines, Nassau, New Providence in the Bahamas, and a number of other cities.

Thirty-seven of the leading Insurance Companies of America, doing 80 per cent. of the insurance business of the country, report that the year 1921 (the second year of Prohibition) was the healthiest in the history of the country. This is how Prohibition hurts the country.

Since Prohibition went into force (January, 1920) crime throughout the United States has decreased by 14 per cent. and the arrests for drunkenness by 70 per cent. This is very significant in view of the fact that similar arrests in European countries have enormously increased during the same period.

The Rev. Otto Liebner, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of America, has been visiting the Republic of South America, and reports that the movement for Prohibition is gaining ground very rapidly. The enactment of Prohibition in the United States has greatly aided the Prohibition forces, especially in Chili.

"What I did to cure a cough which was Racking my system to pieces."

"One very hot evening last summer, while in the mountains, a cool breeze suddenly came up which left me thoroughly chilled. Next day I felt a slight cold in my head but thought nothing of it. The following day the cold had developed into a cough. This kept up for some weeks but instead of getting better the cough kept getting worse. A tickling sensation developed in my throat. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of it. It was worse when I went to bed. As soon as I laid down the tickling sensation started and the only relief I could get was to sit up in bed. Towards morning, I sometimes, from sheer exhaustion, managed to get a little sleep. During all this time my cough was getting worse. Sometimes in these severe fits of coughing spasms I was left weak and exhausted. Anything I tried only gave me temporary relief. I couldn't take anything but liquid foods. I couldn't sleep. I was losing weight every day. At times I suffered the most intense agony with headaches. A friend of mine told me about Carnol. After trying it for three weeks I noticed that my cough was beginning to soften, that my appetite was returning, that the headaches had left me, that I slept longer. After taking seven bottles of Carnol, I am perfectly well and enjoying better health than I have ever had before in my life."

Mr. H. E. Boole, Editor of the "Australian Worker", writes: "We are not so ignorant of the principles of economic causation as to imagine that sobriety in itself will save the working class. But we are perfectly certain that they can't be saved without sobriety, and that a monopoly which grows richer the more it bemuddles the brains of working men is a serious danger to the cause of labour and the progress of the world."—Exchange.

A SPELLING RULE

When "ie" and "ei" both spell "e" How can we tell which it shall be? Here is a rule you may believe That never, never will deceive, And all such troubles will relieve. A simpler rule you can't conceive. It is made of many pieces, To puzzle daughters, sons and nieces Yet with it all the troubles cease. After "c" an "e" apply; After other letters "i". Thus a general in a siege Writes a letter to his liege, Or an army holds its field And will never deign to yield While a warrior holds to shield Or has strength his arms to wield. Two exceptions we must note, Which all scholars learn by rote; Leisure is the first of these; For the second we have seize. Now you know the simple rule, Learn it quick, and off to school. —Exchange.

IS IT ANYBODY'S BUSINESS?

Is it anybody's business, when a young man goes to call, If he enters at the kitchen, or the parlor, or the hall? Is it anybody's business, but the girl's he goes to see, What that young man's name and station in life may chance to be? Is it anybody's business if he stays till it is late? Or anybody's business if she follows to the gate? If he kisses her at parting, and she does not seem to grieve, Is it anybody's business, but the man's who takes his leave. If he comes to take her walking on a pleasant afternoon, Is it anybody's business that they do not come back soon? If by chance they come together upon the public street, Is it anybody's business if she blushes when they meet? If he goes to see her Sundays, and often stays to tea, Is it anybody's business what his business there may be? Is it anybody's business what sort of beau she's got, Or anybody's business if she loves him, or does not? Is it anybody's business? I would really like to know. If it's not, I'm sure they're many who try to make it so.

