

OFFERS TO MAKE GARBAGE ODORLESS

Company Seeking Contract to Dispose of New York's Refuse Will Make a Test—Use Cheese in Experiment.

New York, April 6—Gathered about a big can half filled with limburger cheese, Mayor Hylan's committee on garbage disposal is going to witness, in a few days, the demonstration of a scientific method of killing odors and bacteria that, it is asserted, will solve New York city's problem of getting rid of its refuse.

At a meeting in Fire Chief Kenion's office in the Municipal Building, the committee agreed to attend the demonstration, the time and place to be selected by Street Cleaning Commissioners Taylor. The only stipulation imposed was that it take place in the open air.

The test is to be made by the Odorless By-Products and Reduction Company, 220 Fifth Avenue, which recently purchased Barren Island and the old disposal plant there in an effort to persuade the city to contract with it for the disposal of garbage.

The whole trouble with the efforts to solve the problem of garbage disposal in this city, said Professor Toch, "is that engineers have been employed where it is purely a matter of chemistry. I propose to take a gallon can half full of limburger cheese and deodorize and sterilize the cheese in fifteen minutes. I have no hesitation in offering a public test of the process because patents have been applied for."

Professor Toch told the committee that his company would guarantee to dispose of the garbage without offending a single section of the city.

"We propose to have our barges, differently constructed from those at present, which were used by our grandfathers," he added. "Each barge will have a dome-shaped, hinged top. The garbage will be put inside on top of a mixture of chemicals, cresol, formaldehyde, chlorine, &c., which oxidize slowly and kill putrefying odors. "The barges will be towed to Barren Island, where their cargoes will be placed in auto-claves, great steel containers, cooked under steam pressure at 265 degrees Fahrenheit to remove the grease. The residue will be mixed with coal and burned. The grease will be run over two flames and the result so far as odor is concerned will be the same as lighting a gas jet in the house. There will be no unpleasant fumes."

Professor Toch said that at each dock where the barges are brought up, there would be an expert to handle the chemicals. This man, could wear a gas mask. If the reaction of the chemicals bothered him.

"How will your company make money?" asked Health Commissioner Copeland. "We'll be paid by the city," said Professor Toch, "and if we don't make a living we will go the way of our predecessors."

"That's just what we're afraid will happen," said Dr. Copeland. Professor Toch said that the grease could be sold profitably but the residue would be worthless and would have to be burned.

There was an amicable argument between the committee and Mr. Thibault of the experiments the city is making on Blackwell's Island with refuse disposal. Major Roberts said that there had been no odors from a vacuum process and that it might be worth while to use it for all the city's garbage.

"We may find," said Chief Kenion, "that it will be feasible to establish disposal plants in every section of the city and burn the garbage where it is collected. The rubbish can be used as fuel."

Both Professor Toch and Mr. Shulhof contended that this would prove too expensive on a large scale.

SUN'S RAYS THROWN BY MIRROR START FIRE IN SHOP WINDOW Despite biting winds, the sun was hot enough in New York the other day to be reflected from a hand mirror on display in the shop window of Lydia Weing's men's accessories, at 595 East 141st street, and caught by a magnifying glass suspended by a string, to concentrate upon two silk umbrellas, setting them alight. The umbrellas were destroyed, but Patrolman John Fournier put out the flames without calling out the fire apparatus. He reported this fire as due to natural causes.

To Oppose Mayor and His Policy

The United Organizations held a meeting last evening for further consideration of the hydro situation, and at its conclusion it was announced that the United Organizations had gone on record as being opposed to the platform adopted by Mayor Schofield and his proposal for a contract with the New Brunswick Power Company, as the organization still was firmly convinced that the only way to deal with the matter was through municipal ownership of the distribution facilities. It was announced also that it had been decided to oppose the mayor's re-election, for the reasons given.

SASKATCHEWAN CABINET NAMED

Regina, Sask., April 5—Hon. Charles Avery Dunning of Moose Jaw, (Sask.), was today called upon by Lieutenant Governor H. W. Newlands to form a new government to succeed that of Hon. W. Martin, who recently resigned the premiership. After the cabinet had been sworn in Premier Dunning announced the portfolio as follows:

Hon. C. A. Dunning, premier, president of the council, provincial treasurer and minister of railways. Hon. A. P. McNab, minister of public works and minister of telephones. Hon. S. J. Latta, Last Mountain, minister of education and minister in charge of the bureau of publication and the King's Printers' office. Hon. C. M. Hamilton, Weyburn, minister of agriculture and minister of municipal affairs. Hon. J. A. Cross, Regina, attorney general and minister in charge of the bureau of child protection. Hon. J. Gardiner, North Qu'Appelle, minister of highways and minister in charge of the bureau of labor and industries. Hon. J. M. Ulrich, provisional secretary and minister in charge of the bureau of child protection.

WOULD ABOLISH THE N. S. UPPER HOUSE (Canadian Press Despatch) Halifax, April 5—That all parties in the house of assembly were practically unanimous in their desire for the abolition of the legislative council was the opinion expressed today by Hon. THE SCOUT LEADERS. An interesting programme was given last night in the weekly meeting of the leaders' training course organized by the St. John district council of the Boy Scouts Association. G. L. Short gave the address on the importance of the weekly programme and presented his subject in an effective manner. The address was followed by a discussion that was entered into by many and was of practical value. A first aid lecture and demonstration were given by James McGillivray and J. LeChaire, members of the first aid team of W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., and several new games were learned afterwards. The meeting was held in Trinity school room and was largely attended; the interest in the programme was marked.

University as An Inspirer of Patriotism The role of the university as an inspirer of patriotism, was the subject of an address by Theodore Goodrich Roberts, of Fredericton at a meeting of the St. John N. B. Club in the Y. W. C. A. recreation centre last evening. Mr. Roberts said that patriotism, or love of country, was needed now even more than before the way to weld the nation and to build up the country. Participation in sport and association with other men at college had a big influence, he said, in developing in students a spirit of unselfishness and co-operation which would later show itself in their efforts to forward the interests of the nation as a whole, instead of devoting themselves exclusively to the accumulation of wealth and self-aggrandizement.

