Black and Son Won the Action

Attorney General's Department Was Defendant—Other Cases in Supreme Court

At the resumed sittings of the non-jury court before Chief Justice Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, which was unfinished last week, the following cases were disposed of, finishing the list which was a very heavy one and the court closed at six o'clock last night.

Ort vs Ort

The plaintiff and defendant are husband and wife. About twenty years ago the plaintiff's mother promised to give her a piece of land to build a house on, so the daughter would be living near her. When the deed of the land was given the plaintiff alleged, owing to the persuasion and influence of her husband, she consented to its being in the name of herself and her husband jointly, and since then she had given a mortgage on the property at her husband's request to supply necessaries for the home when she was sick and weak. She had since paid with her own money which one of her sons had given her. That she had kept boarders, doing all the work and washing and mending for them and in this way had saved some money which she used in building and repairs on the property. Lastly the husband became so abusive and ill-treated her so badly that she could not live with him, and she had to leave the property. It was held that she was the owner and entitled to the mortgage which she had paid. After hearing the evidence His Lordship reserved judgment, advising the parties in the meantime to try and agree to differences. E. Guss Porter, K.C. and C. A. Payne for plaintiff; W. C. Michel, K.C. for defendant.

Parry vs Parry

This case we noticed when tried last week when judgment was reserved. It involved the interpretation of the will of Caleb Parry, who died about sixty years ago leaving the front 100 acres of his farm to his son W. H. Parry, and the rear 50 acres to his son Lester and giving Lester a right of way over the land given to W. H. Parry to go to and from his land. The parties to the action are grandsons of Caleb Parry and succeeded to the lands on the death of their father. The plaintiff kept the right of way to keep his cattle in and the defendant in passing would not shut up the bars but threw them over the fence.

Judgment was given in which His Lordship held in favour of the defendant in not putting up the bars after using them was unreasonable and unlawful and that using the bars as the plaintiff did was no substantial interference with the defendant's right of way, which he must use subject to the plaintiff's reasonable user of his farm and awarding the plaintiff an injunction restraining the defendant from further repetition of his wrongful conduct in putting up the bars when he used them together with $5.00 damages and costs of action. E. Guss Porter, K.C. for plaintiff; Wm. Carnew for defendant.

Black vs. Attorney General

This was an action on the petition of W. Black & Son of this city against the Attorney General of Ontario, representing the sales branch of the fish and game department of the Ontario government.

The plaintiffs claim they had made a contract to act as correspondents for the department and to collect pack ice and ship fish caught by fishermen in the Bay of Quinte and by the Dominion Thurlow Fish Hatchery on certain terms of payment. The defendants denied the contract alleged by plaintiffs and set up a different contract whereby the plaintiffs would be entitled to much less and that it had paid the plaintiffs in full.

Judgment was given the plaintiffs for the full amount of their claim, $875 and costs of the action. E. Guss Porter, K.C. for plaintiffs; J. E. Lawson, Toronto, for Attorney General.

NELSON PARLIAMENT, M. P. P. WILL BE THE NEW SPEAKER

Announcement Made in Toronto Today That Popular Member for Prince Edward Will be Named by Government for Election to the Speakership.

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—Nelson Parliament, Liberal, M.P.P. for Prince Edward, has been selected by the Drury Government for election as speaker in the new Ontario Legislature. Premier Drury has issued a denial of the assertion that Major Thomas Kennedy, elected for Peel, was offered a Government position if he would retire from his seat in the Legislature, in favor of Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Parliament was elected in Prince Edward by 946 ma-who had been selected by the Drury Government for the Speakership of the Ontario Legislature.

...He was the nominee of the Liberal party and had their full support but he also had the loyal support of the United Farmers, whose platform is practically identical with that adopted by the Liberals at their June convention. Mr. Parliament, with his five years of legislative experience, will make an ideal appointee for the speakership. He is popular with all shades of political opinion in the House and has the tact and level-headed judgment essential for such a position.

Situation in the Coal Strike

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Further disruption of national industry because of fuel shortage brought about the strike of bituminous coal miners was in prospect today. Regional directors of railroads had authority to suspend passenger trains where the public would be least inconvenienced and many additional manufacturing plants throughout the country faced a shut-down either through lack of coal supplies or strict rationing decreed by fuel administrators. Only in isolated instances were there reports of a change of front on the part of the miners generally. The workers adhered to their attitude of remaining away from the mines until better terms than those decreed by the government were forthcoming. Optimistic reports come from the district embracing south-eastern Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, where the operators claim the back bone of the strike has been broken.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3.—The resolution of difficulties arising out of the international affair with the United States was entrusted to President Carranza without legislative intrusion by the Senate at a secret session yesterday. Relations with the U. S. were declared to be very delicate.

LEAVING OUT THE EXECUTIVE

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Blee, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

While it is only too true that President Wilson failed to take the senate into his confidence, and did not obey the spirit of the federal constitution regarding the contents of the peace treaty...

Senator Lodge, majority leader of the senate, at the closing hours of the session, when the treaty had been defeated, introduced a concurrent resolution declaring peace with Germany as a token that the Versailles peace treaty was dead in so far as the senate was concerned.

Article one, section seven, clause three of the federal constitution, sets forth: "Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary..."

It is claimed by Mr. Lodge and other opponents of the peace treaty that, "as congress has the sole right of declaring war, so it has the sole right of declaring peace."

The Guelph Herald says "Spiritualism appears to be having a splendid revival. That there is a great deal in the unseen world we do not understand."

If the political leaders of the two parties have determined that the Versailles peace treaty—the League of Nations covenant in particular—is an appealing issue for the presidential campaign of next year, we fear that there will be no real peace until after the election and the inauguration of a new president.

On the other hand, the party leaderships shall conclude in the next two or three weeks, that it would be well, as a political policy, to have the question out of the way this winter, then a compromise can be reached at the regular session next month.

So far the moves made on the board dealing with the international issue have been extremely partisan—political—and little else. This applies to the conduct of both parties. The Democratic leaders in the senate were bent, not on compromise, but on forcing the Wilson treaty through the senate "without interpretation or reservation."

They so manipulated their cards that at the close, the Republican senators, (with a single exception) were united for the Lodge program of reservations, besides having the support of seven or eight Democratic members in their policy of reservation or defeat.

An element among the senate Republicans sought for a long time to maintain this international issue as free as possible from partisanship, this in spite of the conduct of the national executive, throughout the war and after the armistice, in confining himself to his own party and to his particular favorite. But as Mr. Wilson's power declined, the Republican party solidified, until toward the close all divisions accepted the Lodge leadership. The law of politics is largely the law of the pack and when the leader goes down he is run over in the scramble. The "mild reservationists" in the Republican ranks are not to be blamed; upon the whole they received cold comfort from those they sought to work with on the administration side. In the vote for ratification of the covenant with the reservations, 35 Republicans voted for it, and the Democrats, with four exceptions, all voted against it.

Should the international document become the supreme issue in the presidential campaign of next year, to the exclusion of domestic affairs, the line-up will not be as it was in pre-war times. Republican leaders are looking for the support of forces that in other years went to the Democratic party. Racial factors will count more than usual. The pro-German, pro-Sinn Feinn, the pro-D'Annunzio, the pro-Greek are all opposed to the peace treaty and pray for its defeat. What of the American?

Mr. Flint on Spiritualism

Dear Sir,—

The Guelph Herald says "Spiritualism appears to be having a splendid revival. That there is a great deal in the unseen world we do not understand." Are those who have got in touch with their friends on earth? Do they exert influences for good or ill upon surviving friends? Sir Conan Doyle said that if the church of England did not move towards recognizing spiritualism, steps would be taken to break away from the established church.

On Friday evening a taxi driver of Kingston had the misfortune to have his car skid badly at the corner of Sydenham and William Sts. Both the front wheels were broken off at the splines and the front of the car was half way across the sidewalk on Sydenham street.

in and dwell there" what divine precept or law can we evoke to declare that what Holy writ declares happened in former days may not happen now? There is no such law—Every nation no matter how ignorant or debased, but believe in spirits and ghosts that appear. Ancient and modern literature, teem with accounts of spirits appearing. Hundreds of volumes have been written giving accounts of spiritual manifestations.

Why is all this talk and great pains taken to convince people of the truth of spiritualism? There is no person living who has not been robbed by death of a friend. "Friend after friend departs."

Who hath not lost a friend? There is no union here of hearts. That hath not here an end. Rachel mourning for her children because they are not. Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters wives, and husbands weep bitter tears over the graves of loved ones. It is said, could we hear the shrieks of agony ascending in but one day, on account of deaths, that our death would follow. Our hearts could not endure the horror. If then can we believe that as long as we live we are not dead.

There is no death! What seems transition! This life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life elysian. Whose portal, we call death. In that great cloisters stillness and seclusion. By guardian angels led. Safe from temptation, safe from sins pollution. They live whom we call dead.

Believing in immortality should we not welcome a belief which promises us communion with our loved ones? Of course frauds and deceptions abound.

This is to be expected. But aside from this we cannot set aside the opinions and verdicts of many of the greatest scientists in the world, who declare from critical examination, that communication with departed spirits does take place, as it did on the occasions referred to in this brief letter. This belief robs death of its terrors.

George Augustus Lala one of the greatest literateurs of the country the friend of Charles Dickens, Thackeray and the greatest writers wrote in the evening of his life these words "If Providence has gifted you with a cheerful temperament, the older you grow, and the nearer you approach the tomb the more does death lose its horror and seems to you a friend, rather than a foe."

Over and over again have I said that I do not believe in death; that decay, and dissolution are only the beginning of a new phase of life; that death is only a door that keeps the light which is eternally beyond, and as the door approaches nearer and nearer to us, our old eyes can see the light becoming through the key hole, and streaming over the threshold.

Yours truly, J. B. Flint.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY

Rice Lake is Already Frozen Over.

Licut. Gov., Lived in Kingston.

The appointment of Lionel H. Clarke of Toronto as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario comes as a surprise to most people. It goes to prove that democracy has come to stay in Canada. It is also a case of another former resident of Kingston coming to the front and proving his worth. For several years Mr. Clarke has been prominent in business circles in Toronto, and is one of Toronto's captains of industry.

Rice Lake is Frozen Over.

"Rice Lake is frozen over and the ducks are all gone." This is the message the Examiner has received from Harwood. That was on the night of the 25th, and it would seem to foretell an early winter, for Rice Lake is always the last of the lakes to freeze up. As for the ducks—well who wouldn't leave for the Sunny South if all one had to do was to get mamma duck and all the little ducks off to a good start and make for the Mason-Dixie line. Peterboro Examiner.

Almost Serious Accident.

On Friday evening a taxi driver of Kingston had the misfortune to have his car skid badly at the corner of Sydenham and William Sts. Both the front wheels were broken off at the splines and the front of the car was half way across the sidewalk on Sydenham street. Luckily no one was hurt as they most certainly would have been had the car turned over. There were no chains on the wheels which is a great mistake at this time of the year when the roads are almost certain to be very slippery. If motorists will not put chains on their cars, they should at least drive slowly and at least lessen the danger a little to themselves as well as other people.

Arrested for Burglary.

Charged with robbing the second hand store owned by Thomas Johnston early yesterday morning, Terence McGuire was last night arrested by Constable Thomas Foster and lodged in the cells at the police station to await a hearing this afternoon. It is stated by the police that McGuire was seen coming out of a gate at the rear of the Johnston store shortly after midnight yesterday morning carrying under his arm a bundle of clothing. The owner of the store yesterday morning reported to the police that his loss included a lady's dogskin coat, several pairs of rubbers, two suits of clothes besides other articles. Some of the stolen goods were found in McGuire's possession.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Will Meet the Premier.

John A. Derbyshire vice-president for Eastern Ontario of the Hydro Electric Association, received a message this morning from T. J. Hanigan Guelph, secretary of the association announcing that Premier Drury would receive the Hydro delegation at the Parliament buildings, Toronto, on December 12 at 11 o'clock. The gathering is for the purpose of discussing the Hydro matters with Hon. Mr. Drury.—The Brockville Recorder and Times.

Quarantine at Ogdensburg.

Limited quarantine against small pox reported in Ontario went into effect at Ogdensburg on Friday by direction of the United States Health Service. This was announced as a precaution against possible spread of the disease from across the border.

Pembroke Lumber Cut.

The sawmill season in Pembroke has just about reached its end. The Colonial Lumber Company has closed for the year, while the Pembroke Lumber company will suspend operations as soon as the first ice takes on the river. Each of the mills has cut about 20,000,000 feet of lumber this year.

Residence Burned.

The house near Unionville Cheese Factory near Picton owned by Mrs. Geo. Benson, of Picton and occupied by Mr. Wm. Huff burned completely on Tuesday evening last. The cause of the fire was the accidental upsetting of a lamp by Mrs. Huff. Before help could arrive the house was in flames. The house and contents were a complete loss and were partially insured.

Let off With Warning.

Four local citizens appeared at police court yesterday afternoon charged with neglecting to send their children to school. They were let off with the warning that unless the children attend school regularly in the future severe action will be taken against them.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Scarlet Fever Cases.

It is reported that Kingston is pretty fortunate respecting contagious and infectious diseases so far this season. There have been quite a number of cases of scarlet fever but with little or no mortality. There has not been one case of smallpox reported in this vicinity.

Pay Day for Military.

Saturday the members of the permanent force were paid. The men are all paid by cheque and are paraded to the Bank of Montreal for the purpose of cashing the same. The parade to the men is not as painful to the men as church parades, and they do not complain at all about it.

Unwelling of Tablet.

The unwelling of the tablet erected in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, to the memory of Lt. Hugh Norton Taylor, of the 21st Battalion, who was killed at Corecote, took place at the 11 a.m. service in the cathedral on Sunday. The members of the 21st Battalion were invited to attend.

Are Improving Ferry.

The new steamer Prescott of the Prescott and Ogdensburg Ferry Co., is undergoing extensive alterations and will soon be ready for service. The cabins have been greatly enlarged and will now be equal to any reasonable demand. It is possible the vessel will not see service on the Prescott-Ogdensburg route until spring.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Clearing Walks of Snow.

The Almonte sidewalks are to be cleared of snow before seven o'clock on the mornings when there is a snowfall. This was decided at a meeting of the town council. The Kingston council has decided that clearing of the sidewalks with snow plough would not do in this city.

Will Unveil Window.

A window in the memory of the late Lieutenant-Colonel J. Vincent R. O'Donoghue, B.S.O., who died of wounds received while acting as officer commanding the 87th Battalion Canadian Grenadier Guards, will be unveiled in Our Lady chapel, St. Patrick's church, Montreal to-morrow morning. Lieutenant-Colonel O'Donoghue was a son of the late John C. O'Donoghue of this town.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Made Thrilling Rescue.

William Leach of Cape Vincent and Grover Baker and Harvey Thompson of Watertown N.Y., had a thrilling experience. They started out Thursday on a trip to Kingston They got a motor boat and crossed to Wolfe Island, but found the canal was frozen over. The ice cut a portion of the bottom of the boat completely off and they were left stranded on a submerged floating bog for more than three hours before rescued by two lads with a boat.

Caught with Oidium.

Soo Toy, caught in an Ottawa Chinese grocery store with oidium in his possession was fined $202 in police court. On his behalf A. C. Fleming said Soo Toy when apprehended had been on the way to Vancouver en route to his home in China and had only stopped off a day or two to visit friends. Inspector McLaughlin spoiled the effect of the plea by remarking that Soo Toy had been informed upon by some of his compatriots; when arrested had declared someone had put the poppy in his pocket unknown to him.

Selected Rhodes Scholar.

Captain Sherwood Lett, M. C. son of the late Rev. F. G. Lett, a well known Methodist minister and grand son of the late William Sherwood, barrister, Brockville, has been selected Rhodes Scholar for British Columbia for 1919. Capt. Lett is a graduate of McGill college of British Columbia and went overseas in 1916 joining the 46th Battalion in France. Since his return from the front Capt. Lett has been president of the Alumni Society of the University of British Columbia.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

A few coppers were stolen but otherwise no depredations were committed. The boys were seen leaving the building and it is likely that arrest will soon follow.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Coal Supply Assured.

The steamer Harvey J. Kendall is in port with a cargo of four-hundred and twenty tons of stave and chestnut coal consigned to the W.B. Reynolds coal co. This is the last cargo of coal expected here this season by water but despite the pronounced shortage throughout the entire continent Brockvillians can rest easy as it is stated that there is a sufficient supply of hard coal and soft coal already in town to carry the community through till spring.—Brockville Recorder & Times.

Bobtail Reserve Sold to Soldiers

Balloting for Farms on Former Indian Property Takes Place at Edmonton.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—It is announced by The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada that balloting took place at Edmonton recently for the 33 parcels of land in the Bobtail Indian Reserve, near Ponoka, Alberta. This reserve was purchased from the Indians by the government and turned over to the board for soldier settlement. There were 81 applicants. Twenty-five parcels were sold at prices ranging from $8. to $20. per acre. This was considerably below values of adjacent properties.

