

GILLET'S LYE EATS DIRT

The Earl's Son;

TWO HEARTS UNITED.

CHAPTER XIV.

"Why, you're as bad as the other!" he said, almost to himself. "One maims me and the other nearly chokes the life out of me. I've half a mind to go back to him."

Talbot scarcely heard the muttered words, and paid little heed to them.

"Quick! My word against yours, you know. You are a sort of tramp. I am Mr. Talbot Denby, Lord Lynborough's heir."

The sentence was broken in upon by a guttural laugh of scorn and brutal amusement from Oatway.

"You the heir to Lord Lynborough!" he half snarled, half jeered. "Oh, that's what you think you are, I dare say! But I can knock you off that perch, my lardy-dardy swell; and, by the Lord, I will if you don't sing a little smaller! Here's the peeler now; give me in charge and I'll tell 'em in open court what I mean for to tell you on the quiet!"

Talbot's face was like a mask. For the space of a second or two he hesitated. The man was sober enough; there was a certain self-reliance in his voice and manner. A vague curiosity rose in Talbot, a desire to hear the man out.

The policeman came up to them, touched his cap to Talbot and eyed the tramp, who stood with his eyes fixed on Talbot's face. Talbot was silent, the policeman passed, and Oatway laughed with coarse satisfaction.

"That's all right!" he said, triumphantly. "Now you an' I are goin' to have a little chat, Mr. Talbot Denby. S'pose we go in at the gate and 'ave a sit down for a few minutes. Oh, don't you look so proud and 'aughty! You'll come fast enough! You're jest d'ying to hear what I've got to say."

Talbot shrugged his shoulders. "I was rather hard upon you the other night," he said, coolly; "and I dare say I owe you some amends, some compensation. I'll give you five minutes," he added, as he walked through the gate and seated himself on the trunk of a felled tree out of sight of the road.

Oatway sat down beside him with a grunt of satisfaction. Talbot edged a little farther away.

"Got a cigarette?" asked Oatway, insolently.

Talbot took one from his silver case and tossed it to him and the man caught it.

"And a light. Ah!" looking at the match box. "Pretty box; cress and all complete. The fambly cress I s'pose. I'll keep it as a kind o' souvenir."

He slipped the box in his pocket and puffed at the cigarette, blowing the smoke across Talbot's face.

"I was a bit premature just now," he said, watching with his small, evil eyes the resentment in Mr. Talbot Denby's. "I blurted out the truth too quick-like; but what's said's said; and I repeat it: you ain't Lord Lynborough's heir no more than I am."

Talbot smiled and glanced at his watch.

"You are amusing, my man," he said; "but you've only four minutes left."

Oatway glared at him.

"Oh, ain't I? Then I've got to be quick, 'aven't I? You're Lord Lynborough's nevy, ain't you?"

Talbot nodded, his eyes still on the watch.

"Quite right: I am."

"Then you're mistook!" snarled Oatway, leaning forward, his hands on his knees, his cigarette in the corner of his thick lips. "The noble earl was married, and he has got a son!"

Talbot rose with a cold shiver.

"I suppose you have been on the stage, my man," he said contemptuously. "If so, I can understand your failure. Here is a sovereign for you; for your hand." He glanced at the bandage. Better leave the neighborhood as quickly as possible—

Oatway caught the coin and thrust it in his pocket.

"The first o' many!" he said, confidently. "You think I'm lying, pitchin' a tale? Right ho! But I can prove it, prove it to you and everybody's else's satisfaction. I knew the Earl's wife—I know his son, his lawful son and heir—"

"Then I advise you to produce him," retorted Talbot with a sneer. "I've listened long enough to your tipsy ravings—"

"Produce him!" echoed Oatway, then he fell silent and seemed to be listening. The next moment he sprang up and dragged the exquisite Mr. Talbot behind a tree.

"Produce him, you says," he whispered hoarsely in his ear. "It's easy enough to do that! Look there!"

Some workmen were coming along the road, and in their midst were Ralph, his coat on his arm, his handsome, tanned face cheerful and smiling.

"Look there!" hissed Oatway. "By God, that's him!"

CHAPTER XV.

