SAINT JOHN, THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 12, 1911

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION AS APPLIED TO ST. JOHN.

The Common Council having acceded to the request of the council of the Board of Trade that a plebiscite should be taken on the question of governing the city by a commission, it now remains for the citizens themselves to give the matter full and careful consideration. The system has proved beneficial in the United States, in cities where conditions are widely different to those which obtain in St. John. It does not necessarily follow that it would be satisfactory here. The members of the Advertising Committee and the council of the Board of Trade, are eager and anxious that the change should be made. They have emphasized the good points of commission rule, and it is satisfactory to note that public meetings are to be held at which the advantages of the system will be brought out clearly, and any features which might appear objectionable will be explained.

The adoption of the commission form of civic government as far as St. John is concerned, speaking broadly, means reducing a council of seventeen aldermen to one of four, increasing the salaries of the members from $200 to $1,800 or possibly $2,500 annually, and reserving them to devote their whole time to the executive work of the city. The mayor, instead of receiving $1,600 as at present, would be paid from $2,400 to $3,000 a year, and would also occupy himself solely with the city's business. It is claimed that the change will result in the best men offering themselves for election, and that a thoroughly business organization will result.

It is on this point that some element of doubt presents itself. Will the "best men" present themselves; by that is meant leading citizens who have the entire confidence of the community? Will they be content to abandon their business for two or possibly four years, and accept the remuneration offered? We have little hesitation in saying that unless these gentlemen have suddenly become imbued with a measure of public spirit which has been lacking in the past, they will be found holding aloof when the time comes. There is in this community a class of men which will be hungry for the job and the salary. We all know them. If it narrows down to a question of choosing the least objectionable of these, there is nothing to be gained by such a radical change.

It may be urged that the initiative and referendum and the right of recall are safeguards. In United States cities where men are quick to judge and quick to condemn these features may prove effective. In St. John experience has proved that there is no such hostile activity. Indifference or a friendly feeling to the offender would, as in the past, prove strong factors in the case.

But while we regard this feature of the scheme as objectionable it does not present an insurmountable difficulty to the proposal to reduce the council to five members and secure better, more practical, and more businesslike methods in civic government. We have yet to be convinced that it requires the undivided attention of an executive of five men to supervise and administer the affairs of the city. In administering the affairs of the province this restriction has never been found necessary. Why should it be imperative in St. John?

As has already been said this stipulation will probably deter the best class of citizens from entering the field and it will involve an expenditure of about $12,000 yearly or more than double the amount now expended, without adequate return. Further, if the routine in the Chamberlain's office be taken as an example, it is ridiculous to require a commissioner or alderman at the head of this department to be in attendance during office hours six days a week. It would be interesting if the advocates of this scheme would define his duties. The same argument would apply to other departments. A modification of present conditions along the lines of a smaller council, with possibly slightly increased remuneration, appears to be far more practical. The class of men, which the advocates of government by commission are anxious to secure, might then be induced to come forward.

The proposal to make the Comptroller an elective officer is a feature which has nothing to recommend it. This official occupies the same position in relation to the city as the Auditor General does to the province. Constituted as at present he has the authority to veto over expenditures and hold up bills and accounts which in his judgment contain items which require revision before being passed for payment. His power to safeguard the interests of the city lies in his independence. Let us suppose that the present system is abolished and that the Comptroller holds his position by popular vote. A syndicate interested in the development of certain property requires an expenditure by the city. There is no appropriation and no funds are immediately available. The Comptroller as custodian of the civic treasury shuts down on the scheme. The syndicate loses money. What is going to happen when this man presents himself for re-election? We know, from past experience in the case of aldermen who have offended a clique, that there will be a strong combination out to defeat him. Or take the case of a contractor who for good and sufficient reasons is refused payment for certain items in his account. The same thing would happen. We regard placing the Comptroller in a position in which he can be "got at," as wholly pernicious and subversive of good and honest government as far as St. John is concerned.

Many details in the plan proposed will require to be specially adapted to local conditions. One of considerable importance—the position a commission of five members would occupy in relation to the municipality—was referred to in the news columns of The Standard yesterday. This is a matter which, no doubt, can be easily adjusted, but the advocates of the commission plan have not yet offered a solution. Other matters will present themselves as the scheme comes to be more carefully considered.