The first ticket fell to J. W. Kerr, and he secured his parcel for $18. per acre. The whole reserve comprises 6,619 acres of good agricultural land. The system of drawing was the same as used at the opening of the Porcupine reserve, the ballots being placed in a churn and an outsider making the draw.

Explorers Leave for the Jungle

In search of apes and a jungle tribe of wharfs, Carveth Wells and Marshall McIvor leave Canada for the jungles of the Malay Archipelago.

Darwin tells us that we all come from Apes, and it is a wonderful fact that there exists to-day in the Malay Jungles a tribe of dwarfs called Semang, who in many respects are not so far advanced as the Orang Outang of Borneo, that immense ape with long red hair.

The missing link is no longer missing. The fossil remains of a creature intermediate between the Ape and Man, known as the Pithecanthropus Erectus, has actually been discovered in the jungles of Malay.

Polar expeditions under the conditions described by Steffansson is a holiday compared with the jungle explorer.

Whereas intense cold and polar bears constitute the chief danger in Arctic exploration, death in a thousand different forms lurks in the eternal gloom of a tropical jungle. Tigers and tarantulas, scorpions and centipedes, huge snakes like the thirty foot Python and the twelve foot Hamadryad of King Cobra the most dreaded reptile in the world, because it is the only one that attacks without provocation; crocodiles, panthers, rhinoceros and elephants are merely examples of what awaits the intruder in one of the jungles.

It is not generally known that in India alone over 20,000 people are killed by snakes annually, 800 by tigers, 400 by panthers and more than 100,000 head of cattle carried off by tigers.

But the most dreaded death in Malay is from the tiny poisoned dart shot from the blowpipe of the little dwarfs that these explorers intend to seek.

Standing only 4ft. 6in. in height these little jungle men move with remarkable agility through the densest jungle, being almost as much at home in the trees as on the ground where they sleep.

Mr. Carveth Wells has already spent six years in the jungle exploring for the British Government. Mr. Marshall McIvor is the son of G. C. McIvor, of Avonhurst, Sask., one of the oldest Canadian pioneers.

The men intend to cross the Malay Peninsula at its widest part, on foot, returning to Canada via India and Egypt, thus making a complete circuit of the world.

FORMER CAMPBELLFORD RESIDENT PASSED AWAY.

The death occurred at Cannifton of Thomas Bell, a former well known resident of Campbellford, after an illness of some duration. The subject of this sketch was born in Seymour, 83 years ago on the farm now owned by Mr. Garnet Curie. The early part of his life was spent in farming. For a time he occupied a part of the farm now owned by Mr. John Locke. After leaving the farm he went to California where he spent a few years, returning to Campbellford where he was employed as policeman and night watchman and later as street foreman. He went from here to Peterboro, removing about 18 years ago to Cannifton, where he spent the remainder of his days.

In 1869 the late Mr. Bell married Sarah Archer, who died two years ago. Two daughters survive, Miss Carrie, at home, and Miss Zaida, graduate nurse in Weston hospital. Of a family of twelve brothers and sisters three survive, Henry, of Vancouver, Mrs. Boyd, of Sault Ste. Marie and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, of town. The late Mr. Bell was a member of the Methodist Church and was highly respected.

The remains were brought here for burial, the funeral being held from the home of Mr. Robt. S. Bell. Rev. H. B. Kenny conducted the service, the remains being interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery.—Campbellford Herald.

An Open Letter

(From the Bracebridge Gazette)

To Mr. E. G. Drury,
Premier of Ontario.

Dear Sir—
For several days you have been very much in my mind. As you have been in the minds of all Ontario people many of us are more than pleased at the turn of events that placed you where you are. We have great confidence in you, a confidence resulting from your undoubted ability, democratic principles and intimate knowledge of our needs.

From the many columns written about you since the famous 20th of October we all know you were born on a 250 acre farm at Crown Hill where your distinguished father and your grandfather lived and worked before you. It is a good many years since your home was pointed out to me as the home of Hon. Chas. Drury, Minister of Agriculture. It is a beautiful place amid many other beautiful places. It was a blessing (great) to have been born there, the son of a distinguished man. We are told you are a very capable farmer as well as a deep thinker and gifted orator; you are told you can do your best thinking when following the plow. You are familiar with agriculture in all its phases as conducted on the best farms of Ontario. You understand all about crops and soils and fertilizers and feeders and cattle. You have gone to Toronto to feel sure, because you know yourself possessed of essential knowledge and because you believe you can use knowledge to the general good.

It is a great pleasure to me to be able to congratulate you upon achieving so high a position for the reason apart from those already mentioned that only two short years ago you were receiving some of the same as myself because you dared without stand or oppose the group who are now holding sway at Ottawa. The results that were hurled at you were also hurled at me. The fact of having been fellows in adversity gives me an added pleasure in your success.

So I thought you would take in good part any suggestions I might make, especially as you cannot be expected to be familiar with all parts of Ontario. You have taken great pains to inform yourself on all matters pertaining to duties on implements, value of open markets, co-operative marketing, improvement of roads, and all interests of farmers who do farming as you have done it and as you have seen it done. Tell me, did you ever see much of life on farms that are quite unlike the Drury farm at Crown Hill?

Have you seen much of farming where a plowman could do very little deep thinking on politics, religion, tariffs, and other questions pertaining to this world and the next while holding the plow and guiding the team? Have you ever plowed the side of a hill that sloped to 45 degrees and abounded in boulders, rocks and stumps? Have you ever contemplated agricultural possibilities while trying to pull back a plow that had got wedged behind two pine roots? Did you ever figure out "Proportional Representation" just after your plow had struck a rock and driven the handle into your ribs? Probably not. Your grandfather cleared your fields of stumps and stones. That does not mean you have not worked hard but it does mean you have not had to work at such disadvantage.

Well, Mr. Drury you are now Premier of a Province that has nearly thousands of good farms like yours but has also some thousands quite unlike it. I feel that the first aim of a really good premier should be to legislate for the benefit of those who have least, those whose labor produces least, those who have most to contend with. I spent a night recently on a farm where the owner had just sold some twenty or more Holstein cattle at an average price of over $700 a head. You realize of course, that such a man can live very comfortable no matter whether or his school taxes are seven mills or five; no matter whether the duty on overalls is ten per cent, or fifty per cent. But I can show you farms, Mr. Drury, where in winter time you can see only one or two or three lean scrub cattle hunched up beside a little log stable which with a very small and carefully protected stack of hay represents that farmer's all. It is not necessary for me to go into details; just ask the talented Farmer - Preacher who represents North Victoria and I venture he can give you details.

There are thousands of fine men who are struggling on farms under very different conditions than prevail at Crown Hill. So far nothing has been done for them. Many have sacrificed all that years of hard work gained and have gone to the prairies many more would go if they could. It is no light thing for a man to go away and leave what has cost him the best part of his life. It is up to you to see that those people get a fairer deal than they ever got before.

People in poor settlements live far apart and there are but few families in a school section. They are not able to pay high taxes and therefore offer but inferior accommodations, therefore they only get teachers when all other schools are supplied. Thus the rising generation get away to a poor education start. The Province of Ontario owes good schools to all people in all places where the province has permitted settlements. These settlements are far from centres of population; therefore, far from medical care. It is the duty of the province to see that all persons are cared for in sickness. If one of those families has a case of diphtheria, the legal regulations very soon find them out and shut them up, lest they should spread the disease. But if it were not for fear of contagion, the present regulations would leave them to die. If one of them commits a crime, the Province spares no expense to hunt him up for punishment. When "King and Country" needed their grown sons to fight to save other's property, the scouts knew where to find them. But when a son is about to be born into the world the mother may die in her agony for all the care the province takes of her. Why, I saw a young fellow brought to town and fined a dollar and costs for lamming another fellow on the jaw; just a little scrap. Yet the witnesses had to come so far and the summons had to be sent so far that it cost the young fellow $40 to pay a dollar fine. Is that fair, Mr. Drury?

What should be done? Those who stay should be looked after and provided with proper schools proper environment generally. If this is not practicable, they should be induced to move and assisted in moving. There are good farms in old Ontario not being worked to half capacity for want of help. There is good labor being wasted on sandy, rocky, stumpy land in other parts. A good government would bring the good land and the good workers together. The C. P. R. has taken many families and moved them on credit away to the West where they could get a start. I have not heard that the C.P.R. has lost a dollar doing it. A man in old Ontario with two hundred acres and only labor enough to work one hundred and will not sell one hundred to a man who has not any money. Yet if that man could get possession of the hundred acres he would soon be able to pay for it. Why cannot the rich province of Ontario help poor families to get started on those idle farms? It may be asked why those men do not go and hire on the good farms. In the first place, the owners will not pay them enough to enable them to live and support their families. Even while out helping some of your supporters in the recent election I saw splendid farms not producing to one quarter capacity. I know it would pay the owners to compete with town employers for help, but they will not do it. They paid from $18 to $30 a month for men so many years that it has become part of their religion to pay no more. Therefore the farms are going to waste.

One thing you need to do Mr. Drury is to start an educational campaign in your best townships to teach young fellow farmers to loosen up. One of your U. F. O. men told me last summer how many dollars he made off a field of sweet clover seed. It was so much that I have forgotten but I know I would lose my reputation for truthfulness anyway if I told it. Yet many of your farmers, because they cannot hire men at or about the old starvation scale of wages, are letting good help drift to the towns and cities. Yes, Mr. Drury you need a Minister of Education who will establish an effective system of education for grownups as well as for children. With apples selling from $6 to $10 a barrel thousands of once good orchards are producing but little because the owners cannot get hired help at $28 a month and board, to drive a team and therefore the orchards are being neglected while the owners are doing what active young hired men could do better. Your own fellow-members would make this criticism, so I as part farmer and part newspaper writer, and candidly outspoken am telling you.

We were somewhat surprised at your choice of Attorney General. We were looking so expectantly for Mr. Nickel or Mr. Waldron that the appointment of Mr. Raney came as a surprise. I was talking to some of the boys here and they have the impression Mr. Raney is a kind of a fanatic. They seem to think he would let province go how-wows, your supporters are quite anxious about Mr. Raney's influence. They are so-better temperate men but they do think it possible to go too far in trying to send people to Heaven by an Act of Parliament.

It is understood you and your associates are very anxious for a "back to the land" movement. It takes more than good money to keep young folks on the farm. There must be something that will prevent the young fellows from sitting around on the shady side of the stable in their overalls every evening and all day Sunday. You have discouraged the village stores; you have insisted upon rural mail delivery; you have made yourselves so self-containing that you need seldom go off the farm. So you have made yourselves lonesome. No matter how it is done or how much it costs you simply must have to get more of the social life into farm life. The loneliness of it will queer all your plans. In "The Little Minister," I think it is, anyway in some good Presbyterian book, one sinful fellow says, "Heaven may be the place for climate, but it's Hell for company." You have now a Minister of Labor and are putting on another extra for mines. That is all right, I guess, but you need a minister of pleasure whose duty it will be to see that every school section has such a merry jovial life that young men and young women cannot be induced to leave home, and young men and young women from village town and city, will try to get jobs on the farms.

Yours very sincerely,
Geo. H. O. Thomas.

P. S.—Do not forget that Muskoka Lakes are one of Ontario's very greatest assets and that we simply must have better roads to reach them.

Johnson Graham Killed at Quarries

Johnson Graham, of Napanee, aged about 54 years, a workman, at the Point Anne Quarries met death by suffocation on Saturday afternoon in a chute below the railway bin. The chute had been stuck, perhaps frozen, and Mr. Graham went up on top to take a pole to loosen the material and open the chute. In some manner he slipped and fell into the cavity at the bottom of the chute. It may be that there was a vacancy beneath where he was standing which may have given away causing him to fall through. However the cavity was not large enough for his body to pass through. His feet and legs passed through, but he was caught at the hips. The greenlings in the bin closed in on top of him for a distance of seven or eight feet. Efforts were made to get him through from below, but without avail. Had the bin been filled with rock he might have escaped suffocation but as the contents were fine screenings he was smothered. It was nearly an hour and a quarter before he was recovered, the contents of the bin being run off by another chute and the screenings above him being shoveled off. He was quite dead. The accident occurred about 4.15 p.m.

Dr. W. W. Boyce, of this city was called, impelled a jury which will resume its sittings on Wednesday night at Point Anne.

The remains were taken to Napanee on Saturday night.

Graham leaves his wife and two grown-up children.

Tablet to the Fallen Brave

Impressive Unveiling at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church.

A very beautiful and impressive service was held Sunday afternoon at the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church when the tablet to the fallen heroes was unveiled. Over forty of the young men of the church went overseas to fight for the right and six of the finest of these young men laid down their lives for their country. The memorial service was held to honor these brave men and to keep their names before us lest we forget. The tablet was the gift of one of the members of the Sunday school.

Mr. P. C. McLaurin, superintendent of S.S. presided and read the 15th chapter of John. A tombstone solo was given by Mr. Cookson, after which pastor Wallace led in prayer. Mr. McLaurin made a few remarks on the reason for the service and spoke of the young man, Mr. Ronald Lewis played an organ solo and Mr. McLaurin called upon Mr. W. H. Merry to give an address. He spoke of those in history who had given their all for their country and said as their names were on the scroll of fame it was fitting we should honor our heroes. The choir then sang Kipling's Recessional, "Lest We Forget." Pastor Wallace was called upon for an address and based his remarks on the theme: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for a friend." The pastor referred to "the pride and grief we feel for the lads we have lost. They were taken in the flower of their youth, flushed with health and strength, beloved and loving, full of hope and promise. They were taken unawares and in the thick of battle, thinking as brave men do, not of death but of victory and their good cause. To those whose days have been darkened, it remains to go forward inspired by their cheerfulness and unselfishness and faith till our task is done and our rest is won. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend. Moses saw the Promised Land. We must "carry on" and "make good."

The hymns were all appropriate to the occasion: "Nearer My God to Thee," "For All the Saints Who From Their Labor Rest" and "O God Our Help in Ages Past." After prayer the service was brought to a close. All present will long remember this impressive service and the heroes who gave their all to their country.

The names of those on the scroll are Harold Frost, Raymond Hudson, Edward Townsend, Earl McCabe, Roy Buck and Carl Clark. They died for us.

Death From Sleeping Sickness

Stratford, Dec. 2.—The first death from sleeping sickness in this district occurred at Shakespears, when Hiram Gabel, aged twenty-eight, passed away after sleeping for nineteen days. He had at times appeared to partly rouse, but not enough at any time to eat, and was fed through the nose. Gabel was an employee at the Dominion Tire plant in Kitchener and was married a few months ago to Flossie Eliot of North Easthope.

Caron Accused As Assailant

Mr. William H. F. Ketcheson Suffers Severe Injuries.

Buffering with a broken nose and broken jaw, Lieut. William H. F. Ketcheson is confined to his bed under Dr. Robertson's care. This is the result of an attack on Mr. Ketcheson on Saturday midnight.

Stanley Caron, a young returned soldier is charged with the assault on Mr. Ketcheson, causing him actual bodily harm. He is also charged with intoxication.

At one o'clock Sunday morning, Sergt. Harman arrested Caron at the corner of Bridge and Front street.

The story as told the police is that Caron was found at the door of Mr. H. F. Ketcheson's office and that Mr. W. H. F. Ketcheson asked him if there was anything he could do for him. It is alleged Caron struck him in the face and on the jaw, inflicting the injuries of the broken jaw and nose.

Caron appeared before Magistrate Masson this morning. He was defended by Mr. W. C. Mikel, K.C., while Mr. E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P., is acting as private prosecutor in behalf of Mr. Ketcheson. The crown was not ready to proceed and Caron was remanded to Saturday on both charges.

Ball, Magistrate Masson said, would not be less than $5,000 in two instalments of $2,500 each.

We Are Puritans Says Lawyer

Youth Must Tell Where He Got the Booze.

A report reached the police station on Saturday night that Cook's cheese house, Albion Street, had been broken into by a young man. An investigation by an officer showed John Garrow, a young man, crouching behind some boxes. The officer said he was drunk and abusive.

This morning in police court Garrow was defended by Mr. W. C. Mikel. Garrow pleaded guilty to having been found in an intoxicated condition. Asked where he got his liquor he said he got it from a couple of returned men whom he did not know. Magistrate Masson said he had no right to drink on the street and that another charge might have been preferred against him.

County Court Appeal

McKenzie vs. Blue—Before R. Meredith C.J., Riddle, Middleton, Latchford and Britton, J.A.

This was an appeal from a judgment of the County Court of the County of Hastings by which it was held that buildings in question were plaintiff's and $75 damages were awarded plaintiff against defendant for removing the buildings together with costs.

The Appellate Division held the appeal with costs against plaintiff, holding that plaintiff had no property in the buildings and it was therefore, unnecessary to determine whether the plaintiff owned the buildings or no. W. Carnew for plaintiff, W. C. Mikel, K.C., for defendant.

Beer Caught on Last Day

Excitement Ran High At Gooderham When Deer Walked Into Village.

