REVENGE FOR SHOOTING

Postmaster Morgan of New York Struck Down in Street by Insane Man Who Had Grievance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Postmaster Edward M. Morgan of this city was shot down in the street as he was leaving his house in West 146th-street for the postoffice this morning, by Eric H. B. Mackey, a stenographer employed by a down-town law firm, who then shot and instantly killed him.

The only excuse known for the shooting was that Mackey had complained to the authorities at the postoffice in Washington that his mail had been tampered with and that someone turned out an electric light when he was reading by it in the corridor of the postoffice. Mackey had received a reply that there was no evidence of tampering with his mail and that the incident of the electric light was an accident.

Mackey's employer, the firm of Hunt, Hill & Betts, declared they could account for the tragedy only on the theory that Mackey was insane. Besides a revolver it was found that Mackey carried a dagger and a slungshot. Mackey was an Englishman, 31 years old, who formerly was employed in Boston.

Little Daughter Saw Shooting.
The shooting took place in the presence of Miss Dorothy Morgan, the 14-year-old daughter of the postmaster, who was accompanying him to the subway station on her way to school. When Mr. Morgan and his daughter left their home and walked toward Broadway Mackey turned down the side street and met them.

Evidently he had never seen the postmaster before, for as he met Mr. Morgan he asked: "Are you Postmaster Morgan?" At Mr. Morgan's affirmative reply Mackey drew his revolver and fired one shot into the postmaster's abdomen. The wounded man fell to the sidewalk, and Mackey fired another bullet crashing thru his head and another into his heart.

Mr. Morgan was carried into his own home, physicians were hastily summoned, and it was found that the bullet had merely passed thru the fleshy portion of the abdomen for eight inches, inflicting a superficial wound.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS JANITOR

Crawling under the floor of his house in Deer Park yesterday afternoon in search of a leak in a gas pipe, George Frost, 66 years of age, and janitor of Upper Canada College for 38 years, lit a match and was instantly killed by the explosion which followed. His body was burned to a crisp.

His daughter, Mrs. Georgina Mann, who was in the house, crawled to the aid of her father. She found him dead and his body in flames, but could not get him out of the hole, the shoe she burned her hands in the attempt. Her half was badly singed. The charred remains were not recovered till the firemen arrived.

Albert Plumtree, a neighbor, who turned off the gas meter, said he thought the leak was on the Consumers' Gas Company's end of the pipe. The house was damaged to the extent of $250, which is fully covered by insurance.

The house is a large two-story square frame structure, standing on Baker-avenue. Mr. Frost built it himself in his spare time, and had only moved in last May with the daughter and a little adopted child, Rita Frost. The cellar had been excavated only where the furnace stood, while the gas pipe was beneath the front part of the house, where the floor was only a couple of feet above the ground.

Mr. Mann had often complained to her father that the smell of gas was in the house and he had answered that he would go down and see about it one of these days.

The door leading to the kitchen was split from top to bottom, and several windows were shattered by the explosion.

Mrs. Mann rushed to the cellar and courageously attempted to crawl to the help of her father, whom she could see among the flames and smoke. When she came near the spot where he lay she clutched at his clothes, but was compelled to desist after she had received a gash in her face and neck.

FLOWER SHOW FORMALLY OPEN

Hon. J. M. Gibson, New Lieutenant-Governor, Makes First Appearance at Public Function.

Five years of the Flower, Fruit and Honey Show has not dimmed its beauty nor abated its vigor. The exquisite display in St. Lawrence Market last night was a revelation even to those who have been familiar with the splendid exhibitions of previous years.

The arrangement and fitting up of the great wide space of the market hall was very charmingly designed, and the effect of separate booths and bowers of flowers and fruit was sufficiently like an admirable piece of landscape gardening to appear to add to the size of the hall, without creating an impression of confusion or overdone elaboration.

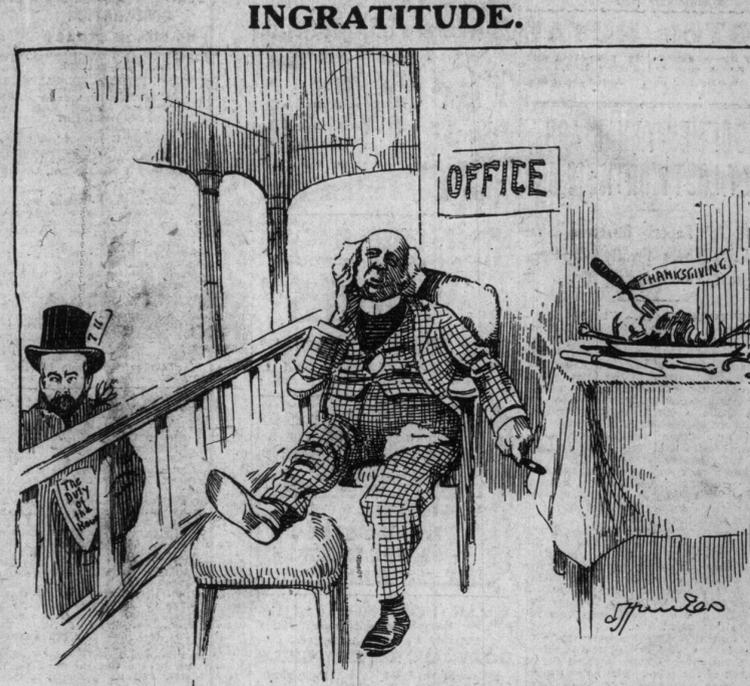

The entrance, with its white pillars and coroneted lights, invitingly prepares the way to the charms beyond, and the vistas of palms and ferns and mosses, of chrysantheums and orchids, and the endless tables of fruits and vegetables, in their most brilliant and harmonious tints, with stacks of honey, furnish a rare and resistless enchantment.

