New Encyclopaedia.

THE 1911 NELSON ENCYCLOPAEDIA is based on the Harms-worth's Encyclopaedia and the Nelson "Loose-Leaf." The amount of reading latter has been slightly increased. The best has been retained from both the older books, hundreds of new articles have been written and everything has been revised and brought up to date. It will be issued in twenty-five fortnightly shilling volumes in the handy size and neat cloth bindings familiar to all purchasers of the Nelson Popular Libraries. The paper is of excellent quality. Illustrations and diagrams elucidate the text where necessary and numerous full-page pictures add to the interest and value of the work. The Encyclopaedia itself will occupy twenty-three volumes and an English Dictionery and an Atlas as youngs and 25 making hree volumes and an English Dictionary and an Atlas as vols. 24 and 25, making the whole set a complete Reference Library for the home.

The GILLETTE Is An Economy

Not An Extravagance

Because a fairly good open-blade razor can be bought for two dollars, while a GILLETTE costs five, have you concluded that the GILLETTE is an extravagance? It is not.

The open-blade costs you $2.00 to buy and at least 25c. a year to keep honed and in condition. Total, $2.25 for the first year.

The GILLETTE, with 12 double-edged blades, costs $5.00, and a second box of blades (should your beard be very tough) adds $1.00. Total, $6.00 for first year. Difference $3.75.

Looks bad for the GILLETTE, eh? But wait!

The three-minute GILLETTE will save you 5 to 10 minutes every time you shave. Put it at 5. That's over three working days a year. Isn't your time worth over $1.25 a day?

When you're nearly late for the train or an important engagement, the five minutes which the GILLETTE saves you is apt to be worth several times the whole cost.

Then there's the comfort of the clean, cool, easy GILLETTE shave—worth in itself several times the difference in price. For real economy—time and face as well as cash considered—buy a GILLETTE and enjoy it.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE TRUTH.

"I am engaged to marry Mr. Cheriton, Sir Edmund; and I cannot let you talk in this way."

"I know you're engaged, and it was that that maddened me when the Count de Montalt told me. It seemed such bitter disappointment just when I'd found you, to hear that we were further apart than ever. Are you sure you care for him-"

"Yes, quite. As sure as that I have long since ceased to care for or ever think about you," said Dessie, curtly "But you ask me to come out that you might tell me the cause of your being here."

"It's not much good telling voi anything, if that's the way you car speak to me after all the years we have known one another," said the man doggedly, after a pause.

"Well, but did you think that, af ter you had treated me as no honour able man ever yet treated a woman I should be waiting and eating my heart out for love of you -all eagerness to fall into your arms the moment you held up a beckoning fin-

"You loved me, then," he answered, looking at her with the sullen look of a weak, selfish man, angry through disappointment. "I did many odd things in those

WhyNot be Well and Strong

When weak and run down DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will help you back to health.

This letter tells of two women who have proven this.
Mrs. D. Stott, Cobourg, Ont., writes: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health. I was weak, nervous and not fit to do any work. A friend of mine, Mrs. GOM. Brown, had used DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of the medicine. "But I want you. I have found out repent my abominable conduct. I see now how abominable it was."

"It is a tardy awakening-and useless one so far as I am concerned. Never in all my life will you stand in my memory unconnected with that time of callous cowardice."

"You are very bitter. It is not Christian reception of repentance."

"Christian!" she repeated, looking at him with a frown of amused loubt. "Christian! Since when have you resumed the cant of those chapel lays? I should have thought you had shaken that off with your other weaknesses. But I am not a Christian in that sense, thank you," and Dessie

Then she went back to the hotel slowly and thoughtfully; and the first nessage that greeted her was that Nurse Morland had called and was waiting to see her.

CHAPTER XV.

DESSIE'S RESOLVE.

A glance at her sister's face told Dessie that she too had passed a anxious night. The expression was now very hard, but the lines on the face seemed to have deepened.

'I have still worse news for you than yesterday,' said Dessie. 'Your fears as to this man's recklessness were a safer guide than my belief in my own precautions. I have found out that he went to my rooms in my absence, and of course ransacked the place, finding out everything. He knows where you are; and he sent a man here, following me, to see what happened, and probably to watch you novements.'

"How do you know this?" asked the other, in a tone that seemed dulled with suffering.

