What bitter experience can compare with that of Edgar Bond, of Englehart, who watched the bodies of father, mother and eight sisters and brothers lowered into the grave one by one? Few men will live to endure a blow so swift and tragic.

A Kansas farmer committed suicide by tying a rope around his neck and fastening the other end to the collar of a horse, which he frightened and forced to run from the barn. The animal dragged the man into an open field, where his wife witnessed the tragedy.

Edward Broad, a Bothwell gardener, has successfully raised two crops from his garden this year. The first crop of potatoes was exceptionally fine, and after harvesting the potatoes Mr. Broad planted sweet corn, and the result is local residents are enjoying fine ears of corn at their tables a month longer than usual.

AN "EXAGGERATED" REPORT
The Alvinston Free Press says:—We are pleased to report that the news received last week re the death of Mrs. Lovell was incorrect, our correspondent evidently mistaking the death of a party with a similar name for that of our former resident. While we regret the error it will be with great relief that her many friends in the community will learn that the report is not true.

GLENCOE WINS THE SHIELD

Scores 209 Points in Brisk H. S. Field Day Events

After several postponements on account of unfavorable weather, the annual field day exercises of the Glencoe high school were held Monday afternoon on the fair grounds. There was a large attendance of spectators, and a lengthy program of sports was run off in real snappy style, much to the enjoyment.

Dutton high school sent over a strong team of competitors in a desperate effort to retain the shield which they won last year from Glencoe. This year, however, our athletes proved by far too much for them, as the record below will show. Ridge-town, Alvinston and Rodney were also represented. To the girls of the H. ### DEATH OF EDWARD ARCHER

The death occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Heal, in Glencoe, on Monday evening, of Edward Archer, of Essex. Mr. Archer leaves his wife and the following sons and daughters—Arthur, of Tilbury; Ross, of Toronto; Herman, of Merlin; Mrs. P. D. Echlin, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Gertrude Heal, of Glencoe. Funeral service was conducted by Rev. D. G. Patton at the residence of Mrs. Heal on Wednesday afternoon, and interment was made at Oakland cemetery.

DOGS DESTROY TURKEYS
Dogs recently destroyed 11 turkeys belonging to Dugald Gillies and 13 turkeys belonging to George Walker in the township of Mos. Miss Barbara McAlpine, of Ekfrid, also lost a number of turkeys by dogs. The countryside was aroused and several men with guns went in pursuit of the predators. Thomas Henderson succeeded in shooting two dogs while they were in the act of killing the turkeys at the farm of Dugald Gillies. The animals were found to belong to Jacob Weaver and Roy Siddall, of Glencoe, who made settlement with Mr. Gillies for the damage done his flock.

Some doubt exists as to whether the same dogs were responsible for the depletion of the other flocks mentioned. There is a township by-law which makes it legal to destroy any dogs found worrying sheep, but nothing is provided for with regard to dogs destroying fowl, and it is stated that the owners of the dogs will seek damages for the shooting of their animals.

HARRY THOMPSON, Clerk.

JUST A FEW YEARS AGO
The most overworked expression in the language was: "This is on me."

The papers were full of the doings of Wright, a nut in Dayton, who thought he could make a machine that would fly.

Marconi, another nut, was getting some space in the papers by his fool plan of wireless telegraphy.

The prize nut of all was wandering around Detroit trying to get somebody to put money into his automobile scheme. Everyone knew that only dave-devils would ever try to drive one of the fool wagons.

Everyone was laughing at the fellow who claimed that submarines would really sub.

Shirts at the shoe top were considered indecently short.

We knew when we met a blonde with powder on her nose that there was a musical comedy in town.

Eggs were 15 cents a dozen. You could always start an argument about the relative merits of Jeffries and Fitz.

A person who played golf was more to be pitied than censured.

A well-known county official vouches for the following incident: "I was standing on the corner of Main street of our town the other evening when I saw a young fellow throw down on the sidewalk a burning cigarette stub. He had not gone ten feet before a sparrow had flown to it and picked it up in its bill. Where do you think it went? It rose and flew to a knot hole in the side of a frame store building, where it had its nest. May not some of the mysterious fires one reads about have been caused by that curiosity-filled scavenger, the sparrow?"

FOUND DEAD AT APPIN

Frank Nelson Killed, Supposed by Jumping Off Freight Train

Frank Nelson, of Winona, was found dead on the railway tracks 100 yards west of Appin station at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Nelson, who had been employed by the G. T. R. at construction work for some time, together with his brother William, Harold Cushman and other fellow-employees, were in Glencoe on Saturday evening attending the picture show. The party, with the exception of Nelson and Cushman, caught the late train to Appin. Later Nelson boarded a freight train and Cushman walked. The former was not seen afterwards by his companions until two of them, Albert and B. B. Mollison, of Michigan, discovered his body next morning.

It is believed that Nelson in jumping off the train was either stunned or received injuries which caused his death, and apparently the International Limited, which was late, struck or ran over the body half an hour later. The neck of deceased was broken, the back of the skull fractured, the left leg broken below the knee and the right leg and arm crushed.

The remains were brought to Glencoe and placed in Chas. Dean's undertaking rooms, where a post mortem examination was conducted by Dr. Freese. Dr. Woods, coroner, of M. Brydges, who had been notified, decided to hold an inquest and impanelled a jury at Appin, consisting of Neil Galbraith, foreman; John Jones, Clifford Hughes, John Rankin, Donald McTaggart, John Gough, Joseph Welch, James Lotan and Angus Galbraith. After viewing the body an adjournment of the inquest was made to be resumed this afternoon in the town hall at Appin.

Nelson was 18 years of age and is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nelson, Caister township, and three brothers. The remains were taken to Winona Monday afternoon on the 3 o'clock train.

TURKS AND ALLIED POWERS SIGN THE MUDANIA CONVENTION TERMS

Allyes Preparing to Occupy Thrace With Three Battalions of British, Three of French and One of Italian Troops—Greece Also Agrees to Terms.

A despatch from Mudania says:—The armistice convention has been signed. The representatives of the Turks and of all the powers concerned affixed their signatures to the revised protocol, which General Harrington had presented for acceptance to Ismet Pasha, and which the Nationalist delegate had previously forwarded to the Ankara Government for its decision.

The convention, consisting of 14 clauses, is drawn on liberal lines, showing strongly traces of French influence on the side of the Kemalists. Under it the Greeks will evacuate Eastern Thrace within 15 days and complete the transfer to the Turks in an additional month. The Turkish civil administration will follow closely on the heels of the departing Greeks, the entire transfer being under the supervision of the Allied missions and Allied forces provisionally occupying Thrace, not exceeding seven battalions. The number of Turkish gendarmes in the province during the interval is left undefined to the discretion of the Kemalists, subject to Allied approval.

The Turks, on their side, undertake not to place an army in Thrace until peace is ratified, while new neutral zones will be delimited by fixed commissions.

The protocol gives no time limit for withdrawal of the Turkish forces from the neutral zones; it simply specifies "with all possible speed."