It is difficult to distinguish among the groups of exhibits, but one immense assortment from Norfolk County, with its novel lettering in red apples and its punctuation with the barrel head of the ripest fruit, makes a notable impression. Apples are, of course, in predominance, but it is Eden here, fruit like this, Eve may be pardoned by all her descendants. Pears, peaches and crab apples are shown in all sorts of combinations, packed, pressed and on plates ready to make every mouth water.

A table of "desirable varieties" seems redundant for there is nothing else on the other side of the appearance. The peeling exhibits in boxes and barrels, the greatest exhibition of practical fruit growing, the most beautiful display of an orchard, the most perfect of the orchard.

From the fruit one has, but to turn round to find the "kiddie" potatoes. "Vegetables in all the glory of green and yellow and carmine and gold—cucumbers, cauliflower, parsley, lettuce, squash, pumpkins, marrow, radishes, radishes, onions, tomatoes, carrots, kohlrabi, potatoes, horse radish, edwards, and what not else. There has been a fair show of potatoes, and Irishmen should rejoice in such magnificent murphies.

A very interesting collection in a southern corner is one of pot herbs, where everything from the pot of basil to the hyssop of the wall may be found. Near these is a plate of succulent mushrooms.

Brother Hocken (who is said to have furnished the turkey): An I never got th' smell of it.

PEACE OF EUROPE GUIDING SPIRIT

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The prime minister, Herbert H. Asquith, was the principal speaker at the Guild Hall banquet to-night, which marked the inauguration of the new lord mayor of London, Sir George Wyatt Truscott and brought to a fitting close the celebration of the King's 67th birthday.

The prime minister devoted his observations mainly to the European situation. After congratulating Turkey, in the person of the Turkish ambassador, on the success of the most amazing revolution in the annals of history, he declared that, subject to the important principle that international treaties could not be altered except by the consent of all the signatories, the British Government had no prejudice against, or preference in favor of, any particular settlement.

It has never objected to direct negotiations between Austria and Bulgaria and Turkey, always trying to reach an agreement consistent with the agreement made by all parties to the Berlin treaty.

Happy Results.
One of the happiest results of the Russo-Anglo convention, he said, was that both countries had been able to approach the near eastern question from the same viewpoint and discuss frankly and satisfactorily the sudden crisis that had arisen. His Majesty's government considered that Russia had behaved with the greatest restraint under exceedingly trying circumstances in following a policy of non-intervention in Persia.

Gives $73,000 To Old Pastor

Lord Mountstephen Sends Securities of That Value to Rev. Dr. Barclay.

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—(Special).—Lord Mountstephen has made a gift of securities to his old pastor, Dr. Barclay of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to the amount of $73,000.

This evening the congregation presented the doctor with a silk gown and a cheque for $5000, the reverend gentleman having completed twenty-five years of pastoral work. When Lord Mountstephen heard that the movement was on foot he sent his own personal contribution to the amount above stated.

The presentation was made by Robt. Meighen, president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, and the gift came thru a letter received by Mrs. Meighen, who is a sister of Lord Mountstephen.

WESTERN CROP 125 MILLIONS

Estimate of Value of Agricultural Products of the Three Western Provinces.

MONTREAL, Nov. 9.—(Special).—The sum is a very large one, but R. W. Thompson, vice-president and general manager of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, estimated that the money value of the various agricultural products of the three western provinces will reach this year the enormous sum of $125,000,000.

Mr. Thompson, who returned home to-day from the west, states that the abundant moisture prevailing this fall repaid the announcement that the fall plowing is practically completed in the west.

"I was particularly impressed," he said, "with the statement made by a man who had been for twenty-seven years carrying on farming within a radius of twenty-five miles from Winnipeg, that farmer declaring that in these twenty-seven years he had secured twenty-six successful crops, and Mr. Thompson believes that there are very few countries in the world that can claim such a record."

Continuing, Mr. Thompson said: "The railways are moving the crop out very rapidly at the present time, yet notwithstanding this activity there will be enough grain left over after the close of navigation to keep the roads employed practically till the next crop is in sight."

Being asked his opinion as to future export conditions, Mr. Thompson replied that as far as the export of wheat and flour is concerned, he believed that the foreigner would have to come to Canada for both.

REPS. DISCUSS NEW TARIFF LAW

President-Elect Urges Committee to Take Action Pledged by Party on Chicago Platform.

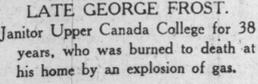

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The proposed revision of the tariff was discussed at a conference to-day of representatives Payne of New York, Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Hill of Connecticut and Gaines of West Virginia, leading Republican members of the house committee on ways and means.

Mr. Gaines discussed tariff revision with Wm. H. Taft at Hot Springs yesterday, and it is understood that Mr. Taft urged that the committee take such action as was pledged by the Republican party in its Chicago platform.

The committee will draw up a new law to supersede the Dingley law, which will carry out the policy incorporated in the Chicago platform, was to-day admitted by one of the majority members, but it is understood that the committee has confined its efforts to the consideration of necessary changes in the wording of the law in order to secure its proper interpretation rather than to the question of any changes in rates of duty, which has been left for consideration after the hearings have been held.

TIE IN NEWFOUNDLAND.
Each Party Has Seventeen Seats With Two to Hear From.
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 9.—With only two seats to be heard from, last Monday's election in Newfoundland for members of the colonial legislature has resulted in a tie between the premier, Sir Robert Bond, and the opposition, headed by Sir Edward Morris, for control of that body.

The latest seat to send in returns, which arrived to-day, was Burgess, which elected a Morris adherent. This gives 17 seats each to the government and opposition.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 9.—(Special).—Lying in bed with his toe thru one end of a saw-stump and the other end fastened to the trigger of a shotgun, Jos. Hardy of Aylmer put the muzzle to his temple and blew his head off this morning.

