Exceptional Bargains in Reliable Used Typewriters

To clear out our stock of used typewriters, we have marked each one down to a figure that represents a bargain such as is seldom offered. These are not ordinary second hand machines. Each one has been taken as a "traded" on a new Underwood, and instead of marring them at their real value, we have priced them so as to merely get our money out of them. For business men, of business men, doctors, lawyers, ministers, or individuals who are in need of a typewriter, these machines will prove entirely satisfactory, and to each case will certainly contain the preferable to save considerable money.

A SMITH PREMIER—$25
This machine, of course, is an old reliable, but it has the double key board, which is a very handy feature. It is a very good machine for a typewriter.

A REMINGTON—$45
This is a late model, with all the latest attachments—like new plates, and has just put in good working order, and is ready for every day use.

A WOODSTOCK—$55
Latest model, only used two years, a visible writer, two-tone (two-color) attachments, back-space, standard keyboard, etc.—a "regular" type writer, complete and sound.

A ROYAL—$30
This is a Model 8, visible, with a key board, and is especially able to make out wide statements—up to 15 inches.

ANOTHER ROYAL—$40
This machine is the Model 3—a visible writer, in first working order, with first class attachments, and is ready for every day use.

AN OLIVER—$45
For writing in French, this machine is just the thing. It is a visible writer, in first working order, with first class attachments.

AN L. C. SMITH—$75
You can save an even $100 by buying this late model, which is in first class condition, and has all the latest attachments.

AN L. C. SMITH—$100
As just said before, this machine has been used less than a year, and is in the best of working order.

AN L. C. SMITH—$65
This is a No. 3 model, in good running order, used two years, has all the latest attachments, and is ready for every day use.

AN L. C. SMITH—$85
Latest 1921 model, back space, two-color attachments, two-tone (two-color) attachments, and is ready for every day use.

A ROYAL—$55
Here is a practically new typewriter, the latest model of its kind, in first class condition, with every latest attachment, and is ready for every day use.

A REMINGTON—$55
This is a particularly good machine for making up reports of extra width, as it has a 15 inch carriage, in good condition, and the price is very low.

SELF PRESERVATION THE FIRST LAW OF BUSINESS

President E. W. Beatty Discusses Before Hamilton Institute The Springs of Business Activity—Some Extracts and Aphorisms from His Pamphlet.

Under the above title and in conjunction with the business course of the Alexander Hamilton Institute...

In view of the author's prominent position throughout the business and railway world and his rapid early attainment of the presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway...

Some extracts and aphorisms from the pamphlet are as follows:—"Eliminate effort and you drain the spring of life. It is not only the first law of nature but the first law of business."

"The largest company or the most complex corporation the driving power of the individual is the key note of progress."

"The exercise of State interference can be just as excessive as business enterprise. It is, in fact, a corruptive medicine. Now medicine may be good for a man. It does not, however, follow that in order to be well we should take medicine."

"A private enterprise, even when operating a public utility, like a road, has the stimulus of profit to make it a fruitful activity, but it profits less and loses more through inefficiency or mismanagement than it does through its own burdens."

"The general committee in charge of the conference included Messrs. H. W. Kincaid, Arthur Nixon, H. L. Y. Mason, H. C. Thomas, J. A. Stephenson, W. A. Simonds."

"The primary object of the Washington conference, Prof. Boothill said, was the peace of the world through partial disarmament, and to bring about peace in the Pacific some sort of agreement in the relationship of Japan, China and Korea was essential."

RACE PROBLEM DEVELOPING IN BELGIUM

Some Change in Constitution Necessary to Satisfy Flemish Aspirations.

Lord King, Jan. 24.—Speaking before the British-American Club recently in Oxford on the racial question in the Far East, Prof. W. R. Boothill said that it appeared, it had been difficult for nations of the same color to live together peacefully in Europe, how much greater was the difficulty of living peacefully with races of other colors, who were increasing rapidly in numbers, in knowledge and in desire to have their share of the world's goods.

Considering the problem as it existed in the Far East, Prof. Boothill said the subject called for the sympathetic consideration of every man who was interested in the world's welfare. India and China, he said, held half the world's population, and the greater part of this half is found in China itself. The intelligence of the Chinese, he said, was well known. They had been the civility of the Far East. They possessed a well from which others might respectfully draw, which others might respectfully draw, which others might respectfully draw.

