

Tile Hats or No Tile Hats? That's Question in Dispute

Council and Canadian Club at Odds Over the Reception to Lieutenant-Governor.

Large oaks from little acorns grow, so far as known, this assertion has never been disputed.

And from a very little matter—the matter of clothes—a giant row has loomed up in which the mayor and aldermen and the members of the Canadian Club are the principals.

Wednesday next Lieutenant-Governor Clark will pay a visit to London, and trouble is brewing as to who shall be regarded as his host, and what clothes shall be worn when he is met at the depot here.

The members of the Canadian Club believe the honorable gentleman belongs to the club until after the luncheon, but the city council will not admit this.

The club members also desire that he shall be welcomed first by themselves, clad only in unconventional business suits, and later by the mayor and city council, and perhaps by the ladies of the Daughters of the Empire.

The mayor and council have put down their feet and have said nay.

Disputed by Council

Today the secretary of the Canadian Club, Mr. S. F. Glass, gave the newspapers a statement concerning the visit of the Lieutenant-Governor which is disputed in toto by the mayor, Ald. Beattie and Ald. Stevely, who may be looked upon as representing the feelings of the entire city council.

The club's notice states that the Lieutenant-Governor will be the guest of the Canadian Club first, and that later he will be handed over to the city to entertain. It is also stated that only business suits will be worn at the luncheon in the Armories.

The mayor and the two aldermen mentioned were seen in the former's office by The Advertiser and asked regarding the trouble.

"We are at a loss to know," his worship replied. "We understood that the Lieutenant-Governor was invited here by Mrs. Leonard at the instance of the Daughters of the Empire. The suggestion of Mrs. Leonard we undertook to entertain him, but before we did anything we consulted with the members of the Canadian Club, which body had been asked to entertain him at luncheon."

"We waited four or five days to see what the club intended to do, and then we were told by the officers that the club had no money and to go ahead with our programme. We went ahead, and made the arrangements, and these arrangements will stand. The Lieutenant-Governor will be the guest of the city of London during his stay in London."

The mayor then dealt with the sartorial end of the argument.

"I think it would be an insult for the representatives of the City of London to meet his honor in anything but conventional dress," said his worship. "Surely, as head of this great Province, he is entitled to some respect. I, as mayor of the city, insist that the civic representatives shall welcome him in frock coats and silk hats."

The mayor also stated that last night an officer of the London Police called him up by phone when he was visiting at Victoria Hospital, and had asked him to do away with the conventional dress. His worship refused to listen to the argument. Continued on Page Eight.

MEMORIALS TO DAVIS.

Richmond, Va., June 3.—An everlasting memorial of Jefferson Davis, the chosen leader of "The Lost Cause," and the first and only president of the Confederate States of America, was unveiled here today as the crowning feature of the annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans. The ceremony was made the occasion for a grand military pageant, in which every veteran in gray who was physically able participated with an energy and enthusiasm which defied the years that have gone since he bore arms for the south.

HAS INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP DESPITE THE DRAIN TO THE WEST

The London Conference Stronger Numerically, Than a Year Ago—Ordination Service.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Godrich, June 1.—The devotional hour of the day, was, as in previous days, led by Dr. J. R. Gundy, and the address was delivered by Rev. A. W. Barker, B. D. Tonight the stationing committee will sit to hear what the laymen have to say about the first list of appointments. Several changes are expected. The final draft will be made on Monday evening and will be reported some time on Tuesday.

The Laymen's Association held its annual meeting on Saturday afternoon. President J. H. Chapman, of London, was in the chair. More than ordinary interest was awakened by a discussion on "The Laymen's Missionary Movement" and "Church Union." The laymen of the conference give the church union movement very hearty and almost unanimous support. The laymen's missionary movement has only recently been launched. But it promises to be the most advanced step that has yet been taken. At a meeting of the Conference held (Continued on Page Nine)

WHITES STEP ASIDE FOR COLORED MEN

Grand Trunk to Employ Only the Latter as Parlor Car Conductors.

The dismissal of a number of parlor car conductors on the middle division of the Grand Trunk has taken place recently.

All the men who have been given their walking-tickets are whites, and they have been replaced by colored men, the intention of the company being, it is said, to employ only the latter class in such positions.

One London man who ran between Toronto and Hamilton is among the dismissed.

The action of the Grand Trunk management is said to be due to a resolve to reduce operating expenses. The colored conductors are employed, it is understood, at $40 a month, whereas the whites were paid from $50 to $70 a month.

TRAVELERS' CLUB SITE

Choice May Be Made by Committee This Week.

At a largely attended meeting of the Travelers' Club, held on Saturday night, the matter of the new quarters was discussed at length and the scheme was advanced a stage.

Several sites were voted upon, and finally two were looked upon with favor.

The matter of choosing either of them was left in the hands of the site committee, and it is probable that something will be done this week. The site committee is composed of Messrs. Frank Lawson, Harry Buttery, Donald Ferguson, Charles McGuire and S. F. Glass.

Nine new members were taken into the club on Saturday night.

FREDERICTON LIBEL CASE

Police Magistrate Marsh To Give His Decision This Afternoon.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Fredrickton, N. B., June 3.—Police Magistrate Marsh was to have given his decision in Emmerson-Crockett criminal libel case this morning, but, not having received the decision from the stenographer, he postponed the decision until 3:30 this afternoon.

THE FRENCH DOCK STRIKE

Situation Brighter, and Some Hopes of Early Settlement.

Paris, June 3.—Although it cannot be said that any great change has occurred in the seamen's strike, the situation today is brighter, and there are hopes of an early settlement. The deputies representing the maritime districts are warning the men that they have been too precipitate, and are alienating public sympathy by abruptly paralyzing trade, besides subjecting themselves to heavy penalties. The maritime authorities have refused to accept the ships' papers from the captains and consequently the latter are still nominally responsible for their vessels, and the men, after the third day's absence from duty, legally become deserters.

The Government thus far has confined its action to insuring the transportation of mails to the colonies, a regular schedule of transport sailings having been inaugurated.

FATAL NEWARK FIRE

A Janitor, His Wife and Child, Die in Early Morning Blaze.

Newark, N. J., June 3.—Three lives were lost and thousands of dollars' damage was done in a fire which started early this morning in Newark Turnover Hall in William street.

The known dead are: Joseph Hoencke, janitor of the building, burned to death in his apartment.

Mrs. Joseph Hoencke, wife of the janitor, overcame by smoke and burned to death.

A child of the janitor, overcome by smoke and burned to death.

Ordained at St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday Morning.

C. J. Washburn. H. M. Shore, B. A. G. B. Cox, B. A. T. J. Hamilton; B. A. Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, D. C. L.

Eight young men were ordained by Bishop Williams at yesterday morning's service in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Four of them—Messrs. G. B. Cox, B. A., H. M. Shore, B. A., T. J. Hamilton, B. A., and C. F. Washburn—were graduates from Huron College, and were ordained to the diaconate.

Four others—Revs. D. J. Cornish, of St. Thomas; D. E. Cameron, B. A., of Euphrasia; F. E. Powell, B. A., of Euphrasia; and J. A. Robinson, Shelbyburn—were advanced to the priesthood.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Canon Craig, B. D., bishop's chaplain, of Petrolia, from Colossians, IV., 17. The reverend gentleman spoke first of the need of a ministry in the church, and pointed out that they are sent. He referred to instances from Old Testament history, as Isaiah and others, who were sent of God. So, also, he said, the New Testament is a record of men sent forth to the world to preach the Gospel, and to Christian doctrine, not to be carried away by Christian science or the so-called new theology. The ministry also honor God the Holy Ghost, not merely in their personal sanctification, but something beyond—the looking to him for the gifts which endow them with wisdom and power for the work. The sermon was an able effort, and left a profound impression upon the young men and the large audience present.

The candidates were presented by the Rev. G. B. Cox, B. A., to Hanover. Rev. T. J. Hamilton, B. A., to Berville.

The newly-ordained candidates have received their appointments as follows: Rev. G. B. Cox, B. A., to Hanover. Rev. T. J. Hamilton, B. A., to Berville.

Rev. C. F. Washburn, to Millbank. Rev. H. M. Shore, B. A., to the Diocese of Calgary.

The others return to their respective parishes, except Rev. F. E. Powell, who goes to Chesley.

Other appointments of the bishop are as follows: Rev. C. G. D. Browne, to Port Dover. Rev. R. H. Fairburn, B. A., of the Diocese of Illinois, to Port Dover.

DEAN OF LONDON MEDICAL COLLEGE DR. W. H. MOORHOUSE RESIGNS

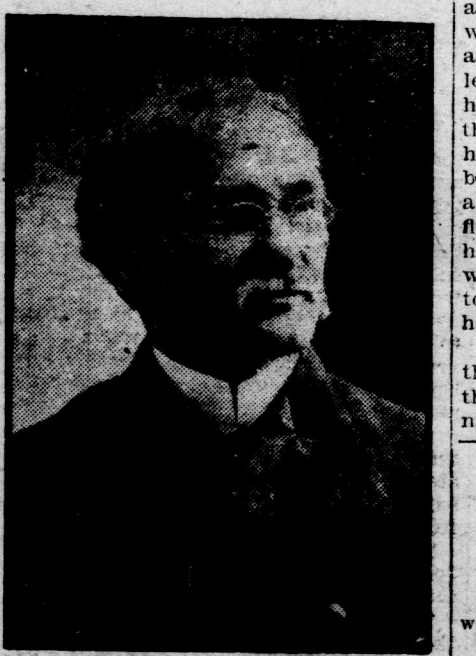

Ill-Health the Cause of the Move—Dr. F. R. Eccles Elected to Succeed Him.

Dr. W. H. Moorhouse, who has been connected with the London Medical College since its inception, and who has held the position of dean of the faculty, as well as the chair of medicine at the college, for many years, tendered his resignation some time ago, and it was reluctantly accepted at a meeting which was held on Friday night last.

Dr. Moorhouse's health has not been of the best for some months, and he felt unable to longer continue to fulfill the arduous duties which the positions of dean and lecturer on medicine imposed on him. When it was seen that he really needed a rest, the faculty consented to accept his resignation.

His services will, however, be retained by the college as representative to the medical council. He is in Toronto today on business connected with that body.

Dr. F. R. Eccles was unanimously chosen to succeed Dr. Moorhouse as dean of the faculty, but the chair of medicine has not as yet been filled. It is understood Dr. Eccles refused to accept the latter position.

DR. F. R. ECCLES, New Dean of the Faculty, London Medical College.

TOUCHED A LIVE WIRE.

Helena, Montana, June 3.—Charles Botwell, expert for the Westinghouse Company, went inside of a transformer at the power plant of the Helena Power Transmission Company at Lake Haus yesterday, and was found unconscious. He died a few minutes later. He had come in contact with a live wire. His home was at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

CHINESE JOINT RAIDED.

Hamilton, June 3.—The thirty-two celestials arrested last night in what the police allege to be a Chinese gambling joint appeared before the magistrate at the police court this morning, but their cases were not proceeded with. An arraignment until Thursday being asked for and granted. The prisoners were released on $20 bail.

GAYNOR AND GREENE

New Orleans, June 3.—The sentence of the Savannah court in the Gaynor and Greene case, fraud in Government work on involving over a million dollars, the Savannah harbor, was affirmed in an opinion handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals today. The sentence is four years' imprisonment each, and a fine aggregating $575,000. Judges Shelby and McCormick handed down the opinion, which was an appeal, and Judge Pardee dissented.

STABBED TO DEATH

A New York Laborer's Wife Found Dead in Home.