In one of the old Greek cities there stood long ago a statue. Every trace of it has vanished now. But there is still in existence an epigram which gives us an excellent description of it, and as we read the words we can surely discover the lesson which those wise Greeks meant that the statue should teach to every passerby. The epigram is in the form of a conversation between a traveller and the statue:

"What is thy name, O statue?"
 "I am called Opportunity."
 "Who made thee?"
 "Lysippus."
 "Why art thou on thy toes?"
 "To show that I stay but a moment."
 "Why hast thou wings on thy feet?"
 "To show how quickly I pass by."
 "But why is thy hair so long on thy forehead?"
 "That men may seize me when they meet me."
 "Why then, is thy head so bald behind?"
 "To show that once I have passed I cannot be caught."

THE FIRST TALKING MACHINE

The teacher was exasperated. The class was idle and inattentive, and just a little out of hand.

In desperation she changed the subject from mathematics to science, and began to ask each boy and girl questions about the great inventions of the age.

"Now, then," she said impatiently, "what was the first talking-machine made of?"

After a while a voice from the back of the class broke the silence:—"Please, miss, a rib."

The old way used to be to kiss and make up. The modern girl makes up first.—Winnipeg Tribune.

LITERARY NOTES

McClelland & Stewart have sent me three of their new publications, "Later English Poems, 1901-1922", collected and edited by J. E. Wetherell; "The Collected Poems of Thomas O'Hagan"; and a novel, "Sunny San", by Onoto Watanna.

The first of these is a very representative anthology of twentieth century English poetry. The compiler has selected seventy writers, and has given about one hundred short poems from their various works. I feel as I turn the pages of this volume that without it the Library would be distinctly poorer. I sometimes hear hard readers speak disdainfully of compilations, but I have never been able to do so. Where else can we get with so little trouble the gems of priceless literary worth? Much depends upon the compiler, of course, and therefore I am glad that the compiler of this rare English anthology is a Canadian. It certainly is worth while to be able to find in one volume Thomas Hardy's "Napoleon after Waterloo", William Butler Yeats' "The Wild Swans at Coole", Dora Singerson's "The Secret", Stephen Phillips' "A Poet's Prayer", Sir Henry Newbolt's "The Toy Band", G. K. Chesterton's "Music", Walter de la Mare's "Silver", Laurence Housman's "The Bands of Orion", W. M. Letts' "The Spires of Oxford", and, best of all, perhaps, Rupert Brooke's wonderful war sonnets, "The Dead" and "The Soldier". It is the kind of book one should carry with one for the resting places on a long country walk; it is certain to be a favorite volume for reading aloud in the family circle or in social gatherings. The price is one dollar and fifty cents.

"The Collected Poems of Thomas O'Hagan" make up a volume of 178 pages. I would judge that Dr. O'Hagan's thought has a natural tendency to find rhythmic expression. His poems are those of a man who loves to give his Pegasus a free rein. They are on various subjects, but I like best his commemorative verses, "The Silent Lists", written in memory of Sir Wilfred Laurier, has unusual power:

"All is silent in the lists;
 Nor shock of steel nor clash of brand;
 Nor splintering spear, nor battle-axe;
 Nor largess showered from lady's hand.
 In the dim aisles, where kneel the knights,
 The Cross shines dark in mystic gloom;
 And as the clouds of incense rise
 A light shines o'er the warrior's tomb."

Onoto Watanna is the pseudonym of Mrs. Frances F. Reeve, the author of sixteen novels and secretary as well as owner in part of the Pleasant Range Stock Farms, Limited, a cattle ranching corporation in Alberta. Mrs. Reeve's father was at one time one of the wealthiest Englishmen in Japan, but later he moved to Montreal, where Onoto Watanna was born. The young girl heard from her father many a tale of Japanese life, and thus that life became "the mother tongue of her imagination". Her first great success was a story called "The Japanese Nightingale". The novel just published, "Sunny San", is sure to capture the public. Four American students in Japan buy a little Japanese-American geisha girl, and put up the money for her education. The complications that follow are humorous and delightful. And it turns out to be a love story after all. The colour of the binding suggests the colour of the sunlight, the jacket cover has a charming picture of the heroine playing with gold fish, and the story itself is well conceived to delight a leisure hour.