More potent, however, even than the love of domination was the force of economic pressure, the professor said. The Japanese people were reasonable, cheerful, hard-working, understanding, and intensely patriotic. They were less content with the status quo, and more aggressive policy than with the status quo, and more aggressive policy than with the status quo.

Undoubtedly, Prof. Boothill stated, Japan's economic needs demanded the sympathetic consideration of both West and East, and not least, of the Chinese contention. Something would have to be done, but whatever that something might be, it seemed as if it would have to be done at somebody else's expense. A suggestion had been made, he said, that Japan should give interests in Manchuria and Mongolia, but that did not solve the problem of the surplus population.

Undoubtedly, Prof. Boothill stated, Japan's economic needs demanded the sympathetic consideration of both West and East, and not least, of the Chinese contention. Something would have to be done, but whatever that something might be, it seemed as if it would have to be done at somebody else's expense.

Holman Day, Author of 'The Rider of the King Log,' Which Has Been Adapted for Screen, Wrote Stories of the Big Outdoors as He Saw Struggles for Control of Natural Resources in Maine.

In modern moving picture production it is very rarely that one finds a suitable theme around which the picture is built. When the theme is found it is accorded the success of 'The Rider of the King Log.' and 'The Mirador Man' on the theme of mother love and faith respectively.

Another notable picture was 'The Great Divide.' While these suggest the western type of picture, he has a wide range of versatility in the portrayal of dramatic roles.

Intellectuals Left in Country Too Few to Establish New Government. Washington, Jan. 27.—There are not enough intellectuals left in Russia to establish a new government when the Bolsheviks have failed, declared Ch. Crane, former United States Minister to China, speaking before a large audience in the Russian Embassy here yesterday at the annual meeting of the Central Committee for Russian Relief.

Mr. Crane prepared himself for his trip to Moscow by buying 100,000,000 rubles for $2,000,000. He could have bought them for $2,000 and he left Russia for $1,000. Printing paper money is one of the few things that are selling in Russia. Mr. Crane said that the men thus employed had protested and asked why they should work when other workmen did not. They were finally told that they would go on with the printing until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, they could have materials and print money for themselves after that hour.

CAMPAIGN IN STATES AIMED AT VACCINATION

Speakers at Meeting Say Time is Ripe for Unsettling of Medical Aggression.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 24.—An active legislative campaign against compulsory vaccination was started by the Medical Liberty League with a public meeting in Springfield last night. That the time is ripe for a popular rising against autocratic control of public health as administered by a few was stressed throughout the meeting. Besides members of the league, supporters of the league's purposes were in attendance on many nearby places. Henry D. Nunn, general counsel of the league, in opening the meeting, declared that the time had come when the opponents of medical aggression in Massachusetts must show their fighting strength which, he said, had been heretofore very much under-estimated. He said that the friends of medical liberty and of their rights generally everywhere in the State should be aroused by the statement of Dr. Samuel B. Woodward, chairman of the committee on the state and the legislation of the Massachusetts Medical Society, recently published in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, which, he asserted, clearly showed that, in three years, there could have been no fair hearing of the question of vaccination by the joint Public Health Committee of the General Court.

It was not surprising, Mr. Nunn said, to the medical liberty forces that the most professional group working for vaccination should have done their utmost to control the appointments to the important committee on public health, but they were very much surprised that Dr. Woodward should openly confess that they had not only attempted to control the committee, but that they had regularly succeeded in doing so.

The speaker quoted what he characterized as "Dr. Woodward's confession," in part, as follows: "The so-called vaccination bills are, in common with most health bills, referred to the committee on Public Health, and the committee on this committee is of the utmost importance, for the Legislature is generally prone to follow its recommendations. It is, therefore, important to get in touch with the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, in whose hands the appointment to this, as to every, committee lies, and this, during my three years as your president, I always did, finding understanding and co-operation in my endeavor to have men with medically sane minds, the majority appointed. The reason for this co-operation was not, however, always a desire for the improvement of health conditions in the Commonwealth."

