The Standard.

ST. ANDREWS, MAY 9, 1866.

The real issue in the forthcoming Election, will be Confederation—this should not be denied. From the published correspondence between the Governor and his Council, it is apparent that the Government were committed to a Union policy—that they were to obtain a Union on the best terms. How then could the leader of the late Government declare in the Assembly that they did not intend to bring any measure for Union? The die however, is now cast, and we believe that a majority of the Electors at the Polls will vote for those Candidates who are Unionists, no doubt there will be some Antis, but they will form Her Majesty's opposition.

THE FENIANS have again turned up in this vicinity, according to a telegram which is published in another place; indeed it was not generally believed that they had all departed; the exit of the few at Eastport and Calais, during last week was only for the purpose of deceiving the Provincialists, and with the intention of healing divisions among themselves, and according to their own published announcement of "a change of base." Until the United States Government publish a Proclamation forbidding their assembling on the borders of a friendly state, and enforce the law against carrying concealed weapons, the Fenians will continue to harass, if they do not attack the people on the Frontier.

We re-publish the following by request:—
DINNER TO THE VOLUNTEERS.—The inhabitants of this Town as a mark of their appreciation of the services of the York Volunteers, invited them to a public dinner in the Town Hall, on Monday evening last. The tables were tastefully arranged and hall hung round with flags. A blessing was asked by the Rev. W. Q. Ketchum, and the large party including some guests, partook of an excellent dinner. Mr. Campbell acted as Chairman, and the Sheriff as Vice-chairman. After the removal of the cloth the following toasts were given from the chair:—

The Queen. The Prince of Wales and the Royal Family. The Army and Navy responded to by Lt. Col. Willis. The York Volunteers, acknowledged by Major Simonds; the Vice-chairman referred to the conduct of Major Simonds and his men in the present emergency, as according with the motto on the poop of the Flagship Duncan—"deeds not words." The President of the United States. From the Vice chair.—The Gov. Genl. of British North America. The Lt. Governor and Commander in Chief. The hon. Mrs. Gordon and the fair daughters of New Brunswick. Major General Hastings Doyle, and staff of the Army in New Brunswick. Vice Admiral Sir James Hope. Col. McKinstry and 17th Regt. Col. Clifford and Royal Artillery, Col. Westmacott and Royal Engineers. Col. Anderson and Lt. Col. Willis, in proposing this toast the Vice-chairman paid a very appropriate and well merited tribute to the energetic, faithful, and able manner in which the two last named gentlemen had performed the difficult duties confided to them, stating that for the protection we now enjoyed, by which the company were enabled to assemble around the festive board in that room, where a few weeks ago nothing was seen but bristling bayonets and preparations for defence of the frontier for the presence of the York Volunteers, the General and staff, the 17th Regt., the Royal Artillery and Engineers, and the ships of War now lying off the harbor—the community were indebted to the preservation and unwavering efforts of both those gentlemen to put the place in a proper position of defence. Want of space prevents our giving even a synopsis of the speeches of the Rev. Mr. Ketchum, Major Simonds, and in reply to the volunteers toasts. Lt. Col. Willis' speech was neat, pertinent, modest and exceedingly well conceived. The Committee were solicitous to make the evening pass off agreeably, and they succeeded admirably.

Charlotte General Sessions of the Peace April 1866.

RESOLVED—That the Justices in Session, fully appreciate the valuable Military services rendered by COLONEL ANDERSON and those under his command, in guarding this community against the intended invasion of the Fenians; and the Justices consider the safety of the County is mainly owing to his sound judgment, energy, and judicious arrangements.

Further Resolved—That a copy of the above Resolution be transmitted to Col. Anderson and Lieut. Col. Willis, signed by the Chairman and Clerk of the Peace, and published in the St. Andrews Standard.

We have great pleasure in publishing the following letter from Col. ANDERSON, upon receipt of the above resolution:

HEAD QUARTERS,
St. Andrews, 2nd May, 1866.
To their Honors, the Chairman and Justices of the General Sessions of the County of Charlotte.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—
On my arrival last evening, I received with great satisfaction the very kind and flattering Resolution which you have honored me by passing in reference to the efforts I made to defend the Frontier. Though not an alarmist, I certainly for some time was in daily expectation of an attack, and considering St. Andrews the key to the Province, I made it my head quarters. I am pleased to see that this opinion has been practically endorsed, by the fact of the Major General retaining the majority of his troops in your town.

