MEN DOWN TO WORK

Closest Discipline Observed and the Troops Begin To Look Smart.

[By Hal Gordon, Attached Correspondent with Canadian Troops of London Advertiser and Toronto Star.]
Valcartier Camp, Que., Aug. 28.—Quickly, but without the haste which defeats its own purpose, the Canadian contingent is being got ready for active service. The authorities realize that a large proportion of the men now undergoing training are from the city, unaccustomed to outdoor life, and during this first week of training the effects of this wise policy of gradual breaking into military life are already apparent. Pale-faced, round-shouldered lads from office and store are acquiring a hardy and an unflinching swag. Boisterous young fellows who always used to talk back to the boss now jump smartly to the word of command, and when off duty salute every officer they pass. Crumblers who turned up their noses at camp fare and complained about hard beds and thin blankets, now line up early for their stew and bread, and sleep soundly from "lights out" to "reville." Every one is acquiring discipline and smartness.

Troops Become Smarter.
The daily program of work at present is confined to three or four hours' brisk drilling during half the day, and a march to the ranges for a little target practice in the rest of the day. The elementary parts of a soldier's education, which are in some respects the most important, are being polished off. The effects of this wise policy of gradual breaking into military life are already apparent. Pale-faced, round-shouldered lads from office and store are acquiring a hardy and an unflinching swag. Boisterous young fellows who always used to talk back to the boss now jump smartly to the word of command, and when off duty salute every officer they pass. Every one is acquiring discipline and smartness.

All Eager to Go.
When regiments come on parade every man stands in his place without moving head or arms. The constant stream of talking, laughing, and joking in peace times of the average volunteer regiment has ceased. No one in the ranks speaks until the order "Stand Easy" is given. There is a reason for all this. It is that the average layman would regard as petty detail.

"Anyone guilty of breaking military regulations will be sent home," was an announcement which company commanders read out to their men today. Such offences as being drunk, breaking bounds, being insolent to any officer, non-commissioned or commissioned, or transgressing any sanitary regulation are prohibited. And everyone in camp is keen to get a crack at the Kaiser. Non-commissioned officers have to be addressed as "sergeant" or "corporal" even if they are life-long chums of the men they are talking to. In several instances men in civil life are under the orders of non-commissioned officers who are accustomed to boss at home. Obedience is given cheerfully because every man has been made to realize that his chance of being included in the first (Continued on Page Three.)

Comrades of Old Together Again

Bombardiers George Marks and Jack Straud, of the Sixth (London) Field Battery, comrades in arms for twelve years in the One Hundred and Twenty-third Battery of the English Artillery, were united after many years by the present declaration of war. Marks and Straud served together through the South African war. After completing twelve years service in the One Hundred and Twenty-third, both took their discharges and left the old land. They met again in the ranks of the Sixth, both having joined as soon as war was declared. Both have been raised to the rank of bombardiers since their enlistment here.

Marks, who is standing with his arm around Straud's shoulder when an advertiser photographer snapped the old chums today, is the man who walked from Avon to London to enlist. In his anxiety to get here in time he tramped the entire distance, not even stopping to eat. He originally enlisted in the Seventh Fusiliers, but because of his previous training was sent over to the Battery.

A serious reverse to British arms on the French frontier is officially announced in Berlin. After nine days' fighting the Germans claim to have put the western line of the allies to flight. The British, it is asserted, were defeated at Maubeuge, France, and the Franco-Belgian forces driven back toward the Meuse.

Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of staff of the British expeditionary force, reports that his troops were attacked by five German army corps and cavalry on Wednesday, in the neighborhood of Cambrai and Le Cateau, and that their casualties were heavy. He does not state the outcome of the battle, but says that the French and Belgian towns about ten miles southwest of Maubeuge.

An English correspondent at Lille, France, says that the advance guard of the Germans is now at Pont-a-Marcq and Marchiennes, French towns, just south of Lille, in the department Du Nord.

A newspaper dispatch from Boulogne reports that the Germans broke through the French lines near Arras, in the Province of Pas de Calais, but that the French have the situation well in hand.

British marines are in force at Ostend. A press dispatch from that town says that the Germans are within 20 miles of the place.

King Charles of Roumania is reported seriously ill.

A British destroyer has sunk an Austrian destroyer off Corfu, according to a news dispatch from Brindisi, Italy.

German troops are reported as taking the offensive in Belgium Congo.

The Russian military attaché at Paris is credited with the statement that additional Russian armies are about to invade Western Prussia with the intention of marching on Berlin.

The capture, as made by Detectives Harry Jones and Robert Egleston, savored of the melodramatic. Word was received at police headquarters this morning that seven Austrians, thought to be army reservists, had suddenly boarded a fast express train at Brantford when it was about to pull out. They had transportation for Detroit, but were heading for Detroit.

SIR JOHN FRENCH MAKING READY FOR ANOTHER FIGHT

Dispatches Reassuring and Show That Tommy Atkins Fought Splendidly—Leader Thoroughly Understands the Situation.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Aug. 28.—A cable to the Tribune from London, says: "Sir John French's pithy dispatch read in Parliament today is reassuring in two important particulars. First of all, he tells us that our troops fought splendidly yesterday against a superior number, and then he says that he is making ready for another fight. A battle is imminent. 'Where he fought yesterday and where he is going to fight again today or tomorrow, he does not say, but he speaks of his position and prospects as satisfactory. There is a quiet, soldier-like ring about the field marshal's words which have done a great deal in the last few hours to restore public confidence.'"

The presence of Sir Derek Keppel, the King's equerry, at the Aldershot royal pavilion for the last few days, and the extensive preparations within the building itself herald the advent of the King, who, it is believed, will arrive tomorrow. His Majesty will then be in the centre of the troops of the new regular force, and it is expected that he will remain in residence until the situation on the continent has taken definite aspect.

ADVANCE SEEMS STEADY

Enemy's Battery Was Established Between Forts On August 21.

London, Aug. 28.—The Daily Telegraph's Paris correspondent today gives a story of the earlier fighting at Namur as described by August Mellot, the Belgian deputy for Namur. M. Mellot says that until August 13, the citizens of Namur had hoped that the Belgian army would be joined by the French and English, and would engage the Germans before they reached Namur, but on that day a detachment of Belgian horsemen met a detachment of Uhlans and engaged in a smart fight, in which the Germans were smashed up.

"This incident," said M. Mellot, "left no doubt that the Germans would return in greater numbers. The following day, while we were in Namur busy completing the defence, the first three shells fell in the town. One shell struck the bridge at Salzinnes and killed five persons. I was standing 20 yards away.

"From that moment we were shelled daily and numbers of persons were killed, and great damage done. We still (Continued on Page Three.)

AUSTRIA DECLARES WAR ON BELGIUM

MADE BRIGADE MAJOR OF FIRST CANADIAN INFANTRY BATTALION

London, Aug. 28.—The Chronicle, commenting today on "the war's progress," says: "Since the great disaster which befell the allies in Belgium, a silence deeper than ever has been imposed by the censorship.

"From a message sent out 24 hours ago by the French embassy, showing fighting on the line between Cambrai and Le Cateau, it is apparent that the French have been driven back past their line of frontier fortresses to a point 20 miles behind that line.

No Fortifications Left.
"There is no longer any serious fortified obstacle between the German main advance and Paris. Under the circumstances, it is not surprising that the French ministry has resigned and reconstituted itself as a committee of public safety.

"Meanwhile, as if a siege of Paris was now looming foremost in their minds, their first step has been to appoint a general in supreme command of Paris and its troops."

inferior to the enemy, nothing remains but retreat to the faubourgs of Champagne.

Second Line Is Difficult.
"If this line is skillfully defended, it should be most difficult to penetrate. La Fere, Laon and Rheims, which are provided with permanent fortifications, must expect an enveloping attack on the north, but this attempt will probably fail.

"We have every right to expect success today, but if we do not win a decisive victory we must abandon our bases on the coast north of the mouth of the Somme and shift further south, either to Havre or Cherbourg.

Establish Airship Stations.
"If we are unable to resume the offensive and beat back the German attack from the north, one consequence will be that the Germans will establish aircraft stations along the Straits of Dover, and thereby be able to keep us under constant observation.

"We must meet this by a counter attack with searchlights and anti-aircraft guns. Sportsmen should make up practice parties for airship shooting.

"The Germans will also mount their heaviest guns at any port they seize, and once more there will be an army encamped on the heights of Boulogne.

"Let us, however, be grateful for one mercy. The international financiers, doctrinaires and lunatics who wished to fit us out with a channel tunnel are silenced for good and all."

BRITISHERS EXPOSED TO ATTACK FROM FIVE GERMAN ARMY CORPS

GALLANT COMMANDER OF SIXTH BATTERY THAT LEAVES CITY TONIGHT

Premier Asquith Gives Out Dispatch From Sir John French, in Which Casualties Are Said To Be Very Heavy on Both Sides.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Aug. 28.—12:45 p.m.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons today that the British troops in Wednesday's fighting were exposed to the attack of five German army corps. The losses on both sides, he said, were great.

The Premier's announcement follows: "We have heard from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces, that in the fighting which took place between his army and the enemy on Wednesday, August 26, and which appears from French official reports to have been in the neighborhood of Cambrai and Le Cateau, our troops were exposed to the attack of five German army corps; two divisions of cavalry and a reserve corps of cavalry, and a second cavalry division.

INFLICTED SEVERE LOSS.
"Our second corps in the fourth division bore the brunt of the cavalry attack, while our first army corps was attacked on the right, and inflicted very severe loss on the enemy.

"I regret to say that our casualties were heavy, but the exact numbers are not yet known. The behavior of our troops was in all respects admirable. General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, in a message published this morning, conveys his congratulations and sincere thanks for the protections so effectively given by our army to the French flank."

ANXIOUS TO GIVE CASUALTIES.
[Canadian Press.]
London, Aug. 26.—12:25 p.m.—The official bureau says that Earl Kitchener has received a telegram from Sir John French stating that the latter feels strongly the necessity of giving full details of the casualties as soon as possible. He hopes to telegraph some of them immediately. It has been impossible in the circumstances to send them up to the present.

ATTACHE SAYS RUSSIANS WILL MARCH STRAIGHT TO BERLIN

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Aug. 26.—7:25 a.m.—Col. Osoblenikh, Russian military attaché here, is quoted by the Journal as having remarked, in an interview, that he could say without indiscretion that other armies were about to invade Western Prussia. After crossing the Vistula, he said, the Russians would march straight to Berlin.

