The Murder in Furness Wood.

CHAPTER XIII.

"I am not sure, Dian; I cannot quite tell."
 There was something in his tone which excited Diana's attention.
 "Are you going on business, papa?" she asked anxiously.
 "Yes," he replied, briefly.
 "You will not be absent for long?" she said. "I know you do not like leaving me."
 "Indeed I do not," answered Peter Cameron.
 And there was such a ring of truth in his voice that Diana was quite content. He was silent for some short time, and she said to him:
 "You are tired, papa. Shall we go?"
 Then he threw his arm round her shoulders.
 "No, we will not go in yet. I am not tired, and I wish to talk to you, my Diana, my dear wife's dear child."
 His voice broke down with a suppressed sob, and Diana looked up in alarm.
 "Papa, you are ill, I am sure!" cried Diana, as she looked beseechingly into her father's face. "What is the matter? Do not go to-morrow, or, if you go, take me with you."
 "I am all right, Dian; but I think you are wiser than I. The heat has been so oppressive to-day that I feel rather languid. Child, have you any presentiments to-night? Have you any forebodings?"
 "None, papa—why? I wish you would take me to London with you."
 "It is not possible, Dian, or I would," he answered gently, ignoring her query. "You have been a dear good child to me; I wish sometimes that I could tell you how much I love you."
 "There is no need, papa; I know it."
 "I would give my life for you, Dian," he said, stopping abruptly in front of her.

And the Worst is Yet to Come—

you discovered, Diana?"

"You are, and have been, thinking of my mother," she said; "and I love you all the better for it. I love you most when I know you have been thinking of her. Am I like her, papa?"
 He, who on the morrow was to take another wife to himself, looked into his daughter's innocent face.
 "No, you are more beautiful than my Margaret ever was. She was sweet, fair, and true, but not beautiful as you are."
 "Is there no likeness, papa?" she asked, in a tone of disappointment—"none at all?"
 "Only as to the hair, Diana. Your mother had just the same fair, waving hair as yours, and it grew just in the same way round her temples, and it had those same soft, feathery rings."
 "I am glad," said Diana. "And now, papa, as you feel languid, let us go in, and I will mix you some nogs. That will cheer you, and, if you do not feel better in the morning, you must not go to London."
 "I shall be all right, Diana," declared Peter Cameron.

But his hand shook violently when he tried to hold his glass.

On the morrow Diana rose early to see her father start. She was standing on the marble steps when he bade her good-bye. He was greatly agitated; but he strove hard to conceal it.

"You never answered my question yesterday, Dian," he said. "Is there anything I can bring you from London?"

"Nothing but yourself, papa. I have everything in the world that a girl can desire. Ah, yes, I remember something! John Brown's collar is very shabby; I should like a new one—silver, with his name engraved upon it."

"You shall have it. I will send it to you."

"Send it!" she cried. "Why not bring it, papa?"

"I mean bring it," he said, with some little embarrassment. "Is nothing wanted for Captain Langley?"

"No; he had a new collar last year. Ah, there is James! I wish I were driving to the station with you. Good-bye, papa!"

Peter Cameron embraced his daughter with unusual warmth, and rained down kisses upon her fair face. Yet in the ardent love that shone from his eyes there was something of pain and remorse.

"Good-bye, and hasten back to me!" said Diana, as tears of joy came into her eyes.

He walked down the broad steps, turning once or twice to kiss his hand to her. Then he took his seat in the carriage, and drove away in the sunshine; and as Diana saw her father then she never saw him more.

CHAPTER XIV.

August the eleventh was a day too hot for comfort. At midday the heat of the sun was almost tropical, the birds and bees and butterflies were all drowsy with its ardor, the waves broke languidly on the shore, the wind was hushed and still.

Diana was alone the greater part of the day. In the evening Lady Colwyn came, Richard returned home, and Sir Royal rode over, so that Diana held her court again. They spent the evening beneath the cedar tree, and unalloyed happiness was theirs.

"John Brown is going to have a new collar," announced Diana as they sat chatting beneath the spreading branches—"a silver one, with his name engraved upon it; papa has promised to bring it."

"I never thought to ask," said Richard, "but why has uncle gone to town?"

"He has gone on business," replied Diana, sedately; "but he did not tell me what his business was."

"You would not have understood it, Dian, if he had," said Sir Royal.

"I suppose not. Chacun a son metier. I have listened with deep reverence, but I have never yet been able to make out what scrip and stocks and shares are."

"You need never wish to know," said Richard. "I am not troubled with a superfluity of them; but I have seen Mr. Cameron knit his brows over them. When does he return, Dian?"

"He did not seem sure," she replied; "but I shall hear to-morrow. He will not stay away longer than he can help, for papa loves home best."

"He is a wise man," said Sir Royal. "No one spoke of it, but the thoughts of each wandered back to the day when they had discussed Lady Scardale; and the helms' friends—these three who loved her so well—silently con-

Beware of the Hirelings.

Perhaps never before in the history of our country did we require to be more careful in the selection of our representatives than we have to be at the present moment. That there is a conspiracy on foot to seize the ship of state by a party of political buccaneers is evident to every observant man, woman and child in the community. Here we have a party of men banded together for the whole and sole object of seizing the reins of power, and playing sad havoc with the public affairs of the Colony. At the present moment we require the most experienced and practical business men amongst us to meet the exigencies which will crop up from day to day in the future, and place Newfoundland in that position of prosperity which will keep our people amongst us, and not having them to leave our shores, which has unfortunately been so often the case in years gone by. As we are to-day we can boast of being as well off, or even better off, than our neighbours. To keep ourselves free from disaster we must place men at the head of affairs, who are not alone in the confidence of the people of Newfoundland, but who have the confidence of capitalists abroad, who are only too eager to invest their money in our country, provided those in power are qualified to safeguard their interests. In the members of the present Government we have such men who have stakes in the country, as well as having the interests of the country at heart. The names of such men as Sir Michael Cashin, Sir John Crobie, A. E. Hickman, John R. Bennett, Captains Kean and Winsor and the other gentlemen on the side of the Government are known far and wide as men of ability, experience sound financial standing, and success, and capitalists, both at home and abroad, are well aware that any amounts loaned to the Government, whilst these gentlemen are at the head of affairs, are perfectly safe and will be expended to forward the best interests of our country. This statement has been fully verified by the eagerness displayed by Canadian and other investors to take up our Victory Loans during the past year or so, and Sir Michael could easily have procured the full amount from abroad, but with the true spirit of a patriot, he declined to give our own people a chance to make such a good investment, which they quickly took advantage of, and now they have their hard earnings securely invested in their own country, bearing interest at 6 1/2 per cent, with a guarantee for their investment that cannot be questioned, and thus they are now enabled, not alone to confer a benefit upon the country generally, but also upon themselves and their families. But who in the name of common sense would trust Mr. Coaker, Mr. Squires, Mr. Daniel Curdin, Dr. Campbell, Michael Hartley, and the rest of the caste in the political drama, with any amount of money to expend in the public affairs of our country? The first thought of Mr. Coaker would be how he could use it to his own advantage, and the Squires Combination would have to give way, or suffer defeat at the hands of the Dictator. We ask again, would the people of Newfoundland consider their investments to be as safe in the hands of Mr. Coaker & Co., as they would under the direction of such competent, experienced and successful business men as those who compose the present Government? It is for them to consider this question seriously! The multitudinous incidents that have occurred during the great war—the present sound condition of our Colony and the very vital necessity there is to do nothing that would militate against our present prosperous condition is what the people of the whole country have to look to. Will they permit Coaker and Squires, their mercenary men and mercenaries and janissaries to grasp the reins of power, and run the entire Governmental machine into the ditch of ruin and misery? Are we to become once more the "sport of historic misfortune," to quote the words of the late Lord Salisbury, premier of Great Britain? If we are, it is only necessary to give Coaker and his hirelings a free hand, and we shall be subjected to more than our share of misfortune. The People should recognize the fact that the present Government has a policy of Reconstruction and Progress after the war—the Coaker-Squires combination have entered into an agreement (and an unholy one at that) of Ruin and Stagnation, and open squandering of the resources of the Colony—among themselves, as long as Coaker will permit Squires to occupy a prominent place in the conspiracy. The Telegram has ever stood on the Watch Tower guarding the interests of the people of our Native Land, and we here most forcefully and clearly warn the deluded and mistaken followers of the Coaker-Squires combination to be on their guard, for should Coaker and Squires attain their object in controlling the Government of the country they will have no further use for them and will cast off their dupes, as so many worthless chattels, to confine them to their own aggrandisement and command of the public Exchequer to play ducks and drakes with it at their own sweet will. To illustrate what we mean with regard to poor deluded shouters after these two conspirators and their backers, we have only to peruse the fable of the Crow and the Fox:— Once upon a time a crow carried cheese in her mouth, whom the fox met and said, "What a fine bird you are! And you would be indeed precious if you sang as clearly as your father formerly did." The crow was joyful at the praise, and opened her mouth to sing, and lost her cheese. "Be off" said the fox, "I have enough of your song." And so it will be with the few shouters for Coaker and Squires. They will drop the cheese and be turned off, for Coaker is a bluffer and Squires can't be trusted.