Talbot Denby did not start, but his eyes glittered with an ugly expression as they watched Ralph. Not for one instant did he suspect that there was an atom of truth in the man's assertion; but it was a strange coincidence that he should have pitched upon this young man, this gamekeeper with whom Talbot had already been in conflict and whom he disliked, if not actually hated.

The story of the earl's marriage, of a son having been born to him, was of course a concoction, a vague and exceedingly stupid concoction made for the purpose of a blackmail. It was too much like an incident in a sensational novel, the scene of a Surrey melodrama, to be treated seriously; and yet—

When Ralph had passed, Talbot glanced at the coarse face of the man beside him. It was working with agitation, a mixture of excitement and hatred which appeared to be genuine enough, and Talbot saw that the hand was a good-looking piece o' goods, an' I made up to her. She had a kid, a boy, an' she told me that she'd met with a misfortune. But it didn't choke me off, for I was sweet to her; an' though she stood out agen me for a time, I married her."

He drew his hand across his lips and looked straight before him as if his mind were travelling back.

"For a time we hit it off fairly well; then we got to snackin' an' jawin'. Perhaps it was my fault, perhaps it was hers. I think I was a bit jealous o' the kid. Never knewed a woman to set on a child as she was on 'im! I was dirt beside 'im, that's what I was. Well, I was a tidy-lookin' cove in those days—'t was a long time ago—"

Talbot moved impatiently. He was still incredulous, but it was impossible to avoid being impressed by the man's grave and earnest manner.

"An' I had plenty of admirers, an' an' after a time, when I saw that we couldn't hit it off any longer, an' that I'd better cut my lucky, I took an' hooked it from her. I thought as we both should be 'appier apart. When I was goin' I got together the bits o' things that belonged to me—natural enough that, weren't it, guv'nor? So which the man drew over his ugly mouth was shaking.

Talbot laughed contemptuously.

"I don't know which of the men you mean—"

"The young chap, the good-looking one," broke in Oatway, sullenly. "The one without his coat; that's the man I meant. You could have told easily enough by his difference to the rest. The one that looked like a gentleman."

"Ah, yes, I daresay. I didn't notice," said Talbot, carelessly. "But it is of no consequence. Of course I need not say that I do not believe a word of your ridiculous story. And now—I think I must wish you good-day. Don't spend that sovereign in drink, my man; it is the last you will get from me."

He was rising, but Oatway laid a hand on his arm to detain him.

"Sit down," he said in a much quieter tone than he had hitherto used. "I didn't expect you to believe me right off-hand. It 'ud be too much. But I'm goin' to tell you the whole truth, and I'll wager my life you'll b'lieve it when you've heard it."

Talbot sank down again with a shrug of reluctant resignation.

"Cut your story as short as you can," he said; "I am rather tired of you."

"You'll be more tired of me when I've finished," retorted Oatway, gravely. "His excitement at sight of Ralph had passed off and left him quiet and sober."

"Some years ago, when I was in Australia—"

"Convict, eh?" murmured Talbot; "or was it after the transportation days?"

Oatway glared at him and showed his fangs, but otherwise ignored the interruption.

"I met with a young woman; she

I got up in the night and packed 'em up. By mistake—by mistake, mind you—I took a few odd things o' hers. Amongst 'em was some papers she used to keep in a box—keep awfully close and secret; and when I'd settled down an' got an opportunity I went over 'em like. An' what d'ye think they was?"

He leered at Talbot cunningly. Talbot displayed no interest, but sat and smoked with apparent indifference.

Oatway leant forward a little and struck his knee.

"They was a marriage and birth certificate. She hadn't had no misfortune, but was a properly wedded wife, an' the kid was—what d'ye call it?—a 'gitgate one!'"

"Extremely interesting to you, no doubt, my man," said Talbot; "but I fail to see—"

"Oh, you'll see sharp enough presently," retorted Oatway, significantly. "It was a certificate of the marriage of Janet Burchett an' Algernon Edward—Oh, I can't remember the names!—Denby—"

Talbot smiled.

"There is only one Algernon Edward Denby," he said, "and that is the Earl of Lynborough."