C. Augustus Norwood of Boston, a member of the executive committee of the Medical Liberty League, also addressed the meeting relative to some of his own experiences. He said that a minority member of the Senate Committee on Public Health, he hoped the time would speedily come when the main fact that the State would declare their independence of a small group which assumes to speak for the entire profession.

Provides Music As Digestive Tablet

London, Jan. 24.—The humorous complaint of the chronic diner-out that restaurants nowadays served more music than food has been met with the serious dictum of a London specialist that music is better for the enjoyment of a good meal and its subsequent digestion than music—provided that it is the right sort of music. Sir James Dundas-Grange, the authority referred to here, he swears by his own theory and has musical scores of his own mixing for everything from a light luncheon to a full-blooded state banquet. "It is not realized what a tremendous help to the enjoyment and digestion of a meal music is," he said. "But the music must suit psychologically the occasion throughout its various courses."

My idea is that the diner should start with something light and fanciful and gay, and then, as the hours devour, the two-tier should be taken with something happy and frolicsome, the fish with a soothing and peaceful air, which should be followed at the entire stage by a bright yet reposeful dance measure. "The only epicurean rite which calls for a full-blooded state banquet, is the time when cigars are being lighted and smoked."

James and Peter

By GENEVIEVE MAXWELL, Member of C. C.

Once upon a time there was a little boy, his name was James. He was good boy and loved animals and was very kind to them. His mother had a pet rabbit which he named "Peter" and the rabbit being very fond of cabbage James always saved plenty for his pet. Wanting a comfortable home for Peter James father built a nice cage and the boy filled it with straw which made a nice bed and also put cabbage and roots in it for Peter to eat. It was a large cage and Peter had plenty of room to play. Occasionally James would allow Peter out of the cage to ramble about, for through the kindness of the boy the rabbit became very tame. One day James saw Peter enjoying himself in the cabbage patch eating the leaves. On one occasion the boy's mother allowed Peter out of the cage and the rabbit knowing its kind young master so well ran right up to him, and other times when James would call his pet by name it would come to him just like a dog would respond to the answer of its master. James is very fond of rabbits and every one he sees he calls "Peter."

Weekly Chat Answers to Letters

My Dear Chums— No doubt all my young friends will be pleased to know that Willie Logan, Irving Leonard and the other boys of St. John, performed remarkably well in the skating championships at Elizabethburg, N. Y., this week. The two former managers, who were just boys, were competing against the best skaters in the United States and Canada.

I have received a number of very interesting letters from the boys and girls who are members of the Children's Corner; also a couple of short stories. One letter received from a boy named Murray, in Albert County, should prove a great lesson to all other boys. This young fellow informs me, that very early every morning he lights the fires in the house and has everything ready for his mother when she arises to prepare the breakfast and he will also attend school regularly, and then they have to walk two miles through the snow and in the cold before they reach the school. This kind of a boy, who is not afraid of work, and will also attend school regularly, will certainly grow up to be a great man.

He sends in a question which will perhaps give other members of the Corner a chance to answer. He says that a school teacher tells him that the earth is round like a ball; that he says that he reads in the Bible, in Jeremiah's chapter, "And these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth." Murray says that he is puzzled when the teacher says the earth is round like a ball, and the Bible says it has four corners.

In other letters received from members of the Corner, I inform me that they are not attending school for the reason that there is no teacher. This is too bad, for it will keep them back in their studies. I suppose all my nieces and nephews are taking all the enjoyment possible out of the skating, coasting, and sleigh driving this winter. It is great fun after school.

One little boy informs me that he is very lonely and requests a few names so he can correspond with other members of the Corner. You will see his name and address in the "Answers to Letters," and I hope that members of the Corner will write to him. What a great thing it is to be industrious, and I'm sure that nearly every boy reader of the Children's Corner can find something to do outside of the work about home, by which he can earn a few dollars. One member of the Corner who resides in the country informs me that he and his brother had snared no less than one hundred and twenty rabbits this winter, and they hoped the time would speedily come when the main fact that the State would declare their independence of a small group which assumes to speak for the entire profession.

While I have been telling you boys good news of the boys, I must not forget that many of the girl members of the Corner are proving a great help to their mothers, about the house, and are indeed little mothers when it comes to house-keeping. They perform a great deal of work before and after school. Trusting that every boy and girl reader is enjoying the best of health. I remain your chum.