Hardy, who was 55 years old, had been drinking lately, and for the past few days stayed at home in a morose condition. NEW SILVER CITY IN ONTARIO'S NORTHLAND

Prospectors Crowd Hotels in Rush to Eldorado Up Montreal River—City That Rose in a Night.

ELK CITY, Montreal River, Nov. 9.—(Special Staff Correspondence).—Far up the river the lights of Elk City twinkled like a setting of brilliants in the dark green foliage of the northern wilderness. Elk City was waiting, waiting patiently on Wednesday night for news of the United States elections, and for some glimpse of intelligence from the outside world.

As the little steamer nosed up to the dock in this newest silver city, The World man stepped ashore and was immediately surrounded by a crowd which fired questions of varied import at him.

"Who was elected in the United States?" asked a man who looked as if he might be a mining engineer.

"Taft," replied The World representative.

The newspaper man could not answer this, for the wire service at Latchford had not enlightened us much. Elk City, therefore, had to wait another day to find out more about it, for the little silver city far up the Montreal River has no telegraphic or telephone communication with the world outside.

A trip up the Montreal River in November, when the ice is forming and a snow blizzard driving across the water is a rough but exhilarating experience. "It is amusing, too. And to illustrate I will tell about Bromley, a well-up in Gowganda they call him 'Bill,' and some people call him 'Lucky Bill.' Bill sat beside me as we steamed up the second stretch west of the Pork Rapids Portage. I had been told that Bill had a roll that would choke a horse, and I wanted to hear him tell about it.

"Yes," he said, "I have some change now. Last season I made a strike out in James. I was walking along, prospecting closely the face of a hill. I kicked some moss off a stone and there it was shining native silver. I nearly had a fit."

"Well," said Bill, as he squirted a mouthful of tobacco juice thru the gangway, "I needed money, and had to sell. A New York man was nosing around the Grand View and we got together. He saw the strike, and, to make a long story short, paid $50,000 into the bank at Latchford to close the deal."

Again Bill was silent and I waited. "And what do you think," he said, "that feller said? 'Bill, come over to the hotel and we will pull a cork.' He brought out a bottle of champagne from his grip and opened 'er up. I'd never tasted that stuff, and when I tasted it I spit it out."

"I don't want that stuff," sez I; "I want booze."

An Indian's Discovery.
Round Eyes, an Ojibwa Indian, discovered bloom at Silver Lake and Bond Lake in the Montreal River district when hunting many years ago. He did not know what it was that he had found.

Round Eyes had a step-son named Mickle Taylor, a half-breed, who went out to Halleybury at the time the first silver discoveries were made at Cobalt. There he saw some bloom, and remembering that his father had found similar samples up the Montreal River, he investigated, and this led to the first discovery of silver in that country.

In March, 1904, Thomas Saville, a clever young tourist guide, came into the country with an Indian chief, Francois White Bear, of the Ojibwa tribe, and camped over night at Round Eyes' place. During the night the step-son, Mickle, showed them samples taken from the discoveries around

Fourteen bouts were decided on semi-final night of the city boxing tournament in the Mutual-street Rink before a crowd up to proportions of the first night.

The first bout of the evening in the bantam class was a slasher. Heavy-hitting Godden fought O'Brien at a start, both were in the best of condition and went at it hard from the sound of the gong.

Lou Peters won his bout in the 135-lb. class in short order, stopping Wm. Marshall in the first round. He took the rest of the bout with the three rounds and was fairly interesting.

Albert Edwards put up his second gong of the night in the 112-lb. class. He was in the pink of condition and went at it with a will all the way thru, using both hands.

The eleventh bout was closely contested. J. Murphy, who scored a victory over Champion Turley in the preliminaries, had to extend himself to pull out a victory over R. Foster.

W. Hyde met S. Bailey in the 105-lb. class. Bailey had the advantage over his game little opponent, both in height and in weight.

Father Time just lasted long enough yesterday afternoon at Rosedale for the T. A. A. C. to tie the Argonauts in an exhibition Rugby game.

The game was not a great exhibition of Rugby, but that was lacking in science play more than made up in strenuous play, and happy to say, the game did not degenerate into rough-house.

The T.A.A.C. lined up the greatest kicking line they have seen this season. Regulars, while McCrimmon, the McMaster, and Maxwell, the Ritzley, and the back division, the scullers depended upon Mert, Kent to do all the punting.

The time prizes were won by: George Black, I.C.B.C., in 57.06. Frank McMillan, S.P.A.C., in 57.08. J. O. Bigley, R.C.B.C., in 57.10.

BIRTHDAY HONORS.

Sir E. S. Clouston, who has just been created a baronet by King Edward, has done good service for his country in connection with its finances. The Bank of Montreal, of which he is vice-president and general manager, has been able and willing at all times to see the government thru when London institutions were slow to make advances, and when other banks in Canada were not in a position to relieve the situation. No matter what the emergency was the Bank of Montreal has been loyal to the government.

For many years Sir Edward S. Clouston has been one of the biggest financial men of the country, but he has not identified himself with either party or engaged actively in politics. He has always regarded affairs from a national standpoint, and it is not unlikely that he will at an early date become the president of the Bank of Montreal. This will lead to other important changes, and will involve three or four promotions. It will be remembered that each of George Stephen and Donald Smith first became a baronet, then president of the Bank of Montreal and was later raised to the peerage. Perhaps the same sequence is in store for Sir Edward Clouston. Sir Edward has no son, but he has one daughter, a charming young woman who is very popular in Montreal.

Mr. Hugh Graham, who has been given the honor of knighthood, is a man of great wealth. He has long been credited with having the accolade in view and his many friends will appreciate the distinction that has now come to him.

General Sir P. H. N. Lake is a good soldier and knows more about what the situation in Canada would be should war occur than any other man. He has been more or less under instructions from the home office, and has made a study of strategy so far as Canadian conditions are concerned.

GERMAN DIPLOMACY.