Lindsay, December 2.—The hunting season, made Gooderham very lively says the Minden Echo. As the various parties returned from the woods with their trophies for shipment to distant places in Canada, one would conclude that evidently fleet-footed traveller of the wilds had been captured. But on the last day of the hunt as the village was shrouded in darkness, a lone deer that had been overlooked swam across Burnt River leaped over Francis Raby's fence near the railroad track crossed his lot within a very few feet of the house, where he was caught by the horns in the barbed wire fence. The uproar created by the frantic deer to get free and the furious barking of "Bob" drew the attention of William Dovel, Bill and Norman Johnston, Francis Raby and Simon Hall. It was a furious battle with Bill Johnston's trusty jack-knife Will Dovel's great muscular strength help from the preacher's lantern the erstwhile runner and kicker lay dead at their feet. The strange thing about this circumstance is that Will Dovel county constable and crack shot of the north county had travelled 30 miles into the bush in the first week of hunting to get a shot at one of these animals but they made themselves scarce and now in the last hours of grace one of them defies him by coming right into the yard. He had not time to run back into the house for his precious rifle, but must engage in the conflict with his hands and take severe punishment from the hind foot of the horn caught prisoner as he could secure his haunch of venison.

Imrie, Alta., Dec. 1.—(Special)—Advised by her friends to use Dodd's Kidney Pills for heart trouble from which she has suffered for five years, Mrs. Marie Brewer, well-known and highly respected here, is telling how much she benefited from the treatment.

Heart trouble is nearly always caused by defective kidneys, which fall in their work of straining the impurities out of the blood. The work of the heart is made too hard when it has to propel blood thick with impurities to all parts of the body. The result is, of course, weakness and disease.

That Mrs. Brewer's trouble came from her kidneys is shown by her symptoms: "I suffered from rheumatism, gravel, stiffness of the joints, backache and headache," she states. "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I was nervous and my limbs swelled. My skin itched and burned at night. It was after a doctor had failed to cure me I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I must admit they did me a lot of good."

WHAT A NURSE FOUND

While making her visiting rounds at morning a nurse of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives discovered a particularly sad case.

On a dingy street, in a hovel which they called "home" she found a mother dying of consumption. The house was in a filthy condition, soiled garments, unwashed dishes, and food lay about, even in the bedroom itself there stood a loaf of bread and an uncovered bottle of milk.

Amidst it all two children played, both too young to help or realize that they would soon be left alone. The mother died before an ambulance could be summoned.

This is but typical of the waste of consumption; the poor are the special victims. Too ill to work they are unable to supply even the necessities of life. You will wish to help. This can best be done by assisting our Hospital work.

Contributions may be sent to Sir William Gage, 84 Spadina avenue, or George A. Reid, 223 College street, Toronto.

ALMOST A WHOLE FAMILY PERISH

Two sisters, sole survivors of a once happy family, greeted us pleasantly, as we visited in a sunny ward at the Muskoka Free Hospital.

The mother and several other members of the family had died of consumption, and the plague had marked these two girls also for its own; but fortunately they were found in time.

One of them said: "I feel the Hospital has done me a great deal of good; everything is lovely, and I like it awful well." The other: "I have gained twelve pounds, and think I will be able to go home for good in six months."

Such is the work of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. Thousands of grateful patients can testify to the help they have received therein. It costs a great deal of money to carry on the work. Will you help?

NEARLY 8,400 KILLED

In Ontario last year, the lives of 8,380 persons were claimed by consumption. This is all the more terrible because most of them might have been saved had they been helped in time.

Here is a case in point. Several years ago a man came to the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. He had been on Active Service in Africa, where hardship and exposure had broken down his health—suspecting of his symptoms he sought our aid. A short time ago he wrote: "Through your Hospital a soldier of the South African War regained his health and a family a happy home." This is not an isolated case for many others have been restored to health and anxious families. It takes much money to carry on the work. Your gift, for whatever amount, will be gratefully received.

A letter from Mr. MacLaurin was read telling of the visit of Dr. Dandeno, inspector of agriculture, to the school and also telling of the memorial scholarship fund and other matters pertaining to the high school.

The report of Dr. Dandeno, inspector of agriculture, was read. The inspector stated that there were 21 boys in the Lower School taking the agricultural course with Mr. Buntin as instructor. He found the work excellent. He recommended that the course be extended to include girls. He also expressed the opinion that the plot secured for experimental work was too shady.

A number of routine accounts, teachers' salaries, etc., were ordered paid.

The Finance Committee recommended that a telephone be placed in each public school under the supervision of the principal. The recommendation was approved by the Board.

An advertisement was read which had been placed in The Globe and The Mail advertising for plans for a new ten-room public school building. The Board decided also to advertise in The Canadian-Contract Record.

A report was read from the School Management Committee stating that Miss Allen had resigned and Miss Ida M. Jones had been engaged in her stead, duties to commence Jan. 7, 1920.

The request of the City Council for the use of the public schools for the next municipal election was granted.

A discussion took place over the recommendation of Dr. Dandeno that a suitable tablet be placed in the High School in memory of the former high school boys who fell in the Great War. There are thirty-four names.

The matter was referred to the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee to obtain designs, prices, etc., and report to the Board.

Principal MacLaurin reported that $1,700 had been realised in the canvass for funds for a memorial scholarship. They had purchased $2,000 in Victory bonds and he hoped before long to secure the remaining $300.

Mr. MacLaurin recommended that arrangements be made for the use of the Arena rink between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock for high school pupils.

A committee was appointed to consult with Mr. Arnett in reference to the use of the rink for public and high school pupils and for the arrangement of outdoor rinks at the various public schools.

It was decided to make the usual grant to the High School Athletic Association.

Professor Hunt's letter in reference to the teaching of singing and music in the schools was discussed at some length. Trustees MacFadyen and Bailey spoke strongly in favor of the introduction of singing and music in the curriculum.

A special committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. MacFadyen, Deacon, Sinclair and Inspector Clarke to inquire into the subject of music in the schools and report.

In response to Principal MacLaurin's request for a donation from the Board for prizes for the industrial night classes of $25 a month or $100 in all, a subscription was taken among the members and the $100 was raised in a few minutes.

A motion was carried giving the public and high schools permission to close on Friday, Dec. 19.

Trustee Marshall inquired how it was that Miss Percival was paid $650 when first hired, when the minimum salary was $600.

It was explained by the school management that Miss Percival had had six years' experience. The Board was empowered to pay more than $600 if it saw fit.

Trustee McGie spoke in favor of recommending that principals of the schools impress upon the pupils the necessity of being vaccinated.

Col. Marsh moved that the Board take memberships in the newly organized Board of Trade for school principals and inspectors. Mr. Sinclair seconded and endorsed the motion. A committee was appointed to inquire and report.

Several members expressed the opinion that it was not necessary for the City Council to have sidewalks constructed along the streets bordering Queen Alexandra School lot.

Trustee McCreary recommended the adoption of some standard form of scribbler and exercise book to be provided by the Board.

Inspector Clarke explained that some cities were already providing free text books.

A motion was carried appointing Mr. MacFadyen and Inspector Clarke a committee to inquire into the matter of free work books for the public schools of the city, ascertain costs, etc., and report.

A representative of Columbia Phonograph Co. exhibited a phonograph suitable for playing educational records in the schools and spoke of the importance of that means of education.

Pavement For More Streets

The G.T.R. baseball club favors the Wedden property as a site for an athletic field. This was stated in a letter from the club secretary to the City Council last evening.

Ald. Woodley reported on a meeting at Peterborough to consider Hydro rates. The Hydro charges per horsepower are as follows: Peterborough, $17.50; Lindsay, $17.50; Port Hope, $19.00; Belleville, $24. Plans were considered to see how power costs could be reduced. The extra charges are due to cost of transmission. The question is the owning of the power transmission lines. A meeting is to be held after New Year's.

Ald. Trevorton asked about the recovery of the balance due the city from Sophia Cohen. Ald. Woodley said the solicitor had said he had secured judgment against her. Some judgments were in ahead of Belleville's. The balance was some $1,000.

Those who attended the lecture in the City Hall last night by Y. E. Taplin, footwear specialist and manager of Natural Tread Shoes Limited, of Toronto, heard facts and figures relative to the unfortunate conditions of the feet of men, women and even children that were nothing short of a revelation.

This firm specializes in scientific footwear made on lasts in all widths and sizes and conforming in general lines to those of the normal foot and with these shoes have made a world-wide reputation.

Mr. Taplin said that these Canadian made shoes had recently been granted first place over all American shoes by the Women Physicians of America, convention at New York, the Hygiene Committee of the Y. W. C. A. of the U.S. and the Health Committee of the Y.W.C.A. of Canada for shape, style, finish and scientific construction.

The shoes shown last night carry no heels over one inch high; have straight inside lines; flexible shanks and were of wonderful quality.

Among other things Mr. Taplin said there was now more deforming of the feet in America than there ever was in China; that 95% of the people are deformed to a greater or less degree; that an inefficiency resulted from this to an extent of from 10% to 50% in the individual; that the shoe business as now conducted was the greatest possible menace to the health and progress of the nation; that education and accomplishment were of much lessened value when the possessor is also possessed of crippled feet; that parents had no moral right to allow their children to grow up handicapped in this particular; that a large majority of women and many men were "dress and footwear drunk" and that lameness and soreness of the feet are looked upon as a necessary evil. He strongly advocated the teaching of the care of the foot in the High and Public Schools and that there should be "routine examinations" made of all children's feet so as to discover the prospective cases, rather than permitting them to go until actual life is reached when the disability (bunions, corns, ingrown nails, flat feet, etc., etc.) inflicts them for "lifelong lives."

Mr. Taplin showed many slides from such authorities as Academy of Medicine, Paris, Fr.; Scientific American, Dr. Phil. Hoffman, of St. Louis, Museum of Safety, New York, Major (Dr.) Munson, Pres. of the Army Shoe Board of the U.S., The Life Extension Society of the U.S. and many others, which depicted clearly almost unbelievable conditions among our people. One astonishing statement was that in 1918 in the United States alone 1140 women were killed and more than 4000 crippled from falling down stairs in high heeled shoes. (Scientific American.)

80th Battalion Band Concert and Reunion

All lovers of good music as well as all friends of the 80th battalion are deeply interested in the announcement that the famous 80th Battalion Band will be in Belleville on Friday night and give a concert at Griffin's opera house.

The 80th band made a name for itself in Ontario before going overseas. But when it reached England its excellence as a musical organization was at once recognized by the critics of Great Britain. It embarked on a series of concert tours and received an ovation wherever it gave a program. It was also a prime favorite at the battlefield in France.

Lieut. H. A. Stares who is recognized as one of the greatest leaders in the Dominion will have charge on Friday and the same organization of superb musicians will follow his baton.

This will be the occasion of a reunion of all the members and friends of the 80th battalion, a unit that carried to the scene of hostilities a group of men whose gallantry has never been excelled. The price of tickets runs from 50c. to $1. and they may be secured at the office of the H. F. Ketcheson, Co., Bridge St. This is not a money-making event for receipts will all be required to pay the heavy expense of bringing the organization again to Belleville. It is to be hoped the people of this city will show their appreciation in the most practical way.

If you are sufficiently interested, I would thank you to inform your readers who are my friends that I have no intention whatever of thus betraying them. I am not at the beck and call of any man or party."

BOARD AGAINST ASPHALTIC CONCRETE ON MURNEY'S HILL

Railway Board Engineer Suggests Macadam or Asphaltic Macadam—City Engineer Favors Latter Alternative.

The matter of the paving of West Bridge street hill is still in the hands of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. The city clerk Mr. J. W. Holmes has received from Mr. H. C. Small, secretary of the Board, the following communication:

"I have the honor to forward you herewith a copy of the report of the board's engineer, Mr. Middlemist, upon the above work. I should like the council and the works committee of the city to take the matter up in the light of this report, and intimate to the board what the city proposes to do, and after the board has been advised of the city's intentions the application will then be finally disposed of."

Mr. Middlemist's report to the board follows: "I have examined the plan and profile of this street and also the notes taken at the hearing before your board."

May Reduce Grade.

"I would point out that it is impossible to get any kind of road surface which will not be slippery and dangerous under certain conditions during freezing weather, more especially with sleet or rain falling and freezing on the ground. The plan shows the street on a curve with a grade ranging from 5% to 8%. If it is at all possible to still further reduce the grade without serious damage to the adjoining property, I think this should be done but it is probable that the local authorities have cut it down as far as it is deemed advisable."

"In any case, I would not advise any kind of smooth pavement such as asphalt laid on concrete, asphaltic concrete, wood block, brick, etc., since it affords no grip for horses or for automobiles as the street being curved the latter would tend to slide in wet or freezing weather. Water Bound Macadam or Asphaltic Macadam is the only solution seems to be to lay either a water-bound macadam road on a good stone base, or else one of asphalt macadam with a rough surface as can reasonably be made, all over the street instead of on one section as shown on the plan. If the latter is adopted it might be better to lay it on a stone base instead of on concrete to prevent the surface creeping under the wheels, the stone base affording a better grip for the macadam than if it were laid on a smooth concrete surface. However, I think these are details which the municipality will look after as they will naturally desire to get a road which will need as few repairs as possible."

Cost of Pavement.

Mr. Mill in his report on an asphaltic macadam pavement which he favors, says the pavement from James Street to Octavia Street will cost $7,955. The total frontage of property to be assessed will be 1,873 linear feet. The rate per foot frontage will be $4.21. The city's share will be $1,925.84 and the property owners $6,029.66. The estimated lifetime of the pavement is 11 years, the cost to be paid in 10 annual instalments.

G. W. V. A. NOTES

The regular weekly meeting of the Belleville Branch, Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, was held in the association rooms on Monday evening, December 1st, 1919. A very large gathering of members were present, the assembly room being filled to the doors. A number of new applications for membership were received by the secretary and accepted as members of the association.

"If the Cat is on the Door-step I Don't Go in"

This was the illuminating expression of Bertrice Orr in the witness box Monday before Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, giving evidence in an action brought by his wife to get a house and lot in Glen Miller, now standing in the name of the husband and wife. The evidence showed that the husband and wife had quarrelled, a good deal, each blaming the other. However, with it all they had accumulated some property and money. The husband, in describing what he called the ranky nature of his wife, said that when he came towards home, if he found the cat out on the door-step he knew there was danger ahead, and he had better not go in. The Judge reserved judgment till after Christmas. The case to see if the parties could settle. E. Guss Porter, K.C. and C. Payne for plaintiff; W. C. Mikel, K.C. for defendant.

Ald. Bone declared the council could not see its way clear to meet such a proposition. He favored the clerk at once writing to Mr. Gillies declining. The council however, as a matter of principle, referred the letter to the Industrial Committee and Commissioner.

BIRTH

BURD — At Belleville, on Sunday, Nov. 30, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burd, 143 Lingham St., a daughter (Madeline Eva).

Sleigh in River; Boy Escaped

YOUNG LAD WAS BEMOANING LOSS OF SLEIGH BUT THOUGHT NOTHING OF DANGER.

This Should Be a Warning to Boys and to Their Parents.

Lindsay, December 2.—Youngsters in Lindsay have been having a good time since the recent snowfall, sleigh riding on the Lindsay-River, hill in the vicinity of McDonald's Park. But there is great danger at this particular point of riding into the river.

An incident took place at the hill Friday which should set as a warning to other youngsters and to parents. Mr. D. Hogan of the Central Hotel was walking along the street when he stopped a young lad who was crying as if his little heart would break. When asked what was the matter the little fellow replied that he had been sleigh riding on the hill and lost his sleigh when it went over the wharf into the river.

It appears that the young fellow had just time to roll off the sleigh or he would have plunged into the cold water with the sleigh. He did not realize his danger, but thought only of the sleigh he had lost.

The hard coal stock is considered ample to last till March 31st, and the bituminous coal until about the end of February.

Explorers Leave for the Jungle

In search of apes and a jungle tribe of wharfs, Carveth Wells and Marshall McIvor leave Canada for the jungles of the Malay Archipelago.

Darwin tells us that we all come from Apes, and it is a wonderful fact that there exists to-day in the Malay Jungles a tribe of dwarfs called Semang, who in many respects are not so far advanced as the Orang Utang of Borneo, that immense ape with long red hair.

The missing link is no longer missing. The fossil remains of a creature intermediate between the Ape and Man, known as the Pithecanthropus Erectus, has actually been discovered in the jungles of Malay.

Polar expeditions under the conditions described by Steffansson is a holiday compared with the jungle explorer.

Whereas intense cold and polar bears constitute the chief danger in Arctic exploration, death in a thousand different forms lurks in the eternal gloom of a tropical jungle. Tigers and tarantulas, scorpions and centipedes, huge snakes like the thirty foot Python and the twelve foot Hamadryad of King Cobra the most dreaded reptile in the world, because it is the only one that attacks without provocation; crocodiles, panthers, rhinoceros and elephants are merely examples of what awaits the intruder in one of the jungles.

It is not generally known that in India alone over 20,000 people are killed by snakes annually, 300 by tigers, 400 by panthers and more than 100,000 head of cattle carried off by tigers.

But the most dreaded death in Malay is from the tiny poisoned dart shot from the blowpipe of the little dwarfs that these explorers intend to seek.

