Beautiful Cynthia;

Victory After Many Defeats.

CHAPTER I.
THE BOY HERO.

"It's rather a long story, Cynthia," said Drayle, carefully folding a slice of bread and butter and regarding it thoughtfully before taking a bite. "And, like most long things, should be avoided. But perhaps I can condense it into tabloid form. I will not begin with 'Once upon a time,' or 'In the year so and so,' but I will state shortly that Sir Anson wants something that I've got, that I'm not prepared to part with. Permit me to remark in parentheses, Cynthia, that to want something, and to keep on wanting it, when you know you can't get it, is childish and futile."

"What is it that Sir Anson wants?" asked Cynthia, deeply interested.

"My land," replied Drayle, succinctly. "He has what is called the earth-hunger. Of all hungers it is the most insatiable. It grows on what it feeds upon. The more you have, the more you want. Sir Anson has several thousand acres of land—so many that it would tire and bore him to death to circumambulate it."

"Daddy, what a terrifically long word!"

"I crave pardon, Cynthia. We will say, walk round it. Now, really all the earth Sir Anson wants, or will want in a few short years, will be about six feet by four, just enough to lie down in comfortably. But all the same, he wants to buy my moorland. His father had this same earth-hunger, and did succeed in buying from my father the greater portion of the land, he clung on to the moor which I now possess. See, Cynthia?"

Cynthia nodded. "Of course I do, father. But why should Sir Anson dislike you and be angry with you because you won't sell him the land that is left you?"

"Because Sir Anson thinks it is like my impudence to refuse him," said Drayle. "He is a baronet, the great man of the place, the squire, while I am just Bradley Drayle—a yeoman. I think I ought to call myself, though I always picture a yeoman as a kind of giant with a red face and a cord riding suit. Naturally enough, Sir Anson cannot understand why I refuse a good offer. For he has made me a very good one. And he thinks me an obstinate, pig-headed fellow, which, quite between ourselves, I really believe I am."

"Then, again," said Drayle, looking hard at his tea-cup, "there was another thing. Your mother," his voice dropped, there was a slight twitch of his thin, intellectual lips, "your mother—she was a very beautiful girl, Cynthia. I am somewhat puzzled to account for your plainness, my child."

"Perhaps I take after you, daddy," said Cynthia, meekly and innocently.

"Probably," assented Drayle gravely, enjoying her unconsciousness of her budding beauty. "Your mother was extremely pretty. And she was a lady, above me in station. She was a Leicester. Ah, yes; you don't know what that means. No matter Sir Anson had met her, and—I have never heard any one impugn Sir Anson's good taste."

"You mean that he fell in love with mother?" said Cynthia, almost in a whisper.

"He did," replied Drayle. "But she married me."

"I'm very, very glad she did, daddy," exclaimed Cynthia, with a long breath of satisfaction.

"Thank you, my dear," said her father. "That is one of the nicest compliments that I ever had paid me; but I must admit that I have not received many. I take it that you wish me to infer that if you had been given the choice of a father—which, when you come to think of it, every person ought to have—you would have selected the humble individual who now addresses you?"

"Yes. I should certainly have chosen you, daddy," said Cynthia emphatically. "But, of course, Sir Anson must have been dreadfully disappointed, though he ought to have forgiven you by this time."

"I agree with you, Cynthia, but I am afraid he hasn't. Here endeth the explanation of the fact that Sir Anson only touches his hat and always looks away when I greet him courteously."

Cynthia looked before her thoughtfully for a minute or two, then she said:

"I suppose you don't want me to have anything to do with young Darrel Frayne, father?"

"Why not?" he replied. "That would be perpetuating, or, rather, imitating, Sir Anson's folly. There is no reason why you should not be friends. No, there is a reason, and Sir Anson will doubtless provide it. You will find that when you next meet young Frayne he will look away and pretend he doesn't see you. Being a gentleman, he will also blush and appear extremely uncomfortable. But all the same, he will remember his father's commands and will cut you."

Cynthia laughed, but her color rose slightly, and her eyes were downcast.

"Who cares?" she said.

"You do, my dear Cynthia," retorted Drayle. "And I should be sorry if you didn't, because it would argue that you were capable of ingratitude toward your heroic rescuer. But all the same, you will return the cut by looking straight before you and pretending that you do not see him."

"I can do that, father, very well," said Cynthia.

"I never doubted it," said Drayle, emphatically. "The committee will now adjourn. A portion of it will return to the arduous task of encouraging the growth of parasites by the sweat of his brow, and will expect

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

Costs Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded if It Fails.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put ½ ounce of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in ginseng and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

his toll with a fragrant pipe. I think I left it in the sitting room. No, don't trouble, I will get it."

He went into the next room, which milks the ordinary sitting room of the farmer class, was homely and comfortable, because Drayle and Cynthia sat in it in the evenings and did not keep it for show, and got his pipe. But as he was about to light it, he paused, laid it down, and, going to a 14-fashioned safe built into the wall unlocked it and took out a paper. He tucked this for some time, his lips nursed up, his finger rubbing his eye row, then he muttered:

"Is it worth while, I wonder? No, it isn't."

With a shrug of the shoulders and sigh as if the decision had brought him relief, he tossed the paper back into the safe, with the air of a man browning something off his mind.

It was a pity, because if, instead of browning the paper into the safe and off his mind, he had taken it to the awyer at Dursley, Cynthia's future would have been made much easier, and would not have been tangled up by Fate, who, in playing with the skein of our lives, is sometimes like a playful kitten, but more often like a spiteful cat.

CHAPTER III. A BOY'S PRIDE.

Having waited until Cynthia had reached the point of safety, Darrel made for home.

He rode into the stable yard as quietly as possible, for when you have a black eye and a cut and swollen lip you do not court observation.

Fortunately, the menservants were at tea. Darrel stabled his pony, and

SOME WORKING GIRLS LOSE TOO MUCH TIME

Two Girls Tell How To Avoid It.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. We therefore quote from the letters of two girls who suffered and were restored to health. The same remedy is within reach of all.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"Prior to taking the first bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered agony every month, but after your wonderful medicine had been taken a while I felt a little better, and after taking seven bottles of it feel that I can truly say I have no more pain or inconvenience."