Why Vote for Cashin.

- (1) Because he has had 27 years experience in public life as a member of the House of Assembly.
- (2) Because he knows every detail of the business of the country, especially fishing matters and cannot be tempted to sacrifice one iota of the interests of the country. Witness his refusal to use the finances of the country in the Escosson fish case. It might be bad policy to say openly "rotten fish," but it was a good policy to stand up for the people.
- (3) Because he is a broad-minded Liberal man who will give every class and every creed a square deal.
- (4) Because he is sincere, straightforward and honest, and you can depend on his word every time.
- (5) Because he is an independent man with ample means and wants nothing from any man, and cannot be tempted to sacrifice one iota of the interests of the country. Witness his refusal to use the finances of the country in the Escosson fish case. It might be bad policy to say openly "rotten fish," but it was a good policy to stand up for the people.

Cashin Will Come Back. The Reid Cry.

The most hypocritical nonsense ever brought into a political contest is that of the Squires and Coaker organs, with regard to putting the Reids in their proper places. Now, if anybody but Squires and Coaker were to get off that stunt they might be reasonably listened to, but in view of the fact that Coaker not long ago asked H. D. Reid to help him out of a hole by endorsing a note for $20,000 and that Coaker charged Squires with taking $5,000 from Reid under shady circumstances, then it is most insulting to expect educated people in Newfoundland to vote for such a pair. Mr. Harry Brown has the Squires candidate harps a lot on the Reid string, but he fails to explain about that $5,000 transaction, so he mustn't be surprised when the electors of St. John's West turn him down in his attempt to insult their ordinary common sense.

As You Like It.

By Luke McLuke.
Placentia was first fortified by the French in 1662. On Nov. 3rd, 1919, the loyal inhabitants successfully defended and drove from their shores the Bolshevik forces under the joint command of the desperados Squires and Coaker. The Squires-Coaker team for Mr. Main have confessed, that with the exception of Kelly's Island and Little Bell Island, all other places in the District have gone solid for the Government. The aboriginal inhabitants of Newfoundland became extinct about 100 years ago. On November the third (A.D.) nineteen hundred and nineteen the last of the Squires-Coaker tribe was seen. Bonavista was taken by the French in 1696 and again in 1768, but in the Fall of 1919, it was captured by a strong force led by Messrs. Morize, Forbes and Winsor. A popular old time ballad which is being sung by the sturdy voters of Placentia:— Phil Brown's body lies a moulding in the clay. In a quiet little nook in the bottom of the Bay. He sure will be sorry that he came up this way. As we're marching along. There's an end to all things! and one of those is the L.R.P. (?) If the Squires-Coaker combination got hold of the Government in this country, they would pinch anything from a haystack to a safety pin. The L.R.P. (?) who for the past few weeks have been looking for trouble, have been fully supplied by the Liberal Progressive Party.

John Connolly is Feeling Better Than in 15 Years

Sydney Mines Man Eats Better, Sleeps Better, And Works Better, Since Taking Tanlac. Science has discovered that most of the many ills that afflict humanity are traceable to a disordered condition of the stomach and intestines. Keep these organs healthy and active and you will remain strong, sturdy and well as nature intended you should be. Then if you are a victim of stomach trouble or any of the numerous disagreeable symptoms resulting from it the experience of others who have testified to the benefits they have derived from the use of Tanlac should appeal very forcibly to you. Among the many strong endorsements recently given the medicine by Nova Scotia people is the following from John Connolly, a well known resident of Fraser Avenue, Sydney Mines. Mr. Connolly holds a responsible position with the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, Ltd., and is popular with all who know him. "I can say for Tanlac being a good medicine," said Mr. Connolly, "for I have tried it and know what it will do. My stomach has been troubling me for many years, and more, and at times I just suffered agony. My food would invariably sour and the gas from it would keep me in misery for hours. Many a day I ate most anything and simply had to force that down. I was also badly constipated and had such fearful headaches that I could hardly stand it. My work requires that I take my lunch with me, but I often brought it back home, untouched, because I knew if I ate it I would be miserable the rest of the day. I had lost considerable strength, would get up in the mornings all tired out, and had reached the point where I did not know where to turn for relief. "One day I happened to read a testimonial for Tanlac that described my case so well that I concluded to see if the medicine would help me, and I commenced feeling better with my first few doses. I have hardly finished my second bottle at this time but I have been benefitted beyond belief already. My appetite has come back to me and my stomach has improved until I can eat most anything without the least trouble afterwards. I never carry my lunch back home with me now. In fact I eat three square meals a day and enjoy them all. I have also been relieved of constipation and headaches and am feeling better in every way than I have in fifteen years. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up mornings full of new life and energy, ready for a hearty breakfast and a good day's work. I cannot recommend Tanlac too highly for what it has done and is still doing in my case." Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac Representative.—adv.

Our Heroes Graves.

Rev. (Major) Nangle's Report.

Fr. (Major) T. F. Nangle Reports on Graves.

The Minister of Militia received the following report from Father Nangle on Wednesday. The first letter is from Hon. R. K. Bishop, and explains itself:

Hon. R. K. Bishop to the Minister of Militia.

St. John's, Oct. 2, 1919.
The Hon. A. E. Hickman, Minister of Militia, City.

Dear Sir— It was my purpose when I left St. John's some months ago to visit before my return, the battlefields of France and Belgium, and particularly those which I had visited in 1916, such as Beaumont Hamel and others where our Regiment had come to grips with the enemy.