WONDERFUL STORY OF RADIO GROWTH

"Craze" Now Sweeping Over Country

The radio craze is sweeping the country like a prairie fire. In Europe, too, the development of wireless telephony is the topic of the hour. In the United States the amateur operators number well over a million and are increasing at a rate of thousands every day. For dealers in electrical supplies who were farsighted enough to "get into the game" at the start, the radio craze has proven a veritable gold mine. One small New York dealer who for years had contented himself with selling electric push buttons and the like is reported to have cleaned up nearly a million dollars doing a mail-order business in radio sets. The only fly in the ointment at the present time is the inability of the manufacturers to supply the demand.

Wireless telephony has struck the public with a surprising suddenness, yet it was not invented in a flash. Its story is like that of many other great discoveries. First came a brilliant inspiration; the thing was seen to be possible. Then followed years of patient labor, experiment succeeding experiment, failure following failure. Then suddenly the key was found, and from that day its development went forward at express speed.

As long ago as 1885 Sir William Preece, the English scientist, succeeded in sending a message a distance of a quarter of a mile, not through the air but through the ground.

For twenty years all those who sought for the key to the wireless telephone experimented with induction through water and earth. By 1902 its range had been increased to twenty miles, but enormous currents were needed.

In the meantime, wireless telegraph had come into existence and the telephone investigators turned their attention to the air. The first real success was obtained in Germany where in 1906 messages were sent from Nauen to Berlin. Two years later the Eiffel Tower spoke successfully at a range of thirty miles, and Marjorana, an Italian inventor, sent messages from Rome to Sicily, a distance of three hundred miles.

Gradually distances were increased, but the apparatus required was still too expensive and too cumbersome to be of commercial value. In 1914 Marconi invented his oscillating valve, which made it possible to use quite small currents.

Then came the crowning invention, the thermionic valve, which is so sensitive that it can pick up and use electric currents so minute that they are thousands of times too feeble to work any other apparatus.

In 1915 the Atlantic was bridged. Arlington spoke to Paris. The words were recognizable, though very faint. Four years later the Marconi company established successful communication between England and Canada by means of a development of the valve apparatus.

Since then progress has been made by leaps and bounds. Amateurs in America

Rural Route No. 1, Mascouche, Quebec. The Minard's Liniment People.

Sirs—I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago but they grew again till about three months ago I had one as large and shaped like a lady's thimble, on the very place where my hair should be parted, and it was getting so embarrassing in public that it was a constant worry to me. About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for another purpose and saw on the label good for tumors. Well I tried it and kept it for exactly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all trace of the tumor, and were it not that they had been cut fifteen years ago, no mark would be seen. I have not been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit.

have sent signals to Scotland, using no more current than would be needed to light half a dozen ordinary electric lamps.

The cumbersome apparatus of ten years ago has vanished into the past. Today an efficient set can be made that will fit into a small case, and even a powerful receiving outfit will occupy little more room than a phonograph.

If he has a valve set, the amateur need not go to the trouble of rigging up a long aerial wire. A rain-pipe will answer perfectly. He can even do better than this. He can have his aerial indoors if he wishes! A copper wire running around the ceiling of his own room will pick up wireless waves, which penetrate bricks and mortar as easily as air. In emergencies, gas-brackets, wire fences, and even bed springs have been used with perfect success.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