At the conclusion of Mr. Roberts' address, the company, which numbered about forty men and women, enjoyed musical entertainment and a social hour. Under the leadership of Dr. E. Stanley Bridgus, the men in the party sang several of the college songs, with Miss Alma Gale acting as accompanist. Mrs. A. N. Carter sang several solos, with Miss P. Biederman as accompanist. Towards the close of the evening the speakers were sever, when Mrs. E. C. Weyman and Mrs. E. J. Ryan presided at the tea table.

In introducing Mr. Roberts at the lecture of the evening, E. C. Weyman, president of the club, recalled the close connection of the Roberts family with the University of New Brunswick. George Roberts, the lecturer's grandfather; Dr. E. Roberts, his uncle; George G. Roberts, his father, and Charles G. Roberts, his brother, all held degrees from the university. The lecturer himself and his brother, William, were both former students of the institution.

Measures Provide $130,000 for New York State Welfare Work Without Federal Aid.

Albany, April 6.—Governor Miller has signed the Davenport bill appropriating $130,000 to safeguard motherhood and protect the life of infants.

Under the law a new division of maternity, infancy and child hygiene is created in the state health department. The original Davenport bill carried an appropriation of $100,000, but the amount was increased $30,000. For several years the health department has received $30,000 for work of a similar nature, making a total of $160,000 during the present year.

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader, will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N. S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants. Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at that time and she went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows:—“I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my household work. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care.”

I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble.”

WOMEN'S HOTEL TO COST $3,000,000

Company Announces Project for Building in New York.

Plans for a $3,000,000 home for women students and business women to be built at 122nd street and Broadway, New York, by the Open Stair Dwelling Company, and possibly to be supervised in operation by committees from the Protestant Episcopal Church, have been sent out from the offices of the company at 874 Broadway.

The announcement told of the purchasing of a plot on the east side of Broadway, between 122nd and 126th streets. The plot will have a 200-foot frontage on Broadway, 375 on 123rd street and 400 on 122nd. The former owners of the property for several years were Robert S. Clark and F. A. H. Jackson.

Bishop Manning of the Episcopal diocese of New York said that he had had some conference with persons interested in the plans for the new structure, which may be called Cathedral Hotel, and said that he hoped the proposals would mature. He said that he had not yet gone beyond the stage of discussion of plans for the enterprise.

It is intended to run the hotel somewhat along the lines of Greer House at 125 East Twenty-eighth street, where accommodations for women are provided at moderate rates. Other clubs and homes are being studied, so that the best ideas of all may be combined in the new structure.

The president of the Open Stair Company is Henry Atterbury Smith, the architect who planned the Vanderbilts model tenements and the Open Stair Tenements in East Seventy-eighth street, and other model dwellings in the city. These new buildings will be erected along the same general lines. There will be a roof garden, a restaurant and several clubrooms. Express elevators will carry the tenants to the sixth floor whence passengers may walk down to the floor on which their room or apartment is located.

In addition to single rooms, there will be apartments for families, running up to eight rooms in size. It is expected that the building cost will be about $2,000 a room, and that a woman stu-

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND BODIES

Ms. Howard Houlette, Washkatenas, Sask., writes:—“I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters.”

“My children started to break out on their faces in about white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scales and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger. Some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece, and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The drug-distributor sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters which I commenced giving them at once.”

“In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared.”

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as

DISEASE CURED BY AUTO-SUGGESTION?

Mental Therapeutics Must be Distinguished from Divine Healing.

There are people on this continent today who are healing by the power of auto-suggestion, and who are making use of the publicity thus obtained for the furtherance of some bad or cult or... "The power of the mind over the body," said Dr. J. C. Elliott, health specialist, at St. James Methodist church last night, where he spoke on "The power of the mind over the body."

Having examined and paid due tribute to divine healing and its presence in the world as an act of God's mercy, Dr. Elliott spoke of what a tremendous influence over the functioning of the body, a bad suggestion, will cause perfectly wholesome food to become poisonous and indigestible, and the mind is responsible for much of the functional diseases of the body, such as indigestion and melancholia. The mind has power to stop the flow of every digestive juice of the whole body.

Just as the mind is responsible for disease, so anything that would lift the mind out of self, would be of benefit to the sufferer, and stop the contemplation of self. There are thousands of bed-ridden persons all over the continent and many of these are genuine sufferers from disease, but a great proportion of them are people in whom the disease had long been gone from the body, but had been perpetuated in the mind. When a mental suggestion, stronger than the suggestion of the disease, is given these people, then a cure by the power of auto-suggestion is effected.

Marriage of Princess Louise Broke Precedent of Five Centuries—Romances of Long Ago.

(Montreal Gazette.) When, more than fifty years ago, the Duke of Argyll married the Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, he was reverting to a precedent last followed more than five centuries before, for the last occasion on which a subject had married the daughter of the reigning sovereign in England had been in 1389, when King Edward III gave his youngest daughter, Margaret, to John Hastings, Earl of Pembroke, says the London Times.

To find the last precedent for marrying a king's daughter in England it was only necessary to go back to 1315, when the young widow of King Louis XII of France insisted on marrying the English ambassador in Paris, Charles Brandon Duke of Suffolk, although she had been married by proxy to the King of the Romans and he still had one wife living, although the death of a second had left him partly a widower. It was, however, a genuine marriage of affection, and King Henry VIII had agreed that his sister should have her own way as a widow when she sacrificed herself to serve Wolsey's policy by becoming queen at the age of eighteen of the elderly King of France.

The first time on record after the Conquest that the marriage of a king's daughter to a subject in this country took place was when King Henry III's sister was the bride. The Lady Eleanor had been promised to the all-powerful William Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, in hopes of securing his support for the young king, whose throne had been menaced by a French pretender and factious barons, and when the wedding took place she was only ten years old. Widowed at sixteen, the Countess of Pembroke, who was on the point of becoming a nun, was suddenly married by the king in 1235 to a young and handsome French favorite, Simon de Montfort, who was soon invested with the Earldom of Leicester. He afterwards became a most important figure in the constitutional development of parliament, and finally was killed when in arms against his brother-in-law at the Battle of Evesham.