When I was making preparations for going over to France, Major Nangle arrived in England and I learned of his commission by the Government to proceed to France and Belgium in connection with the work being carried on there by the Imperial War Graves Commission. Prominent officials of that Commission had expressed a desire previous to their knowledge of Major Nangle's appointment that I should go over and make myself acquainted with the conditions existing and the work being done there, so that I could upon my return convey my impressions to your Department, and it was thought the report of an eye-witness known to many—probably to a majority—of the parents and friends of the gallant boys who went from and have not returned to the many homes around our Dominion where they are mourned would, if favourable, give satisfaction and a degree of comfort to many sorrowing hearts. In this opinion, Major Nangle concurred, and thought it desirable that we should go together, and accordingly Captain Anderson and myself proceeded to France with Major Nangle on Monday, August 25th, spending the week in a survey of the whole area, covering the operations of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment between Paschendael and Amiens, North and South, and Cambrai and Achieu, East and West, and embracing all the Somme area, traversing at least six hundred miles of roads by automobile and on foot during that time—covering entirely the trail of the "Caribou" (Newfoundland Regiment) from 1915 to their departure from France.

The chief object of Major Nangle on this visit was a preliminary survey of the battlefields and areas over which our men fought and to ascertain through enquiries at headquarters of the Staff operating in the various sections of the devastated areas in France and Belgium under the "Directorate of Graves Registration and Enquiries," how best to commence his work. Thousands of men are engaged in this work, and as the operations are much more advanced in some sections than in others—some staffs expecting to finish in a few months, while others will probably not cover their area during the next year, it is imperative that Major Nangle shall give his attention first to the areas upon which the Registration is furthest advanced, hence the necessity of his preliminary tour. The area is vast and the work necessarily slow, especially in the exhumation from solitary graves, which during the summer months could be undertaken only in early morning hours. These isolated remains wherever found are being brought into the nearest War Cemeteries, reinterred, and when identification is possible, registered.

We visited a great many cemeteries, some very large, such as at Lifsenhoek, which contains 12,000 graves, where Capt. Charlie Strong and others are buried; Masnières, where Lieut. Arthur Herder, Tobin, Langmead, Edens, Bartlett and others fell; Goudecourt, where we lost Cecil Cliffe, O'Brien, Ebsary, and many others; Douai, a large and very beautiful cemetery, where there are three or four of our boys who were taken prisoners and died in German Camps; Helly, where I noted the graves of Capt. O'Brien, Noonan and others; Beaumont Hamel, where Lieut. Wilfred Ayre and Mellor lie; and Auchonvillers, which has a great many of our boys. The last mentioned is the only one of the many Cemeteries visited which showed lack of care, and speaking generally, the Cemeteries are well looked after and both graves and walks kept tidy, and in several cases, flowers and shrubs evidenced the interest that is taken in our war graves.

Battlefields, such as Monchy and Goudecourt, which have not yet been cleaned up, present a very desolate prospect. Between the shell holes there is a rank growth of tall, coarse grass and nettles which makes travelling over Monchy particularly difficult, but judging from the number of skeletons which we saw on the ground we walked over, there must be a very great number of remains to be collected, which though they will receive decent burials, can never be identified. The work to be performed by Major Nangle will be tedious and arduous, but I should like to say that in my opinion the Government decided wisely when Major Nangle was selected for the work he has undertaken. He is most energetic and has an excellent knowledge of the important localities requiring his attention. He has great difficulties before him, but I am confident his time and energy will be devoted as assiduously to the satisfactory completion of his task, as it was during the week I was with him.

The mothers, who are naturally concerned about the resting place of their dearly loved boys, may be assured that they are not being forgotten or neglected. I notice enquiry in the public press respecting a report from Major Nangle and while Major Nangle will doubtless be sending to you interim reports from time to time, he cannot, in my opinion, be expected to make any full report, or one that will be satisfying to our people generally for many months to come.

Faithfully yours,
R. K. BISHOP.

Preliminary Report from Major Nangle to Minister of Militia.

To The Minister of Militia, St. John's, Newfoundland.
According to orders, I herewith send you a preliminary report of the present condition of graves and the work being done by the various bodies in this country, and in the theatre of war.

The Directorate of the Graves' Registration & Enquiry is an army organization which is temporarily marking graves, collecting bodies into cemeteries and registering them. When this is completed the cemeteries are handed over to:—

- (1.) Tidworth.
- (2.) Dunkeld.
- (3.) Kenmore.
- (4.) Brookwood.

Seventy-six bodies in all. It was proposed to concentrate all these at Brookwood, this I would not consent to as I think the next-of-kin would not (wherever the graves were in a proper cemetery) wish to have remains disturbed. And, secondly, those scattered graves stand as monuments to blaze the "Trail of the Caribou" through the Mother Country.

Brookwood. At Brookwood I found a special plot had been set aside for the Dominions: (a blue print of which I am sending.) Our graves here are in poor condition, some awaiting crosses, the markings of others indistinct. We shall get into touch with the Brookwood Committee and have the plot put in proper shape to hand over.

From what I can gather the Committee responsible for this cemetery is a dud. From Memorandum 10900/591/C/27/8/19, forwarded to you by P. & R. O. memoranda:—

2701/114/C.	18/2/18.
3773/171/C.	9/3/18.
4229/194/C.	15/3/18.
4621/213/C.	22/3/18.
7255/312/C.	3/5/18.
15839/516/C.	26/9/18.
16612/530/C.	2/10/18.
19158/617/C.	23/11/18.

which among other data has been placed at my disposal, but which so far, I have only been able to glance through.

Division of Work. For convenience of working, I have divided graves of our Contingent into various Sectors:—

- I. United Kingdom.
- II. Gallipoli.
- III. France and Belgium, subdivided into:—
  - (a) Base Hospitals.
  - (b) Trench Sectors.
  - (c) Armentieres.
  - (d) Arras.
  - (e) Beaumont Hamel.
  - (f) Somme.
  - (g) Cambrai.
  - (h) Prisoners of War.
  - IV. Newfoundland.

I. United Kingdom. Under this heading we have graves in the following places:—

- Fort George.
- Edinburgh.
- Ayr.
- Pringley.
- Isle of Arran.
- Glasgow.
- Blackpool.
- Birmingham.
- Bristol.

Liverpool
Winchester.
Plymouth.
Cambridge.
Bodelwyddan (Flintshire).
Dunkeld.
Kenmore.
Brookwood.

Seventy-six bodies in all. It was proposed to concentrate all these at Brookwood, this I would not consent to as I think the next-of-kin would not (wherever the graves were in a proper cemetery) wish to have remains disturbed. Fay & Record Office, you can see the way things stand.

Magdalen Hill Cemetery (Winchester.)

In this cemetery our graves are in fairly good order, but owing to lack of foresight no plot was selected, the result that our graves are scattered over the cemetery. I propose to have those collected in a plot and looked after as at Brookwood. I might add that a very nice tribute was paid our dead on U.S.A. Decoration Day, May 30th, 1919. A deputation came from the Knights of Columbus to decorate the U.S. Soldiers graves; they also laid a wreath of palms on the grave of each of our men, with a card attached, on which was printed—"He died that we may live." In grateful memory from his Fellow Countrymen.—K. of C. U. S. A."

Wandsworth. I also visited Wandsworth Cemetery. Here I found the Newfoundland plot in the course of alteration. Originally they had buried four bodies in one grave. They have now exhumed them and placed each in a separate grave. This plot was surrounded by a Portland stone border, but during the exhuming some of the slabs were broken. There was also erected by

The N.W.C.A. in the centre of this plot a small temporary cross made of stone and painted. It looks cheap and unworthy. I propose to plant a yew hedge round two sides and use the stone for the other sides. I also think we shall have a simple granite cross in the centre of the plot. (A cross has been erected by some private person to Chesley Mercer, the name and particulars of death were painted on the stone, but have now become quite illegible.)

I understand the N. W. C. A. has had the special care of this site in hand and has under consideration the erection of a memorial, but up to the present I have not been able to see Mr. Reeve, to whom I have written on the subject. Meanwhile, since I am responsible for all Newfoundland graves in Europe, I presume the N.W. C.A. will have no objection in co-operating with me.