One of the results that have followed upon the kaiser's latest indiscretion is the appearance of an agitation for a modification of the German imperial constitution. As established in 1871, the direction of political and military affairs is vested in the emperor, who may declare war if it is defensive; otherwise the consent of the federal council is necessary. This body represents the individual states of the empire and consists of fifty-eight delegates appointed by the various governments. The reichstag, or house of representatives, consisting of about four hundred members elected by universal suffrage, has no control, and participates only in the legislative functions of the empire. The call for imperial ministerial responsibility to the reichstag, always more or less insistent, is likely to be considerably strengthened by the prevalent impression that Germany has been humiliated in the eyes of the nations.

The attempt to rehabilitate its prestige led the government to demand an apology from France in order, supposedly, that her submission might efface the memory of the earlier humiliation among the German people. The French Government called the bluff by a blunt refusal, its present chief being a statesman of stronger character and determination than his predecessor. It was reported later that the difference would be squared by a mutual expression of regret for any possible excess of zeal on the part of the officers and officials concerned, but the very guarded terms proposed by the French Government do not appear to have been acceptable to the German Kaiser. The situation is highly electric and in the present temper of France and Germany provokes in the extreme. If the German Government, as many fear, is really intent on salvaging its wounded pride by another successful invasion of France, it can easily attain its end.

In any event the reputation Germany has unfortunately gained of being the danger centre of Europe will be more than sustained. Coming at any other time or with a nation anxious to preserve the peace the incident would have been trivial enough and would not have achieved other than passing notice. But happening as it did, the evidence it provides of German irritation and exasperation cannot be ignored. However unfortunate it may be, grave danger is always impending that under the influence of these moods, things will be said and done which cause further estrangement and sentiments that react upon and stimulate each other. Even the general consensus that Germany is making a mountain out of a molehill and seeking a pretext for a stronger bluff itself serves to aggravate the risk of war. No doubt anxious efforts will be made to help forward a modus vivendi, but unless the deeper causes are reached the menace will remain that on some serious occasion the resources of diplomacy will fail before

Victorien Sardou

Victorien Sardou, the great French dramatist, who died in Paris on Sunday, was born in Paris on Sept. 7, 1831, the son of Leandre Sardou, who wrote on educational topics and compiled several books. Sardou at first studied medicine, but was obliged, in consequence of the embarrassments of his family, to give private lessons in history, philosophy and mathematics. He also made attempts in literature, writing articles for several reviews and for the minor journals. His first comedy, "La Taverne des Etudiants," was produced in 1854 at the Odéon, then the second state theatre, but it proved a complete failure.

At the age of 75 Sardou witnessed the production of his latest drama, "L'Affaire des Poisons," at the Theatre Porte St. Martin. It had to do with the infamous poisoning of Marie Antoinette which existed under the reign of Louis XIV. The play was presented for the first time on Dec. 7 last, and is still running to crowded houses.

Victorien Sardou had a varied career before he achieved success as a master playwright. After the failure of "La Taverne des Etudiants" he became a hack journalist and writer, and in 1857 was so poor that he lived in a garret. He fell ill with typhoid fever and was nursed by a neighbor, Mile de Brecourt, and brought back to health. The following year he married her, and she introduced him to Mile de Saxe, the actress and manager, who had just established the theatre bearing her name.

For her he wrote a number of plays which proved successful, one of which, "Monsieur Ganet," had a long run in 1860 and was later transformed into an opera bouffe and was brought out at the Theatre des Varietes and in English at the Criterion Theatre, in London. In 1870 M. Sardou produced no less than four comedies, of which one was "Les Pattes de Mouche" (in English "The Scap of Paper"), and another "Nos Intimes," one of his most brilliant successes. In five years he had written a score of plays, all described as brilliant in dialog, genre pictures of modern social life, never serious or stern in moralizing and almost always successful. He had amassed a fortune and gained a European reputation when the death of his father, in 1867, occurred.

In the last year of the French empire he produced "Seraphine," originally called "La Devote," "La Patrie" and "Fernande," and after the downfall of Napoleon III, in 1870, he showed his Bonapartist inclination by "La Roi Carotte" and "Ragabab," the latter an attack on Gambetta. "L'Oncle Sarrasin," a satire on American society, appeared in 1873, and "Dora," called in English "Diplomacy," regarded as an excellent specimen of the author's cleverness in construction. In that year M. Sardou was elected a member of the French Academy. He died in the arms of Joseph Autran, and was received among the "Immortals" on May 29, 1878.

His five act play, "Daniel Rochat," a plea for civil marriage, was produced in 1880, and caused much discussion. It was followed by "Odette" and "L'Amour," in 1881, the latter a daring farce, which was produced with unprecedented success. "Fedora" and "Theodora" written for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, appeared respectively in 1883 and 1884. They were followed by "L'Amour," which she produced at the Theatre Porte Saint-Martin in 1887. "Cleopatra," and historic and spectacular drama, appeared in 1890. "Theridore" was produced in January, 1891, and depicted political disturbances and was suppressed by the French Government. "Gismonda" was produced by Mme. Bernhardt in 1894 at the Renaissance Theatre, in Paris, and "Spartacus" was presented by her in 1897. In that year one of M. Sardou's most successful works, "Madame Sans-Gene," appeared, written for Mme. Rejane, and produced in Paris. In his English production Sir Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry appeared at the Lyceum Theatre in London. "Farsala" appeared in 1899. In 1899 M. Sardou wrote "Les Espiers" for Sir Henry Irving, which was produced in 1902, and the following year "Dante" was produced by the same actor, who appeared in both of them in New York as well as in London.

From the scores of plays which he wrote M. Sardou amassed a princely fortune. He had a splendid chateau in a park at Marley-le-Roi, near Paris, once belonging to Louis XIV. He was married the second time in 1872 to Mile. Anne Soule, daughter of the conservateur of the museum at Versailles. The playwright was always a tremendous worker. He has been described as small, thin, wiry, with sharp eyes and a mobile mouth, a good lover and a good hater. He gave personal attention to the rehearsals of his plays and allowed nothing to escape his attention. In 1906 a light comedy, "La Pistole," which was written by his 75th play, in which Mme. Rejane appeared.