A despatch from Constantinople says:—Plans for the Allied detachments to move into Thrace and occupy the territory in conformity with the armistice convention signed at Mudania, were completed on Thursday. The force will comprise three battalions of British troops, three of French and one of Italian, a total of 5,000 men.

A despatch from Paris says:—Under it the Greeks will evacuate Eastern Thrace within 15 days and complete the transfer to the Turks in an additional month.

The Turkish civil administration will follow closely on the heels of the departing Greeks, the entire transfer being under the supervision of the Allied missions and Allied forces provisionally occupying Thrace, not exceeding seven battalions.

The number of Turkish gendarmes in the province during the interval is left undefined to the discretion of the Kemalists, subject to Allied approval.

AMNESTY ACCEPTED BY FEW IRREGULARS

Ambushes Mark Last Week-End During Which Offer is Open.

Dublin, Oct. 15.—The last week-end during which irregulars can take advantage of the Free State's amnesty offer opened with a number of ambushes in which several were killed and a number wounded.

Few irregulars have taken advantage of the amnesty, although scattered individuals have surrendered in certain southern sections. It is now rumored that the violence to-day and last night may be only preliminary to an attempted insurgent coup, but these reports are received calmly for the most part.

In Drogheda last night National posts were attacked by irregulars and the streets were swept by fire all night. One party of irregulars occupied the cemetery and were dislodged only after prolonged operations.

In Kerry farmers united to carry food from Killybeg to Fenit, which has been cut off from the world by irregular activities. Over 120 wagons guarded by National forces were sent in one train, which was attacked at many points along the road.

In each case the irregulars were beaten off. They are believed to have lost four killed and nine wounded, while two of the Nationals were injured. A party of National troops were ambushed at Brughia, a Kerry village, during the night. A sergeant was killed and a private wounded.

Four Free State soldiers were wounded by the explosion of a time bomb in their barracks. The bomb was picked up on the street by a sergeant as a dud and carried to the station. In several other instances the irregulars are believed to have used time bombs.

Young women and girls are now taking an active part in the street ambushes which are a daily occurrence in Dublin. Last night they threw bombs and fired revolvers at several parties of National soldiers, but no one was hit. The girls escaped in every instance.

ROUMANIAN RULERS CROWNED WITH POMP

Long-Delayed Coronation of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie Held at Alba Julia.

Alba Julia, Roumania, October 15.—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie were solemnly crowned to-day in the vast public square amid the plaudits of thousands of picturesquely-dressed Roumanians. The ceremony was carried out without incident.

Promptly on the conclusion of the church service, a procession was formed, and the sovereigns, escorted by the Duke of York, Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, the Duke of Genoa, the Infante Alfonso, Marshal Foch and the foreign delegations, and, preceded by the Metropolitan and Bishops, marched from the church to the richly decorated dais in the centre of the square.

Stands had been erected around the square for the high personages of the Kingdom, and the rest of the space was dense with spectators.

As soon as the sovereigns had taken their places on the dais, the President of the Senate received the crown from the President of the Chamber and placed it on the head of the King. The King, in turn, crowned the Queen, who knelt before him. The King and Queen were then clothed in the royal mantles and other insignia.

The procession was loudly acclaimed at the conclusion of the ceremony, Marshal Foch, in particular, getting a special ovation.

Heads Relief Committee A. J. Young, who is chairman of the central relief committee, which has been named to give aid to the fire sufferers of Northern Ontario.

40 MILLIONS IN 1922 TO IMPROVE ROADS

Canada Has Now 1,000 Miles of Permanent Paved Highway.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—There are now 1,000 miles of permanent paved roads in Canada, or sufficient mileage to extend one-third of the distance between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, according to A. W. Campbell, Dominion Highways Commissioner.

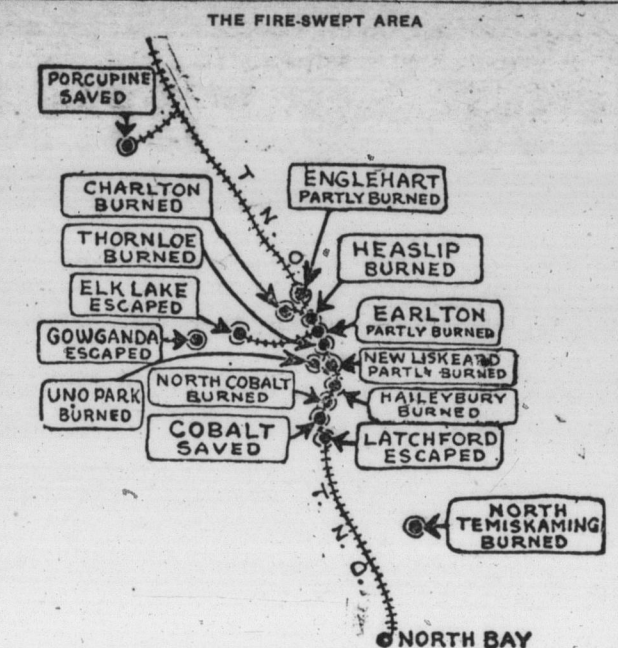

Activity in road-making has been general throughout the entire Dominion this year, according to Mr. Campbell, and on a larger scale than ever before. The total expenditure will be the largest of any year, and for the same amount of expenditure as in 1920, the amount of completed work will be fully 30 per cent. greater, owing to decreases in the prices of material and labor. Organizations in the various provinces have been completed, the development has been consistent and uniform in all the provinces, and, as a consequence, about $15,000,000 will be spent on Federal-aided roads this year, of which $6,000,000 will come out of the Dominion treasury.

In addition to this outlay, there are large expenditures made by the provinces and counties on roads not receiving Federal assistance, amounting to about $26,000,000 this year, bringing the total outlay on roads in Canada this year up to nearly $40,000,000.

That Comes Later. Barber (to Tommy, who is having his first haircut)—"How shall I cut it, sir?" Tommy (aged 5)—"With a hole on the top, like my daddy."

NORTHERN TOWN WIPED OUT BY FOREST FIRES. General view of Haileybury, which has been wiped out by fire. Every building in the picture was destroyed.

The map shows the location of the towns which were wholly or partially destroyed by the fires in Northern Ontario.

TURKS TO MAKE FOUR IMPORTANT DEMANDS AT COMING PEACE PARLEY

Greek Troops to Leave Thrace in Three Stages—Entry of Turkish Troops into Eastern Thrace Under Control of Allied Police and Soldiers.

Constantinople, Oct. 15.—The Turkish newspaper, Hürriyet, says Mustafa Kemal Pasha will make four important new demands at the coming peace conference. These will be, first, for the suppression of the Greek navy; second, for the exchange of all persons of the civilian minorities, meaning the return to Turkey of all Moslems in Greek territory; third, the neutralization of the Aegean Islands; and, fourth, that the question of Western Thrace be decided by a plebiscite.

