The Christmas Fairs.
To the Editor of the Mercoux;
Sin, - The dates mentioned in your issue of Saturday will not suit Fergus and Elora at all. If the Guelph Fair is held on Wednesday, 11th, either the Fergus and Elora fairs must be held on the same day or else one of them will have to be has proved that Monday does not answer at all, because, in order to attend, buyers would have to come up the week previous and remain here over Sunday, and this they will not do, or at least they have not done heretofore. If Guelph took Thursday, the 12th, Elora could take Wednes day, the 11th, and Fergus Tuesday, the day, the 11th, and Fergus Tuesday, the 10th, which would give buyers an opportunity of coming up on Morday. This would probably answer Guelph quite as well as the dates mentioned in your issue of Saturday, and it would certainly be a very great accommodation to Fergus and Elora. That Bribe to the Dominion. That Bride to the Bominion.

The London Times has lately been discussing the San Juan boundary case, the decision given by the German Emperor, and its effects, es, pecially as regards the future of the Decision of Control minion of Canada. It is well known that the Times has not for a long period displayed anything like a friendly feeling towards Canada. The Dominion has been belittled and snubbed and put on a back seat time and again by the "Thunderer." She has been told that it is quite immaterial whether or not the connec tion be continued between the parent country and the great and growing colony in the Western Hemisphere. We have been time and again told that Canada is no advantage to Britain, and the hint has been given us more than once that if the people of the Dominion do not like the policy of the Home Government, they can separate from the parent state, and start on their own account.

All this is well known to the people of this Dominion, Canada is no favorite of the Times, and therefore, when that journal speaks the truth regarding our country, it is because the facts are too patent to be gainsaid. For instance in speaking of the decision method and that in the future this decision will seriously affect our interests on the Pacific coast. In referring to this matter the Times also re-echoes the feeling of the people in regard to the Washington Treaty, and especially with reference to the "bribe" which John A. Macdonald clutched at as a miserable offset to the shameful barter of our fishery rights. Here is what the Times asys:—

"We know that the indignation of the inhabitants of Canada, last summer, was such that we had to bribe the Legislature of the Dominion with a guasantee of $2,500,000 before its assent to the Treaty of Washington could be procured. What has happened since? There has been a general election which showed, in the most unpleasant manuer, that the people were not appeased by a Bill which was sufficient to secure the vote of Parliament. Leading ministers have been defeated, and have lost their seats; the Premier had to fight hard to retain his own, and the Ministerial majority had become so uncertain that no one can tell hov long Sir John A. Macdonald, meeting the House without the assistance of his ablest colleagues, will be able to retain his power. Tho San Juan award comes upon all this, The snegotiations which bargained away the fisheries were chiefly distasteful to the Maritime Provinces, and the other parts of the Lominion were affected by sympathy only. The San Juan award were the regional of the parts of the Lominion were affected by sympathy only. The San Juan award will be chiefly obnoxious to Canada West. and fair play to all (hear, hear): that elections should be made pure, the independence of Parliament be secured, the power of the Executive controlled, and the rights of the people committed to their charge preserved and vindicated. In this Province, those principles, he rejoiced to say, were triumphant, and they would, as far as possible, carry them out still further, and he trusted they would be triumphant. For himself, it was of small importance which side of the House he sat on. He had already announced that he was going to Parliament as the supporter of his friend Mr. Mackenzie. He was one of those people who prefer to emerge as little as possible from the mass of the people. He desired, as a member of Parliament, to maintain the principles he had hitherto conscientiously advocate—he was anxious for their success and therefore desired that they should send a man to Parliament to aid in advancing them.

The Foster Brother;

The Orphan of the Wreck.

CHAPTER XXIV.

"Am I to be a prisoner?" she wildly demanded.

"Yes a prisoner.'

"Oh, heaven! and for what purpose?"

"That you may hold no further communication with your brother."

"I am not to see Harry again? But he promised to protect—to save me. He will not allow you to use me so."

"Indeed!" he observed, with a cruel, sneering smile.

"You have no right to do this, father," she boldly exclaimed. "You have no power to do it. The law will prevent you."

"Oh, ho! your lawyer brother has put you."

"Oh, ho! your lawyer brother has put you for that, has he? I thank him and you for knowing it. It will cause me to quicken my movements, and secure my object before the law can be invoked to hinder me. Here you have to remain, Lilias, within the four walls of this room, which you will quit only to be led to the altar by Duncan Ralston."