"As I am out in the business world as a stenographer, I come in contact with many girls, and when the opportune moment arrives I tell them about the Vegetable Compound and I know that quite a few are taking it."—HELEN CARTER, 550 Dean St.

Another Girl's Experience. Tishomingo, Okla.—"I am a stenographer and book-keeper, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved my life. I am enjoying the best of health now, but I was suffering from female troubles and painful periods, and would have backache, headache and fainting spells. If any woman would like to write to me I will gladly answer her letter and tell her what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. MATTIE COPPINHAYEN, Tishomingo, Okla.

meeting no one, went through the back hall and was stealing up the stairs to his own room, when his father came out of his den, as he called the room where he kept his guns, fishing rods, and other implements of the chase, and caught sight of the back of his son and heir.

The Fraynes had always been almost kings in Summerleigh and the district. Their word had been law for centuries. There was no one to say them nay. To this social despot, good-natured and genial as he was, the fact that Bradley Drayle, a mere nobody compared with the owner of the Court, should set his will against the present representatives of that ancient race.

It seemed absurd to Sir Anson that a man living in a "tumble-down old cottage" should refuse to sell his land, and, so to speak, defy the owner of Summerleigh Court. And, no doubt, it seemed absurd to Drayle that the owner of a magnificent country mansion and thousands of acres of land should be nasty because he could not buy a bit of moorland. The great difference between the two men's view of the case lay in the fact that while Drayle could see the humor of the affair, Sir Anson's sense of the comic had for once deserted him.

"Hello, Darrel!" he said, cheerily. "Where have you been?"

"Been for a ride, sir," said Darrel, still mounting the broad stairs and still keeping his back to view.

"Come and have some tea. I'll tell them to put it in the den," said Sir Anson.

"Down directly, father," responded Darrel. As he spoke he turned a corner of the staircase, forgetting that he damaged side of his face was now presented to view.

"Hello!" exclaimed Sir Anson. "Hi! What's the matter? Here, come down!"

Darrel, with a shrug of the shoulders and a grin of resignation, turned and descended slowly and followed his father into the den.

"Where did you get that face?" demanded Sir Anson, by no means angrily, but with pardonable curiosity.

"In a fight, sir," replied Darrel, in a matter-of-fact tone, as if fighting, with its facial results, were an everyday affair with him. "I'll go and have a wash and come down presently."

"Hold on a minute," said Sir Anson, seating himself on the edge of the writing-table and swinging his leg. "What was it about? Whom did you fight? Let's have the whole thing, Darrel. My word, but you've got an eye!"

"I know, sir," said Darrel, cheerfully. "But there is nothing else the matter. I saw a chap worrying a girl coming home from school, and I had to cut with him."

"Of course," said Sir Anson, with prompt approval. "Was he a big chap, bigger than you?"

"Yes, a bit heavier," said Darrel, unconsciously drawing himself up.

"Did you beat him?" inquired his father, with a touch of anxiety.

Darrel nodded somewhat reluctantly, for, according to his code, it was caddish to brag about a victory.

"That's all right," said Sir Anson, with a smile.

"Oh, he showed fight, all right enough," observed Darrel, with a desire to do justice to his late opponent. "But he couldn't box for nix, and so I had the pull of him."

"He seems to have got in one or two, notwithstanding," said Sir Anson, viewing the injured countenance (pauzanuoo eq oL)

The Mayor of Dayton reports 13 feet of water at the Union Station, 1,000 lives lost and 30,000 homeless. At Piquette 540 lives are reported lost. An appeal for food is made. Xenia has already sent three captives. The Brookfield operator reports half Dayton under water from 30 to 40 feet; every service disorganized; and great suffering. The National Cash Register Plant is on fire. Water, says another despatch, is running like a mill race. Hundreds have been drowned, including 10 militiamen.

The southward movement of the ice fields has commenced. The German steamer Manheim reports a berg 100 feet long, in lat. 43 N., long. 49.30 W. This is the first berg sighted south of 45 degrees this year. It is expected that the icebergs will be in the steamer tracks within three weeks. The whaler Scotia will be at her station in a few days, and the hydrographic office will receive and distribute her reports among the shipping interests.

Vast areas between the Missouri and the Alleghany Mountains are inundated. Indiana and Illinois suffered terribly. Several cities form pitiable spectacles, notably Columbus, Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Lafayette, Youngstown and Dayton. A cloudburst caused the Ohio to rise rapidly. The big dam at Akron burst, and the great-bridge over the Miami River has been washed away. Houses are floating down the river, which is a raging torrent.

OTTAWA, March 26.
Canada has officially notified her adherence to the Commercial Treaty between Britain and Japan. The Treaty is applicable to the Overseas Dominions only by their consent. It gives the most favored nation privileges. Canada reserves the present immigration restrictions, and specifies certain Japanese duties for free entry of camphor, lacquered ware, etc.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.
Both Bulgarians and Turks claim victory at Adrianople, but it is generally conceded that the Bulgars have driven the Turks from their advanced positions on the Western and Southern front. The Servians appear to have taken a prominent part. The bombardment commenced on Sunday night, and continued till Tuesday.

SOFIA, March 26.

At an early hour this morning fires were raging in various sections of Adrianople. The maddened population, whose nerves have been shattered by the almost incessant bombardment for over four months, was fleeing about the streets, seeking shelter. Some rushed along the lines of forts during the heavy artillery and infantry fire. The great arsenal in the city was burning and the barracks between the Hospital and northern forts was in flames.

The Bulgarians, in strong force, gradually advanced, encircling the city, and short rushes of infantrymen approached near enough to prepare for the final dash. Combined attacks were made. The Bulgarian divisions operating against the southern forts, occupied some important advanced positions and captured 20 Turkish cannons, 8 machine guns and 800 Ottoman soldiers.

The infantry had reached within 300 yards of the main battery by 5 p.m. yesterday. They entrenched themselves there, while ammunition and provisions were brought up from the rear and preparations were made for the final deadly assault.