Adrianople, Oct. 15.—The Greek military authorities have announced that the evacuation of the Greek army in Thrace will take place in three stages, first, in the Adrianople district; second, around Rodosto; and third, at the Maritza River. Five days will be allowed each section to evacuate.

The allied officers have been directed to refuse inflexibly any extension of the five-day period. Greek headquarters will remain at Rodosto until October 20. Afterwards it will be transferred to Deleghatch. The Italians will be the first of the allied detachments to take over administration in Thrace. They will be in charge at Tokhorka, at the end of the first five-day period.

The first battalion of Kemalist gendarmes for Thrace will arrive Wednesday. The entry will be under control of Allied police and soldiers. The Kemalists will appear in resplendent uniforms of grey and crimson, and will be required to entrain immediately for Thrace.

WASHINGTON SHOWS SIGNS OF INTEREST IN REHABILITATION OF WORLD

A despatch from Washington says:—Participation of the United States in an economic conference at some unnamed future date seemed to be foreshadowed by the utterances and reticences of officials here. The impression grows that the United States will not long be able to avoid taking part in some manner of international consideration of the questions that have to do with the rehabilitation of the world. The hope is that in the settlement of the Near East question, the European powers will see their way to rectify some of the errors of the Sevres Treaty with which the United States has never been in sympathy and that out of that new arrangement will come a condition that will make it possible for Washington to take part in a less hurried and more comprehensive session later. In other words, there has been given a broad hint that if Europe will clear the ground of the threats of wars, and show some approach to accord, America will be glad to meet with them and do all it can towards stabilizing exchange and extending whatever other aid lies in its power. There must be some indication of their willingness to cut down land armaments, which the United States considers a vital part of the economic situation, before Washington takes any direct steps.

No official explanations are being made as to this Government's possible attitude on control of the Dardanelles by the League of Nations or by an Allied Commission. Previous declarations have made it clear that the United States does not entertain a hostile attitude towards the League so long as it does not seek to include the Washington Government in its operations.

PROPOSAL TO QUARANTINE CATTLE IN CANADA BEFORE EMBARKING

A despatch from London says:—The Ethiopian in the wood pile of Canadian cattle embargo removal has made its appearance. The draft bill embodying the decision of both Houses of Parliament to rescind the embargo has been submitted to Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, who are conferring with Winston Churchill, regarding this matter. It indicates that for the quarantine period in England, to which the Canadian representatives had already made it clear they would object, it is proposed to substitute a short quarantine before the embarking of the cattle in Canada. British experts claim that it would be impossible to inspect and quarantine the cattle only during the period in which they were on board ship between Canada and Britain. The Canadian representatives would not object to inspection en voyage but regard the proposed delay in Canada as a drawback quite as serious as if it occurred on this side. It would incidentally require the provision of extensive quarantine quarters at the ports of embarkation. The Dominion ministers have indicated that the bill as drafted would be acceptable to them and it is understood that new proposals will be made by the British Government. The prospects for a final settlement of this long standing grievance are regarded as still quite encouraging.

Canada from Coast to Coast

Vancouver, B.C.—Confirmation of the reported large returns in the rock clean-ups in the Cedar Creek placer gold area is brought to the city by Dr. W. A. Johnstone, engineer in the service, the Dominion Geological Survey. He stated that on the claims of the Cedar Creek Mining Co. $5,895 in gold have been taken out in six days with two rockers.

Edmonton, Alta.—Returns received by C. P. Marker, Dairy Commissioner, indicate the Alberta butter exhibited at five of the large fairs in the West, captured 60 per cent. of the first prizes offered, and also four out of five of the championships. The exhibits were shown at Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Brandon and Regina, and come into competition with butter exhibits from most of the other provinces of Canada.

Regina, Sask.—Saskatchewan claims that her air pilots last year carried far more passengers and flew many more miles than those of any other province. During the year Saskatchewan fliers carried 3,622 passengers, 2,000 more than Manitoba the next highest, and 2,500 more than British Columbia. They flew 95,142 pilot miles as against 64,000 in Alberta, the next highest. An agitation is under way for the establishment in the province of a government air station because of this record.

The Pas, Man.—Between 1,300 and 1,400 men are expected to be employed by The Pas Lumber Co., which commences carrying on logging operations on an extensive scale next winter. Seven and possibly eight camps will be operated. The vanguard has already left and as fast as men are released from the harvest fields they will be taken on for bush work.

Ottawa, Ont.—Since the first of the year Canada has received 2,222 immigrants from Ireland, of whom 1,029 have been adult agriculturists, according to information available at the Department of Immigration. The total immigration to Canada this year by month was: January 23, February 55, March 117, April 205, May 626, June 488, July 402, and August 308.

Montreal, Que.—Large cargoes of incoming coal and outgoing grain are combining to bring an unusual number of ships to Montreal, over seventy seagoing vessels being berthed here at one time. This total is only slightly below the record of seventy-eight seagoing vessels in port on Sept. 7, 1921, and it is probable that the latter figure will be exceeded within the next few days.

Many steamers commence to load grain practically as soon as their coal cargoes are discharged, and to facilitate the grain movement, local elevators are being operated at full speed, night and day.

St. John, N.B.—Dr. W. H. Collins, director of the Geological Survey, Department of Mines, on his return home from a three weeks visit to the various field parties who are at work surveying the mineral industry of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, is most optimistic. He reports new coal beds the existence of which was unsuspected, and deposits of oil shale in both provinces, associated with coal measures. They are not yet being mined, but constitute the basis of an important future mining industry.

Digby, N.S.—On October the first the moose hunting season opened in the Maritimes and numbers of United States sportsmen arrived to set out on the trail at the earliest possible moment. Tell is taken of the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia woods to the extent of about 2,500 moose each year, approximately half of which can be attributed to visiting hunters from the United States. Last year the record held, with a spread of 64 inches, was accredited to a Philadelphia hunter.

The Faithful Servant

By John L. Carter

Though he dwelt in an obscure town of the western plains, the world had made a path to his door, for the world had learned that he could do a certain task better than any other man.

A crooked, uncertain path it was, it is true, for those that made it haltingly, groping their way in darkness. Some came bearing a king's ransom and some came with empty hands; but whether they came as Naaman or as Bartimaeus, the same quiet voice reassured them as they sank into unconsciousness upon the table, the same nerveless hands guided the knife among the delicate nerves and muscles, and later the same hands removed the bandages in the darkened room and allowed the first faint rays of light to filter through and impress themselves upon the retinae.

He was old—old not as men number years, but old in body from an intense strain; for though in the operating room he seemed a being devoid of nerves, he was in truth the most high strung of men. Each brief moment in the operating room with its placid calm had its reaction in hours of nervous tension as he paced the floor, or tossed sleepless in bed while every detail of the case raced through his mind. Hardest of all was that moment just after the bandage was removed, when he waited in the dim light for the verdict, to show upon the patient's face. It always seemed to him that his heart would burst from its cage in that fleeting moment required for the emotions to register upon the human countenance.