KAISER SIMPLY SWEEPED EARTH WITH ALLIES, BERLIN HEADQUARTERS CLAIM

Highly-Colored Report Would Make World Believe That the British and French Were Routed and Western Army in Full Retreat.

[Canadian Press.]
Berlin, Aug. 28.—By wireless to the Associated Press, via Sayville, Long Island, Aug. 28.—7:46 a.m.—Headquarters has issued an official report declaring that the western enemy has everywhere been defeated, and is in full retreat, after nine days' fighting.

General Von Kluck defeated the British army at Maubeuge, renewed the attack today, and threatened to surround it. Generals Von Buelow and Von Hausen completely defeated the Franco-Belgian forces, about eight corps, between the Sambre and the Meuse, and the Meuse in several days' battle, and are now pursuing them to the eastward of Maubeuge.

VICTORIES CLAIMED EVERYWHERE.
The attack on Maubeuge was opened by the Grand Duke Albrecht of Wuertemberg, who defeated and pursued the enemy across the Semois and the Meuse. The German Crown Prince is advancing towards the Meuse, and the Crown Prince of Bavaria repulsed an attack from Nancy and the south.

General Von Heering continues the pursuit southward through the Vosges. Four Belgian divisions, attacking Tuesday and Wednesday from Antwerp, have been repulsed, losing guns and many prisoners. The Belgian population generally participated in the fighting, necessitating severe reprisals.

The corps of the last reserves have been called out to guard communications.

WILL ENLIST MEN FOR GUARD DUTY THROUGH CANADA

Minister of Militia to Use
Those Who Will Not Go to the Front.

STILL RUSHING TO CAMP

Thirty-Five Thousand Expected To Be at Valcar-tier Next Week.

Men Also Given Instructions
as to Cleanliness and Sobriety.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—There will be 25,000 men in camp at Valcartier next week. There are 23,000 there now. There are 9,000 more on trains moving toward Valcartier and the artillery have been ordered to move yet and will not until tomorrow. The Minister of Militia stated that the extra men who forced themselves upon him as they were doing in all parts of the country, would be enlisted and incorporated into units which for a time might be used to guard important points and lines of communication in Canada, thus relieving local militia who have been doing duty for some time.

Camp Life More Strict.
VALCARTIER, Que., Aug. 27.—There was a general tightening up of both discipline and drilling in the huge mobilization camp today. The battalions are now fairly well organized and drilling is being conducted with greater regularity and smoothness. Every soldier on the ground was given a stiff lecture by the senior officers, following instructions issued by the camp commandant, Col. Williams, yesterday, on the necessity of keeping the camp in an absolutely sanitary condition, on paying closer attention to duty and on the penalties which would be imposed should any man touch liquor.

Drilling All Day.
Drilling began at 7:30 in the morning and continued throughout the day. While 6,000 soldiers were given instructions in skirmishing and rifle practice at the butts, several more thousands were being drilled in company and battalion formation. It was strenuous work under a hot sun, but the men are gradually being hardened to it and there is comparatively little falling out of the ranks. The camp strength was increased to about 23,000 troops during the day, all the arrivals being westerners.

RUSH WARSHIPS TO GUARD OIL TRAFFIC

British Fear German Boats
Are in Gulf of Mexico and Send Protection.

[Canadian Press.]
GALVESTON, Texas, August 27.—An official statement from the British consulate today said three war ships have been sent at full speed to protect cotton and oil traffic in the Gulf of Mexico. The statement follows:
"The British Consulate is informed that three British warships have been sent at full speed to afford protection to cotton and oil traffic in the Gulf of Mexico. It is rumored that the French cruiser Conde has sunk the German ship Alliance, and the British cruiser Donegal has captured the North German Lloyd steamship Brandenburg."
Sending of the British ships to the Gulf of Mexico is probably the result of reports of the presence of German warships in those waters. Several British tank steamers are engaged in the oil trade between Mexico and the United States. No further details were given by the consulate.

BOARDS OF TRADE TO ORGANIZE EMPLOYMENT

Called Together To Consider
Ways of Providing Work
During Winter.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, Aug. 27.—With a view to facilitating the employment of men to provide as much employment as possible during the coming fall and winter, Mayor Hocken, after a conference with W. P. Gandy, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, and W. K. McNaught, ex-M.P., has issued an invitation to all masters and presidents of boards of trade in the province to participate in a conference at the city hall here next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mayor Hocken's letter emphasizes the fact that these out employment do not want charity, but it is the duty of the community at large to keep them and their families from starvation. To this end he suggests co-operation and a systematic organization of every industrial community, although each municipality, as far as its means will permit, should take care of its own unemployed.

SIR WILLIAM GOSCHEN MAKES REPORT ON CAUSE OF WAR

Warned Germany of Consequences of Violating Belgium's Neutrality, But Officials Claimed That It Was Absolutely Necessary.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—10:40 a.m.—The British Foreign Office issued tonight, in the form of a white paper, the report of Sir William Goschen, the former ambassador in Berlin, on the rupture of diplomatic relations with Germany.

The report is dated Aug. 8 and was issued in accordance with instructions issued on Aug. 4 from Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, the ambassador called upon the German secretary of state, Count von Jagow, to inform him whether Germany would refrain from violating Belgian neutrality.

"Herr von Jagow," the report continues, "at once replied that he was sorry to say his answer must be 'no' as in consequence of the German troops having crossed the frontier that morning, Belgian neutrality had already been violated. Herr von Jagow again went into the reasons why the imperial Government had been obliged to take this step, namely that they had to advance into France by the quickest and easiest way, so as to be able to get well ahead of their operations and endeavor to strike some decisive blow as early as possible. It was a matter of life and death for them if they had gone by the more southern route, they could not have hoped, in view of the paucity of roads and the strength of the fortresses, to have got through without formidable opposition, entailing great loss of time."

Fearful the Russians.
"This loss of time would mean time gained by the Russians for the bringing up of their troops to the German frontier. Rapidly of action was the great German asset, while that of Russia was the inexhaustible supply of troops."

"I pointed out to Herr von Jagow that this fait accompli of the violation of the Belgian frontier rendered, as he would readily understand, the situation was exceedingly grave, and I asked him whether there was still not time to draw back and avoid possible consequences which both he and I would deplore."

Ultimatum Delivered.
The British ambassador proceeded to the German Foreign Office the same afternoon and informed the Secretary of State that unless the imperial Government could give assurances by 12 o'clock that night that they would proceed no further with the violation of the Belgian frontier and stop their advance, he had been instructed to demand passports and to inform the imperial Government that His Majesty's Government would have to take all steps in their power to uphold neutral Belgium and to observe the terms of the treaty to which Germany was as much a party as Great Britain.

"Herr von Jagow," says the report, "replied that to his great regret he could give no other answer than that which he had given me earlier in the day, namely that the safety of the empire rendered it absolutely necessary that the imperial troops should advance through Belgium."

Demands Passports.
"I said that in that case I should have to demand my passports."

The interview took place about 7 o'clock. In a short conversation which ensued, Herr von Jagow expressed his regret at the crumbling of his entire policy and that of the imperial Chancellor, which had been to make friends with Great Britain and then, through Great Britain, to get closer to France. "I said that this sudden end to my work in Berlin was to me also a matter of deep regret and disappointment, but that he must understand that under the circumstances and in view of his engagements, his Majesty's Government could not have acted otherwise than they had done."

Chancellor Excited.
The ambassador then went to see the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, and he found him in a very excited condition. "The Chancellor," says the report, "began a harangue, which lasted about twenty minutes. He said the step taken by Great Britain was terrible to a degree. Just for a word 'neutrality'—a word which in war time had been so often disregarded; just for a scrap of paper, Great Britain was going to make war on a kindred nation, who desired nothing better than to be friends with her. All his efforts in that direction had been rendered useless by this last terrible step, and the policy to which, as I know, he had devoted himself since his accession to office, was tumbled down like a house of cards."

Would Britain Responsible.
"What we had done was unthinkable. It was like striking a man from behind, while he was fighting for his life against two assailants. He held Great Britain responsible for all the terrible events that might happen."

"I protested strongly against this statement and said that in the same way as he and Herr von Jagow wished me to understand that the reasons it was a matter of life or death to Germany to advance through Belgium and violate the latter's neutrality, so I would wish him to understand that it was, so to speak, a matter of life or death for the honor of Great Britain that she should keep her solemn engagement to do her utmost to defend Belgium's neutrality if attacked."

Britain Keeps Her Compact.
"A solemn compact simply had to be kept, or that confidence could anyone have in engagements given by Great Britain in the future?"

"The Chancellor said: 'But at what price will that compact have been kept? Has the British Government thought of that?'"

"I hinted to his excellency as plainly as I could that fear of consequences could hardly be regarded as an excuse for making a solemn engagement, but his excellency was so excited, so evidently overcome by the news of our rupture of diplomatic relations, that I refrained from adding fuel to the flame by further argument."

He was leaving he said that the blow of Great Britain joining Germany's enemies was all the greater because almost up to the last moment he and his Government had been working with us and supporting our efforts to maintain peace between Russia and Austria. I said this was part of the tragedy which saw two nations fall apart just at the moment when the relations between them were more friendly and cordial than they had been for years. Unfortunately, notwithstanding our efforts to maintain peace between Austria and Russia, war had spread and brought us face to face with a situation which entailed our separation from our late fellow workers. He would readily understand that I regretted this more than I."

The British ambassador declared he handed a telegraphic copy of the conversation to the telegraph office in Berlin for transmission, but that it never reached the British Foreign Office.

That evening Herr Zimmermann, under secretary of state, called on Sir William Goschen, and asked whether the call of his passports was equivalent to a declaration of war. The ambassador replied that there had been cases where diplomatic relations had been broken off in which war had not ensued, but his instructions showed that if a reply was not received by twelve o'clock, Great Britain would take steps as her engagements required.

Herr Zimmermann said that it was in fact a declaration of war, as Germany could not give the assurances required. Soon afterwards a shelling was issued, the Berliner Tageblatt, stating that Great Britain had declared war against Germany.

Must Attack Embassy.
"Immediately," says the report, "an exceedingly excited and unruly mob assembled before the embassy, and the police were overpowered. We took no notice of this until the crash of glass and the landing of cobblestones in the drawing-room where we were all sitting warned us that the situation was getting unpleasant."

The ambassador telephoned to the Foreign Office, and the members of his staff were sent and cleared the street. No more direct unpleasantness occurred. Herr von Jagow called and expressed his regret and said that the behavior of his countrymen made him feel more ashamed than he could say. He had decided that the news of the declaration of war should not be published until the following morning, and for that reason had only sent a small force of police to protect the embassy."