"Curse it all, ain't I sayin' so?" retorted Oatway. "There it was in black an' white. They was married at a church in Paris, a Protestant church, an' before the—what d'ye call it?—consul. An' there was the certificate of the boy's birth in Melbourne, Australia, all set out reg'lar an' proper. It didn't interest me much at the time, as you say; only it seemed kind o' curious that she should 'a' hidden it from me, most women bein' rather nice an' particular on these points; but I didn't give myself much trouble over it. I was doin' well at the time, an' had other things to think of. I was doin' so well that I clean forgot all about her and the kid; but after awhile the luck went agen me, an' I come over to Europe. A pal o' mine had got a little plan for doin' some book-makin'. He was a Frenchy an' I went to Paris with him. We struck the 'oof there an' had a good time—he wet his thick lips—"an' one day it 'curred to me that I'd look up that little matter o' the marriage. I went to one of them notary coves, an' he took me to the church an' an' office, an' there it was, right enough. She'd been married quite square an' on the proper. See? I got copies o' that certificate an'—well, then the luck went agen me an' I got stranded. Fact is, Mr. Talbot Denby, I'm bitten by the same dog as you. I can't keep off the cards and the rollin' ball; understand? I 'ad to leave Paris through the interference o' some coves that ain't worth speakin' about, an' I just drifted about, now in luck, an' now out o' it. And at last I come over to London. Bad luck agen! I was down on my beam ends the night you and I spent a pleasant evenin' at Isaac's, an' it was becoss I was driven to desperation that I tried to sneak your note. What 'appened that night kind o' sickened me o' London, an' I kind o' plied for the country. So I set off on the tramp. Wonderful the ways o' Providence, ain't it? S'elp me if I didn't bend my steps in this here direction. I'd got a little coin as I'd beg—made on the road, an' I put up at the Dog an' Owl. An' one night I was 'saunterin' round, just lookin' about me, when I was collared by that young man as I pointed out. Now, the moment I see him there was something familiar-like in his face, and it fair puzzled me. Then I heard as his name was Farrington, an' I remembered that one o' the names on the certificate was similar—"

A Bronchial Cough, Perhaps Weak Throat
Use "Catarrhzone"—Dead Sure Cure
Wonderful Success Reported in Thousands of Bad Cases.
How many thousands are there who would gladly pay any sum to be cured of bronchitis or catarrh. Many could be cured if they would just use common sense in selecting their remedy.
Bronchitis of course is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes which were made for the passage of air alone, and neither the moisture of an atomiser nor the liquid of a cough syrup can get where the trouble really is. The diseased parts can only be reached by a remedy that can force its way through all the breathing organs. Doctors who have used "Catarrhzone" say it is the only rational cure for bronchitis. It cures by inhalation. You breathe in its healing balsam, inhale its soothing antiseptic vapor and relief is immediate.

Simple to use, delightful and pleasant—nothing compares with Catarrhzone which is the cure of the day for all bronchial and throat troubles.
Mr. H. B. McLaughlin, the well-known representative of Parks and Blackwell, Toronto, says: "I have used Catarrhzone for years and can honestly say it is the only remedy that relieves me from a painful attack of Bronchial Catarrh. The inhaler for Catarrhzone is always in my pocket and I simply couldn't get along without it. I firmly believe Catarrhzone is a wonderful remedy."
Large size sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed $1.00; small size 50c; sample or trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

CHAPLIN, THE STORE THAT PLEASURES

Advertise in the TELEGRAM

CHOOSING

By RUTH CAMERON.

"I couldn't make up my mind which I wanted to read," she explained, "so I brought them both."

That attempt to compromise, to find a middle course, to avoid in one way or another the onerous burden of making a choice is typical.

I know another woman who carried two suitcases of clothing for a week-end visit simply because she could not make up her mind which of the two sets of costumes she preferred to wear. Whether she finally wore two dresses at once in order to avoid a choice, I am not informed. All I know is that she was actually willing to burden herself with an extra suitcase in order to put off the agony of choice as long as possible.

Most of us have had the experience of trying to crowd two pleasures into the same day because we could not choose between them. And most of us have found that both were spoiled by the hurry and confusion and fuss which the overcrowding involved.

The inability to choose is a fatal flaw in character.

A man's choices are his life. We build our characters and our destinies by the choices we make.

Life is perpetually forcing choices upon us. Sometimes she shows us the alternative clearly. Again she puts her hands behind her back and says, "Which hand will you have?" and we can only guess as wisely as possible. Any man who wants to forge a decisive character and a destiny worth while must learn to choose wisely and with reasonable promptness.