Your approbation is the more satisfactory to me, as I am aware that people who, from locality, have not been placed in such a perilous position as the inhabitants of St. Andrews, are inclined to consider that the preparations which were made for the defence of the Frontier, were altogether unnecessary.

Any credit which may be awarded to me, I would share with the small band of Volunteers and Home Guard, whose conduct and spirit during a very critical period, deserve the thanks of their native Province, and my warmest approval. Again thanking you, Gentlemen, for the honor you have done, I have the honor to remain,

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,
Your very obedient Servant,
T. ANDERSON, Colonel late Com. Frontier Field Force.

THE BRITISH SQUADRON ON THE FISHING GROUNDS. A very incorrect list of the squadron at present comprising the naval force on this station under command of Vice Admiral Sir James Hope, K. C. The following is going the rounds of the American press in reference to the fleets at Valparaiso:—

The United States squadron in the harbor consists of the monitor Monadnock—four fifteen inch guns; the Powhatan—twelve guns; the Vanderbilt—fifteen guns; the Tuscarora—ten guns; the Wateree—ten guns; and the Swanee—ten guns; in all sixty-one guns. The English fleet is smaller in the number of vessels, and also of guns. The Spanish iron-clad is a vessel of immense offensive and defensive power, 380 feet long, eighteen feet out of water, mounts forty guns and is all plated with five inches of iron. Her capacity is no less than seventy-two hundred tons; nevertheless Commodore Rodgers believes he could sink her in less than half an hour. In a private letter the Commodore humorously remarked that he has two vis-a-vis the Spanish Governor, who, he thinks, fully satisfied himself by close inspection that his monster is no match for the American monitor. The Commodore also writes that the Monadnock was visited by 3000 Chilians in a single day.

The N. Y. Times alludes to the Fenians:—"The Roberts-Sweeney men are making very serious preparations for a march on Canada. They keep their movements entirely secret, and not only solicit money but cartridges, No. 50, of which they say they require about 5,000,000. Before two weeks this party shall have taken some definite action. Sweeney intends to move about the first of May, and promises, 'victory or death.' Gen. Mullen who adhered to the Union Square colours, has resigned his position there, and left for the West, where it is said he delivers lectures pronouncing the whole thing a 'humbug.' Still O'Mahoney has a few adherents left, but the great majority now seem to look to Roberts as the only hope of Ireland and Fenianism."

FENIAN ARREST.—A Fenian was lately arrested in Cornwall, Canada, and on being searched his commission was found upon him, and authority given by Gen. Sweeney to recapture a Fenian latitudinarian in Canada. Several other interesting documents were also found upon him. He openly boasted of being a Fenian, but says he has done nothing to justify his arrest. He appeared satisfied with his quarters, but informed his keepers that General Sweeney would shortly be over and show cause for his release.

A London Workhouse Kitchen.

The Kitchen of the workhouse about twelve o'clock on Christmas-Day presented as lively and cheerful a scene as any one could desire to witness at such a season. At long, white, scrupulously clean tables, stretching from end to end of the bright airy apartment, men in white caps, and women in white aprons were busy cutting up rations of roast beef. Each carver had a large piece of steaming succulent beef before him, and at his right hand a pair of scales, in which each ration was weighed. The rapidity with which the plates were placed upon the scale, "helped" with eight ounces of beef, and carried away, was something quite magical. But it was necessary to use expedients, for there were one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two persons to serve with dinner. Behold, then, some eight or ten carvers, moving down beef, an equal number at another row of tables excavating great mountains of plum pudding, others shovelling up masses of floury potatoes from yawning cauldrons, while alabaster-pumpers are rushing hither and thither with the steaming rations to the various wards. Beef, potatoes, and plum-pudding everywhere and what with the cutting and the slashing of the carvers, the banging of cauldron lids, and the dense volume of steam that rolls overhead, you have no idea that you are in the midst of a great culinary battle, the idea being further strengthened by the sight of the plum-puddings rolling about like red-hot shot. I expect to be put "hors du combat" every minute. Turn where I will, I am in the midst of the fire, assailed by beef in front, by plum-pudding on the flank, by potatoes in the rear. I am quite thankful when the matron, like a skillful female general, comes to my rescue, and brings me off the field to a secure retreat behind the meat screen. He I regale myself after the toils and perils of the battle. Behold the soldier tired out on a three-legged stool—I may as well drop the metaphor here—partaking of the pauper's Christmas dinner. The whole course is set before me, and it consists of eight ounces of roast beef, eight ounces of potatoes, sixteen ounces of plum pudding, and a pint of cooper. I partook of all, and I can conscientiously declare, that each article was not only good, but exceedingly tasty and appetizing. I have on more than one occasion tried the dinners at the working men's dining-rooms, but at none of them have I found the food so good as at this workhouse on Christmas-Day.—[Churchman's Family Magazine.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL HAND.