Renounces British Titles.
The next day the Emperor sent an aide with a message in which the Emperor expressed regret for the occurrences and also requested the ambassador to tell the King of England that he would at once divest himself of his British titles.

With respect to this message, the ambassador says: "The message lost none of its acerbity by the manner of its delivery."

The ambassador speaks very highly of the courtesy received at the hands of Herr von Jagow and the officials of the Foreign Office. The minister sent him a letter couched in the most friendly terms. On the morning of his departure the ambassador and the members of his staff were smuggled in taxicabs through streets patrolled by strong forces of police, and every arrangement was made for their comfort. They suffered no molestation says the ambassador, "such as that meted out by the crowd to my Russian and French colleagues."

A colonel of the guard accompanied the train to the Dutch frontier, and was exceedingly kind in his efforts to prevent the great crowds which thronged the platforms of every station where the train stopped, from insulting the British representatives.

FLATLY DENIED THAT LILLE HAS FALLEN

Situation Is Entirely Satisfactory, Says
French Officials.

[Canadian Press.]
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A London cable to the World says there is a rumor that Lille, Valenciennes and Roubaix were all in possession of the Germans was flatly denied in Paris, and it was said the invasion was nothing more than German cavalry scouting expeditions, to the activities of which no importance should be attached.

The situation in the north, it was declared, continued entirely satisfactory from every point of view.

Last August Saturday Will See a Mingling of Price Finals and New Autumn Apparel

THE crowding in of New Fall Stocks necessitates the condensing of what few odds and ends may be left of Summer Apparel, which in most cases are in little groups, where quantities are sufficient for grouping, at price finals, making rare opportunities for some economical buying. We refer you particularly to the final scattering of Ladies' White Wash Skirts and Lingerie Dresses, many at less than half, which are being crowded out by the New Fall Displays, which will be equally interesting on Saturday. In the Clothing Section the event of the season will take place Saturday—the sale of Manufacturer's Fall Sample Suits. 250 Fall Models for Men and Boys at about HALF PRICE in many cases.

SEE ANNOUNCEMENT BELOW.

Special Purchase of $8 Leather Club Bags—On Sale Saturday, $5.50

35 only in the lot, secured from one of the best makers of leather bags in Canada. These bags were made from stock used in much higher-priced bags, but there was not sufficient to put in the regular range of samples. We secured 35 only of the line with our fall order at a very special price, and will give our customers the benefit Saturday. We have never seen such leather in a bag at any price like this. Paris grain leather with leather-covered frame, and heavy leather corners, and fine brass lock and catches, double or single handle, full leather lined, with double pockets, 18-inch bag. Worth at least $8.00. Saturday, 35 only to sell at $5.50 each.

Also another shipment of our Special $4.49 Bags.

Sale of Manufacturers' Sample Suits Saturday

A ONCE-A-SEASON OPPORTUNITY

For some seasons past we have secured the travellers' samples of one of the largest and best wholesale tailors in Canada, as many of our customers well know, who watch for this announcement each season, that they may take advantage of first selection, and save a ten-dollar bill on your new fall suit. In these suits are only the models shown for the fall and winter season of 1914-15, so you may be sure that in choosing you will get only the newest cut and fashion. The samples have been carried by the travellers for this firm, who cover Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, each having a different size in every line, so that when grouped together we have a full range of sizes in each model. Suits are none the worse for handling, have been repressed, and are in perfect condition. Besides every suit we sell is pressed and delivered to you all ready to put on.

150 Men's Fall Sample Suits

On Sale
Saturday $13.95

These are the very samples that have been carried in the travellers' trunks for six weeks, and sold to the best merchants in Canada from coast to coast. They consist of the new fancy English worsteds and tweeds, navy, serge, all first-class suits. One line of navy serge is silk lined. All styles for young men—stout men, tall slender models, and the standard model. All sizes from 34 to 44. Suits worth up to $25.00. Saturday sale..... $13.95

100 Boys' Sample Suits, Worth up to $13.50. Saturday, $6.75

These Sample Suits mean a saving to our customers of hundreds of dollars. They are purchased at a great price advantage, the full benefit of which is handed over to our customers in order to effect a quick clearance, as these suits are extra stock in addition to our regular fall purchases, and being sold at the first of the season in order that our customers may receive the fullest benefit of this great purchase. The styles are the newest two-piece bloomers in finest worsteds and tweeds, in Norfolk and double-breasted styles. Suits for best wear. JAPAN AND AUSTRIA ARE NOT "AT WAR"

Merely "A Rupture of Diplomatic Relations."

[Canadian Press.]
TOKIO, August 27.—7:30 p.m.—The situation between Japan and Austria is described here as "a rupture of diplomatic relations, not war."

The Austro-Hungarian ambassador, Baron von Mueller de Szentgyorgy, explained to Premier Kato that Austria felt in duty bound to follow her ally and withdraw her ambassador from Japan. This evening, M. Kato sent his secretary to the diplomat carrying the latter's passports. The members of the Austrian embassy are hurrying the arrangements to leave for the Manchuria for San Francisco Saturday. The German ambassador, Count von Rex, will take passage on the Minnesota for Seattle the same day. The interests of both embassies will be looked after by the United States ambassador.

A great many have finished, and the balance will be through this week, providing the weather keeps favorable. The flax crop, which is all pulled, is now being drawn into the mill, which has started up for the threshing operations. The crop is a good one and should make the company some money, providing they get the fibre rotted and into the barn in good shape.

The directors of the Blythe Rural Telephone Company have been in communication with the Bell Telephone Company for some time re the purchase of the office and business here and today a meeting of the owners of the rural line was called to see if they were willing to purchase the line at the figure the Bell Company had placed on it. There were a large number in the hall, and after a few of the leaders, pro and con, had spoken on the subject, a vote was taken which was strongly adverse to the purchase, so that the matter will have to drop and both companies run independent of each other.

LONDON FEARS

ZEPPELIN RAID

The Daily Telegraph Believes
Balloon May Cross Sea—
People Become Anxious.

LONDON, Aug. 27. — 2:15 a.m.—The attack on Antwerp by a Zeppelin dirigible balloon has aroused some anxiety regarding the possibility of a similar attack on London.

The Daily Telegraph discusses at some length the advisability of providing a suitable protection for London against such a raid.

"There exists the distinct possibility," says the paper, "that further raids of a similar nature and on a more extensive scale may be carried out by the Germans, especially as the present meteorological conditions all favor such attempts. There is no reason to suppose that the international code regarding an attack on an unfortified city would be respected by the Germans. Under favorable conditions a dirigible from Antwerp could reach London in about five hours. However, the chances of detection even by night are overwhelming, and a Zeppelin, in order to fulfill its mission, would have to fly as low as 5,000 feet, at which altitude it would be well within the range of ordinary artillery fire."

HISTORIC CASTLES
BECOME HOSPITALS

Mansions and Yachts Offered to Authorities For Relief Purposes—Work at Marlborough.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—10:25 p.m.—Historic castles, country mansions and luxurious yachts are being turned into hospitals, convalescent homes and red cross depots. The authorities are overwhelmed with offers, and the owners in most cases are providing a full equipment for the houses and craft, any paying for their maintenance.

The Duke of Devonshire has lent Devonshire House, a famous palatial old mansion in Piccadilly, for the headquarters of the British Red Cross Society. The great hall is filled with tables, desks and inquiry counters, and an aristocratic staff is working on the plans of organization. The dual reception room in the mansion is a vast workshop, in which Queen Mother, Amelie, of Portugal, Princess Christian and many other titled and society women are engaged there daily in office work.

Work Room at Marlborough.

The dining room of Marlborough House, the town residence of the Dowager Queen Alexandra, has been converted into a work-room, where prominent society women, under Princess Victoria, cut out garments for soldiers and sailors.

Princess Marie Louise has equipped her club house for factory girls as a hospital.

The Empress Eugenie has given $1,000 to the Red Cross funds, and also fitted up a wing in her house at Marlborough for the reception of wounded officers.

Dunrobin Castle a Hospital.
The Duke of Argyll has offered Dunrobin Castle, the famous seat in the Scottish Highlands, for hospital purposes. The Duke of Norfolk is fitting out fifty beds in his Rundel Castle, his beautiful Sussex seat.

Mortimer Singer, American, has offered his newly-built mansion in Berkshire as a convalescent home, where he has equipped for two hundred patients, and Mr. Singer will defray all the costs for its maintenance.

Rodman Wanamaker, who gave the river altar costing $40,000 to the Sandringham Church in memory of King Edward, has placed his extensive premises in Pall Mall and its entire staff at the disposal of the Red Cross Society.

AUSTRIANS WORK TO FORTIFY VIENNA

LONDON, Aug. 28.—3:51 a.m.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Post says a significant piece of news has reached there that the Austrians have begun extensive fortifications along the Danube near Vienna on the ground that it is necessary to relieve the needs of the people by providing work.

The Russian Chambers will be summoned in November to ratify acts of high state importance. This is interpreted to mean a realization in proper form of the promise to unite all Poles under the Russian flag.

HAINAUT IS ORDERED TO PAY AN INDEMNITY

LONDON, Aug. 28.—2:58 a.m.—A Bolognese dispatch to the Standard says that the town of Tournai, capital of the Department of Hainaut, Belgium, occupied by the Germans, was compelled to pay an indemnity of $400,000 within an hour, the burgomaster being held as a hostage until the money was paid.

LONDON, Aug. 27. — The Germans have imposed a fine of $300,000 on the Belgian town of Charleroi.

GERMANS ATTEMPT TO FORCE A WAY

With Hugest Army Ever Employed, Hope To Win To Paris.

RUSSIANS NEARING GOAL
Dozen Battles Being Fought Around Austria and Germany.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—1:10 a.m.—The conflict of millions appears at last to be in progress. Even such news as the sinking of the German steamer Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse pales beside the Titanic battle evidenced by the tribute of the French commander-in-chief, Gen. Joffre, to the British arms and the realization that the allies are fighting to block the road to Paris, with the Germans hardly further than New York is from Philadelphia.

Meanwhile the Russian host is drawing nearer to Berlin. Not even during the first great struggle between Europe and Asia on the far Manchurian plains was the enormous battle fought in such impenetrable silence as far as concerns the outer world.

Vaguest Generalities.
Only the vaguest generalities are given to the peoples of Great Britain and France by their respective Governments. Probably the German people know little more of what their armies are accomplishing.

The impending battle will undoubtedly be an attempt by the Germans with the hugest army ever employed for a swift attack to pierce the British line, while trying to outflank them between their left and the seaboard.