The entire line of fortresses defending the eastern side of the city, were captured by the Bulgarians after a most spectacular assault, at the point of the bayonet. The eastern forts soon fell into their hands, and the Bulgarian batteries were immediately placed in position to fire on other works, and the way was thus cleared for a direct assault on the city itself.

Mustapha Pasha fortress in Adrianople was taken by storm this morning after fighting of a most terrible character since Monday. Flames are devastating the city in many parts. After the outlying fortifications had been captured, the Turkish troops set fire to all their depots and stores, as well as to the arsenal and artillery. They also blew up the barracks and a number of powder magazines. Most of the population fled. Shukri Pasha, the Turkish Commander-in-Chief, had not been captured up to a late hour this afternoon.

Friend of Your Youth.

Death of the Veteran Editor of the "Boys' Own Paper."

We regret to state that Mr. George Andrew Hutchison, the well-known editor of the "Boys' Own Paper" and other publications, died recently at his home at Bushwood, Leytonstone, of heart trouble, at the age of seventy one.

Mr. Hutchison had edited the "B. O. P." for thirty-five years—ever since it was started, and the variety of well-written, wholesome and instructive matter that he got together in his pages was really wonderful.

He had graduated in his young days as an assistant-editor of the "Social Science Review," and was for long associated with religious journalism. He acted for well nigh forty years as general editor of the publications of the Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen. Born in London in 1841, Mr. Hutchison was an author or editor of over 125 volumes of science, technology and general literature.

THE KNOW HOW

To Feed Children and Get Good Results.

There are some nervous persons made so by undigested food lying in the stomach than the average individual would suppose.

If food remains undigested in the stomach, it begins to ferment, set up gas and a large portion is thus converted into poison.

That's why imperfectly digested food may, and often does, cause irritation of the nerves and stupor of the mind—brain and nerves are really poisoned.

"My daughter had complained for some time of a distressed feeling in the stomach, after eating, which set me thinking that her diet was not right," writes an anxious and intelligent mother.

She had been fond of cereals, but had never tried Grape-Nuts. From reading the account of this predigested food, it seemed reasonable to try Grape-Nuts for her case.

"The results were really wonderful. The little brain that seemed at times unable to do its work, took on new life and vigour. Every morning, now, before going to school, she eats the crisp little morsels and is now completely and entirely well, she seems to have a new lease of life—no more distress in the stomach, nor headache, but sound and well every day." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the book "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Another G. K. W.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The optimism of the average person about things is as astonishing as his pessimism about others. The cheerful blindness with which most people make up their budget without allowing for those unexpected contingencies which always happen—except when you are looking for them, as the Irishman said—is a grand lesson on the wrong kind of optimism.

The other night I heard two young people discussing the project of buying a two-family house, renting one out and living in the other. The plan of action was that they should pay a small amount down and take a large mortgage. The wife was the ardent one in the scheme. She had it all figured out that it would cost them less than they now paid for an admirable suite. She had it all down in black and white; what the interest on the mortgage would be; what the taxes would be; (agent's figures), and what the rent of the other half of the house would bring in (agent's figures again). It sounded most plausible, but as her husband promptly pointed out, she had made no allowance for the chance that the other half of the house might not be rented all the time, none for deterioration and none for the lost interest on the small sum of money they would actually invest in the house.

You see, she was one of those hopeless optimists in regard to money matters.

It is the same kind of optimism which makes us all allow too little for incidentals when we are making up our budget for any scheme. Why is it we always come home for the summer vacation without a cent? Nine time out of ten it isn't because we paid more than we expected for board or fare, or say other of the big things it's just because that wicked old money-eater "incidentals" gobled up more than we allowed for.

I fancy it's another phase of the same optimism which makes most of us cheerfully drop the decimals from a price figure, and think of $4.98 as $4 instead of $5, which it actually approximates.

You remember the lady who, in making up her expense account, charged all the money which she could not itemize to "G. K. W." meaning "Godness Knows What." A still more helpful arrangement for most of us would be to have a G. K. W. column in our budget of probable expenses. We should allow as large a sum as we think we can possibly need for incidentals and then add half as much again. It wouldn't do any harm to know if there should happen to be some left over, but there isn't much danger.

Housework Drudgery!

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and as Mrs. Briggs and others testify:

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weakness, heals inflammation and ulceration. It tranquillizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Mrs. BRAZILL, Barook, of 329 N. Washington St., Delphos, Ohio, writes: "Having taken your Favorite Prescription for a bad case of intestinal disease and constipation with woman's fits, for which I was almost unable to do anything, I think I am safe in saying that there are no remedies in the world like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I am now enjoying the best of health, and thank Dr. Pierce for his wonderful medicine which has done me a world of good."

Household Notes.

Mice will not reopen a hole which has been filled with any mixture containing lye. Flour and lye makes a good paste for the purpose.

If you get ink on your fingers, wet the head of a match and rub it on the spots. It is a much quicker method than allowing it to wear off.

To remove the yellow stains caused in bath tubs and basins by the dripping of the faucets, use pulverized chalk moistened with ammonia.

Combs will soon warp if washed with soap and hot water. It is best to put a little ammonia in lukewarm water and scrub the comb with a nail brush.

When taking spots out with gasoline, put a piece of blotting paper under the cloth, and no circle will remain after the material has been cleaned.

When the fruit jar lids are difficult to remove, try holding the tops in warm water for a minute. You will be surprised how easily they will come off.

Baked potatoes are delicious if a slice of bacon is put inside. Make a hole in the potato with an apple corer, roll a piece of bacon and place it in the hole.

A good way to clean patent leather shoes is to remove all the dirt and then wipe them over with a soft cloth dipped in milk. Polish with a dry cloth.

The skin of a grapefruit, after removing the bitter white pulp, can be crystallized and cooked in the same manner as orange and lemon rinds are prepared.

If vinegar and olive oil in equal parts are rubbed on both sides of a tough steak and allowed to stand for two hours before cooking, the steak will be tender.

To make the beaten egg in which you dip croquettes go further, use hot water, beating all the white. The proportion is three tablespoonfuls of water to one egg.

When the sandal rubbers break where the narrow strip goes around the back of the foot, mend with adhesive plaster. This comes in narrow strips and lasts forever.