In putting forward the foregoing criticisms The Standard invites those who favor the proposal as it stands to defend their view of the case. The questions are raised in no spirit unfriendly to the principle involved. It must not be forgotten, however, that many of the cities in the United States, where commission rule has proved attractive, are of mushroom growth compared to St. John. They have a large floating population, business is by no means firmly established, and they are less conservative in their ideas. Government by commission in some form may be a panacea for the unbusinesslike methods which prevail today, but in the final analysis the remedy rests with the citizens. It is useless for them to pass measures unless they provide the men.

IT IS SO INOPPORTUNE.

Why of all periods should the Government choose this particular one to press Washington for a reciprocity treaty? Just look at the situation. For years the United States tariff had been gradually strengthened and heightened. The McKinley revision had brought it up to an average of 42 per cent. on dutiable goods. The woolen schedule had become nearly 100 per cent.; and others were excessively high. A revolt had begun in the Republican ranks, and had spread to the confines of the party. To save themselves the party had promised a revision downwards, and this pledge was the slogan of the election of 1908. The party was returned to power, but failed to carry out its pledge. The Payne Aldrich tariff averaged 43 per cent. on dutiable imports, and its woolen schedule stood at 99.8 per cent. The revolt in the party became organized, and in the elections of 1910 the Republicans were routed. They are doomed to a minority in the House of Representatives after March 4th, and to a largely reduced majority in the senate. Their only chance of rehabilitation lies in substantial reduction of their tariff duties and especially those on food products. The Democratic party which, after March 4th, will dominate legislation are on record for lowering the tariff and especially on natural products. Both parties, therefore, are pledged to revise the tariff and revise it downward.

At this moment and before either have an opportunity to act, the Canadian Government steps in to negotiate with a moribund and discredited administration. If Canada wants anything it is that the present high United States duties shall be lowered. They are now twice the Canadian duties and unfair. If Canada will simply wait she will get lower duties by the act of one or other of the United States parties.

Why does she not wait? Why does she butt in just as the lowering work is to be begun and propose to pay the Republican party for doing what the United States people is forcing them to do? If she waits she will get for no further concessions, what she is entitled to in fairness and what she has already paid for in the 50 per cent. lower tariff, on imports and the large free list, she has for years given the United States. The buyer for a commercial house who would so act would be dismissed in short order.

A FALL FROM GRACE.

The Times, which has wholeheartedly adopted the proposals for a commission form of civic government without discussing the features which might or might not be advantageous to St. John, on Tuesday eagerly seized the opportunity to emphasize the shortcomings of the Common Council by printing with large headlines on its front page an interview with Mr. L. G. Crosby in which he complains that his application for a site for a warehouse between Broad and British streets at the eastern end had been refused. "L. G. Crosby, head of the Crosby Molasses Company, Ltd.," says the Times with evident intent in introducing the subject, "offers some sharp criticism of the methods of the City Council. He has been trying to get a site for a warehouse or to put a warehouse on the city, and has asked to be given a hearing, but neither the council nor the Safety Board has granted his request."

It is safe betting that if the Times had known that during the last visit of its friend and patron, Mr. Pugsley, at a meeting in the mayor's office, the Minister of Public Works strongly advised against granting this lease, it would have been more discreet.

At the meeting referred to the mayor, several members of the council and of the Board of Trade were present, and the question of giving Mr. Crosby a lease was put to Mr. Pugsley. His advice was that no action should be taken on the matter until it was known what developments in Courtenay Bay would be necessary. If anyone is to be blamed in this particular instance it is not the Common Council, but Mr. Pugsley. The joke is on the Times.

Current Comment

(Boston Transcript.)
In the last ten years, 7,996 persons have been killed and 7,838 others have been injured by using the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad as thoroughfares. Even after a campaign of education, begun four years ago, in which the co-operation of State and municipal authorities was enlisted, the fatal accidents came close to two a day, and though the trackage of the system aggregates 11,235 miles, that fact hardly seems to justify the slaughter. This year trespassers will be prosecuted more sternly than ever. They deserve to be. Too many are willing to risk the foolish choice between fine and imprisonment or death.