The Gloucester Marriage. The first occasion on which the reigning king gave his own daughter to a subject was in 1290, when King Edward I married the Lady Joan, who had been born at Acre, in Palestine, while her parents were on Crusade, to Gilbert of Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hereford. The princess was nineteen, and had been betrothed to the King of the Romans, son of the Emperor Rudolf of Hapsburg. The Austrian had, however, died, and King Edward, by means of this new marriage, hoped to secure the loyalty and support of the formidable Gloucester, who had been in arms against him and had but recently divorced the king's niece, Alais de Lusignan, and at times refused to pay taxes. The wedding, although successful, did not entirely tame the great nobleman, and we learn that in the following year the king found it necessary to fine his son-in-law very heavily (about £150,000 of our money) for having conducted a private war with his neighbor, the Earl of Hereford, devastating Breconshire in the process.

When the Countess of Gloucester became a widow at the age of twenty-three she secretly married Ralph de Monthermer, a handsome squire who had been in her husband's service. The king was furious as soon as he knew of this and imprisoned his new son-in-law, but, after a little, yielded to his daughter's persuasion and not only released the young man but summoned him to parliament in his wife's carriages, made him a peer, a councillor, and invested him with a variety of lucrative appointments.

So useful had the Gloucester marriage been to the king's policy of getting control of the great fiefs that in 1302 he gave his daughter, the Lady Elizabeth of Rhuddlan, the twenty-year-old widow of the Count of Holland, whom she had married when fifteen, to Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford and Essex and Lord High Constable of England. As in the case of Gloucester, all his honors and estates were surrendered, to be re-granted to him and his wife jointly and their children. The earl was somewhat unfortunate in war, being taken prisoner by King Robert Bruce's men, held captive by the English, and was killed in battle at Boroughbridge in 1322 when in arms against his brother-in-law, King Edward II, and that prince's favorites. King Edward II did not regard long enough to see either of his daughters married, although the second, the Lady Joan of the Tower, found a husband at the age of seven.

The wedding of the Lady Margaret, fifth daughter of King Edward III, to John Hastings, Earl of Pembroke, in 1389 failed to turn the bad luck of that unfortunate but gallant warrior. He lost his 18-year-old Countess before she was 15, was defeated by the French, taken prisoner by the Spaniards after a long sea fight, and is believed to have died of poison a few days after the payment of the first substantial installment of a heavy ransom.

CHARGE MONOPOLY IN RADIO OUTFITS

Washington, April 4.—An investigation by Attorney General Daugherty into a monopoly alleged to control the price of radio apparatus was demanded in a resolution introduced in the House by Representative Fred A. Britten of Illinois. The resolution calls for a report on the operations and accounts of the Radio Corporation of America, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the General Electric Company and the United Fruit Company. "Thousands of users of wireless instruments are today inconvenienced by the apparent inability of the Radio Corporation of America to accommodate the great demand for radio tubes even at extortionate prices," the resolution sets forth. "At the same time, the Navy and war Departments have now on hand, more than 300,000 receiving tubes and large quantities of transmitting tubes, head sets, receiving sets, etc., as war surpluses, which the government is anxious and willing to sell at a cost below 50 per cent of the wholesale selling price of the Radio Corporation of America, but under agreement with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company or other agencies which are promoting this monopoly, the said government is precluded from selling or even giving them away."

Dainty Screen Star Plays in "Puppets of Fate," by Donn Byrne. "Puppets of Fate"—what a intriguing photoplay! And Viola Dana—what a perfect actress for the role of poor little Sorrentina Palombra, the abandoned Italian wife, just the right one to portray the felicitous, dramatic scenes of this story, from the pen of the well-known novelist and short story writer, Donn Byrne. This opinion will be echoed by all who see "Puppets of Fate," a Metro special, which had its first showing yesterday at the Queen square theatre. Viola Dana stars as Sorrentina Palombra. Her husband, Gabriel, leaves Venice, and comes to New York to make a fortune with his marionette show. Instead he becomes rich as a gambler, forgets his wife, and is forced to marry a little adventuress. Sorrentina, heart-

CLASS HONORS SECRETARY.

The Sunshine class of the Charlotte street Baptist Sunday school held a very enjoyable shower on Tuesday night at the home of Miss Vida Bentley, Tower street, in honor of their secretary, Miss Vera Webb, who is to be married in the near future. The gifts were presented to Miss Webb in an aeroplane trimmed with the class colors, yellow and white. The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers. Many and useful were the gifts received. Music and games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

broken, follows him, and after struggling with poverty herself wins fame and riches through her marionettes. Then her husband's luck slowly turns. The denouement transpires in a courtroom with a judge the arbiter of the happiness of both. The supporting cast includes Francis McDonald, Jackie Saunders, Fred Kelly, Thomas Ricketts and Edward Kennedy. Dallas M. Fitzgerald directed the production. John Arnold and Sidney Ullman are respectively responsible for the enchanting photography and art work. This picture is from an original screen story by the well-known fictionist, Donn Byrne. Ruth Ann Baldwin and Molly Parro did the adaptation. The picture will be shown for the last three times today.

RAISED $5,000 FOR RUSSIAN RELIEF

What John and Eunice Buchanan, of Waterville, N. S., Accomplished.

(Halifax Echo.) "There are two honest men in King's county, and whichever side of politics they happened to be on, if they would stand as candidates, I would vote for either of them with all my heart."

for the recent Dominion election. One "honest man" was John Buchanan, the "Honest John" of King's county. The other name may be supplied by the honest men of King's county whose number, I know, is legion, but this particular name it is not my purpose to reveal just now.

he sent $300 and wrote the British Friends Society (Quakers) offering to go to Russia himself to help in distribution of needed food.

The government was investigating, but months after month passed, carrying thousands of men, women and children over the brink of death, their cries unheard by Canadian ears.

"Who is Eunice Buchanan?" was a question asked me by a Halifax gentleman the other evening. Eunice Buchanan is the wife of John Buchanan, and a wonderful helpmeet in this as in other matters.

When Mrs. Buchanan became secretary of the Waterville committee she at once showed the same wonderful efficiency. She selected towns and villages on the map, then commenced a bombardment with written appeals and literature.