A SILLY LAW

What is a most remarkable and ridiculous provision is said to be contained in the Town's Incorporation Act, barring every ordained minister of any church from participating in civil affairs either as Mayor or Councillors or in the holding of any office under the town government. If this section applied to ministers who hold pastorates in the town there would certainly be some point to the law, and that is evidently what was intended by the framers of the act. But why a man who has not been in the active ministry for perhaps a dozen or two years, and whose education and training especially qualifies him for the conduct of public affairs, should not be permitted to give his services in the public interest—and why a town should be obliged to suffer the loss—is indeed past finding out. Wolfville, more than many other towns, is interested in this matter as we are fortunate in having among our population a number of retired ministers who are interested in town affairs and who, were it not for this silly provision, might be induced to allow themselves to be elected to the Council or appointed to some of the important civic positions. Immediate action should be taken to have this absurd section either eliminated from the act, or amended so as to prevent it from doing further mischief. Every town has frequent difficulty in securing men who are willing and qualified to look after the affairs of government and this difficulty should not be heightened by such a senseless provision as the one in question.

RULE OF THE ROAD

The large number of motor-driven vehicles frequenting our public thoroughfares these days makes it most imperative that stringent measures should be taken to regulate traffic so as to prevent accidents. Careless and incompetent drivers are a most serious menace that should be eliminated so far as possible. Even more dangerous is the driver who, under the influence of intoxicating liquor, is permitted to operate a car upon the roads. Public safety certainly demands that his case should be dealt with in no uncertain manner. Once proven guilty of the offence no further opportunity should be allowed him to repeat it. In these days when the prevalence of intoxicants appears to be much in evidence serious accidents are pretty sure to happen unless a firm control is exercised in dealing with this class of car-drivers. The greater number, however, of those who today drive automobiles are reasonably careful and desire to see the law regulating motor-vehicles religiously enforced. They perceive that the law is a fairly reasonable one, enacted not to their detriment but in the interest of the public safety. When they err it is generally because of a lack of knowledge what the law demands. Every driver should become thoroughly familiar with the act before undertaking the management of a car in order that accidents may be avoided. The first principle of the "rule of the road" to be observed by the driver of either a team or a motor is a very simple one but often disregarded. It is that every driver should keep his own side of the road. We hear a great deal about the "turn to the left", and as a matter of fact no driver has any right to be elsewhere than on the left side of the road unless in passing another vehicle going in the same direction, and then he should resume his proper place as quickly as possible. If this rule were fully known and acted upon there would be less difficulty in regulating both moving and standing vehicles, and less danger to life and property.

A WORD FROM THE EAST END

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Dear Mr. Editor,—A resident of the East End, who is naturally interested, permit me to express my appreciation of your editorial last week respecting needed improvements at the "bridge". It is certainly too bad that our otherwise beautiful town should continue to be disfigured by this condition which exists in what is practically the centre. Cannot some steps be taken, as you suggest, to remove this blot, and at the same time secure to the town a valuable piece of property to be applied either to public or private use.

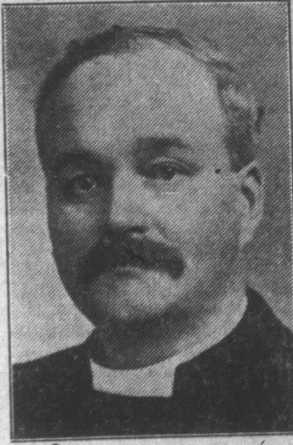

And while I am writing about the East End, Mr. Editor, may I say that a great improvement has been made during recent years in this section of the town. Time was when we seemed to be drifting to ward a "stump" condition but now properties then neglected have been repaired and improved and are a credit to the neighborhood. We have fine residences and well-kept grounds and a more attractive residential section would be difficult to find. There are, however, a few things to which I would like to direct the attention of the town authorities. The railing at the foot-bridge, which crosses the sidewalk on Main street opposite Orchard avenue has been pretty badly broken down since last fall and in the interest of public safety needs immediate attention, as does also the sidewalk itself a little further west, which has been badly gullied by the overflow of water from the street. There is also a dangerous and unguarded gutter on the south side of the street at the corner of Orchard avenue. The grass and weeds of rank growth which abound in the gutters in this vicinity likewise demand looking after at once.