Standing only 4ft., 6in. in height these little jungle men move with remarkable agility through the densest jungle, being almost as much at home in the trees as on the ground where they sleep.

Mr. Carveth Wells has already spent six years in the jungle exploring for the British Government. Mr. Marshall McIvor is the son of G. O. McIvor, of Avonhurst, Sask., one of the oldest Canadian pioneers.

The men intend to cross the Malay Peninsula at its widest part, on foot, returning to Canada via India and Egypt, thus making a complete circuit of the world.

The first ticket fell to J. W. Kerr, and he secured his parcel for $18. per acre.

The whole reserve comprises 6,619 acres of good agricultural land. The system of drawing was the same as used at the opening of the Porcupine reserve, the ballots being placed in a churn and an outsider making the draw.

FORMER CAMPBELLFORD RESIDENT PASSED AWAY.

The death occurred at Cannifton of Thomas Bell, a former well known resident of Campbellford, after an illness of some duration.

The subject of this sketch was born in Seymour 33 years ago on the farm now owned by Mr. Garnet Curle. The early part of his life was spent in farming. For a time he occupied a part of the farm now owned by Mr. John Locke. After leaving the farm he went to California where he spent a few years, returning to Campbellford where he was employed as policeman and night watchman and later as street foreman. He went from here to Peterboro, removing about 18 years ago to Cannifton, where he spent the remainder of his days.

In 1869 the late Mr. Bell married Sarah Archer, who died two years ago. Two daughters survive, Miss Carrie, at home, and Miss Zaida, graduate nurse in Weston hospital.

Body of Man Was Found in a Lane

William Jackson Met Sudden Death Some Time Through The Night.

Peterboro, Dec. 3.—Showing evidence of having laid there for several hours, the body of William Jackson was found Monday morning at 6.30 o'clock in the lane back of Hooper's store, 414 George street. By Mr. Charles Coleman. Police investigation failed to find any marks of violence.

Lively Runaway in Kingston

Horses Took Fright at Car And One of Retns Backs.

Kingston, Dec. 3.—At 10.20 Monday morning much excitement was caused when a team of horses belonging to Mr. Joseph Wilder dashed down Princess street, and crashed in a corner of the Standard Bank Building. The horses were turning off Montreal street to go down Princess street, when a car came across Montreal street and scared the horses.

To make matters worse the right rear broke and the driver could not recover control of the horses. They made the turn on to Princess and dashed down the left side of the street and struck a Ford car which was standing outside of Chown's drug store.

The car was thrown against the iron post sustaining a broken wheel and as mashed mudguard. The runaway came on down to where the Standard laneway is and the tongue of the wagon struck the corner of the building breaking the tongue and pluming one of the horses underneath.

One of the back wheels was also smashed and the axle broken. Adjt. Smith of the Salvation Army who was just entering the Standard, rushed to the horse which was pinned under the wagon and extricated one of its legs before it might have been broken.

There was no one hurt in the accident but it is a wonder that some of the men who were reading the bulletin at the time were not injured as the runaway passed right beside them before they could take to shelter.

The horses were only slightly out and were taken to a veterinary's for treatment the amount of damage to the wagon and car has not yet been ascertained.

Canadian Nurse Won't Salute the U. S. Flag

Expresses Regret, But Rutland Council Will Probe Conduct of Institution.

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 3.—Nurse Annie McLane has not made the stipulated apology to the American nurses at the Rutland hospital for calling the Stars and stripes a dirty rag when she was shown a postal picture card of a flag topped building. She said to a group of girls who waited on her that she was sorry if she said anything against their flag which the girls said was the only apology which would be accepted. The hospital directors and superintendent Annie H. Atkin, sister of Lord Beaverbrook, declare that the incident has been closed to the satisfaction of all parties but the board of aldermen have ordered an investigation because the city appropriates money to the hospital and the public feelings are aroused. There will be a public hearing on the matter to-morrow when nurses patients and physicians will testify.

The affair has been made an excuse for a general investigation of the institution, and of complaints that Miss Atkins has for years discriminated against American student nurses.

Beavers Cause Death of Cows

No Government Lifts Protection and Industrious Animal May be Killed.

Edmonton, Dec. 3.—The busy beaver has been getting quite too active in some parts of Alberta and to pay him up for the mischief he has been causing to farm property and live stock he is to be legally hunted and trapped in all the country south of the 55th parallel. Notice is being sent out by the Game Guardian's office to that effect.

Permits will now be issued to owners of property or their agents in the area indicated with an open season extending from April 30. There will be no limit on the number of animals that may be caught.

In the Cardon country along the Blind May River and Southern Alberta the beavers have been at their old tricks of building dams, with result that winter levels have been raised and numbers of cattle and horses have been drowned in crossing the thin frozen streams thus swollen beyond their usual proportions. The complaint is also made that they are destroying the brush along the river which is wanted for shelter.

Rural Schools Are to be Consolidated

Premier Drury and Minister of Education to Continue Cody's Policy.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—When the educational policy of the United Farmer-Labor Government is brought down in the House it will be found that Hon. R. H. Grant Minister of Education has not discarded one of the chief works of his predecessor in office Hon. H. P. Cody. The Cody plans to solve to some extent the problem of the rural educational system in Ontario whereby it is hoped to give the country pupils through the consolidation of rural schools, as nearly as possible the same educational advantages as the young people of the city will remain a part of the educational policy of the Drury Government. This assurance is given by the minister of education and Premier Drury.

The government will generously assist in the establishment of such consolidations.

1. Towards the cost of building and equipment—a grant of up to $6,000 according to number and assessable value of school sections uniting. The amount of the grant is proportioned to the assessable value of the sections.

2. A grant of part of the cost of conveyance of pupils. These percentages will be determined by the assessable value of the section. The poorer sections will receive the larger grant.

3. Where there is an assembly hall or community hall as a part of the consolidated school the Government will grant from the department of Agriculture 25 per cent of the cost of each hall up to a maximum of 2,000 dollars.

4. If continuation school work is carried on, the usual continuation school grants will be added.

5. In the additional grant of $250,000 for raising the salaries of rural teachers the consolidated schools will have their share. Wherever there is a township free library it might be established on the consolidated school so that such a school would be a social and intellectual centre for the whole country-side.

Refuse to Pay Bonus

Kingston, Dec. 3.—Frontenac County council Saturday voted down a resolution to give a $300 bonus to County Clerk and County Treasurer owing to the high cost of living.

Both of these are under paid. The now jailer Joseph Hawley is to receive $1,200 a year as much as the county treasurer but his salary was fixed by Ontario Government.

Best Season in Dairy Industry

Year 1919 a Memorable One in Cheese Business—District Meeting Held.

The annual meeting of the Dairymen of South Hastings district was a very largely attended affair, the capacity of the committee room of the City Hall being taxed to the full yesterday afternoon.

"We have just finished one of the best cheese seasons," said Director J. A. Kerr, chairman. "The make was not so large, but the price was good—practically 27 1/2 cents."

Ald. Bone asked the co-operation of the progressive farmers. "Unless we pull together, we shall get nowhere," he said. He outlined the work of the reorganized Board of Trade. It would be of a great deal of assistance to have farmers come to the board meetings. The first step is a free by bridge.

Tabernacle Ladies' Bazaar

Event Heralding Christmas Was Most Successful

Everything that could be found at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon and evening savored of the coming Yuletide season, that happiest season of the year. It was the occasion of the annual bazaar held under the auspices of the ladies of the Tabernacle Methodist congregation. As a result of the fine spirit of co-operation, the function was an unqualified success in every respect, financial returns, attendance and social enjoyment.

The decorations were far beyond the requirements of each booth, but the Christmastic adornments were most prominent.

The booth of manufactures' samples, donated by the manufacturers of Tecko, Pezzo and other products, was one at which the necessities of the kitchen were supplied. In charge of this booth were Mrs. Aselatine, Mrs. French and Mrs. Greenleaf.

Aprons and red were the colors worn on sale at the counter where Mrs. G. S. Sharpe, Mrs. Charles Kindred and Mrs. Robert Groce presided. The color scheme of this booth was mauve.

Green and red were the color of the decorations at the counter at which the sweetmeats were dispensed. Mrs. B. Aselatine, Miss Brown and Miss Dyer had charge of this sale.

Anything in handkerchiefs could be secured at the booth presided over by Mrs. Bruen, Mrs. Dyer and Miss Galey. The decorative effects were in red, green and tinsel.

Naturally the fancy work booth was surrounded by purchasers. This was succeeded in green and pink and the articles of utility and beauty were sold by Mrs. Arthur Naylor, Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. Postle, Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Clare.

There was a big rush at the home and kitchen table. In charge of this section of the sale were Mrs. Baxter, Mrs. Wilbee, Mrs. Penn and Mrs. Dureath.

The fish pond and novelty booth had its own line of purchasers. Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Deacon—Mrs. President, Gerald Lynch—Secretary, Harry Green—Treasurer, W. E. Clark—Manager, Intermediate team.

E. A. Thomas—Manager, Junior team.

There is plenty of good material in town and there is no reason why Belleville should not have two excellent teams.

The following are members of the executive committee: Colonel A. P. Allen—President, J. Downey, J. G. Moffat, D. V. Doyle and Roy Stafford.

The merchants of the small cities and towns are learning that in waging their fight for existence they must adopt the tactics of the men of the West. The great mail order houses of the cities are the consuming flames which threaten to wipe out the retail merchants of the small towns unless the latter, realizing their danger, take steps to remove the menace. The retail merchants, as a whole, are beginning to realize that they must fight fire with fire and that to save themselves they must build a "back fire."

Second Hand Store Robbed.

The second hand store owned by Thomas Johnson, situated at the corner of King and Kincard streets, was entered last night by someone at present unknown and robbed of one ladies' dogskin coat, several pairs of ladies' and boys' rubbers and two suits of clothes. The culprit gained entrance to store by breaking a window in a door at the rear of the building. The matter was reported to the police who are working on the case.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Whiskey for Hull.

Containing 500 cases of spirits destined for the Hull Liquor Vendors Limited a car was switched to the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway here this morning from the Grand Trunk. The car is from the H. Corby Distillery Co., Tharlow, and bears a permit from the Department of Inland Revenue. Grand Trunk Railway officials declare that there is a perceptible increase in shipment of liquors from the different Ontario distilleries to Quebec.

Late Season Navigation.

Despite the lateness of the season, river traffic continues heavy. Within 30 minutes this morning four large steel freighters, built to the order of the United States Shipping Board, passed down the St. Lawrence.

Burglars Enter H.H. King's Residence.

Burglars entered the beautiful home of Mr. H. H. King, Penryn Park, Tuesday night and ransacked every room from the cellar to the attic. Entrance was gained through the kitchen door and it is thought this was easily opened by a skeleton key. In every room things were turned topsy turvy, but a thorough investigation by Chief Cotwill and the man who looks after the property failed to discover anything missing. While trying to pry open a small chest the intruders broke one of the large windows.—Port Hope Guide.

Deanery Meeting.

A meeting of the deanery of the diocese of Ontario was held in St. George's hall, Kingston, yesterday morning. In the afternoon a special feast of the proceedings was an address by Rev. Canon H. H. Bedford-Jones, principal-lect of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, on the Forward Movement which is being undertaken by the Anglican church in conjunction with other Protestant denominations. Brockville Recorder & Times.

Military News.

For purposes of convenience Ma-

Major-General Williams, of Kingston, has divided military district No. 3 in two parts for the conference with officers which is now being arranged. Forty-six officers of the district will go to Ottawa in the conference will be included all officers in the district, who took units overseas and all officers commanding units at home with all at present in command. Many matters of importance in connection with the future of the military organization in No. 3 district will be discussed at this proposed conference the date for which has not yet been set.

Critics Praise Miss Campbell.

English journals received in Kingston this week tell of the continued success of Miss Marjory Campbell, of this city, who is playing the leading part in "Tiger Rose" at Savoy theatre London. The house is crowded nightly and press encomiums continued to be showered on Miss Campbell from among the comments of English critics is gleaned the following from The Evening News: "I saw the best play, I saw the greatest actress and I saw the most marvellous scenery 'Tiger Rose' at the Savoy theatre."

Appointed Editor.

"The Union Bank of Canada has begun the publication of a handsome monthly filled with what newspaper men call 'good stuff' Its Editor is J. Herbert Hodgins of the bank's statistical department Toronto," a former member of the Whig reportorial staff, Kingston.

A Busy Body.

The advisory committee of Brockville is quite busy these days considering propositions from manufacturers who are desirous of locating in Brockville. One difficulty with which the committee has to contend is to find suitable buildings in which to house these proposed manufacturers. The erection of the Brockville Paper Co., plants on Park street will commence on March 1, 1920, and application for a siding on the company's property will be made this week to the railway board. It has been learned that the industrial committee is assured that the construction will be started in Brockville next spring of three large plants, and that means that a large number of houses will have to be erected. It is to be hoped that the efforts of the advisory committee will bear fruit.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

New Industry at Smith's Falls

The Canadian Cooperaige Manufacturing Co. will establish a new industry in Smith's Falls, an up-to-date heading mill for making heading for cheese boxes, stock barrels, etc. Some more land adjacent to the company's cooperaige mill will be acquired and the work of erecting the new buildings will begin at once. The company has the machinery in readiness to equip the factory when built and it will not be long before the town has another live industry in operation. It will employ 75 men the year-round.

Two More False Alarms

The boys in the western part of Kingston who persist in sending in false alarms to the fire department are due for punishment which they will not soon forget. Within twenty minutes late Thursday afternoon two false alarms were received from boxes on Union street. The first came at 5.57 from box 75 at Collingwood street corner. The horses were not out of the harness from this unnecessary run before another call came from the box at the University avenue corner. On Tuesday a false alarm was received from the box at the corner of King and Beverly streets. A boy was seen at one of the boxes last night and the police are upon his trail.

At Police Court

Magistrate Page was busy Thursday in the discharge of his official duties at police court. Two young men were charged with trespassing on the lawn on Court House green. They were let go with a warning, but the next person summoned for this offence will be more severely dealt with. Another citizen was charged with an infraction of a by-law relating to fire protection. It was charged that he had shingled a house which is within the fire limits, without a permit. The charge against him was withdrawn after he had agreed to comply with the law. A Russian and an Austrian faced the cad charged with infractions of the Ontario Temperance Act. They were corralled last night on G.T.R. express No. 19 by Provincial Officers Taber and Sykes while in possession of two suitcases containing about eight gallons of liquor. They were fined $200 each with the option of three months in the counties jail. And it is likely they will spend the winter on the hill. The same inspectors also seized six gallons of liquor on No. 19 last night for which an owner could not be found. The magistrate's time this afternoon was taken up with cases in which several local residents were charged with neglecting to send their children to school.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Ferry's Fine Record

On Nov. 1st the ferry steamer Charles Lyon carried across the river at Prescott 46 cars of silk valued at a million dollars a car, 31 cars of merchandise and eight empty cars, a total of 85 cars. The time consumed by the railroad in getting the cars into the slips and time taken by the Charles Lyon in ferrying across the river was two hours and four minutes. This is a most remarkable record and is one which cannot be equalled by any ferry on the great lakes system.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Trying to Get Queen's Clinic.

The Ottawa Civic Hospital Committee has placed a businesslike proposal before the Board of Trustees of Queen's University with respect to the university establishing a medical school for advanced students in connection with the new civic hospital. The most important feature is the question of the control of the medical end of the hospital, and when this is settled it is expected by the committee that definite agreement will be made. It is understood the new hospital will be so arranged that plenty of accommodation for the students will be available. The Board of Trustees of Queen's will hold a meeting soon to consider the Ottawa proposition.

Thurston Case Heard

C. R. Wiltzie, of the firm of Wiltzie & De Young, Alexandria Bay, has returned from Albany, N.Y., where he argued the case of Herman Donnyan against Thomas Thurston, before the appellate branch of the Supreme Court. The case is one which has attracted much attention and grew out of the destruction of the ferry boat which was to ply between Morristown and Brockville and was being built at the Thurston shipyard in Alexandria Bay. The case has been in litigation for some time.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Result of Inspection

The dental inspection in the schools of Leeds township produced the following results: 17 schools visited and 371 scholars examined. Of this number only 23 had teeth in the best possible condition. Four hundred and eighty-eight simple cavities in the permanent teeth were found and 166 extensive cavities requiring extraction or treatment to save them. There were 145 cavities in the temporary teeth, 22 cases of mal-occlusion, 149 cases requiring prophylactic treatment and 266 temporary teeth which should be removed.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Kempville Merchant Dead

John Sanders, prominent and much respected resident of Kempville, died at his home. He was born in Martintown, Glangary County, in 1845, and came with his parents when he was seven years of age to Kempville, where he resided until his death. During his lifetime he was actively identified with many of the business interests of Kempville and Chesterville. For many years he was one of the largest dealers in farm products in Eastern Ontario.

Another Whiskey Runner Caught

At Brockville on Wednesday night, inspectors Sykes and Taber took into custody on G.T.R. express No. 19 a resident of Montreal giving the name of Harry Noonan, who was en route to Trenton with 34 bottles of whiskey. Next morning he was fined $200 and costs by Magistrate Page and is making arrangements to pay.