Two charming women were discussing one day what it is which constitutes beauty in the hand. They differed in opinion as much as shape of the beautiful members whose merits they were discussing. A gentleman friend presented himself, and by common consent the question was referred to him. It was a delicate matter. He thought of Paris and the three goddesses. Glancing from one to the other of the beautiful white hands presented for his examination, he replied at last, "I give it up, the question is too hard for me; but ask the poor they will tell you the most beautiful hand in the world is the hand that gives."

PLOUGHMAN.

It is said that the wife of Thomas Carlyle, becoming tired of her husband's position in his history, told an inquiring friend the other day that she wished the great Frederic had died when he was a baby.

A French official return shows that the Mexican expedition has cost France up to the 31st of December, 1865, no less a sum than £27,000,000 sterling. The losses in the French forces, land and sea, have been 11,414 men, namely: Killed, 3319; died from wounds or effects of climate, etc., 4928; disabled for life, 3167; grand total, 11,414.

Talking to Boys.

Billy Ross is a great temperance lecturer, and at Russellville, Illinois, was preaching to the young on his favorite theme. He said:—"Now boys, when I ask you a question, you mustn't be afraid to speak right out and answer me. When you look around and see all these fine houses, farms, and cattle, do you ever think who owns them all now? Your fathers own them, do they not?" "Yes sir!" shouted a hundred voices.

"Well, where will your fathers be twenty years from now?"

"Dead!" shouted the boys.

"That's right. And who will own all this property then?"

"Us boys!"

"Right. Now tell me did you ever, in going along the streets, notice the drunkards loitering about the saloon doors, waiting for somebody to treat them?"

"Yes sir; lots of 'em!"

"Well, where will they be twenty years from now?"

"Dead!"

"And who will be the drunkards then?"

"Us boys!"

Billy was thunder-struck for a moment, but recovering himself, tried to show them how they might escape such a fate.

A Fearful Tale of the Sea—Frozen to Death.

The schooner "Pattie Martin," bound to Hatteras Island, from New Jersey, went ashore on the night of the 17th ult., and filled immediately. The crew were compelled to seek shelter in the rigging, but in about 3 hours, in consequence of the extreme cold, the Captain, D. A. Smith, of Camden, New Jersey, was frozen to death, and in about half an hour afterwards, the cook, a colored man, succumbed to the same fate. The mate, Harry T. Steedman, and a seaman named George W. Tolson, lived for five days in the rigging when they were rescued by some Cape Hatteras pilots. The feet of both the mate and the sailor were badly frozen; but it was believed that by proper treatment they could ultimately recover. For nearly two days the unfortunate men were in a most deplorable condition, and in order to alleviate their hunger they were compelled, as a last resource, to devour a portion of the flesh of the black cod, and partake slightly of salt water, which afterwards caused them fearful agony. The mate, when taken off the wreck, was becoming rapidly deranged, and the other man approaching the same condition. Both men however, soon recovered their reason, and beyond, as we have said before, suffering from being frost bitten, are in a good state of mind. The body of the Captain had been recovered, and taken ashore, and it was believed that the remains of the black man could be removed from the rigging.

A GERMAN STATE DISAPPEARS.—By the death of the childless Landgrave of Hesse Homburg, one of the minor German States becomes extinct. The number of States composing the Federal Union has now been reduced to 33; at the establishment of the Confederacy it was 39. The little Landgrave falls to Hesse Darmstadt. It is hoped in Germany that the new Government will at once put an end to the gambling-tables, to which Homburg was indebted for its prominently a gambling place.

HEALTH OF THE TROOPS.—It is said that the provincial military authorities have decided to place all their troops serving in Canada under canvas, and to remove them some distance from the place at which they are at present quartered. The object is to prevent as far as possible the introduction of the cholera into the garrisons, should it visit the province. The troops stationed in London are it is said, likely to be removed to Komoka, where they will occupy quarters during the hot season.—[British American.