New York, June 3.—Mrs. Katherine Killoran, wife of James Killoran, a foreman of laborers in the McAdoo Tunnel, was found dead in her home in the Bronx today, with half a dozen knife wounds in her body. Her husband, from whom she had been living apart, but who had called on her last night, has been arrested. Peter Henry, a neighbor, who was with the husband when he was found, has been held as a witness. Killoran denies all knowledge of the crime. He declares that he and his wife retired about 1 o'clock this morning, and when he awoke a few hours later Mrs. Killoran was not in bed. He got up, and found her dead and covered with blood on the kitchen floor. Then he went for Henry to tell him of the tragedy, and he declared he was on his way to the police station to report Mrs. Killoran's death when he was arrested.

Several occupants of the house where the Killorans lived, told the police they heard the couple quarreling last night.

The highest and lowest readings of the thermometer at the local observatory for the 24 hours ended at 8 p.m. Saturday were: Highest, 57°; lowest, 47°. Sunday: Highest, 61°; lowest, 43.5° above.

WEATHER NOTES.

Temperatures of 70° or a few degrees higher were recorded in parts of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and fair weather prevails. There has been very little change in the Western Provinces, where it continues cool, with occasional light showers.

THE NEW MANAGER IS MAJOR CRONYN

Appointed to Position With Huron and Erie Vacated by Mr. G. A. Somerville.

Major Hume Cronyn, of Toronto, formerly of this city, has been appointed manager of the Huron and Erie Loan and Savings Company, to succeed Mr. George A. Somerville, now manager of the Manufacturers' Life Assurance Company, of Toronto. Mr. Cronyn will arrive from Toronto tonight or tomorrow, and will take over his new duties at once.

The new manager of the Huron and Erie was until a few months ago a member of the law firm of Cronyn & Belts, of this city, but went to Toronto to engage in the brokerage business with his brother. His return to London will be welcomed by a large circle of friends.

In connection with the appointment of Major Cronyn, it is understood that the splendid services of Mr. H. W. Givins, for six years past accountant of the company, will be recognized. There is a strong possibility of Mr. Givins being appointed either assistant manager, or secretary of the company.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT DROPS THE IRISH BILL

Rejection by Nationalists Kills Measure Says "C-B."

London, June 3.—In the House of Commons today Premier Campbell-Bannerman formally announced that the Government, in view of the action of the Irish Nationalist convention at Dublin in rejecting the Irish bill, had decided to drop the measure.

RUSH FOR HOMESTEADS

When the Doukhobor Lands at Yorkton Were Thrown Open.

Yorkton, Sask., June 2.—The rush of land-seekers for homesteads in the section of the Doukhobor reserve, thrown open yesterday was admirably handled, and despite the crowd who passed a weary vigil on the steps of the land office, all were entered for without friction of any kind. There were only twenty-eight homesteads in the township opened yesterday. Only eighteen of these were taken, the others being too rough and broken. Mrs. Ferguson, of Kamsack, an aged lady from Glen Garry, Ont., secured her choice per agreement with the applicants. A great rush is expected tomorrow, when more and better land will be available.

GOLD EXPORTS.

New York, June 3.—Gold to the amount of $1,500,000 for export to Paris tomorrow was engaged today by two New York houses. Lazard Freres took $1,000,000, and Goldman, Sachs & Co., $500,000.

DROPS TEN FLOORS.

Akron, Ohio, June 3.—Ten persons were injured in an elevator accident at the plant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company here today, the most seriously hurt being W. F. Stafford, who may die. The cable ropes supporting the elevator broke, and it dropped two stories.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE BECAUSE WIFE REFUSED TO RETURN TO HIM

MUTINY HEROES AT KING'S LEVEE

A Brilliant Array of Victoria Cross Men at St. James' Palace Function.

London, June 3.—The third levee of the season was held by King Edward at St. James' Palace this afternoon, and was more than usually interesting because of the presence of a large contingent of officers who served during the mutiny in India half a century ago, and whose exploits constitute the most eventful chapters of the great siege of Delhi, and the defense and relief of Lucknow. Some fifty veteran officers, headed by Field Marshal Lord Roberts, a dozen of whom wore the coveted V. C., formed the most interesting group at the function, with them being a handful of civilians whose gallant deeds in 1857 led to the first bestowal of the Victoria Cross on non-military men.

The King drove to St. James' Palace in state, escorted by a detachment of Life Guards. The throne-room formed a brilliant scene, being filled with members of the royal family, diplomats, the great officers of state, and military and naval men, all in full uniform and wearing their orders and other decorations, and a host of peers, cabinet ministers, and members of the House of Commons.

GREAT DANISH ACTRESS MURDERED BY HUSBAND

Jealousy Prompts a Murder and Suicide at Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, June 3.—Cecilia Krum Nathanson, the celebrated Danish actress, was shot and mortally wounded by her husband yesterday at the Hotel Aalberg, Jutland. The husband, after shooting his wife, immediately committed suicide. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy.

ESSEX COUNTY FARMERS SEE CORN CROP LOST

The Outlook for the Spring Growth Not Very Promising.

Windsor, June 3.—Essex county farmers are greatly discouraged over the outlook for the corn crop. Usually at this time of the year the corn is almost ready for cultivating, but cases, it has not yet appeared above the ground. Hundreds of acres planted to corn will be a loss. Planting will have to be done over again. This will make the crops so late that there will be serious danger of their being caught by the early fall frosts. The cornraising industry is one of great magnitude in Essex county, and the loss of the crop means the loss of many thousands of dollars to the farmers.

COSTLY CRAP GAME.

Hamilton, June 3.—Four young men who were arrested yesterday in the vicinity of the Hamilton Jockey Club's grounds on a charge of shooting craps, were this morning fined $40 each.

TITIAN'S LONG LOST "ST. JEROME" LOCATED IN A ST. LOUIS HOME

The Famous Painting, Missing Since the Year 1629, Turns Up.

St. Louis, Mo., June 3.—Edward Sells, of St. Louis, believes he has identified a painting that he purchased a year ago for less than $150 as the famous "St. Jerome," painted by Titian about 1531. No trace of the painting has been had since 1629. Sells purchased the picture from Allison Stewart, a St. Louis mining engineer, to whom it was given in 1906 by a padre in the mountains of Honduras, after Stewart had given him a liberal offering of silver for his poor.

In 1531 Titian painted "St. Jerome" by order of Duke Frederigo Gonzaga, of Mantua. Before 1629, when Charles I. of England, bought most of the art treasures of the Gonzagas, the St. Jerome had disappeared.

Sells has learned that when Cortez conquered Honduras early in the sixteenth century, a member of the Gonzaga family accompanied him, and remained in Honduras. It is his theory that the painting was carried to Honduras by this man. Stewart obtained the picture in the town of San Geronomo, of which St. Jerome was the patron saint.

Sells has received a letter from Mrs. Julia Ady, an English biographer of Titian, saying that she believes Sells has Titian's "St. Jerome."

The painting is very old. The canvas is hand made, and is filled with red clay, after the custom of the Renaissance period.

Wm. Austin Drinks Carbolic Acid in Front of Father-in-Law's Home.

William Austin, better known as "Bunny," and son of W. G. Austin, a baker of Dundas street east, attempted suicide on Saturday afternoon as the result of a marital misunderstanding. He swallowed a dose of carbolic acid, and is now in a serious condition at the home of his father.

Young Austin is only 21 years of age, but he has been married a year, his wife being a daughter of Mr. John Tremenan, of 561 Piccadilly street. For some months he and his wife have been unable to agree, and a week or so ago, Mrs. Austin left him and went to live with her father.

Austin has made repeated attempts to have her return to him, and he appeared to be unable to live without her. She would not agree to his terms, however, and on Saturday afternoon he made one last attempt to plead with her.

It is said he had been forbidden to enter his father-in-law's house, and he brought a friend with him when he went to see his wife. The friend entered the house first, leaving Austin standing on the boulevard to await the result of the interview.

The friend was in the house a considerable time, and when he came out he was accompanied by the wife and several members of her family.

The sight which greeted them was altogether different to what they had expected.

On the lawn lay the young man writhing in agony, and he confessed that he had swallowed carbolic acid. Prompt action was taken at once to save his life, and Dr. Jarvis was hastily summoned. After a half-hour's hard work, he was given partial relief, but he suffered terrible pain.

His condition is critical today, but it is hoped he will recover.

CHINESE MISSIONARIES MAKING FOR COAST

Large Numbers of Refugees Are Arriving at Amoy.

Amoy, China, June 3.—The conditions at Chang Chow, of which Amoy is the port, and at Sioke, are unsettled. Many refugees continue to arrive here, and numbers of missionaries of all denominations have reached Sioke. Quiet is maintained there, though there is great anxiety as to the outcome of the result in the surrounding country.

The rebel leader allows no looting, and no foreigners have been molested so far as known. There is a small American mission at Chang Chow.

The Japanese cruiser Naniwa arrived here yesterday.

LINDSAY SAWMILL FIRE

One of the Town's Leading Industries Hard Hit by Flames.

Lindsay, June 3.—The Kennedy & Davis sawmill, one of Lindsay's leading industries, was burned this morning at one o'clock. Over fifty men are out of work as a result of the fire. The cause of the fire is unknown. It had gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived on the spot. The firemen, however, did splendid work in preventing a spread of the flames. One of them, Joe Bell, was hit on the head by a falling timber and was unconscious for over an hour. The loss will be heavy, partly covered by insurance.

FIRE IN CARGO OF THE OCEANIC

Disastrous Blaze Rages Through-out Steerage and Lower Hold.

New York, June 3.—The fire on the steamer Oceanic, which was discovered in the steerage about 1 o'clock this morning, was not brought under control for two hours. The crew was called to quarters, and did what it could to extinguish the fire, but when it spread to the cargo, outside aid had to be called. In the after hold were 1,870 barrels of glucose, which burned like oil, and that part of the cargo was aflame. It was below the water and there was nothing spectacular about the blaze. The crew closed the after compartment, and then the firemen drowned out the flames. All the bedding and other perishable fittings of the steerage were destroyed, in addition to a quantity of freight. Among the cargo was some theatrical scenery belonging to Forbes Robertson, who recently left for America, and this is said to have been burned or damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but the suspicion was prevalent today that it was the result of incendiarism. The loss will reach several thousands of dollars. It was stated that the sailing of the steamer Wednesday will not be delayed.

SHOVED THE QUEER TOWN IS LOONEY FROM PRISON CELL ABOUT MARBLES

While Incarcerated in Polish Jail Flooded the Town With Bad Money.

Warsaw, Poland, June 2. — Only in Russia, surely, could a corner's den be found within the walls of a prison. In the Czars' domain, however, all things are possible, even that a prisoner, under lock and key in a cell, should be able to make and circulate counterfeit coins for months without arousing the suspicions of the authorities. The statement sounds incredible, yet it is absolutely true.

At Kovno, a large town in Lithuania, the public have been complaining for some time past of the multitude of false rubles, half-rubles, and 15-kopek pieces in circulation. The passing of such coins is not, in itself, punishable in Russia, and the most punctilious persons do not hesitate to get rid of false coins. The best place is the market, where the Jews take and pass them with the greatest of ease. In respectable households the false coins go to the cook, who exchanges them for meat and vegetables at the market place. But at Kovno things were getting too bad, and even the Jews grew careful of what money they took.

Tracing the Coiners.

The governor of the prison, who followed the same plan as ordinary mortals for getting rid of spurious coins, had complaints from his cook, who got back as good as gold, rather than as she gave, and received false coin in her change whenever she went to market. The governor in turn complained to the head of the police, who promised to unearth the coiners.

