The whole will be reduced to COST! in fact many lines will be sold at LESS than WHOLESALE PRICES! Fancy Dress Goods 15c., worth 30c. Over 1200 yds. Fancy Dress Goods 25c., worth 50 and 55c. French Merinoes in every shade and quality at reduced prices. In calling your attention to this department I do so with every confidence, knowing the Goods are much under the actual cost of production. FURS! FURS!—This department is the wonder of the Town. An immense lot selling every day, but The Prices Do It! MILLINERY AND MANTLES—The balance of the Goods in this line will be cleared out at any price. No old Goods carried over. This Great Sale will be for thirty days, and all Goods charged will be at regular prices.

EVERY LADY SHOULD CALL EARLY AND GET A GOOD CHOICE!

Guelph, Dec. 24th, 1874.

GEORGE JEFFREY.

Friday, March 5, 1875.

The Galt Reporter boasts that the people of that clearing are laying in large quantities of ice. They probably intend to take it to the next world with them, for a verity they will never need it in this.

Mr. Coon Cameron having failed to prove that "reciprocity meant $2 on a pig and 25 cents on a turkey," is now trying to figure out how much it means on a coon skin. He wants to sell.

The beavers and the muskrats are looking for the man who said that they prognosticated this an open winter. If they find out "who wrote that," Geo. Brown's libel against the HERALD won't be a circumstance to the revenge they will take.

This point which the Liberal makes against the Globe in re Reil's motion, is that Mr. Brown's conduct on this Senate question has been of a grossly inconsistent character. Just so but as the Liberal folk have followed Mr. Brown for twenty years, allowing him to drag them through mire of inconsistencies and hypocrisies innumerable, it is rather late in the day for them to find out how mean they feel. There is not a consistent or honest bone politically, in the body of their new love, Mr. Blake.

A lot of the minor Grit hacks reply to the Irish Canadian's strictures by declaring that "O'Donohue did not want an amnesty." The familiarity thus displayed with Mr. O'Donohue's wishes shows on what good terms the members of the Government and their organ-grinders have been all along with Manitoba malcontents. We accept the explanation, but we trust that O'Donohue's forbearance towards a Government in difficulties is due purely to party loyalty and not to pecuniary obligations. It is quite sufficient to have to pension the Montreal letter thieves.

We predicted the other day that this Senate question would produce strange bedfellows, and now the Liberal says of the Globe:—"Amongst its closest allies in the newspaper world in its assault on the bulk of the Reform party are the Toronto Mail, the Toronto Leader, and the Guelph Herald." Well, we are not ashamed of our company. Mahomet has not gone to the Mountain—the Mountain has come to Mahomet. We opposed the Globe in a Grit community in its attempts to dictate in minor matters when the controllers of the Liberal grovelled before it in the dirt. We sustain it now in a matter of importance because a principle is involved—because we do not wish to see our institutions Yankeeized. We cannot be charged with either subservency or ingratitude and that is more than they of the Liberal can say.

THREE times has the Bancho cried for three days in succession has the Globe punned at Mills and his crazy notion. He used to be a "constitutional authority," but now he is "dull," "a retired and not very well educated school teacher," afflicted in this cold weather with "midsummer madness."

It winds up what it calls "plain words" in the following dolorous strain:—"If our friends in the House of Commons begin to introduce the American system of Government, to denounce the whole Senate in the way Mr. Mills has done, and to make the local Assemblies party caucus to elect Dominion Senators, they will speedily find the Pacific Scandal forgotten, and Sir John A. Macdonald once more in power." It is a little late for the Globe to begin to see the error of coquetting with Yankee adventurers, but it is better late than never. The above tentative threat shows the Globe has lost its grip on the party and that nothing remains but to "go to the party" with the bugaboo of a "Still the Globe is right in

COME HOME TO ROOST.

During the last year Grit chickens have frequently come home to roost. Many of the charges made by the "party" against their opponents have rounded upon their own heads, as witness the results of the election trials. Certain revelations in the House of Commons strikingly illustrate the peculiar manner which the McKenzie Grit Government have of elevating the standard of public morality. When Dr. Tupper was making his (now) celebrated speech in the House on the Intercolonial Railway he had stated that a contract which the Government had made with the Spring Hill Mining Company had been cancelled because they believed that he (the doctor) was a leading shareholder in the Company. However, they found out that this was incorrect and immediately made a new contract with the Company. When in that same Company a Cabinet Minister, the Hon. Mr. Burpee, was a prominent shareholder. When the charge was made against Mr. Burpee he said he did not know whether he was a shareholder or not! Innocent Mr. Burpee! We believe this is the same company for which the Government has made a branch railway five miles long at the country's expense, and over which the Company has the exclusive right to get out their coal although several other companies have mines in the same locality. Our Grit Government evidently intend to "make hay while the sun shines."

The Waterloo Chronicle (Grit) recently writes "Iolabod" over the name of Mr. Brown and opposes the reorganization of the Senate. The Fergus News Record (Grit) supports it.