"I have seen the man and spoker to him. It is Sir Edmund Landale."

"A gentleman to do spy's work?" "No, not a gentleman; only a mean nitiful scoundrel to whom accident has given wealth and a title," and sh told her sister briefly her former relations with Landale, his conduct, and the purport of the conversation that

"How much does he know?" asked Daphne, at the end.

"I cannot tell. I have no idea. Then a long pause followed.

"I can see no escape," said the elde sister-"save one," she added in low voice, almost a whisper.

"And that is?" will. I have been thinking of it al night, and I wonder the poor wretch was nursing didn't die under m hands. Don't think I'm afraid. I'm not such a coward as that. "It will never come to that, Daphne, said her sister, dismayed at the other's concentrated passion; but the lder took no notice of the interrup tion, and continued speaking ver slowly.

"I wonder-but men are poor things Yet I've a mind to try him. I told you yesterday there is a man here who vows that he loves me, that he would go through-but there, you know a man's vows. I suppose. But this, I believe is a good man, sincere and honest, and true. We were to have been married soon, but now-

"But you couldn't have married him vithout telling him the past; Daphne, said her sister, when she paused. "Couldn't? Why not? Do men ell their future wives all the secrets of their past?" Her sneer ended in a sigh expressive of the predominant feeling. "But never mind. It is all over. I can't go to him and say-I am likely to be tried for murder, and if tried to be convicted. Will you fly the country for my sake and with me?" ache for five or six weeks and nothing And yet—" here her voice sank again to a whisper of despair-"if I lose him I care nothing what lies ahead."

Wonderful Fffects of Forests.

A striking example of the transorming effect of forests, not only on the appearance, but on the productivity of a country, is afforded by the department of the Lands in France. At the close of the eighteenth century about 2,500,000 acres in that region were little more than shifting sanddunes and disease-breeding marshes At the present time the same lands are among the richest, most productive land and healthful in all France. and the change has been brought about by intelligent cultivation of pine forests. Even the character of the climate of the region has been ameliorated, and it has become mild and balmy. Did you ever see a happy dyspeptic Or a man cheerful over his judigestion No wonder you didn't, for the man who cannot digest cannot enjoy very much. When the stomach refuses to work the whole system goes wrong, and there follows heartburn, headache, constipation, bad breath and severe pain. Then the mind is affected; a person becomes irritable, sarcastic, surly-in fact, almost unbearable.

Father Morriscy gave this matter special study, and devised a tablet now known as "Father Morriscy's II." which relieves the misery Each tablet is capable of digesting 134 pounds of food — a good square meal One tablet after eating, with a half tumbler of water, insures perfect taken to avoid foods that have been found especially disagreeable to the

An American Siberia.

One hundred and sixty State convicts were killed the other day in au explosion at the Banner Coal Mines in Alabama, U. S. A.

Doubtless their deaths came as a merciful release, for these poor fellows, all negroes, were practically slaves, doomed to toil all their lives

'An American Siberia" it has been to write about it. The convicts are nearly all "lifers," and so, by the laws of the State of Alabama, they have ceased to have any civil rights

Anybody can kill them with impunity, and as a matter of fact scores them are flogged and tortured to death every year. Those that do not do a certain quantity of fixed work each day are not allowed to come to the surface at night. There are convicts in the Alabama coal mines who have not seen the light of day for years. They are, in fact, buried alive. Others are chained to wheelbarrows. When, in 1891, the free white colliers of Tennessee rose against the employment of convicts in the coal mines there, they found underground, and brought to the surface, men who had up so long in darkness. One man had not seen the light of the sun for eleven years, and had been chained to a wheelbarrow for three years. Another convict was found, who had toiled as a slave auderground for forty years. His oifence was the theft of a mule worth a few pounds .- P. W.

The Khedive of Egypt has a mania or driving engines, and on one of his European journeys, when the train stopped at an important city, a stately deputation approached the Royal saloon to present their respects. The Royal saloon was empty of Royalty, however, but the next moment a however, but the next moment a grubby-looking individual, clad in dirty overhauls, swung himself down from the engine and came running along the platform. ### Pencils and Diphtheria

A recent outbreak of diphtheria at Bacup is attributed to the sucking of lead pencils. The pencils in them selves are harmless. What caused the mishchief was the school children's habit of sucking dirty pencils and then passing them on to each other.