Pathetic Scene in Court.

A pathetic scene was witnessed at Police Court at Peterboro' on Tuesday. It was in the case of the man who broke into Sukloff's store a week ago and stole a pair of blankets. He was remanded for a week and has spent that time in jail. His wife and two small daughters, one totally blind, were present, and all broke down at the family reunion. It was very sad to witness, Mr. Wearing, who appeared for the prisoner, pointed out that the accused had at various times before this acted a good character and a clean sheet of behavior. He pointed out the tragedy of the case, how the innocent wife and children were forced to suffer because the father yielded to temptation largely with the idea of helping his poor blind daughter, of whom he is very fond. The Crown agreed with Mr. Wearing and did not urge any punishment. The magistrate admonished the man to be strong and withstand temptation which he promised to do, and allowed him to go on suspended sentence.

Courses at Kempville.

Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, stated that short courses would be provided this winter at the Kempville Agricultural School for farm mechanics, live stock and seed judging and domestic science. A few days ago the Minister with Deputy Minister C. F. Bailey, visited this school and found that the new building was just about ready for occupation there. There will be a course of 5 or 6 weeks for young breeders of cattle, and another course of 10 days in farm work. There will also be a course of 6 weeks in domestic science. Last year 450 students attended these courses and this year there will be a larger number.

Little Girl Match for Brutal Robber

Toronto, Nov. 30.—A revolver pointed at her mother's heart and two men hammering her father over the head with similar weapons, held no terror for pretty little Fanny O'Leary, aged 10, who on Tuesday night proved a heroine of the first degree. Not only did she prevent further injury to her parents, but she was the means of preventing a well-planned robbery on the part of three gunmen, and putting them to flight. Fanny hit one of the would be robbers with a piece of board. He dropped his gun and ran, according to the father and the other two followed him.

Relief from Asthma. Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes? It has made asthma an affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

VACCINATION

The first compulsory vaccination act was passed in England sixty-four years ago. Ten years later vaccination became obligatory in Scotland and Ireland, and this means of protection against smallpox has since become general in nearly all civilized countries. There was, of course, much opposition to the new law in many quarters, and anti-vaccination societies were formed. These exist even today in many parts of the world. Thirty-three years ago an anti-vaccination riot occurred in Montreal. A mob attacked the City Hall and threatened to burn the newspaper offices, but the police succeeded in quelling the disturbance. Similar outbreaks, especially among eastern peoples, have occurred from time to time.

The Real Liver Pill.—A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to arouse the liver to healthy action is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are compounded of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

The United Farmers Form Organisation

The first annual convention of the Hastings County, U.F.O., which was held in Springbrook on Nov. 19th and 20th, was considered by all those who attended the different sessions to be a great success.

The first session, which was held on the evening of the 19th, was well attended, the hall being packed to the door. Two splendid addresses were given by H. K. Denyes, M.P.P. for East Hastings, and Edgar Watson, M.P.P. for North Victoria, both newly elected U.F.O. members.

Thursday morning's session which was largely taken up by the election of officers, opened with a full attendance, there being a good attendance from each of the thirty different clubs in the county.

Mr. H. V. Hoover, who has represented the County of Hastings for the past two terms on the Provincial U.F.O. board, was elected by acclamation to again act as Provincial Representative, and Mr. P. Kavanagh, of Bancroft, was elected as deputy Prov. Rep. The following officers compose the U.F.O. Board and the East and West Hastings political associations:—

- Pres. Jas. A. Cakay, Madoc; Vice Pres. F. Keluskey, Bancroft; Secty. B. C. Tucker, Treas. Geo. Forrester, Springbrook; Directors, Frank Knight, Sidney Jas. Phillips, Thurlock, S. Meiklejohn, Rawdon, J. W. Seares, Hungerford, J. Williams, Marmora, Jas. A. Cakay, Madoc, C. E. Moffatt, Wollaston, S. Vadeh, Faraday, P. Kavanagh, Dunganon, Jas. O'Brien, Hershel, P. Price, Montegale, Jas. Barr, McClure, P. Cassidy, Wicklow, Auditors, Hugh Maloney and Alex Moore.
- East Hastings Political Assn.— Pres. Alex Moore, Plainfield; Vice Presidents, Daniel Cassidy, J. L. Newton, Wm. Mechar, Mrs. J. A. Cakay and Miss Loretta Forrester; Sec. Treas. R. A. Wood.
- West Hastings Political Assn.— Pres. S. Meiklejohn; Vice Presidents, Duncan McLellan, Frank Knight, Richard Benter, Mrs. H. V. Hoover and Mrs. Jas. A. Bailey; Sec. Treas. R. F. Hoard.

After the delegates and visitors had been entertained by the ladies who served dinner in the club room the afternoon session opened by an excellent address by H. E. Cowan, Editor of Farm and Dairy, his subject being, "Our Proposed Dairy Co." Following this was a stirring appeal by R. W. E. Burnaby, Pres. of The United Farmers Co-operative Co. These gentlemen told how the Western Farmers had achieved great success through co-operation in elevators and creameries in the West, and how the Ont. Farmers had sold over six million dollars' worth of live stock through their own commission firm at Toronto market during the first six months they were doing business there. The dairy farmers became very much interested in the possibility of forming a huge Dairy Co. in Ontario, similar to those in the west to handle and sell their products. Before the session closed a provincial board of directors were named to assist in carrying out the proposed scheme.

Early in the evening, long before the hour of opening the evening session, the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity and still they came, an overflow meeting was planned for another hall which was also soon filled to its capacity, and large numbers had to stand in the aisles at the back. Two of the most interesting features of the evening was a reading given by Miss Clara Snarr, an address by Mrs. Webster, of North Victoria, who is one of the leading members of the U.F.W.O. Rousing addresses were also given by A. A. Powers, Vice Pres. of The United Farmers Publishing Co., R. W. E. Burnaby, Pres. of The United Farmers Co-operative Co., Ltd., Alex Moore, Pres. East Hastings Farmers Political Assn., and G. A. Jordison, Secty. Montegale Valley Club. Mr. Jordison was formerly a Rawdon boy.—Stirling News-Argus.

MARMORA FARMER VICTIM OF ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

Looking for Foxes at Night Charles Bateman is Supposed to Have Leaned Gun Against Arm — Charge Tore Breast Bone and Heart

A tragedy occurred northeast of Marmora village on Wednesday night by which Charles Bateman lost his life. He was a farmer, 45 years of age and leaves his wife and two children aged eight years and three years.

At eight o'clock Wednesday night he went out with a shotgun of an old type, saying he thought he might shoot some foxes, as he expected they might be attracted by the carcass of a horse lying in a field. He did not return very soon and about 8.30 o'clock Mrs. Bateman went out with a lantern to see why he did not return. She was horrified to find him lying on the ground. Help was summoned and it was discovered he was shot through the breast bone and heart, the charge from the gun having torn a small hole through his body.

It is a case of accidental shooting as far as can be learned. It is likely that Mr. Bateman in moving about leant the gun against himself or stumbled, discharging the gun.

Dr. W. J. Gardiner, coroner, of Eldorado, investigated the case, deeming an inquest unnecessary.

BRILLIANT ADDRESS GIVEN BY NOTED LITERARY WRITER

Mrs. John Garvin Better Known as Katharine Hale Addressed Women's Canadian Club — Gave Interesting Address on Our Canadian Literature

Mrs. John Garvin, or better known as Katharine Hale, gave a very pleasing talk on Canadian Literature last night in the High School Assembly room, before the ladies of the Women's Canadian Club, of Belleville. Mrs. Garvin has a charming personality and is extremely well versed in all Canadian literature. She is also president of the Women's Canadian Club of Toronto for this year.

Since her marriage eight years ago, she has given up the work of being literary critic for the Mail and Empire and has devoted her time to literary writings. She writes short stories and poetry for many magazines. By request last night she recited one of her poems called "Dancing Days," which is a satire on the society of the people since the war.

Mrs. Garvin feels it her duty to build up the art of literature. Art itself is no adjunct but is really a part of our life. She has met many Canadian writers and learns from them the trouble they have of putting their work into print. First there is the editor to be reckoned with, then the publisher and finally the book-seller. She was very pleased, when about nine years ago the Deputy Minister of Education asked her to speak to the students of the normal school on Canadian literature. She said not only the students, but even the teachers were amazed at her being able to talk about Canadian literature for an hour, and that it would have been funny, if it had not been so sad.

Some people say it is the writer who moulds the people but that is not so, it is the people who mould the writer and give him ideas upon which to write. Mrs. Garvin deplored the fact that two-thirds of our Canadian writers go to the United States because the Canadian editors only pay from fifteen to fifty dollars for short stories, while in the States they pay from fifty to a thousand.

The writers are often so severely criticised by Canadians that they go to the United States. Mrs. Garvin says if we would only put confidence in our Canadian magazines and writers for six months we would be able to appreciate Canadian literature far more than American.

Now that the war is over we must awaken to realities. There must be a renaissance of what we have here in Canada. No matter where art has flourished, in Greece, France, Rome, their efforts have always been encouraged. People say Canada is crude, young and immature yet, but in time, we will have real art in Canadian literature.

The French-Canadians were the first to do any literary writing in Canada. In 1670 dramatic plays were written in Quebec city. Mrs. Garvin says we do not know our own language until we know one more, at least. She mentioned several early writers of Quebec, among them, Kirby, who wrote the well-known book "The Golden Dog."

The first distinguished novelist in Ontario was Major John Richardson whose works were published in London, England, about 1832. Then there is the well-known humorist writer, Haliburton, of Nova Scotia, who was so closely connected with Joseph Howe. He is said to be the founder of the American school of humor. Many American writers steal his ideas and incorporate them as their own. Mrs. George Hart, of Kingston, published a novel in 1824. The school of novelists is not as well rounded and completed as

Public School Inspection

On Thursday and Friday, November 13th and 14th, the Model school was visited by Dr. MacKenzie-Smith who is appointed by the Department of Education to conduct an investigation into the physical conditions in the schools of the province. In her work the doctor remarked upon the excellent condition of the pupils' throats and upon the injury to pupils' eyesight, evidently resulting from defective lighting of the school. During her visit she had an interview with the Public School Trustees with whom she discussed the conditions found in the school. The local doctors on invitation of the principal called at the school and visited Dr. MacKenzie-Smith so that we may expect that any measures adopted to improve health condition among the pupils will be carried out with the guidance and co-operation of the local M.D.s. At the close of Dr. Smith's inspection she addressed a representative gathering of ladies parents of pupils and members of the local women's organizations and pointed out the advisability of taking action as a community to follow up the inspection.

Mr. J. E. Minns made his semi-annual visit of inspection during the same days.

Banquet to Cheese Makers

On Thursday evening last Mr. John S. Marshall proprietor of the Sterling Cheese Box factory and Basnet factory gave a banquet to the cheesemakers of this county and others, to which also the village council and a few friends were invited. The banquet was given in the Agricultural Rooms, and a most beautiful repast was furnished the guests. After all had partaken Mr. Marshall proposed a number of toasts which were ably responded to. The speakers most generally referred to the cheese industry and its importance to the community. The general opinion expressed was that cheese makers were not being paid enough for their services, and should receive better remuneration. It was also shown by figures quoted that the cheese from this district commanded the highest price in the British

QUEEN VICTORIA SCHOOL PRESENTATION EXERCISES YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Governor General's Prize Awarded to Sybil Smith — The St. Julien Chapter, I.O.D.E. Prize Awarded to Harold Hodges — Also Strathcona Prizes were Given

The medals and prizes were awarded yesterday afternoon to the pupils of Queen Victoria School, who had attained the highest marks in passing the Entrance, rifle shooting, physical culture, and military drill.

The pupils of the various rooms were all seated in the assembly room and corridor, each teacher with his class. Mr. Wilkins, as chairman for the occasion, welcomed the ladies and gentlemen there and proceeded with the programme. The school programme was given first before the presentation, owing to some of the Board of Education not being there yet.

The whole school sang their Christmas chorus, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", that they always sang on these occasions. Georgina Rutan gave a reading on "The Social Ladies' Ball." Mrs. Wilkins' class of little tots sang a chorus. They each had little peaked caps with red, white and blue stripes and carried a flag.

Mr. Wilkins' class of girls gave a club-swinging exercise to the accompaniment of music and they did it very much to their credit. Miss Alice McIntosh very sweetly sang "Oh, What a Pal Was Mary." Little Miss Lena Craddock gave a recitation, Miss Peck's class sang their chorus very nicely. Mr. V. Clarke's class went through a wand drill which was under the supervision of Miss Roberts.

Mr. F. S. Deacon then presented to Miss Sybil Smith the Governor-General's Medal, which went to the pupil taking the highest marks among all Belleville candidates of twelve years of age or under at the High School Entrance examination.

Mr. Deacon in a few remarks said he believed it to be Lord Aberdeen who first suggested that the Board of Education award a prize of that nature. He also remarked on the accommodation of the school being so inadequate to meet the needs of market, its quality being ahead of any other. Mr. Marshall deserves great credit for thus bringing together the cheese makers of this section and he intimated that this would likely be an annual event. If so, no one that was present at this one would like to miss another. — Stirling News - Argus.

Breeze From Killarney, Man.

Editor, Ontario:— Please let me have a little space in your valuable paper. I call it "valuable," because it is so to me. I love to read the news of our dear home land, and to know some things about dear Ontario friends and how you are getting along. Before it is long in the house I am looking over to see the news from the different places—Belleville, Big Island, Halliway, Chapman and other places, and especially dear old Thomasburg. It is 10 p.m. while I write, which is I think, 11 p.m. by your time. I suppose a lot of you are in bed dreaming pleasant dreams. I must tell you a little about this prairie province.

This year we had quite a dry summer. Crops were mostly light, but what was sown early was the best. Mr. John Clark had 22 bushels No. 2 hard wheat to the acre. It was early sown and got strong before the drouth came on. In Saskatchewan many farmers had nothing. Thousands and thousands of acres of grain all swept away by the drouth and grasshoppers. Some of the latter were black and two inches long. There were a lot of them in Manitoba, too. We are afraid we as a people have not been paying God back what belongs to Him. We know the tenth of our income belongs to Him, and if we withhold it we are robbing God.

There was lots of wild fruit here—saskatoons, cherries, cranberries, raspberries and red plums. They are all nice when canned. We have a fine creamery here, which is good for the farmers. Some milk twelve and thirteen cows. Cream is 62 cents per pound, butter-fat.

We had a nice fall till the 30th of October, then a great snow storm came on which blocked the railroads and roads. Then another came and it stayed very cold till the 13th of November. People drove over banks in some places four feet deep. Some said it was Indian summer. Others said it was Eskimo summer. But it is nice weather again and the snow is nearly all gone off.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have gone to Tweed, Ont., to visit the former's brother who is very sick.

NAVIGATION COMPANY WINS $65,000 SUIT

Chief Justice Sir Glenholme Falconbridge this afternoon delivered judgment in the suit of the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Company against J. E. Rathbun, M. J. McFaul, Frank Brennan, Capt. D. B. Christie, M. Palmatier, A. Leslie, M. Leslie, Harry Dempsey and the estate of the late John Frank Chapman, in favor of the plaintiffs for $65,000 and costs with reference to the Master in Chancery to take the account of interest.

1912 under an agreement by which the defendants who were the former shareholders of the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Company agreed to guarantee by document under seal a mortgage to be given by the plaintiffs for the construction of a steamship. This $65,000 represented the balance due upon stock issued to them by the plaintiffs.

MARVEL OF THE ELLIOTT WOOD WORKING MACHINE

What Ontario Representative Saw at the Elliott Works Yesterday — Revolution in Building Business Caused by Little Electrically Driven Machine—Plant Busy on British Orders — Company Will Manufacture Small Motors.

A combination of seven or eight machines in one, a machine which has revolutionized the building business in Canada and the United States and is being introduced in Great Britain, is the main product of the Elliott Wood Working Company, who are now actively engaged in manufacturing at the plant formerly known as the Burrell Rock Drill factory to the east of the city. The wood-working machine weighs only six or seven hundred pounds, can be taken to pieces in a few seconds and its four parts moved. This is the machine which in these days of high cost of building is going to help solve the labor problem. Indeed it is a regular factory in one machine. It sells at from $450 to $500, and some builders save the cost in two or three months.

History of the Business
Yesterday afternoon, Mr. W. A. Elliott, head of the Elliott Wood Working Company, gave a representative of The Ontario an idea of what an acquisition the new plant is to Belleville. "It is not two months since I saw the city," he said. "I have been in Toronto the past ten years." Last March he went to England and spent four months there introducing the machine, and as a result he completed a big contract with a firm to put the machine on the market in Great Britain and Europe. While in England, Mr. Elliott sold one hundred and fifty of these machines, and had to hasten back to speed up production.

But growth was not possible in Toronto. Mr. Elliott heard of Belleville through Industrial Commissioner White about Exhibition time. He came down, and found an ideal factory in the Rock drill factory. "There is not a better built factory in Canada today I believe," said Mr. Elliott, who cited the absolutely proof nature of the buildings. The ceilings and floor and pillars are all of concrete.