NOVEL USE OF A KISS.—A kiss ever since the days of Adam, has been a token of friendship; but alas! it has served a traitor's purpose in some cases, as may be seen by the following:—An agent, not many miles from Lewiston, returning from a sleigh-ride, on arriving at the paternal mansion of his lady, gave and received a kiss of friendship as he supposed; but alas! the sequel will show how much he was mistaken, for the door having been closed he overheard the following conversation:—"Why Lucy I ain't you ashamed to kiss a man out there all alone with him? when I was a girl I wouldn't have done it for the world." "No, mamma, I am not," answered Lucy, "for I only kissed him to tell by his breath if he had been drinking."

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—We are informed that early Saturday morning the train for the steamer, on the Grand Trunk Railway was coming from Montreal to this city, the sleeping car was thrown from the track, somewhere on the Canada side, and down an embankment of 12 or 15 feet. Some of the passengers were bruised, but none seriously injured. The car, after being overturned, caught fire and was destroyed.—[Press.

On Friday night a murder was committed in Eastport. Some men had been wrestling, and the affair was about ending in a knock-down, when James Andrews, interfered and was struck by Andrew Bell, once under the jaw, and again in the pit of the stomach, which blows laid him out, dead. Bell has been sent to Maclellan jail. Both men were sailors and belonged in Eastport. Andrews is said to have been a former resident of Portland.

Gen. Grant was arrested by two mounted police men for fast driving a favorite horse of his in the streets of Washington. He offered to pay the fine on the spot, but the policemen said he must go to the station house and there pay it. He refused, put the horse to his legs and drove on at the top of his speed. A day or two after he called at the police headquarters and paid the fine.

An expert went into a bank in Meridian Conn., to give the officers some instructions in regard to counterfeit notes. The Cashier passed him two notes, both counterfeit, and asked him to tell which was the genuine. The expert examined the bills some time, and made his decision. The Cashier then took his lessons, and paid the expert for his instructions by bestowing upon him a two dollar note which he had declared genuine.

A merchant of Cork has brought an action for £10,000 damages against a magistrate for sending sixty policemen to his house, which they ransacked in a rough way in search of arms and ammunition of war. "In England, every man's house is his castle, which the Kings, etc.; but it is different in Ireland, don't you see?"

ARRIVAL OF THE CHINA.

HALIFAX, May 7.
The steamship China, Captain Inglis, left Liverpool at half past 8 o'clock on the morning of the 24th ult. and Queenstown on the evening of the 25th ult. She arrived at Halifax at 5 a.m. on the 7th inst. She brought 48 Halifax and 83 Boston passengers.

On the 2nd of April the City of Washington lost her propeller and proceeded for Liverpool under canvas; on the 12th she lost her rudder; shortly afterwards, in lat. 46, lon. 33, the Propeller fell in with the City of Washington, and took off the above. The Washington continued under sail with temporary aid for Queenstown. Assistance was to be sent to her. The news of her safety was received with great delight at Liverpool.

In the House of Commons, on the 20th the debate on the Reform Bill was continued. Mr. Lowe made an able speech against the bill, and was followed by a host of others, pro and con, of lesser note.

On the 27th the final debate took place, and after many speeches Mr. Disraeli wound up on the side of the Opposition in a long and forcible speech, denouncing Mr. Gladstone's advocacy of American principles, which he regarded as unfitted for England.

At one o'clock on Saturday morning Mr. Gladstone rose and made the final speech, warmly defending Government and denouncing the Opposition tactics. At three o'clock in the morning amidst intense excitement, the division took place, numbers being—for the bill 318, against it 313; Government majority 5.

There was tremendous cheering on both sides of the House at the result.

In the House of Commons attention had been drawn to the dangerous state of Dunnet Rock, off Cork Harbor, from fact of wreck of the City of New York, still remaining upon it.

Milner Gibson said it was doubtful if owners of the ship could be compelled to remove the wreck, and it was not the duty of the Board of Trade to do so.

The U.S. Consul at Liverpool, on the 26th took formal possession of the ex-rebel cruiser Tallahassee in the name of the American Government in terms of the decision of the Court of Admiralty.