In the course of time I propose to visit all the graves, have them put in proper order, and a photograph taken of each.

In cemeteries such as Brookwood, Magdalen Hill, Wandsworth and Ayr, I think besides the Regimental Headstone we should have a central cross in each cemetery. I was accompanied by a monumental mason and sculptor, Mr. Buchanan, an alderman of the Borough of Wandsworth, and most reliable man. He priced the various crosses in Wandsworth cemetery, the cheapest, about three feet high, was £40. An average stone costing about £75.

Photo No. 1 gives you an idea of a £100 stone cross. Anything cheaper than that would be out of place.

Gallipoli.

I had an interview recently with an officer who had been to Gallipoli in connection with the Australian Graves. He told me that our graves are still there, but in a very bad condition.

France and Belgium.

I have just returned from a preliminary visit to France and Belgium. I was accompanied by Hon. R. K. Bishop, and Captain Anderson, M.B. E., so that they, on their return to Newfoundland may be able to give you some idea of the work done by the Directorate of Graves' Registration & Enquiries. I am very glad I had them with me, because it is impossible for anyone who has not seen the battlefields to realize the work required. The task in hand has been greatly augmented by our battlefields. The healing forces of nature having made it impossible to recognize old landmarks—not to speak of isolated unmarked graves.

I first visited Passendale and the Ypres Sector. As the object of this visit did not extend to identifying individual graves, I looked for none, but the graveyards were in good condition. From Ypres I passed through Lissehoek where several of our men killed in the retreat from Armentieres, are buried. This is the largest cemetery in France, containing some 12,000 bodies, and is kept in excellent condition.

Our next visit was to Douai on the way to Monchy, where we found the graves of four of our men who died in German hands from wounds received at Monchy. This is the prettiest cemetery in France. The Germans erected a large monument on which is written in English, French and German: "In memory of Brave Comrades." The people of Douai tended this cemetery with all the love and care of any mother tending the grave of her soldier son.

Monchy is about the worst sight in the whole line. It was No Man's Land from April, '17, until the end. I hope to begin my task of searching the battlefields here in a week or ten days, but I am afraid the task is hopeless and that very few identifications will be made.

From Monchy I went to the Cambria area. The fields look as if they had never been fought over. The Newfoundland cemetery and the wooden crosses erected here in November, '17, have lost their identity, but the Directorate has taken the matter up at once and is investigating. However, I know this cemetery well and there is no fear of the remains being lost.

Next I visited Goudecourt. This was almost as bad as Monchy, and as nearly three years have elapsed since we fought over the ground, the prospect of identifying bodies is next to impossible.

The last place to be visited was Beaumont Hamel. Here all the bodies have been collected into cemeteries and any that have not will never be found. Those cemeteries have been fought over in the advance of 1918, so that they are a bit knocked about, but the Registration Department has complete records of each.

The Directorate is making excellent progress, but owing to the nature of the work and the distance to be covered each day, it is very hard to get labour. I must take my time from home, because I have to work with my parties in each sector, but it is hoped to have all isolated bodies collected by April or May and then to begin the work of erecting headstones and confirming each man's particu-

However, I know this cemetery well and there is no fear of the remains being lost.

Next I visited Guedecourt. This was almost as bad as Monchy, and as nearly three years have elapsed since we fought over the ground, the prospect of identifying bodies is next to impossible.

The last place to be visited was Beaumont Hamel. Here all the bodies have been collected into cemeteries and any that have not will never be found. These cemeteries have been fought over in the advance of 1918, so that they are a bit knocked about, but the Registration Department has complete records of each.

The Directorate is making excellent progress, but owing to the nature of the work and the distance to be covered each day, it is very hard to get labour. I must take my time from now, because I have to work with my parties in each sector, but it is their parties I have to work with. I had to have all isolated bodies collected by April or May and then to begin the work of erecting headstones and confirming each man's particular.

IV. Prisoners of War.

This will have to hold over for some time until other graves are located.

V. Newfoundland.

In answer to your letter of August 9, 1919, I have instructions from the Director General to say that all Sailors' and Soldiers' graves in all parts of the world will eventually come under the I.W.G.C. Written instructions will follow as to particulars.

Isolated Graves.

After so many years of fighting over densely populated and civilized countries such as France and Belgium, it is inevitable that there must be single graves and groups in positions where, when the life of the land goes forward again, they cannot be reached or tended. Some lie in what were once towns or villages, others by the side of railway stations and goods' yards, houses and factories, in arable or pasture fields, parks, gardens and the like. The objections to leaving these graves where they are, need not be dwelt upon. No precautions can save them from being encroached upon or obliterated in the course of time. There is, moreover, a strong sentiment among all ranks that such scattered graves look lonely, and the instinct of the Regiment demands that those who fell by the wayside should be gathered in to their companions. That is what the D. G. R. & E. with all due care and reverence are doing.

Removal of Bodies.

In view of the enormous number (over half a million British dead in France), the removal of bodies to England or elsewhere would be impossible, even were there a general desire for it. But the overwhelming majority of relatives are content that their kin should lie, officers and men together, in the countries they have redeemed. The Allied nations have freely given their land to our dead forever, and that offer has been accepted by the Governments. To allow exhumation and removal in the few cases where it has been suggested, would, it seems to the Commission, be undesirable, if only on the principle of equality, and judging from what many gallant fighters have said and written before they in their turn fell, a violation, in all but a few special cases, of the desire of the dead themselves.

Bodies having been exhumed, collected into cemeteries, and registered, the D. G. R. & E. hand them over to the Imperial War Graves' Commission to be permanently marked.

L. W. G. C.
The Commission instructed Sir Frederic Kenyon, K.C.B., to report how these aims could be best realized, and he, after consulting very fully with the religious representatives of the Service, Religion and Art, and knowing the practical limitations, particularly in obtaining labour for carrying out such a vast undertaking, recommended that in each cemetery there should stand a Cross of Sacrifice, and an Altar Stone of Remembrance, and that the headstones of the graves should be of uniform shape and size. Stone crosses to succeed the temporary wooden crosses were at first suggested, but crosses of the small size necessitated by the narrowness of the graves to each other do not allow sufficient space for the men's names and the inscriptions, and also by their shape would be too fragile and too subject to the action of frost and weather for enduring use. Plain headstones, measuring 2 ft. 6 in. by 1 ft. 3 in., were therefore chosen upon which the Cross or other religious symbol of the dead man's faith could be carved, and his Regimental badge fully displayed. The Regimental design approved by the former Minister of Militia, Hon. J. B. Bennett, is enclosed. In due time, therefore, wherever a man may be buried, from Newfoundland to Gallipoli, his grave will be marked in the same manner as the rest of his comrades, officers and men alike.

Inscriptions.
In addition to the name and rank upon the headstone, the Commission suggests that the relatives should, if they wish, add a short inscription of their own choice as an expression of personal feeling and affection. These inscriptions will be at the relatives' expense, and to avoid undue crowding the stones with very small lettering, which, beside being difficult to read, does not weather well, it has been found necessary to restrict the length of the inscription to sixty-six letters. Every cemetery will keep a record of the dead buried there and in these registers it is hoped that it will be possible with the assistance of his kin to enter the age, parentage, and birthplace of each man. I shall send particulars of this later.

The planning and planting of the cemeteries must depend largely on the site and the climate of the country, but it is proposed that, as a general rule, the cemeteries should have buildings designed for services, ceremonies, and shelter, where the register of that cemetery will be kept under permanent safeguard. For example on Gallipoli, it is proposed to lay a tombstone in place of the headstone used in France, and Bellisheim, as is the opinion of experts this monument will be more durable.