"Only a few more, only a few more," the sad refrain had been constantly in his mind of late, as it had become more and more difficult to compose those sensitive nerves after each succeeding operation. "Only a few more and my work is done."

Now it was "Just one more, one more." The conviction had settled upon him that morning as he watched the wild joy sweep over a patient's face that he would perform but one more operation.

They came that day along the path, the one a young woman led by her husband and bearing in her arms a child whose face she had never seen. All their scant savings had gone on their long journey across the continent, but men told them the great surgeon would give her back her sight, would give her the chance to glory in the light of her babe's face, and they came trusting.

The other was a name to conjure with. His sudden blindness on the eve of a great campaign had left a party without a leader. No other man could fill his place, no other could lead the party to victory. Only the great surgeon might touch those eyes.

"Only one more, one more," sang the refrain.

Which should it be? "You may bring victory to your party," his friends urged. "You may make a man Premier."

"You, you alone, can give that mother the precious sight of her child's face," persisted an inner voice.

All that night he wrestled with the problem. The next morning the attendants noted his haggard appearance as he entered the hospital; but back in the operating room he was his old self again.

"Take our Leader to-day," they urged him. "Let the woman wait till another time."

"There will be no other time," that inner voice insisted.

A few moments he hesitated, then said quietly, "Have the woman sent in."

Once more he guided those delicate instruments unerringly, when to have averted even so much as the thickness of the knife's edge would have been fatal.

When the operation was finished they helped him to his room, where he lay for days in a fever of suspense. Would this his last and most difficult operation be successful?

Finally came the day when the eyes should be strong enough to bear a few faint rays of light. Once more he stood in the darkened room. He made a move toward the woman in the chair; then, with a sign of resignation, he stepped back and, for the first time in his career, motioned for an attendant to remove the bandages from the patient's eyes.

As he stood there, nerves tense, eyes fixed upon the woman's face, his right eyelid twitched and dropped, his lips twisted slightly to the left, his right arm fell limply to his side. Never again would that right hand feel the touch of its beloved instruments. He shifted the weight of his body to his left foot.

"Hemiplegia, paralysis of the right side," the words flashed across his brain, but his gaze did not waver for an instant from the woman's face.

The attendant stepped back. Slowly the woman opened her eyes. A moment her face was blank and uncomprehending. Then a wonderful wave of joy surged over her.

"My baby!" she cried, stretching out her arms.

Not An Eye Witness.

Little Willie's father had taken him to Sunday school for the first time, and on the way home, in order to see if the youngster had learned anything, he asked:

"Who was it killed Goliath?"

"I dunno," said Willie. "I was sitting on a back seat and couldn't see."

MANY TROUBLES COME THROUGH THE BLOOD

If Kept Rich and Red Good Health Will be Yours.

Nearly all the common diseases are caused by bad blood, weak, watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago, and rheumatism, debility and indigestion, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve troubles. It is bad blood that causes disfiguring skin diseases like eczema, and salt rheum, pimples and eruptions. The severity of the trouble indicates how impure the blood is, and it goes always from bad to worse unless steps are promptly taken to enrich and purify the blood. There is no use trying a different medicine for each trouble, for they all come through the one cause—bad blood. In conditions of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been found very beneficial, as they have a direct action on the blood, enriching and purifying it. That is why this medicine is so often successful, after other remedial measures have failed; they reach the root of the trouble in the blood. Mr. Albert S. Giffin, Mount Pleasant, P.E.I., tells what these pills did for him. He says:—"Some months ago I was in a badly run-down condition. My blood was poor, I had no appetite and my work left me completely tired out. I fell off in weight, was altogether in a miserable condition. I was taking medicine, but it was not doing me any good. At this stage a friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with beneficial results, advised me to take them, and acting on his advice I did so. The result can be summed up in a few words: I took the pills for a little more than a month, when I can honestly say I never felt better in my life. I can now eat a hearty meal, do my work with comparative ease, and have gained in weight. I advise weak, run-down people to give these pills a fair trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Surnames and Their Origin

HYNES
Variations—O'Heyne, Heyne, Hine, Hinds, Hynds, Hines.
Racial Origin—Irish.
Source—A given name.

There isn't much similarity between the modern family name of Hynes and the ancient Irish given name of "Aidhne," yet the one comes from the other.

The given name of "Aidhne," in being infected into the form of a family or clan name, became "O's-Eidhne," for in Gaelic the infection is often made by changes in the main part of the word rather than in the ending, just as we form plurals sometimes in English.

The meaning of this Irish given name was "an advocate."

The O'Hynes clan came from the same general stock as did the O'Beirnes and the Fallons, discussed in preceding articles, and by tracing back their clan-genealogy you get a good idea of the way in which these old Irish clans were born, grew and gave birth to other clans. The O'Hynes were originally a branch of the O'Clerys, who came from the O'Shaughnessys, who came from the O'Connors, who in their turn came from the O'Neills of Tyrone, a clan founded by the famous Nial of the Nine Hostages who flourished as the ruler of all Ireland.

"Take our Leader to-day," they urged him. "Let the woman wait till another time."

"There will be no other time," that inner voice insisted.

A few moments he hesitated, then said quietly, "Have the woman sent in."

Once more he guided those delicate instruments unerringly, when to have averted even so much as the thickness of the knife's edge would have been fatal.

When the operation was finished they helped him to his room, where he lay for days in a fever of suspense. Would this his last and most difficult operation be successful?

Austria's Musical Stamps.

At least something new has come out of the distress of Austria, in the form of postage stamps bearing the portraits of sovereigns, according to custom, but of famous musicians. Japan, it will be remembered, adorns her exquisite stamps with a chrysanthemum flower. Great Britain with the portrait of the sovereign, France with a group emblematic of the republic, and the United States with portraits of various statesmen. But Austria alone selects men whose fame is in the world of art.

Thus the two-kronen stamp bears the portrait of Francis Haydn, the immortal composer of "The Creation," "The Seasons," "Armida" and a wealth of sacred and secular music, not forgetting the national hymn of Austria. The five-kronen stamp shows the handsome face of Mozart, the inspired melodist of "Don Giovanni," "The Magic Flute" and other masterpieces. On the seven-and-a-half-kronen stamp appears the mighty and incomparable Beethoven. And on the 10-kronen stamp is the likeness of Franz Schubert, worthy companion of the other great masters.

Musicians and philatelists alike will rejoice in these stamps, which are excellent examples of the engraver's art. But connoisseurs will wonder at the judgment which placed on the highest priced stamp of all, the 50-kronen, the portrait of the composer of "The Beautiful Blue Danube," "Wine, Woman and Song," "Thousand and One Nights" and other fashionable dances of a generation or two ago. Is it to be believed that the Viennese really rank Johann Strauss above Haydn, Mozart, Schubert and Beethoven?

Paper From Water Lilies.

Paper made from water lilies will be produced in a new factory in Ocotlan, Mexico. The lilies are of such a peculiarly fibrous nature that they form the best material for a high grade of paper and the supply is inexhaustible, because the lilies cover the rivers in that vicinity and grow rapidly.