ROUND OF ROBBERIES.

Amateurs, It is Said, Made a General Raid at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The police were confronted with a series of robberies in this vicinity last night. The office of the Canadian Salt Company was entered, but nothing of value was found. James Penman's butcher-shop was burglarized and the contents of the till taken. Two watches also were stolen from Marentette's jewelry store. The ticket office of the Walkerville Ferry Company was also visited. There a cigar slot machine was broken into, and both cigars and cash were later found to be missing. A quantity of shoes were taken from Dugal's shoe store in Walkerville. The residence of Philip McManus in the same town was broken into, but only a few cigars were taken. The police think the robberies were committed by local amateurs.

He also made attempts in literature, writing articles for several reviews and for the minor journals. His first comedy, "La Taverne des Etudiants," was produced in 1854 at the Odéon, then the second state theatre, but it proved a complete failure.

At the age of 75 Sardou witnessed the production of his latest drama, "L'Affaire des Poisons," at the Theatre Porte St. Martin. It had to do with the infamous poisoning of Marie Antoinette which existed under the reign of Louis XIV. The play was presented for the first time on Dec. 7 last, and is still running to crowded houses.

Victorien Sardou had a varied career before he achieved success as a master playwright. After the failure of "La Taverne des Etudiants" he became a hack journalist and writer, and in 1857 was so poor that he lived in a garret. He fell ill with typhoid fever and was nursed by a neighbor, Mile de Brecourt, and brought back to health. The following year he married her, and she introduced him to Mile de Saxe, the actress and manager, who had just established the theatre bearing her name.

For her he wrote a number of plays which proved successful, one of which, "Monsieur Ganet," had a long run in 1860 and was later transformed into an opera bouffe and was brought out at the Theatre des Varietes and in English at the Criterion Theatre, in London. In 1870 M. Sardou produced no less than four comedies, of which one was "Les Pattes de Mouche" (in English "The Scap of Paper"), and another "Nos Intimes," one of his most brilliant successes. In five years he had written a score of plays, all described as brilliant in dialog, genre pictures of modern social life, never serious or stern in moralizing and almost always successful. He had amassed a fortune and gained a European reputation when the death of his father, in 1867, occurred.

In the last year of the French empire he produced "Seraphine," originally called "La Devote," "La Patrie" and "Fernande," and after the downfall of Napoleon III, in 1870, he showed his Bonapartist inclination by "La Roi Carotte" and "Ragabab," the latter an attack on Gambetta. "L'Oncle Sarrasin," a satire on American society, appeared in 1873, and "Dora," called in English "Diplomacy," regarded as an excellent specimen of the author's cleverness in construction. In that year M. Sardou was elected a member of the French Academy. He died in the arms of Joseph Autran, and was received among the "Immortals" on May 29, 1878.

His five act play, "Daniel Rochat," a plea for civil marriage, was produced in 1880, and caused much discussion. It was followed by "Odette" and "L'Amour," in 1881, the latter a daring farce, which was produced with unprecedented success. "Fedora" and "Theodora" written for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, appeared respectively in 1883 and 1884. They were followed by "L'Amour," which she produced at the Theatre Porte Saint-Martin in 1887. "Cleopatra," and historic and spectacular drama, appeared in 1890. "Theridore" was produced in January, 1891, and depicted political disturbances and was suppressed by the French Government. "Gismonda" was produced by Mme. Bernhardt in 1894 at the Renaissance Theatre, in Paris, and "Spartacus" was presented by her in 1897. In that year one of M. Sardou's most successful works, "Madame Sans-Gene," appeared, written for Mme. Rejane, and produced in Paris. In his English production Sir Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry appeared at the Lyceum Theatre in London. "Farsala" appeared in 1899. In 1899 M. Sardou wrote "Les Espiers" for Sir Henry Irving, which was produced in 1902, and the following year "Dante" was produced by the same actor, who appeared in both of them in New York as well as in London.

From the scores of plays which he wrote M. Sardou amassed a princely fortune. He had a splendid chateau in a park at Marley-le-Roi, near Paris, once belonging to Louis XIV. He was married the second time in 1872 to Mile. Anne Soule, daughter of the conservateur of the museum at Versailles. The playwright was always a tremendous worker. He has been described as small, thin, wiry, with sharp eyes and a mobile mouth, a good lover and a good hater. He gave personal attention to the rehearsals of his plays and allowed nothing to escape his attention. In 1906 a light comedy, "La Pistole," which was written by his 75th play, in which Mme. Rejane appeared.

ROUND OF ROBBERIES.

Amateurs, It is Said, Made a General Raid at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The police were confronted with a series of robberies in this vicinity last night. The office of the Canadian Salt Company was entered, but nothing of value was found. James Penman's butcher-shop was burglarized and the contents of the till taken. Two watches also were stolen from Marentette's jewelry store. The ticket office of the Walkerville Ferry Company was also visited. There a cigar slot machine was broken into, and both cigars and cash were later found to be missing. A quantity of shoes were taken from Dugal's shoe store in Walkerville. The residence of Philip McManus in the same town was broken into, but only a few cigars were taken. The police think the robberies were committed by local amateurs.

THE ROSEMARY.
My sweet maid Rosemary—
(er gown it is so plain
E'en Vanities
Dressed thus could not be vain!)
Doth preach to me—
When thus my life doth seem
Her small estate makes
And full of orders to be;

For in the rain or sun,
Cloaked all in modest gray,
This garment, but is so
Doth stand as tho' to pray!
Content, she never heeds
Of flouting Poppy scorn,
Nor mark her gown with thorns;
Do tear her gown with thorns;
She tells her beads,
And lives her life with joy.
Her one employ
To fill some small, sweet need!