"Jent" (a sort of private detective), to watch the market place. The agent soon discovered that a woman named Lednicka was constantly passing false coins—now at this stall, now at that. One day he had her arrested, taken to the nearest police station and searched. A good deal of money was found on her and it was all false. She protested her innocence, saying that her husband had given her a month's money for the housekeeping.

"What is your husband, and where does he live?" the head inspector asked. She replied that he was a jailer and lived at the local prison. Mr. Lednicka was promptly sent for and questioned as to his wife's money. At first he refused to answer, but finally admitted that he got the money from one of the prisoners under his charge—a man named Mucha, who had been in prison awaiting his trial on a charge of banditism, for the past eight months.

"What part of the prison does he live in?" asked the astonished inspector. "In a cell, of course," was the answer. "No. 25—on the ground floor, to the left side of the courtyard." The police set off to the prison and asked for leave to search cell No. 25.

"Are you mad?" cried the governor. "The prison's under my charge. You can bring people here, but I'm hanged if you're going to inspect my place whenever it suits you."

Plant in Cell.

Then they explained that Lednicka had confessed to getting false coins from cell No. 25, and hinted that he himself had asked to have the coiners discovered. He reluctantly gave way, and the cell was opened up for inspection. The disfigurement of the occupant, who, sure that Lednicka alone had the keys, was joining false money and had not time to put away his plant.

The indignation of the governor was only equalled by the mirth of the police, when the plant for coining false rubles, half-rubles and 15-kopek pieces was found in the cell. Caught red-handed, Lednicka and Mucha made a clean breast of it. They took a fancy to each other from the moment they first met in the prison. Mucha soon confided to the jailer that he knew how to make false coins if Lednicka would go to a certain address in the town and bring the plant. Lednicka, for passing the coin, was to share profits. He agreed, brought the plant, and always warned the prisoner when the prison officials were likely to inspect the cell, when the plant was taken out and hidden in Lednicka's room. The plan succeeded admirably. They made and circulated false money for over a year, and had it not been for the governor's cook, would probably have gone on, till Mucha went up for trial. Kovno is convulsed with the story, and, of course, those are not lacking who hint that the good governor himself knew something about the matter.

Sandy Hook, Ky., June 2. — Judge James Hargis, who is in jail here awaiting trial for his life on the charge of murdering Dr. Cox, created a sensation in the courthouse yards today by pretty nearly winning the marble-playing championship from Sandy Hook's crack agate twirlers.

It was an exciting contest, and town and country officials, with farmers from miles around, gathered to see the finish. Hargis had vanquished, one after another, three of the best marble players in the town, but the fourth, a veritable wizard at the game, proved his master. When it was over the town breathed free again. For awhile it looked as if a stranger, and a man accused of murder at that, was going to make its champions blush.

Every one in Sandy Hook is hoping now that it won't be long before the trial of Hargis starts, because it feels that with a little more practice in the courthousen yard he'll have to be acknowledged champion.

Only Game Town Knows.

This may sound odd and curious anywhere else on the map except here in this outpost of civilization. But in Sandy Hook marbles is the real national pastime. They have heard of baseball in a hazy sort of way without understanding. Bowling, golf, tennis, and even croquet are just words that convey no meaning to Sandy Hookers. If anyone set up a tennis net here or swung a driver on the front lawn the natives, young and old, would think him crazy.

Marbles is the thing, and young and old of both sexes play and talk marbles all day and dream of marbles at night. There are more marbles in this town than in any other place three times its size in the country. The front parlors of the houses of both rich and poor are studded with brilliant glassies and multi-colored agates won in many a hard fought contest. Nobody knows how the game seized upon the town. Everybody has played marbles ever since he can remember. The reminiscences of the oldest inhabitants are tangled up with thrilling memoirs of marble games they have won and lost.

Old and Young Victims of Spell.

On a warm day the public square is one big marble arena. It echoes with shouts of "picks" and "fan" and all the vernacular of the game. It is common to see a girl of eighteen, who is another place would be a social belle, down on her knees in the dust knocking bowling bowls with a man of sixty and both playing with the utmost gravity. Businessmen here do not invite acquaintances to lunch at the club. They ask them out onto the square for a game of marbles. Women in Sandy Hook society do not give card parties. They gather their friends and go out in the street and shoot for agates. It's the only form of amusement Sandy Hook knows, and the whole town plays it to the exclusion of everything else. So it isn't surprising that when Hargis came here to be tried for murder first his jailers and then the officials of the county, in an effort to be as hospitable as they might, asked him to play marbles. And it's natural when they found he might be able to beat them all with a little practice that they should be anxious to get his trial over and be rid of him.

TERRORISTS ATTACK OFFICERS.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 1.—Five terrorists yesterday made a street attack on a police officer and two soldiers. The officer and one soldier were shot dead, while the second soldier was wounded. The terrorists got away.

A MORMON PILGRIMAGE.

Rochester, June 1.—A pilgrimage of Mormons from Canada and other points arrived in Palmyra this morning on a visit to Mormon Hill. There are more than 100 in the party. The purchase of Mormon Hill is contemplated by the Mormon Church of Salt Lake, and some sort of memorial monument or building erected on the spot where they believe the gold plates of the "Book of Mormon" were found.

The Tuberculosis Hospital Goes Over Until Next Year

City Solicitor Meredith Explains Position Re Issuing Deben-ture for Payment.

A meeting of the finance committees of the city and county council was held on Saturday afternoon in the city hall, and the representatives of the two municipalities agreed upon the amounts which each shall pay for the establishment and maintenance of the proposed tuberculosis hospital.

In brief the city of London agrees to bear 60 per cent of the cost of the land and buildings, and 60 per cent of the uncontrollable expenditure, such as heat, light, wages of staff, etc. The county agrees to pay the other 40 per cent of the cost of the items mentioned.

As to maintenance, each agrees to pay the full cost of patients it may send to the hospital, less the government grant of $1.50 per day, for each patient.

As To Raising Money.

The agreement reached by the finance committees will now be submitted to the city and county councils, and if ratified, an appeal will be made to the Ontario Government for the grant provided for in the act respecting the establishment of sanatoria.

A statement made by City Solicitor Meredith showed that it will be possible to do anything toward the construction of the hospital this year. He pointed out that it is absolutely necessary that a vote of the people of both municipalities shall be taken on the bylaws before it will be possible to raise a dollar for the hospital, unless special permission is secured from the legislature, and as the body does not meet again until January next, nothing in any event can be done this year.

The agreement will not come before the city council tonight, it is understood, because the city desires that the county shall pass the project before it shall commit itself. If the county council approves of the agreement reached, the city will go ahead and do its share.

It was stated that the site committee has several locations in mind, but that as yet nothing has been decided. The committee were Chairman Stevenson, Ald. Beattie, Ald. Stevenson and City Solicitor Meredith, for the city; Councilors S. F. Glass, R. Jackson, Brown, and County Solicitor Elliott.

"ONLY TWO SIDES IN CONFLICT BETWEEN GOD AND THE DEVIL"

Evangelist Wharton Addresses an Immense Meeting in Jubilee Rink.

If attendance is any criterion from which to judge the success of a religious meeting, the service held in the Jubilee Rink last night by Rev. Dr. Wharton, who is carrying on an Evangelistic campaign in this city, was the most successful in London's history. At eight o'clock the number of persons in the building was as great as at any of the previous meetings, but by the time the churches had been dismissed, the doorways leading into the rink were hardly large enough to comfortably admit the throng of people, old and young, who came flocking from every direction. Within half an hour every seat in the building was occupied, including the galleries at both ends, while hundreds, eager to hear Dr. Wharton's message had taken up the all the available space of standing room. Perhaps never before in the history of this city, was any speaker greeted with such an immense audience.

The choir, too, was in keeping with the attendance, and by the time the service began, it was nearly one hundred and seventy-five strong. The sight presented from the speaker's platform, must have been most inspiring. In front there was a perfect sea of people, filling all the seating accommodation on the great floor, while on every side could be seen scores of faces peering out from behind the great wooden pillars which support the sides of the rink and behind which wide passages have been made.

Then behind was the choir in its elevated loft, while still higher up the great balcony was packed to overflowing. At the far end of the rink, the other huge gallery was also crowded.

The meeting was opened with the singing of several familiar gospel hymns by the choir, the choruses being taken up with great spirit by the congregation. Rev. E. B. Lancelley led "The opening prayer, after which Messrs. St. George and Herbert rendered a cornet and piano duet, the well-known "Glory Song." When it came to the chorus, the great audience would join in and the effect was most inspiring.

Dr. Wharton's Address.

Dr. Wharton began by saying: "Here are a few words from the lips of our Master on the night before He was crucified: 'Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you, and I go to prepare a place for you, and I go to prepare a place for you. I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am ye may be also. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.'" After reading these words from John, chapter xiv, Dr. Wharton called upon Mr. Albert Greenlaw to sing, and he responded with a delightful rendering of "Were You There?" Mr. Greenlaw has long been known to Londoners as one of the best of baritone soloists and was at one time a member of that world-famous musical organization, the First Jubilee Choir. Last night he simply excelled himself, and the way in which his rich, full voice was appreciated could easily be read in the faces of the audience.

When the singer had finished, Dr. Wharton, rising to his feet, said: "And the glory of it all, my friends, is that everyone who believes in our Savior and trusts in Him for salvation, was there. They were not there themselves, but they were represented there by their substitute, Jesus Christ."

Christian Co-Operation.

Before continuing his discourse, Dr. Wharton took occasion to express his heartfelt thanks for the way in which the preaching and many of the church-workers of the city had assisted him in his work. He then expressed a regret that there were many regular attendants at the meetings who did not do their share. These people, he exhorted to enter into the good work with all their hearts, and try to induce all those with whom they came in contact to accept Christ as their personal savior.

He then made the announcement for the week, stating that the meetings would be continued as usual, and that at the afternoon meetings he would preach a series of sermons on "Religion in the Home," commencing tomorrow afternoon with "A Praying Mother, and Her Devil-Possessed Child."

Rev. T. T. Shields then presented the financial side of the campaign to the people, pointing out that the cost of the whole enterprise would be in the neighborhood of $1,500, and that at the present rate, about $100 a day would be necessary in order to have accounts balance at the end of the series. He made a strong appeal to Christians to be liberal.

Only Two Sides.

"Who is on the Lord's side let him come forth now," (Exodus, xxxii, 26), was Dr. Wharton's text, which he spoke in part as follows: "Jesus Christ says that there are only two sides—God's side and the devil's side. He also says that he who is not for him is against him. If you are not on Christ's side, then your influence is against Christ. A great conflict is going on right here in our midst. The Lord's hosts, led by Christ, are attacking the forces of evil and the power of the devil. Those Christians who fail to take a hand in this struggle are throwing their influence against Christ and his kingdom."

"I think I can hear someone asking, 'Mr. Preacher, what does it mean to be on Christ's side?' It means, my dear friend, that you are to believe in Christ and try to do what he tells you to do—to be willing to stand up before the world and confess him, and to let it be known that you are trying to obey his commands. Some will ask what use it is being on the Lord's side. I ask, what use is it being on the devil's side?"

A Comparison.

Dr. Wharton then went on to point out that many consider it is a great advantage to be on the devil's side, because they can throw aside the commands of the Bible and tramp all that is good under foot. "Is there any advantage in being able to trample the Bible under foot?" he asked. "The man who is on God's side is on the side of virtue against vice, of right against wrong, of God against the devil; and it is not something to be on the right side? If you will tonight take your stand on the Lord's side, then you will be able to use his influence. You can also claim his protection."