STONE TREES. Petrified Forest on an island. Many thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands, of years ago there flourished in the island of Sardinia, which lies in the warm Mediterranean off the olive-green Italian coast, great forests of huge trees as large as those in California today. Amid the geological changes which altered the earth's face these forests disappeared, and no one until recently had any idea that they had left any trace behind. Now among the mountains petrified trunks have been found, and the discovery of these has led to the opening-up of whole forests turned to stone.

MURRAY R.—I was, indeed, glad to receive a letter from you and I trust it will not be another twelve months before you write again. Thank you for the picture; I think it is lovely. You must miss your little brother very much, for according to his picture he

A TURTLE'S SIGNPOST

WHAT IS IT? One of the things that puzzle us in regard to the travels of animals is the way in which baby turtles and their way to the sea. The adults quit the sea only at breeding time. They swim up to a sandy island, crawl far inland, lay their eggs, cover them carefully with sand, and return to the water. The eggs hatch, and the little turtles march unerringly to the sea and forthwith go adrift. How do they know the way? Instinctively, of course; but through which of the turtle senses does instinct act? Is it sight, smell, or sense of direction?

Colored Paper Test. Scientists of the Carnegie Institute at Washington have been making experiments with young turtles in Florida. When the time came for the little reptiles to begin their seaward march the investigators tried them with sheets of colored paper—red, yellow and blue. When red or yellow was placed before the turtle it turned in the direction of the sea or away from the sea. We have not had the verdict of the investigators, but American writers have suggested from these facts that color is the guiding star of the turtles.

Mystery of Migration. It seems impossible in the presence of facts like these, so much more wonderful than the fog-trout of the turtle from land to sea, to believe that a mere sense of color is responsible for this march of the juvenile reptiles. The alligator's first move from its sandy cradle on land is toward the river, and though we turn its head away from water it will instantly reverse and scuttle for dear life in the water should go. No; there is something in migration less easily demonstrated than a sense of color.

NEW SORT OF LIFE BOAT

Saving Space on Liners. The ordinary lifeboat carried on a large liner holds about forty people, and a great deal of space is occupied on a ship by the boats and safety rafts. A new double-decked lifeboat has now been invented which can carry seventy people, while occupying only about the same space as the ordinary craft.

The Green Door Old Man Coyote and a Good Boy

When the farmer caught sight of Tom peeping in at the stable door he called out to him: "Here, young Tom! Will you run a little errand for me?" "Why, yes," answered Tom. Then he crossed to the big house by the side of the pond and called to the farmer: "Here, young Tom! Will you run a little errand for me?"

Tom nodded and went off. He knew the farmer had given him the green door with the lock on the chain that hung down by the side of it. Tom wouldn't have been surprised if the farmer had given him the green door with the lock on the chain that hung down by the side of it. Old Case From Australia. If a snake bites another cold-blooded creature will that creature die? There has been considerable difference of opinion on this interesting point of natural history, but a curious story related in an Australian newspaper shows that snake-bite is just as fatal to cold-blooded creatures as to warm-blooded ones.

"Babs" Tells of Her Ramble in the Woods

By "BABS" Member of C. C. I cross the lower field, jump the fence, and travel on the pasture path, which leads me to the brook where the cows drink in Summer. I cross the brook, and find myself in the old pasture woods. As I enter them the stillness of it all, which seem to cling around the old spruce and fir trees, add to the beauty of the scene.

RUSSIA FROM VIEWPOINT OF FRENCH STATESMEN

Regeneration of Country Will Eventually, It Is Believed, Be Joined by France as Well as Britain and Germany.

Paris, Jan. 26.—That France will eventually work with Germany and with England—this is the view of the French statesmen who are engaged in the study of the regeneration of Russia. Various schemes now to be in no doubt, and the tone of the newspapers is changing completely. But this cooperation may take various forms. It may, according to the wishes of the British, be engaged in with the full consent of Russia and the Soviet Government, or it may be a complete restoration of the Russian empire, or it may be a complete restoration of the Russian empire, or it may be a complete restoration of the Russian empire.