AUSTRIA AND PRUSSIA.—It is stated that an Austrian despatch delivered at Berlin on the 26th, announced that Austria had not immediately begun to disarm on account of the fresh complications having arisen with Italy.

The semi-official "Norddeutsche Zeitung" of the 26th, says, that the increased armaments of Austria forbid the disarmament of Prussian forces. Should Austria attack Italy, Prussia could not consent to see the Italian army disabled. Austria must reduce her establishments to a peace footing on Italian terms, as on Prussian frontier, or must otherwise expect the increase of Prussian armaments.

A Vienna telegram says, that the Austrian response to the Prussian note of 21st, acknowledges with satisfaction its conciliatory character, pointing out, however, that virtually Austria did not arm but only effected certain movement of troops, as an evidence of a peaceful aspect which the relations of two great German Powers had assumed.

Austria had made arrangements for a retrograde movement of the forces concentrated in Bohemia, and officially communicated such arrangements to Prussia.

A Berlin despatch says, that a considerable time before any war rumors occurred, the military authorities made preparations for drill Landwehr; consequently about 40,000 men of Landwehr are to be assembled for military exercise in a few weeks.

The Federal Diet at Frankfurt selected a Committee of 11 representatives of the leading German States, to consider the question of a Reform of Federal Constitution.

ITALY.—Italian Government is stated to have officially declared to Western Powers that rumors of military levies in Italy and conscription of Italian troops upon the Venetian frontier are unfounded.

Latest.—Queenstown, 29th.—It is stated that the British Ministry will not resign in consequence of the small majority.

Killian and Confederation.

[From the Hamilton Spectator.]

Mr. Killian is a sort of Sim Tappert in his way. Doubtless some confiding Muggs sits in an obscure attic in New York and feels as if "gallons of cold water were being poured down his back" as the folks of the danger to which her "precious Simon" may be exposed, as he trends the northern frontier of the Fenian land. And he, though breathing forth nothing but blood and fire, and slaughter, and yelling for vengeance on all things British, has apparently done the empire a very great service by hastening on the progress of confederation in New Brunswick. Thus it is that man proposes and Providence disposes, and thus it is that the efforts of wicked men to effect evil often are made productive of good. Mr. Killian expressed the opinion that it was the duty of every true American citizen, without reference to the cause or welfare of Ireland, to do all that lay in his power to prevent confederation, inasmuch as the union of all the provinces of British North America would tend to increase the power and promote the prosperity of the British race upon this continent, and would dissipate for ever all annexation hopes. In fact, Killian succeeded in proxying to his hearers flow highly necessary confederation was to British America, in a manner which shows that whisky has not entirely destroyed his intellect and perceptive powers. The lesson does not seem to have been lost upon the New Brunswick people.—They see how anxious their enemies are to prevent confederation, and naturally enough are rendered more than ever determined in its favor. Many a waverer has been made a supporter of the great scheme of union by this speech of Killian, and our contemporaries in the Lower Provinces have not failed to impress upon their readers what are the real ends of Killian and his gang, and point out that the only situation for them lies in union with Canada. The Fenians, however, are too utterly and entirely ignorant of the facts of the case to be able to do much harm or to have much influence with anybody. They insist that it is the design of the British Government to force confederation upon New Brunswick, and that a rebellion will be the result, in which they would join with the friends of disunion and establish an "Irish Republic" upon the ruins of the present government.—Few men on this side of the line can be found foolish enough to believe that the imperial government has the slightest wish to force any scheme upon the people of these colonies. On the contrary, Her Majesty's ministers have always refused to take the initiative in any scheme of union, insisting that it must first be proposed by the colonists themselves. They say that they do not intend to make a raid upon our territory, but only desire (kind gentlemen, would they say that?) that the people of New Brunswick should not be coerced; they have only to "signify their wishes," says the Fenian proclamation, and Killian stands ready to give them republican institutions and a great number of other equally terrible things.

Confederation is now a certainty, Killian has unwittingly done good service, and neither he nor Mr. Howe can prevent the consummation of that grand scheme which is destined to establish British power upon this continent upon a sure basis, and to promote the prosperity and peace of British America.