"If you are not on the Lord's side, God is against you, for he is against all evil. When on God's side you can claim God's protection. I tell you, when a poor sinner comes to Christ for protection, he is wrapped in the blood-stained banner of the cross about him, and then all hell cannot harm him."

"If you are on the Lord's side when you come to die you will leave this world with a shout of triumph and joy. That is the Christian's death."

Two Pictures.

Two pictures, one of a man who was on the Lord's side, and the other of a man who was on the devil's side, were presented by the speaker. The first was that of a man who, while riding in a train, took a flask from his pocket and asked a small boy if he "ever indulged," thus tempting him to drink and possibly become a drunkard. While speaking of the great evil done by strong drink, Dr. Wharton congratulated the citizens of London on the way in which the traffic in liquor had been kept in check, and expressed the hope that some day it would be wiped out of the city entirely. The terrible responsibility rests on the person who entices a young person to begin the use of intoxicating liquor, which is liable to destroy all that is best in them, was then pointed out by the speaker, who referred to the passage in God's Word, "Woe unto him who putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips."

The second picture was that of a man uplifting those who were down-fallen and suffering—or the man who was on the Lord's side.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. Mr. Shields offered up short prayer, after which Mr. Albert Greenlaw sang "Tell Mother I'll Be There." When the solo was over, Dr. Wharton asked all those who were not church members, but believed on Christ as their Saviour, and were willing to follow him, to stand up. A large number stood, both old and young.

The benediction was pronounced and while the singing of a hymn was in progress all those who did not wish to stay went out, but a very large number remained to the after-meeting, which lasted for about fifteen minutes. Mr. Greenlaw, whose singing proved such a treat, and so great a help to the service, will sing at the rest of the services this week.

LIFELESS CHURCH TOOL FOR SATAN

Instrument to Drive People to Frivolity, Declares King Street Pastor.

"There is a whole, wide world between frivolity and a truly buoyant heart," said Mr. James Rollins, pastor of the King Street Presbyterian Church, last night.

Mr. Rollins was speaking on the subject of frivolity, and he declared that to be a light-weight is one thing, and to be light-hearted is another. "Many a solemn face is a mask for a petty soul," he added.

"If cheap merriment be the meaning of true happiness, be flippant to your heart's content. But it does not. Therefore, do not be flippant; do not be frivolous."

"A lifeless and lifeless congregation, where the great mysteries are never glorified, and where heaven's own brightness never shines, where to sing too beautifully is a crime—a congregation like that is the best instrument Satan ever had to drive one into frivolity."

"I want a church here that shall be reverent, but bright; I want a church that shall be deep, but happy; I want a church that will be true to the future as well as to the past. I want the young people who come here to realize that life is deep, that life is wonderful, that God is high, and if I can build that Jacob's ladder even in a dream, I am opening the way for the young people to the very feet of Jesus Christ."

"The fact is, life is too stern, even too sad, to be carried through successfully by the frivolous spirit. If there were no tears, no trials, no sorrows, no death, a frivolous spirit might be equal to the task of living, but when trials are never far away, no matter how light-hearted you and I may be for the moment, when the day after tomorrow may see any one of us standing beside an open grave, we feel that we need a sterner, a stronger, spirit than the spirit of frivolity to bring us successfully through to the end."

"Frivolity is condemned because Jesus Christ has mightily increased the seriousness of life."

"Young man and woman, you know that I do not want you to be solemn. You know that if there is anything objectionable to me it is to see young people trying to make their faces long and solemn. I do not want you to be solemn."

"Most of the so-called solemnity is a solemn farce. I do not want you to be dull. I want your sky to be as bright as heaven itself, but as you have a life to live and a death to die, do not cultivate a spirit that makes life a weight on you."

Rev. Dr. Wharton is following a new means of reaching the men of the city. At noon today he addressed a large number of the Grand Trunk car works employees at the shops on Campbell street, and on Wednesday at noon he will speak to the employees at the McClary Company's new works in the south end. It is quite likely that he will speak at other large shops before completing his five weeks' campaign.

THE ALL-RED LINE.

The project of the all-red line comemplates a four-day trip between Liverpool and Halifax; four days and a half between Halifax and Vancouver;
seven days between Vancouver and Yokohama, Japan; and fourteen and a half days from Vancouver to Auckland,
New Zealand. The Atlantic steamers, which would be independent of any railway company, would require to be of 25-knot speed. The present 13-knot boats on the Pacific would be replaced by 18-knot boats. An average speed of 34 miles an hour between Halifax and Vancouver would not be an impossible feat for Canadian railways.

The all-red line, if the plans of its advocates are realized, would be a formidable competitor of the Suez route for traffic between Great Britain and the Orient, and there is the probability that the fast Atlantic service would cut deeply into high-class passenger traffic between Europe and the United States. Distance is greatly in favor of the Canadian route. From Liverpool to Halifax is 2,342 miles; from Liverpool to New York 3,130 miles. Fast train services from Halifax would reduce the time between Liverpool and all points in the United States and Canada, as compared with the New York route. Assuming a 24-knot passenger on the Atlantic, and fast trains from Halifax to New York and Montreal, the latter connecting with fast trains for Chicago and Vancouver, the time from Liverpool to various points
via Halifax works out as follows:

Days	Hours
Liverpool to Halifax .. .	4
Liverpool to New York .. .	20
Halifax to New York .. .	90 miles—20 hours
Liverpool to Montreal .. .	15
Halifax to Montreal .. .	755 miles—15 hours
Liverpool to Toronto .. .	22
Halifax to Toronto .. .	1,091 miles—22 hours
Liverpool to Chicago .. .	8
Halifax to Chicago .. .	1,599 miles—32 hours
Liverpool to Vancouver .. .	12
Halifax to Vancouver .. .	3,662 miles—44 days

The distance from Vancouver to Yokohama is 4,283 miles; to Hong Kong 4,271 miles; to Sydney 6,824 miles; to Auckland, via Honolulu, 6,355 miles. Vancouver is several hundred miles nearer Yokohama than is San Francisco, and Prince Rupert, the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, has an almost equal advantage over Vancouver. The abandonment of the ocean mail line from San Francisco to Australia and New Zealand, owing to the rejection by congress of the ship subsidy bill, is opportune for the allred line if it is to become a reality.
It is a magnificent project and appeals to imperial sentiment and imagination.
It appeals also to Canadian self-interest as it would create a great world highway through the Dominion.

THE "OPEN SHOP."

Certain important English labor unions and employers of labor are about to adopt the "open shop" principle on a much broader scale than it is observed in Canada, and in so doing are displaying a spirit of conciliation which cannot but conduce to the maintenance of industrial peace. It will be remembered that some time ago a judicial decision deprived the Taff Vale miners of certain privileges they supposed they were entitled to, among them the right of peaceful picketing, and exemption from liability for torts or breaches of contract committed by individual members or officers of a union without authority. When the trades disputes act, restoring to the unions
these rights, recently passed Parliament, there were those who feared that the result would be a rash use or abuse of the new law, and strikes and general industrial unrest. But the indications point in an opposite direction, many of the strongest unions appearing as desirous as the employers to insure peace and harmony under the former's new legal status. A notable instance of this feeling is shown in the engineering trades, where the employers' federation and the various unions have concluded an agreement which,
when ratified and given full effect, may not only prove of the greatest benefit to those directly concerned, but serve as a guide and model to employers and employees in other branches of trade. The agreement, which provides for the "open shop" principle, gives employers the privilege of paying wages according to individual capacity, instead of placing all on one scale, but no union man is allowed to work for less than the union scale. But employers, while they may hire whom they please, and exercise the right of discharge without interference, bind themselves not to discriminate against union men as such, and not even to ask a man seeking work whether he is a union man or non-union man. In addition are clauses regulating overtime and piece-work, and others dealing with the methods of settling differences and avoiding strikes. Employers undertake to receive deputations of workmen to discuss grievances that may arise, and union officials may negotiate with employers as individuals or as members of the employer's federation.

A dispute may be submitted by either party to a local conference representing both sides, with right of appeal to a conference of the central authorities of the employers' and employees' organizations. An important feature — one similar to a provision of the Lemieux act — is that during all such negotiations and efforts at settlement of a pending issue, there must be no strike or lockout. The agreement is the result of earnest and protracted discussion by representatives of the respective sides, and there is little doubt of its confirmation by the mass of workmen interested.

DECLINING BIRTH RATE.

Statistics from all the chief European cities are included in the annual summary of births, marriages and deaths, recently published by the registrars-general of Great Britain for 1936. Somewhat striking is the fact that, with the exception of Dublin and Copenhagen, in all the cities reported the average for the preceding five-year period. While London still shows a much higher birth rate than most large European cities, it is also showing an even more rapid rate of decrease. The birth rate for 1936 was the lowest on record, not only in London, but in the whole of England. For England and Wales the births were at the rate of 27 per 1,000 of population; for London, 26.7 per thousand, as compared with an average for the preceding ten-year period of 29 per 1,000. Of all European cities, however, the French and Belgian capitals show the lowest birth rates, that of Paris being down to 18.8,
and of Brussels even slightly lower.
The rate in Berlin is 24.9 per 1,000.

Not only is the birth rate declining,
but the report shows that marriage is losing popularity. In England, if the ratio is taken of marriages to the total marriageable population, there has been a decrease of 21 per cent in the last 36 years. A like showing is made in the size of families. In this respect the decrease in Berlin has been as high as 33 per cent in twenty years.
Far more satisfactory than either the birth of marriage statistics are those relating to the death rate, which shows a noteworthy decrease. The highest death rate in England last year was reported in Liverpool, namely, 29.6 per 1,000. London's rate was only 15.1.
The infant mortality rate in London was 131 in 1936, as compared with an average of 150 for the preceding ten years. Last year not a single death from smallpox was recorded, and the total number of deaths from this disease in four years has been only 47.

The Irish Nationalists are not likely to fowl their nest by admitting Croker to Parliament. The politicians of Ireland have been turbulent, but they have been clean-handed.

Some of the young men of the city are promoting a municipal league, with the object of placing candidates in the field for the council. A healthier interest in civic affairs is needed, and the movement should be encouraged, if it is to be conducted on reasonable lines.

A powerful story of Canadian farm life has been written by a young lady of this city, who conceals her identity
under the pen-name of Anison North.
Her novel, "Carmichael," has been favorably compared with Ralph Connor's work in its delineation of Canadian rural types and scenes. The work is certainly a distinct contribution to our growing national literature.

The Liberals refrained from wasting ammunition by fighting in a Conservative live like West York. The Conservative candidate has won by 2,400 majority over a Socialist and an Independent candidate, but it is a trifle absurd, under the circumstances, to parade the result as "an overwhelming indorsement of the Whitney-Beck power policy." There was no issue before the electors, and most of them did not vote. The Socialist candidate disgusted them by denouncing the Union
Jack as a "pirate rag."

VALUABLE COLLATERAL.

[Atlanta Constitution.]
"De poor an righteous man got treasure in heaven, but what a blessing it would be if he could only use it for collateral in discount."

A GOOD RISK.

[Judge.]
Friend—Why did you pass that man as a good risk? I heard him tell you he had over ten different kinds of chronic diseases.
Insurance Doctor—Yes, but, you know,
those kind of fellows never die.

HIS WEAK SPOT.

[The Tatler.]
"So pore old Bill's gone, 'as he? 'Ow was 'e killed?"
"Three ton o' cement fell on his chest."
"Ah, pore feller! 'E allus said 'as 'e was weak there."

A POOR RULE THEN.

[Oath's Standard and Times.]
Elderly—Persevere, my boy, persevere!