(Ottawa Journal.)
Boston's District Attorney is drawing up a bill for presentation to the Massachusetts Legislature to restrict the sale of firearms. A license is proposed to be required for the sale of firearms, and the seller must also take the name, address, business and reason for buying from the purchaser, and register the facts in a book open to police inspection. This is well in its way, as regards rifles and shotguns. But why allow pistols to be sold at all?

(Brantford Expositor.)
The Guelph Mercury, discussing editorially the defeat of local option in that city, expresses the opinion that public opinion in urban municipalities favors license reduction, better accommodation, and a more rigid enforcement of the license law, rather than the wiping out of licenses altogether. The results of the voting which has thus far taken place in the larger centres of population would seem to lend color to this view.

(Toronto Globe.)
There are a great many of the "best people" so busy sneering at the mediocre men who carry on the civic government that they have no time to go out and vote.

A MODERN MIRACLE!

He Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk Has Worked Complete Cure.

This is the experience of a man of high repute, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated. Mr. T. M. Marsh the gentleman referred to, lives at 101 DeLoe street, Montreal, and has lived there for years. For twenty-five years he had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in a blotch on his wrist, and when scratched became painful. Bad sores followed, which discharged and the discharge spread the disease until his hands were one raw, painful mass of sores. Just think of this state of affairs continuing for twenty-five years!

In that time four eminent medical men tried to cure him and each gave up the case as hopeless in the end. Naturally, Mr. Marsh tried remedies of all kinds, but he also at last gave it up. For two years he had to wear gloves day and night so terrible was the pain and itching when the air got to the sores.

Then came Zam-Buk! He tried it, just as he had tried hundreds of remedies before. But he soon found out that Zam-Buk was different. Within three weeks there were distinct signs of benefit, and a little perseverance with this great herbal balm resulted in what he had given up all hope of—a complete cure! And the cure was no temporary cure. It was permanent. He was cured nearly three years ago.

Interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsh said: "The cure which Zam-Buk worked has been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was cured to the present moment I have had no trace of eczema and I feel sure it will never return. Having suffered for twenty-five years, I had naturally concluded that my case was a modern miracle. If you suffer from any skin trouble out on this article, write across it the name of this paper, and mail it, with one cent stamp to pay return postage to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. We will forward you by return a free trial box of Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores sell this famous remedy, 50¢ per box, or three for $1.25. Refuse harmful substitutes."

MRS. JESSE JAMES JR. GRANTED DIVORCE

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 11.—Stella F. James, wife of Jesse James, Jr., was granted a divorce from Jesse E. James, son of Jesse James, by Judge Barrett in the Circuit Court here last night. James did not contest the suit. Mrs. James was given the custody of their four children and $100 a month money. Mrs. James testified that she and her husband had separated three times since their marriage eleven years ago. She said the last separation had lasted six months, and that it was impossible for them to be reconciled.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

By direct private wire to J. C. Macintosh & Co.

New York, Jan. 11.—Today's market was narrow and variable of tone, but all things considered presented a strong front resistance to reactionary influences. During the morning the particular weakness of certain stocks led to rumors that these had been held in considerable quantity by a big institution that has recently failed. It soon became apparent, however, that if this were true there was some one willing to absorb the offerings. In the afternoon the market ruled extremely dull, but firm. Reading especially reflecting a strong and long connection with attention was called to the fact that something favorable to stockholders might occur in relation to the maturity of $15,000,000 of 6 and 7 per cent. bonds of the company which mature next June. BRT was relatively strong in connection with the refusal of majorities of the board to authorize the interlocking offer and it was argued in some quarters that the offerings submitted by the BRT was shaped with an idea to the ultimate merger of all greater New York traction companies. Considering the comparative strength and activity of the market for some time past, the buoyant tendency today was regarded to be neither unnatural nor unhealthy.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.
By Direct Private Wires to J. C. Macintosh & Co.

New York, Jan. 11.—Whether from the realization of the fact that it is exceedingly difficult to advance prices from this level even on good news, or a conviction that after thorough digestion yesterday's government crop report was not as bullish as it first appeared, there was a considerable volume of liquidation today by people who bought on the government figures. The fact that another week which, according to bull predictions, was to witness a sharp curtailment of the movement, has passed without verification of such prophecies, was a collateral influence of some little weight. Ostensibly confidence among the bull leaders has been maintained but there are evidences that a large long interest has been liquidated and that some influential people are not averse to a reaction. The bull faction at large is looking to a smaller movement to save the situation. For the time being the strongest trump card of this contingent appears to have been played.