Desertion Prevents Divorce.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Under a ruling of Supreme Court Justice Aspinwall of Brooklyn, made public to-day, a wife who becomes tired of wedlock and leaves her husband simply for that reason, breaks the marriage contract and may not obtain a divorce on the ground of infidelity, her desertion being consented to or connivance with the husband's subsequent errors.

Duchess Renounces the World.

New York Mail: If ever there was a tale of a living tragedy it is the one which comes from St. Petersburg, telling that the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, widow of Grand Duke Sergius, who was assassinated at Moscow in February, 1905, had retired to a Russian convent near Moscow, and that she would decide to take the veil, since the death of her husband and the marriage of her adopted daughter, Marie, to Prince William of Sweden, the grand duchess has withdrawn almost entirely from society. The Grand Duchess Elizabeth is a sister of the czarina, and ever since the day she arrived in Russia as the bride of a Romanoff grand duke her happy days were few. She is a fresh, healthy German girl, a princess of Hesse, she found herself mated to a bully and a brute, who brought the manners of the barracks into her private salon. He was insanely jealous and had her every step watched and followed, while his own intrigues were many. That he was finally blown to pieces by a nihilist bomb was no surprise, for he was the most hated of all the Romanoffs. The grand duchess is as good as she is beautiful, and she has always been considered one of the loveliest of European royal ladies. Her features are like a clear out cameo, her smile is winsome and until the tragedy came into her life her laugh was infectious. She was known as one of the cleverest amateur actresses and the best dressed woman in the court circles of Russia. She has been a second mother to a real mother, the children of the exiled Grand Duke Paul. High and low, far and near, at home and abroad, her charities were proverbial. None knew her better than to love her. Now that she has adopted a life of seclusion, she has entered a holy retreat, one of the most famous in Russia, near Moscow. When she takes the veil the curtain will ring down on the story of a broken heart.

In Society.

Mrs. George H. Sedgwick, 506 Spadina-avenue, will receive on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 12.

Preparations are being made to hold the Victoria College conversations on Dec. 4. This is the social event of greatest interest to Vic during the season.

The marriage took place in the Church of the Angels' Guardian, Orillia, at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning, Oct. 31, of Lillian Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Sheppard, to Mr. Joseph Antoine Laurin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrille Laurin of Montreal. The church was prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, carnations, smilax and ferns. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Moyna. The bride, who was given away by her father, was very lovely in a soft creamy satin made empire, with full front panel of rose point over cloth of silver from the hem of the gown to the shoulders, and falling over the back in two soft panels, ending in pearl tassels. The long flowing train was caught from the shoulder with a large pearl buckle. The tulle veil was held by a wreath of orange blossoms and heather and surrounded the girlish face with charming effect. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and white roses, with empire shawl of white ribbon and chiffon and lilies, and wore a diamond heart, the gift of the groom. The small sister of the bride was flower girl. The matron of honor, Mrs. Joseph O'Mara, was gowned in palest green satin charmeuse, with opalescent trimming, the large black and white hat being caught with black velvet strap. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, tied with pink chiffon and ribbon, and wore the groom's gift, an amethyst bracelet. Mr. Charles A. Burns of Toronto was best man, after the ceremony a reception was held at "Knock Green," the residence of the bride's father, where the spacious rooms were lovely with chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. An orchestra played in the hall. The many handsome present displayed in the library included a solid diamond ring, from Mr. Cyrille Laurin, father of the groom; a complete cabinet of table silver, from the bride's father and mother; a Limoges dinner service, from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Mara; silver tea service, from some friends of Mr. Laurin; a luncheon set, from Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burns of Toronto gave the bride a saddle horse and equipment. The bride's table was arranged in the dining-room and was prettily decorated with lily of the valley and carnations. Small tables were used in the drawing-room and hall. Mrs. Sheppard wore mauve and cream-silk, with opalescent embroideries and mauve

THE TORONTO HUNT.

Yesterday was the big day of this season of the Toronto Hunt. About 35 members met at the kennels in Scarborough in the forenoon, had a fine run across the south end of the township, then returned to the clubhouse at noon, where Mr. and Mrs. Home Bate entertained all the hunting members and ladies with a hunt breakfast. The toast of "The King" was duly honored, and that of "The Hunt" also that of Mr. and Mrs. Blake, whose return to Toronto and its social life was warmly approved by all their guests. Immediately after fresh horses were mounted, and between forty and fifty followed the hounds away up to the middle of the township, then west and south into York Township, and across the Fitzpatrick and Armstrong farms, across Donlands, and a finish near the Meagher homestead, on the Don-road. It was a royal day and a royal run.

DOUBLE INJURY CURED

Mr. L. A. Turner, of 464, Bannockburn Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—I sustained a severe injury to my knee when playing football. I came off the field with some very serious cuts and bruises which caused me a good deal of pain. One or two of them were so bad I feared they would injure me permanently. This would injure me so I applied Zam-Buk. I obtained a supply of this healing balm and applied it. Zam-Buk quickly took the soreness out of the wounds and proved an excellent soothing balm. It prevented infection, reduced the swelling and in a few days had healed every cut and bruise. I was surprised at the quick way in which Zam-Buk cleanses and heals even the nastiest cuts or sores.

THE NIPISSING OF THE NORTH

That is the Name Bestowed Upon the MOOSE HORN MINES (MONTREAL RIVER)

By a Cobalt Mining Engineer.

Remember that when you buy stock in the MOOSE HORN you are getting an interest in a great property, with numerous veins uncovered showing native silver at the surface. Assays have been had on six distinct veins, running from 250 to 13,000 ounces of silver to the ton. The main shaft is down 68 feet, with a two-inch vein carrying values up in the thousands. The Moose Horn is no gamble—it is a certainty, and WILL BE ONE OF THE GREATEST MINES OF THE NEW COBALT!