There's only one way to accomplish your purpose, and that is to "stick to it."
Youngster—But suppose your purpose is to remove a sheet of fly-paper that you've sat down upon accidentally?

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

[Lippincott's.]
While little Christabel and her yet smaller sister were playing, her mother was announcing to grandpas: "Our neighbor, Mrs. P., has a new baby."
Instantly Christabel turned in eager excitement.
"Oh, mamma," she asked, "what is she going to do with her old one?"

WHERE THE DISAPPOINTMENT LIES.

[Chicago Daily News.]
"I suppose you are disappointed at having to give up your summer home at the lake this year?"
"No, but all my friends are."

MERE OPINION.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
A woman can fool a man through twenty years of courtship and then find herself unable to keep him from discovering her true character within a week after their marriage.
Few people are kept so busy regulating their own lives that they have no time to try to regulate the lives of others.
One serious trouble with the things we learn in adversity is that we get so little chance to profit by them.
It is always easy by agreeing with her to make a woman change her mind.

THE LUCKY ONES.

[Houston Post.]
"Old Rounder is engaged."
"Geef! Who's the lucky woman?"
"There are millions of her."
"Why, he isn't engaged to more than one?"
"Nope; that's what I mean—all the others are the lucky ones."

GOING FOR A WALK.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]
"Do you enjoy walking?"
"Immensely!"
"Good! Then I'll take you for a ride in the country in my motor car."

GUERRILLA WARFARE.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
If it is true that lightning did kill the span of Georgia mules it probably smacked up in front of them.

SECRET OF HIS POPULARITY.

[Town and Clergy.]
"I don't see how he can be such a popular clergyman, when he abuses the congregation so."
"Easy enough. Everybody thinks he is talking about everybody else."

DIFFERENCE DEFINED.

[Philadelphia Press.]
"What, then," asked the professor, "is the exact difference between logic and sophistry?"
"Well," replied the bright student, "it you're engaged in a controversy it's just the difference between your line of argument and the other fellow's."

A DANGEROUS CASE.

[Philadelphia Record.]
Mrs. Miggins—How is your husband's case?
Mrs. Miggins—I'm afraid he will never get over it.
Mrs. Miggins—Gracious! Is so bad as all that?
Mrs. Miggins—Well, you see, the doctor has advised him to take whisky for it.

A BAD COMPANION.

[Cleveland Leader.]
"Why, Bobby Jones! I never heard such wicked language!"
"Well, Ma, Chaucer uses it."
"Then you must quit playing with him
at once!"

THE ANIMAL.

[Chicago Tribune.]
Teacher—You have named all domestic animals save one. It has bristly hair, it is grimy, likes dirt and is fond of mud.
Well, Tom, (shamefully)—That's me.

HIS SALARY.

[Chicago Daily News.]
Diggs—What salary do you get?
Wiggs—One hundred and fifty dollars per Diggs—Per week, per month or perhaps?

LINOLEUMS.

[Sketch.]
First Verger—Do you ave matins at your church?
Second Verger—No; we 'as linoleums.

GETTING SQUARE.

[Judge.]
First Small Boy—'I'm goin' ter git square
wid pa fer lookin' me terday.
Second Small Boy—How yer goin' ter?
First Small Boy—When the circus comes along I'm goin' ter say I don't care ter go.

RICHEST QUEEN IN EUROPE.

[London Tit-Bits.]
When in June next the King and Queen of Denmark pay their first visit to England we shall have an opportunity of seeing the wealthiest queen in her own right—and the tallest.

It will doubtless be remembered that Frederick VIII. succeeded to the throne of Denmark at the beginning of last year, after the sudden death of King Christian,
the beloved, father of Queen Alexandra. It is now 38 years since King Frederick married Queen Louise, a daughter of Charles XV. of Sweden. From her maternal grandfather, Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, her majesty inherited three millions, and she was also left a huge fortune by her father. Furthermore, the wealth of Queen Louise has been considerably increased since her marriage by careful management and judicious investment.

FORGETFUL.

[Fliegende Blätter.]
Waitress—Excuse me, sir, but this is the sixth time you have gone away from here without paying your bill.
Wily Customer—So sorry, but when one sees your face one forgets everything else.

GOOD REASON.

[Puck.]
Father—How in the name of common sense did you manage to lose such a sum
on Wall street.
Son—Why, I had inside information and bought a stock that was bound to go up.

A FINE VIEWPOINT.

[Everybody's Magazine.]
Two smart young Londoners once accounted a respectable looking shepherd in Argyl
with:
"You have a very fine view here—you can see a great way."
"Yu ay, Yu ay, a ferry great way."
"Ah! You can see America from here, I presume!"
"Farther than that!"
"You jist wait til the mista gang awa' and you'll see the mune."

VISITING PASTORS
IN LOCAL PULPITS

Rink Services Criticised—The Christian's Hope—Church
Notes.

Rev. F. James Grant preached at the Wellington Street Church last night, in the absence of Rev. Mr. Livingstone, who is attending the Methodist Conference at Goderich. "The Christian Hope" was the subject of his discourse.
He pointed out that hope was the one thing which made life worth living. For if a man has nothing to hope for, then his life is not worth anything, and he simply exists. The benefit to be obtained from aiming high in life was then referred to by Mr. Grant, who pointed out that it is far better for a man to aim at something high, even if he never attains it, than to aim at something low and succeed in reaching his ideal. Mr. Grant is a man fresh from university life, and his remarks were clear cut and to the point.

Arousing Dry Bones.

During the course of his sermon on Sunday morning Rev. Robert McIntyre, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Toronto and Secretary of the Department of the resurrection of the dry bones. He said the present evangelistic services in the Jubilee Rink were being carried on in an effort to arouse the dry bones. "It is all very well to try to arouse them," he declared, "but I think it is a reflection on the good men who occupy the pulpits of London to think that a man should be brought from the south to accomplish what the ministers themselves should do."

At the Memorial Church Sunday evening, Rev. Mr. Cornish, of St.
Thomas, occupied the pulpit, and preached to a large congregation. A lay representative was elected to take the place of Dr. English at a meeting held in the church after the regular service. Dr. English, who is returning to Hamilton, took an active part in the church work, and will be greatly missed.

Sunday morning communion service brought out a very large congregation to New St. James' Presbyterian Church, and in the evening the edification was again filled. Rev. Mr. Mitchell preached an enlightening and instructive sermon on "Religion," as described in the first chapter of St. James, and was given a most attentive hearing.
Mr. Mitchell will be absent for a couple of weeks attending the General Assembly meeting in Montreal, and then presiding a short visit to his old charge at Barrie, Ont.

Mr. W. H. Liddell preached to a congregation of four hundred at the asylum yesterday morning, and occupied the pulpit at the North Methodist Mission in the evening.

At Knox Presbyterian Church a communion service was conducted by Rev. J.
G. Stuart on Sunday morning, at which thirteen persons were admitted to the membership of the congregation.

Rev. T. J. Hamilton preached at St.
George's Church, West London, on Sunday night to a large congregation, from Genesis xii, 2: "And Jacob was left alone;
and there wrestled a man with him until
the break of day."

Rev. E. E. Shields, of Kincardine, occupied the pulpit of Adelaide Street Church on Sunday morning, and his brother (the pastor) preached in the evening. Two candidates for membership were baptized. Mr.
C. Pink's solo, "The Ninety and Nine" was much appreciated.

On Sunday evening Rev. Canon Crairof Petrolia, conducted the services at St.
John's Church. The Bishop of Huron assisted him. Exceptionally good music was rendered, a solo by Miss Tilly Wright being much appreciated.

OLD-TIME FIGHTER DEAD

Barney Aaron, Bare Knuckle Champion
Passes Away at Long Island.

New York, June 3.—Barney Aaron, the old-time light-weight pugilist, was buried on Sunday from his home here. He died on Thursday in a sanatorium on Long Island, where he was taken about a year ago, having broken down physically.
Aaron was 77 years old. Like his father before him, Barney Aaron was a great bare knuckle fighter in his prime, having beaten every man of his weight in his day. After Aaron came to this country, his greatest fight was a seven-round battle with Archer Chambers at Mississippi City in 1876. For years Aaron acted as announcer at the race tracks in this vicinity.

STEEL CUT BY ELECTRICITY.

The work of demolishing the grim, giant skeleton of the old Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, is now in active progress.
It is proving an immense task. Even with a large force of men, supplemented by teams and powerful machinery appliances,
it is estimated that at least three months will be required to tear down the massive walls and remove the wilderness of debris.
An extremely novel and unique electrical process is being employed in the work of cutting up the structural steel girders which formed the supports of the great glass roof of the court. These fell into a disorderly, twisted heap to the bottom of the court, and it was found impossible to remove them by even the most powerful hoist.

The method now used is what is known as the "electrical arc process," and is of very recent invention. By forcing of electrical heat of 5,000 degrees, generated by a large dynamo, into the mass of iron, a gap is rapidly melted out, and the girder cut into sections easy to handle with small cranes. It requires about twenty minutes to cut, or melt, through a foot girder. The glare from the tip of the electrical "needle" used is so very intense that it cannot be looked at with the naked eye, and the men operating are compelled to wear a queer-looking cap and thick colored goggles. By means of this electric process the work progresses rapidly and effectively.—Technical World Magazine.

"The elephant's trunk," says Dr.
Ray Lankester, "originated through a shortening of the lower jaw. Therefore,
I am sorry to upset Mr. Rudyard Kipling's explanation that the length of the trunk was accounted for by its having been pulled by the crocodile."

SHIN-GUARDS HAVE COME TO STAY

New York, June 1.—A glance
into the official rules of baseball will convince the most critical that there is nothing to prevent Roger Bresnahan from wearing his much-discussed shin-guards, and President Pulliam has about come to the same conclusion. Notwithstanding Pitts-burg's protest, Bresnahan has not been ordered to discard his unique protectors, but instead Fred Clark has ordered them for his own catchers.

The only rule which could possibly have a bearing on the shin-guard matter is Rule 19, relative to the wearing apparel
to be worn by players. It says:
"No player who shall attack anything to the sole of his shoe
other than the ordinary baseball shoe plate, or who shall appear in a uniform not conforming to the suits of the other members of his team, shall be permitted to take part in a game."

This certainly has no bearing on shin-guards, as they are no more a part of the uniform
"different from other players"
than is the catcher's mask or chest-protector.
It is quite likely that Bresna-han's innovation will become a permanent fixture in the national game, as other players are thinking seriously of adopting them.

The Hound of The Baskervilles

"The company had come to a halt, more sober men, as you may guess, than when they started. The most of them would by no means advance, but three of them, the boldest, or it may be the most drunken, rode forward down the gully. Now, it opened into a broad space, in which stood two of those great stones, still to be seen there, which were set by certain forgotten peoples in the days of old. The moon was shining brightly upon the clearing, and there in the center lay the unhappy maid where she had fallen, dead of fear and of fatigue. But it was not the sight of her body, nor yet was it that of the body of Hugo Baskerville, lying near her, which raised the hair upon the heads of these three dæmoniac rogues, but it was that, standing over Hugo, and plucking at his throat, there stood a foul thing, a great, black beast, shaped like a hound, yet larger than any hound that ever lived, and with a head that seemed to be made of fire. And even as the three men were looking at the throat of the thing, the thing looked at them, and its eyes were like burning coals, and its mouth was open, and it showed its teeth, and it seemed to be laughing at them. The three men, still screaming, across the moor. One, it is said, died that very night of what he had seen, and the other two were but broken men for the rest of their days.