ONLY SEVEN JURORS CHOSEN YESTERDAY

Judge McKeown Disallows Motion to Quash Indictment of Unlawful Assembly--New Panel Summoned

In the case of the young men alleged to be concerned in the New Year's eve riots and who were sent up for trial in the supreme court yesterday, the jury chosen for the trial of the offence of unlawful assembly was quashed. Judge McKeown disallowed the motion to quash the indictment, and ordered a new panel to be summoned in the meantime.

Recorder Baxter K. C. appeared for the Crown and Daniel Mullin, K. C., for McCollum, Way, O'Rourke and Jones; A. A. Wilson, K. C., for Hamilton; E. S. Ritchie for Brown, Foster and Ryan; H. J. Smith for Smith, and J. A. Barry for Wilson and Wedon.

When the court opened Mr. Mullin moved to quash the indictment on the ground that it practically covered two offences, i.e., an unlawful assembly and a riot. He submitted that the offences were distinct and under Section 823 of the code, a count cannot embrace two offences. Mr. Mullin also argued that the absence of the name of the county in which the offence occurred was fatal to the indictment.

Mr. Baxter claimed that the indictment embraced two counts, one for riot and one for unlawful assembly, the lesser being superseded by the greater.

His honor disallowed the motion. The argument occupied over an hour and a quarter.

At 20 minutes past 11, counsel for the defence, Mr. Mullin, called on the panel for consultation. Twenty minutes later the 11 defendants were arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

The following jury were selected from the panel: Frank G. Kitch, William G. Estabrooks, William A. Stepler, Jas. Bond, Wm. H. Arnold, John Jackson, A. H. Chipman.

Two members of the panel were excused on account of illness, five were not present, six were challenged by the defence, and the Crown challenged Jas. E. O'Brien. This exhausted the panel, and adjournment was made.

CHIEF HUGHES HERE FROM CAMPBELLTON

Says There is No Suffering and Only Demand on Relief Committee from Certain Class--Illegal Liquor Selling

Charles H. Hughes, formerly a popular member of the local police force, but who has been chief of police in Campbellton since November, arrived in the city yesterday and will leave this morning to visit his home in Queens county, returning from there to Campbellton.

Chief Hughes brings good news from the broken North Shore town. There is no suffering, he says, and the people have not felt the rigors of the winter to any extent as there are abundant supplies of coal. Those upon whom the fire has most heavily been the people living in rented houses who lost their furniture and had no money to build homes for themselves to live in.

To this class the efforts of the relief committee proved especially valuable, and most of them are now well housed.

Building is going on well in the burned town, and there is a feeling of optimism as to the future.

"There is no doubt," said Chief Hughes, "that Campbellton will go ahead and be a better town than before. Already we have the best street lights to be found east of Montreal and many substantial buildings have been put up since the fire. It is not the buildings and a number of business are building a new mill on the site of the former one, and will install 20 shingle machines, as well as plant to cut railway ties. This will be on a larger scale than before. Next summer will see new churches, public buildings and a number of business blocks and dwellings in course of erection."

Referring to police duty, Chief Hughes said there was no lawlessness and his chief trouble was to prevent the sale of liquor. Apparently he is doing good work in this line, as he has had eight cases during the two months of his engagement as chief of police, and managed to secure seven convictions.

In the case of the man Graves, who was held by the local police a few days ago on a wire from Chief Hughes on a charge of stealing and was afterwards allowed to go, also on his instructions, Mr. Hughes said that the theft had left Campbellton without police selling and as there was no one to proceed against Graves, he was released. A check being taken in the direction of his return.

NOVA SCOTIA CAPTAIN CAUGHT IN HURRICANE

Windsor Barkentine Maifna Has Topmasts Carried Away and Sails Split in West India Blow

A passage of unusual severity was completed Monday by the Windsor, N. S., barkentine Maifna, which arrived at Boston from Bonaire with a cargo of salt. Capt. Calhoun says the vessel was caught in a hurricane which blew her many miles off her course, carrying away the foremast and mainmast and damaging the step of the foremost so that the head-rigging slackened up and several sails were burst.