When washing cream wool or cotton goods, try putting in the water a few onion skins which have been boiled in the last running water. You will be insured a clear, bright cream color.

Croutons for soup can easily be made in the corn popper. They will crisp in a moment. Cut the bread in squares the desired size place in the popper and thrust them into the furnace.

To remove oil paint from the hands, take equal parts of kerosene and alcohol. Shake well and rub well into the skin which has been dabbed with paint. Then wash the hands with soap and water.

To make mock whipped cream, use one cup of milk, sweetened, a scant teaspoonful of flour, cook to a cream, beat the whites of two eggs stiff, pour the boiling cream over them and beat for a minute or two.

Clothes that have become yellow can be whitened by soaking in buttermilk for five days. Use a stone jar or a wooden bucket for this purpose. At the end of this time, rinse thoroughly and boil in a light soda.

In making cookies, try forming the dough into a long roll about one inch in diameter and cut in one-inch slices with a sharp knife. Flatten each slice slightly with the hand, as you place them in the pan to bake.

Dissolve one handful of salt in a pint of vinegar and wash the stove with the solution. Wipe dry with a flannel cloth and put a few drops of turpentine in the blacking with which you finish it off. This will put a rusty stove in good condition.

The Pulpit Voice.

Elocution as a Subject for Clergy Qualification.—Bishop's Proposal.

The Bishop of Bristol has given notice of a motion in the Upper House of Convocation to the following effect: "That evidence of training in the production of the natural voice in public reading and public speaking be regarded as a necessary preliminary requirement for candidature for admission to the diaconate."

The resolution was not reached yesterday, as the Bishops sat in Committee, but may come on for discussion to-day. In any case, the action of the Bishop in bringing to the attention of the Upper House one of the most serious drawbacks in the conduct of services by clergymen has met with hearty approval both by clergy and laity.

A clergyman of wide experience told a gentleman yesterday that one of his memories was spending an evening before his ordination with Archdeacon Denison. During the conversation the famous Archdeacon broke off suddenly, and remarked: "Let me advise you always to read the lessons distinctly and understand what you are reading. There is nothing makes me so cross as to go up to London and hear young High Churchmen mumble through a beautiful passage of Isaiah as if it were an auctioneers' catalogue. I have felt so angry," concluded the Archdeacon, in his characteristic way, "that I have almost wished I could enter the pulpit and kick them out of it."

"The resolution is a common-sense one," said a layman who is the organizer of a large and influential Church Society. "There are numbers of clergymen who cannot make themselves heard more than a few feet away from their pulpits. They have never been taught to use their voice, and when they preach or speak cannot fill the building. There is nothing more distressing to a congregation or an assembly than to try and listen to a man of this type."

"As you know, the two schools of thought in the Church adopt different practices in the conduct of the service. The High Churchman usually monotonously the Psalms and the Low Churchman reads in the natural voice. I do not think the Bishop intends to interfere with these practices, but he is anxious to secure for every candidate for Holy Orders that he should, prior to ordination, have received the necessary training in voice production that will enable him to conduct the services in an intelligent and reverent manner."

"There are only a few orators, even in the Church of England," remarked a layman; "and if we cannot secure oratory we may at least expect intelligent aptitude for performing the ordinary duties of a clergyman's office." —Daily Graphic, Feb. 19.

Making Garden.

BY H. L. RANN.

Making garden is an antidote for spring fever which is taken in large doses the first week, after which the garden is allowed to die a natural death. Some gardeners die quickly, as the result of being assassinated by a late frost, while others linger along on a bed of suffering and are finally strangled by the murderous Jimson weed.

Making garden is a favorite spring pastime with people who have cuddled up to the canned string bean all winter, until the edge of their appetite is dented in several spots. It is this kind of people who put in a garden just in time to have it jumped on by the fall end of winter and driven back to the place of beginning. Other folk are more cautious and wait until the sun gets up high enough to raise blisters on the young onions and radishes, when they attack the garden with a steam roller and lay out a tennis court.

There is nothing more pleasant or healthfully exhilarating than to set out in a freshly plowed garden in the dewy morn and plant the embryonic rutabaga and the blushing turnip, meanwhile sitting down heavily on a family of angle worms and gathering callosities faster than a roller skater. This will give a man a deep zest for the morning meal, and it will also give him a crick in the back that will cause him to walk like a stepladder.

After the garden gets up where it can be taken hold of with a hoe, it is necessary to cultivate it three times a day and all hours on Sunday in order to keep the breath of life in it. This cultivating brings into play a lot of muscles which the cultivator did not know he had and which rise up in the night and throw off painful exclamations. This wears off by the first of December, however, and leaves an annual epidemic of muscular rheumatism in its wake.

The Latest Sealing News.

Mr. J. S. Munn was in receipt of the following wireless message this morning, transmitted last night from the ship:

From s.s. Stephano. "Gate N. W. wind all day; ice gone to pieces; lost 56 pans; total stowed, 34,000. Florizel, Eagle and Newfoundland alongside."

From s.s. Florizel. "On board and stowed down 19,000; lost 25 flags; ice conditions terrific; wind north, northerly gale with ocean swell; following ships are in sight: Nascope, Stephano, Sagona, Eagle and Newfoundland. Position at noon: Lat. 45.30 north, long. 49.50 west."

From s.s. Eagle. "Picking up pans to-day; many pans lost through the ice breaking up; total on board to-day 12,900."

It was reported around town last night and this forenoon that the s.s. Newfoundland was leaking and coming home, but no wireless message was received confirming the report.

Supt. Smith, of the Anglo, had the following message to-day from Cape Ray:

"Cloudy; heavy close packed. Ice distant; no reports from sealers."

FROM HUDSON BAY.