While he approved of France keeping a large army he would also raise a large German army with the full permission of France. Insisting upon the point that the restoration of the Russian empire is a complete restoration of the Russian empire, he has to persuade France that she has nothing to fear from Germany and he points out that Germany possesses none of those advantages of war that are needed even to resist for a moment the French. It is not Germany who is the enemy; it is Russia. At some length he shows that the Moscow government means to spread in one way or another revolutionary ideas in Germany and in France. Germany is in a state of economic disorder and it is reduced to despair she will succumb to Bolshevism. As for Poland, she is likely to fall before some form of Russian overture.

Dividing Up Russia.

That the powers should receive proper compensation for their work in Russia cannot be disputed, but that the funds of Western Europe should be forgotten because Western Europe has found a new object of prey is a notion that has its shocking side. To take advantage of the foolishness of Russia, of her immense needs, in order to divide her up between the powers was bound to evoke protests even from those Russians who are now living in exile and who are certainly not friendly toward the present Russian Government.

Russian Regeneration.

Asked if there would be quarrels between France, England, and Germany, his reply was that a consortium should be formed in which the capital of the three countries should be equally engaged and clear understanding arrived at regarding the distribution of the natural riches.

Second Plan More Radical.

Hilbert outlines the plans which would cut up Russia more or less with the consent of the Russian Government. But there is another plan which makes an appeal to French justice toward Bolshevism—a plan which is not to be tempted by the promise of material profit. This second plan is much more radical. It would first destroy the Russian Government and proceed by force to cut up Russia into exploitable sections.

NEARLY COMPLETED

The filling in of the area under Newman Brook bridge is nearly completed over nearly one-half of the culvert which was placed underneath the span and in about a week the span side of the bridge will be open to receive material. The foundations of the bridge have been cracking recently but it is now felt that the pile of material under the bridge has removed the danger of the bridge collapsing should the foundations fail.

Prohibition Idea Gaining In Great Britain

Efforts to Banish American Anti-Liquor Law Answered in Every Detail.

London, Jan. 25.—Even veteran temperance reformers are agreeing surprised at the way in which the prohibition idea applied to the drink traffic has passed into current phraseology in Great Britain. Nowadays one hardly reads a newspaper without coming across the word "prohibition" and the possibility is taken very seriously, and by brewers, distillers, and drink sellers.

FARMERS LOOK LIKE BANKERS IN WASHINGTON

Are All Men With Cost Sheets and Statistics at Finger Ends.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Let us try to get a mental picture of what the American farmer is thinking. It is rather important, for the agrarian interest is now the strongest and best organized interest in this country, and this fact is being recognized by the government. The farmer is thinking of the conditions existing now in the place they come from. Nevertheless it is extremely difficult to get an exact general impression of conditions in Russia at present owing to the fact that Russia has been plunged into almost prohibitive conditions of existence, that each town, each village, and each group of the population has its own history and no general rules can be formulated.

Shows That Relief Is Properly Placed

New York, Jan. 25.—The local office of the Russian Red Cross, in calling attention to the fact that the Soviet Government had recently voted $20,000,000 for the purchase of food abroad, quotes Colonel Haskell of the American Relief Administration as saying: "The American people can be assured that the relief goes directly to the sufferers. Just to show you how certain this is, I may tell you that the Soviet Government has even agreed to submit for our approval all their plans for the distribution of the $20,000,000 worth of food they are buying themselves in the United States, which will insure its reaching the famine areas."

Arthur McBride, president of the National Council of Child Welfare for Canada, also gave a short address on the work in Quebec, which was highly appreciated and congratulatory. New Brunswick work had already been accomplished here.

Palliatives But No Cure.

Like the rest of the bewildered world which the great war has left, they have not a cure for the situation which in they are. They have a lot of palliatives, but no cure. Some of their palliatives are inconsistent with each other; in which mental confusion every one here descends off the part of the business interests who wait for the restoration of buying and selling. For example: they want a market abroad. They want foreign exchange programs. They want one of their favorite subjects. But they also desire high tariff rates. In their mind the only defect in the tariff is that it is not high enough. They are not aware that this is another point of division between East and West.

Communism Slowly Abandoned.

Despite this peculiarity of life under the Bolsheviks, there are, however, certain principal centers, spread throughout the country, which are making their influence felt in the remotest corners. The most important of these currents is undoubtedly the progressive abandonment of the doctrine of Communism in favor of the capitalist institutions of the past. In other words, Communism has failed.