Reaching Bermuda the Maifna was repaired at a cost of $2,500, while 2,000 bushels of salt discharged during the repairs were not reloading. Mrs. Calhoun, wife of the captain, was with him during the storm, but left the Maifna at Bermuda and took passage to New York on the steamship Bermudian. The vessel arrived at Bermuda Dec. 21 and had rough weather nearly all the way to Boston.

The Maifna hails from Windsor, N. S., and is owned by F. C. Lockhart of New York. She was built in 1901 at Black River, N. S.

EDWARD TERRY MEETS BISHOP AND CLERGY

Conference Held at Royal Hotel Yesterday With View of Establishing Branch Here of Actors' Church Union

His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton, Archdeacon Forsyth, Canon Seales, Rev. W. B. Sisson and Rev. E. B. Hooper had a conference at the Royal Hotel, yesterday afternoon with Edward Terry, the famous English actor, and as a result of that meeting, it is probable that the Actors' Church Union will have a representative in this city.

Mr. Terry, who is a very active member of the union, is a very active interest in its work. The object of the union is to assist members of the theatrical profession who may be in need of advice or help while among strangers, and to this end it is felt that no person is better qualified to be of such assistance as a representative of the church. For years he has flourished in Great Britain and has done much good there.

It is recognized and approved by the Executive Committee of the Church of England, many of whom are numbered in its membership. In fact Bishop Richardson was a member of the union while rector of Trinity church, that fact for the simple reason, that as a result of that meeting, it is probable that a chaplain will be appointed in St. John, as he desired to have chaplains in all the principal centres in Canada.

Rev. E. B. Hooper, who was a member of the delegation which called upon Mr. Terry, said he considered him a very satisfactory interview with the Bishop of Nova Scotia while in Halifax, and to a Standard man who saw him yesterday expressed himself as pleased with the arrangement. He said, however, that he could make no announcement as to what may be done until he had seen the Canadian archbishops. This he will do during his present tour of Canada. He hoped, however, that a chaplain would be appointed in St. John, as he desired to have chaplains in all the principal centres in Canada.

Anti-Tuberculosis Work.
It has been decided to keep the Tuberculosis dispensary at the corner of Leinster and Carmarthen streets open three afternoons every week from 2 to 4 o'clock. The arrangements are that Monday and Wednesday afternoons shall be for the adult patients, and Friday afternoon for children. Patients are requested to be punctual. The dispensary was open yesterday afternoon for the reception of patients and several called and received treatment. The example set by the St. John society has aroused much interest in the work of combatting tuberculosis in other parts of the country. An effort is being made by the ladies of Anaherst to form a society on similar lines.

The happy couple left on the Boston train for a trip to Boston, New York, and Albany. On their return they will reside at 35 Leinster street for the winter months.

BIBLE STUDENT
LOOKING FOR TRUTH

Japanese Writer Holds That Christian Civilization Shows No Traces of Divinity--Not Qualified to Teach Heathens

Letter II.
To continue those thoughts along other lines. Go into the great cities of Christian civilization, where education, refinement, wealth and culture predominate, and you will find extremes where ignorance, vice, crime, immorality and destitution of the worst and most debasing kind exist, equal to anything found in the most heathen places on the surface of the globe, without any organized effort to educate or teach them better. Nay, worse than that, you will find powerful, wealthy, organized institutions protected by law, producing and disseminating that which drags the great majority of those degraded specimens of human beings into the position they occupy.

Are the efforts to convert the so-called heathens, and raise them to a higher life consistent with such a state of things, and if you should raise them to an imaginary higher standard, and they develop the same conditions, how much better do you make them? How much nearer are they to the standard laid down by the great teacher, viz., "Do unto others as ye would others should do unto you."

Take another view of it. You cannot take up a newspaper, or look upon a dead wall in any Christian city today, that is not covered and filled with advertisements, the whole tendency and underlying features of which are false and misleading, simply to get money. The same feature absolutely unrelies every sort and kind of business, in the Christian world of today, religion not excepted. If you carry this to the heathen, under the cloak of religion, how much better do you make them? Are you not absolutely deceiving them by pretending to a higher sense of moral right, purity and justice? When all you are doing is to teach them a more refined and cultured way of doing what they have always been doing in their own way.