In the United States the pencil danger has long been recognised, and in necessary. The very first lesson every child should be taught is not to put a penpencil sucking, the habit could be rooted out promptly. It is practically impossible for any teacher, however vigilant, to prevent children borrow ing each other's pencils, but it ough not to be a very difficult task to see that the little ones keep their pencils

Clean-Up Day.

It must be highly gratifying to the City Council, and particularly to Councillor Coaker who suggested a Cleanup Day, that citizens have so warmly endorsed the idea of a spring cleaning for the city, and that so many have signified their intention of taking a part in it either personally or by deputy. Much can be done by giving the city streets and drains a good scraping on Monday and by removing the refuse to a place where it can be destroyed. If that is done the city will have made a good start before that warm weather sets in, and then it householders, shopkeepers and business men generally cooperate heartily Health Authorities, we may keep the city clean. ### Magistrate's Mistake.

MAKES OFF WITH MINISTER'S

When the Prospero was returning southward this week a clergyman and a magistrate embarked on her at a port in Notre Dame Bay. The former booked passage to St. John's and the latter to Fortune Harbor only. They were both given berths in the same stateroom, and being intimate friends kept closely together on board. When Fortune Harbor was eached that night, the magistrate's trip ended, and he at once went on shore, taking, as he believed, his own valise. Now the valises of both distinguished passengers bore a strik-ing similarity not evidently previousy noticed by their owners, and hence vhen the magistrate grabbed the valise in the hurry of getting ashore at Fortune Harbor, there was no close scrutiny on the part of either himself clergyman as to whether he had the right valise or not. When. owever, the Prospero berthed Bowrings' wharf in the city yesterday to gather together his travelling par-aphernalia, it struck him very forcibly that the value he was handling and which he thought was his own was very much lighter in weight than when he brought it on board. Opening it he discovered to his amazement that instead of the valuable contents he had placed in his own there was nothing in the one had placed but one of the contents he had placed in his own there was nothing in the one had but one h nothing in the one he opened but a towel, a shaving mug and a few othshock at first, but on thinking over fellow passenger was at the beginning ply the Magistrate's mistake and con sequently decided to make the best of the awkward plight, as awkward contained many articles that he needed and also contained many valuable documents and papers which were necessary for the transaction of certain business he intended completing here in time to go north again by the Prospero. Sensational Charges. OTTAWA, To-day

Charges of a sensational character have been made by Sir Sandford Fleming, alleging extraordinary misappropriation of capital in connection with the Cement Merger. They were made at a hearing before the Private Bells Committee of the House of Commons into the bill of fouse of Commons into the bill of the Company which seeks to create eleven millions debenture stock to be exchanged for debenture shares. Incidental to this measure, Sir Sandford forwarded correspondence to the Committee, objecting to the measure, Mr. John Harvey dwells on the great advantage that Canada will gain by the free entry of cold as will be alleger. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock Ontario. The narrator is Mr. W. J. Malone one of the many visitors from the States who finds in the wilds of Canada advantages, from a holiday point of view, impossible to obtain elsewhere. Mr. Maloney's writing is full of life and vigor and his narra tion is brightened by accounts of incidents by no means usual even in exploration trips taken so far afield. The route taken was one few white men, apart from Hudson's Bay employeees, have followed and the story is the more interesting on that account. With such a good opening the reader is led on to the other articles and stories and in particular should attention be directed to the papers on Big Game Problems and the Destructiveness of Wolves. ## Celebrated STANDARD FLOUR.

What is STANDARD BREAD? STANDARD BREAD is the old farm-house loaf, made by milling good, sound, sweet, dry wheat, and taking out of the Flour the coarser bran.

STANDARD BREAD is not a patent food, or a patent bread. It is just good sound BREAD, and it is called "STANDARD" by everyone, because it agrees with a standard fixed by eight eminent medical men in a Manifesto, published first by the "Daily Mail" on January 26th, 1911, and since widely republished by the newspapers of the world.

Since the doctors first published their Manifesto, STAND-ARD BREAD has been welcomed everywhere. For years it has been supplied to the King and Queen at Windsor Castle, and at Buckingham Palace. It is eaten by rich and poor, by young and old, by healthy people and sick people.