Mr. Denis Quinn has had a letter from his brother, John Quinn, who is at Port Nelson, Hudson Bay. The letter came via Winnipeg, and was written on the 4th of February. John is engaged in survey work about the mouth of the Nelson River, where it is proposed to have the terminus of the railroad that is to connect Hudson Bay with Winnipeg. He says he is enjoying his stay. The weather though severe is not boisterous. There is a very little snow; 40 below zero was the lowest recorded temperature. The government have provided them with every comfort, including a fine library. John, being a great reader, is no doubt enjoying himself among the books. Arctic foxes are fairly plentiful and the men are permitted to trap them. Hunting and trapping afford them a means of pleasantly passing the time, as well as a source of profit. Among the men engaged at Port Nelson besides John Quinn are several other Newfoundlanders including Thomas Holden, Harry Rogers, Patrick English, John Holden, Harvey and Pafford. All are well and expect to be home next October.

Riotous Scene

At Norris Arm. A prisoner named Maurice McDonald, of Norris Arm, was brought in by train yesterday in charge of Const. Churchill to serve six months in the Penitentiary. McDonald and three others who were working at Bishop's Falls, went to Norris Arm, and created a riotous scene breaking windows and smashing doors in the Reid Company's station there. All four men were drunk and disorderly. They were arrested and brought to Botwood where they were tried by Magistrate Burr. One of the defendants contracted diphtheria and was quarantined; two were fined $10 and costs, and the fourth, McDonald, the ring leader, was sentenced to six months without the option of a fine.

Not Yet Found.

Up to last evening no word had been heard of Maurice and Edward Michael, the Syrians who left Woods Island for Lark Harbour over two weeks ago. Their brother-in-law, Antonio Michael, has sent messages to every place in that section where there is a telegraph office, but there is no trace of them. Search parties are looking for the men.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss Nellie Parsons, of Messrs. Rutherford & Co., returned from St. John's last night after a pleasant visit to friends at St. John's.

The sealing news appears to be very encouraging, and poor old Harbor Grace may have the first steamer in. The ferry is not running yet, as there is no wharf on the South Side for her to land at, all the wharves having been swept away with the ice some time ago. Our South Side and other friends are put to much inconvenience by having to walk around, but as the wharf building is being pushed ahead the boat will no doubt soon be running again.

Discontent.

The man who's discontented, whose temper's always frayed, who keeps his shanty scented with words that are decayed, would do as much complaining if all the gods on high upon his head were raining ambrosia, gold and pi. The man who busts his galls because his house is cheap, would rant if in a palace he could high wassle keep. The vexed and vapid voter who throws a frequent fit because his neighbour's motor while he must hit the grit, would have as many worries, his soul would wear its scars, if he had seven surreys and twenty motor cars. The man who earns his living by toiling in the ditch, whose heart is unforgiving toward the idle rich, who hates his lot so humble, his meal of bread and cheese, would go ahead and grumble on downy beds of ease. Contentment is a jewel that some wear in the breast, and life cannot be cruel so long as it's possessed! This gem makes all things proper, the owner smiles and sings; it may adorn a pauper, and be denied to kings.

Another Tragic Death.

PATRICK MURPHY, SUPERINTENDENT ENGINEER, KILLED AT FLOATING DOCK.

Yesterday, shortly after noon, another of those awful accidents which horrify those who learn of them, occurred at the floating dock, the victim being Mr. Patrick Murphy, Superintendent Engineer of the dock. Mr. Murphy, who resided on Alexander Street, has had charge of the dock for the past two or three years, and yesterday when the schr. Annie E. Larder was being taken on the stocks, looked after the work as usual. He had only returned from dinner when the vessel was taken in, and while looking after matters wore his overcoat, which fact was the direct cause of his death. It is assumed. Though no person present saw what actually occurred, it is believed the unfortunate young man stooped to look into the dock well, when his coat became caught in one of the cog wheels of the machinery, which was running at full speed to pump out the dock, and in a few seconds he was drawn in amongst the machinery and terribly mangled. Death was almost instantaneous. R. Blundon was Mr. Murphy's assistant, and when he found himself caught he yelled to Blundon to shut off steam and stop the machinery. Though his command was instantly obeyed, it was too late to save the poor fellow, whose body, frightfully lacerated, was taken by Messrs. Blundon, Wills and Noseworthy from amongst the machinery. The services of a doctor and priest were had, but when they arrived the vital spark had flown. Sgt. Mackey and other policemen were quickly on the scene and after a while the body was conveyed to the home which he had left a short time before, in the best of health and spirits. Mrs. Murphy was apprised of the awful occurrence by Rev. Father Pippy, of the Deaneery whose consoling words tended in a great measure to lighten the terrible blow. Mr. Murphy was the youngest son of the late Thomas Murphy, Inspector of Bridges, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a member of the T.A. and B. Society for many years and being the possessor of a splendid voice, was a vocalist of no mean ability, and this gift with his kindly qualities, rendered him a favorite socially. Deceased leaves a widow and four children, to whom the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy.

If a Laxative is Needed--"Cascarets"

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent--they act on bowels as pepper acts in nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets--or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gasses; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

Curliana.

This Trophy evening among the curlers promises to be a very enjoyable one. The musical programme is an excellent one and of high order. Hon. President Reid will present the winners with the prizes. The season just ended has been most successful from every point of view, and although great rivalry existed in the games still good fellowship was never forgotten and that is the game of curling. It has been said that a true, keen curler will live ten years longer than an ordinary citizen, because his worries and troubles are all forgotten for two hours at least every night he plays the game. May the game continue to become more popular. This season many visitors and spectators visited the rink and we are informed caught on to the game so much that their visits were frequent to witness the many beautiful shots that can be made by experts in the game and to witness the excitement while it lasted.

Religious Reception

At Belvedere Convent.

"What a spectacle!" And where can we find one which more visibly manifests the divine nature of the Church? In an age of effeminacy and universal decadence, these victorious souls have found again and preserved the secret of strength and in the weakness of their sex they manifest the vigorous and persevering energy which we lack to face and conquer the selfishness, the sloth, the sensuality of our time, and of all times. They go to offer to God in their first freshness their whole hearts, and all the treasures of that deep love, of that absolute renunciation of self which they refuse to man. They are about to bury, to consume it all in the secret of voluntary renunciation. They have kept their hearts for Him, Who is unchangeable and never deceives. Is this a dream? A page of romance? Is it merely the story of a past forever dead? No—it is what is daily happening and witnessed among us.