The big men in business are those who make the choices. One day I sat in the office of a man who is at the head of one of the biggest transportation companies in the country. There were few papers on his desk, his telephone seldom rang, he did not seem to be very busy. I marvelled, indeed, that he had so much time to give to me. Just then a clerk entered with a wireless. "The Steamship So-and-So is at Santa Marta, and the captain wants to know where she is to go next." The general manager looked up at a map, his smile died out and an almost visible shadow of tense concentration came across his face. He studied the map a moment, or less, then he said decisively, "Send her to Havana." That was all, but I understood after that what he was there for, and why he received an enormous salary.

Learn to choose. Don't let the rust of indecision eat into your character. Remember that life is made up of choices, and that he who shrinks from choices shrinks from life itself.

Fads and Fashions.

For the tiny tots quaint ruffled frocks of crepon are designed.

Little girls' suits in the three-piece style are most practical.

The bloomer suit is growing more and more popular for swimming.

The narrow skirt will probably be a thing of the past before long.

Fashion favors the idea of matching one's jewels to one's costume.

White taffeta hats are all the rage with the chic French women.

Frocks of white Swiss are trimmed with bands of flowered muslin.

Maxixe blue is a new light electric; maxixe green is a grass green.

The very long-waisted effect is only becoming to the slimmest women.

Ribbon bracelets are used when the costume makes the strap seem heavy.

Many of the new silk blouses of crepe de chine have collars and cuffs of plique.

The frock of linen still holds a position of importance in the child's wardrobe.

The newest lingerie frocks are of eyelid embroidery and are made with a long tunic.

Many Parisiennes are wearing gloves of a contrasting color with their costumes.

The fashion of smoking is returning. It is noticed upon soft crepe de chine.

Tooth-shaped scallops and "battlements" are in much favor for flounce finishes.

There is a pretty material, known as silk-an-wool crepe de chine, being used for blouses.

Very becoming to little girls are the small bonnets made of flowered mousseline de soie.

The coltune shoe, with silk laces, is replaced by the shoe with crossed barrettes.

Costumes made in the sleeveless bolero style are very successful in striped gabardine.

Parasols are made of mousseline and tulle, and are trimmed with clusters of small flowers.

Peacock feathers make the fashionable fan of the present. They are mounted on tortoise shell.

Moire sashes of daring colors are worn with lingerie frocks. They are knotted at the side or back.

The hat of straw seems not to exist for the fashionable woman. She has her hat designed of silk.

Black frocks of taffeta are trimmed with narrow bead fringe in a combination of bright colors.

Summer dresses of batiste, swiss, organdie or lawn are trimmed with lace and bands of colored ribbons.

Satin will be used not only for evening, but frocks for afternoon and street wear will be made of satin.

There will be many sashes this summer, worn with lingerie gowns; bustle sashes being much in evidence.

Mourning Musings.

A few short years of grief and death, and we go back to Mother Earth, our play and labor done, no more to struggle or to plan, no more to do our fellow man, or hustle for the mon. An epitaph upon a stone will tell you where we sleep alone, and other things relate. "As I am now, so you must be, therefore prepare to follow me, and get your shroud on straight." Full soon, my friends, we shall repose, oblivious to human woes, and all men's transient schemes; the clamor of the busy street, the thundering of countless feet, will not disturb our dreams. Out in the silent resting place, each gent, in his own packing case, shall wait the judgment dawn; and he's in luck if living men shall mow the weeds down now and then, and mow that he is gone. So why be straining all our days to get the best of other jays, and pile up stacks of pennies? Why watch so bitterly and hard to get in long green by the yard, why let our god be Sate? Oh, let us blow our surplus wealth for others' happiness and health, shell out our miser's hoard, and when we die, some day in June, the stores will close all afternoon, to let employees weep.

Australia.

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Swash."

Australia is a continent almost as large as the United States and there is nothing ordinary in it but cricket and afternoon tea.

Long before the rest of the world was finished up by Nature, Australia was a completed land and ready for the real estate agent. Yet he did not land until early in the last century.

It is the youngest of civilized living places and was first actually explored in the eighteenth century by the celebrated Captain Cook on his way to his last terrible banquet in the Hawaiian Islands.