The machines in the Burrell plant were found to be admirably suited for the new company, and only three were brought from Toronto. Mr. Elliott and his sons, Glen W. Elliott and Frank R. Elliott, bought homes in Belleville and brought a number of skilled operatives with them. Already over forty Belleville residents are employed at the works, both skilled men and apprentices. "We are now busy boosting Belleville," these words of the president were everywhere shown to be the truth.

The only transformation necessary at the works are a new heating system of radiators, and electric lighting.

This is driven direct from the motor, and more power is generated than often from three or four horsepower motors. "Our machine cuts through five inches of oak."

Mr. Elliott the inventor of the machine, he stated when asked by the press. "I invented it in 1910. Since that time I have made several improvements and secured patents." Mr. Elliott proved that he is a practical wood worker besides inventor and manufacturer, by operating one of the machines. Cross-cutting, planing, and a dozen other uses to which the little machine can be put were shown. "We manufacture sanders, shapers and one or two other machines, but we specialize in electrically driven wood-working machinery." The fine work done on the machine was especially noted in the planing.

What Demonstrating Did in Liverpool
"When a builder puts in one of these machines, he has a workman who does not strike or grow tired." In Liverpool as a result of a demonstration, I sold 50 machines, 45 in Birmingham, 15 in Manchester, and 30 in London. In London I had to book orders five or six months ahead."

Mr. Elliott said that in coming to Belleville he feared scarcity of labor, but he found many men applying for jobs. He expressed his opinion as follows: "If Belleville wants to keep her citizens, she must keep her factories going and add to them."

Will Manufacture Motors for Machines
We are going to manufacture the motors for our own machines shortly, and get out motors for the trade. "We are turning out twelve of the machines per week and want to manufacture them at the rate of eighteen per week."

Trenton's Big Arena Formally Opened
On Wednesday Night — A Large Audience Was Present — S. S. Convent at Frankford — Other News From Our Busy Neighbors.

Rev. Capt. Clarke spent Monday and Tuesday in Toronto attending the Interdenominational Forward Movement. Rev. Cranston of St. Andrew's Church also attended. Several delegates from Trenton attended the Epworth League Convention at Sharon on Monday. Rev. Frank Langford of Toronto gave a stirring talk on Religious education.

Stephens held the first meeting in it. On the platform were Capt. Clarke, Major Frost, Rev. L. M. Sharpe and Capt. Patterson; Rev. Reuben Turner led a choir of over forty voices; Mrs. Stephens was pianist; and the Hartshorn sisters sang.

The mammoth arena had about seven or eight hundred people in it this evening. When all heating arrangements have been completed the arena will be as comfortable as your home. Much credit is due Capt. Clarke who has given his time so cheerfully to this work.

The programme of the Sunday School Convention held at Frankford on Tuesday, Nov. 25th, afternoon and evening, was most interesting. Major Frost as secretary of Religious Education for Brighton District arranged a splendid programme. In the absence of Rev. Frank Langford Rev. Archer gave a most enthusiastic address on our Aims in Sunday school work Mrs. H. Kemp dealt with the Primary Department; Rev. Raymond Richards addressed the large audience in the evening concerning our Responsibility in Religious Education. Rev. Turner of the Evangelistic party sang, both afternoon and evening. The reports were most encouraging from the different schools. Rev. Patterson, in the afternoon and Major Frost, in the evening, made excellent chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hillman of Rednersville were in town Wednesday.

Merchants Must Build "Backfire"

mail order house spends hundreds of thousands of dollars merely on the preparation and publication of its bulky catalogues.

Business Built Upon Advertising.
The catalogue houses also spend thousands upon thousands of dollars in advertising in the mail order publications which look for their circulation to the people of the small towns and the rural districts. Advertising in some of these mediums costs as much as from $40 to $50 for a single inch, yet the mail order houses find it profitable to pay these high rates. Their business is built upon advertising and if they were denied the use of the mails for their advertising for a single month their business would be destroyed.

In advertising, the local merchants find the only weapon with which they can beat the mail order houses at their own game. This does not mean necessarily, only newspaper advertising, although that is the big gun in the battery employed by the successful merchant in his battle for trade. Advertising is a big word and it covers a big field. There is no longer to be found the man who does not believe in advertising. Every merchant believes in advertising of some sort. The placing of a display in a show window is advertising. The only difference between that kind of advertising and advertising in a newspaper is that where the one reaches dozens of the other reaches hundreds. Attractive window displays are, of course, an important adjunct of any retail store. They serve their purpose but this purpose is only to attract the attention of those who may be passing by the store. There are other forms of advertising, such as personal solicitation, but printed matter must always continue to be the chief reliance of merchants in attracting customers to their stores.

Advertising Begs Confidence.
The buying public has learned that the store which takes the people into its confidence through its advertising is the one in which it may expect to get the best bargains and the most satisfactory treatment. It knows that the store which advertises consistently and regularly has the best and most up-to-date stocks because this store sells its goods more rapidly than the one which does not advertise and, therefore, is not forced to carry over old stock from one season to another.

The public knows that the store which advertises can place lower prices on its goods because its turnover is stock offener than the store which does not advertise and, therefore, does not have its capital tied up in slow-moving merchandise.

The mail order house does not get its business by merely letting the public know that it has dry goods or hardware or groceries or some other commodity to sell. It creates a demand for its goods by placing in its catalogue attractive pictures and detailed descriptions of the articles which it has to sell. The lure of the mail order catalogue lies in the fact that the merits, or alleged merits, of the merchandise offered are placed before the prospective purchaser in the most graphic manner. The local retail merchant has the same opportunity to do this that the mail order house has and can do it much more effectively than the mail order house can. The retail merchant can talk to the people of his community through his home newspaper and that is something which the mail order houses as a rule cannot do for the local newspapers through a sense of loyalty to their communities and their home merchants will not accept the advertising with which the mail order houses would flood them if they had the opportunity.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES REID
Mrs. James Reid, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of this city passed away yesterday at her home on Charles St., after having attained the remarkable age of ninety-three years. The deceased lady was born at Richingham, Suffolk, England, Feb. 23, 1826. She came to Canada with her parents when she was only seven years of age. She was the daughter of the late John Bowell, a carpenter and builder, who settled first at Belleville and afterwards in Hungerford. At eighteen years of age she married the late James Reid, who for many years carried on a general mercantile business in the village of Tweed and at the time of his death some 30 years ago, was deputy postmaster here.

Four sons and two daughters survive. The sons are, Albert N., who was a dry goods merchant in Belleville for many years, now residing in Toronto, George E., who was for many years European manager for the Sun Life Assurance Co., residing in London, England, now living in Montreal, Dr. J. F., of St. Louis, and Charles M., managing director of the Ritchie Co., of this city. The two daughters are, Miss Addie, who has lived with her mother here and Miss Maud, who resides in Raleigh, North Carolina. The late Sir Mackenzie Bowell was a brother. Mrs. Reid had almost reached the same great age as that attained by Sir Mackenzie when he passed away in 1917.

Mrs. Reid was a life long member of the Methodist Church. Religion was a very real thing with her and her bible was her constant companion. Her death removes one of the few remaining links that connect the present with the pioneer life of the city and county and whose sturdy character and honorable record have contributed so greatly to the upbuilding of our community and state.

Marion Grace Finkle

Marion Grace, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Finkle, 123 Dundas St., passed away last night. She was born in Toronto and was seven years of age at the time of her death. She had been in ill-health for some time. She was an uncommonly bright and winsome child and was held in great appreciation by her little playmates at school. The bereaved parents will have the deepest sympathy of all in their loss.

Navigation Suit Resumed

Missing Original Document Found in Montreal
This morning in the Supreme Court before Chief Justice Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, the suit of the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Co., against Chapman and others was resumed. Mr. Porter for the plaintiffs produced the missing original document, which had been located in a lawyer's office in Montreal, where it had been likely left by a member of the company, when consulting a lawyer of that city. Mr. Nelson Ostrander of the Navigation Company was recalled and examined as to the accounts. The defence was then begun by Mr. Mikel and Mr. Jackson.

Kemp vs Kemp.—This was an action in the Supreme Court for alimony. The plaintiff left her husband in the year 1918 on the ground of cruel treatment of her by her husband who is about 30 years older than she. The defendant denied this. The case was settled. Porter, Butler and Payne for plaintiff, T. A. O'Rourke for defendant.

Parry vs Parry.—An action to compel defendant to maintain bars across a right of way on a farm in the third concession of Sidney, under the will of the grandfather of the litigants—the late Caleb Parry. Judgment was reserved. Porter, Butler and Payne for plaintiff; W. Carnew for defendant.

Shiba Sero vs Gault and Fleming.
The plaintiff in this action is an Indian woman residing on the Indian Reservation in Tyendinaga and the action is the result of the plaintiff; W. Carnew for the defendant. The defendants are both game and fishery overseer and inspector of the Department of Game and Fisheries of Ontario. The plaintiff claims the right to fish in the waters of the Bay of Quinte without license by treaty and contends that the regulation of fishery rights for the Indians are solely within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government and the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa. This action raises the constitutional question as to whether the Indians are subject to the Provincial laws. Provincial Game and Fisheries Inspector Gault seized the seine nets on the reserve under the instructions of Overseer Fleming. The action is to recover the seines. This morning the case was laid over for the hearing of argument at Toronto.

Presentation to Mr. Yarrow New Supervisor of G.T.R.

Peterboro, Ont., Nov. 25, 1919.
Dear Mr. Yarrow—

On the eve of your departure from our city of Peterboro, a few of those who have been associated with you, in the great endeavor to keep the two shining lines of steel in fit and proper shape, so that the wayfarer might ride in comfort and in safety, a few of those who have helped you to keep open the lines of communication in many a mighty battle with the storms of winter, and have endured with you in the heat and burden of many a summer day—have gathered in your home tonight, to say adieu, for we will not say good-bye, and to wish you Godspeed as you start out in a new field of endeavor.

For over five years you have gone in and out among us, and those five years have been memorable ones in the history of our country, and in the history of the world. It was your lot not to go to fight in the fields of Flanders but to stay with the goods, and to do your bit in hurrying the goods to the boys in the trenches. Right royally you did your duty in this respect, as we are here to testify, and we are the

DEADLY WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSED MEN'S DEATHS

No Trace of Original Source of Fatal Fluid—Chief Inspector Ayearst Produced Analysis of Liqueur Showing 82.94 and 82.80 per cent. Proof Spirits by Weight—Whole North Country Interested in Inquest at St. Oia Yesterday

(Special Ontario Staff Report)

Deadly methyl or wood alcohol was the cause of the death of the two men who passed away suddenly about two weeks ago in the northern part of the county. It was no concoction, no home-brew nor moonshine whiskey, but straight wood alcohol, a poison which if partaken of will kill, or if not, will blind the person who is unfortunate enough to drink it by mistake.

The verdict rendered by the jury at St. Oia yesterday afternoon, after a three-hour investigation before Coroner Dr. W. J. Gardner, of Eldorado, was that James Reid came to his death on Nov. 14th at his home in Limerick Township, Hastings County, from wood alcohol poisoning; that George Bennett came to his death on Nov. 13th at Wellman's Camp, Wollaston Township, County of Hastings, from wood alcohol poisoning.

Chief Inspector John A. Ayearst of the Liquor License Department and Inspector John Stokes were present, and Crown Attorney Carnew conducted the examination of witnesses.

What the men drank was shown by Chief Inspector Ayearst, who gave testimony. He testified that, learning through the press of the suddenness of the deaths of the two men and the suspicions aroused, he telegraphed Inspector John Stokes of these to investigate. The inspector secured samples of liquor found in the camp, belonging to Bennett, and sent two to Toronto for analysis by the Provincial Analyst. The one sample showed 82.94 per cent. proof spirits by weight, the other 82.80 per cent. proof spirits by weight. The analyst, at Mr. Ayearst's instructions, also made tests to find out what the liquor was. A fractional distillation of another portion of the fluid showed it to be nine-tenths by volume methyl or wood alcohol.

The man who supplied it is a murderer, said Mr. Ayearst. Every effort has been made to trace it, but unsuccessfully. It was not moonshine, bad as that is, but it was deadly poison.

Crown Attorney Carnew declared the government would spare no pains to trace any clue as to its source.

William Wellman, of Norwood, was next called. He had lived in Marmora until last spring. His occupation was that of auto mechanic.

man's friend pulled out the satchel and took from it a bottle. He got out of the wagon and got a cup out of his box. He filled it hardly half full of water. He asked Reid if he would take a drink. Reid said, "Yes, once in a while." He filled the cup then with liquor from the bottle and said, "Here's a drink for all three," but Reid drank it all. The other winked at Wellman. Nobody else took any liquor and the bottle was put back. After another move, Bennett again filled the cup with water and liquor, and said to Reid: "Here's a drink for all." But Reid drank it all. The other put hardly as much water into the cup, filled it up with liquor and drank it himself. He made some up for Wellman, but Wellman took a sip and threw the rest away. A little later, at a creek, the same performance took place. Reid said not to give him so much. There was half a cup of half liquor and half water, which Reid drank. Wellman did not take part in third round. No one complained of pains or discomfort. The party stopped at Jackson's. There Wellman's friend filled a flask from the first bottle and then left the flask with Jackson. He filled up the bottle with water. The bottle when first seen was full. Bennett said to Jackson "to take the flask; it was good stuff."

Witness never saw the bottle containing the yellowish liquor exhibited in court.

Half a mile farther on, Reid again took a drink which was offered him. The other took three-quarters of the diluted liquid. That was Reid's last drink.

Reid then had a hard job to sit on the wagon. His speech was affected. Witness hung on to him as he drove through the bush about a mile of the way. Witness was not surprised at Reid's condition. Reid started to lick the horses and Wellman took the whip from him. Nothing more occurred until the camp was reached, except that Bennett offered Reid another drink, which he refused. Bennett began to show some results of the liquor. At the camp Reid ate a hearty meal. This was about 3.30 p.m. Wellman's father prepared the meal. The two others ate also. Reid was very quiet.

Wellman went out for a partridge hunt for an hour. Reid was gone when he returned. The other was a little hilarious. Every fifteen or twenty minutes the man who brought the bottle would go outside, taking the cup, the bottle being outside, until witness went to bed about 9.30 p.m. Wellman was called at 6.15 a.m. next day. The other hunter was sleeping beside him. There was a pail of water by his head with a cup. Wellman went out about 7 o'clock. When witness returned, about noon, his friend was groaning but made no complaint. Witness covered him up; he was sleeping. Again Mr. Wellman left the camp for a hunt about one o'clock. His companion was sleeping quietly. Witness at three o'clock left the run-way and got back about 3.45 o'clock.

"Father said to me, 'George is dead.' I said 'No.' 'Yes, he's a corpse,' he said. 'I did not believe it. I went over and examined him. He was cold.'"

To the coroner—Witness did not remember telling anyone his companion was half drunk before breakfast at Marmora. As far as he knew, there was no drinking going on at Marmora. He did not tell anyone that.

Albert Wellman, of Rawdon, testified that he knew Bennett but not Reid. The former was not expected and was not to be a member of the camp.

Bennett seemed "off" to witness. In the camp Reid seemed stupid. Witness prepared the meal. When leaving, Reid seemed all right. There was no appearance of mauling talk. Witness did not see Bennett with any liquor while Reid was there. No member of the camp drank at Bennett's offer.

"The next day when we were fetching him out we heard of Reid's death."

At the camp later on Wednesday afternoon he offered witness a drink from the bottle (No. 1) containing clear liquid. Witness touched his lips and said, "George, you know I can't drink that stuff," and did not.

Albert Wellman took him outside and said, "I wish you would not expose that liquor before the maisters." (Rev. A. J. Terrill and Rev. A. M. Irwin) and he said he would not.

He retired at nine. Half an hour later he got the pail of water and put it by his head. He kept getting up during the night until 4 a.m., when Wellman, sr., told him to go to sleep and rest. Witness said he filled the bottle with the yellowish fluid and hid it. Bennett did not get up for breakfast, and said that he would not go out. About 11 o'clock R. Baker came out and said the man seemed all in. Rev. Terrill and Rev. Irwin came in. The latter felt no pulse, but the breathing was regular. Then he slept on. All the crowd but he left at 1 o'clock.

Albert Wellman was the first back. He was a little timid, as he felt the man was dead. Terrill and Lunt, who answered witness' call, said he was dead.

About a third of the bottle of yellow fluid had been drunk. Witness thought death was due to the drinking the liquid.

Thomas E. Potts, proprietor of the St. James Standard Hotel in Marmora for the last three years, testified that Bennett arrived on Tuesday afternoon at the hotel. He did not register. He was assigned room No. 1. He was in fine condition. He made complaints about feeling unwell. Witness was all ready to go hunting bear with Bennett. Bennett and Potts spent considerable time together. Potts' daughter was taken ill and witness had to stay home. His friend then decided to go north. On Saturday previously over the phone Bennett said, "what about the 'bait'?" and replied "I've all the stuff to go hunting. I'm shipping the box to you by express." On arrival Bennett said, "I have the bottle about the place, as he saw. Witness did not see the bottles in his possession. There was no intoxicating drink in the house. At the boat house, Bennett opened a flask of Scotch liquor, and each took about a spoonful. Wellman arrived early next morning.