Enough stock has been underwritten to provide ample working capital for one year. The present offering is made to put in a complete plant, including six-drill compressor, etc. This stock is going fast, both here and in New York, where it is listed on the curb.

Capt. John Harris says, in his report on the Moose Horn: "At about twenty-five (25) feet down the shaft, the vein widens to one inch of Calcite, in some places SHOWING ALMOST SOLID SILVER. The vein holds good to the bottom of the shaft and the full length of the drift.

"I have been in the Cobalt Camp almost from its beginning, and would say that there are as good showings of silver on the Moose Horn property as in any of the Cobalt Mines at their commencement, and for the same amount of work having been done.

"I BELIEVE THE MOOSE HORN MINE CAN BE MADE A PAYING PROPERTY FROM THE START."

Send your orders to the regular brokers, who are advertising the stock. Full information will be given at ROOM K (ON THE OFFICE FLOOR), KING EDWARD HOTEL, WHERE SAMPLES OF THE VERY RICH ORE MAY BE SEEN.

COME AND SEE THEM AND BE CONVINCED BY THE EVIDENCE OF YOUR OWN EYES. Act quickly. The man who procrastinates loses the golden opportunity. PRICE 50c PER SHARE.

CONCERNING NANCY HELEN.

It would seem from all present indications that Montrealeurs have again been successful in picking up a valuable silver-bearing property in the Cobalt region. The property is the Nancy Helen. Some few months ago a Sudbury gentleman came to Montreal with samples of a property which he wanted taken up by capitalists, but because the samples were not of the Crown Reserve class of richness he had great difficulty in interesting men who could provide the necessary capital for developments. At last, however, a syndicate was formed and developments rushed on rapidly until, when at about the 100-foot level, a rich vein of silver ore was struck, and at 125 feet the ore is apparently becoming richer. The surface workings cost some $80,000, and the rich ore sheet, discovered about six weeks ago, averages four inches and runs from 7000 to 8000 ounces to the ton. Some of the ore will run 15,000 ounces to the ton. Mr. E. C. Rykert of Montreal has some specimens which could surely not be surpassed by any other property than the famous Crown Reserve itself. There is a single slab weighing about 100 pounds, and about two feet long, which runs considerably over 7000 ounces to the ton.

It is understood that 320,000 shares are controlled by the Montreal syndicate, which is a fairly large proportion of the whole capital of $500,000.

New York Curb.

THE VICTORIA SILVER COBALT MINE

Is in this fortunate position (see map), surrounded on four sides by some of the biggest shippers in the Camp. The Victoria is now sinking on veins carrying 1100 ozs. of silver to the ton. Day and night shifts are pushing this work rapidly.

SHIPMENTS ARE EXPECTED WITHIN 60 DAYS.

Now that we have high values and veins as good as any, a Limited Amount of stock is offered to the public to defray the expense of taking out the ore in sight. Even a bonanza in the ground requires money to take it out and send to market. This stock is being rapidly taken up, both here and in New York.

Act quickly, or your opportunity will be lost! Buy stock in a mine—not a prospect! A complete plant, and great development, which can be used in the exploitation of the present rich discoveries.

Wire, phone or write your orders to the regular brokers who are advertising facilities for handling the stock.

EAST TORONTO POULTRY SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

First Annual Brings Out More Than 500 Entries—Big Musical Event in North Toronto.

EAST TORONTO, Nov. 9.—The first annual show of the East Toronto Poultry and Pet Stock Association, held here to-day and Saturday, has been a splendid success and a tribute to the men who inaugurated it.

The East Toronto Poultry Association was organized about Dec. 1, 1907, and on Oct. 1 of this year the membership totaled 198. The entries numbered over five hundred and represented points as far east as Brockville and as far west as Brantford in an evidence of the widespread interest aroused.

The Aberdeen Curling Club kindly volunteered the use of the rink, which was admirably adapted for the purpose. All varieties were well represented, and the prizes, as a rule, were well distributed.

Special Awards. Outside the prizes given by the society a number of handsome cups were donated by townspeople and others. The Russell Cup, given by Joseph Russell, M.P., elect, for best Wyandottes, went to R. W. Vout of Brockville.

The McCowan Cup, donated by A. McCowan, M.L.A., for the fourth highest scoring birds in the show, also went to R. W. Vout.

FIDELITY TO UNIONISM AND POLITICAL ACTION

These Are Features of Labor Movement in Canada, Says Gompers.

DENVER, Nov. 9.—That there is much to be gained for the labor movement from the presidency of the American Federation of Labor during the sessions of the twenty-eighth annual convention which began in this city to-day, it is the gospel outside of the federation itself.

Gompers admits that there is opposition to the union movement in matters of policy affecting localities only.

A strong card in Mr. Gompers' favor is the fact that several of his bitterest opponents of socialist tendencies have failed of election as delegates to represent their own unions at the present meeting.

The cities asking the next convention are Toronto, St. Louis, Detroit, Mobile, Tampa and Washington.

Referring to the labor movement in Canada, Mr. Gompers said: "I am much more satisfied that I can report the great growth in the labor movement among our fellow-workers in the Dominion of Canada. Those among us who are so earnest and loyal in their devotion to the interests of the workers are promoted, both nationally and internationally."

"It is interesting to note that, despite the efforts of those who would widen the reciprocal and beneficial international fraternal relations which exist among the workers of the United States and the entire continent of America, the bonds of unity and fraternity are constantly being firmly cemented. The freemen and firm supporters of the labor movement on both sides of the border, aided by the best organizers, John T. Flett, and the volunteer organizers, work of unification of the labor movement and the workers are bringing beneficial and material results. The exercise of legislative and political rights must, of course, be mutually recognized and conceded."

"To-day the organized workers in Canada breathe the same aspirations, have the same ends, and are struggling for the same end, namely, the elevation and betterment of the masses of toilers, who suffer not only from the lack of the right to organize, but from the oppressive and unjust laws and their prejudicial administration, uncivilized conditions surrounding the work of men, women and children, and more than the thousand and one ills that effect the workers of the world."