"Such is the tale, my sons, of the coming of the hound which is said to have plagued the family so sorely ever since. If I have set it down it is because that which is clearly known has less terror than that which is but hinted at and guessed. Nor can it be denied that many of the family have been unhappy in their deaths, which have been sudden, bloody and mysterious. Yet may we shelter ourselves in the infinite goodness of Providence, which would not forever punish the innocent beyond that third or fourth generation which is threatened in Holy Writ, that Providence, my sons, I hereby commend you, and I counsel you by way of caution to forbear from cursing the moor in those dark hours when the powers of evil are exalted.

"[This from Hugo Baskerville, to his sons, Roger and John, with instructions that they say nothing thereof to their sister Elizabeth.]

When Dr. Mortimer had finished and a tenant for Baskerville Hall. It is understood that the next-of-kin is Mr. Henry Baskerville, if he be still alive, the son of Sir Charles Baskerville's younger brother. The young man when last heard of was in America, and inquiries are being instituted with a view to informing him of his good fortune."

Dr. Mortimer refolded his paper and replaced it in his pocket. Those are the public facts, Mr. Holmes, in connection with the death of Sir Charles Baskerville.

"I must thank you," said Sherlock Holmes, "for calling my attention to a case which certainly presents some features of interest. I had observed some newspaper comment at the time, but I was exceedingly preoccupied by that little affair of the Vatican canon, and in my anxiety to oblige the Pope I lost touch with several interesting English cases. This article, you say, contains all the public facts?"

"It does."

"Then let me have the private ones."

He leaned back, put his finger-tips together, and assumed his most impassive and judicial expression.

"In doing so," said Dr. Mortimer, who had begun to show signs of some strong emotion, "I am telling you, which I have not confided to anyone, my motive for withholding it from the public position of seeming to inquire into a case of such a nature as to further a popular superstition. I have, however, a motive, which would certainly not increase its already rather grim reputation. For both these reasons I thought that I was justified in bringing rather less than I knew, since no practical good could result from it, but with you there is no reason why I should not be perfectly frank.

"The moor is very sparsely inhabited, and those who live near each other are thrown very much together. For this reason, I saw a good deal of Sir Charles Baskerville. With the exception of Mr. Stapleton, of Laffer Hall, and Mr. Stapleton, of Laffer Hall, there are no other men of education within many miles. Sir Charles was a very pleasant man, and his family, as I have brought back much scientific information from South Africa, and many a charming evening we have spent together discussing the comparative anatomy of the Bushman and the Hottentot.

"Within the last few months it became increasingly plain to me that Sir Charles's nervous system was strained to the breaking point. He had taken a keen interest in the case of the hound, and I have read you exceedingly to heart—so heartily, in fact, that I have been unable to resist the temptation to tell you the whole story. I have, however, a motive, which would certainly not increase its already rather grim reputation. For both these reasons I thought that I was justified in bringing rather less than I knew, since no practical good could result from it, but with you there is no reason why I should not be perfectly frank.

Sir Charles was a very pleasant man, and his family, as I have brought back much scientific information from South Africa, and many a charming evening we have spent together discussing the comparative anatomy of the Bushman and the Hottentot.

"I can well remember driving up to his house in the evening, some three weeks before the fatal event. He had descended from my gig and was standing in front of him, when I saw his eyes fix themselves over my shoulder and stare past me with an expression of the most dreadful horror. I whisked round and had just time to catch a glimpse of something which I took to be a large black cat passing at the head of the drive. So excited and alarmed was he that I was compelled to go down to the spot where the animal had been, and look around for it. It was gone, however, and the impression appeared to make the worst of him. I stayed with him that evening, and it was on that occasion, to explain the emotion which he had shown, that he confided to me the narrative which I have related to you when first I came. I may say that this small episode because it assumed some importance in view of the tragedy which followed, but I was convinced at the time that the matter was entirely trivial and that his excitement had no justification.

"It was at my advice that Sir Charles was about to go to London. His heart was about to break, and the constant anxiety in which he lived, however chimerical the cause of it, was evidently having a serious effect upon his health. I thought that a few months among the distractions of town would send him back to his old self. I was, however, a mutual friend, and was much concerned at his state of health. The same opinion. At the last, however, came this terrible catastrophe. Barrymore, the butler, who made the discovery, sent Perkins, the groom, on horseback to me, and as I was sitting up late I was able to reach Baskerville Hall within an hour of the event. I checked and corroborated all the facts which were mentioned at the inquest. I followed the footprints down the Yew Alley. I saw the spot at the moor gate where he seemed to have waited. I reprinted after that point, I noted that there were no other footprints save those of Barrymore on the soft earth, and finally I carefully examined the body, which had not been touched until my arrival. Sir Charles lay on his face, his arms outstretched, and his fingers dug into the ground, and his features convulsed with some strong emotion to such an extent that I could hardly have sworn to his identity. There was certainly no physical injury of any kind. But one question was made at the inquest by Barrymore. He said that there were no traces upon the ground around the body. He did not observe any, but I did—some little distance off, but fresh and clear.

"Footprints?"

"A man's or a woman's?"

"Dr. Mortimer looked strangely at us for an instant, and his voice sank almost to a whisper as he answered:

"Mr. Holmes, they were the footprints of a gigantic hound."

A statistical paper on India shows that in 1904 there were killed in that country by snakes and wild beasts 24,034 persons, 21,859 by snake bites, 796 by tigers, 399 by leopards and the rest by other animals. The number of cattle killed was 98,582.

CORPORATIONS BOW TO PEOPLE'S WILL

Passage of Public Utilities Bill in New York Triumph for Reform.

New York, June 2.—The passage of the public utilities bill, which has attracted so much attention while under discussion in the New York Legislature, does not make Governor Hughes any more than one swallow makes a summer. It is true that Governor Hughes is responsible for the law. He wrote it, and he forced it through an unwilling legislature. It is also true that it is the most advanced legislation that has yet been enacted in the direction of corporation control, and the fact that it has been unanimously indorsed by the legislature, and the fact that nearly all the great corporations of the country have their headquarters in New York, and which is the seat of the "money power" of which we are all so much afraid, is even more remarkable. No one would be surprised to have such a bill passed by Nebraska or Mississippi or Oregon, but it is not the sort of legislation one would expect from the legislature of New York.

Governor Hughes is a bold, brave, independent and forceful man. No other kind of a governor could have accomplished this extraordinary feat. He is also a corporation lawyer. Ever since he has been in practice his clients have been corporations, and which indicates that a lawyer may learn something on both sides of an important question by such associates, and that to make people careful about condemning retainers from railway corporations. You never know what a corporation to hire a poor lawyer if it had the money to pay for a good one, and the fact that an honest lawyer has accepted fees from such sources does not necessarily make him the enemy of the people.

The passage of the public utilities law by an almost unanimous vote of both parties in the New York legislature indicates very clearly that the corporations are accepting government control as inevitable. The provisions of the bill were examined with the greatest care and anxiety by the attorneys of the great corporations, who made several important suggestions. Hughes, he was accepted by Governor Hughes. The bill pointed out certain defects and imperfections in the provisions in the bill as he originally drafted it. Beyond that there was very little criticism or opposition. There was no lobby at Albany against the bill, which is almost remarkable as the passage of every corporation of importance in the state kept a man on guard to look after its interest, to prevent and promote legislation. This time, however, the lobbyists kept away and indeed it has been a hard winter for "agents" in Albany.

The only inference to be drawn from these facts is that the railway magnates and the heads of the boards of directors of great corporations have come to the point of view taken by a resident in a speech he made at a Graceland dinner last winter. That speech was the subject of much misrepresentation and sensational comment, and he was accused of "insulting" Pierpont Morgan and H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil Company, although neither of those gentlemen or any of the other guests perceived the "insult" until it was pointed out to them afterward by people who were not present. What the President said was that the railways of the country ought to be glad that the rate bill had been passed because it is moderate and control of every kind of corporation that would certainly sooner or later become a law. That view seems to have been accepted by the corporations of New York in connection with the bill just passed.

The public utilities law is also notable as being the most advanced step that has ever been taken in this country in the direction of state socialism, and it will doubtless prove to be an effective obstacle to municipal ownership. It has made government ownership of the public utilities a political issue, because it goes so far as to give a state commission the power of control of every kind of corporation that does public business, such as railways, steamships, street cars, express companies, baggage transfer companies, cable and telephone companies, bridges, ferries, electric light and power companies, gas companies, excepting only telegraph and telephone companies, and why they were left out I cannot ascertain.

In the recent campaign for mayor of New York City municipal ownership was the popular issue, and it received surprising support, probably from voters who did not comprehend what they were voting for, but who were determined to express as forcibly as possible their dissatisfaction with the management of the public utilities in their city. The principle of municipal ownership came very near being elected. A good many people think he was elected and counted out. The votes for municipal ownership were cast without would be necessary to acquire the public utilities complained of or the taxes that would be necessary to cover the expense. The theory was attractive. The protest was emphatic, and I have new law is the direct result of that campaign and a concession to public opinion as expressed by the vote for mayor.

BRITAIN AND THE HAGUE

Delegates Not Yet Instructed as to Stand in Peace.

London, June 2.—Although The Hague conference meets with fortnight the British delegates have not been instructed as to the attitude they shall maintain on the subjects included in the Russian programme or on other questions to be introduced by the powers participating at the conference. This delay in notifying the delegates is the result of the heavy parliamentary programme, which keeps the members of the cabinet busy and the difficulties the government has had since the collapse of the Irish councils bill.

There have been several cabinet meetings, at which Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, has brought up the question of The Hague conference, but the Associated Press is informed officially that the cabinet has not yet reached a decision on any point, and that possibly another week will elapse before the delegates can be instructed.

A PLEASING GUIMPE DRESS—4124.

The guimpe dresses are more than ever in vogue this year, and no mail maiden should be without several. A pleasing frock of this kind is sketched and a few suggestions as to its making may not be amiss. The waist has tucks in front to regulate the fullness, while the skirt is a straight, gathered one, finished with two deep tucks above the hem. The sleeve ends at the elbow to allow the guimpe sleeve to appear below. The waist fronts are full and separated at the center to reveal the guimpe. The dress is fastened in a pretty bow. The dress proper should be made of a pongee, washing fabric or cloth, while any of the sheer white stuffs, like Swiss, batiste or lawn, may serve for the guimpe. The medium size calls for 3-4 yards of material.

Rheumatism

Does not let go of you when you apply lotions or liniments. It simply loosens its hold for a while. Why?

Because to get rid of it you must correct the acid condition of the blood on which it depends. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands.

A statistical paper on India shows that in 1904 there were killed in that country by snakes and wild beasts 24,034 persons, 21,859 by snake bites, 796 by tigers, 399 by leopards and the rest by other animals. The number of cattle killed was 98,582.

QUEEN OF SIAM COMING TO U. S.

Not Likely, However, to Grace
the Exclusive Circles of Society.

San Remo, Italy, June 2. — A real queen is to visit the United States soon. Her Majesty Sowa-Pongal of Siam. She is making a tour of the world with her husband, King Chulalongkorn, traveling strictly incognito. She keeps in rigid seclusion, obedient to the custom of her country.

Newspapers have spread the news far and wide that the king is accompanied by "his twelve wives." But only one woman is recognized as queen in Siam. She is his half-sister. They had the same father, but different mothers.

The queen is most gracious and attractive; her hands and feet are the daintiest at the court of Bangkok. When it suits her to appear in native costume—white silk knee breeches and blouse waist of the same material, set off by a broad sash of orange silk—she makes an exceedingly pretty picture. Siam's queen is still young. Though the remotest record says she was born 43 years ago last New Year's Day and she has two sons who have passed their majority, she preserves the firm, well-rounded figure that distinguishes young Siamese women.