CLINIC ITEMS

Tuberculosis Clinic on Friday, June 23rd, at Clinic Rooms, Weaver Block, Kentville, commencing at 2 p.m. Specialist from Nova Scotia Sanatorium in attendance.

It takes a good deal of intelligence and patience, will-power and determination, to "take the cure" properly at home. It should be remembered however, that a sanatorium means, usually, a place where you are taught to live a healthful life. There is an important difference between this and a hospital, where you may have nursing and competent rest in bed. And in very many cases beyond the incipient stage, this is what is needed. While the present scarcity of tuberculosis hospitals persist, most patients who need special quiet, rest and personal attendance, will have to be cared for in private houses. And many of those who have had a short time at a sanatorium will have to spend subsequent months in following up the treatment at home. A few experts have lately published the opinion that, while sanatorium treatment has great value, it happens in many cases, that proper housing and treatment can be provided if supervised, with just as good results and at less cost in the home. Indeed, the ideal is to have all homes approximate, as nearly as possible to sanatorium conditions—Dr. A. F. Miller and Miss Jane W. Mortimer in "The War on Tuberculosis."

Another largely attended free Eye Clinic, under the auspices of the Kings County Red Cross, was held at Kentville, June 9, Dr. Kirkpatrick, of Middleton in attendance. Till further notice Dr. H. W. MONDAY'S STORM A RECORD ONE

The storm of Monday afternoon although of brief duration was one of the most severe ever experienced in this section. It travelled with rapid speed and burst with great violence a few minutes after its coming was heralded in the western sky. A blinding cloud of dust and debris was followed by a deluge of rain accompanied by vivid lightning and almost continuous thunder. Fortunately little damage was sustained in Wolfville, but trees were rooted up in its wake and the verandah roof of the new club-house at the Ken-Wo golf grounds was blown from its supports and carried a considerable distance. The steamer "Prince Albert" on her way from Parrsboro was caught by the storm and she had rough passage but reached here in safety.

MOTORS AND MOTORING: A Page Full of Interest to the Owner or Prospective Owner of an Automobile.

DON'TS

To Avert Auto Accidents

- Don't speed.
- Don't fail to give an arm signal properly before making a turn.
- Don't try to steal the other fellow's right of way.
- Don't cut corners.
- Don't turn in the middle of the block—anywhere.
- Don't fail to give an arm signal on leaving curb or when slowing down.
- Don't fail to give strict attention to the road and to other cars—inattention to driving duties causes many accidents.
- Don't drive on the wrong side of the street.

WHEN TO USE THE CHOKE

The time to pull the choke out is when stopping rather than when starting. By this means the cylinders are filled with a rich mixture when the engine finally ceases its rotation and therefore will usually go off on the first turn next time it is cranked. This reduces the strain on starter and storage battery since with the ordinary mode of procedure the engine must be cranked through several revolutions before it catches on. In stopping, there is no particular advantage in speeding up just preparatory to turning off the switch. The best method is to turn the switch and pull the choker at the same instant or if the choker supplies a very rich mixture, the engine may be halted by choking, and then the switch is turned off.

GREASY FORD AXLE

It is a not uncommon experience with owners of Fords that, when the lubricant in the rear axle has become thinned by long use, it tends to work its way out and be spattered all over the wheels and brake. An easy cure for this is to drill a small hole—3-16 of an inch is about right—in the bottom of the axle housing on each side. The thinned grease which gets to the end seeps out through these holes. Care must be taken to place the holes high enough to allow grease for lubricating the differential gears and also they must not be placed too near the end of the differential housing.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

COOLING WATER WITHOUT USING ICE

To cool water without using ice get a slender glass test tube from any drug store. Half fill it with nitrate of ammonia salts, fill up with water, cork tightly. Shake till the salt is dissolved. Be careful to wipe the outside of the tube dry in order that all traces of the nitrate may be removed. Place this tube into a glass of water and agitate as you would a spoon. The water is rapidly chilled. The nitrate of ammonia salts can be bought at any drug store. This is a far better way of cooling water than putting ice in it.—New York World.