The Pall Mall Gazette's critic says that the fighting has been on a front of 20 miles along the line between Cambrai and Leateau, and between the Rivers Scheldt and Sambré, while the Germans have been steadily attempting an outflanking movement by forced marches. The allies have the advantage of working on interior lines and have been falling back in the interests of concentration.

Russians Advancing.
The Russians appear to be steadily advancing in East Prussia. They are approaching the great fortress of Konigsberg and have crossed the River Alle at several points. While they continue their advance, with Posen as their objective, they are confronting the Austrians between the Danube and the Vistula, and claim a number of victories along that line.

The Austrians assert that they have defeated the Russians in six days' battle near Krasnik, Russian Poland, repulsing them decisively over the entire front of about 43 miles. A dozen battles are being fought around a great wall of German and Austrian hostets, all of which will be considered milestones of history in less overwhelming days.

Physicians Order Cessation From Official Cases—Mr. Foy Is Improving.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—A party close to the person of Sir James Whitney told The Advertiser this evening that the condition of the Premier's health was far from satisfactory. In fact, Sir James has suffered a relapse and is suffering from the trouble that caused so much alarm a few months ago. Two physicians have been in consultation with Sir James, and he has been ordered an absolute rest and cessation from all official cares. Hon. J. A. Foy, in the absence of Hon. J. J. Foy, is acting premier.

Mr. Foy continues to improve slowly, but it is said that it will be some time before he is able to take active charge of his department again. In the meantime, Hon. I. B. Lucas is acting attorney-general.

German Firms Have No
Status In Canada's Courts

[Canadian Press.]

TORONTO, August 27.—"We are at war with Germany and by the law, so long as this state of war exists, no German firm has any status in a Canadian court," said Judge Morrison today in refusing to give judgment in a case where a German firm sued a Canadian firm for payment for dressgoods.

This is the first law action by a German firm in Canada since the war broke out.

BRITISH HAVE STRONG LINE
TO MEET GERMAN ADVANCE

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—12:40 a.m.—The British press bureau at 12:30 o'clock this morning gave out the following statement: "The French operations of war over a distance of some 250 miles have necessitated certain changes in the position of our troops, who are now occupying a strong line to meet the German advance, supported by the French army on both flanks.

"The morale of both armies appears to be excellent and there is little doubt that they will give good accounts of themselves in the positions they now hold."

Tribute to British.

Gen. Joseph Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, in a telegram to Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces, says:

"The British army did not hesitate, but threw its whole strength against forces which had great numerical superiority. In so doing it contributed in a most effective manner to securing the left wing of the French army."

"It exhibited in this task devotion, energy and perseverance to which I must now pay my tribute—qualities which will be shown again tomorrow and make certain the triumph of our common cause. The French army will never forget the services rendered it. Our army is inspired with the same spirit of sacrifice and the determination to conquer which animates the British forces, and will make good to them its debt of gratitude in the battles of the near future."

Belgians Join French.

"The Belgian field army attached to Namur and a French regiment which supported it have joined our lines."

"In the north the British have attacked forces greatly superior in number, and were obliged, after brilliant resistance, to withdraw a little in the rear on their right."

"Our armies maintained their positions in Belgium. The army of Antwerp, by its offensive, has drawn off and held before it several German divisions."

Longwy Fortress Capitulates.

"Longwy, a very old fortress, the garrison of which consisted of only one battalion, which had been bombarded for several days, capitulated today, after holding out for over 24 days. More than half the garrison was killed or wounded."

Lieut.-Col. Darche, governor of Longwy, has been nominated an officer of the Legion of Honor for heroic conduct in the defence of Longwy.

"On the Meuse our troops have repulsed with great vigor several German attacks. A German flag was taken."

Belgians Join French.

ACCUSES FRENCH
CORPS OF COWARDICE

Writer Says Fifteenth Was
To Blame For Disaster in Lorraine, Running Away.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—6:10 a.m.—Writing to the Mail on August 24, a copy of which paper has just reached London,

Senator Gervais, representing the Seine district, attributes the French disaster in Lorraine to the cowardice of a division of the Fifteenth Army Corps. They fled before the enemy, he writes, and compelled a retreat all along the line, thus losing the fruits of carefully-prepared strategy and nullifying the French advance beyond the Sella River on Chateau Salins and Delme.

BRITISH WOUNDED RETURN.
London, Aug. 27.—11:15 p.m.—The first batch of British wounded from the continent, numbering about 30, arrived this afternoon by steamer at Folkestone, from Boulogne. They were driven in motor cars to the Shorncliffe Hospital and were loudly cheered by large crowds assembled outside the harbor gates.

WELCOME NEWS.
THE report that powerful Russian armies are sweeping through eastern Prussia is welcome news. Perhaps there has been a feeling of impatience with the Muscovite for not "getting into the game" more rapidly. It is true that if they had been seen to the left flank of the Germans, a battle would not have had to meet a tremendous pressure that caused them to fall back. A little reflection, however, will show that British and French were not handicapped, as were the Russians by having to move immense forces over great distances. A week ago it was announced that the Russian mobilization was complete, but there is a great difference between that and actual readiness to fight. Necessarily there is considerable of an interval between the mobilization at the various centres and the appearance on the enemy's frontiers. Cossacks and other mounted forces were no doubt sent out once and were quickly in touch with the Germans, but for various reasons a main army could not be moved with dispatch. As a matter of safety, mobilization takes place well back from a frontier, and unfortunately Russia's railway system is far from adequate. Those who have made a study of the subject maintain that Russia requires months to mobilize a force sufficient to make any real impression on the German flank. If it is true then that they are already well along in their mobilization it shows the Czar's generals to be acting with commendable energy.

THE VALUE OF TREATIES.
THE bellicose ex-President of the United States, Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, takes time from his political warfare to express his contempt for national treaties. One reason for this is, of course, that he may get in a stroke at Mr. Bryan, the Democratic Secretary of State, over the large number of arbitration agreements that he has made with other countries. All these, Mr. Roosevelt thinks, are so much waste paper. And as evidence he says: "Within a fortnight we have had fresh proof of the worthlessness of treaties—names signed to a piece of paper—less backed by force, if passion or interest demands their violation."

If Mr. Roosevelt's assertions mean anything they mean that no man will keep a contract unless he is compelled to do so, that no man will keep his word unless he is forced. For governments are but the representatives of the men of their several countries, and the governments will follow the lead of popular sentiment. There are numbers of individuals whose word is valueless unless enforced by law. On the other hand, there are numbers of men, and we hope a much larger number, whose word can be relied on, and whose promises will be fulfilled without the compulsion of law. And as that number increases in any country in just that proportion will governments observe their obligations, and international treaties be respected, even though no international courts control their actions.

As civilization advances, more and more we note the power of public opinion. But a despotic government, even in a most civilized country, does not always feel bound by principles of honor, and in its dishonorable course will trust to another sentiment—that of patriotism—which makes people rally to the defence of their country in time of danger, even though dissatisfied with the course of its rulers which has led to the danger. In a country where the people control, conditions are somewhat different.

Two leading nations in this war are illustrative cases. The Kaiser violated the pledge of Germany to observe the treaty of neutrality with Belgium. It is new he was doing wrong. His chancellor admitted the fact in a speech before the Reichstag on August 4, speaking of the invasion of Belgium, he said: "Gentlemen, it is contrary to the dictates of international law. . . . We were compelled to over-ride the just protest of the Luxembourg and Belgian Governments. . . . The wrong—speak plainly—that we are committing, we will endeavor to make good as soon as our military goal is reached." And he admits that France had agreed to respect Belgium's neutrality. "It is true," he said, "that the French Government has declared its willingness to respect the neutrality of Belgium."

But, then, that was the best place to wait. Without touching Belgium, "there might be a French movement upon our flank of the Lower Rhine." And so national honor was thrown to the winds.

Britain might have kept out of the war, though with difficulty. Neither Government nor people were anxious to fight. The treaty with France did not, of necessity, involve Britain in the war. But Britain's word was pledged to maintain the neutrality of Belgium, and Britain keeps its word, no matter at what loss. "Surely, you will not fight about a scrap of paper?" asked the German chancellor of the British ambassador. But the scrap of paper held Britain's pledge, and that pledge was worth all it promised. So there is one nation, at least, that has some conception of national honor, and can keep treaties, no matter what the cost may be. And we doubt not that much of the sympathy that is felt in neutral nations for Britain, and much of the lack of sympathy which the Kaiser has met, is due to the fact that the one nation has kept its word and the other has not.

Nor is Britain the only nation that respects treaties. France has done it, the United States has done it. While the way the strenuous Mr. Roosevelt has talked does not justify one in supposing that he would be any too scrupulous, not the least of the jewels President Wilson wears in his democratic crown is his firm insistence on the strict letter of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty in the case of the Panama Canal, in face of the vigorous opposition of some of the shipping interests and some of the politicians of his country.

The moral sense of the community reproaches the man who cannot be trusted to fulfill his contract unless under the control of law. The same moral sense works on governments, and though it may be slower in accomplishing the best results, its influence is sure to extend, and national honor will one day be the guiding force among all civilized peoples.

SARAJEVO AND BELGIUM.
THE German government and its scattering sympathizers try to make out a case for a defensive war by insisting on the Slav or Cossack peril. Russia was going to attack Germany some day, therefore, try to destroy or weaken her before she was strong enough to destroy Germany.

This is an oblique morality in itself. And then what made "the Russian peril" a peril at all? Nothing but France's financial and military alliance with Russia. And why has democratic France made this unnatural alliance with the colossus of semi-barbaric autocracy? Why this possibly tragic liaison of fair France and the Czar? Every German knows very well why. Not content with making France the whole cost of the war of 1870-1871, and with the elaborate insult of the proclamation of the German Empire at Paris (1871), Germany exacted the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, formerly German territory, it is true, but whose people wished to remain with France. Thus not only was France whipped and fined, but in the lost provinces the modern principle of nationality, so closely knit up with democracy, its twin sister, has been outraged by the military regime of central Europe for a space of 43 years. The one argument, apart from right of conquest, for the retention of Alsace-Lorraine against the wishes of the population, was the reference to history, a piece of antiquarian pedantry and hypocrisy.

If Germany had ever been willing to relieve herself of the burden and the odium of governing even part of this domain, if she had offered to compromise by restoring Lorraine or Alsace to France, the French people generally would have given up "the revenge" in recognition of German generosity. But quite to the contrary, Germany has perpetually menaced France by increasing armies and fleets, and shown a disposition to encroach upon the commercial and colonial rights of her neighbor. The Algeiras Conference (1906), and the Moroccan affair of 1911 are well remembered.