Certain Elements Weeded Out.

While the Bolsheviks consent to these compromises which practically mean the abandonment of the old process of evolution and transformation takes place in the ranks of their own followers. In the beginning of their reign the Bolsheviks engaged in the process of weeding out certain elements who were unwilling to follow the party line. The enemies of the former capitalist society were considered natural allies of the Bolsheviks. It was pointed out at the signing of the Brest-Litovsk Treaty that out of the seven persons representing Bolshevik Russia, six had been sent to various penitentiaries for crimes of common law. This instance is typical of the pressure of the Communist rulers of Russia. Being bent at present upon directing the course of their policy toward the conventions and traditions of capitalism, the Bolsheviks are endeavoring to purify the ranks of the Communist Party of the more objectionable elements.

Many Communists Sincere.

Whatever one may feel about Communism the sincerity of this kind of active devotion to the cause of the poor and to some extent exonerates them from responsibility for all the evil and misery Communism has wrought in Russia. As for the other Bolsheviks who adapt themselves so easily to the new current, their attitude toward the general distrust displayed by the West toward the Soviets and their new policy. As a matter of fact it seems likely that their present attitude is chiefly prompted by the necessity of securing help from the capitalist states in order to save Russia from the deadlock resulting from four years of misrule.

Savings Through Prohibition.

Another recent visitor to America of exceptional experience and shrewdness, the late Lord Curzon, speaking at the question from a purely practical and economic point of view: "One of the results of prohibition is that America is now saving $400,000,000 a year through prohibition. It is a saving of $2,000,000,000 a year if we were to save on our drink bill the same amount that America is doing we should pay off our debt in five years. I believe the policy of going dry in America means that in the world's race, America has thrown away a heavy weight, and that the nations behind in the race, are adding to our weight."

Odd Theories of Depression.

You hear odd theories of the present depression. For example, it is the needless and wasteful day of Mr. Hoover's "good control" which has created the impression that governments can do anything and everything.

"Bourgeois" Mentality.

The mentality of such a ruling class can only be bourgeois, conservative and capitalistic, and it finds its logical expression in the new course of the Soviet's policy. Such an evolution, however, does not imply a weakening of the authority of the Soviet; it proves only the failure of communism by does not jeopardize the situation of the official representatives of this creed since they are eager to desert their former banner.

Preventive Work of Stores.

As for the stores already sent to Russia, the Finnish train was confiscated right away and sent to the North, where the red guards were in need of supplies, while the stores sent from Estonia were taken over in Moscow and disappeared beyond the horizon of control of the donors. Such incidents justify the frequently expressed apprehensions that the new bourgeois tendencies of the Bolsheviks may subsequently prove a cleverly devised trap for canalizing the western capitals into Russia, i. e., into the pockets of the ruling class.

Practically Disappearing the Quackery.

Practically disappearing the quackery has been raised at a meeting of faithful Communists how their creed is to be saved and preserved. Curious, enough it has been suggested at the meeting, as a trustworthy reference has informed the correspondent of the "Hevly Bote," that the Communist Party should again become a secret organization and work underground.

Proper Feeding.

Proper feeding was another big factor in having healthy babies. The natural food for the baby was breast milk, but the working mother was not always able to feed her baby. Natural food because she had to work, and the speaker thought there should be some way provided whereby the mother would be able to feed her baby sufficient time off to feed her baby.

Addresses Given On Child Welfare

Dr. Doris Murray and J. Arthur McBride Spoke to Members of Local Council of Women.

The members of the Local Council of Women were given a treat yesterday afternoon in the splendid address by Dr. Doris Murray on Disease Prevention, and her hearers listened with the closest attention as she outlined the various steps to be taken in making this a healthier country in the future, in order that the children of the coming generation might have a better opportunity to be better citizens.

Mr. McBride, in his opening remarks, said the year 1922 ought to be the children's year, and that this year should be the healthiest born to date since the time of Noah.

One of the best methods of seeing that children were healthy was the child centre, with its trained doctors and nurses, carrying on the prenatal and post-natal work.