Australia flocks by itself in the southwest corner of the globe, at a tremendous distance from anywhere worth speaking of. It is a rim of fertile land surrounding a vast salt desert. Its rivers are larger at their source than at their mouth. Its animals incubate their young. Its natives use the boomerang instead of the bow and arrow. It has caterpillars six feet long and gum trees 400 feet high. It has pond lilies with leaves six feet across, birds which give birth to their young, and animals which lay eggs. Rain and gold are the only features of Australia which are common to other lands. It is so strange a country that two centuries elapsed after its discovery before any one got up nerve enough to begin an exploration, and there are still large blank spots on the map where the hardy discoverer can perish more easily and at less expense than he could around the poles.

Australia belongs to England, but does not let that country do any of its governing for it. It was first used as a penitentiary for English criminals and has since become the freest country on earth. Labor rules in Australia and capital asks for orders each morning, but in hand. The state owns the railroads and pays pensions to the old. Australia is the only land which has never had a war, a plague, or a church quarrel.

Australia produces one-fourth the gold and one-sixth the wool of the world. It also produces the best tennis players in the world. Its soil, when the rabbits are strained out of it, is very fertile and the Australian farmer would get rich if there was anyone except himself handy to eat his produce.

Australia has about 4,500,000 people who use the English accent, play English games, build English battleships, but buy American automobiles. It is as great a commonwealth as Texas and is almost as proud of itself.

What is that "Medicinal Brandy Sanator"?

WHY SANATOR? WHY MEDICINAL?

The answer is indeed easy: Sanator (a Latin word) means: that cures. Medicinal means that the Brandy although being not a properly so-called "medicine" is composed with the best known growths for their tonic, digestive properties and of course can be used for medicinal purpose in the family like the Hospitals.

When you taste it, it is quite a revelation and people are accustomed to say: "I have never tasted so fine, so rich Brandy."

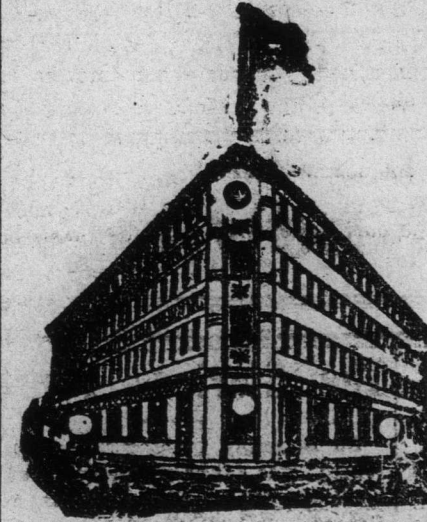

When you are sick, weak, suffering with a cold or with bad digestion, try the medicinal Brandy "Sanator" and you will be surprised of its good effects.

That can happen at every moment: ask to-day from your dealer a bottle of Medicinal Brandy "Sanator": it is prudent to have it always on hand.

The Amending Bill.

The second reading of the Home Rule Amending Bill by the House of Lords shows that the Lords realize at last that a perilous state of affairs exists in Ireland and that something in the way of conciliation must be done in order to cope with the situation in Ireland. The fact that the vote on division stood at 273 to 10, show that the irreconcilable element in the House of Lords have been reduced to a negligible quantity.
 It appears to us idle to expect that the difficulties will be surmounted without prolonged discussion, but it is also clear that the spirit of the majority in the House of Lords has undergone a change and there is a recognition that a way out of the difficulties must be found. Ireland is resolving itself into two armed camps of Home Rulers and Anti-Home Rulers, and party advantages must be sunk to avoid a clash between these forces. Perilous as the state of Ireland is, it must be remembered that the organization and discipline of these forces will have a tendency to restrain sporadic outbreaks, so it will have its effect on both Unionists, Liberals and Nationalists in stimulating them to make every effort to come to an understanding that it will avoid the disasters of an organized civil war.

The Meigs arrived at Humbermouth at 10.45 a.m. yesterday.

Farewell Sermon.

The Rev. John W. Bartlett, who had been the Pastor of George Street Methodist Church, preached his last sermon in that relation on Sunday night, the subject of his discourse being: "Influence." A very large congregation was present and the theme of the preacher was peculiarly befitting the occasion. The music was inspiring and impressive. While the Offering was being taken up, the well-known hymn: "God be with you till we meet again," was sung with much feeling and effect. The Rev. Mr. Bartlett goes to Jubilee Church, Sydney—where we wish him a full measure of success.