The growth of nails is more rapid in children than adults, and slowest in the aged. It goes on more rapidly in summer than in winter, so that the same nail that is renewed in 132 days in winter requires only 116 in summer.

Native Trees an Asset to the Farm.

If a man values the pleasure and comfort of his family, he should make every possible effort to enrich, beautify and broaden country life, and in achieving these ends he will increase his own health and happiness manifold. If boys and girls are to be kept on the farm, their impressionable years should be filled with ennobling pictures thrown upon nature's canvas—the earth. Country life can be made infinitely more charming and satisfying by the presence of trees.

Comparatively few farmers appreciate the economic value of trees growing on their farms. They prevent the surface soil from washing away, protect his herds and flocks from rain and storms, and temper the chilling winds that sweep across the home grounds. Why not begin planting trees to take the place of the forests that had such a modifying influence on the climate? Some of the old timber lots were really not well placed; they did not shelter economically. Now, why not begin planting trees to take their place? Why not put out small timber lots that will break the winds of winter and some day make good timber for use on the farm?

HEALTHY CHILDREN ALWAYS SLEEP WELL

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is never cross but always happy and laughing. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers, if your children do not sleep well; if they are cross and cry a great deal, give them Baby's Own Tablets and they will soon be well and happy again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation, colic and indigestion, and promote healthful sleep. They are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates and may be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A 3-in-1 City.

Peking is in reality three cities in one. There is an inner or Manchu city and an outer or Chinese city.

The inner comprises the imperial city, which, in turn, contains the "Forbidden City" or the "Purple Forbidden City," inside the walls of which, again, is the imperial palace.

Peking itself is one of the oldest cities in the world, being known to exist in the twelfth century before Christ, but although it is of immense size, being twenty-five miles in circumference, much of the space within the walls is unoccupied.

An Early Bird.

"Pat," said a manager to one of his workmen, "you must be an early riser, always find you at work the first thing in the morning."

"Indeed, and I am, sir; it's a family trait, I'm thinking."

"Then your father is an early riser, too?"

"Me father is it?" answered Pat. "He rises that early that if he went to bed a little later he'd meet himself getting up in the morning."

Gaining.

"Don't you weigh more than you did?"

"Oh, rather; I started at nine and a half pounds."

Japs to Mine Coal.

You Can Get Back Your Grip On Health

Hope for the millions of unfortunate men and women who are victims of stomach trouble is sounded by Mrs. B. B. Jones, 187 Oak St., Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. Jones was a victim of stomach trouble in its worst form but was completely restored to health by Tanlac. She says:

"For thirty long years, I had nervous indigestion and stomach trouble and I can hardly describe all the agony I suffered during that time. It may sound unreasonable, but Tanlac completely restored my health and I have gained thirty-five pounds in weight. Tanlac is simply wonderful."

Undigested food ferments in the stomach and soon the entire system is filled with poisons. Tanlac was designed to restore the stomach to a healthy condition and build up the whole body. Millions everywhere have acclaimed its wonderful power. Get a bottle to-day.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Advt.

"Drugging" a Forest.

"Can the leopard change its spots?" is a question that may soon be altered to "Can a forest change its color?"

A number of German scientists have been experimenting with dyes. They have discovered that they can transform trees in two nights, and can turn them red or blue or purple, simply by an antiseptic injection.

One scientist made a large tree a perfect blue with two ounces of dye and 200 gallons of water. He vaccinated it so successfully that not only the boughs and leaves, but even the interior of the trunk assumed an azure hue.

By this process of injections it may be possible to change a forest to any color desired. At present the colors of flowers are being changed by screening processes; and certain plants are having their growth promoted by violet rays and by the use of chloroform.

Dutch bulbs have been retarded and made to bloom with greater loveliness when the effect of the anaesthetic had worn off.

Not What They Meant.

The true "bull" is not manufactured; it just happens. Perhaps that is why it rarely fails to amuse. Here are some amusing examples:

An Irish notice of reward for an escaped convict: "Age not known, but looks older than he is."

In the course of a speech the defender of Lady Smith said the best "bull" he ever heard came from an Irish soldier, who, when asked, "What struck you most during the long siege?" replied: "The number of bullets that missed me."

A woman went into a London confectioner's, and looking at a pile of buns, asked, "Are those buns to-day's? Because yesterday's were not."

An Irish reporter is credited with the following gem:

"When they stood up to sing their opening hymn there was not an empty seat in the sacred building."

The most amusing "bulls" are the outcome of the impulsive haste with which the Irish politician expresses himself. For example:

"When we get Home Rule everybody in Ireland will do as he likes, and those who don't will be made to do it," is taken from the speech of an Irish labor leader.

"The time has come when we must strip to the waist and roll up our shirt-sleeves," said an ardent Irish politician.

"I wish I were left-handed," said an Irish laborer, "because if I hurt my right hand I would have my left to fall back upon."

An Irish M.P., speaking of a political opponent, is represented to have said: "Even if he told the truth I would not believe him."

Mice, as well as rats, are known to be carriers of disease.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day save a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

A square mile will accommodate 7,965,000 people standing close together.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

The Methodist Conference at Toronto has passed a resolution calling upon representatives of Christian men and women to meet together to discuss economic conditions, and discover if there is anything that can be done to bring our methods and ideas more in line with the teachings of the Master, and also to stimulate the belief that the church in Canada today "contains the scientific and practical knowledge and the moral energy to effect great and beneficial reforms in our whole economic life."

It is a well thought out representative body as the Methodist Church in Canada should bring such a matter as this to the front. It will not only provoke discussion in that particular denomination but in others, and may help to bring out some fairly salient features in determining to what extent it is within the power of members of any church to improve the economic conditions under which the business of today is transacted.

In one way it gets back to the idea of whether we can have better methods before we have better men, or whether the better men will be a result of the better methods. In the final analysis, the whole thing rests with the individual because our whole economic system is made up of individuals, whether we realize it or not.

Our system of doing business is not apt to rise much higher than the conceptions of the men who are conducting the business. The way in which a man carries on his daily business speaks at times more eloquently of the state of his heart than the manner in which he conducts himself on the Sabbath day.

We do not have in the spirit of humility, nor justice, nor toleration, nor do they line up at all with the idea of "in honor preferring one another."

The critics of the church and all the connected with the church are quick and anxious to take up and use all the ammunition they can find in the way of the inconsistent lives of church members. They can see that they are not applying to their own lives the theories and principles they advocate as being good for others.

Whether there can be a movement forward in this by the coming together of people is a matter for surmise. The reformation must take place in the individual, and once it has taken place it will seek an outward expression in the way of positive deeds that will speak of the things that are stored up and cherished in the heart of the man.

Men and women with Christian hearts can solve the problem. Otherwise they cannot.—London Advertiser.

Poultry's Dangerous Enemy.