So France has drawn ever closer to Russia, and lately, more agreeably, to Great Britain. That is what has made "the Russian peril" to Germany, and it is her own manufacture, made in Germany. Russia alone could be no menace to the Kaiser.

The Austro-German raid on Serbia was made deliberately to challenge the Franco-Russian alliance. The German chancellor talks of Germany's desperate plight, from which, by the primary law of self-preservation, she has to "hack her way out," at Belgium's expense. But that plight is one she put herself in. There are three shame-spots on the German Imperial policy, Lorraine, Serbia and Belgium, and of these the third and latest is the worst. Talk about avenging Sarajevo, the civilized world will not be satisfied till the murderers of Belgium are caught, arraigned, tried and condemned.

Who said we were a decadent people? This is one fight that isn't going to be a draw. Have you decided how long the war is going to last? The British and the Belgians kept the line from snapping. With Namur it seems to be a case of "off again, on again," etc.

There can be no doubt but that Russia put the ruse in Prussia. We back the Czar to reach Berlin before the Kaiser reaches Paris.

This war may yet witness the Japs fighting beside the British in Europe. Germany is calling out its sixteen-year-old boys. Well, Britain has her eight-year-olds.

A dove has given the Mikado an omen of victory. And all these years we have been associating that bird with peace.

When a Zeppelin is brought down, no one takes time and space to report that the occupants were shot into eternity.

Our idea of supreme cruelty would be sending a cub reporter to Lord Kitchener to demand details of the campaign.

It's about time Rudyard Kipling came across with an ode to empire or a chant on Tommy Atkins going into battle.

It is not many years since the Belgian eight twice won the great boat-race at Henley. We needn't be surprised at what is happening to the Germans.

Only a line or two for those 2,000 British killed and wounded; and pages were printed on the loss in the Titanic or the Empress. Which was the greater loss to the Empire?

The Far East is no longer remote. Nipponese troops sent by way of the Trans-Siberian Railroad or by way of Canada could be in the thick of the fight in five weeks' time.

RUSSIANS WANTED.
[Hamilton Spectator.]
Unlike the day of Waterloo, it is the advance of the Russians hoped for, instead of the Prussians.

FIGHTING FOR HONOR.
[Montreal Herald-Telegraph.]
In this war we are fighting to maintain honor among nations; that one who makes a treaty with a mental reservation that the treaty is only to be observed as long as it suits his convenience, must accept the consequences. We happen to furnish the consequences. Heaven help this world when lesser ideals prevail!

CANADA'S CHANCE.
[Ottawa Free Press.]
One-half the civilized world is at war. The other half will have to feed and supply the combatants, and it will have to provide all those things for the world's use which the belligerent nations, in times of peace, neglect. If Canadians rise to the opportunities for material development which are open to them now, they will perform a service to the Empire second only to that performed by those who fight on the war-stricken fields of Europe.

VITAL LAMPADA.
[Henry Newbolt.]
There's a deathless hush in the Close tonight—
Ten to make and the match to win—
A bumping pitch and a blinding light.
An hour's play and an instant's man in.
And it's not for the sake of a ribboned coat.
Or the selfish hope of a season's fame,
But his captain's hand on his shoulder smote.
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"

The sand of the desert is sodden red—
Red with the wreck of a square that broke—
The gattings jammed and the colonel dead.
And the regiment blind with dust and smoke.
The river of death has brimmed his banks.
And England's far and Honor a name.
But the voice of a schoolboy rallies the ranks:
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"

This is the word that year by year.
While in her place the school is set.
Every one of her sons must hear.
And none that hours it dare forget.
This they all with a joyful mind
Bear through life like a torch in flame,
And falling fling to the host behind:
"Play up! play up! and play the game!"

NOT JUST YET.
[Hamilton Times.]
We will not fall back within the defences of the Monroe Doctrine for yet a while.

PERHAPS.
[Montreal Mail.]
Perhaps the Germans are running away from the Russians rather than running at the French.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.
[St. John Globe.]
Merchants and manufacturers should keep constantly in mind that what war imposes upon them a duty not less patriotic, not less important than that devolving on the younger men who must form the bulk of those in the fighting line. A cheerful optimism is one of the most sacred obligations of the moment. The present is not the time to shut down factories, to close up enterprises and cut off the incomes of the bread-winners.

THE LION'S WHELP.
[Chicago Tribune.]
Kipling never wrote a truer word than when he made Canada say:
"Daughter am I in my mother's house,
But mistress in my own."

This expresses Canada, the obedient offspring of the British Empire, but the independent, self-governing Dominion from Vancouver to the Atlantic, immediately on Great Britain's declaration of war Canada rose to her defence. The lion's growl was echoed by the whelp.

There is no law which compels Canada to do this. Great Britain cannot compel her to contribute to the defence of the mother country one man, one gun, one bushel of wheat, one dollar of Canadian money, and yet the Dominion has already sent millions of flour and grain, three regiments of equipped men, batteries of guns, and the offer of an unlimited number of volunteers.

The men who gave a good account of themselves in South Africa will not be wanting in valor on Europe's battle-fields.

GRACE DARLING.
"Twas in the Longstone light-house
There dwelt an English maid,
Pure as the air around her,
Of danger, never afraid.
One morning, just at daybreak
A storm-tossed wreck she spied,
And thought to try seemed madness,
"I'll save the crew," she cried.

CHORUS:
And she pulled her way o'er the rolling sea,
Over the waters blue:
"Help! Help!"—she could hear the cry
Of the shipwrecked crew:
But Grace had an English heart,
And the raging storm she braved;
She pulled away 'mid the dashing spray,
And the crew she saved.

They bravely rode the billows
A crew of nine, all told;
Between them and the light-house
The sea like mountains rolled.
Said Grace: "Come, help me father,
Her father cried, 'tis madness
To face that raging sea."

CHORUS:
One murmured prayer, "Heaven
Gild us!"
And then they were afloat,
Between them and destruction.
The planks of that frail boat;
Up spoke the maiden's father:
"Return, or doomed are we."
But up spoke brave Grace Darling—
"Alone I'll brave the sea."

CHORUS:
They bravely rode the billows
And reached the rock at length;
They saved the storm-tossed sailors,
In heaven alone their strength.
Go tell the wide world over
What English pluck can do,
And sing of brave Grace Darling,
Who nobly saved the crew.

CHORUS:
It is not many years since the Belgian

A Chance For Farm and City Folk To Do Good

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
Every thoughtful person is convinced, owing to the war disturbing industrial conditions, that there will be many hundreds of homes in this city during the coming winter without the means of securing the necessary food for the household, and something must be done to relieve such a condition. My suggestion is:

That through the means of the newspapers, the charity organizations, or some other duly authorized body, a campaign be started by suggesting to the farmers and gardeners of the county of Middlesex a contribution, say, from three to five bags of potatoes each, and those who can, flour.

There are hundreds, if not thousands, of farmers in the rich county of Middlesex who would only be too glad to have the opportunity of contributing something to relieve the distress. They only require to be asked, and I am satisfied there will be a response in keeping with their interest and generosity.

A proper place could be secured in the city, and distribution could take place from time to time amongst those who are in need, through no fault of theirs. Many of them will need fuel, and no doubt the citizens of London will respond to this.

I might say that I have had conversation with several farmers, and they have, without exception, indorsed this idea.
The potatoes will not be needed for some time yet, but it might be well to start the campaign now, so as to get in touch with all those who would be willing to contribute, and as to the nature thereof.

If there is anything in this suggestion will you please take it up? Yours faithfully,
London, Aug. 27, 1914. CITIZEN.

Switzerland Is On the Defensive

They say Switzerland has become Europe's haven of refuge. Thither timid persons have fled from the warring countries and from lands lying in the path of the armies. They have taken with them all the wealth they could lay their hands on in a hurry and from the influx Switzerland will prosper as never before if the war passes by.

And Switzerland will stand neutral to the end if possible. But with warships in the lake, Switzerland will, if necessary, resist such a fate as has been thrust on little Belgium and such as Holland stands ready to drown itself to escape.

There is a Swiss navy. There are ships called revenue cutters on Lakes Lugano, Maggiore and Constance. But they really are warships and they are commanded by an admiral. They are armored ships, carry machine guns, and if occasion demands can quickly be equipped with heavy guns from the shore.

From boy to graybeard every male Swiss is a soldier, ready for the call to arms to guard the mountain passes against any invaders. And in the passes a few determined men might easily do terrible execution against French, Austrians, Germans, or Italians—and would not hesitate to do it to just revenge and cruel greed!

It is said that within one year one Swiss bank has received over $20,000,000 in deposits from France and Germany. Hundreds of American and other tourists have taken refuge in Switzerland since the outbreak of the war.

Paris Is Well Defended.

On the way from Belgium to Paris the French have three lines of defence. First is the entrenched camp of the Lille district. The forts of Valenciennes, Maubeuge and Hirson, all south of Lille, and close to the Belgian border, form the chief resisting points.

Behind this barrier the French have another entrenched camp, made up of La Fere, the base of operations of the field army set to meet invaders on their march through the valley of the Oise and Aisne. West of this another line of men will cross the plains between the Somme and the Oise.

Finally there are the defences of Paris proper. These consist of two concentric rings of forts arranged that the guns can be converged and combined in any one direction.

All of these forts are of the most modern kind, and are equipped with powerful siege guns of the very latest type.

Below the Belgian frontier and facing any attack from the Luxembourg and Alsace-Lorraine frontiers, there exists a long and powerful string of forts, distant but a few kilometers each from the border.

They include Longwy, Verdun, Commercy, Toul, Epinal and Belfort, with their fortified places between them. Back of this line is the continuation of the La Fere and Laon camps, including Rheims, Chalons, Chaumont, Langres, Dijon and Besancon.

Supporting this line again comes the eastern and southern double ring of the Paris outer fortifications, disposed just as the rings on the northernly side are disposed. In all, Paris is surrounded by about 100 such forts and fortified works in all of which the guns are hidden under cement cupolas which reveal only the muzzles of the long-range guns, and which revolve on axes that give the guns a complete sweep in any direction.

Gen. Michel, a member of the superior council of war, and military governor of Paris, is in supreme command over all the Paris fortifications.

The path of the Germans to Paris is thus short-strewn, and travelling it will be a task of tremendous cost in blood and treasure to both sides.

Military Terms Explained.

In the dispatches are used many military terms rather confusing to the civilian reader who is not up in military terminology, and which in the various armies have differing meanings. Here is an explanatory and helpful tabulation for reference.