Missing.

Besides those graves that are found, we have the "Missing." There are three suggestions.

(1) That in each graveyard one monument be erected with the names of all the missing in that sector carved upon it.

(11) That mural tablets be erected to each man in the nearest cemetery.

(111) That a mound be made and a headstone placed over it as if the body was buried there.

If it were left for me to decide, I should choose the second, as cheaper than number one, and as having a certain individuality about it. The third suggestion I think out of the question. It would be better to tell the relatives that he body has not been found than to deceive them with a dummy grave.

Royal Naval Reservists.

The Admiralty are compiling a list of all our deceased Royal Naval Reservists. As soon as it is completed they will furnish me with a copy. In the meantime all graves are being marked by them with temporary wooden crosses pending the erection of permanent memorials.

Headstones.

Do you think it feasible to have our Regimental Headstone made in Newfoundland of native granite or other stone? This would be distinctive and easily recognized in large cemeteries because the majority of the others are made of Portland stone or concrete. It will also be quicker because of strikes in this country and the quarry people refusing to sell the stone in order that they may secure the contract for the headstones themselves. Moreover, it will give parents in Newfoundland an opportunity of seeing their sons' headstone, who otherwise may never have the opportunity of doing so. All those things considered I do not think that the difference in cost (if any) will be considered by you.

This work is very tedious and slow owing to so many people who must be consulted, and whose consent has to be obtained, being away on holiday. However, it is work that must be done thoroughly if we wish it to endure for all time. Some progress is being made and I hope to have everything in full swing very shortly.

Battle Exploits Memorials Committee.

This is a Military Committee appointed to look into the claims to memorials commemorating the parts borne by particular armies, Divisions, Regiments, or Dominions, in campaigns and battles. The claim having been allowed, it is passed to the I.W.G.C., whose function it is to apply to the French or Belgian Government for the necessary grant of ground. The Committee will also have a voice in the selection of the sites to be acquired, the approval of the design, and subsequently the events to be commemorated.

Memorial Sites.

As regards sites, all claims should be in by September 1st, but as Newfoundland was not represented on this Committee, although Major Timewell represented that it should have been, I have asked that the time may be extended in order to make our claim. I might add that Monchy le Francais is also claimed by the 12th Division, and as that site may be granted before our claims are put through, I have asked that that site be given to Newfoundland. This claim has been backed up by the Historical Section, and by General Ware, and I am sure the claim will be granted.

What Other Dominions are Doing.

The United Kingdom, besides numerous Divisional and Regimental monuments, is erecting four small and one large national monuments, viz:—

1. At Mons, where the war began and ended.
2. On the Somme, for the fighting in 1916 and 1918.
3. At Arras, 1917.
4. At Cambrai, for the breaking of the Hindenburg line.

Besides those four at £25,000 each, they are erecting one huge National Memorial at Ypres. But besides those monuments, the United Kingdom has cemeteries all along the line to sustain for ever and ever.

Canada.

The Canadians are erecting monuments to extent of £100,000, viz:—

- (1) The first Canadian Division at St. Julien.
- (2) Seven Memorials to the Canadian Corps at—Passchendale, Observatoire Ridge (Sanctuary Wood), Vimy Ridge, Dury, Bourlon Wood, Courcellette, Caix.

New Zealand.

New Zealand proposes to erect monuments at:—

1. Piers.
2. Messines.
3. Passchendale.
4. Le Quesnoy.
5. Palestine.
6. Anzac.

Australia.

(1) Australia is erecting two National Memorials viz:—

1. One at Villers Bretonneux, and another at Broodseinde.
2. Five Divisional memorials, (photo of which is enclosed) at £1,500 each:—

1. Poitiers.
2. Mount St. Quentin.
3. Bray-Corbis Road.
4. Bellenglise.
5. Polygon Wood.

Besides those Australia is erecting memorials at Gallipoli, Palestine, and Egypt, and wherever the Australian Contingents fought.

idea of what the other Contingents are doing. For Newfoundland I suggest:—

- (1) One at Gallipoli, on Caribou Hill.

- (2) Four in France: (a) Beaumont Hamel. (b) Guedecourt. (c) Monchy. (d) Marcoing.

- (3) One in Belgium. A Monument on Kibberg Ridge to commemorate in Belgium all those who were killed in the Ypres sectors in 1917, and during the advance of 1918.

With reference to your telegram No. A.Y.G. 97-16 dated 16-5-19, granting £100 for each of our battle memorials, I do not think that the situation is quite clear. (From photo No. 1, you will see what £100 will do in buying a private headstone.) These memorials are not erected to the missing, each of whom has his own individual tablets or stone. The Battle Exploit Memorials are being erected by the other dominions to show Europe and the world what the Dominions have done. They are monuments to our glorious dead, and to our just as glorious survivors. They are monuments to the mothers that bore such brave sons and the land that bred them. They are to be an everlasting tribute to the men who gave their all that the land may live. Surely then, if St. John's could erect an expensive temporary arch for a two days' celebration, Newfoundland can spend more than £100 per monument to commemorate in perpetuity the doings of her Regiment, and her 1,200 dead. If £100 is all that can be spared per monument (about the price of a decent private monument in this country) I recommend that we erect nothing at all. Let us forget we ever had a Regiment.

Suggestions.

I respectfully suggest that a Committee of energetic citizens be formed and a public subscription list opened; the amount raised to be doubled by the Government. Anything under £1,000 in France per monument would be unworthy, as would anything less than £100 for each of our main cemeteries in the U. K. We would therefore need:—

- |                     |           |
|---------------------|-----------|
| 1 in Gallipoli      | £1,000.00 |
| 4 in France         | 4,000.00  |
| 1 in Belgium        | 1,000.00  |
| Wandsworth Cemetery | 100.00    |
| Brookwood           | 100.00    |
| Ayr                 | 100.00    |
| Winchester          | 100.00    |
|                     | £6,400.00 |

Or say, about $35,000 and that is, I think, the very lowest figure we can do anything worthy of the Regiment. I am also sending you maps of Serbia and the Dardanelles. French maps of wherever the Regiment fought will be forwarded as soon as obtained from the War Office; a copy of each will be retained by me. If you opened an Information Department in one of your offices, men would be able to locate on the maps places where they know men were buried. This information and map reading could be forwarded to me by letter.

Please publish orders that all enquiries and requests for photos, etc., re graves of the Royal Naval Reservists, and Officers and O.R. of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment must come through your Department whence they should be sent direct to me. Henceforth all requests to the D. G. R. & E. will be useless. Any further suggestions or criticism will be welcomed.

Who's Who

AND WHY IN NEWFOUNDLAND AND CANADA—1919-20.

"Who's Who and Why" is designed to provide a record of the men and women who in one capacity or another are contributing to the building up of Canada and Newfoundland.

In the brief account of their career in these pages their relation is shown to the outstanding events of the history of the sister dominions, and the book, therefore, has a value for the historian quite beyond its use as a current work of reference. Included also are portraits of persons dealt with in the biographical sketches, thus adding to the permanent value of the book. Only a few copies on sale.

In this cemetery our graves are in fairly good order, but owing to lack of foresight no plot was selected. The result that our graves are scattered over the cemetery. I propose to have those collected in a plot and looked after as at Brookwood. I might add that a very nice tribute was paid our dead on U.S.A. Decoration Day, May 30th, 1919. A deputation came from the Knights of Columbus to decorate the U.S. Soldiers graves; they also laid a wreath of palms on the grave of each of our men, with a card attached, on which was printed "He died that we may live." ### Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

LEST THE TWIG SNAP BACK.