Worms exist in poultry flocks in every stage. Where a flock is raised year after year on the same ground, the soil becomes saturated with the tiny eggs and growing worms which are absorbed into the intestines in several ways. Puddles of water around a well cause much trouble, for the chickens will drink this water as they always prefer dripping or running water, even if it is contaminated. The grain and greens grown on this ground will positively transmit the tiny start of more worms to the growing pullets.

Practically all chicks, when hatched, are normally endowed with a few of these worms. These appear as very tiny white specks, that grow and turn red, and serve as scavengers in different blind sections of the intestines. If kept at normal numbers, they have our approval, but when they become so numerous that they clog up the intestines, it is long past time when something drastic should be done to fight them.

It is easier to kill the excess of these worms when they are in the seed or germ stage, than when mature and hard. The lactic acid of buttermilk will do this. The trouble is, most of us don't realize what we are up against until the birds commence to die.

Another common way fresh birds become infested is through the medium of the dropping board. Some poultrymen use a harmful "expeller," such as turpentine or tobacco, which merely spreads the worms on the dropping boards, for the other birds to scratch over and eat. Even if the worms are dead, they are full of eggs, and soon become a hotbed of propagation of disease germs.

On cloudy or cold days a large per cent. of the birds will be found on the roosts, or scratching on the dropping boards. A few minutes spent putting wire over the boards will help vastly in fighting the worms, as well as preventing the hens from eating the soft-shelled eggs.

The first and greatest reason for fighting these worms from the very beginning, is because of the food they take from the flock, day and night. Standard growth for the breed, normal production of normally-shaped eggs are not the regular results when there is an excess of intestinal worms. The second reason is, the worms destroy and injure large numbers of the tiny, delicate cells lining the intestines. These cells play a major part in the final extraction of the blood-enriching nutrient in the previously-digested food, so that the chick is unable to receive any benefit from what little food the worms have not directly eaten. We must make every ounce of food count. Third, by taking the food, they starve the chick, so that it not only slows up in growing, but it is overpowered by lice, and weakened further by cold. I have seen whole flocks ruined in just this way.

Birds with an excess of worms seem eager for food, yet they are thin; in a short time, there is "nothing to them." Their combs, wattles and faces lose all color, and all strength and ambition is gone. A brownish, sometimes bloody, diarrhea is often noticed. I have seen sections of intestines swollen to twice normal size from worms. The intestines of one hen that died were perforated. There are some thirty-six varieties of these worms. The worms found in the upper intestines are fairly soft, and could readily be killed and digested, with the proper internal means. There is a large variety of "dopes" used for fighting these worms.

Many of these dopes are harmful to the bird and to the farmer. The commonest of these dopes are tobacco, olive-oil and turpentine. Tobacco has been used for years as an "expeller," but more effective, and less harsh means are now being used. One man even uses coal-oil. More cruelty.

One experiment station found that the best way to fight the worms was to give the ground a good scraping and cleaning "so fresh earth, and then treat the birds.

One simply can not get away from the need of limited or free range, on good grass pasture, for growing pullets. It's nothing less than a crime to shut up growing pullets in an eight or ten-foot coop, on a sand floor. Leg-horns are always busy; we might just as well let them spend their energy scratching for hidden grains, flying and chasing the elusive bugs and singing, as using their vigor. I've seen blood dropping from a Leghorn pullet, of which she was unaware. But her mates knew of it. The time will come when more of us will put the growing pullets in the green patch, instead of shutting up the birds in a coop and cutting the greens by machinery.

Wired-in dropping boards prevent the hens from getting the soft-shelled eggs, and thereby prevent them from learning to peck at good eggs till they break. Cleaner eggs can be had in this way, as the hens' feet are not soiled. This means fewer hours spent at night, washing off stains. One hundred hens average from two and one-half to five soft-shelled eggs a night. These are valuable, in the year's run.

Put inclined frames of wire and slate all around the four sides of the brooder house, so the chicks will always have fresh, cool air under them, no matter where or when they try to "pile up." One can use this idea to the chicks' advantage in any sized flock. Thousands of chicks are lost annually for lack of insurance like this.

An automatic water-supply is far more necessary than we realize. The hen is helpless, no matter how well bred, or how good the laying mash, without a steady supply of fresh, clean water. A flock will average a gallon to each sixteen to twenty layers. Dry water dishes and red mites will quickly cut the egg yield in half, or lower. One party reported: "No eggs for four spring months." Red mites did it.

Colds have many causes; worms are primarily to blame, generally, as they have so undermined the bird's health that it is ready for a cold. It is the same with poultry as with humans—illness and poor health are bound to result from a steady lack of sufficient nourishing food and cleanliness. One of the oldest makers of poultry disinfectants advises us to kill and burn all bad cases of roup, and never use a bird that has had roup, even if seemingly cured, as a future breeder.

Hallowe'en.

A witch and an owl began to prow around the house one night; The witch had a broom, and bats filled the room; the kiddies all ran in fright.

And a cat with a tail as high as a sail, talked "meow-ow—" found the house, A pumpkin grinned, "Glad I never sinned and was always as meek as a mouse."

"Hoo-hoo-hoo," cried the owl with never a scowl, "A game I have for the kiddies, Donkey's tail is off, pin it on, and aloft, a fine game, too, for the widdies."

When doorbells start to ring, and back doors to swing, and ghosts tread lightly the hall, A creep and a shiver down your back till you quiver and want to fall thro' the wall.

Jack o' lanterns aswing, lights hobgoblins bring, be good in your own happy home, For the awfulst things, Jacks can sure bring, to boys and girls who roam.

Once a little brother sassed back at mother and a ghostess caught him in his bed, Took him and shook him most out of his skin, that bad little brother in bed. When I was a girl—a sort of a whirl—a hobgoblin saw me one night, Washin' dishes on Hallowe'en, worst face I'd ever seen, popped at that Inder in sight;

My heart pit-a-pat, didn't stop e'en at that, my face as white as a ghost. And a pie-face was there, "No!" "No!" "I wasn't scared" (?) that Hallowe'en night with that host.

The Vagabond Song.

There is something in the autumn that is native to my blood— Touch of manner, hint of mood, And my heart is like a rhyme, With the yellow and the purple and the crimson keeping time.

The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry Of bugles going by, And my lonely little spirit thrills To see the frosty asters like smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October sets the gypsy blood astir; We must rise and follow her When from every hill of flame She calls and calls each vagabond by name.

—Bliss Carman.

A big woodpile will be worth money this winter.

Squash should be stored in a warm, dry room where there is a good circulation of air.

A good dairy ration should contain at least two kinds of roughage and three kinds of grain.

The silo is now generally accepted as an insurance policy against farm failures.

A fruit centerpiece is appropriate for any autumn entertainment, but especially so for Hallowe'en. Select a well-shaped pumpkin and cut it into a bowl. A piece of cardboard cut in scallops could be used as a pattern, tracing it first, then cutting through the pumpkin with a sharp, slender knife. Remove the seeds and pile the improvised bowl high with choice fruit. A mat of ferns or autumn leaves can be placed underneath the bowl with good effect.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

A "Spooky" Hallowe'en Frolic.