Dr. Doris Murray was then introduced by the president as the speaker of the afternoon on Preventive Work.

Then she would have the prenatal care for the expectant mother. At that time many women had no care at all for their babies.

Proper feeding was another big factor in having healthy babies. The natural food for the baby was breast milk, but the working mother was not always able to give her child its natural food because she had to work.

The well baby clinic was another important means of keeping the babies in good health. At these the mothers brought their children to be given a check-up on how to care for and teach them in home care, and these looked after the children until they were two years of age.

In treating tuberculosis, the preventive work was divided into two parts, the prevention of massive infection, and the treatment of a case once it had been established.

There should be proper school hygiene and open air schools and classes for the sub-normal child, to give him a real chance in life. Many children in the schools suffered from malnutrition, and these should be given special attention.

A note of thanks was moved by Mrs. Robinson Vanwart and seconded by Mrs. John Owens, and extended to Mrs. Murray by the president.

Successful Season For English Sire

Bend Or's Position is Undisputed as Premier in the List of Ten Great English Sires.

London, Jan. 26.—(By Canadian Press.)—By winning 522 races, valued at approximately $1,058,500 during the 1921 flat racing season, that sire of the English thoroughbred which traces its pedigree back to the great Bend Or, the winner of the Derby in 1830, has again firmly enthroned the Bend Or line in the premier position in the list of ten great English sires.

The Bend Or line had a most successful season last year increasing its winnings by some $116,000 over the previous year, with earnings exceeding the million dollar mark, approximately $1,052,500.

Silas Green Met Peculiar Defeat

Had Best of Eight Rounds in Ottawa, Then Counted Out Without Being Struck.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Silas Green, Montreal's champion light-heavyweight met a peculiar defeat here tonight in Ottawa's third attempt to bring back professional boxing. For nearly the whole of eight rounds he had the better of a good mill with Tex McEwan, an Ottawa heavyweight, and then, just when McEwan appeared due for slumbering they came together in a corner. No blows were struck, but Green appeared to slip down and stayed there while Referee Jimmie Freeman counted 10 Green sprang up and declared that he had caught his arm in one of the ropes which was hanging rather slack. His seconds charged that ten had not been counted loud enough by the referee, but the pressmen, who were the nearest of any to the corner, stated they heard the ten very distinctly. The verdict pleased the crowd, but everybody agreed that Green was fast wearing down his old antagonist, Dennis Critchlow, another good local middleweight.

Jack Meech, a promising Ottawa 155 pounder, won a popular verdict in six rounds over his old antagonist, Dennis Critchlow, another good local middleweight.

Gordie Smith, 165 pounds, beat Herb Purdy, 165 pounds, in four rounds, while George Daly and Jack Baker 140 pounders, fought four rounds to a draw.

Jack (Kid) Thomas, welterweight of Montreal, issued a challenge from the ring to meet any welter in Canada.

Several Factors Prominent
Influencing the Market's
Uncertain Trend.

New York, Jan. 27.—On a much smaller volume of business, today's irregular stock market reflected the mixed view of professional traders and the lack of more than casual public interest. Money tendencies, possible disruption of impending industrial mergers, and further price revision of various commodities were among the factors which influenced the market's uncertain trend. Call loans were freely made at the initial rate of 5 per cent but the demand later forced the rate to 4 1/2. That figure, however, being 1/2 per cent under the previous day's maximum.

Pools in the steel, motor, chemical, sugar and utility groups engaged in their familiar churning process. The Standard Steel, Studenaker, Davison Chemical and Corn Products comprised a large part of the day's operations with relatively obscure issues such as American Ice public service of New Jersey, and Remington Typewriter. Rails were firm in the early dealings on better earnings and assurance that prevailing freight rates would be maintained but pressure was later directed against several of the high grade practices and coalers. Sales amounted to $53,000 shares in advance of 150 cents in the pound sterling from its recent low quotation was the outstanding feature of the foreign exchange market. The French rate showing current strength. Dealers attributed the improvement in these remittances to prospects of a better understanding in the Anglo-French political situation.