These beautiful words of the gifted Montalembert recurred to the mind of the writer whilst assisting yesterday (25th March) at the solemn and impressive ceremony of Religious Reception at St. Michael's Convent, Belvedere.

His Grace the Archbishop officiated, assisted by Very Rev. W. Brick, C. S. S. R., and Rev. Dr. Greene, Master of Ceremonies. There were also present Revs. J. J. McDermott (St. Patrick's), Dr. Kitchen (St. Joseph's), Frs. O'Callaghan, Pippy and Kelly.

The elaborate ceremonial prescribed by the Church for such solemn occasions was carried out in detail.

The Postulants—Miss Hickey, of Flacencia, and Miss Christopher, of St. John's, were conducted by the Rev. Mother Superior to the Altar steps, where kneeling they were interrogated by the Archbishop. They replied in clear and cheerful tones, that renouncing the world with its pomps and pleasures they sought admission into the Noviciate of the Order of Mercy.

His Grace then addressed them in glowing words of congratulation and encouragement reminding them of the inestimable privilege they had so recently enjoyed, viz. that of having their preparatory Retreat preached by the Very Rev. W. Brick, C.S.S.R. Owing to this, His Grace remarked that he would not address them at any length, knowing what beautiful instructions on the Religious Life they had received from this enlightened and experienced Director of souls.

At the conclusion of the Archbishop's discourse the Postulants retired to change their worldly dress and soon re-appeared clothed in the humble garb of the Sister of Mercy. They also renounced their secular names and will be known in future as Sister M. Francis de Sales (Miss Hickey) and Sister M. Angela Joseph (Miss Christopher).

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament brought the ceremony to a close.

The Archbishop, Clergy and immediate relatives of the young Sisters just received were entertained at luncheon by the Rev. Mother and Community.

We extend hearty congratulations to the young Religious, who yesterday entered on their new life. Their vocation is a noble and sublime one—to consecrate their young hearts to God, to devote their talents and energies to the education of youth, to minister as Angels of Mercy to the sick, poor and suffering, and we trust that many fruitful years of usefulness are before them in their noble and exalted work.—Com.

Highlanders' Ball.

One of the best social events, witnessed for some time past, was the ball held by the officers of the Newfoundland Highlanders, last night. The ball-room was artistically decorated and brilliantly illuminated and the whole presented a pretty scene. The attendance was exceptionally large and amongst those who participated in the dance were Major Davenport, A.D.C. to the Governor, officers of sister brigades and officers of H.M.S. Calypso. The C.C.C. band supplied the music excellently and the programme was:

- Extra Waltz—The Glide.
- Lancers—Balmoral.
- Waltz—Waltz of Rivarly.
- Two-Step—I love a Lassie.
- Waltz—The Druid's Prayer.
- Waltz—Lancers—The Glide.
- Two-Step—Electric King.
- Waltz—From "The Soul Kiss."
- Waltz—Langgus—Cadets.
- Two-Step—Policy King.
- Waltz—Venus on Earth.
- Two-Step—Mosquito's Parade.
- Waltz—The Pink Lady.
- Two-Step—Mumblin' Mose.
- Lancers—Our Own.
- Waltz—Autumn Song.
- Waltz—Lancers—The Glide.
- Two-Step—The Aviator.
- Waltz—Kiss of Spring.

At midnight there was an interval of an hour, when supper was served, after which dancing was resumed. The function was a brilliant one, thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and terminated at 3 this morning.

Notes and Comments.

We observe that the doings of Messrs. Kent, Clift and Clapp in the House of Assembly are receiving considerable attention from the senior Government organ. They have evidently created quite a stir in the Government dovecotes. We congratulate you, gentlemen.

We thank the Daily News for drawing our attention to the fact that Mr. Kent obtained in the House of Assembly a copy of the correspondence between the Government and the Booth Fisheries Co., relative to the taking over by them of the contract of Trefthen and Lord, subject to certain amendments to be made by the Legislature.

Mr. Kent has not dealt with the matter yet in the Legislature, as there would be no point in doing so, before the Government has produced the legislation which is foreshadowed in the correspondence.

We shall have an opportunity later after we have studied the correspondence and the Legislation, when it is

How Many?

Our esteemed contemporary, the Daily News seems to be overworked again to-day, and this time his solicitude is for Mr. Kent, the leader of the Opposition in the House. He fears that the reports of the Assembly proceedings appearing in the Telegram of yesterday may reflect upon Mr. Kent and bring him into disrepute. Well, even if the words complained of were not Mr. Kent's they could not bring to him the contempt and disrepute which the actions of some of the News particular friends find themselves in today. As regards the alleged insult of the late Governor to the people of Newfoundland we might explain that we have it from a reliable and respectable correspondent who would not be guilty of an untruthful statement as to the words in yesterday's report which the News conveniently reads into Mr. Kent's utterances. We need merely assert that they were used in parenthesis to make clear that were not Mr. Kent's and were the remarks of the writer of the report, not of the speaker. Judging from the tenor of the Government papers the past few days the ability displayed by the Opposition in the House is giving the "party" great concern and the reports of the Telegram displaying that ability are so hurtful that their modification or total suppression would be a boon which we are sorry, however, that we cannot grant. If the public has been interested in the "panegyrics" of the Telegram on the "oratory" of Messrs. Kent and Clift, that is more than can be said for the Government speakers, for the Opposition speeches have been of a character to make them wince and as the Telegram has truthfully said has given them many an uncomfortable sitting. As a retort to the Government organ we would ask our m. o. how many

The Allies in the Balkan Peninsula have been making history fast, the past few days, if the cable despatches of this morning are correct. According to them, not only has Adrianople fallen, but the Tchatatja forts guarding Constantinople have been taken. If this is so, Constantinople must be at the mercy of the Allies, and it looks as if they will carry out their threat to dictate terms of peace from Constantinople, unless prevented by the warships of the Powers.

Turks Fire Adrianople!