Mr. Buchanan believes that Nova Scotia ought to send $100,000 to Russia. This month he and his wife borrowed $1,000 at 7 per cent. interest, and gave it to the Russian famine fund.

What Proper Shampooing Will Do for Your Hair

How You Can Make Your Hair Beautiful—Keep It Soft and Silky, Bright, Fresh-Looking, and Luxuriant.

THE beauty of your hair depends upon the care you give it. Shampooing it properly is always the most important thing. It is the shampooing which brings out the real life and lustre, natural wave and color, and makes your hair soft, fresh and luxuriant.

Use plenty of lather. Rub it in thoroughly and briskly with the finger tips.

When thoroughly clean wet hair fairly soaks when you pull it through your fingers.

Then use another application of Mulsified, again working up a lather and rubbing it in briskly as before.

Rinse the Hair Thoroughly This is very important. After the final washing, the hair and scalp should be rinsed in at least two changes of good warm water and followed with a rinsing in cold water.

After a Mulsified shampoo you will find the hair will dry quickly and evenly and have the appearance of being thicker and heavier than it is.

If you want to always be remembered for your beautiful, well-kept hair, make it a rule to set a certain day each week for a Mulsified coconut oil shampoo.

THE UNITED STATES LOOKS TO MEXICO

The Country With Which the Canadian Government Plans Steamship Service.

(A. G. Cameron, in Forbes Magazine) Attention to the economic potentialities of Mexico is called in an interesting article by A. Guyot Cameron in the current issue of Forbes Magazine.

"In 1907," the writer points out, "American capital invested in Mexico was estimated at $750,000,000 of which two-thirds was in railroads. In 1918 our Government calculated our investments at $1,067,770,000. To this must be added the enormous developments of the Mexican oil-fields, very largely exploited by the initiative and the capital of the United States."

"A catalogue of Mexican soil products, from metals and marbles to edible and commercial growths, is a story of the lavishness of Nature."

"Mexico grows values of $900,000,000 per annum, yet exports only 5 per cent. of this and imports only that 5 per cent. It produces almost every substance needed by mankind. Mexico, a country denuded of its forestation by frightful waste for centuries, needs coal. But it has a low-grade coal equal to that of Texas, and even in 1918, there were officially stated to be 300,000,000 tons in sight. It needs irrigation. The Beaulieu Dam in Chihuahua, the second largest in the world, with a capacity of 3,000,000,000 cubic metres of water, is an index of the coming harnessing of the multitude of waterfalls and water sources of the country. Mexico needs transportation facilities. They are upon many lines. These mean fabulous returns."

"Liberal mining and other laws, free ports and other incentives, are aiding economic relations. The hereditary and difficult land question is being adjusted. No trade fields as attractive, easy, and logical for the United States as Mexico. In 1921, the United States supplied approximately 85 per cent. of the Mexican imports and took 95 per cent. of the exports of Mexico. That trade can be expanded in a few years by 500 per cent. And the purchasing power of Mexico, increasing rapidly, will become, as capital flows into it, of enormous proportions."

"The country's spirit towards the United States is the friendliest. Not to meet it would be a fatal political and commercial mistake. One can but echo the recent statement of President Obregon: Mexico, since the end of the revolution (May, 1920) has stood the triple test of politics, finance and arms. And it has come out of these tests with its head high and harmony and peace established throughout the country."

GAME WAS NOT PLAYED. The football team of the Central Athletic Association was disappointed last night when the C. G. M. boys failed to put in an appearance and the game arranged between the two teams did not take place. The Central team is hoping to have a game with the C. G. M. team in the near future, however.

MONSTERS TRAPPED IN ASPHALT POOL

Dr. Merriam Tells of Finds Made Near Los Angeles—Question of Brains.

Dr. J. C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institute for Research and vice-president of the University of California, lectured before the Royal Canadian Institute, Toronto, on Saturday evening, when the Convocation hall of the university was crowded to hear him. His subject was: "Some ancient forms of life on the American continent."

What do you most desire in Tea? — FLAVOUR! "Salada" Tea is rich in the essential oils of Flavour and will always give genuine satisfaction.

for pavement and other uses. It had been found to contain much foreign matter and was heated in great caldrons, the heat fluxing the asphalt which was run off. The drops, mostly bones and pieces of wood, were thrown aside. In 1876, a pamphlet was written on these bones, but as its author was a non-scientific man it never attracted the attention of the intelligentsia, and it was not until 1906 that the bones came to his personal attention through the hands of one of his students. The sample included relics of a saber-tooth tiger and one or two exas his belief that the period of life represented by the most ancient bones existed about 300,000 years ago. Only one human remains had been uncovered, a skull and a thigh-bone. With them were found bones of extinct animals and others of animals existing today. The skull was nine feet under the surface and resembled in character very much the type of Indian inhabiting the islands along the coast of California today. Whether it was an evidence of man existing contemporaneously with prehistoric fauna he could not say.

Pools a Hunting Ground. From the large number of bones of maimed carnivorous animals found, he hazarded the opinion that the pools were the hunting grounds of the incapable who hunted the place waiting for nature to trap their prey and then, through incaution or other accident fell victims to the all-engulfing pools. Included those of the mammoth mastodon, horse, camel, wolves, coyotes, ground sloths, saber-toothed tigers, lions, pumas, bears, foxes, badgers, skunks, rhinoceros, lynx, deer, tapir, and a variety of others. Excavations have been made at some twenty points and over 3,000,000 bones had been recovered, the commonest being that of the wolf. The predominance of this carnivore, many of them maimed in the feet and legs, bore out his theory as to the death trap. There were fewer coyotes and the coyote skulls showed greater brain capacity, which might explain his lighter casualty list. The saber-toothed tiger was found in great numbers. Before the excavations started, there were only half-a-dozen samples in the world of this animal. The lions were larger than they are today. The camel type was somewhat similar to the llama now existing in South America. One giant bird, larger than the condor, the greatest of the carnivorous birds, said the lecturer, a kind of combination eagle and turkey-buzzard, was uncovered. They had found fragments of this creature which created great interest as it was previously unknown, and a reconstruction was attempted. When at last an intact specimen was uncovered, the model of the scientists was found to be out only one-twenty-fifth of an inch. The lecture was profusely illustrated with stereopticon views of the scene of operation, the bones in place in the asphalt and the mounted specimens of actual skeletons entire. At the conclusion of the pictures, Dr. Merriam said that he could not accept the theory of some that many of these strange animals merely indicated that the Creator was experimenting with forms of life. It meant that the conditions of life then were different than today and that the peculiar forms of that period were necessary for livelihood. There was no cataclysm to wipe them out, just gradual change.