Heavy selling of Liberty bonds at extreme reactions of 25 cents to almost $1 per $100 was associated with prospective soldier bonus legislation. Itals were irregular, but local transactions strengthened. Total sales, par value, aggregated $18,250,000.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—Trading was light, though somewhat broader, on the local market today. Only three or four stocks were dealt in to any extent, and fluctuations in price were narrow and mainly downward. Steamships, preferred, was the least inactive issue. It opened 1/2 points higher, but failed to maintain strength, selling down to 4 1/2. The stock closed with a rally at 4 3/4 up the fraction for the day.

Some interest was created by a sharp advance in Spanish, preferred, which closed 3/4 points higher at 71. Laurentide was the only other paper stock that was dealt in other than by broker lists. It sold half lower at 73 1/2. The best gain of the day was in Canadian Converters which moved up 2/4 to 72. Canadian Cottons also gained 1/2 to 81. On the other hand Dominion Textile sold off two points to 136.

Vienna, Jan. 27.—Crowns recovered 1,100 points in the dollar in the Austrian exchange market today, chiefly on account, it was believed, of London reports that a loan of £2,500,000 might be forthcoming.

On light business, Steel of Canada eased off a point for both common and preferred, the former selling at 60 and the latter at 93. Dominion Steel also dropped a point to 25 1/2. CONDITIONS ARE MUCH IMPROVED IN EGYPT

London, Jan. 23.—News is momentarily expected in British official circles to the effect that Sarwat Pasha has accepted the Sultan's invitation to form an Egyptian Cabinet. Ever since the deportation of Saad Zaghlul Pasha to Ceylon, there has been a noticeable decline in the country's confidence in the present government.

Protection of Suez Canal

Australia, New Zealand and India have clearly stated that in their interest the Suez Canal must be safeguarded at all costs. They consider it forms a vital link in the chain of empire, and that in granting independence to Egypt this consideration must be fully weighed.

Winnipeg, Jan. 27.—Winnipeg wheat futures opened slightly higher at what proved to be the low point of the day, and closed after a fairly active session at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents higher and stronger in some. All coarse grains showed a slight advance along with wheat. In cash wheat the offerings were fair but, with the exception of No. 2 Northern the demand was not exceptionally keen. Oats and barley showed a fair demand but crushers seem to have satisfied their requirements for the moment and flux was not called for, and later continued dull with little or no inquiry.

Manitoba's Loan Fund Bill To Aid Needy Farmers

Designed to Help Farmers in Saving Farms from Foreclosures.
Winnipeg, Jan. 27.—Establishment of a loan fund by the Provincial Government to prevent mortgage foreclosures from foreclosing on needy farmers of the province, is advocated in a bill to be presented to the Legislature by George Palmer, M. L. A. for Dauphin. Mr. Palmer said he was in favor of creating a fund of at least $1,000,000 for the purpose of advancing small sums of farmers which would enable them to meet small payments by way of interest on loans, and prevent foreclosure.

The High Commissioner in Egypt was convinced by Zaghlul Pasha's recent efforts that the greater portion of his following would quickly drop their attachments once he was removed. The corollaries of this conclusion, it is asserted, has been fully justified by the manner in which even extreme Nationalists have settled down to their ordinary avocations.

Anglo-Egyptian Relations

Certain members of the British Parliament, including Major Harry Barnes, J. H. Clynes, Commander Kenworthy and others, have been bringing influence to bear on the Government urging it to drop the adoption of a policy border calculated mainly to the detriment of the relations in the future between Britain and Egypt. They claim that it is impossible that either country should obtain absolutely all it seeks, and therefore there should be a certain amount of give and take on both sides.

Of course the great stumbling block to arriving at an agreement is the British claim to retain garrisons in certain towns in Egypt, a condition that the former Premier, in face of threatened disturbances, felt constrained to refuse. The Egyptian contention that any force necessary to assure the safety of that vital strip of water should be based on the canal is wholly unacceptable to the British Government. The Nationalists of Egypt on the other hand claim that the retention of British garrisons would wholly prevent the country acquiring that measure of independence desired.

British authorities assert that since the departure of Zaghlul Pasha, the country has steadily settled down, and it is now considered possible that martial law, which has been in effect for some years past, may at any moment be found no longer necessary.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Decided upturns in the price of wheat at Buenos Ayres and Liverpool led a good deal today to bring about an advance here. The close was firm at 58 to 1 1/2 cent net higher.