MORE ABOUT THE FENIANS.—We learn from the New York papers that the Fenian bubble has fairly burst, and O'Mahony has been deposed. As for Killian, it is represented that he dares not return to headquarters on account of his falsehood and imbecility during the disastrous campaign on the eastern border. The men who were inveigled from their homes on his representation that they were to sail from an eastern port as part of a large army designed to be landed in Ireland, on their arrival at New York, to which place they had to almost beg their way back from Eastport, Me., called on O'Mahony on Saturday last, and demanded, with pointed pistols, remuneration for loss of employment. It is said they were paid $30 each. On Sunday afternoon the Manhattan Department met, sent for O'Mahony, lauded him over the coals in thorough earnest, and appointed a committee to take charge of affairs at headquarters from whence the Head Centre and his satellites were expelled, and possession of all the property taken. Some enthusiastic Fenians expect a restoration of harmony when Stephens comes along; but the wiser among them think their cause defunct, at least for the present.—[Boston Journal.]

MILITIA GENERAL ORDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS, FREDERICTON, 2nd May, 1866.

Commissioners signed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

New Brunswick Regiment of Artillery. William Isaac Clewly, Gent, to be First Lieutenant, 2d May, 1866.

Herbert William Goldard, Gent, to be Second Lieutenant 2d May 1866.

First Battalion Charlotte County Militia. Lieutenant and Adjutant Charles E. Mowatt to be Captain, 2d May, 1866.

Ensign Eber S. Pollys to be Lieutenant, 2d May 1866, vice Stevenson promoted.

Robert Melville Jack, Gent, to be Ensign, 2d May 1866, vice Pollys, promoted.

MEMORANDUM.

Captain James Boyd, H. M. 17th Regt. to have the rank of Colonel in the Militia of New Brunswick whilst serving on the Frontier.

By Command.

G. J. MAUNSELL, Lt. Col. Adj. Gen. of Militia.

SMUGGLING ON THE FRONTIER.—The Boston Courier says:—All the stories told about the immense advantages derived to the United States revenue from the increased force of male and female inspectors and detectives on the frontier, and the periodical despatches from Washington that an effectual check had been given to smuggling by the activity of the local officials, seem to be all gammon. The Rochester Union says: "The quantity of spirits smuggled into the country from Canada is enormous, probably one-third of all that is consumed. All the stuff telegraphed from Washington will not gainst this. One-half of the whiskey sold in this city, Buffalo, and other points along the frontier, is the product of Canadian spirits."

REMARKABLE FECUNDITY.—A ewe of the South Down breed, belonging to Mr. William Connor, Oak Point, gave birth to four lambs this spring in the following order: on Wednesday of one week, two, on the following Friday one, and another on the Monday four weeks following. The whole four lambs are living and doing well.—[St. Croix Courier.]

The embodied Volunteers of the 4th Battalion were consolidated with the Regulars for Battalion drill on Friday morning, and the Colonel Commanding expressed himself well pleased with the manner in which the different movements were performed.

A correspondent, who is interesting letter we regret we have not space to insert this week, informs us that major McAdam organized a company of men at Upper Mills on Monday night, and a fine looking set of men they are. The officers are: Rex M. King Captain,

D. U. Porter—Lieutenant; E. J. Simpson Ensign.—[Ibid.]

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL will continue in Session at Fredericton for several days yet.—A large amount of business remains to be transacted. We understand that Hon. Mr. Hutchison has resigned his seat in the Government, his absence in Britain having precluded his doing so at an earlier day.—[Telegraph.]

MELANCHOLY AFFAIR.—An inmate of the Lunatic Asylum, Mrs. Michael Doolan, of Sussex, escaped from the enclosure yesterday morning. Being pursued, she jumped from the cliff below the building into the Falls, and was drowned! Her husband was formerly in the employment of Messrs. Doherty & McTavish.—[Ibid.]

The Standard.

ST. ANDREWS, MAY 9, 1866.

FIRST PAGE.—Editorial, Col. Anderson's reply to Sessions Resolution. Miscellaneous matter, &c.

Movement of Troops.

We, in common with the whole community regret to learn, that owing to recent Military changes, Maj. Gen. Doyle and Staff, the Royal Artillery, and the gallant 17th Regt. with its splendid band, are to return to Halifax in the Troopship "Simoon." They will embark on Friday next. During their brief sojourn here, the general good conduct of the men who are under thorough discipline, and other kindly feelings which existed between them and the civilians, made them favorites. It has seldom been our lot to witness a better specimen of a truly British Regiment, than the "Bengal Tigers," a name which the fighting 17th honorably won, during the War in India; they also distinguished themselves at the Crimea. Both Col. Clifford of the Royal Artillery and Col. McKintyre of the 17th, wear honorable badges won on the battle field. Wherever these officers, and the men under their command may be stationed, they will carry with them the best wishes of the residents of St. Andrews.