STANDARD BREAD has been used for years at many of the great hospitals for Consump-

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR has been completely summed up by a Harley Street Surgeon in this statement:-

"The short stature, the pale face, the weak chests, and the general degeneracy of the present generation, are greatly due to WHITE bread diet."

STANDARD BREAD made from STANDARD FLOUR is all right.

Doctors and learned scientists have declared with no uncertain voice for the plain unaltered product of the WHEAT BERRY.

The trouble started when a man commenced to "Paint the Lily" to improve on nature.

STANDARD FLOUR contains 30 per cent. of the WHOLE WHEAT, including the germ and semolina.

Why is This Thus?

Messrs. J. J. McGrath and W. J. Hig-

Editor Evening Telegram, Sir,-A young man, named Francis Woods, figures largely of late in the public prints with reference to looking after the firemen who engage on ships leaving port. He is a conspicuous figure on Water Street. Now, if I mistake not, Mr. Wood's has a osition in the Museum building and is drawing a salary from the Government. Why is he allowed to be about the streets half his time on the work of the Firemens' Union instead of minding the work for which the public is paying him. I with many others would like to Yours, TAXPAYER.

May Make Arrests.

Rumour had it yesterday that Gus James who is suspected of trying to defraud an Insurance Co. last fall by declaring that he had lost a schr with her fish cargo while coming here but which vessel was later found a Cape Broyle, had returned quietly t repassey. Officers Peet and Lee, is said, were sent there to arrest hir and to secure others alleged to be implicated in the matter. The police de partment will not give any information in the affair.

Tea Marked Down.

We learn from T. A. MacNab Co., wholesale importers of Teas that there has been a considerable decline in the Tea market, and that to-day they are able to offer teas a exceptionally low prices. As this firm make a specialty of high grade teas of exceptionally drawing quali-ties, we think that buyers will find it to their advantage to place their orders with them.

To Grow Hair on a Bald Head.

B YA SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from paldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair ton ic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. their case is not hopeless; the follow ing simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crys tals, one-half drachm. If you wish i perfumed, add half to one teaspoonfu of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommend ed by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair

NUMEROUS CASES OF KIDNISY DISESE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. Stillman Perry adds his experience to the many that have given rise to the general statement. "There is no case of Kidney Disease Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot cure."

Cape Negro Island, Shelbourne Co., N. S., May 12. (Special.) - That: Dodd's Kidney Pills are continuing todo grand work in Nova Scotia is evidenced on every side, and Cape Negro Island can provide direct testimony that there is is no case of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure. Among those who are talking in this strain is Mr. Stillman Perry. "Yes," Mr. Perry states, "I. believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. #### P. S. A.

The Hon. J. A. Robinson is the speaker announced for to-morrow pearing at these Sunday afternoon gatherings, and it is hoped by the leaders of the movement that to-morrow's attendance will prove to be no exception to this rule, particularly as the session's work closes on that day. The P. S. A. was inaugurated about. eighteen months ago and has so far proved to be attractive to a considerable number of the men of this city Many of the prominent men of the Colony have during that time spoken rom the platform, and in announcing the close of this season's work the officers of the P. S. A. desire to express to those who have assisted either s speakers or soloists, their heartiest hanks for their kind assistance. The service to-morrow opens at three clock at the Congregational Church.

SOLIGNUM A Remarkable Test! Locally made by

Messrs. W. & G. RENDELL.

To test Solignum as a preservative for Wood against the attacks of Worms, we tried a piece of 2 x 4 Spruce, about two feet in length, by painting one-third with Solignum, leaving the balance clear wood, this we suspended by a wire through the centre, in the water about one foot from the bottom, immediately over a pile of stones the remains of a sunken wharf (which is the place where our Wharf Shores are eaten off first) for Three Months. On taking it up at the end of that time we found some half-dozen small holes only a very short distance in the clear part of the wood, which shows the liquid had pepetrated through the whole piece and the worms had hardly begun boring before coming in contact with it.

Last year as a test of some brands of Copper Paint we

Last year as a test of some brands of Copper Paint we handle, we had a similar piece of wood treated at both ends, leaving the centre third clean; this was in exactly the same place as the piece for the Solignum test for Three Months and Three Days, when taken up the painted ends were perfect but the centre was riddled with worm holes.

Both there pieces of wood are to be seen at our Office by those interested in the preservation of Wharf Piles or any other wood work.