Germany.
Army corps—Its staff, two infantry, two regiments of field artillery, three squadrons of cavalry, a company of pioneers, a brigade train, field bakeries, telegraph troops, field hospitals, etc., one or more batteries of heavy field howitzers or mortars, and a machine gun group. Total, 40,000 men.

Infantry division—Two brigades. Total, 12,000 men.
Brigade—Two regiments. Total, 6,000 men.
Regiment—Three battalions of four companies each. Total, 3,000 men.
Battalion—Four companies of 250 men each. Total, 1,000 men.

Regiment of field artillery—Nine batteries of field guns, howitzers, 72 pieces, and three of field battery, 6 guns.
Brigade of cavalry—Two and occasionally three regiments. Total, 1,600 to 2,400 men.
Regiment of cavalry—Four squadrons of 200 men each. Total 800 men.

France.
Army corps—Two infantry divisions, one brigade of cavalry, one brigade of pioneers, a brigade train, field bakeries, division, one squadron of train force. Total, 40,000 men.

Infantry division—Two brigades of infantry, one squadron of cavalry, 72 batteries. Total, 12,000 men and 48 guns.
Brigade—Two regiments of three battalions each. Total, 6,000 men.

FORESIGHT.
[Montreal Herald.]
We realize now is never before why Britain so nearly went to war with Germany over the latter's threatened seizure of Agadir, in Morocco. Agadir would have supplied Germany with an Atlantic naval base, and have immeasurably increased the menace to Britain's shipping.

WAR

[Written especially for The Advertiser by Eric Ross Goulding.]

"What a piece of work is man! How noble in reason, how infinite in capacity, in form and moving how express and admirable in beauty how like an angel, in comprehension how like a god, the paragon of animals, the envy of the world! And yet—yet—"

—Hamlet.

The God of Life we now de throne,
His voice is muffled by the groan
Of legions wounded, dying;
The God of Love we now insult
By hatred's base and grim result—
The plains where men are lying!

"Twere vain to cry to thee, O God,
At this the nations' time of need,
When men forsake the higher creed,
And duly pay an earnest heed
To just revenge and cruel greed!
Hark to the groans of men who are dying,
Behold thy children's carcasses lying,
Strewed over fields which have ceased to bloom,
Where plague is rife and spectres loom,
Of widowed mothers broken and crying,
And homes enwrapped in wretched gloom,
Where evil glances a gruesome measure
To every cannon's boom!

"Twere vain to cry to thee, O God,
When men discard thy simple lore,
And wading through a kindred gore,
Amid the clanging hell of war,
Still seek to make their glory more!
Lo! the gaunt figure of death is stalking,
And he who so late was seen to be walking,
Now suddenly sprawls and is—dead!
Yes, he who tolled and furnished the bread
For thy children lispingly talking
At home in a hushed and whispered dread
Of father dear who fights for glory
Where soldier heathens tread!"

"Twere vain to pray to thee, O God,
When all the world is racked with pain,
And fainting from the heat and strain
Of war which leaves its heaps of slain
Plung far and wide across the plain!
Ah, see those faces hungered and pining,
Hark to the sobs, the moans and the wailing
Of men who are starving and sick—
Too eager to stoop and to lick
The water so slimely trailing,
Green, putridly oozing and thick,
Is war an act of manly honor,
Or just a devil's trick?"

"Twere vain to look to thee, O God,
When nations lift an angry hand,
And truth is absent from the land,
When holy vows seem writ in sand,
And nothing which is good may stand;
Who shall return the host that is missing
When all who have loved shall seek the kissing
Of dearest lips now livid and cold—
The lips which sweetly and often told
Of all life's tender longing and wishing
In days that are now grown old?
The lords of war must give the answer—
The tidings they unfold!"

Why prate or sing of piteous peace?
O let such senseless babble cease—
O list to the battle's roaring!
The sword, the sword, the sword
Is now the people's rightful lord
And arbiter in warring!

War Service

First—No extra premium will be charged on policies in force prior to August 1st, 1914, on the lives of any policyholders of the Canada Life Assurance Company who may engage in military or naval service, in or outside of Canada, irrespective of whether such policies provide for an extra premium or not.

Second—In the event of any policyholder who is engaged in active service, not having paid any premium falling due during his absence, the Company will keep his policy in full force and effect during his term of service abroad, the unpaid premium being treated as a loan upon the policy. Policyholders should notify the Company upon entering foreign service.

SOLIDARITY OF BRITISH EMPIRE.

[New York Globe.]

The war has brought out impressive testimony to the solidarity of the British Empire. It has healed gaping wounds in Ireland. It has killed mutinies in India, from the native population of which are coming expressions of deep-seated loyalty coupled with convincing offers of service. It has elicited tenders of troops from all the colonies. In times of peace the world often wonders how long the heterogeneous nations that make up the Empire would together; never when England is facing an enemy in arms.

HOW THE WAR STARTED.

[The Outlook, New York.]

History will hold the German Emperor responsible for the war in Europe. Austria wanted Serbia and proposed to take it; and Germany undertook to prevent other powers from interfering. While the burglar enters the house and takes possession, his confederate keeps watch outside and warns the neighbors not to interfere.

Blue Eyes.
Dear Miss Grey. — I hope you will be able to answer these questions in your daily Advertiser as soon as possible.

1. I am seventeen years old, five feet, four inches tall. How much should I weigh?
 2. What kind of a remembrance should I send to a boy friend about my own age for his birthday?
 3. Is navy blue with a white stripe in it going to be worn this fall for dresses?
 4. I hope to see these in print by the end of this week and many thanks for your trouble. BLUE EYES.
- Ans.—1. About 110 pounds.
2. A book of poems, or fiction, is always a suitable and useful gift.
3. Yes, the different sized stripes are being displayed this season.

Answer to School Marm.
Dear Miss Grey. — Can one teach in the public schools of London with her second class certificate?
2. If not, will one more year going to the Collegiate, after you have got your second class, allow you to teach in the city public schools?
3. Hoping to see the answers soon, as the Normal School opens on September 1.
AN IGNORAMUS.

Ans.—1. Upon inquiry I learned that a teacher with a second class certificate may teach in any public school. If you call at the board of education you may get full particulars.

To Remove Ink Spot.
Dear Miss Grey. — Will you please tell me what to do to take an ink stain out of a white linen waist?
2. What sort of food will make one fat? I have tried to increase my weight, but cannot seem to do so.
3. Will small hats be in style for this fall wear?
4. Use a solution of salts of lemon and water, leave on for a few minutes, and rinse thoroughly. If this is not successful repeat the process again.
5. Eat starchy foods of all descriptions, and drink milk and cream.
6. The hats will remain quite small.

From a Constant Reader.
Dear Miss Grey. — This is my first letter to you, and I hope I am not asking too many questions.
1. I am fourteen years old, am five feet two inches in height, I weigh 107 pounds. Do you think I weigh enough?
2. I have red hair, gray eyes and fair complexion. What are my colors?
3. Do you think a girl of fourteen years is too young to have a fellow, and how long should she be out nights?
4. What will take pimples off your face and also freckles?
5. Could you please send the song of "I know you're not forgotten by the girl you can't forget."
6. What do you think of my writing?
Hoping I have not troubled you too much, I remain
MAE.

Ans.—1. I think that is a good weight for a girl of fourteen years.
2. Brown, navy, grey, tan.
3. You are far too young to have

Great Claus and Little Claus

[AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.]

CHAPTER IV.
"Hullo," called out Little Claus, "what's the matter with this chest? better throw it off quickly. It must be bewitched!"
"No, no," called the sexton. "Please don't do that. Let me out and I will give you another whole bushel of silver."
"Oh, no," said Little Claus to himself, "I guess that sounds worth while." He opened the chest. The sexton crawled out, took Little Claus to his house and gave him the promised money.
"Well," said Little Claus to himself as he started off this time, "see what I have. I certainly have been well paid for that horse's skin!" As usual he couldn't keep his success to himself, so he sent over to the house of Great Claus and asked to borrow a measure to measure his silver.
"Mercy aken!" said Great Claus. "What can that small brother of mine want with a measure? I certainly must find out."
"Where did you get all that money?" he shouted as he mounted the steps to the room where Little Claus lived.
"Oh, I sold my horse's skin," replied Little Claus.
"What can that small brother of mine know horse's skins were worth such a lot?"
Believing his small brother, Great Claus foolishly killed all four of his horses in the meantime, keep the skin thoroughly clean, using a reliable soap, and massage gently with a good cold cream. Avoid the use of powder as much as possible, and try to avoid rich food.
5. I believe you're not forgotten by the girl you can't forget."
"When you know you're not forgotten by the girl you can't forget," I think you could procure it at any music store, or through them.
6. Your writing is exceptionally neat, and the letters well-formed.

Entertaining Sunday Night

For a Sunday supper the table can be just as attractive and the menu just as tempting as for a course dinner.
Eight o'clock is the proper hour to serve it. Pretty monogrammed lunch cloths and napkins or flax runners with matching doilies are the thing for informal suppers. In place of flowers they may be used as a centerpiece, a large bowl of nuts or a silver tray with a pretty arrangement of fruits, which often are the only dessert served.
There are numerous good menus to choose from for a Sunday supper. Every Sunday night in one home cold roast duck, apple sauce, grapefruit, salad, cheese and nut bread sandwiches and chocolate constitute the repast. Another hostess makes a specialty of her potato salad. With the cubes of potato and a generous supply of oil dressing she uses a can of French peas, chopped nut meats, grated beetles, and a garnish of pimento and lettuce. With this she has cold tongue and tomato sauce, or a whole small ham, with an Indian relish, buttered slices of brown and white bread and ale or coffee.

The Horoscope
SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1914.

According to astrology this is an important day. Venus is in benefic aspect early in the day, but later Uranus is mildly adverse.

The planets favor the affairs and interests of women. It is a fortunate day for their business enterprises, but they should guard against deception and fraud.

It is a lucky time for weddings, engagements and love affairs that begin under this configuration.

Dinners and all entertainments at which the finer sentiments are enlisted in connection with mere social aims are subject to a favorable influence.

Artists, actors and musicians of every rank should benefit from this rule. There is a good omen for opera and concert work. Seers predict a movement that will reduce the price of tickets and enable the poor to enjoy the best lyric dramas.

Milliners, modistes and all who deal in the things that are made for the adornment of women should prosper while this government prevails. They are warned that there will be a reaction against extravagance in dress.

Under this way of the stars it is supposed to be easy to make collections and to satisfy debts.