Her hair she wears short and combed straight back. Short hair has been a badge of honor among Siamese women since, many years ago, they saved their capital. An enemy had laid siege to the city and disaster seemed imminent, when the women cut their locks, donned male attire and appeared on the walls in such numbers that the foe, supposing the king's army had been greatly reinforced, raised the siege and withdrew.

Queen Sowa-Pongal's eldest son, Crown Prince Vajiravudh—who visited New York less than five years ago and liked it so well he said he should return—is governing the kingdom while his father is away.

A second son studied military tactics in the German army, and another son in the Russian army. Last year the state department at Washington received from Bangkok an inquiry if one of his nephews would be admitted to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Two American legal advisers of the king, Professor Edward Henry Strobel, Bemis professor of international law in Harvard, and Assistant Professor J. I. Westgard, also of the Harvard Law School. After spending nearly three weeks here Chulalongkorn left for a tour in Northern Italy and Switzerland, intending to reach Paris late in June to remain a fortnight, after which he will go to London and then to the United States.

His itinerary is not final. On leaving home he calculated that he should be away seven months. That would mean that he would be in Bangkok again in October. When he landed in Europe it was telegraphed abroad that he would visit the United States in May. That was erroneous. His original programme would take him to America in July, but, recognizing that it is subject to change, as circumstances of disposition may direct, no instruction has yet been sent to the Siamese legation in Washington to prepare for his coming on any fixed date. The king doesn't really know how much Paris will attract him, nor how long it will take him to transact some highly-important business he has with the King of England.

Chulalongkorn once said he realized that sooner or later Siam will be absorbed, either by France, which is pressing from Cochinchina on one side, or by England, which is crowding from India on the other. He did not hesitate to openly express a preference to be swallowed up by England, since the latter has become an ally of Japan. This probably is what he wants to talk with King Edward about.

Five millions a year is the cost of London's education. Government grants meet two of those millions, the rates three. The average roll of the elementary schools is 750,000 children. The staff of teachers in the service of the council numbers about 20,000. Of these about 17,000 are engaged in public elementary schools, and receive salaries amounting to over £2,000,000 a year.

Doping a Cold Doesn't Cure It.

The average cough mixture doesn't cure a cold—it "dopes" it, or, in other words, temporarily holds it down, and bottle after bottle must be taken before a cure is effected.

Meantime you must suffer, and your poor stomach be burdened by the indigestion that invariably follows continual dosing with cough syrups.

If your bowels were kept open and the eliminating organs stimulated your cold would soon disappear.

Dr. Hamilton found that his Mandrake and Bitternut Pills were more valuable in colds than any cough cure.

While you sleep at night they enliven the kidneys, liver and bowels, and thereby carry off the cold and all its evil effects.

Instead of deadening the stomach like cough cures, Dr. Hamilton's Pills afford this organ the greatest assistance by giving it tone, strength and healthy action.

One or two pills is sufficient. Take them just before retiring.

Next morning you feel like new.

The cold is broken up, your system regulated and cleansed and no time lost.

The use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills for colds, coughs and rheumatic ills is popular because efficient. Get some today, 25 cents per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, and refuse a substitute.

THE SUFFRAGETTES HOWLED DOWN

Strenuous and Concerted Attack
on War Secretary Haldane Failed.

London, June 2. — The suffragettes are trying militant methods with the Minister for War, Mr. Haldane being howled down by a party of would-be women voters recently. Miss Mary Gawthorpe and Miss Christabel Pankhurst were prominent among the demonstrators.

The Alexandra Palace in North London was the scene of the disturbance, the occasion being a big Liberal demonstration, presided over by Earl Carrington.

The chairman's remarks were heard without interruption, but when Mr. Haldane rose to his feet disorder at once broke out.

The war minister had only uttered the introductory words, "Ladies and gentlemen," when Mrs. Winton Evans, one of the suffragettes who was sitting near the platform, rose boldly in her place and exclaimed, "The honorable gentleman is a member of a government that refuses to do justice to women."

In an instant the utmost disorder reigned. People sprang up from all parts of the hall shouting, "Put her out!" Promptly did the stewards respond to the call. But for some moments the enemy was too much for them. No sooner had they begun to concentrate upon Mrs. Evans than other suffragettes were loudly roaring their battle-cry, "Votes for women."

The first to follow Mrs. Evans's example was Miss Jessie Kenney, sister of Miss Annie Kenney. She was asking, "whether Mr. Haldane's party was willing to give women the vote," when she was rudely interrupted. As Mrs. Evans was being dragged out of the hall she, too, was receiving similar treatment.

Miss Gawthorpe Discovered.

By this time from nearly every exit a suffragette was being ejected and left panting outside. Nearly a dozen women had been put outside when Mr. Haldane, quite unperturbed, began to make a fresh start. Again he was unable to get beyond "Ladies and gentlemen," for at that moment someone shouted from the gallery, "There she is!" The "she" was Miss Gawthorpe.

Before the meeting opened the audience had been singing a song containing these lines:

Grant to womanhood the justice England would be proud to give.

As Miss Gawthorpe afterwards mentioned she had sung the lines with great gusto; and as, moreover, she had made a very successful attempt at a disguise, no one in her immediate circle contemplated that she was one of the suffragettes. She made the lines her war-cry.

"Grant to womanhood the justice!" she cried, as she jumped up from her seat. The stewards gave her very short shrift. They at once made a rush for her and proceeded to drag her out of the hall.

Meanwhile Miss Pankhurst had been standing at the back of the hall waiting for her chance. In a long green coat she was very conspicuous, and members of the audience had no difficulty in recognizing her. "Let it be a warning to you," was the advice given to her, but she merely smiled.

Police Called In.

Once again Mr. Haldane was facing the audience. He had managed to say that "there was not a single person in that great meeting who did not regret the scene they had just witnessed," when Miss Pankhurst shouted, "Votes for women!"

"Ah! we know you!" exclaimed one of the stewards, and almost before she was aware of it she had joined the ejected band outside.

About this time a considerable body of policemen were marched into the hall amid cheers.

When peace had been temporarily restored Mr. Haldane said, "All we claim is the right to speak to our own people. What we willingly concede to others we claim for ourselves. We have got to see that Liberal meetings are not interrupted by anybody, whoever they may be."

Mr. Haldane was saying that they now came from that scene, "which meant a very little," to the important business of the meeting when a voice exclaimed, "What about Wimbledon?"

"We are as little disturbed by such a transient thing as Wimbledon as we are disturbed by this scene tonight," replied Mr. Haldane, amid laughter.

While Mr. Haldane was speaking Miss Pankhurst, in the result of clever strategy, had contrived to re-enter the hall. The war secretary was making a passing reference to Russia when Miss Pankhurst rose. "We are treated by the English Government," she exclaimed, "in the same way as the Russian people are treated by their Government."

She was carried outside, shouting as she disappeared, "Votes for women!" One of the ejected suffragettes, Mrs. Drummond, faintly outside the hall. She, however, speedily recovered. No arrests were made.

Call on Mr. Haldane.

So far Mr. Haldane has managed to avoid granting his long-promised interview to the suffragettes.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst, Mrs. Drummond, and Miss Mary Gawthorpe called on the secretary for war for the purpose of having the interview which Mr. Haldane promised them when in Peebles some time ago, and incidentally of course, remarked Miss Pankhurst, "to impress upon him the fact that until women obtained the right to vote suffragettes would always interrupt his meetings."

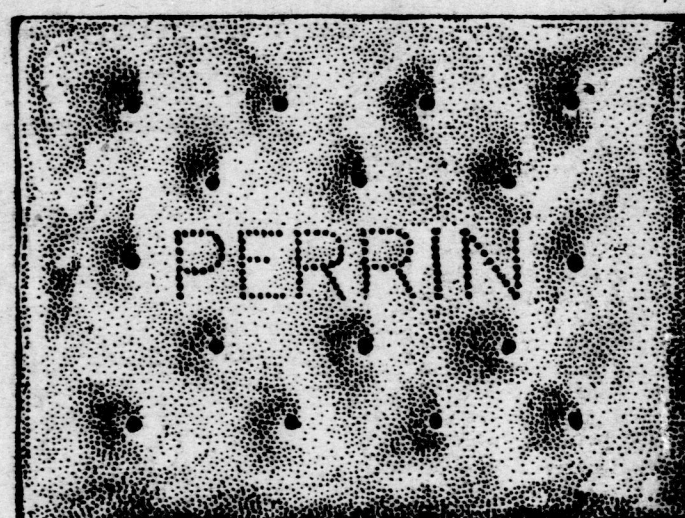

On ringing the bell at Mr. Haldane's residence, in Queen Anne's-gate, the women were politely informed that the right hon. gentleman had left town for Scotland, and so the long-looked-for interview was once more postponed.

BIG RUSSIAN SWINDLE

Officials and Lawyers of Odessa Clean Up $500,000.

Odessa, June 2. — A sensation has been caused here by the arrest of several officials and well known lawyers, who for several years have been engaged in a novel conspiracy to defraud the state of the revenue from estates whose heirs were missing or unknown. The plan of the conspiracy was to obtain possession of such estates by use of fraudulent documents or by bringing forward false heirs. An order placed with an engraver of Vienna for a duplicate of an official seal led to the discovery of the frauds. The persons implicated here are said to have derived about $500,000 from the swindles.

THE TORONTO TYPOS.

Toronto, Ont., June 1. — President James Lynch and Vice-President John

W. Hays, of the International Typographical Union, arrived in the city today, and will address the printers tonight at Victoria Hall, when the agreement with the employers will be discussed.

The local body has repudiated the agreement which was signed on behalf of the international union by Vice-President Hays. The situation now is that if the men persist in their refusal they will not receive any financial aid from the international union in the event of a strike.

It has nearly all been given by royal and other admirers, who, in recognition of her genius, have bestowed diamonds and precious stones upon her to the value of many thousands of dollars.

IT IS A LIVER PILL—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parnele's Vegetable Pills. Their operation, though gentle, is effective and the most delicate can use them.

—Mrs. M. Cass, Sherlock, Mich., is visiting friends in London and Ingersoll.

—Mr. George Riley, of this city, has accepted a position with Ryrie Bros., Toronto.

—Dr. A. B. Gerard, of this city, has commenced the practice of medicine in Essex county.

—All city grocers have decided to close their stores during the summer months on Wednesday afternoon.

—Mrs. W. H. K. Talbot, of London Junction, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Maxwell, of Stratford.

—Miss Sarah J. Wilkinson has returned home from Moosejaw to spend the summer with her parents on Adelaide street.

—Mrs. W. L. Just, of Chicago, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Craddock, corner of Fullarton and Talbot streets, city.

—Miss Sarah J. Wilkinson, who has spent the last year in Moosejaw, Sask., has returned to this city, and will spend the summer with her parents on Adelaide street.

—Messrs. Dayton & McCormick will entertain their friends to the opening hop of the summer season at Springbank pavilion this evening. No doubt a large number of guests will be in attendance.

—Mr. John R. Stewart, formerly manager of the Grand Opera House in this city, and latterly with Bennett's Vaudeville Theater in Ottawa, is renewing acquaintances in London.

Mrs. Stewart and son are in Deseronto spending a short vacation with relatives.

—Mrs. Sarah Impett, wife of the late Thomas Impett, of this city, died on Friday at her home, 26 Dunn street, at the age of 67 years. The funeral will take place from her late residence this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. I. B. Wallin will conduct the services at 2:30.