NEW CLEANING PRACTICE

Kerosene used to be a good standby on which motorists depended for cleaning their engines. Now oil engineers declare that kerosene causes a loss of 18 per cent of the total lubricating capacity of an automobile. So, instead of using kerosene to flush out the crank case, those who have studied this phase of motoring say, the drained case should be cleaned with fresh engine oil.

Engines that have any form of splash lubrication have only troughs and pockets in which part of the kerosene used for flushing is sure to remain. The crank case should be drained about every 1,000 miles in summer, and every 500 miles in winter. Every time the change is made, the case should be flushed with engine oil instead of kerosene.

The oil used for this purpose can be put to other lubricating uses.

Regular cleaning of the crank case means longer life for the engine.

HE HAD ONE!

A small boy who was sitting next to a very haughty lady in a crowded car kept on sniffing in a most annoying manner. At last the lady could bear it no longer, and turned to the lad:—

"Boy, have you got a handkerchief?" she demanded.

The small boy looked at her for a few seconds, and then, in a dignified tone, came the answer:—

"Yes, I have, but I don't lend it to strangers."

"Occasional advertising occasionally pays." Regular advertising brings best results in the long run.

TO IDENTIFY CAR

Owners of automobiles too often depend upon a scratch on the body of their car, a broken screw or an innocent dent somewhere as a means of identification of their property. They do not stop to consider that big manufacturers are turning out models in ten thousand lots that differ from each other in not the slightest discernible degree. By the time a successful thief has run a stolen car through his "service station", it would puzzle the most careful owner on earth to identify his vehicle.

No car owner ought to depend on such casual means of identification as slight imperfections that may have accrued during the operation of the vehicle. When the professional automobile thief steals a car he takes it to a rebuilding factory. In many cases the entire mechanism is taken down and the different parts interchanged with those of other cars of the same make and model, to turn out what are practically new vehicles.

The only safe method of placing identification marks on a car is to place them on all major parts of the mechanism. Perhaps the most satisfactory method of doing so is to place punch marks on the various units. All such marks should be put on places where they will not be readily discernible; for instance, on the inside of the axles, on the flywheel or on the upper side of the gear set housing. After the marks have been made they should be rubbed over with grease until they are as nearly invisible as possible. The car owner can have a prick-punch made with his initials on it in very fine type, and with this it is possible to place identification marks on the various parts that will generally escape notice and yet remain permanently.

Another clever idea is to bore a few small holes a mere fraction of an inch into the framework, at a given place carefully measured from permanently located landmarks. Then fill these holes with lead and smear the spot well with grease. If there comes a time when it is necessary to identify the car, it is a simple matter to measure off the proper distances, scrape a little lead off and prove ownership of the car.

OIL FOR OLD MOTORS

After a motor has seen reasonably long service, so that the pistons do not fit so closely in the cylinders as they did at first, it is advisable to use a heavier grade of oil in order to take up a little of the clearance. In racing motors, where the piston to cylinder clearance is often more than twice that used in ordinary practice then drivers use heavy oil. High viscosity lubricants such as castor oil or mixtures of castor oil and mineral oil are favorites for racing motors.

A CODE OF MANNERS

Good dressing, quiet ways, low tones of voice, lips that can wait and eyes that do not wander; shyness of personalities except in intimate communications; to be light in hand in conversation; to have ideas, but to be able to talk without them; to belong to the company you are in and not to yourself—I should say this was a fair capital of manners to begin with.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

If Lazarus can still see over into the other place, doubtless he could tell us where the German mark and business in general has gone.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Kitchen windows should always be lowered from the top to allow heated and impure air to escape, and raised from the bottom to allow fresh air to come in.

The cellar should be ventilated at night and kept closed during the day to keep it cool and dry. Sunshine and fresh air should be allowed to permeate the whole house. A well ventilated, cleanly home, is a healthful habitation.