Bennett and Potts drank a bottle each of 3 per cent. liquor on Tuesday night.

Bennett had no drink of any kind on Wednesday morning as far as he knew.

Rev. A. J. Terrill, Methodist minister at Norwood, said Bennett and Reid were strangers to him. Witness came in about dark. Both the men seemed under the influence of liquor. Bennett went in and out, retiring at a reasonable hour. He was good natured. Bennett was up several times. Witness saw him take three tablets of a laxative, which he said saved his life several times. "We went out thinking he was sleeping. We came in at twelve. Bennett's heavy breathing stopped while we were at dinner." Rev. Mr. Irvine felt the pulse; it was not heavy. Thinking he was sleeping peacefully, the party left. Coming back in an hour, Mr. Terrill found him dead. Not until after the death did witness see bottles. Reid had been rather inebriated on arrival the day before.

To the coroner—Witness heard nothing said of where the liquor might have come from. "I understood Mr. W. Wellman to say some time prior to our coming out, that Wellman said that he saw Potts and Bennett in a room in the hotel." Witness was not certain whether he mentioned their drinking, intoxicating liquor. His recollection was that Wellman referred to drinking intoxicating liquor, but he could not swear it.

Robert Baker said he was the first man back at 11 o'clock Thursday. Fifty yards away he heard Bennett groaning. Bennett tried to get on his knees but fell on the floor. He would not talk. His face was red. There was no evidence of struggle. Bennett quieted down then. Wellman rolled him up in blankets. Shortly he went to sleep. The men thought he would soon sleep off his trouble.

Benjamin Parker said Bennett offered him a drink, which witness refused as not being a drinker. Witness thought the cause of death was from taking the liquor.

Rev. A. Manson Irwin, of Oshawa, who was a hunter in the camp, testified that he and the others had concluded that the sick man was sleeping it off. He believed the death was due to the liquid in the bottles.

Wilfrid Jackson said that Bennett had left a flask of the stuff with him saying, "that's as good as three," but Jackson did not touch it as he was taking medicine for a malady.

Mathilda Ann Reid, widow of the unfortunate man, James Reid, swore that he was a farmer and teamster, 56 years of age, and had never complained of ill health. Reid came home from the camp, ate supper and went to bed. In the morning Mrs. Reid went to waken him. He said, "Can't you let me sleep half an hour longer?" He slept through until nearly noon. He got up in a nervous condition, went out to the stable and returned, going up to bed. He said he had pains in the stomach and head and complained of his feet being cold. She covered him up. He groaned during Thursday night and wanted to be left alone. He died at 5 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 14.

Clifford Reid, his son, met his father returning from the camp. "I asked him where he had been. He said he had taken two hunters to the camp. I asked him if he had had any moonshine or the real stuff. He said the real stuff—it was pretty strong and he had had only a couple of drinks."

Constable St. Charles of Madoc gave formal evidence of the viewing of the bodies and the summoning of the jury.

The jury was composed of M. Mawson, foreman, W. Stufels, J. Martin, W. Park, A. W. Swayne, R. Woodley, Alex. Sargent, George Park and Chas. Mawson.

The inquest was held in the small St. Oia station on the Canadian National Railway.

Mr. J. H. Turney, of Trenton, acted as court reporter for the taking of the evidence.

Many of the witnesses came from a long distance, one from as far as Oshawa. The law allows inquest witnesses no mileage nor fees, and this condition was severely criticized by some of the men who had lost two days of their time.

The station at which the inquest was held is a small place. In either end of it was piled cut cordwood. Benches for the jury and for a few witnesses were there, but the great part of the spectators and witnesses had to stand during the entire proceedings which lasted from about 11.15 a.m. on the arrival of the train from the south, to 1.55 p.m., a couple of minutes before the train from the north came in. Most of the witnesses travelled by train. The jury were nearly all residents of the immediate vicinity.

The fluid in the bottles exhibited at the inquest at St. Oia yesterday did not resemble wood alcohol, which is clear. One quart bottle less than half full had a liquid showing a slight trace of milkiness or muddiness. The other quart bottle contained a yellowish or orange tinged liquid, partly full. The third bottle was a flask with a small amount of liquid like the first. The two quart bottles were those which had apparently contained temperance wine as they bore labels. Many of these bottles might be found in the bottle sheds of hotels or at drug stores to which they had been sold for commercial use.

Boys Try to Break
Out of Cobourg Jail

While They Were Awaiting Transfer To Industrial School.

Cobourg Nov., 29.—On Friday last Bertram Lee, aged 17, of Toronto, and Edward King aged 17, of Bowmanville were let go on suspended sentence by Judge Ward in the county judge's criminal court, on a charge of breaking into the G. T. R. station a garage and hardware store at Bowmanville, and stealing a number of articles. Lee had escaped from the Mimico Industrial School, and King was out on parole, and the two were ordered back to Mimico to finish out their unexpired terms. One of the officials of the school came down for them on Saturday, and while he was here the two made an effort to escape. They were together in the same corridor at the gaol, and broke up the bench in the corridor. With the pieces of bench they broke out the ventilation grates in their cells, but as the grates are only about 12 x 10 inches they were unable to get out of their cells. Had they got out of their cells they would not have been able to get away, as the cells connect with another steel corridor. In addition to this they plugged the lock of the padded cell, so that it was necessary to take off the door to repair it. Instead of going back to Mimico from which place they declared they could easily get away from, they were brought up on a charge of damaging gaol property. Lee is the bad one of the two, and has all the

SHOULD BE TRACED TO THE END

The tragedy that occurred two weeks ago in Wollaston township should not be allowed to end with the verdict of the coroner's jury at St. Oia. A crime of the most atrocious nature has been committed. Two valuable and innocent lives have been sacrificed to satisfy the unholly greed of some fiend who sold poison, knowing it to be poison. As Chief Inspector Ayearst said, the man who supplied these poor victims with wood alcohol of the most powerful nature, knowing it was to be used for beverage purposes, can be described only as a murderer and, if discovered, ought to be treated as such.

The best detectives in the service of the department of justice at Toronto should at once be sent out to work upon this case and every clue traced to the limit.

There has been altogether too much laxity and indifference in various parts of this country in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. Bootleggers and moonshiners have been plying their dirty trade in the most open and brazen manner. Public drunkenness has been only too common and has in most cases been followed neither by arrest, conviction nor discovery of the source of the intoxicants.

This tragic occurrence in Wollaston should convey a solemn warning to officials and citizens alike.

Many men who ought to know better have taken a special pride in trying in every way to defeat and evade the Ontario Temperance Act and to bring prohibition into contempt. Men who are in every other respect decent and law-abiding citizens delight in taking chances against the prohibitory law. If they can get through without being caught they arrogate to themselves great honor because of their cleverness.

Cleverness in crime is a doubtful virtue. The consequences are always degrading and often disastrous. The man who illicitly supplies a chauffeur with the whiskey to make him drunk may have done a clever thing in eluding detection. But if the drunken driver goes out with his car and, in his dare-devil career runs down and kills a child on the street, who is to blame? Is not the man who supplies the liquor the cause of what is virtually murder?

There are strong differences of opinion in regard to the merits and demerits of prohibition. Be that as it may there should be absolutely no difference of opinion in reference to the enforcement of the law. As long as the Ontario Temperance Act is the law of this province it should be enforced rigidly, fearlessly and impartially. There should be no toleration whatever for any official whose duty it is to carry out the law and who fails in that duty. If any official is incompetent or unwilling to do the work for which he is being paid by the public he should either quit or be removed from his position without further ceremony.

But the public would do well to remember that officers of the law cannot do everything or be everywhere at once. They should have the active co-operation and hearty support of the citizens whom they serve. They should be supported in the most loyal manner and be given to understand that they will be protected to the limit in every honest effort to check or prevent crime.

Some extreme and unfeeling partners of booze are endeavoring to make use of this melancholy event in Wollaston as an argument against prohibition. They are but shallow reasoners. It is the other way about. Squirrel whiskey and all other whiskey substitutes are manufactured and supplied only because of conditions created in the days of license. The substitutes do occasionally cause death but the deaths produced by that means are not one to twenty-five as compared with the deaths brought about by the universal slow poison of whiskey under license. When the license-created appetites become dulled the demand for substitutes will be forgotten. A new generation will arise that will know none of these things. In the meantime it is the duty of every man connected with the administration or enforcement of the law to apprehend and punish to the full all those who scatter ruin and death by the nefarious traffic in their poisonous decoctions.

Every death that occurs by such means is a death too many. It is unnecessary and preventable. Prevention should come, not from a deluge of whiskey, but from strict and general enforcement of the law.

GERMANY IN DIFFICULTIES

Some American papers have been publishing stories describing the revival of industry in Germany. Even cartoonists have depicted a busy Germany, making eager preparations to flood the markets of the world with its products, and the American worker has been warned that unless he emulates the German example, America will not capture her share of the world trade. The Ancients used fables to point a good moral, and the modern Americans appear to an analogous practice, which, however, is different; for the fabrication of a fable and the distortion of facts are on separate planes of morality.

According to British correspondents in Germany that country is suffering from a depression which is causing grave alarm. Industries instead of flourishing are crippled by the lack of coal. Only recently the railways suspended all passenger trains—except those carrying workmen—for a period of eleven days; the result while it helped the coal situation caused new dislocations of business. Labor conditions are bad; iron and steel workers have been on strike for weeks, and there is bitter talk of a general strike. Food is scarce and very high in price in the cities. The people are torn by faction—full of suspicion and pessimism. And now there is fear that troops returning from Baltic Russia may cause a new revolution.

EUROPE WORRIED

Alarm, and in some instances consternation has been caused throughout Europe by the refusal of the United States Senate to ratify the peace treaty. The Governments of the Entente powers are especially concerned over the situation. They feel that it remains the wreck of the league of nations and, therefore, a return to the old system of alliances, which has kept the world in arms, and which made possible the calamity mankind has just experienced. The peace agreement with its league of nations conditions, opened the way to one for all from international affairs those balances of power which kept alive suspicion, distrust and jealousy.

In England there appears to be a feeling that eventually the Senate, in view of American public opinion, will accept the treaty as it stands, but in the meantime a critical situation is rapidly developing in Europe. Marshal Foch believes that Germany is already preparing for another war, and says that owing to delay in putting the league of nations into action, Germany had used the excuse of requiring a police force to gather a powerful army of 1,000,000 men. Throughout all parts of Germany, too, there is open talk of bringing back the Hohenzollerns, and Hindenburg and Ludendorff are being treated as heroes whenever they appear in public.

The French people are especially worried over the Senate's action, as unless the treaty is ratified by the United States, the arrangement by which England and the United States will defend France against another attack of Germany falls down. That will necessitate new alliances and the upkeep of vast armies and navies on the part of all nations, including the United States. It is a gloomy outlook the world faces unless the American Senate promptly drops politics by accepting the pact, and acts in a way that represents the unselfishness and high idealism of the great hearted American people.

Are you already getting "fed up" on advice to do your Christmas shopping early? If you feel that way about it, then decidedly you are one of those individuals who are in the habit of leaving the purchasing to the last crowded and scrambling hours, and it is you to whom the warning is most necessary. The person who habitually does his or her gift buying early, knows well the advantage economically and physically of that method and recognizes and appreciates the wisdom of the advice. There are larger stocks today to select from, and greater room in which to do the selecting than there will be a few days before the holiday, or on Christmas eve. You will receive a closer attention from clerks than is possible in the big closing rush, and besides out of consideration for the much-tried clerks, we should get our share of the shopping over as early as possible. The shops of Belleville are filled with gifts, beautiful and useful. Look them over now while there is the quantity and opportunity that will be lacking at the last moment. You are going to do Christmas shopping eventually, then why not now?

OTHER EDITORS' OPINIONS

THE PRINCE'S SPEECHES

Whether or not the particularly graceful and discreet little speeches which the Prince of Wales has been making since his arrival in the United States are what is called extemporaneous—that is a question of no particular importance. They sound as if they were, and nothing more is required. Being, evidently, either a notably wise young man or one notably well advised and equally competent to profit by good counsel, the chances are that he thinks out carefully beforehand what he shall say whenever he foresees a demand for oratory. That the speeches are his own it is as unnecessary as it would be ungracious to doubt, for there appears in them, here and there, a certain not boyishness, but young-mannishness, that would not be in them if they were the products of older heads than his. That they are not even edited by anybody else is more than hinted by an occasional venturing into the humorous. That would be avoided if the responsibility of his position were felt as a burden, instead of being only realized as a privilege not without its amusing side for a truly modern youth. Observe, for instance, that in the brief expression of thanks for welcome addresses, to the American people, the prince wrote: "Your aims are as democratic as ours." An older Briton probably would have said the same thing in another way: "Our aims are as democratic as yours." The implication of a possibility of finding here less democracy than in monarchical England, though veiled, is clear, and it contains the element of the unexpected that is the peculiarity of one sort of joke.—New York Times.

TABACCO TO MINORS

There is much controversy these days about the subject of tobacco. We do not propose at this time to decide whether its use is harmful or not to those men who indulge in the weed, but we are prepared to say that it is harmful to a growing boy, and as a protection to society and the state, no minor should be permitted to use it.

If a grown up man wishes to smoke or chew we have no objection so long as he does not become obnoxious with his smoke and spittle to those about him.

We are pained however, to see the young lads of our village indulging in a habit which is a menace to their physical, moral and mental well-being and we are convinced that our community should see to it, that so far as the law directs at least, the use of tobacco should be curtailed in our midst.

There seems to be a general impression that the age limit is 18 years instead of 15. Following are the clauses in the act relating to the sale of tobacco to minors:

- (1) This Act shall be cited as the Minors' Tobacco Sales Act. (2) (1) No person shall directly or indirectly sell or give or furnish to a minor under eighteen years of age cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form. R.S.O. 1897, chap. 281. (2) Every person who contravenes sections 2 incurs a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $50, recoverable under The Ontario Summary Convictions Act. R.S.O. 1897, chap. 291, S. 2. (4) This Act shall not apply to a minor for his parent or guardian under a written request or order of the parent or guardian. R.S.O. 1897, chap. 291, S. 2. (5) A person who appears to the magistrate to be under 18 years of age shall be presumed to be under that age unless it is shown by the evidence that he is in fact under that age. R.S.O. 1897, C 281, S. 3.—Tweed News.

CAMPAIGN FOR AN EXPANDED BELLEVILLE AUSPICIOUSLY OPENED

Remarkable Address by Allen D. Albert Enthused and Inspired Campaigners at Hotel Quinte Last Night—Philip W. Blake, Capitalist of New York also Delivered a Message—Cities Must Provide a Solid Basis of Citizenship to Attract and Hold Population

Under the inspiration of an address that will live long in the memories of all who heard it the campaign for expansion and better conditions in Belleville was auspiciously inaugurated at a brilliant banquet at Hotel Quinte last night.

There may have been addresses as powerful and inspiring delivered on previous occasions in our city as that given last night by Allen D. Albert, past president of the International Rotary Clubs of America, but every last man present was unshakable in the conviction that it was the most inspiring message ever delivered in Belleville at any time and on any subject.

Allen D. Albert is an orator who grips the imagination and fires enthusiasm. He stirs his audience profoundly by his unsurpassable faculty for apt illustration, irresistible humor and solid basis of sound judgment and common sense. Nearly two hundred of the representative citizens of Belleville surrounded the tables in the spacious dining-room of Hotel Quinte in anticipation of an interesting program as promised by the City Bureau organizers. Anticipation but faintly realized the treat in store.

The feast was in Hotel Quinte's best style. The service was faultless and prompt. The menu was satisfying to the hungry guests. As the several courses were served the intervals were taken up with rollicking songs and choruses that gave a groundwork of fine spirits for the intellectual feast that was to follow.

Mr. R. J. Graham, Chairman. Mr. R. J. Graham, president of Graham's Limited, and the industrial captain of the Bay of Quinte district provided a genial introduction to the program in his capacity of chairman.

After the toast to "The King" had been honored with loyal enthusiasm Mr. Graham said that he could think of no greater honor than to be called upon to preside over an unique gathering of this kind. There were present a number who were here for the first time and some who had come to join in our industrial life. It was a representative gathering. He was particularly pleased to welcome the young men.

It behooves all of us to become boosters. (Cheers.) He was delighted to see such an unanimous gathering. When we all put our shoulder to the wheel something is bound to move. When he saw the returns from the Victory Loan he realized that Belleville was a wealthy city. Over a million dollars had been collected and this had all been saved within the last year. There would not likely be any further necessity for Victory Bonds. Why not then invest a million dollars a year in new industries?

He was glad to see that the ladies had endorsed this movement. He then read a message from the Women's Canadian Club promising their hearty co-operation. He also welcomed the support of the Retail Merchants' Association. Investments in industries would come back in increased business to the merchants. (Cheers.)