A number of Londoners are leaving and have left for England and other distant places. Mr. G. H. Bennett of the east end, left Friday on the Empress of Britain for England, and Mr. Harry Lyons and Mr. Thos. H. Weldon leave New York on Wednesday on the Oceanic for the same place. Mr. C. B. Hunt has gone to Fort William on a short trip, and Mr. C. H. Ivey left for Winnipeg on Saturday.

—Johnny Gyle, an Advertiser carrier boy, living at 511 Grosvenor street, was bitten by a dog a day or two ago. The boy was delivering his papers on St. James' street when the dog sprang at him and sunk its teeth in his leg, just below the knee. The canine belonged to a resident of St. James' street east, and an effort will be made to have it destroyed.

—Rev. Eli Allen, who for some time past has been engaged in home mission work for the Presbyterian Church in the State of Oregon, is on a visit to relatives in this city. Mr. Allen is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, of 366 Ontario street, and before leaving London was identified with the congregation of the King Street Presbyterian Church. He worked as a missionary in Persia for some years, and on completing his service there he went to the Western States, where he has since been located. On Sunday next he will occupy the pulpit of King

VETERANS AT CHURCH

Mark Forty-first Anniversary of the Fenian Raid.

The veterans of 1866 yesterday marked the forty-first anniversary of the Fenian Raid by attending divine service in the morning, at the First Methodist Church. Fully fifty of the veterans were present, and occupied the front seats of the church, which had been reserved for them. They were in command of Mr. Richard McBride.

It was expected that the retiring pastor, Rev. J. W. Graham, would address the veterans, but he found that a previous engagement prevented him doing so, and the pulpit was taken by Rev. A. E. M. Thompson, M. A., of Woodstock. Mr. Thompson said he felt that young men are losing their faith in Jesus Christ and are becoming imbued with the idea that religion is not for real men, but is merely for women, children, and effeminate men.

"A man, to be a real Christian," said the speaker, "must be morally and physically courageous."

In further discussing the question, Mr. Thompson stated that there is no such thing as "half-heartedness" in religion.

"If a man would be a God-fearing man, he must not be a lover of earthly vices," he said.

Dr. Justin F. Kircho, who conducts a leper mission in Palestine, spoke briefly of the work in which he is engaged. A collection amounting to $35 was taken in behalf of the mission.

At the conclusion of the service the veterans marched to the city hall and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Thompson.

A GREAT GATHERING

Crowds Looked for at the Armories on Wednesday Evening Next.

Wednesday evening, it is expected, will witness one of the largest gatherings of patriotic citizens that has ever assembled in the city of London. The doors of the armories on Dundas street will open at 7:30 p.m., and the display of the different countries represented in the "Trip Around the World" will present a brilliant spectacle.

A specially attractive feature of Wednesday, the opening night, will be a Scotch concert, under the direction of Mr. Cyril Dwight-Edwards, the city's greatest baritone. The Scotch pipers will assist, and an interesting and unique programme will be carried out.

Every citizen of London interested in the welfare of the city should encourage the Daughters of the Empire by attending the opening evening's entertainment.

ROMANCES OF SUCCESS

First Time the Story of Slater's Success Has Been Told.

The Canadian Magazine this month celebrates the postal route of all the American magazines coming into Canada by a timely article on a great Canadian commercial achievement. The June number of the magazine is very interesting. Under the heading of "A Romance of Success in the Shoe Trade," a writer tells briefly the story of the birth and growth of the Slater Shoe Company, and relates in most interesting fashion how Charles E. Slater conceived the idea on which the business attained such astonishing success.

The Man with the Idea can always claim to possess greater and surer riches than he who discovers a gold or silver mine.

For the Wedding.

If it is to be a festive occasion there should be delicate refreshments. This costs 50 cents for a dozen packages, and one will contain enough of the tiny scraps of colored paper to convert the house into a home of broken rainbows.

For sale at the Red Star News Company, 8 Market Lane, London, Ont.

CORPUS CHRISTI IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Celebrated in Usual Manner on Sunday—An Impressive Sight.

In the Catholic churches of this city the Feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated in the customary manner on Sunday by the carrying of the sacrament in procession.

At St. Peter's Cathedral high mass was celebrated at 10:30 a.m. by Rev. Father O'Neil, assisted by Father Simoni, an Italian priest, as deacon, and Father White as sub-deacon. At the conclusion of the ceremony the procession was formed, with Father Aylward as master of ceremonies.

First came about 40 children, who had made their first communion at the 8 o'clock mass, the little girls dressed in spotless white, and wearing wreaths and veils. The boys were dressed in dark clothes and wore white gloves.

Next came the confirmation class, and they were followed by the children of the separate schools who belong to the church of St. Peter, the members of the sodalities, St. Anne's Society and members of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the O. M. B. A.

The host was carried by Rev. Father O'Neil, under a canopy, the priest being accompanied by Fathers Simoni and White, and preceded by a number of acolytes.

The procession proceeded to Richmond street, thence to Dufferin avenue, along Dufferin avenue to the main entrance, and into the cathedral again.

Large numbers of the faithful watched the solemn procession, and as the host passed the devoutly knelt on the lawn. The ceremony was brought to a close by the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

At St. Mary's Church the host was carried by Rev. Father McKean.

Father Simoni preached in Italian to the Italian members of St. Peter's congregation Sunday night.

It was announced that during the three summer months—June, July and August—no sermons will be preached.

IS THE BIBLE THE WORD OF GOD?

Rev. J. J. Ross Deals With Some Present-Day Theological Problems.

Last night Rev. J. J. Ross, of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, began a special series of five sermons upon "Present-day Theological Problems," taking as his first subject, "Is the Bible the Word of God?"

Of course, this question was answered most emphatically in the affirmative by six strong arguments. "In the first place," said the speaker, "let me say that the Bible is seen to be God's word from the fact that it possesses a supernatural and exhaustive knowledge of the soul and life of man. It is described as a revelation of God's mind as applied in judgment and grace to the heart and conscience of the sinner, being living, active and sharper than the two-edged sword to pierce, divide and deliver."

"The Bible is shown to be the word of God, because it has power to satisfy the needs of man. Neither Socrates nor Seneca sets forth the origin, nature, and results of sin as committed against the holiness of God. Neither did they, therefore, point out the way of pardon or renewal, but the Bible, when applied by the Holy Spirit, is infinitely superior to these teachers, in that it shows a man that he is wrong, puts him right, and then confirms him in the right."

The Bible is shown to be God's word from the fact that the morality it inculcates and the literary style it presents, have never been superseded or surpassed by what came after. Many of its precepts antedate by hundreds of years the oldest book ever written. The work of preceding generations has always been improved upon by succeeding generations. The Bible has never been, and never can be set aside or surpassed.

The Bible is seen to be God's word from the fact its reaches are boundless and altogether beyond fathoming. Like God in his essential nature, springs of life and purpose, and the infinite workings of his grace, its depths are beyond sounding by the finite mind. Other books are not fully understood, but the Bible, never.

Again the Bible is seen to be the word of God from the fact that, notwithstanding its differences of human authorship, there is a unity pervading the different books which makes plain that the different men were controlled and inspired by the one supreme mind.

There are 66 books, 38 writers, covering a period 1,700 years, and yet the Bible is a perfect unity.

Finally, the Bible is seen to be the word of God also from the fact that the book itself, throughout the ages, has been indestructible. Voltaire pronounced that in a hundred years there would not be a copy of the Bible in existence. That hundred years is long past, and there are millions more editions now than there were when that prediction was uttered. The very press which that prophecy was printed in is now the property of the Bible Society, and is used in printing the Eternal Book. Men are mad when they say the Bible can be destroyed.

Seeing that the Bible is the word of God, what should be our attitude toward it? Let us believe it, study it, obey it, protect it, preach it, and all the blessings promised shall be ours.

"Whence but from heaven could men be unskilled in arts."

In several ages, born in several parts, Weave such agreeing truths; or how, or why, Should all conspire to cheat us with a lie?

Unasked their pains, ungrateful their advice, Starving their gains, and martyrdom their price.

We meet all competition. Do not be misled by false promises. R. F. Smythe, 212 Dundas Street, London, Ont.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Mary Mannering will be seen at the Grand, next Thursday, in a romantic comedy, written by Rida Johnson Young. This new play has for its central figure that radiant belle of yesterday, Betsy Patterson, whose beauty and ambition made for her one of the most remarkable careers ever maintained by an American woman.

From the position of a Baltimore belle, whose wit, pride and rather daring independence, made her the admiring comment of all fashionable society in America, she sprang suddenly into international notice by her marriage with Jerome Bonaparte, the brother of Napoleon, just at the time when he was declared Emperor of the French.

In writing "Glorious Betsy," its author does not go into the darker side of Betsy's life, but deals with those days where her name was the toast of every gathering of note from Baltimore to New Orleans. It takes us back to the old Sweet Springs of Virginia, when that resort was the gathering place for the best in wealth and culture and beauty of which America could boast.

Miss Mannering is supported by the following well-known players: Messrs. Robert Warwick, Herbert Carr, H. S. Hadfield, James A. Dickson, William Bonelli, Edward Trevor, Misses Adora Andrews, Maud Hosford, Gertrude Clemens, Clarence Williams, George Christy, Stanley Jessup.

The Shuberts who are directing Miss Mannering's tour have given the play a scenic investiture that cannot be equaled on any stage.

ABRUZZI'S RANK WORRIED GOTHAM

Even the Italian Consulate Did Not Know How to Place the Prince.

New York, June 1. — The army and navy are in the throes of a vexatious dispute over the rank of the Duke d'Abruzzi, the visiting Italian nobleman and scion of royalty, who is being wine and dined by both branches of the military, his countrymen and the bon ton of the city.

Every one seems to have taken it for granted that a royal personage could not be anything in either the army or the navy of a grade less than that of admiral or general. The newspapers have been calling the duke an admiral.

Gen. Grant yesterday ordered a salute of seventeen guns fired in honor of the duke, to whom a reception was given on Governor's Island, in the afternoon.

Why seventeen guns. Is the question. If the duke had been invited to attend the reception as royalty, a salute of eighteen, or twenty-one guns, for that matter, should have been fired. Seventeen guns are for a general in the army, and the information was received from the Italian consulate that the duke has nothing whatever to do with the army.

Perhaps Changed His Uniform.

However, one report had it that the duke changed his naval uniform for a uniform of an Italian general while he was making the trip from the ships to Governor's Island. It cannot be learned, though, whether the duke made this lightning change out of politeness to the American general who had ordered a salute to which he was not entitled as a naval officer, or whether he carried with him an assortment of commissions and uniforms to accommodate himself to varying circumstances.

When the Italian consulate was called up on the phone, and the caller asked: "What is his rank, anyway?" the reply was, "Just a moment, please; hold the wire."

While the curious one held down the wire, he could hear the question repeated to a colleague to him who answered the call.

"What! A captain—flagship captain? A commodore? I'm not sure; let's look in the directory."

Fail To Find It.

And evidently the two turned to an Italian-English lexicon to search for an equivalent to the Italian title. Finally one of them returned to the phone and said:

"Hello! We are not sure what his rank is in English. We think it is next to the rear admiral. We have tried to find the word in the dictionary, but have failed."

"Well, what is the Italian title?" "Capitano di vascello."

"Vascello is vessel or ship, isn't it?"

"Oh! No; something more than a ship."

This terminated the telephonic conversation with the Italian consulate and the curious one is still wondering what the duke's rank is. If he's captain, he's not entitled to any salute whatever. If he's in command of "something more than a ship," he may be entitled to a couple of guns, at least. There is no question, however, as to his right to a royal salute; but this has not yet been accorded him.