Ice melts rapidly when exposed to warm air. Leave the ice-chest door open only long enough to put in or take out what you desire.

Always keep butter and milk closely covered when near fish or vegetables, in the ice-chest. If you are going to use milk and tomatoes together, a pinch of bicarbonate of soda, added before you mix them, will prevent curdling.

Salt water is the best solution known for cleaning willow ware and matting.

To remove stains and discolorations from tinware, rub with a soft cloth dipped in a solution of water and washing soda.

A mustard plaster made with the white of an egg will not leave a blister.

The white skin that lines the shell of an egg is a useful application for a boil.

Hard boiled eggs will peel easily if dropped in cold water.

An easy way to peel walnuts is to steep them in cold water for a few minutes. Almonds will skin more easily if placed in hot water.

When jelly will not "set" add the juice of a lemon or some white vinegar.

When boiling fowls or fish, add to the water the juice of half a lemon. This will make them beautifully white.

Wash silver in hot suds. Apply fine laundry soap to a piece of soft flannel, dip it in common whiting and rub the silver. Wash again, rinse thoroughly and dry with another piece of soft flannel.

When making cakes, if a table-spoon of vinegar is used instead of an egg, the same result will be achieved at less expense.

Cold rain water and soap will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

A little boy said to his father one day: "Daddy, when I grow up to be a big man, may I marry grandma?"

The father gazed at the child in open-eyed astonishment, and said: "No! I could never allow you to marry my mother!"

The little boy shrugged his shoulders in disappointment, and then, sidling up to his parent, clambered on to his knee and whispered:

"Oh, daddy, do be a sport! You married mine, you know!"

The following is a copy of an excuse for the absence of a girl at a Canadian school. It was given by the girl to the teacher, having been written by the father on a scrap of paper; "Please excuse Sara for not coming to school. Her mother had twins. It shall not occur again;—Father of same.

Its the car everybody wants because it is the best.

The unusual popularity of STUDEBAKER CARS is attested by the fact that the corporation enjoyed the biggest business in its history in 1921.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total number of all automobiles sold (except Ford) was 40 per cent. less than in 1920, the total aggregate of sales for the Studebaker cars was 20 per cent. greater than in 1920—and in Canada 64 per cent. greater than in 1920.

OUT IN FRONT

By the Pioneer Sergeant.

WE all make mistakes—
EVEN the best of us.
WE can really afford
TO pass over a few.
WHEN the man that makes
THE calendars
ARRANGED June 3rd
ON a Saturday
WE didn't say anything.
WE didn't think that it
WAS worth while.
HE really is a careless
INDIVIDUAL.
WE should have drawn
HIS attention to it.
HE'S put July 1st on
A SATURDAY, too.
SOMETHING should be done
ABOUT it.
A BUSY metropolis
LIKE ours
CANNOT afford to STAND still on
A SATURDAY.
WE are quite sure
THAT if the Government
KNEW of our predicament
THEY would pass
SPECIAL legislation
TO have July 1st come
ON some other day—
SUNDAY would do the LEAST harm to business—
POSSIBLY.
IF they only got it
THROUGH by a
MAJORITY of eighteen
IT would be O. K.,
AND we could depend on the
FARMERS
ON such a vote.
ITS worth considering.
WE thank you.

MRS. J. D. ENMAN

Mrs. J. D. Enman, who spent the past year in Wolfville, residing with her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Chisholm, died suddenly, of heart failure, on the morning of Friday, 9th June, at the home of her brother, Mr. John Muirhead, Summerside, P. E. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm, who left Wolfville for the summer months on Saturday, June 3rd, received word at Halifax on Sunday of Mrs. Enman's serious condition, and went at once to Summerside so that Mrs. Chisholm was with her mother at the end.

A son, P. N. Enman, resides in Summerside. Other children are in Western Canada.