His researches had shown him that it was the animal with the greater brain power that survived, and that there was always the tendency for higher types. It meant to him that in the life of which we are a part, we must either progress or be wiped out. Man of today may be a product of evolution or whatever you cared to call it, but he comes from a great race going back millions of years through which time he has always shown progress and development. Man has taken out of the water, earth and air things from which he has built a complicated civilization. We should back up this social inheritance and not subscribe to the theory that every civilization kills itself. Adam and Eve, he said, suffered because they ate of the fruit of tree of knowledge, and we, in our wisdom, he said might suffer a similar fate, but for himself he did not believe it. His studies of ancient forms of life revealed always an upward tendency, and this he felt was the destiny of man, to keep on developing.

BEYOND THE PACIFIC. (New York Evening Post) Ratification of the last of the Washington conference treaties virtually without opposition signalizes for this country the beginning of a new epoch and a new state of mind. We have emerged out of the doldrums of timidity and partisanship. We have escaped out of that "ugly epoch" of which Woodrow Wilson spoke the other day. We have entered upon an adult diplomacy. The settlements in the Far East are a notable achievement in themselves, but their significance is not confined to the Pacific and Asia. Christopher Columbus sailed west in order to get to the Far East. It is our belief that Mr. Hughes and the Administration turned their backs ultimately reach the continent across the Atlantic. Beyond the Pacific lies Europe. Credit for the record of the last five months at Washington cannot be assigned to one man or one party. Credit, in the first place, should go to the inevitable logic of events. Credit is due to Woodrow Wilson, in spite of his mistakes, for sounding the call to international understanding through conference. Credit is due to Mr. Harding for acquiescing in the great principle. Credit is due to Mr. Borah for his activity in reminding Mr. Harding. Credit is due to those Democratic Senators who saw that party advantage this time coincided with national duty. Credit is due in the largest measure to the American people, for the zeal with which it backed up a great cause and its courage and readiness in paying the price.

ST. JOHN BILL INTRODUCED
LAST EVENING

Fredericton, April 5.—Contrary to expectation the unanimous consent of the house was given today to suspend rule No. 75 to permit of the introduction of a bill regarding the city of St. John and the N. B. Power Company. The bill was introduced at the evening session, will be given its second reading tomorrow and will come up in committee on next Tuesday.

Mayor Schofield, Commissioner Thomson, W. H. Harrison, acting city solicitor, and R. A. Ross, were interested spectators in the gallery.

Several notices of inquiry regarding liquor matters were given in the house for Tuesday next.

Two important resolutions were passed by the legislature, one in regard to the use of New Brunswick coal on the C. N. R., and one in regard to a conference on labor matters between representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments. In making his motion, Mr. King explained how the coal business had fallen off in recent years and cited reasons why the railroad should use Minto coal. Mr. Martin made a lucid explanation of the coal business and the number of men employed in the industry.

Mr. Estabrook gave notice that he would move on Tuesday next that one or more trade agents be appointed by the department of agriculture to represent this province in the West Indies.

The house then went into supply, with Mr. Hayes in the chair, and passed the balance of items in the estimates with the exception of $8,000 for immigration which was stood over last evening. This item has not been passed.

Mr. Richards brought up the matter of an indemnity for the last session for the two members from Restigouche, who had been elected but not permitted to take their seats. The premier said that he would be glad to consider the matter and might include funds for this in the supplementary estimates.

The committee on supply arose at 4.50 p.m. and reported the passing of several resolutions.

The house then sat as the committee of the whole with Mr. Hayes in the chair. The schools act was further considered, and a considerable discussion took place in regard to the minimum salary clause. An amendment to strike out this clause was lost.

The committee of the whole resumed this evening at 8.10 o'clock. It arose at 9.15 and reported agreement on several bills. It sat again with Mr. McManus in the chair and arose at 9.55 and reported agreement on several bills including the bill to amend the St. John city assessment act of 1918.

Premier Foster introduced a bill regarding the New Brunswick Power Company and the city of St. John.

The house then adjourned at 10 p.m. until tomorrow afternoon. Before adjournment, Premier Foster said that as there were several bills to come before committee tomorrow morning it might be arranged for them to sit for a while in the afternoon, the house opening after the usual hour.

Notices of enquiry were given for Tuesday next as follows:

By Mr. Smith (Carleton), as to the amount in dispute between the Canadian Drug Company and the liquor commission and whether a settlement has been made; also as to the report and recommendations of E. S. Carter on his recent trip to British Columbia.

By Mr. Guptill for Mr. Dickson, as to whether the liquor commission had purchased liquor from Charles A. Owens, of St. John, and at what price.

By Mr. Smith (Albert), as to the number of retail vendors under the intoxicating liquor act and the number convicted for violating, and whether the government will cancel the licenses of those convicted of second offences.

Hon. Mr. Foster laid on the table the annual report of the Boys' Industrial Home.

Urges Use of N. B. Coal.

Mr. King, speaking to the resolution, said:

In the year 1918, which was the banner year in the Minto coal field, about 270,000 tons of coal was raised, paying a royalty in the province of some $40,000. Since that time, however, the coal raised approximately amounted around 190,000 tons, and as you will note by the public accounts, the royalty in those three years was between $29,000 and $30,000. The reduction in the output in 1919 was really due to a strike in the Minto mine lasting nearly a year, but the falling off for the subsequent year was due to lack of a market. Owing to the depressed industrial conditions the railways and the pulp mills, the largest users of coal, did not use anything like their normal requirements and the result is today that the Minto mines are only operating three days a week.