I was much surprised to hear the Author, who is usually a good deal of a conservative, assuming a most radical tone in an argument the other day.

"That didn't seem like you," I said afterwards. "You sounded like a real radical."

"I know it," he admitted, "but that man made me—he was so confounded conservative."

I wonder if we realize how often this sort of thing does happen—that is how often a violent manifestation of any characteristic creates the opposite state of mind in those who come into contact with it.

You all know the old saying, "A pessimist is someone who has had to live with an optimist."

What Helps Make Bolsheviks.

A companion piece to it (and an excellent commentary on the Author's conversion) is this epigram from the lips of one of our prominent students of labor conditions:

"I would define a reactionary as one who makes two Bolsheviks grow where one grew before."

Isn't this habit of human nature something that fathers and mothers ought to recognize fully in their contact with their children.

What He Has Done to Deserve That Judgment.

I know a father who has always regarded gambling as the worst sin in the world (there was that in his family history which gave him some reason for this.) He has just quarreled with his son and forbidden him the house because the latter insists upon playing cards for money. "I don't know what I have done," he says, to deserve such a judgment. "I'm sure I never have spared any efforts to impress on my son what a black sin gambling is."

He is right. He never has. In fact, he has harped so on the subject that his son has come to consider that he is a fanatic and to feel, with the foolish wilfulness of youth, that he must assert his right to do this thing.

But Beware of the "Unco Guild."

Pelostozzi says, "The best way for a child to know God is to see and hear a real Christian." That surely is true. But you must be sure that the Christianity is real and the sort that is lived rather than talked about. For the best way to set a child against religion is to bring him into contact with the "unco guild," the super-pious sort of person.

A certain type of mind resent extremes and always tries to balance them by rushing in the opposite direction.

One must take this tendency into consideration if one wants to have the most helpful influence upon one's children.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

REAL VICTORY.

He has not failed who keeps his record true,
Though greater skill does more than he can do;
He has not failed who fights in honor's way,
Though greater strength defeats him in the fray;
If victory were all life asks, then joy would crown the man who beats a little boy.

When strong men crush the weak, it is not fame they conquer, but they do it to their shame;
Who fights a good fight for the truth he knows,
And dares to brave and fall before fate's blows,
Goes down a braver, bigger than he who never risks defeat for victory.

He has not failed whose soul has ventured much,
Although his hands the prize may never touch;
High hopes are worthy, and though men condemn,
Great are the lives of those who die for them;
Better it is to fight for truth and fall than, fearing failure, never fight at all.

INDISPENSIBLE.

I once was clerking in a shop, dispensing lemonade and pop, and doodads of the kind; and as I worked I used to think the store would sure be on the blink if haply I resigned. I thought if I should jump the store the patrons would go there no more, but follow where I went; they'd ask the boss, "Where is the lad whose charms of manner made us glad? Where is that joyous gent?" One day when I was dreaming thus, the boss came up, the clammy cuss, and said, "Young man, you're fired; too long this useful job you've held, the way your fat young head is swelled would make an image tired." Oh, I was thunder-struck and dazed, and flabbergasted and amazed, but when I got my breath, I said, "I do not care three whoops; that store will straightway loop the loops—my going means its death." And every time I passed along I hoped to see things going wrong, no customers on hand; alas, the custom did not stop, but people galloped to the shop, and bought to beat the band. Since that adventure came to pass I feel I do not cut much grass, or ice or wood or hay; and I am humble as I toil; I strive to make the kettle boil without a grand stand play.

Coaker's War Record

FATHER NANGLE'S REPO

Coaker's paper now preaches royalty, just as in the early days of the war Coaker denounced the British Government, the British Admiralty and everybody connected with public affairs in the Old Country, and who did his utmost to prevent the enlistment of men from Newfoundland in the British Army, and to demand that Judge Keat, then Leader of the Opposition, should withdraw from the Patriotic Association, an impudently demanded which they refused to comply. Everybody will remember, when three British warships were sunk, he declared, without knowledge whatever of the circumstances, that the commanders of three ships should be court-martialed and shot; and everybody will remember how, with bitter malice, right after night assailed the Governor, the then Government, everybody connected with public work, even the women who were knitting socks and making bandages for our soldiers and sailors, and he called upon the fishermen of the north to revenge themselves upon the Government for the money they were spending on the war. Now, with a shonish malignity, his creative sense upon a clause in Fr. Nangle's letter, to endeavour to arouse indignation against the Government in regard to monuments for our boys in France and Gallipoli. Every reasonable man can at once see the significance of the communication between Fr. Nangle and Mr. Hickman, Minister of Militia, and the intention to spend £100 on battle medals. Fr. Nangle apparently made certain recommendations, and Hickman suggested certain outlays to which Fr. Nangle replied by sending along photos and other material to indicate that the allowance was inadequate. If Mr. Hickman is it is evident that he did so because he had not the material before him which to form a judgment, and the letter of Hon. R. K. Bishop, published by us yesterday, strengthens the view, because pictures of monuments and other material were sent by Mr. Hickman, and Fr. Nangle suggested that Mr. Bishop would be able to give all the necessary information. There is no disposition on the part of the Government to expend money in a gaudy fashion in beautifying the resting places of our sacred dead. The proof of this is the manner in which the memorial service in Bannerman Park was carried out a few months ago, when nothing was done to make the occasion fitting and appropriate to the purpose for which it was intended. But nothing is safe from the man who surround Coaker, and who has opportunities such as this to show themselves in the true colors.

There is not one of these creatures who has ever given a cent for a patriotic purpose since the war began, and to-morrow if a collection invited for the purpose of putting such memorials, they will neither see nor hear of until after the close, and they can then come before the public eye once more. What for instance, did Coaker ever do for our men overseas, in any manner? At the time of the Seal Disaster five years ago, an amount of $5,000 was raised amongst Union Councils, but whereas all other money raised at the time was put into a general subscription for the benefit of all concerned, the money was specially earmarked for the dependents of those who were connected with the Union alone.

By the way, while we are on the subject, it would be interesting to know what became of that money so far as we can recollect, there was never any public statement given from that day to this as to where the money went or what was done with it. Perhaps some of Coaker's satellites will tell us who expended the money, how it was expended, and if any portion of it remains, and whose hands it is at present. And if it was expended, whether any balance sheet or statement regarding has ever been given to the public Daily News.

New Singer at the Majestic

In little Miss Marjorie Jolliffe at the Majestic Theatre has uncovered another local singer of noteworthy talent. Singing at the popular house last evening, she charmed the packed audience, every member of which heard her voice very exquisite and giving much promise of developing into one that may, some day, bring a national laurel to, not only herself but to the country. Considering the last evening's performance was her first, her singing was remarkable and there can be no doubt that this pretty young girl the Majestic has made a "find."

AND FATHER NANGLE'S REPORT.