The Globe of the 8th inst. says—"The Saint John Volunteer Battalion, Lt. Col. Otty Commanding, is under orders for service at St. Andrews and St. Stephen, and will embark on board the Simoon on Friday morning. Two Companies of 15th Regiment will also go to the same points.

IMPORTANT DOCUMENT.—His Excellency the Lieut. Governor, has written a lengthy and able reply to the Memorandum of the Executive Council in which he clearly proves that he violated no constitutional right. It is quite plain, Mr. Smith told His Excellency to believe that he was in favor of Union, and that he would take measures to meet the wishes of the British Government. The Governor has shown himself more than a match for the late President of the Council, in writing, and in political discussion. With the difference between Mr. Smith and His Excellency, as to whose memory is the most accurate, we have nothing to say—the great question is, and will be, shall these Provinces be united? The answer generally given is that they will—but we await patiently for the answer at the Polls, soon to be given.

Should the present threatening attitude of the Fenians continue for any length of time, it will inspire our people with a martial spirit.—The Volunteers are becoming proficient, and make quite a respectable appearance on parade, the Militia Artillery also have made rapid progress in a knowledge of their drill.

On Wednesday afternoon, Col. Clifford, R. A., ordered three detachments of the Militia Artillery, to the Parade Ground, Fort Tipperary, for the purpose of testing their proficiency in gun drill; such marks of attention and interest in our newly formed company of Artillery, by the gallant Colonel and his officers, are highly appreciated by the inhabitants, as an evidence of consideration in the welfare and proficiency of our volunteers, and proofs that the British Officer and Soldier will not only readily come and defend us, but also teach us how to defend ourselves.

The Companies were drilled by Sergt. Major Legg, of the Royal Artillery; after their going through various evolutions of Field Battery exercise, they fired two rounds from each gun, performing the duty, in what the Royal Artillery Officers were pleased to say was "a steady and soldier like manner." We are all indebted to Col. Clifford for permitting Sergt. Major Legg and the other non-commissioned officers at the Fort to instruct the St. Andrews Battery; their services have been invaluable—indeed the advantage of having so intelligent and well drilled men to teach the Battery the field and gun exercise, and to qualify them for active service when required, should not be allowed to pass unrecorded. The Battery evince a readiness and aptitude to receive instruction, which augurs well for their future usefulness.

We learn that the officers are also receiving the benefit of the Sergt. Major's knowledge of the Sword exercise.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Lines by an Englishman, received and will be published.—The lengthy notice of the Volunteer Dinner at St. George is received. We request correspondents to be more brief, as our space is limited, and we cannot engage to publish every letter received, nor will we insert any correspondence if written on both pages of a sheet.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.—The semi annual Examination was held on Monday last, the 7th inst., being the time appointed by Board of Education. The classes were examined in the usual branches, and manifested a readiness and a knowledge which was very pleasing. Their answering in Roman History, Familiar Science, Caesar and English Grammar was remarkably good. In arithmetic, quickness and accuracy, in writing, care and good execution were very observable. The Record entered in the Government Report is as follows:—"Examination in every respect satisfactory."

CONCERT.—The Band of the 2-17th Regt will give a concert in aid of the building fund of All Saints Church, on Thursday evening 10th inst., in the Volunteer Barracks. The following is the Programme:—

1. Overture, Masonello, Auber.
  2. Valse, Shilly Stally, Hardy.
  3. Selection, Hibernian Bonquet, Kappey.
  4. Quadrille, British Navy, Jullien.

NEW YORK, May 4.

The Herald's Kingston (Jamaica) correspondent says the testimony taken in the case of Gov. Eyre, concerning his proceedings in suppressing the insurrection, will honorably exonerate that officer. On the other hand, it is claimed that great brutality was practiced. The churches and clergymen were still much agitated.

O'Mahony has issued a circular stating that he was erroneously informed that the island of Campbell was neutral ground; that he intended establishing a Fenian camp there; that thence would be sent Fenian privateers; that the failure was owing to the undue publicity of the action to the United States and British Governments; that he made a mistake in consenting to the movement, and hereafter will steadily do his duty as a Fenian.