While restaurants should profit because of the kindly way of Venus many will fail, the seers declare, within the year.

There is a prophecy that dancing will be superseded by a novel public amusement, at first startling and shocking.

Again trouble is foreshadowed for Rome, in connection with unrest in Italy. The Pope may be concerned by serious problems of the church.

Spain is under a rule of the stars which presages trouble before the autumn ends.

Persons whose birthdate it is may be tempted to waste much time in pleasure and company, but they will prosper if they attend to the serious affairs of life. Travel and change are not under a fortunate omen.

Children born on this day are likely to be steady and trustworthy. Boys will succeed easily and will gain through their friendships. Girls may be great travelers in society.

SET IN AMBER.

Certain careless flies, ants and other insects that existed on the earth before there was man, entangled their feet in deposits of resin falling from the trees. The aroma suffused them and they died.

Meanwhile sub-tropical vegetation disappeared from the Arctic circle, continents separated, continents were in the scale one another, life ascended in the scale and man came and took to wearing clothes and looking after things.

Now, about the time when man had learned to fly, these careless insects appear again, quite unchanged, but set in amber. They are on view in Old Bond street, where the Royal Prussian amber mines are now showing an ex-

GYREY'S TIMELY CLOUTING STARTED LONDON WINNING AGAIN

Lamy's Base-Running Also Helped to Shove Some Runs Across.

PETES' ERRORS COSTLY Blount Dropped Mullin's Fly in Eighth, Letting Neale Score.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

PETERBORO, Aug. 27.—Ottawa took the first game of the series from the Petes this afternoon by 4 to 1, beating the home brigade after a snappy battle, in which the issue was not decided until the eighth inning. In that session, the Petes, who were leading 3 to 0, were rallied by the visitors, who scored three runs. Neale pitched good ball for the visitors, particularly effective with men on base. Assisted by Lamy's base-running and Gyrey's timely clouting, the Petes won the day over Cresswell, although the local southpaw was not an easy mark at any time.

London First to Score.—London was the first to score, in the third inning, when Lamy, who had been singled to left, and stole second. Reddy came through with a Texas leaguer to drive in the first run. The Petes left, that score, in the sixth, when Blount, who had been singled to left, and stole second, scored. Mullin went out stealing.

The visitors showed an abundance of power. Linnbrook and Whitcraft making some star fielding plays.

BEHAN'S WILD PEG GAVE OTTAWA 2 RUNS

Erie Shortstop's Bad Throw Proved Costly.

PETERSON GOOD IN HOLES Pitched a Strong Game When in Tight Places—Dorbeck Was Good, Also.

OTTAWA, August 27.—Ottawa defeated Erie by 2 to 1 in the first game of their series at Lansdowne Park this afternoon. Ottawa outpitched Dorbeck in the pitching, and Behan's wild throw in the third inning gave the Senators two runs. This series was transferred from Erie to Ottawa.

SENATORS AND NAPS PLAYED TWO EXTRA INNING CONTESTS

Washington Blanked Cleveland in the First Exhibition, While Second Game Was Called After Seven-teen Innings, With Score 3 to 3.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 27.—Washington and Cleveland played two extra inning games today, the home team winning the first contest in the tenth inning, 1 to 0, while the second game was called at the end of the fourteenth inning on account of darkness with the score tied 3 to 3.

London's Chance to Win Flag Has Not Entirely Disappeared

It All Depends On What Erie and Hamilton Can Do to Ottawa In the Remaining Games—Of Course, London Must Win in a Few From Saints and Beavers Also.

There will be no further changes in the London team for this season. If Manager Reising wins the pennant, he will have to do so with his present lineup, as it is too late in the season to strengthen up. One of the London directors stated this morning that the club needed an experienced catcher and a good pitcher, but nothing will be done to secure these men now. The present season has only a little over a week to run, and it would not be worth while.

Two Double Bills With Saints.—A double-header will be played with the Saints here on Monday and another on Wednesday. Five games in all will be played with the Craven crew the first three days of the week. The Toronto Beavers are here for the balance of the week for three games, making eight games in all to be played by the Tecumsehs next week.

London Club Has Not Yet Lost the Pennant.—There is still a great chance to beat the Shagmen out. Only five points separate the two teams. The London club has not yet lost the pennant. It is likely a double-header will be played in the Capital tomorrow, while one may be staged next week. The shagmen also staged next week.

Both Games Were Hard-Fought Contests.—The London club has not yet lost the pennant. It is likely a double-header will be played in the Capital tomorrow, while one may be staged next week. The shagmen also staged next week.

ORT BANISHED BY UMP.—Toronto Players Kicked Continually on Decisions of Umpire Bedford.

HAMILTON, August 27.—The Beavers and Athletics broke even in the double-header, Hamilton winning the first game 2 to 0, and Toronto taking the second game 3 to 2.

MAJOR LEONARD TO HAVE COMMAND

Appointed To No. 1 Section of Artillery Ammunition Column—Other Officers Named.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—The officers of the heavy sixty-pounder battery were announced tonight. The battery will be under command of Maj.
G. E. Hall, of Montreal, and the adjutant will be Captain W. E. Irving, of Esquimaux.
The division ammunition column
will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. J.
J. Penhale, of Sherbrooke. No. 1
section will be commanded by Maj.
E. W. Leonard, of London.
A considerable number of artillery officers other than those announced will be taken to Valcartier and will be used to take the places of any officers of the first draft who fall to pass the physicians or who drop out for other reasons.
There has been some complaint that more artillery men have not been taken from the far east and the far west. The militia department has not drawn as heavily upon the east districts of Canada as the interior because there is a remote possibility that artillery forces may have to be organized on the Pacific and on the Atlantic for home defence.

FRANCE OBJECTS TO U.S.A. PLANS

Disapproves Purchase of German Ships For Merchant Fleet as Aiding Germany.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—French disapproval of some parts of the American plan to establish a fleet of German merchant ships by the purchase of foreign vessels, was before administration officials today. It was said France would regard with displeasure the American purchase of German-owned ships, contending that a tremendous amount of money would be made available for Germany use through the sale of vessels tied up in neutral ports.
France also holds that if the establishment of a Government fleet gave Germany the chance to feed her citizens and army, that would be a violation of neutrality.

BANKS MUST GIVE AN ACCOUNT TO TREASURY

Borrowers in U. S. A. Have Complained of Institutions' Actions.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Aug. 28.—Heads of national banks in this city confirmed today the report that they have received a confidential communication from the Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller of Currency Williams, directing their attention to complaints registered at Washington by borrowers of money on stock exchange securities in this market.
According to the latter of the treasury officials, it is charged that the banks had thrown out many loans made on collateral of the most approved character, and that they have in other ways worked hardship to holders of securities at this crucial period.

Acting upon these complaints, the treasury department has ordered the national banks of this city to promptly furnish it with detailed information

THREE KILLED WHEN TANK CARS EXPLODE

Oil Becomes Ignited and Burns Others in Accident
at Savoy, La.

[Canadian Press.]
Houston, Texas, Aug. 28.—H. S.
Bangert, division superintendent of the St. Louis and San Francisco, and two railroad carpenters were killed today when two tank cars exploded at Savoy, La., according to information received here. Six other persons were seriously burned. The oil cars had been derailed and the oil became ignited.

FIXING THE LOAN VALUE OF COTTON

[Canadian Press.]
New Orleans, Aug. 28.—Southern planters, bankers and merchants at tending the southern cotton conference here today wrestled with the problem of placing an equitable loan value on cotton, which they are confident will be held indefinitely in warehouses because of the European war.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—The market today was again wild and unsteady. The new phase, however, was that exporting houses were buying October futures fairly heavily. Prices of local wheat rallied, wheat 1 1/2c lower to 1 1/2c higher, and advanced further 1 1/2c to 4c. May wheat is showing near $1.25. Local wheat made this morning at $1.24 1/2, but it eased again fractionally. Final closing figures were 1 1/2c to 1 1/2c under Wednesday.

Oats opened 1/2c down, gained a cent,
then declined to opening to closing.
The cash demand for wheat, oats and barley continues good, and offerings are generally light. Cash grains closed: Wheat, 1 1/2c lower; oats, 1 1/2c lower to 1 1/2c higher; barley unchanged to 1 1/2c higher; flax, 2c lower.
Inspection, Wednesday, 173 cars, against 22 last year. In sight, 110 cars.
Cash Grain: No. 1 northern, $1.15 1/2;
No. 2 northern, $1.13 1/2; No. 3
northern, $1.10; No. 4, $1.01 1/2; No. 5,

WHEAT.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Wheat sold down at the opening today on profit-taking,
but it required but little demand to check the decline. Independent commission houses, described the market
as crazy, and likening it to a dog chase.
It is own fall and advised farmers to keep out of it. First prices were 1 1/2c lower to 1 1/2c higher, and then a further recession of 1/2c to 1c, May touching $1.15, exactly 10c under yesterday's top.

WOUNDED BRITISH SOLDIERS SHOW A CHEERFUL STOICISM

Those Injured at Mons Tell of Having to Turn Out and Fight Immediately After Long March.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Aug. 28.—The Rouen correspondent of the Daily Mail, in a dispatch to his paper, describes the arrival of British wounded there, and gives the impression that the British soldiers showed a cheerful stoicism in the face of their wounds, but not in the face of the hardships they had to endure.
They had all come from the front in the neighborhood of Mons, where two French army corps had successfully held off an enemy on Sunday and Monday.
The British, the correspondent says, had taken the field immediately upon their arrival, after several days' march. They arrived just in time to stem the German flood.

Although sorely in need of rest, they behaved like fresh troops, and held their ground with splendid courage, earning
Gen. Joffre's warm praise.
Wounds Not Bad.
Not many of the British had bad wounds. Many have only broken down from the hard marching, and will be well again in a few days.
Most of the men who were able to talk with picturesque profanity about their bad luck. One described how his regiment, ordered out of Mons on Sunday morning, came under fire immediately.
They had no trenches or cover of any kind, and were obliged to lie down all day and pop up their heads occasionally to fire. When night fell they did their best to make trenches.

Another British regiment was luckier.
It was entrenched, and although the Germans bombarded it for nearly twenty-four hours, it had very few casualties.

Got No Rest.
Another of the British wounded said:
"We marched into Mons on Sunday about ten in the morning, and were just about to begin our fighting when the Germans came and we were off again. We were to advance under cover of artillery fire, but the enemy was doing a bit of artillery work, too, and they threw us trenches and snuggled down to wait for whatever might happen."