Of course, you will want to have a Hallowe'en party, for that is when stiffness and formality are thrown to the winds, and every one has a jolly, frolicking time.

Have your guests wear the regulation Hallowe'en costume—a sheet and a white mask. Or the boys may come as ghosts, while the girls represent witches. Every one loves to dress up, and boys and girls talk more freely if they think their identity is not known. The masks can be oblong pieces of cloth, with slits for the eyes, and strings at side for tying around head. The entire face should be covered.

Cut a witch from black paper, to fit any envelopes you may have on hand. Write your invitation on this in white ink. The invitation might read:

"Hallowe'en we'll celebrate On Tuesday evening just at eight, Come as a 'spook' and don't be late." The first part of the evening should be a very quiet, "spooky" affair. Have the rooms lighted only with Jack-o'-lanterns. You know it would not be Hallowe'en without the corn-stalks, the witches, the black cats and the pumpkin faces. Use these for decorating. Queer-shaped squashes make even more comical faces than the pumpkins.

When the guests begin to arrive, station a "spook" in the hall to open the door and point the way upstairs; another should stand in the upper hall and point out the room in which guests are to take off their wraps and don masks. Neither should speak, but each should wear a sign on which the words, "SPEAK NOT," should be printed. Each guest, when ready, should receive one of these, then be taken by the hand and led downstairs. Those assembled will rise from the floor to meet the newcomers, and bow low. Seat the guests in a circle, and try to keep absolute silence. If any are inclined to whisper, point to your sign.

When enough have gathered, one person who is a good story-teller should begin to tell ghost stories. Have the late guests detained upstairs until a tale is finished. Here is the outline of one you could use, filling in the details to suit yourself:

"Once upon a time three sisters lived alone in a great woods. The two elder sisters were very homely, but Sylvia, the younger sister, was noted for her beauty, especially for her auburn hair and her white, pearly teeth. Sylvia had a lover who had given her a large diamond ring. Now the eldest sister coveted both the lover and the ring, so one dark stormy night she killed Sylvia and hid her body. (Describe the storm and the hiding of the body.) One night a short time afterward, the eldest sister heard footsteps descending the attic stairs; a tall, white figure entered her room and stood beside her bedside.

"Who are you?" asked the sister. "I am Sylvia," came the reply. "Where is your beautiful hair?" "All gone."

"Where are your beautiful teeth?" "All gone." "Where is your diamond ring?" "YOU have it."

Jump up suddenly as you say "YOU," and at this point have some one who knows the story scream. When all have quieted down, tell another one or two.

Then place a table in the centre of the room and have your guests join hands and stand in a circle around it. Place on the table a bowl containing water. Have some one play a dirge on the piano while the guests dance around the table. Have ready a sufficient number of fortunes wrapped in tin foil. Toss these into the water and ask each guest to snatch a fortune as all continue to dance. Such fortunes as these would be appropriate:

You'll meet your death, I fear, when in your eightieth year. Far to distant lands you'll roam; but when you're broke you'll come back home.

A handsome youth with eyes of blue longs to steal a kiss from you. Happy and jolly you'll still be when

Telling Fortunes at a Hallowe'en Party

Make some little cakes in muffin or gem pans, dropping an imitation diamond ring (wrapped in waxed paper) into one of them. When ready to serve refreshments, place on a plate as many cakes as there are guests. Serve the cakes to the girls, and the one finding the ring is elected to be the first one to become engaged.

Prepare fudge for the boys, cutting it into squares, which are to be wrapped in wax paper. One of the squares should have wrapped with it a small mitten cut out of cardboard or out of a white kid glove. Of course no one wants to "get the mitten."

Fortunes in verse are always popular, so the following may be copied separately and placed between the shells of English walnuts which have been carefully opened and emptied. The shells are then fastened together with a touch of paste and the nuts piled in two dishes, one for the girls and the other for the boys:

For the Girls

Get your "hope chest" ready, Never mind the cost; Living's high, but he or she who hesitates is lost.

You will have a proposal Placed at your disposal, E'er forty-eight hours roll away. You needn't start humming And you know very well what you'll say.

You like the military

And the navy you adore; A soldier or a sailor You never find a bore.

I see a little cloud in your sky; Engagement "showers" will fall by and by.

Your love is dark and ruddy With a dashing black mustache, He'll ask you to elope with him, But do not be so rash!

You are naturally fair enough To need no help from a powder puff; And the man who wins you will surely bless

The girl who looks well in a gingham dress.

Before next moon shall wax and wane Your fate will meet you, it is plain; Your love will run neither smooth nor fast.

But all will come out right at last. You feel a restless longing—discontent— You think for bigger things that you were meant;

'Tis woman's day, let all your powers be spent To make you the first woman President.

You're never more bewitchin' Than when you're in the kitchen, With the color in your cheek like a rose, And a little smudge of flour on your nose!

your twenty-fifth grandchild sits on your knee.

There's one here to-night who loves you well, but this one's name I never will tell.

When you're too old to chew, a million dollars will be left to you. Now it is time to unmask and compare fortunes; then they will want to test the fates again. The tiny candles used on birthday cakes can be fastened in the halves of English walnut shells, if you will drop a little melted tallow into the shell and press the candle down in it while it is still soft. Paste a letter on front of shell, light the candles and set the little boats afloat in a large pan of water.

Give each guest a letter so he may watch his own boat, and have some one interpret the movements of the different boats. Some will cling to the sides of the pan, and their owners will lead quiet lives; some will float together; some will collide and be shipwrecked; the one whose candle burns the longest will be the first one married.

Any of the old games, such as "bobbing for apples," taking a ring with the teeth from a dish of flour, are appropriate, for they belong distinctly to Hallowe'en and we would miss them if they did not appear once a year.

When it is time for refreshments, line the boys up according to height. Have the girls form a line in the same manner facing the boys, but have the line turned around so that the shortest girl stands opposite the tallest boy. Thus the tallest and shortest go together to the dining-room. Have apples, gingerbread, doughnuts, pop-corn balls and cider on the table; let each one take a paper plate and napkin and help himself or herself; then the couples can find a quiet corner in which to enjoy their meal. And they will enjoy it.

When baking the doughnuts, put in one a ring, in another a small key, in another a thimble; a penny, a button, etc., in others. Say nothing about it to your guests. The one who is surprised with the ring will speedily marry; the key means a long journey; the thimble and button denote spinsterhood or bachelorhood, as the case may be, and the penny stands for wealth.

To make pop-corn balls, take one-half pint of molasses with a pinch of soda stirred into it, one-half pint of sugar and one cup water. Cook until it makes a soft ball in water. Pour

You're a gay coquette, I fear, But your capture now is near; And before your romance closes, You will be as meek as Moses!

Go in for agriculture As a modern farmerette, And you'll raise the biggest cabbage That the world has seen as yet.