Coaker's paper now preaches rank loyalty, just as in the early days of the war Coaker denounced the British Government, the British Admiralty, and everybody connected with public affairs in the Old Country, and just as he did his utmost to prevent the enlistment of the Newfoundland Regiment or the enlistment of men for active service, going so far, indeed, as to demand that Judge Kent, the then Leader of the Opposition, and Mr. Lloyd, the then editor of the Telegraph, should withdraw from the Patriotic Association, an impudent demand with which they refused to comply. Everybody will remember how, when three British warships were sunk, he declared, without any knowledge whatever of the circumstances, that the commanders of the three ships should be court-martialed and shot; and everybody will remember how, with bitter malice, he might after night assailed the then Governor, the then Government, and everybody connected with patriotic work, even the woman who was knitting socks and making bandages for our soldiers and sailors, and how he called upon the fishermen of the north to revenge themselves upon the Government for the money they were spending on the war. Trinity Liberals Don't Want Coakerites.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I hope the people of St. John's are not under the impression that the Liberals of Trinity district are supporting the Coaker candidates. We certainly are not doing so by any means, and you must not think that because for the sake of Sir Robert Bond we voted as we did in 1913, we are now going to support Coaker. Not by any means, so you can assure your readers that the big Liberal vote will go for Stone, Matthews and Carnell. What a miserable trick to foist upon the good old Liberals of Trinity—Halfyard, Targett and, worst of all, Guppy. The latter is certainly the limit, and his candidature goes to show what little regard Coaker sets upon the intelligence of this district. I must admit there are a few noisy heeleders here and there still shouting for Coaker, but their noise will be smothered on polling day when the voters go to the booths. The result will prove that Coakerism is finished in Trinity District and that the class of men that Coaker wants to foist upon us do not by any means measure up to the requirements of our people. Yours truly,

FRANK TARRANT.

Trinity, Oct. 4, 1919.

A Young Patriot (?)

There is a young patriot, Leo by name who would like to sit in the Hall of Fame. As a Patriot true, But what did he do I ask of you, When the call for patriots came? Did he put on the khaki and offer his life? He who had neither chick nor a dear little wife; Did he follow the throng That marched along With smile and song To take part in that awful strife? No! He who stayed at home to wait, Has now the cheek to get up and brag, With great effrontery, Of love of country, Etcetera, et sundry; His patriotism awoke too late, On Nov. 3rd, he'll meet his fate.

An Invasion Commemorated Which Never Took Place.

On Wednesday, October 8, 1806, during the war of France (under Napoleon I) against the other nations of Europe, Boulogne, the celebrated fortified French seaport, which faces Folkestone, was attacked and set on fire by rockets distinguished by the surname of their inventor, Sir William Congreve. The French Emperor had assembled there 160,000 men and 10,000 horses, and a fleet of small ships, which numbered 1,300 and had 17,000 sailors on board. With these Napoleon intended to invade the British Isles. To prepare for resisting this proposed attack the coasts of Kent and Sussex were lined with Martello towers, or circular forts, while nearly half the male adult population of Britain was formed into Volunteer corps, numbering 241,600. Admiral Sir William Sydney Smith, who lived from 1764 to 1840, had, on October 2, 1804, attempted to burn the French flotilla by means of the fireships that were called caimans, which were rafts consisting of three pieces of timber lashed together, the middle one being the longest, that it might serve as keel. He, however, did not succeed in the attempt. On August 5, 1805, Francis, Emperor of Austria, declared war against France, and the French Army was, therefore, removed from Boulogne, and the English consequently succeeded in their fresh attack upon that town. On the western side of its harbour visitors may still see the basin which Napoleon excavated in 1804 to hold his flotilla of flat-bottomed boats. But he also commenced there the erection of a pillar, 165 feet high, in the Doric style of Grecian architecture on the high ground above the town, to commemorate the intended invasion of England, for which he had made these preparations, but which, after all, was never attempted, though he seemed so sure of its success. ### Mines of France Badly Wrecked--- Italy Signs Treaties--- Steamer in Trouble Off Halifax --- Wooden Houses for England --- Another Race for the America's Cup.

BIG SHIPBUILDING PLANT.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7. A great North American shipbuilding contract between Canada and the United States is foreshadowed in the visit to Montreal of David Rodgers, shipbuilder extraordinary, general works manager of the Skinner and Eddy Corporation of Seattle. Although Mr. Rodgers would not give out any details of the scheme, for it is as yet in the early stages of completion, it is understood that prominent shipping concerns in Canada have been approached, particularly in this city, in this matter and they have received the proposition favorably. A part of the scheme is the establishment of a huge shipbuilding yard in Montreal and several at other strategic points throughout Canada and the United States, involving an initial outlay of millions of dollars.

ITALY SIGNS TREATIES.

PARIS, Oct. 7. King Victor Emmanuel of Italy signed a royal decree ratifying German and Austrian treaties, yesterday, according to a Milan despatch to the Eclair.

LAUNDRIES ON STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. To enforce demands for forty-four hour week and a wage increase, about 5,000 steam laundry workers went out on strike here to-day. This automatically throws out of work about 4,000 other workers employed by hand laundries which were forced to shut down, as the bulk of the washing is done by steam laundries.

FROM TWO TO EIGHT YEARS.

PARIS, Oct. 7. A commission of experts who have visited the mines of Northern France which were devastated during the war believe that it will take from two to eight years to restore them to their former conditions, according to the Gaulois.

GUANA PLANT DESTROYED.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7. The plant of the Standard Guana Co. at Curtis Bay, a suburb, was partly destroyed by a fire of unknown origin to-day, and two negro workmen lost their lives. An official of the company estimated the loss at $1,500,000.

THE BANKING SITUATION.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The Bank of England has notified British banks that they will be no longer required to maintain foreign branches. Existing balances will receive interest to Sept. 1921. This action is due to the one per cent. advance in interest on treasury bills yesterday to four and a half per cent., from which the treasury expects to obtain sufficient money.

DEAKIN DEAD.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 7. Alfred Deakin, former Premier of Australia, died to-day.

NO REPLY RECEIVED.

HALIFAX, Oct. 7. So far as the Marine Dept. here is aware the crew of the Nova Scotian schooner B. B. Hardwick, previously reported disabled at sea with the steamer Bardic standing by to take off the five men on board as soon as the weather improved, are still in the distressed ship. The Dept. has wirelessed Capt. Clarence of the Bardic for further word, but has not yet received a reply.

STEAMERS IN TROUBLE.

HALIFAX, Oct. 7. The U.S. Shipping Board here advises that the American steamer Wabum is proceeding to the assistance of the steamer Lake Gravette, previously reported in distress about 600 miles east of Halifax. Officials of the Board here said to-day that they had no further word of the American steamer Polar Land which yesterday sent out a S.O.S. call. The Polar Land is about 500 miles south-east of Halifax. No orders have been received to despatch a rescue ship from here. The Polar Land, according to the wireless call for aid, is leaking badly.

SPANISH "FLU" RECURRENCE UNLIKELY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. A severe recurrence of the Spanish influenza epidemic is unlikely this winter, according to the current issue of the Journal of the American Association, published to-day. While there may be considerable "evidence" of the ailment, in the Fall and Winter months the Journal says that at least 30 per cent. of the people who have been previously afflicted will be practically immune of the disease.

FIRST RACE JUNE 24, 1920.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The first race in the 1920 series for the America cup will take place June 24, 1920, if the challenge submitted by Sir Thomas Lipton is accepted. The challenger specifies that the first race should take place upon that date, and others at intervals of two days.

A NEW PROHIBITION BILL.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7. Hon. C. J. Doherty has given notice of a Prohibition bill which will be brought down in the House to-morrow. The nature of the Bill, for there are really two, one to amend the Canada Temperance Act, and one to amend the Doherty Act respecting inter-provincial trade, is not disclosed; but it is stated that their purpose is especially to protect dry areas from districts where the sale of liquor is permitted. The bill still further amends to consolidate the federal law in regard to the liquor traffic.

WOODEN HOMES PERMITTED.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The Ministry of Health has announced that new regulations permitting the erection of wooden houses are to be issued without delay. The Legislation will apply only to private houses as the Ministry is already empowered to override if necessary the bye-laws of the various housing schemes. The new regulations will contain restrictions that the houses erected must be waterproof and must contain waterproof floors.