The Conservative victory in Berthier has not only startled the Grits, but has caused some surprise amongst Conservatives, who could not understand how an Englishman could be elected to represent a Rouge (Grit) French Catholic constituency, and it appears that Mr. Cuthbert, the Conservative member elect, is an English Catholic and signeur of the place he represents.

Public Notice.

My lower store which has been rented by me since 1857, and carried on as a Grocery and Liquor Store since that time with credit to myself and advantage to the public, has suddenly without reason been deprived of its license by the present Enlightened Council. Such orders will be sent to my Upper Store, in the Alma Block, and executed there, you will then suffer no inconvenience, and the Town lose so much by not receiving the usual fee. A LIVING STATUE.

Presently the moon rose, and as it climbed higher, and its light grew stronger, the building became visible throughout with a light which was most unearthly and ghostly in its character. This impressed itself very much upon Baselson, I had no idea, sergeant, he whispered to the officer, that the place was such a strange, cemetery sort of a place as it is, I must own I should not like to be on duty here all night. However, I have brought some little refreshments with me, so let us make ourselves comfortable. In silence, they ate and drank; and in silence, save for the chiming of the clock, or the occasional tread of a policeman, the hours crept on. The policemen passed within a couple of yards of the watchers respectively, but whether they knew of their presence or not, Baselson could not judge. The length and weariness the hours grow intolerable to him, and seeing that the sergeant was as cool and wide awake as when they first entered the lair, he whispered; I feel terribly drowsy, sergeant; I always do about this time. Five minutes nap will make me as fresh as a daisy. Rouse me up if you hear anything before that time.

His companion smiled, and in the same subdued tone gave him the promise.

Nothing did happen requiring Mr Baselson's presence either before or after the expiration of five minutes although the officer steadily looked out a hundred times during the night. At last the darkness thinned away, and then, after a short gray twilight, dawn came, and the sergeant shook Baselson by the shoulder.

Yes, yes; I'm ready, stammered the exhibitor, then opened his eyes very wide indeed. Why, its daylight I must have slept—

Yes, of course you have interrupted the other; but let us go out quietly. I don't mind our men seeing us, of course; but others need know nothing of our watch.

I think the less you men or anybody else know about the way we kept our watch the better, said Mr Baselson, as they left the counter; in fact, I shall regard it as a friendly thing if you say nothing about it.

The sergeant smiled but kept his own counsel, and it may be hinted that Baselson was a very liberal fellow although somewhat hasty. It turned out that no pilfering had taken place that night; nor did any occur for two or three nights after, a fact which Mr Glenser attributed to the influence of Mr Baselson's vigilance. He took great interest in the exhibitor's plans and paid him several compliments, which the latter received with but indifferent grace, having reasons, that the other knew not of, for thinking ingratulated of the same vigilance.

One morning, a little while after the fruitless watch Mr Baselson was in a very bad temper, for he had sustained a fresh loss. He was leaning against a pillar, a short distance from his counter, thoughtfully biting the end of his pencil, as a man spoke to him. He looked round at the sound, and a police constable whom he very much disliked for his sphy and unbusiness-like ways, standing close by him. He growled out some hardily civil words, and turned from the man, but the latter was not to be daunted.

I am afraid you have had a loss, sir, said the man, and hope it is not very serious; but at any rate I should like to have a word or two with you.

What for? retorted Baselson. I have lost a gold watch, and as I have not breathed a syllable to a soul, I don't see how you could know anything of it, unless some of your fifty force have—

You are too severe, Mr Baselson, said the other, finding he had stopped you, are, indeed, sir. Now, sir, I have my opinion about these robberies, and I think I have found out the order the thief works in, and can pretty well guess in what quarter he will next try. I believe I can catch him.

You! exclaimed Baselson, with an emphasis which was every thing but complimentary to the officer.

Yes, sir, replied the man firmly, I can.

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS

Which may be done at one fourth the usual expense, by using

Slate Roofing Paint!

Agents wanted in every town. A roof may be covered with a very cheap hingle, and by application of the slate may be made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated with roofing which lasts longer than the new shingles without the slate, for one-third the cost, and although the expense of slating new shingles is only the cost of simply laying them, the Paint is superior against rotting or flying out, and is so easily tested by anyone, and appears from the fact that Insurance Companies make nearly the same tariff as for slated roofs. For tin and iron roofs has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and never cracks or scales. For eaves it is particularly adapted, as it will not rot in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with this roofing paint can be washed with a small expense. The Slate Paint is extremely cheap two gallons will cover 100 square feet of shingle roof, or over 400 of tin or iron. No tar is used in this composition, therefore it does not affect the water from the roof, if turned off from the eaves before the first few rains. On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, hardens them, and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. Curled or warped shingles it brings to their place and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in tin or foil roofs, and stops all leaks, one coat being equal to five of ordinary paint. The color of the slate when first applied, is a dark purple, changing in about a month to a light uniform slate color, and is so all intents and purposes, slate. The paint has a heavy body, but is easily put on, and although slow drier, rain will not affect it in the least one hour after applying. Roofs examined, estimates given, and when required will be thoroughly repaired.

Orders respectfully solicited. S. A. Russell & Co., 60 King Street East, Toronto.