"Unbounded enthusiasm is the keynote of the movement in Canada. In every province throughout Canada, from British Columbia in the west, to Nova Scotia in the east, the uplift has begun. The eyes of the toilers are at last open to the fullness of dependence upon their own strength; they are beginning to see the necessity for strong international organizations. The urgency for sending their own representatives to the labor congress in London at this juncture are: first, unswerving fidelity to the cause of international trade unionism; and, secondly, an equal loyalty to the best work of men, women and children, and more than the thousand and one ills that effect the workers of the world."

The popularity of President Gompers has been the chief factor in making the convention to order. The delegates applauded Mr. Gompers for several minutes before he was able to make his speech. In his address he referred to the address of welcome, Mr. Gompers was frequently applauded.

Charged with the theft of two geese and three ducks, Ed. Hobin was arrested Saturday night by P.C. Montgomery.

The ducks are said to have been stolen from A. Florin, Chestnut-street, and the geese from S. Zenner, Elm-street. Hobin had the ducks with him when taken.

Two men long wanted by the police have been identified in a Saturday night Detective Tipton landed James R. Russell, whom he had wanted since March 31 for theft of a coat containing $150 worth of jewelry, and yesterday morning Detectives Wallace and Twigg secured J. B. Natherly on two charges, one of passing a worthless cheque, and the other of receiving stolen goods.

On March 31 last Joseph Rosser went to his office in the Commercial building. He hung up his coat, in the pocket of which were $150 worth of jewelry. Detective Tipton discovered the coat in a West Queen-street second-hand store, where Rosser had sold it. The bonds were not found, nor have they been since heard of.

A few days ago Russell sold a ring at the same store. He had been missed since the episode of the coat. Detective Tipton watched for him for three days, and on Saturday night he landed him. Russell admitted the theft of the coat, but denied all knowledge of any bonds. He had been working as a fireman on the Niagara Navigation Company's steamer "Corvus" at IV. J. Reed, 240 East Queen-street. The cheque was worthless and the man disappeared.

In September a man answering the same description called at 242 East Queen-street and passed on Darlington & Smith a cheque for $5.50. It was made out in the name of Charles O. Sinner, 150 Gladstone-avenue, on the Bank of Commerce. It was a forgery, and J. B. Natherly is charged with both of these offences. He says he has been a burglar in the interval. He was not at his home, 65-1-2 Jarvis-street, by Detectives Wallace and Twigg.

How common these conditions are! They are the outcome of the fast life of our day, proving that waste is immensely greater than the power of our body to rebuild.

In order to cure, first reconstruct the blood—change white cells to red ones, fill the blood with nourishment—do this and the result will be in your case just as it was with J. E. Vanhorne, a prominent citizen of South Alexandria.

"Four years ago my health became very poor. I grew thin and yellow. I wasn't strong, lacked energy and slept poorly. At breakfast I ate very little. My physician said it was a bad case of indigestion. I grew worse, and many said I would die. I tried every thing and almost lost faith in medicine. My mother had been reading about Ferreroze and advised me to try it."

Improved in Four Days. "The change brought about by Ferreroze was marvelous. In four days I felt stronger and had better appetite. I enjoyed my meals and felt more vigorous. My digestion improved steadily and my general health continued better than ever. Ferreroze is a new man of me and I know of no tonic like so good."

Ferreroze Cures Indigestion. "When you take Ferreroze everything you eat tastes good—all your food is converted into nourishment that supplies vigor and strength to blood, nerves, muscles and heart. Can't you see just why Ferreroze cures? Not a case of weak stomach, heart palpitation, indigestion, gas belching, headache or jaundice that Ferreroze won't cure. It agrees with men, women, children—old and young—harmless and pleasant. Sold everywhere, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers. Try Ferreroze—do so to-day."

HOW PEOPLE OF TORONTO ENJOYED THE HOLIDAY

Weather Was Perfect and Many Citizens and Families Spent Thanksgiving Out of Doors.

More delightful weather than that which graced Thanksgiving Day in Toronto could hardly have been hoped for or desired. With skies of azure, and the warm rays of the sun tempering a bracing air, it was veritable king's weather, well befitting the occasion of the sixty-seventh anniversary of his majesty's birthday.

While every good Toronto citizen felt it his duty to carve the family turkey, surrounded by the members of his household, the out-of-doors allurements were pressing, and during the afternoon tens of thousands enjoyed strolling thru the charming autumn scenery round about the city.

The big R.C.B.C. Marathon was an attraction that drew out an attendance estimated at nearly 40,000. At the starting point at the Don Esplanade and Eastern-avenue there were dense throngs, and all along the route spectators were thickly massed.

Others of the athleticly minded journeyed to Rosedale and witnessed the gridiron struggle between the local senior teams, the crowd of 2000 being by far the largest of the season.

In the evening an event which was peculiarly appropriate to an occasion of national giving of thanks for the blessings of the field was the display of flowers and vegetables by the Ontario Horticultural Society at St. Lawrence Market. The newly-appointed Health-Board member making his first official appearance there.

In the Anglican churches the usual special morning services were held, while concerts were held in several churches of other denominations.

The theatres held immense holiday crowds last evening, the attendance being even larger than usual, according to the managers. In one or two theatres not even standing room could be had by late arrivals at the matinee.

Railway officials say the travel in and out of Toronto was much heavier than last year. The Union Station was a very busy spot last night. A special C.P.R. train of ten cars left for Rochester at 9 p.m., and another equally large for Owen Sound left at 11.25 p.m.

The volunteer regiments missed the usual sham-battle, but as the tactics have not been held near the city for seven years the public had less reason to feel disappointed. However, the Q.O.R. did a little manoeuvring on their own account, and the participants enjoyed a pleasant outing.