Philip W. Blake, of New York, Speaks

At the banquet was an unexpected guest in the person of Mr. Philip W. Blake, of New York. Mr. Blake is investigating various possible locations in Ontario for a large industrial corporation, the nature of which he did not disclose. In the course of his tour he was looking over Belleville as one of the points whose advantages were worthy of full consideration. From the tone of Mr. Blake's brief address his hearers gathered the impression that he was prepared to give this city's claims a most favorable report.

The future development of a town, said Mr. Blake on rising, depends upon its resources and its progressiveness.

He knew of some cities in the States that were just the same as they were five years ago. One town in the south was so slow that a man who dropped dead on the post office steps on Monday morning was not discovered till the following

Friday. He had had occasion the past two weeks to investigate the water powers between Toronto and Montreal. The interests he represented had determined to settle on this side of the line. The tariff compelled them to do so. (Cheers.)

There must be centralized control of the province. He had served for many years in municipal development work. He knew the problems municipalities had to face.

The companies he represented wished to settle in the industrial section of Canada which lay between Montreal and Windsor.

When they came to a town they looked for certain things. They wanted to see a wide awake progressive citizenship. They desired also water supply, sewerage and good sanitary and living conditions.

His was not a promotion project. He wasn't after bonuses. He didn't ask for any money. He didn't know of any place that had greater industrial opportunities than the district east of Toronto.

He had been in only six towns so far. Belleville offered the best natural advantages of any town he had yet visited.

He had helped to organize two or three city bureaus himself. He knew it would go here for the Canadian City Bureau was in charge. He knew their work all over the United States and how successful it had been.

Mr. Robert A. Crosby's Message.

Mr. Robert A. Crosby, local organizer of the Canadian City Bureau delivered a brief message.

Mr. Blake had told the audience, said Mr. Crosby, what he and other people were looking for in a town. It wasn't so much the matter of bonuses as a question of the people themselves. He had never seen Mr. Blake until that afternoon.

In a nutshell the plan of the City Bureau was to look forward to 1925. It was to secure co-operation of citizenship on a definite three-year basis and program. Your life centres in Belleville itself. He brought no experiment. It was thoroughly tried and proved by success elsewhere. He wasn't going to let the people how to spend the money, once it was collected. They must engage a permanent secretary. It would be his business.

His organization had been tried out in 200 cities on this continent. The failures could be counted on the fingers of one hand of a cripple.

Allen D. Albert.

Mr. Allen D. Albert, the speaker of the evening, received a very cordial welcome when he rose to speak but at the conclusion of his address he received the best imitation of an ovation that the dignified gentlemen of this city knew how to offer.

"My new-made friends of Belleville" he began and he was instantly on good terms with everybody. He wondered if he had not made a mistake. He thought he was coming to address a typical board of trade. He knew of no equal of a Canadian board of trade for entire and impeccable and irreproachable respectability. (Laughter.)

The reputation of Belleville as it reached the outside was that of a city with a generous admixture of Scotland. That was a people with a very quiet sense of humor. (Laughter.)

Mr. Albert gave an amusing report of his journey from Toronto and his experience at a lunch counter en route. It reminded him of an account sent in by one of his assistants when he was publishing a newspaper.

"For one supper in a railroad restaurant 20¢; for eating same $2.50." (Laughter.)

Neighborhood Service.

It is a wondrous day in which we live. It is bringing our neighbor from the south of the line to talk to us with considerable frankness. There were neighbors on both sides of an imaginary line who only needed to know one another better to serve one another better. (Cheers.)

The Americans didn't believe they had won the war. That was merely the talk of some irresponsible newspapers. It was their privilege merely to pour into a measure that was already nearly full. (Cheers.) Cities Do Not Grow by Accident.

Cities no longer merely stretched out and grew by accident. With the development of social science it was now possible to speak with confidence of the principles that went to make cities expand and grow.

Distant towns are fatter. It is always the other towns that are doing this and that. The men who build such cities as Seattle, Spokane, Minneapolis, Cleveland and Detroit are inspired by that intangible thing we call human spirit. If you had not that spirit all the natural advantages in the world would not avail. Sites are pedesters. The people are not.

If we cannot all come together and say individually "the growth of Belleville is my concern" then we had better tell Mr. Crosby to go home and save our $35.

He had heard that ponderous slogan in every town. "We need more industries." It was a truer statement to say that every town needed more retail trade. Then came wholesale trade.

All over this continent cities have strangled themselves because of the lack of wholesale trade.

Commercial Men the Best Advertisers.

The best channel-deepener and advertiser for a town is a traveller for a wholesale house. He was consulted on many topics, political, social and commercial.

Then comes the factory itself. There was a great deal of bunk told about the location of factories. Factories looked at one consideration—would a location bring them in money?

When we come to a city, do they begin by being honest with the visitor? asked Mr. Albert. They take us in their twelve-cylinder cars and show us the union station and the best part of the city and then say good-bye to us at the best hotel and ask us how we like the city. "I can find out more by inspecting the alleys of a city for half an hour than all your mayors can show me all day," said Mr. Albert amid laughter.

Branch Factories All Right.

If you hold your breath and wait for the Baldwin Locomotive Works or Standard Oil or the International Harvester Co. to bring their main factory to Belleville, the chances are you will choke to death. (Laughter.)

But what you can get is branches of these great corporations. Do not despise the branch.

The Bankers Sometimes Do Not Help.

Bankers often do less as a class to help towns grow than any others. But their excuse is that they must be careful of their clients' money and they are not in the business of manufacturing. Wide-awake bankers can give great assistance in the building up of an industrial community. Mr. Albert here gave instances of several great industries in the United States that had been built up by the timely assistance of far-visioned bankers. Milwaukee was holding its own in competition with Chicago because its bankers were promoters in industry.

Belleville is not a location but a company. It is the people that make a city and not the place. If you make Belleville an attractive place for people you will have a good chance to grow. If you don't you will have an awfully slim chance to grow. If a clergyman were not present he would not have said "awfully" slim but would have used a different word. (Laughter.)

One of the discoveries of the present age is that the things the average workman desires for his family are the things you desire for your family. The workman will go to the place and stay where he can find the things he wants for his family.

One of the dangers of the immediate future is that we won't be fair to union labor. He didn't mean not being fair in regard to wages and hours, but in the personal attitude.

"You pay God an awfully bad compliment in Belleville if you think you can neglect your lowliest citizen and not harm yourself." (Cheers.) The children must have a chance to play. It was amusing to watch the average American try to play. Some played golf or curling. Some drank in the old days. Some merely sat around.

The Other Class. Belleville is made up of 93 per cent. of people who are different from you, said Mr. Albert significantly. "When you plan lay your plans for the 93 per cent. rather than the 7 per cent. Give them a chance to play. Provide open spaces. Find places where the grown-ups can play."

There should also be a place where the women should have an opportunity to play. "Whether you Canadians like it or not you must recognize the fact that women are people." (Laughter.)

The Solid Rock of Religious Faith.

In his closing remarks Mr. Albert gave emphasis to his conviction that no community could succeed or permanently prosper unless its community life was established on the solid rock of religious faith.

The day was past when the scientist believed that he could do without God. Herbert Spencer in his synthetic philosophy of ten volumes which began with the hypothesis of an Unknown Cause ended just where it began.

Beyond the last test tube is this thing that science cannot guess about. There is a longing for immortality. This is the very foundation of city building. City builders will succeed as they avow their reverence for God.

He had never talked to any group of men who did not listen to him with a new respect when they learned that he took religion seriously.

Workmen, he feared, were no longer going to church. Men were staying away from church and the ministers had gotten into the habit of addressing their messages to women. The workman had gained the impression that only men who wore coats with tails went to church.

"The test is on you" were Mr. Albert's closing words. "Do you dare to put your hand to these other people? If you do you will find that God is rich with His kindness."

There was continued applause when Mr. Albert resumed his seat. The National Anthem brought the program to a close.

This is the largest consignment that ever went through the city on its way to New York. The train was guarded by a posse of railroad detectives. The value of the material was about $20,000,000. The shipment came through Canada over the C.P.R. to Prescott, Brockville Recorder and Times.

Foreigner Fined $350 — In Liquor Case.

Harry Chuplak was a poorer man to the extent of over $320 on Monday after Magistrate Hind was through with him. In the police court. He was charged with selling liquor to H. Zabihalla, about Aug. 23rd with the result that the latter was fined for intoxication. Zabihalla also told the magistrate who had supplied him with the booze but Harry had skipped out before the police came around. But the law has a good memory and when Chuplak was seen in town last week, he was immediately taken in tow and charged with an offence against the O. T. A. He was also charged under the Alien act with not reporting to the police since October 8th. For selling liquor a fine of $300 and costs was imposed and $20 and costs for not reporting. — Oshawa Reformer.

Miss Helen Fraser Injured.

Miss Helen Fraser, clerk of the surrogate court Kingston is confined to her home as the result of falling on the steps at the court house on Friday afternoon and cutting her lip severely. Miss Fraser had completed her work and was in the act of going out of the court house to catch a car, when she slipped on the stone steps, falling on her face and cutting her lip. She was immediately taken to a doctor, who found it necessary to put seven stitches in the wound. It is expected that Miss Fraser will be around again in a short time. The doctor hopes that no scar will result.

Came to Dance, But He Remained To Pay.

Arthur John Hearl, a young man from Bowmanville appeared before the Magistrate on Friday morning, charged with having liquor in an authorized place. On Thursday evening he arrived in town, it is said with three companions, with the intention of going to a dance. Just how much dancing Hearl did is not known, for the police apprehended him at the four corners in an intoxicated condition and with a bottle on his person. If Hearl did any further dancing that night it was in the cells. While he was there, his three companions asked the police that he might be released but if that course had been taken the provincial exchequer might have been short the $200 and costs fine, which his magistrate imposed on the young man next day. — Oshawa Reformer.

No Hotel Accommodation Again.

Many of the delegates from Kingston to the recent meeting in Toronto of the Associated Boards of Trade expressed a desire of coming to Kingston for the next meeting. It was felt however that good hotel accommodation in Kingston was lacking and Belleville being able to show she possessed such, she won out.

Course on Home Nursing.

The course of lectures on home nursing began on Wednesday evening of last week in St. George's Hall. About a dozen ladies enrolled for the course and the prospects are bright for a substantial increase in membership for this interesting and instructive course. The work covered is instruction in first aid in the sick room and under the tutelage of Mrs. (Dr.) Macdonald, who was an overseas nurse as bound to be a course from which those attending will derive much benefit. — Oshawa Reformer.

Laid to Rest.

Mrs. James Reid.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mahanna Reid, took place this afternoon, Rev. Dr. Scott, of Bridge St. Methodist Church and Rev. Dr. Baker of Albert College conducted an impressive service. The funeral was of a private nature. The interment was made in Belleville cemetery and the bearers were immediate relatives of the family.

Bridge St. Church Choir Social Evening.

An exceedingly pleasing function took place on Thursday evening, the 27th inst., in the parlors of the church when the choir accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Scott and Mrs. Scott and the members of the church music committee, in all over sixty persons sitting down to a "high tea" of a very bountiful and appetizing nature. Mr. V. P. Hunt, organist and choirmaster, presided and short, interesting speeches were also given by Dr. Scott, Mr. F. S. Deacon and Mr. F. E. O'Flynn. These were punctuated by old time songs and patriotic choruses sung by the whole happy party. Mr. S. Burrows, one of the choir members of nearly thirty years' standing led the audience in Rule Britannia with all his old-time vigor.

Early Fire Yesterday.

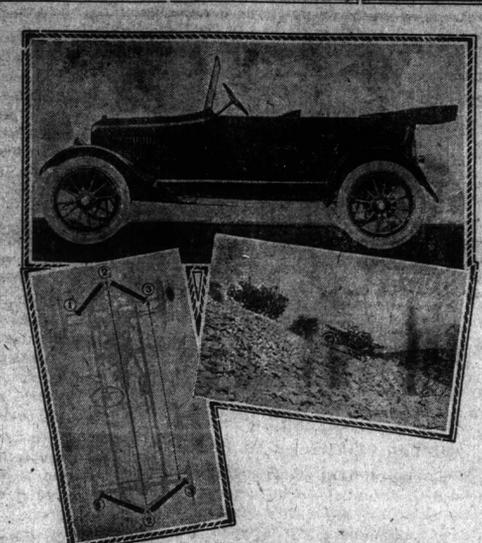

Fire totally destroyed the building and its contents of Mr. Sam Lapan on St. Lawrence street, beside Whytock mill, about seven o'clock yesterday morning and it was with difficulty that Mr. Lapan rescued his wife.

The fire started downstairs from the stove and the entire place was quickly consumed. The lower part contained a quantity of produce, and the second storey was used as a residence. A quantity of butter, eggs and other live stock along with the entire household effects is a total loss. An unfortunate feature is the fact that Mr. Lapan was unable to secure about eight hundred cash which was in the store.

The owner estimates his loss to be about $2,500 in addition to the $1,500 insurance.

The fire brigade were on the job, and with two streams of water prevented the blaze spreading to Mr. Charles Reid's implement building which was badly scorched as also were the buildings across the street.

Nothing could be done to save the Lapan building for the fire had got such a start.

Above is shown the new, made-in-Canada Overland 4. It is being manufactured at Toronto by Willys-Overland Limited, who announce that production on a quantity basis has now been reached.

The chassis is illustrated along with the finished touring car model because of its radical departure in spring suspension. It will be seen from the drawing that the "springbase" exceeds the wheelbase by 30 inches. This exclusive "three-point" principle is the basis of the manufacturers' claim that the springs of Overland 4 give it a riding comfort hitherto not realized in a light car of the economical short wheelbase.

Willys-Overland Limited claim that this new Spring Suspension has been subjected to the most rigorous, mechanical, laboratory, and road tests that engineers have ever devised, including 250,000 miles of road testing. Action Against The G. T. R., For $52000 Was Dismissed.

Relatives of five dead motorists killed in a jay crossing accident at Bowmanville on August 11, 1917, who made claims aggregating $52,000 against the Grand Trunk Railway Company, had their action dismissed without costs by Mr. Justice Rose on Saturday at Toronto. The auto in which the motorists met their death had been blocked by a freight train. After a few minutes waiting the freight split the freight train and as the auto proceeded through the gap it was struck by an express passenger train travelling on the far track. Five of the occupants of the car, William Johnston, J. J. Connolly, J. F. Fletcher, Mrs. Florence Walker and J. P. Normyle were killed, and their relatives entered claims for $10,000 each, alleging that the opening of the freight train had been an invitation for them to proceed. Their counsel Mr. J. R. Roaf, also sought to prove that on account of the number of accidents which had previously occurred there the crossing was a dangerous one, but Mr. Justice Rose upheld the objection of Mr. J. F. Hellmuth, K. C., that such evidence was not relevant. —Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

A light snow has fallen, covering with a white blanket the brown meadows and the furrowed fields. The Real Liver Pill.

A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to arouse the liver to healthy action is Parmelec's Vegetable Pills. They are compounded of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

Dennis Owens' Will Was Established

Plaintiffs Failed to Endeavour to Prove Him Incompetent to Make Will. Sir Glenholme Falconbridge Wednesday delivered judgment in the action of James and Joseph Owens vs Agnes Owens, to set aside a will of Dennis Owens on the ground of mental incompetency. The case opened on Monday afternoon. The parties reside in Seymour. The Chief Justice dismissed the action of the Owens brothers with costs, finding the will established. They endeavored to get a will aside made by their brother Dennis. The judge, in making his judgment said he had the testator, Dennis Owens had led an active life as a farmer until 57 years of age. On the death of his father he acquired some more land. Dennis thought he would lease it. Having once leased it, he found himself suddenly deprived of an occupation and with time on his hands. This weighed heavily on his mind and spirits and induced melancholy. The judge said he could imagine a judge after an active career, given leisure by a benevolent government retiring him on a pension. "He might not attempt suicide but I doubt if he would live six months," said his Lordship. There was no evidence that Dennis did not know his friends. The suddenness of his bargaining to cancel the lease even at cost to himself was not a sign of insanity but an indication that Dennis Owens felt he must get back his land in order to be busy. He was in an inert and melancholy condition, and did not take part in conversation very freely. His reluctance to go to Kingston was natural. He did not want the bother for he had no confidence in doctors. The evidence of Mr. G. A. Payne, his solicitor who drew the will and Dr. Armstrong, who attended Dennis was very clear that the man was perfectly capable of making a will and was rational. The evidence as to the alleged attempt at suicide was considered. This would be the result of profound melancholy, but was not an indication of insanity. The reason that suicide and insanity got mixed in the minds of the public is that in the old laws of England, suicide was a felony and juries adopted the benevolent fiction of pronouncing "suicide while temporarily insane."

Relief from Asthma.

Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

The marriage of Mr. Edison Campbell, a returned hero, and a son of Mr. J. Campbell, Hillier, and Miss Mabel Cunningham of Oshawa was solemnized on Wednesday, Nov. 19th in Oshawa. Their Hillier friends gave them a shower of useful presents in the town hall on Friday evening. Dancing was indulged in.