"No, no; oh, no," she wildly screamed, and grasped his arm imploringly. But with rough and brutal strength he shock her back, and without looking whither he had cast her, he rapidly left the room, and locking it in the outside, put the key in his pocket, and marched down the stair to rejoin Nathan Garrett.

Poor Lilias, with a long wail of agony, tottered to the side of her couch, and, flinging herself on her knees, laid her head on the coverlet, and moaned and sobbed in her woe.

"Got her secured?" questioned Garrett when Stephen re-entered the room.

"Safe and sure," answered the latter, pouring out for himself, and quaffing at a draught, a large glass of the strong, ferce, massionate excitement under which a draught, a large glass of the strongest brandy.

The act was indicative of the strong, fierce, passionate excitement under which he labored, and Garrett regarded it as not a good sign. It showed him that the position of affairs and the deed of the previous night were exercising a more powerful influence on the Captain's mind than it could bear without the assistance of the fiery stimulant. A pretty business, he thought, if terror should come uppermost. In that case he would bring ruin on them both.

"Well," he added aloud, "my advice to you is to deal promptly with the case. A crisis has come which won't stand delay. Act boldly, decisively, and at once."

"In what manner?" inquired the other.

"Have her married at the earliest moment to Ralston. That is the only way to put things right."

"It shall be done," said Stephen, with abrupt and sudden energy. "That is, if Ralston will chime in. All depends on the control of the contro

"Little fear of him hanging fire," responded Garrett. "Show him the danger there is of losing her, and he will agree to anything. We imagined we had got rid of the danger by last night's work, but this morning has shown us our mis-

"I do; should be earry out his threat, and invoke the aid of the Sheriff, your scheme will fail. Ckeckmate him by making her the wife of Ralston ere he has time to move, and then you can snap your fing—Ha! by heaven, he comes."

comes."

"Who—Ralston?"

"No; your son. He is crossing the park and comes towards the house, and his look I don't like. Back! back!" he added, as the Captain rushed to the window. "Don't let him see us on the outlook"

"Heavens, Garrett, if he has made a

"He certainly will, if he sees your white, tell-tale face," returned Garret, in angry alarm. "What the devil are you shaking at? Do you want to hang as both?"

TREMENDOUS SUCCESS!

Ready Pay Principle Victorious!

THE NEW STORE .

"CASH" is now doing Double the Amount of Trade for Ready Pay that any Credit Establishment in Guelph is doing.

WHY?

Because for Ready Pay a small profit only is asked, the money is turned over five times when Ready Pay is made, but the credit system entails an extra per centage added in marking goods, in order to guard against bad debts. The man who gives credit cannot buy his goods as well as the man who does not.

WHY ?

Because he has to buy his stock on credit, and is thereby deprived of the large saving to be made by buying for cash, but the man who sells for ready pay has the money in hand when he goes to market, and can take every benefit that the trade will offer. Such being the case, who can wonder at the great rush there is going on at present at the new store. "OASH" is creating quite a panic among the slow coaches who have been living at their ease on large profits, and he is now going to make a shaking among the dropones. Hurry up with your money. RATIONALISTIC UNIVERSITIES.—The European Journals mention the fact that the Rationalistic Institutions of the continent for almost entirely abandoned by students, and Evangelical universities crowded by large numbers. The Rationalistic Prof. Leening, at Strasburg, has but two pupils; the famous Schenkel, at Heidelburg, has commenced his new term with four, and the Liberal University of Leeissen, in Hesse Darmstadt, commonoes the year without a single new pupil, while the Evangelical professors at Erlangen and Leipsic have attracted more than four hundred students, who attend the lectures of the orthodox professors.

A few days since a lady, well-known in the literary annals of Germany, died at an advanced age at Weimar. Ottille von Goethe, the widow of Goethe's only son, and herself a writer of uncommon ability, departed this life on the 26th ult. In the days of her father in law she used to do the honors of the house, and presided at many a social gathering marked by the presence of the most sminent authors and politicians of the age.—

A man recently broke off a marriage because the lady did not possess good conversational powers. A friend told him he should have married her, and then refused her a new bonnet, to have developed her power of talk.

Hashish, opium, alcohol, and tobacco are popular poisons which appear to concentrate their action upon the brain, and are powerful causes of nervous disorders in the perversion of the blood. An individual habituated in the use of any of these, is a machine set in destructive motion, which, if not already too much destroyed, may be repaired under the potent influence of Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, since the disturbances disappear as the condition of the blood improves.

Thousands have been changed by the use of Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of Iron) from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women, and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. For Dyspepsia and Debility it is a specific.