MORE MEN WALK OUT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. The strike of the longshoremen which has been on and off at various ports along the Atlantic Coast for several weeks took a definite turn here to-day when between 7,000 and 8,000 workers of the Chelsea Improvement Co. and the docks of the International Marine, the White Star, Red Star, and American and Atlantic Transport lines walked out. Later nearly 1,000 more men employed at the Royal Mail Steamship Co., the Panama line and the Mergan and Southern Pacific piers quit work. Officials at the pier admitted the serious extent of the strike, which is for higher wages and a "rest" hour.

THE AIR RACE.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7. Air Commander Leo Charlton, Air Attache of the British Embassy at Washington, was selected to-night as the first aviator to be sent away from here to-morrow morning in the great trans-continental air race and reliable test to San Francisco and return. Commodore Charlton, who is the highest ranking officer entered in the contest, will fly a Bristol machine and will alternate as pilot with Flight Lieut. E. Tradd, also of the Embassy staff.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7. The former German Emperor will remove from Amerongen about Dec. 16th, and take up residence at Doorn.

EXCHANGE OF DOCUMENTS.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The German press foreshadows the exchange of documents relating to ratification of the peace treaty in the latter part of October, according to a wireless report received here. This, however, is contingent upon the completion of ratification by Italy, France and Japan. The papers intimate and they point out that the treaty would thus come into force before the termination of the debate in the United States Senate.

CHICAGO WINS 6th GAME.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7. The sixth game of the world's series was won to-day by the Chicago Americans. The score was 5 to 4.

LARGE CAPTURES.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The capture of 15,000 Bolsheviks during the operations around Verona by General Denikine's troops is claimed in a communication received by wireless from the headquarters to-day.

A DEMOCRATIC COUNTRY.

LONDON, Oct. 7. Proof that Great Britain is a really democratic country was furnished by the recent railway strike. This episode Premier Lloyd George disclosed in an address to-day. Speaking at the Mansion House at a reception to Field Marshal Allenby, the Conqueror of Palestine, who was given the freedom of the city, the Premier said: "Now that the episode on the home front is over, all ranks and classes must work together. The country needs it. We all belong to the working classes in this country. I claim to be a workman in all except the eight-hour day. The strike proved that this is really a democratic country, where public opinion must prevail." Keeping along the same line of thought, the Premier continued: "Prussianism in the industrial and economical world must not prevail. Great Britain has once more rendered deep and lasting service to real freedom by defeating an effort to hold up the community and strangle it into submission. The nation means to be strong, firm and just, but always master."

T. P. U. Annual Meeting.

The Truckmen's Protective Union held its annual meeting on Monday night, when the following report was read:

Gentlemen,—We have much pleasure in presenting to you our 21st Annual Report. During the year we have had much to be thankful for. It has pleased Almighty God to remove our brother member, viz., Brother Mallard, and the wife of Bro. James Dunn, and Brother Harvey Thomas by death, whose loss we deeply regret. We sympathize with the relatives.

Quite a number have been added to the roll during the past year which leaves the Union in good financial standing, which you will see by the Treasurer's and Secretary's reports. We feel very grateful to the employers of labor for their courtesy and good-will shown towards the Union. The high cost of feed and horse-shoeing, harness and carts have been the cause of a small increase in the tariff during the year.

To-day we are paying more for an inferior quality of oats and horse feed than has ever been paid to our knowledge in Newfoundland before. The quality of mixed oats imported during the last year in some cases, has been the cause of the death of some valuable animals. The Government have been asked to investigate the matter which we believe they are doing. As you know to-day, hay is selling for sixty dollars a ton and oats at six dollars a sack. We have asked the Government to remove the duty off these two necessary articles of feed. We would also call your attention to the great necessity of striving to work in harmony with all employers as far as possible. We were glad to see so many of our members take part in the Annual Horse Parade arranged by the S.P.C.A. It was remarked by many an eye-witness that the truckmen of St. John's took great interest in their animals.

The Annual Soiree was also a success. At the festival we hope to see more of our members take part. We thank you for the kindness shown the Executive for the past year.

Hoping that our successors may have a more successful year, we remain,

JONAS BARTER, President.
L. MURPHY, Secretary.
M. O'NEILL, Treasurer.

The report having been read and adopted, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, with the following result:
President—Jonas Barter.
Vice-Pres.—Wm. Downton.
1st Asst. V.P.—Peter Joy.
2nd Asst. V.P.—Jacob Barrett.
Treasurer—Moses O'Neill.
Secretary—Michael Power.
Asst. Secretary—Thos. Malone.

Mechanics Won't Forget Mullaly.

JOHN'S WEST WILL DO ITS DUTY TO HIM.

Dear Evening Telegram:—As certain slanders on the streets and in the unpopular opinion of the press are endeavoring to poison the minds of the tradesmen, I think it only fair to that popular and fearless gentleman to do all possible to defend him. Every mechanic in St. John's knows quite well that Mullaly always stood out manfully and bravely on their behalf and in many instances against great odds, and that through his efforts we are receiving to-day much higher wages and more constant good paying employment. Search the records of the past in this regard and you will find Mullaly's name to the forefront always bravely combating with capital the mechanic's fair and just rights. In municipal matters he has always taken the side of the people against class distinction and has ever contended that laborers, mechanics and all those who work by the sweat of their brow should be given a fair and square deal. Knowing that he will stand up for us working people and see justice done to us, we are determined that he shall be elected and we know that it is because he has a large following in St. John's, but a few heeled men are sent around to poison the wells against him. But we who know his good record will not stand for such despicable conduct and hence hundreds of us will fight as fearlessly for him as he has fought for us. We won't forget Mullaly on Polling Day and will roll up for him a big majority side by side with his colleagues, Bennett and Martin.

Yours truly,
MECHANIC.

Political Pointers.

Piacenta and St. Mary's will give the go-bye sure to the three deluded men whom Squires "called out" for there. It is astonishing how in this enlightened age some men fall for the blandishments of slick political tricksters. The whole three Squires, it is said, go with the delusion they will be put in the Executive Council.

Mike Parrell is already trying to fit the 25 Squires candidates into the Executive seats, but finds a problem too puzzling.

"Don't forget Mullaly!" has become a popular slogan in St. John's West. Mullaly has always been identified with the promotion of the tradesmen's interests in the House. With his colleagues, Bennett and Martin, his election is undoubtedly assured.

Watch the cut-throat game being played by the defectors in St. John's West. Campbell and Brownrigg will deserve the scorn of upright men in consenting to be led by the nose by a few despicable heeled men who are willing to plunge the most poisoned political daggers in their backs.

As there will likely be about 25 Squires men in the contest it means that the whole 25 will cherish the delusion of being put in the Executive Council, but as probably neither of them will be elected the squabble that might otherwise ensue will not be witnessed.

The Cooker-Guppy-Squires stock is dropping considerably day after day. Most of their candidates will lose their nomination fees.

At the Majestic.

The Majestic presents the popular double quartette of male voices to-night, when the famous song, "The Dear Little Shamrock," will be sure to charm the house. The most enthusiastic applause that has ever been heard in the Majestic greeted the last performance of the singers, and to-night's will even eclipse that in assured. The local touch has often charmed an audience, and it often will again. The feature picture to-night will be "The Honor of His House," starring Sessue Hayakawa, the famous Japanese actor, who was seen to such great advantage in "The White Man's Law," shown here some time ago. To-night's is a show that is worth seeing, and with the added attraction of the double quartette of eight male voices, another packed house ought to result. St. John's people know a good thing when they see it.