Now the only possible outlet for Minto coal at the present time is to secure a portion of the Canadian National Railway contracts. These are usually let around April 1, but I believe up to date no tenders have been called for use of coal on the C. N. R. From the years 1902 down to 1914 at the beginning of the war considerable coal was supplied the Intercolonial Railway and used between St. John and Moncton. In fact for several years we were not even asked to sign a contract but were allowed to ship our surplus to the Intercolonial at the same price as paid the Nova Scotia mine, and we were told at that time

Minto coal was equal, if not better, than many of the coals from the Nova Scotia mines. The Minto coal was used for the construction of the Transcontinental through New Brunswick and also for the construction of the Valley Railway, International, the Fredericton and Grand Lake Railway and the C. P. R. For nearly ten years the C. P. R. has been using from 50,000 to 100,000 tons of Minto coal annually on their branch and main lines, and acknowledges it to be one of their best coals. In regard to the quality of coal I might further say that as compared with several Nova Scotia coals the Minto brand is second to none. Particularly this is true when compared with the Joggins coal, which the Canadian National Railways have been using extensively for a number of years. The calorific power in B. T. U.'s in the comparative analysis which I hold in my hand shows that the Joggins coal contains 11,800 against 12,350 for Minto coal; in fact as regards B. T. U.'s Minto coal excels both Inverness and Joggins coal, and is one per cent less ash than the latter.

The present mileage of Canadian National operated railways in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia is 2,263, of which 184 miles are located in this province. Now I would like to show the geographical situation of the Minto mines as compared from a business and economical standpoint with coal shipped from the Nova Scotia mines, and also point out what a saving can be made by the government railways by using Minto coal in the northern and western part of this province. The Minto coal fields are situated on the Fredericton and Grand Lake railway, thirteen miles from Chipman and thirty-five from Devon, points on the Canadian National system. The principal points in Nova Scotia from which coal is shipped are Sydney, Point Tupper, Stellarton and Maccan. The train haul from Chipman to Sydney is 408 miles, and from Maccan to Chipman 118 miles, and by using Minto coal this haul would be saved. If it cost one-half cent per ton per mile to haul coal from Nova Scotia points as far west as Chipman, there would be a saving in train haul of fifty-seven cents per ton on Joggins coal, or $2.08 per ton on Minto coal. The operators at Minto are prepared to supply coal at Chipman on the C. N. R. railway at the same price as the Nova Scotia mines are being paid for delivery at railway supply points in that province. The principal supply points that should be served by Minto coal in New Brunswick are Chipman, Nappadogan, Longley, St. Leonards, Edmundston, Escourt, Monk and South Devon, all these being situated in the western part of the province. The Minto operators did not suggest the supplying of coal to eastern points which, under normal conditions, would require about 150,000 tons per year. Taking into consideration that the C. N. R. gave contracts to Nova Scotia mines last year for more than 600,000 tons, would it not be reasonable and fair that a portion of this business, or the supplying of the stations I have already mentioned, should be given to New Brunswick operators? Were they successful in securing a contract for 100,000 tons a year, it would mean $15,000 in royalties to the province.

It is my opinion, and I believe hon. members will agree with me, that the house should go further with this proposition and insist that the C. N. R. build a spur line from the Canadian National Railways to the Minto coal fields. This would only require 4.5 miles of additional railway, and would enable the Minto coal to get into the correct markets, and I have no hesitation in saying that if this were done, another 100,000 tons of New Brunswick coal would be disposed of. I feel confident that having for its object the securing of further business for the Minto coal fields, this resolution will have the support of every member of this house.

The resolution was unanimously adopted without division.

Wants Trade Agents.

Mr. Estabrook gave notice that on Tuesday next he would move, seconded by Mr. Smith (Albert) the following resolutions:

"Resolved, that whereas the market for agricultural, fishery, and other products is available in the West India islands; and

Whereas, there are now being operated two lines of steamers from maritime ports to these islands; and

Whereas, in the interests of the people generally it is essential that our markets be enlarged; therefore be it

Resolved, that this house express its approval of the appointment by the government of New Brunswick of one or more trade agents under the department of agriculture to represent this province in the above named territory."

Mr. Stewart gave notice that he would move for the suspension of the rule to permit of the introduction of a bill relating to the Bay Chaleur soldiers' memorial hospital.

Provincial Hospital.

Hon. Mr. Foster, on the item of $183,000 for the Provincial Hospital, explained that the money had previously been voted to the department of public works, but it was now expended under the direction of the Hospital commission. Why the money had not been voted to the department of public works he did not know, but it had been deemed advisable to make a change. Last year the amount expended was $160,000 while the total for 1922 would be $183,000. The estimates had been carefully made up by the superintendent, Dr. Anglin, a most capable official, and he felt sure that strict economy had been experienced wherever it was possible to do so. He hoped that hon. members when in St. John would visit the institution, and if they did he was satisfied they would be impressed with the manner in which it was conducted. The annex was now heated by kerosene lamps, which were considered dangerous and it was proposed to instal a lighting system in the near future. The water supply at the annex was obtained from the wells, and it was proposed to connect with the city water system. It had been estimated that the changes would cost about $15,000. Since 1917 the government had expended $180,000 on the institution and had paid all the bills out of the ordinary revenue. A new power house had been completed and there had been other expensive repairs. The superintendent had reported that increased accommodation had become a necessity, and he (Foster) had gone so far as to instruct him to engage an architect to give an estimate on the cost. Probably at the end of another year provision would have to be made for the building of a new wing. The heating plant was using New Brunswick coal and was giving every satisfaction. The suggestion had been made that the Reversing Falls bridge be lighted from the hospital power plant, and it was hoped to be able to do it during the present year.

River Glade Sanitarium.

Hon. Mr. Robinson speaking to the item for River Glade Sanitarium said that the estimate was based on a total of thirty patients which was more than last year. The income was $10,000 and the institution was under lease to the D. S. C. R. Civilian patients were cared for in three civilian wards. The heating and upkeep was looked after by the D. S. C. R. The cost to the province last year had been $15,000, which was less than it had been and would be should the institution be returned to the province. The cost per patient per day was four dollars. More soldier patients than civilians were under treatment. Some were free patients. Compared with Kentville or similar institutions elsewhere the cost was no greater. New Brunswick coal was burned to the amount of fifteen or sixteen hundred tons. A reduction of four or five hundred tons per year was expected to be made as the result of contemplated changes. The lease would run out next year without right of renewal. Travelling expenses to Ottawa had been incurred by two directors going there to interview the D. S. C. R. with regard to desired improvements. The interview had been productive of results. The idea was that the D. S. C. R. should concentrate at St. John and Kentville and abandon River Glade. The sanitarium was doing great good. Many patients after treatment had become valuable citizens. When the institution should be returned to the province there would be a serious problem to solve. Possibly the minister of health or others interested closely in the work would be able to solve the matter.