Bulgarians and Servians sustain Heavy Losses.—Two Regiments Blown up by Mines.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

Adrianople has fallen, after one of the most stubborn defenses in the history of warfare. Tchatatja, according to a telegram received by the Bulgarian Legation, at London, to-night, suffered the same fate. Information regarding Tchatatja may of course, refer to the town of that name and not to the line of fortifications, but as the allies have made just as determined attack on Tchatatja as they did on Adrianople, it is quite possible, they carried all before them. Shukri Pasha, defender of Adrianople, who held the town for 155 days against great odds, which included besides investing armies, disease, famine, handed his sword this afternoon to General Savof, Bulgarian Generalissimo, not, however, before carrying out the stern threat to destroy the town rather than let it fall into the hands of the Bulgarians. From all accounts the arsenals, all stores and a great part of the town are in flames. It was also reported that Shukri Pasha had taken his own life but this proved untrue, as after visiting all the fortifications and deciding resistance was no longer possible, he sent word to General Savof to whom he made submission; that he was burning the city. General Savof appointed a Commandant of the city who will take steps to maintain order. The Bulgarian and Servian cavalry which were first to enter the town will be utilized for this purpose. General Savof, who has been in command of the forces around Adrianople, will make his entry to-morrow, while King Ferdinand will follow shortly.

The battle which preceded the capture of the fortress, commenced on Sunday night. The account of the battle which came from Bulgarian sources, made no mention of the Servians of whom there seems to have been a good deal of jealousy among King Ferdinand's troops. The Servians, on the other hand, who have only issued a brief report of capture, allege the "treachery" with the "alikes" are apparently not quite so eager to "hide" their heavy losses. Despatches received at Belgrade from Mustafa Pasha, says the machines were very heavy and the Servian 15th and Bulgarian 15th regiments were blown up by mines. Many other regiments sustained great losses. All restive hospitals have been put in order to receive thousands of wounded.

HOUSE of ASSEMBLY

Yesterday's Sitting.

Yesterday petitions were presented by Messrs. Downey and Deveraux for various utilities for their districts. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries (Mr. Piccott), presented petitions from Harbor Grace for wireless extension on Labrador, from Shearstown for the improvement of the mail service for a post office and telephone service and for $200 for a road. He also presented one from the Agricultural Society of Bay Roberts, asking to reserve the grass land at that place and Shearstown for grazing land for the people. Horses had been sent there from Grand Falls, and let out to graze last year, and prevented people's cattle going there. He presented another from the same place asking that the provisions of the Act granting bonuses for the clearing of land for agricultural purposes, be extended to the people who were going in for farming. Mr. Parsons supported the several petitions presented by his colleague.

Hon. Col. Secretary (Mr. Watson), presented a petition from the residents of Southern Cove and Heart's Content, asking for a railway siding station to be placed at Southern Cove. The petition was signed by Rev. Frank Smart and others. He also presented one from Port-de-Grave, for a road at South River. He gave both his heartiest support.

Mr. Parsons presented a petition from Riverhead, Mr. Grace, and South Side for a road. He heartily supported the prayer of the petition.

Minister of Agriculture and Mines (Hon. Mr. Blandford), presented one from Arnold's Cove for a road, and one for the proper setting of traps giving both his hearty support.

Mr. Clapp presented a petition from the residents of Fortune Harbor Twillingate District, for an allocation for the construction of a well at that place. In the dry season it was very difficult to get water, and it was necessary to sink a deep well. He hoped the petition would receive the favorable consideration of the Government. He also presented a petition from Rev. G. A. Steele, Arthur G. Ashbourne and Leonard Earle and others of Twillingate, asking that a motor ferry be placed between Gillard's Cove and Tizzard's Harbor. Such a mode of conveyance will be of great service to the people going between these places. He gave this his hearty support and hoped it would receive the consideration it deserved. He also presented a petition from George Payne Newsworthy and others of Shoe Cove, asking that the place be put on the telephone communication with LaSalle.

Shoe Cove is a very thriving settlement and the people carry on an extensive fishing business. They feel all the year round and this telephone would be of great assistance to them in their work. The distance was not great; there is a telephone office at LaSalle and the telephone could be connected with this office. This was a most important matter to these people, and he hoped when the question of telephone and telegraph extension came up this important settlement would not be overlooked.

Mr. Clapp heartily supported the prayer of the petition from Shoe Cove for telephone connection with LaSalle and showed what a great boon it would be to both places.

Mr. Clapp presented a petition from the people of Rocky Harbor, St. Barbe District, asking for the establishment of a telegraph office there. This was a place of importance and is growing every year. The distance to be covered by such a line would be from 8 to 10 miles. Now that the Government had set the ball rolling in giving this important district attention, he hoped they would see their way clear to meet the request of the petitioners. He also presented one from the people of Parsons Pond, asking for a bridge. The children there could not get across the river to school. He was glad to see that the bridge over Baker's Brook had been completed and that the Premier had walked over it. The bridge which petitioners request, was a matter of absolute necessity to the people of the place, and he hoped that the difficulty experienced with Baker's Brook, would not be met with in this case and that the Premier and Government would give the matter due attention; if not it would be built when he took his place on the other side of the House. He also presented a petition which dealt with the lobster fishery. It was very numerous signed and set forth that on the fishing ground between Ferrol Point and Point Riche, that not less than 10 lobster traps be permitted to be placed in the water. In 1910 Mr. Clapp presented a petition largely signed, dealing with the matter of single lobster traps. The Government very prudently sent down Mr. Baddock of Mr. Grace, who drew up a report which showed that he and the fishermen of the coast were in favor of single lobster pots. He (Mr. Clapp) was there two years ago, there was no rule made relating to this matter and the people wanted to know why no rule was laid down or their guidance. The people said the lobsters begin to spawn about the middle of August, and naturally came close to the shore, taking refuge under the rocks, and the single pots kept some distance off the shore and captured the lobsters. There is now no law to preclude the setting of single pots and asked that no less than 10 be allowed to be set out. The petitioners were kindly handed him by the Premier, and he would ask that they be referred to the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. Deveraux presented a petition from Argenta, F.B., signed by 900 residents, asking that the railway be extended to that place. This would mean the erection of 1 1/2 or 2 miles of road, and would put the people of the whole Bay in connection with the railway. There were 8,000 people there, and Mr. Deveraux, in a lengthy speech, showed that they paid their share for the upbuilding of railroads in the country, and well deserved this. He was followed by Mr. Frank Morris, who earnestly supported the prayer of the petition, after which the Premier exhaustively dealt with the matter and welcomed the petitioners coming in from various places for way extension, as they argued that the people were alive to the influence of the railway as a factor in the country's prosperity and a great aid to its development. He promised that the Government would make enquiries.