On Thursday evening, June 8th, eighty or more friends of Miss Hilda Fielding met at the home of Mrs. Harold Bowby to shower upon Miss Fielding gifts and best wishes. When the bride-elect entered she found the friends hidden in the darkened rooms, and a prettily decorated table heavily laden with beautiful and useful gifts. Although completely taken by surprise the recipient of the gifts accepted most graciously. The gifts and poetry were a fitting tribute of the high esteem in which Miss Fielding is held in the community.

Rather Startling Vital Statistics ---

One child in three in Canada is "below par" physically. So late vital statistics show.

There's at least one chance in three that Your child—or one of them—is under nourished. But there's a sure remedy.

A famous children's specialist advises Daily Lunches at 10.30 and 3.30. "Crown Bread" with milk, soups, cocoa, or fruit makes the best children's lunch.

Crown Bakery WOLFVILLE

WHY?

Girls in St. Joseph's Orphanage have to get their inside recreation in a basement play-room because of lack of space.

The children have to eat in relays because the dining room will not hold them all.

The dining room at St. Joseph's Orphanage has to be used as a clothes room and sewing room as well.

There are 129 girls from 5 to 16, and 68 boys from 5 to 12 years old at St. Joseph's Orphanage at present. It only has accommodation for a total of 75. The boys have their wing, the girls theirs. They never meet except in class. Both wings are naturally overcrowded terribly.

The Assembly Hall no longer exists. It had to be broken up into class rooms.

It is an odd sight to come on the children at St. Joseph's during religious exercises. One third of them are squeezed outside the chapel, overflowing on to the outside stairs and corridor.

Beds at the Orphanage are crowded so closely together you can scarcely move between them in the dormitory.

Of the eighteen sisters, 10 are crowded into a room intended to hold four at the outside, and the other eight are as badly off.

There are no Infirmary or Sick Ward accommodations for the 197 children.

There is not a bath or a basin anywhere nearer the dormitories than the basement.

The plumbing in the basement is obsolete and inadequate. There are only 2 baths for 129 girls, big and little. The 85 older girls have only 18 wash basins between them, and the 43 baby girls have only 3.

The laundry at St. Joseph's Orphanage is crowded into the furnace room.

The Sisters are making heroic efforts under the circumstances to provide mental, moral, and physical training under sanitary conditions. Cleanliness reigns everywhere. But the task of bringing the 197 children up where accommodations for 75 only exist is an impossible one. Hence the campaign for enough to extend the present buildings. There is no choice before the Orphanage but to build or reject applicants for admission on a large scale. The Orphanage gives Province wide service, it should have Province wide support. Give without stint or limit for the sake of the fatherless children of Nova Scotia.

DR. CHUTE RESIGNS

The resignation of Rev. A. C. Chute, D. D., from the position of Dean of Theology at Acadia University after twenty-one years of faithful service was heard of with very sincere regret by the friends of the University and members of the denomination generally. A graduate of Acadia, Dr. Chute has ever shown a keen interest in the affairs of the College which has been continually evidenced during his residence in Wolfville. He has been a most popular member of the faculty and old students and new are glad to learn that he will remain as professor emeritus, doing a certain amount of work in the theological department. He will be succeeded by Rev. Simeon Spidle, D.D., who for a number of years has most successfully filled the chair of professor of Theology and church history and whose selection to fill the important position made vacant by Dr. Chute's resignation is a wise one.

SOLID LEATHER Goodyear Welt

"With hides so low, why are shoes so high?" asked the president of one of our largest banks of a manager of a big leather tannery in Montreal. "But shoes have come down in price," said the tanner.

"Not so you can notice it," replied the banker. "Then you haven't heard of the SLATER SIX," said the tanner. "It is made right here in Montreal and sold for $6.00. That's coming down in price, isn't it?"

"Is it a good shoe?" "Well, they use our finest sole leather and the uppers are made of one of the finest calfskins tanned."

You will ask the same question the banker did—"Who makes this shoe and where can I buy it?"