"We did not wait long. The German guns opened a terrific fire on the three battalions in front, and their shells came whistling around us. I got my baptism of fire, and at first did not like it.
I went on during the hottest part of the day, and did not harm."

"We thought they might stop when it got dark, but they kept it up as hard as ever."

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Aug. 28.—To the Matin's correspondent at Chartres, France, a colonial infantryman, wounded at Charleroi, relates his experiences in the battle.

"We marched with our African comrades against the Prussian Guard," he said. "We advanced in bounds amid the humming bullets, using every bit of cover we could find. We felt intoxicated with the joy of battle."

"I couldn't say how long the action lasted. All I remember is that we fired our last shot within fifty yards of the enemy. Then it was the pillars of smoke of cold steel. It would have given us the victory, for, however intrepid and steady are the troops we fight against, there are no soldiers in the world able to resist the moral havoc of a bayonet charge."

Quick-Firers Beat Them.
"My regiment's effort, alas, was broken by quick-firers skillfully hidden in the ruins of an old factory. We were obliged to fall back and we suffered heavily, but we have the consolation of saying that we made enormous gains in the Kaiser's crack

FARMER BROKE BACK BY

FALL FROM WINDOW

John Perdue in Wingham Hospital in a Critical Condition.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINGHAM, August 27.—John Perdue, aged fifty, a farmer, residing on the second line of Morris, had his back broken this afternoon when, as he was taking in his crops, he fell backwards from a hay mow. He fell about ten feet onto a board floor. He was brought to Wingham hospital and tonight is in a very critical condition.

OFFICERS GAZETTED

Local Men Confirmed in Rank for Overseas Expedition.

Kenneth A. Murray, of the local post-office staff, the officer commanding the Canadian Postal Corps, has been given a commission as a lieutenant. He will leave for Valcartier to join his command at the beginning of next week. The gazettement of Dr. Wilson, V.S., one of the veterinary officers of the Army Service Corps, as a major, also is announced. Both men will go to Europe with the first contingent of the Canadian overseas expeditionary force.

EARLY CONSIGNMENT

Red Cross Society Anxious to Ship Comforts in Two Weeks.

London Red Cross Society has issued the following notice regarding the work for the soldiers at the front, which the society is undertaking, and in which an appeal for co-operation is made to the women of London generally: "The Red Cross Society expect to ship its first consignment of necessities and comforts for the soldiers at the front within the next two weeks. Among these the society hopes to send 100 cholera bands, 100 pairs of socks, 100 pairs of bed-socks, 100 nightcaps, and 100 scarves. Anyone who is able and willing to knit any of these articles can obtain regular patterns for the same by applying to Mrs. Somerville at Hyman Hall any afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock. Kathleen Bowker, corresponding secretary."

MANY BANDS AT WESTERN

Fair Board Arrange for Plenty of Music.

The management of the Western Fair has secured several outside bands for the exhibition in addition to local bands. On Monday, September 14 the local bands will be in attendance both afternoon and evening. On Tuesday there will be, in addition to the Seventh Fusiliers Band, the Twenty-Third Regiment Band, of Goderich, and the Exeter brass band. The secretary has received notice from the Exeter Town Council that it has made Tuesday, September 15, Exeter civic holiday, and everybody in and around Exeter will be here with their band. On Wednesday, the Guelph Musical Society band will be in attendance, in addition to the Seventh Guelph Fusiliers band, and special excursions will be run here from Guelph. Thursday, the Twenty-Second band of Woodstock will be here, and it is expected that a large crowd will accompany the band from that district. The Seventh Regiment band will also be in attendance. On Friday, both city bands, Hussars and Fusiliers, will perform afternoon and evening. This will insure plenty of good music, not only inside the ring, but from the bandstand in the park.

MOVED TO LONDON.

[Special to The Advertiser.] GLENCOE, Aug. 27.—H. W. Britton, manager of the Merchants Bank, has been transferred to London. John McKellar, of that city, will fill his position here.

PLAN FREE MEDICAL AID FOR SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

London Physicians Meet and Divide the City Into Districts.

Physicians of London, meeting in the Armories last night, appointed a committee, consisting of Drs. Roome, Hogg, Kingsmill, Drake, Niven, R. Ferguson, Tillman, Jarvis and Col. Gartshore, representing the hospital trustees, and S. Baker, representing the city, to divide the city into districts and report at a meeting to be held next Monday evening in the Armories at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. W. K. Roome presided at the meeting, which was called for the purpose of taking some action to render free medical aid to the families of volunteers who have gone to the front. At the districts are named, each doctor will be assigned to one to take care of the volunteers' families in that district. The doctors were highly enthusiastic at the meeting, and all felt that they ought to do something for the families of the men who were called to the colors.

Among the doctors present were: Chairman Roome, Majors Kingsmill, Niven, Hogg and Reason, Drs. Moore, Drake, James C. Wilson, John Wishart, MacArthur, Childs, McLean, Brown, Beale, Ferguson, Jarvis, McNeil, Lindsay and others.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN BUSY SEWING FOR SOLDIERS

Red Cross Society Is Scene of Humanitarian Activity.

Hyman Hall is one of the busiest places in London. Yesterday and today more than 50 members of the local Red Cross Society were engaged in the manufacture of "housewives" for the Canadian soldiers. From morning till night, yesterday the women here, and those who came from the Sixth Field Battery, on leaving London, will be provided with the little cloth package, containing bachelors' buttons, safety-pins, scissors, needles, yarn, literally making good on its name, a "soldier's housewife." More than 150 were made before the hall was closed for the day, as well as the same number of grey flannel pillowcases, one of which will also accompany each soldier leaving for the front from London.

Miss Peidals initiated work. To Miss Peidals and her club of girls goes the honor of making the first "housewife." As soon as it was known last week that the seventh Regiment was leaving for Valcartier, Miss Peidals gathered together her little club, and made the housewives that served as models yesterday.

A great deal of credit is due to Lady Selkirk, president of the society, Mrs. (Bishop) Williams, convenor of the cutting committee, and Mrs. Hume Cronyn, convenor of the work committee, who were on hand early in the morning, and looked after all the details of the work. The ladies will meet every day until in the neighborhood of 400 housewives are made, as it is intended that every soldier who has left or will leave London shall own one of the useful kits.

Hospital Nurses Helping.

Mrs. Betts, convenor of the medical committee, reported that Miss Stanley, lady superintendent of Victoria Hospital, had taken large quantities of gauze and cotton, which the nurses and patients of the hospital would make into bandages. The committee has not been letting any grass grow under its feet is shown by the well-filled packing-cases of bandages ready at Hyman Hall. The hall will hold many more than it contained yesterday. Any member of the Red Cross Society may bring a friend to help with the work. The membership fee is $1, which entitles everyone to the privileges of the organization, and it is hoped that many will join immediately.

The members of the society intend having themselves together as a home relief committee after their Red Cross work is done, and will help in the relief of the poor this winter.

HEAR TALK ON POULTRY

London Poultry Club Members Given Pointers in Chicken Breeding.

A large attendance of members of the London Poultry Club heard Richard Oke, poultry expert, give an instructive talk on the Orpington fowl in Duffield Block last night at the society's regular monthly meeting. Mr. Oke has handled poultry for many years and his remarks dealt chiefly with the rearing, caring and profit in Orpingtons. Some time was spent in the discussion of the proper methods of breeding, and caring for the chicks and older fowl. The London Poultry Club is an organization that stands for progress in the poultry world. Anything that will promote the correct breeding of poultry is backed by the association. Instructive papers are given from time to time on the ways and means of profit-getting in this line. The club is rapidly gaining in popularity and many new members are being secured.

ORDERED TO CAMP

Ordinance Corps Officer and Men Taken to Valcartier From Here.

Major O'Donohue and two privates of the ordinance stores staff have been sent to Valcartier to join the Canadian contingent en route there. The work of the ordinance stores at the big camp has increased to such an extent that the services of additional experienced men was absolutely necessary, and the Militia Department at Ottawa, therefore, ordered the drafting of a detail of an officer and two men from the local staff.

MANUSCRIPT GOT A PHYSICIAN IN TROUBLE

Names of Bacteria Looked Suspicious to Frenchmen—Saved by a Surgeon.

[Canadian Press.] LONDON, Aug. 27.—3:15 p.m.—A manuscript on scientific work, filled with the names of bacteria and with the naming terms, got Dr. H. H. Schumann, of Chicago, into serious trouble at Dijon, France, while he was travelling from Switzerland to England.

Dr. Schumann has been writing a book during a stay at Lucerne, where Mrs. Schumann headed the American Relief Committee. Accompanied by his wife and daughter, he left for Paris on August 23. Arriving at Dijon, the travellers found it necessary to change trains, and also to show their passports and have their baggage examined. The doctor was not molested until the station agent from Dijon noticed the manuscript in his pocket. The paper interested the Frenchman, who, after a brief inspection of it, ordered the arrest of the owner.

Questioned regarding his antecedents, the Chicago man admitted that for ten years he was a student in Germany, and this seemed to confirm the suspicion that he was a German spy. Made desperate by the thought of leaving his daughter, from whom he had been separated, without railway tickets or money, while he was sent away on a train, Dr. Schumann called wildly in French to a physician, the name of whom he had been hearing, for captors believing that he was ill and perhaps poisoned, summoned a French military surgeon. The latter came running and Dr. Schumann, wrenching himself free from his captors, thrust his manuscript into the hand that had reached for his pulse. The surgeon recognized the scientific names in the work, and as a result the American's explanations were accepted and he was set at liberty.

UPRISING OCCURS IN MEXICO CITY

Trouble Over Currency of Carranza Government—Militia Controls City.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26.—(Delayed by Censor)—Rural guards were attempting to arrest a Constitutionalist soldier tonight when comrades came to his rescue and shots were exchanged. The trouble became more serious when the rural guards withdrew to the fifth ward police station. The shooting was renewed and continued for half an hour during which it is reported seven persons were killed. The city is now absolutely quiet, being patrolled by the Fourth Battalion. All the rural guards have been arrested and disarmed. The militia is in control. Street car traffic has been resumed.

The foregoing dispatch was received by the Associated Press this afternoon. No previous dispatches have indicated disturbances in the Mexican capital, but its peculiar wording and veiled references to previous arrests would indicate that important news has not been permitted to pass the censor.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 27.—An uprising in Mexico City against circulation of bank notes and currency of the new Carranza Government has been put down by troops. Confidential advice to the State Department late today announced that there had been a "misunderstanding" between the populace and the Government, but that order had been restored. No time was mentioned, but the trouble is supposed to have occurred yesterday.