The Registry of Deeds Bill passed with the alterations in it suggested by the Opposition. Votes for the Department of Agriculture were passed in Committee on Supply; the Labrador Railway Bill was read a second time and will go to the Committee to-day, and some other matters were referred.

The following votes in the Supply Bill were passed: Public Charities $378,633; Lighthouses $95,340 and Marine and Fisheries, $103,040. Bills to regulate the use of wireless telegraphy and to amend the Education Act, 1903, were introduced and read a first time, after which the House adjourned.

Kindhearted Bookmakers.

Legislation to Suppress Betting Declared Useless.

Remarkable statements regarding gambling were made at a special meeting of the Council of the Charity Organization Society held at Denison House, London, recently.

Several letters were read at the outset. The Headmaster of Eton (the Rev. Hon. E. Lyttleton) wrote: "I have for a long time been connected with the Anti-Gambling League, but latterly I have come to see that the spread of gambling is due to deep-seated causes which cannot be remedied by any superficial measures. I mean the undermining of home life and the feeble hold of religious principles in all classes." He expressed the belief that a change in the spirit of the country was necessary before there would be any great diminution of the evil.

Canon J. W. Horsley wrote: "I once coined an epigram: 'Crime is condensed beer.' One might now say 'Folly is consolidated coupons.' (Laughter.) It is now a scandal (the letter proceeded) that newspapers are receiving advertisements of noxious parasites expelled first from England and then from Holland."

Sir Edward Barbrook, in moving a resolution expressing approval of the Betting Inducements Bill of 1912, said there could be no doubt that the inducements for betting had been increased very greatly of late years and had been extended to various classes of society.

Mr. John Hawke, of the National Anti-Gambling League, in seconding the resolution, said that statistics for fifteen years showed that 178 suicides and 827 cases of embezzlement were directly attributable to betting and gambling. One of England's best known admirals had called at New Scotland Yard and said there were times when the decks of battle-ships were strewn with betting pencils and coupons. "And," added the speaker, "it is as bad in the Civil Service, particularly in the Post Office and among the police." He did not want to say the police were any worse than society in general. The country had been lax in dealing with this evil, and the police were lax, too.

Mr. Gerald Wellesley, of the Eton Mission, declared that no amount of legislation could make any difference to the amount of gambling that went on. The love of gambling was so engrained in the British working-classes that no amount of law-making would ever drive it out. A police inspector whom he asked if the Street Betting Act has had any effect on betting among the working classes, replied: "Good gracious, no." He held no brief for the book-makers; but a more generous and kind-hearted lot of men than the book-makers it would be impossible to find.

LINTROSE COMING.—Mr. H. D. Reid had a wireless message from the s.s. Lintrose, this forenoon, transmitted through another ship to Cape Race. The message stated that on Tuesday past the ship was then 500 miles to the eastward of Cape Spear, and she will be due here this evening. The ship had a succession of gales, and three days after leaving had some very bad weather. All are well on board.

DECLARED 5 PER CENT.—The Labrador whaling Co. held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon when a dividend of 5 p.c. was declared. Machinery for New Mine

At Cinq Cerf, Burgeo and LaPelle. From passengers who arrived by last trip of the S. S. Bruce we are informed that there are several thousand dollars worth of machinery lying at Sydney and Port aux Basques, waiting for shipment to Cinq Cerf, where we understand mining on a large scale will commence this summer. On inquiry we learn that Mr. W. H. Taylor, of this city, is the principal owner of Cinq Cerf Mine, and will operate the property. Several times during the past three or four years Mr. Taylor has had mining engineers visit the property, and the report made by them has not been made public; but quietly and surely the work progressed, so that now the installing of machinery and mining will go ahead. The mineral at Cinq Cerf is known as Bernite, a very rich copper, with some gold. It is known that Mr. Taylor was one of the principal owners of the limestone quarries at Port au Port which was sold to the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. and now employs several hundred men. With these works and the mine at Cinq Cerf in operation, the West Coast promises to be a great mining centre, and if Mr. Taylor's efforts are as successful in mining as in the timber business the future of Cinq Cerf mine is assured.

To Those Who Are Weak and Nervous.

FRANK BEAUCHESE SAYS TAKE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
 He Suffered for a Year and After the Doctor Failed Found a Quick and Complete Cure.
 Stoke Centre, Richmond Co. Que., Mar. 26. (Special).—Those who are sick, weak, nervous and irritable, will be interested in the case of Frank Beauchese, a well known resident of this place. For a year he was in just that condition. To-day he is a well man. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. In a statement given over his signature Mr. Beauchese says: "I was sick for a year with cramps in the muscles, backache, and nervousness. I was always tired and irritable, and my sleep was broken and unrefreshing. The doctor treated me, but it was five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills that made me a new man." Mr. Beauchese suffered from a complication of complaints but they all sprang from the same root—the kidneys. With the kidneys out of order the impurities are not strained out of the blood. That means poison all over the body. It means weakness, irritability and pain. The cure is to cure the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys.

Sealing Notes.

Yesterday afternoon, Job Bros. had the accompanying message from the s.s. Nacopie:
 "Have 22,000 on board and a few pans still out; difficult to get them on board on account of heavy sea." (Sgd.) G. BARBOUR.
 The following wireless message was received from the s.s. Seal:
 "Have 4,000 on board and crew are still killing; steamer could get a few miles further S.W. she would be in thickest of patch; Southern Cross killing and panning all day."

Helen Arrives.

The S.S. Helen, which was chartered by the Red Cross Company to relieve the congestion of freight at New York, arrived from that port yesterday afternoon. The passage occupied five days. Favorable weather was met except on Monday night, when a gale from the S.W. was experienced. The ship brought a full general cargo which she is unloading at Harvey & Co's premises.