If deception, misrepresentation and untruthful misstatements formulates every feature of so-called Christian society; if throughout its length and breadth there is a festering moral rotteness, crime, ignorance, selfishness, untruthfulness, the whole tendency and drunkness with all its terrible results; if you carry this to the heathen, which you certainly will, had you not better cleanse your own unclean tables before you go to elevate and cleanse others, leaving behind such terrible proofs of the fact that you yourselves have not reached a practical conception of the standard the Great Teacher laid down for you, but which you propose to teach others? Surely with such facts staring you in the face you cannot believe the Great Teacher is asking you to teach what you cannot practice yourselves. Under such conditions what value can follow your missionary efforts. If you are to be of any use, and if when they will have war ships of the Dreadnought stamp, drill and equip vast armies with all the latest improvements for slaughtering their fellow man in the most approved Christian style. If the desired point upon which you believe you are acting propounds a soulful pure religion, you cannot give the heathen that, for the simple reason, that practically you have nothing but a thoroughly distorted religion, robbed of almost every true feature the Great Teacher stamped it with.

Would it not be more consistent with common sense, or at least with common honesty, if you devoted the money thrown away on foreign missions to raising the deprived and the masses of humanity in your midst and around you to a betterment of their condition in life, a higher sense of morality and virtue. This foreign mission business bribes to my mind the old Grecian adage, "Elysean fields are always in the distance."

POOR BRAND OF HOCKEY IN LOCAL GAME

St. John Makes it 12-0 in Uninteresting Game With Sussex - Many Penalties - No Combination Play

There were about four hundred spectators at the Queen's Rink last night to witness an uninteresting game of hockey between St. John and Sussex, the result being that the St. Johns scored twelve goals and shut the visitors out.

The ice was wet owing to the mild weather and in poor condition for anything like a fast game, while on the other hand both teams lacked vim and were far from putting up any team work.

The game was commenced about 8:20 o'clock with Roland H. C. Skinner as referee.

The puck was chased up and down the rink for some time when, after six minutes of play, Gilbert passed to Clawson who shot the first goal.

On play being resumed Sussex worked hard and took the game into St. John territory for some minutes, but failed to score. Tully worked the puck through the players and after ten minutes play Mooney shot from the side, making goal number two.

In Half a Minute. The puck was only in play 20 seconds when Mooney carried it from one end of the rink to the other and shot number 3 goal.

When play was called for the second half Phillips complained of being ill, but had to play as the Sussex captain refused the St. Johns the privilege of putting on a spare man.

Just 15 seconds later Mooney shot No. 7 goal.

There was a mixup near Sussex goal and in a half minutes' play Clawson landed the puck in the net for the 12th and last score.

The following is the players summary: St. John. Clawson—6 minutes. Mooney—10 minutes. McAvity—20 seconds. Phillips—3 minutes. Gilbert—30 seconds. Mooney—15 seconds. Clawson—4 minutes. Tully—3 minutes. Mooney—1 minute 30 seconds. Gilbert—2 minutes. Clawson—30 seconds.

Special to The Standard. Boston, Jan. 11.—Before a crowd of fully five thousand people the Harvard University hockey team defeated St. Francis Xavier's of Nova Scotia, by a score of 8-2. The score is not an indication of the game, St. Francis having the better of the territory, but their goal tender was weak and out of sixteen shots Harvard scored eight goals.

The second half opened with a rush, St. Francis carrying the disc into the territory of the crimson. All of their attempts at scoring were blocked by Chadwick until MacLaughlin combined with Fraser and carried the disc into the goal shooting off Chadwick's toes.

CALL ON GUARANTEE FOR TORREY EXPENSES

Evangelist Received $400 as Thank Offering While Remainder of Collections Were Not Sufficient for Expenses

No statement of the financial result of the Torrey campaign has yet been presented, but a member of the committee said last night that a statement would be forthcoming in a few days.
 The members are now collecting the guarantee fund as there was a deficit in the receipts of the campaign as compared with the expenses. The same committee man is authority for the statement that under the agreement with Dr. Torrey the evangelist was to receive the proceeds of the last three collections as thank offerings and that all the expenses of the campaign, including the transportation and expenses of the evangelist and his staff and the local expenses in connection with fitting up the rink, advertising, etc., were to be born by the main financial in bringing the evangelist here. It was for this purpose that the guarantee fund was secured. The collections which were given to Dr. Torrey are said to have reached in the vicinity of $400 while the offerings at all the other services were not sufficient to meet the expenses.