The Schools Act.

The committee took up consideration of the bill to amend the act respecting schools.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that the section relating to minimum salaries for teachers had been allowed to stand. The original act had been brought down in the report of a committee representing both sides of the house. Some opposition to the regulations for minimum salaries had shown itself, and an expression of opinion was desired.

In a long discussion which followed, the opinion was very generally expressed on both sides of the house that the minimum salaries should be given at least another year's trial. Mr. Melanson moved to strike out the sub-section making the minimum salary $800 in school districts with a value of $20,000 and under.

Mr. Boudage seconded the motion.

The Simmons Label vs. "Taking chances" with Mattresses

IS there a careful housewife anywhere who has not felt that selecting a mattress is a good bit like buying a pig in a poke?

They buy on faith. Faith in their dealer. Faith in the manufacturer. Faith that the mattress materials are new and clean and sanitary.

Many times they get what they pay for. Often they do not. There are no Dominion-wide Pure Bedding Laws.

But Simmons Limited has. And they insure the use of clean, new cotton only. No "renovated" materials. No scraps. No sweat-shop labor.

So the Simmons Label always marks mattresses that you can put faith in. Mattresses of pure, clean, new materials. Built for Sleep. Delivered to you sealed in a carton roll to insure utter cleanliness.

Your dealer will tell you that the Simmons Label is his greatest help in assuring his customers of sweet, clean, sanitary mattresses.

Simmons Limited makes this unqualified statement to the merchant—

"Cut open any Simmons Mattress that comes into your store. If you do not find it up to specifications or better—ship back every item of Simmons merchandise, and never send us another order."

Canada has no Pure Bedding Laws—but Simmons Limited has!

TRINIDAD'S LAKE OF ASPHALTUM A DULL "WONDER"

Of all the wonders of the world, the pitch (properly the asphaltum) lake of Trinidad is probably the one least conducive to a spasm of the emotions. As a sight it is what is unpopularity known as a "sell." Still it retains its place in the list of the things that must be seen, for is it not the apparently inexhaustible source of our city streets? And so the tourist ships put in at Le Brea, and will doubtless continue to do so until the place is dug clean of its black treasure.

Charles Kingsley in "At Last" began his description of it by discounting it as a "wonder," and then took literary refuge in the surrounding palms which accentuated its desolate appearance. Even he was put to it to bring forth an eulogium. The gentleman who wrote it up for the Trinidad handbook delivered himself of a mighty tribute, with the kindly aid of Charon, the Styx, and the almighty dollar. But he wrote to advertise. Writers have approached the pitch lake with the best of intentions, putting on humility, trepidation, reverence, and risking a touch of the fever. And almost all that has been written of the spot shows that determination born of necessity and disappointment, assailing description at the point of the pen, as though something must be done or streets would not be paved.

Sir Walter Raleigh, one of the first, if not actually the first English recorder (1595) was quite properly utilitarian about it, said there was enough pitch to "pave" the decks of the world's ships, and saved his enthusiasm for the "oysters" he found growing on the trees at Le Brea, for which he was rewarded by loud cries of "liar!" when the information reached London. For the epicure, at least, there is more enjoyment in one succulent mangrove oyster than there would be in the pitch lake on an infinitude of half shells.

What Pitch Lake Looks Like.

If you are curious to know what the pitch lake looks like, go to the nearest desolate swamp of black mud, imagine it solid and quite cleared of vegetation, and imagine yourself walking over it with impunity. Having got that far, you would not find it boiling, nor even soft. If a hot sun is on it, the surface will soften, just as the streets at home do on a sweltering day in August. If the sun is not on it and it has rained—as it is forever doing in the tropics in winter—the surface is hard as any cool asphalt, and the holes where the workmen have drilled out chunks of the stuff are filled with water. Do not look for Kingsley's palms, for they are no more; oil wells taking their places.

The most impressive thing in the scene, you will admit, is the huge plant of the General Asphalt Company of Philadelphia, operating under the name of the New Trinidad Lake Asphalt Company, Ltd., of London, a typically American institution, with its up-to-date barrelling process and the bucket trestle that carries the product on an endless chain down to the ships, half a mile away. And if you are interested in statistics you will discover that, contrary to what you have heard, the constant mining of the pitch is lowering the surface, at the rate of about eight inches a year. In the last twenty years the level has been taken down about fourteen feet, but subterranean pressure works the stuff upward and drills have never reached any bottom limit because shifting and buckling will not permit their being forced down more than 200 feet.

HON. J. BECK SCORES MODERN PROGRESS

(Montreal Gazette.)

A very dismal picture of what is called modern progress was held out last night by Hon. J. M. Beck, Solicitor General of the United States, in speaking to the Women's Directory at the Windsor Hall.

Hon. Mr. Beck, whose welcome was cordial, saw little in the accomplishments for civilization in many years past, since the middle of the nineteenth century, in fact, and pointed out an ombre picture after another in proof of his contention that there has been no progress.

At the end he held out a glimmer of hope, very faint, but still a hope. It was based on the fact that if millions of men in the Empire and elsewhere had risen during the great war for noble causes, and had shown at Thermopylae or at Waterloo, surely there was hope that men would rise against the conditions which the recent industrial civilization had brought about. Mr. Beck's indictment against what may be termed modernity was severe.

No Sense of True Values

There must be a realization of true values, said Mr. Beck, a getting back to essentials. This age, he said, was the age of the cinematographic brain, speaking especially at the moment of the multiplicity of printed matter, of the 29 billions of copies of papers every day in the United States, of facts of all kinds flashed across the mind. Previous to the 20th century men's minds had been turned into a certain canal of thought, but now there is such a multiplicity of ideas that it is like the Mississippi, gathering dirt from all sections, and going no one knows where. Mr. Beck, as a rider to his opinion of the modern newspaper, that the front page is usually two-thirds scandal and crime, and the rest relative values have been lost, and he appealed to his audience that each one of them do something to restore this appreciation of true values.