You have such an air and a fashion You would surely be welcomed with smiles, If you'd go into business in Paris To develop Canadian styles.

For the Boys

You will take up aviation, And, discarding boats and train, You will travel over country In your private aeroplane.

You'll be a farmer up to date, You'll accumulate wealth and marry late, But this delay you will not regret For you'll marry a famous farmerette.

You're saving up for a diamond ring; You think it's a secret—it's no such a thing!

The girls all like you; Find your voice, Step boldly out — And make a choice.

A scientific farmer Of reputation rare, You'll have a prize exhibit At every county fair.

You'll be a breezy auctioneer, You've such a winning way! You'll hold the crowds and sell the goods, And how you'll make them pay!

Doomed to be a bachelor? Too timid to propose? Brave up; perhaps real courage may Reverse your fate—who knows?

A taste for showy neckties And for fashions up to date, If these go wrong it puts you In a very nervous state.

You are looking melancholy, Cheer up, brother, wear a smile, Girls have never cared for mooping; Cultivate a different style.

There's a picture that you carry— She's the girl that you will marry.

If walnuts are not available, blind-fold the guests and lead them one at a time into a dimly lighted room just before refreshments are served. Remove the bandage and to weird music produced by tin pans, whistles, etc., the fortune seeker advances to a witch who is seated in a dim cave and receives his or her fate, written on coarse, brown paper and tied with black thread. Those who enter first are allowed to remain in a dark corner to watch the others. When the fortunes have been distributed the witch disappears to the clutter of pans, and the guests all file into the dining-room where they open and read their fortunes.

over six quarts of popped corn and press into shape.

Dairying a Permanent Industry.

No matter what trials beset agriculture, dairying is and will always continue to be one of its profitable and its most secure ventures. The reasons are not far to seek. Ever since the days of primitive man the human race has used large proportions of animal food. As population presses, meat is partially replaced by vegetables in the diet. Nowhere, however, has animal food been entirely abandoned. Since the dairy cow is the most economical producer of human food from the grain and roughage of the farm, the increased consumption of dairy products is coincident with the increase of human population. This is one vital reason why dairying must continue.

Of all the enterprises in which men engage, live stock husbandry is the most alluring and the most enjoyable. But live stock husbandry rests wholly upon mammalian life—life that depends upon mother's milk. In ordinary farming the milk of the cow is freely substituted for that of other animals in the nurture of the growing young. But this reason, important as it must be, is one of the least of the reasons why dairying must continue.

The cow has been most appropriately designated "the foster mother of the human race." Childhood's dependence upon milk for its normal growth and healthy development is so absolute and so vital to our national welfare that dairy farming is rapidly coming to be the one indispensable industry. Textiles may be "fabricated," foods produced by "synthetic processes," building materials "substituted," but "there are no substitutes for milk." It is the one protective food in the human dietary.

Hence, dairying cannot be overdone and the dairy cow will never be replaced, neither in the nurture of the race nor the fundamental economics of the farm.

Save a few of the best heads of sunflowers. We pick them from the tallest and stoutest stalks with the largest heads that are well filled with plump seed. The heads are thoroughly dried and then shelled out in a large box where they can be stirred occasionally to prevent mould.

GROW NATIVE TREES

Some years ago a Canadian forest engineer who was doing some work in the centre of one of the second tier of counties northward from lake Ontario, met a man who was fencing-in a hundred acre lot. The land was what is commonly known as a pine barren, an area once covered by a pine forest, but, since that was clean cut off and burned over, practically a useless waste. Any farms taken up in the area had been abandoned, and the repeated fires and the running of cattle had up to that time frustrated the attempts of pine to come in again, although around old trees that had been left, clumps of young trees were bravely making a start.

Learning that he was talking to a forest engineer, the man doing the fencing proceeded to explain that he was a Canadian, who had resided a long time in the United States, and that he had now come back to Canada to try his fortune growing soft-shelled walnuts on this cheap land. The forest engineer said that growing trees was a good investment, if a long-time one, but he asked, "Why plant soft-shelled walnuts?" "Because Mr. Blank" (naming a celebrated botanist) personally assured me that they were the most profitable kind of trees. One has yearly harvests of nuts to bring in money while his trees are growing to timber size."

"All that is true," said the forest engineer, "but Mr. Blank lives in California. I do not think he was ever in Ontario, and it is practically certain he was never in this country. Walnuts will grow here, but they are native only along the north shore of lake Erie. That they would really thrive here is doubtful, and that is more particularly true of a special and probably tender variety. This land once grew some of the finest white pine Canada ever produced. In spite of fires and cattle, white pine is sprouting, as you see, to cover the ground again; why not grow white pine, when nature is ready to meet you halfway? Walnuts are a gamble; pine is a certainty."

However, the walnut man with his California guarantee was not to be dissuaded. He spent considerable money in planting soft-shelled walnuts, and is now back in the United States at his old job, convinced that forestry is a fraud. In the meantime, the white pine has continued to come back and in a few years there will be a county forest of fine young pine in the township in which his soft-shelled walnuts were a failure. It is a good plan to experiment with exotic trees, but as a business proposition it is better to start growing the best of our Canadian native species, than which for the production of structural timber there are no finer in the world.

The Sanitary Closet.

One of the vexing domestic problems of those who live in small villages is the disposal of human excreta. The common earth closet is always unsatisfactory; disposal of the contents is a repulsive job that becomes almost impossible to care for properly under complications such as frozen ground, excessive rainfall, and other disturbances.

We cannot give space to lengthy descriptions of how to construct closets but are glad to set forth a few suggestions. The concrete pit privy is a very valuable and practical type of closet. The receptacle may be made fly-tight, and being of concrete allows no leakage. The pit is divided into two compartments, on the principle that if one compartment is used alone until filled, and then left undisturbed during the months that the other is in process of filling, the fecal matter will have become so dried and decomposed that it may be removed to land remote from wells and springs and applied as fertilizer with little difficulty and slight offensive odor. This is made an easier matter if a little dry, loamy earth is shoveled in from time to time as the pit is filling.

A community able to arrange for regular scavenger service may make use of fly-tight closets with removable receptacles such as buckets, to be taken away weekly. A tank privy in which enough water is used to allow the development of bacterial action similar to that taking place in a cess-pool is among the possibilities. The solids disintegrate and then pass off through the overflow. Odors are kept down by maintaining a film of kerosene on the surface.

Recently the chemical toilet has become developed in such a manner that its operation may be considered quite successful. The general plan of operation is for the contents of excreta to be received into receptacles containing a powerful chemical solution. Upon falling into this solution the waste products are deodorized, disinfected and more or less disintegrated. Local vents leading outside of the building are provided to care for odors in the closet bowl and the parts of the apparatus above the chemical tank. An apparatus of this kind makes it possible, at a cost of about one dollar per year per person to have indoor closet facilities where no water or sewer systems are available, thus adding greatly to the comforts of the home.

It's far better to have the cement floor of a henhouse set on a six to ten inch layer of coarse stones. Dampness is fatal to hens.