TERRY COMPANY GOOD IN LIBERTY HALL

Delightful Play Much Enjoyed by Large Audience Last Evening—Mr. Terry Not in Leading Role

Last evening the Terry company presented Liberty Hall, a drama in four acts, to an audience that crowded the Opera House, and, judging by the reception accorded them, they again demonstrated the possession of unusual artistic ability. The play which was first presented in St. James Theatre, London, makes no very strenuous demand upon the intellect or emotions, but its appeal is undeniable, and it sends the audience away in a happy frame of mind. It possesses a good deal of kindly humor, and is properly spiced with pathos. The plot turns upon the breaking down of the pride of a girl, nobly born, and the development of the more generous side of her character through an experience of the meagre life.
 Miss Kathleen Leigh, in the role of the heroine, Blanche Chilworth, was seen to great advantage and augmented the very favorable impression she has made upon the theatre-going public here. Miss Gabriel Paul, as the ingenious younger sister rendered a rather difficult part in a very convincing manner.
 Mr. Terry in the role of the shop-keeping uncle, once more proved the versatile character of his talent, and made the most of a part which offered many opportunities for fine acting.

Temple Powell, as Sir Arthur Chilworth, the heir to the estates of Blanche's father, who in the disguise of Mr. Owen, a person in trade, assumes the position of guardian angel to the distressed damsels and wins the love of the heroine when her pride is broken, seemed a bit out of atmosphere in the first act, but in the other acts and especially in the climactic third act he effectively demonstrated his ability to portray vital emotions with power and restraint.
 William Dexter, as J. Briginshaw the vulgar parson and suitor for the hand of the heroine, gave a splendid presentation of his part.
 Percival Madgewick, as Hon. Gerald Harringay was convincing; Miss Eugene Verne as Crafer, the servant, provided a great deal of amusement for the audience and the other performers were well fitted to their parts.
 Tonight the company will present the ToyMaker of Nuremburg, followed by Bardell vs. Pickwick.

SPECIAL MEETING ON MARKET MATTERS
 Council Must Settle Question of Mayor's Authority to Accept Resignation of Members of Committee

A special meeting of the city council will probably be called before the end of this week to consider the situation created by the determination of the members of the market committee to resign. Yesterday Ald. White handed his resignation to the mayor, and Ald. Jones stated that he had made up his mind to resign and was only waiting for the return of Ald. Wigmore to present his resignation.
 As the committee was appointed by the council, there is said to be some doubt as to the authority of the mayor to accept their resignation, and to settle the matter the mayor intends to call a meeting of the council to enable the committee to relieve itself of all responsibility for the management of the market.
 Yesterday Mr. Dunham resumed his duties as clerk, and the position of Mr. Howe, who was appointed by the committee, is somewhat peculiar. It is expected that the meeting of the council will be a stormy one, as the action of the council in reappointing Mr. Dunham, followed by the refusal of the market committee to serve any longer, has created a lot of feeling among the citizens and the aldermen are being rather severely criticized.

CARPENTERS' UNION TAKE UP GRIEVANCES

Charged That Scully & Adams Are Not Carrying Out Terms of Contract—Condemn 8-Hour Bill

That Scully and Adams have failed to comply with the conditions of their contract in connection with the construction of No. 7 shed, West side, was the charge made at the meeting of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Union last evening. A letter was read from J. T. Donoghue, Dominion Fair Wage officer, stating that the contractors signed an agreement to post a copy of the fair wage schedule affixed to the contract in a conspicuous place on the work, and it was charged by the members present that the contractors had not complied with this provision.
 The Fair Wage officer informed the union that the fair wage clause in the contract provided that if anybody employed on the works was not paid the wage fixed in the schedule they should notify him, when an investigation would be held, and if the charges were proved, the government would pay the workers the difference and deduct the amount from the contract price.
 The secretary was instructed to write to Ottawa, informing the government and the local members that when they endorsed Mr. Verville's eight hour bill it was not in its present shape, and protesting against the mutilation to which the bill had been subjected.
 The action of the Building Trades Council in deciding to ask union men to refrain from working with non-union men was endorsed.