There is too much of the material, man has become a super-bird, a super-fish, his arms extended by means of tools. It is all right to speak of talking by telephone all around the world, but what he was most interested in was to have something said that was worth while.

There is too much over-valuation of the new and under-valuation of the old; over-valuation of quantity and under-valuation of effort; over-valuation of efficiency, over-valuation of the strenuous life and under-valuation of the simple life; over-valuation of the play and under-valuation of work; over-valuation of rights and under-valuation of obligations. In this last connection Mr. Beck pointed out that ever since the fermentation in the middle of the eighteenth century there had been the constant clamor of "what is due me?" and not "what is due by me?"

Rely Too Much on State.

There was too much reliance placed in the state and not enough in the individual. Man has gradually abdicated to the state, and lost much of his citizenship, leaving to the state more and more to do things for him. Finally, said Mr. Beck, there was too much glorification of the material over the spirit.

This condition of affairs had largely come about because of the labor-saving machines, and Mr. Beck noted that each epoch of the periods of savagery, barbarism and civilization had been marked with labor-saving devices of one kind and another. There is no longer that beautiful spirit illustrated in the "Village Blacksmith," no longer the pride of individual workmanship, which could point with pride to an object produced, but pride of production had become without soul. These things led him to doubt that there had been real progress in the world since the elimination of human physical labor, and there was this enigma to be solved, something which if not solved would devour us. Every process of manufacture and packing is carried out in the great industrial establishment he founded and brought to completion.

75 Acres of Canadian Plant equipment operated by Canadian capital, the profits kept in Canada, for the development of Canadian industries. The Eddy reserve totals 1,500 square miles of Canadian forest land. The power plant generates 18,000 horse power.

Eddy's pays over $80,000 in Excise Taxes to the Dominion Government every week. Its pay-roll for over 2,500 workers amounts to over $2,500,000.

Ezra Butler Eddy
1827 - 1906

INSPIRED by an ideal of match value and match service, 71 years ago, in 1851, he began making matches with his own hands in a little rented shack at Hull.

Driving his only horse and wagon, he travelled the countryside, selling his matches as far as Toronto.

To realize his vision of the Canadian pine forest performing the vital function of lighting Canada's way on its road to progress, each log supplying a million lights, each a little bit of Canada doing its duty, he herded the logs and harnessed the Chaudière Falls.

A score of times he faced devastating fires. Financial difficulties that would have overcome a less resourceful and indomitable courage were conquered. His progress never faltered.

In the fullness of years, his products improved by every invention known to science (many conceived in the fertile brain of his trusty lieutenant), he passed to his reward. Yet his spirit goes marching on. The fire and force of his example still remain. Inspired by his unflagging zeal and resourcefulness, his assistants in the early days carry on the great Eddy tradition — "the most of the best for the money." The Eddy ideal of match value and match service still prevails!

STRONG PLEAS FOR CANADIAN PORTS MADE IN PARLIAMENT BY HANCE LOGAN AND OTHERS

Ottawa, April 5.—Most maritime members regardless of party rallied today in the house of commons to the support of a resolution proposed by Hance J. Logan that the British preference should be confined to goods brought into Canada through Canadian seaports.

Not Self Reliant Nation?

Mr. Logan said the proper policy was to have Canadian trade run through Canadian channels. This was the reason he said for the transcontinental railway. One thing which had worked to the detriment of the Canadian marine had been the lack of return cargoes from Britain.

What About Portland?

When Mr. Marcell (Bonaventure) asked "What about Portland?" Mr. Baxter said his party would support nothing that would make Portland a Canadian port. He did not think the United States would retaliate on goods imported into British goods now and if the line were drawn a little further they would not object any more than they do now.

Mr. Baxter supporting the resolution said that the British would not send their ships to Canadian ports simply because they were asked to do so. A greater incentive was needed.

Mr. Logan said the proper policy was to have Canadian trade run through Canadian channels. This was the reason he said for the transcontinental railway.

90 KING LEVINE'S 90 KING FIRE SALE!

The Announcement Awaited by the Entire City and Surrounding Communities.
$20,000 Worth of Footwear
At Wonderful Values to Clear!

And the particular point to bear in mind is, that these Shoes are as good as new, as far as wearing qualities are concerned. The fire did not reach LEVINE'S STORE, the blaze being confined to the upper stories of the building. The Footwear offered for sale was only slightly damaged by moisture where the shoe boxes were badly wet. In other cases the Boots seem almost the same as before the fire, BUT ALL ALIKE GO INTO BARGAIN LOTS TO CLEAR AT ONCE.

Sale Opens Tomorrow at 10 o'clock

NO EXCHANGES—EVERY SALE FINAL
We will make no exchanges during this Sale.
Ever since the fire occurred we have been almost submerged with telephone calls and messages as to when the Great Fire Sale was to be put on.
WELL, HERE IT IS!

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE
Hours of Sale
10 to 12 A.M.
1.30 to 6 P.M.
OPEN SATURDAY NIGHT
From 7.30 to 10.30
Note Carefully that Certain Hours Each Day the Store Will Be CLOSED.

NO REFUNDS—NO FITTING
We will be too busy to fit shoes during this sale. Pick the shoes you want and buy them. No refunds allowed. No exceptions.
A Few Words About the Sale
The best of order will prevail. We have provided adequate police protection, and no rowdiness will be tolerated. This rule will be strictly carried out. The shoes will be placed on shelves—NOT BOXED—and plainly price marked. Signs will direct the purchaser to the kind of footwear desired; Hours of Sale, No Exchanging, No Refunds. No fitting means you and everybody else. No favoritism at this sale.

Remember and Do Not Expect to buy shoes at this sale (badly damaged) for a mere trifle. We have no such Footwear to offer, and our time is valuable.
Please do NOT rush away from the particular section you find the shoes you wish to purchase. A clerk is in charge of that section. You will not have to roam around looking for service.
Please do NOT ask us to guess your size. Find out before you leave home. There will be a big crowd and we want to give all a fair chance.