Divorced Life

by Helen Hessong Fuesler

The Man With the Rat-like Eyes

Marian had again begun a desperate search of the "Help Wanted" columns of the daily newspapers. Already she had learned that positions were anything but easy of attainment in New York. Wherever she applied her lack of training and experience were sharply against her. The city swarmed with jobless multitudes better fitted in every way than she.

Several milliners had offered her positions as apprentices without pay, but on condition that she would pay $250 for it and work for the balance of the season without pay.

One chief clerk in an office in a downtown skyscraper, where she answered an advertisement, refused her work, but invited her out to luncheon. Marian left the office scornfully.

At this juncture, the following advertisement captured her attention: "Wanted—Attractive young lady for private secretary; good pay; easy work; experience unnecessary. Call in person at Apt. 12, 5th West—th St."

An hour later Marian presented herself at the location designated. It was an old house on a bleak, cross-town street near grimy Eighth Ave. She found the name "Henry Ignatz" on a card opposite Apartment 12, and rang.

"Hello. Who's there?" came a rasping voice through the speaking tube. "I've come to answer the ad in today's paper," replied Marian. "Come on up," said the voice, and the door lock squeaked.

The worn rug in the hall seemed to shrink from the invading flood of noonday light as she entered. A faded kimono and some men's hats hung from pegs on the hall rack, which stood guard near the entrance. It was a sorry, battered piece of furniture with a hint of stern but dilapidated dignity about it, harking pitifully back to the rugged oak from whose ribs its frame had been fashioned. The air was filled with the composite odor of long-unbeaten carpets, linoleum, boiling mounds, soaps and unaired linen closets. Somewhere in the rear a baby was wailing. On the second floor landing a low-burning gas jet wheezed. "Quite a climb, eh?" came the voice of the still unseen speaker from the landing above. "Mr. Ignatz?" inquired Marian a moment later, reaching the third floor. "That's me," replied a rat-like looking individual. His small, dark eyes were tucked close to his nose; a small nose lying low against his face, as though keeping warily out of reach of a blow. There was a scrawny thatch on his upper lip. His ill-trimmed

"You wanted a secretary, I believe," Marian found strength to say, desperately conscious of her need of employment. "What would you pay?" "That depends," said Ignatz, his rat-like eyes drifting appraisingly from her head to her feet. "The right party would be worth a great deal to me. There's a good deal to a job like this." An offensive, insinuating something in the man's tones angered Marian, but she held herself in control, resolved to give the position a trial. To-morrow—A Struggle with a Microbe.

Joe Tinker.

Red McGhee says: The big fish in the little pool ain't always just a plain darn fool. That's right now, ain't it, Joe? You didn't shine much with the Reds, but since you hurred to the Feds the sun can't beat your glow. You always had a speakin' part an' some s m a l l chance to show your art—'twas nearly up to part. But it was sure a winnin' hunch to tie up with that chifed bunch. It's made you one bright star.

I like to watch you run your crew an' make that rebel bunch jump through when you hold up the hoop. An' when you're in the coacher's strip I like to hear you tear an' rip the air with shout an' whoop. At short,—say, Joe, I'm for you strong when you get out before the throng in Charley Weegham's park. You make some bobbles—darn few, though—most time your speedy scoop an' throw is like a live jump spar.

But listen, Joe: in years gone by you didn't used to rank so high at gettin' home-run swats. Dja put some new pep in your sting? Or do you get more for your swing on those small Fed League lots? No matter how you get 'em though, they're out there on the records, Joe, an' each one counts a run. An' any kid-din' folks can give you're big enough to take an' live. You get the dough, the fun.

Fogota Back.

The S. S. Fogota, Capt. Dalton, arrived from the Northward at 12.30 p. m. yesterday, after making a good round trip. She brought a small freight and several passengers.

Capt. Dalton brings word of a slight improvement in the fishery at Tilting, but on the whole the catch to-date is away below that of last year, and the outlook for an average voyage is none too promising. Caplin are plentiful at all the harbours along the coast, but the hook and line fishermen get practically nothing, while many of the traps have not 20 quintals ashore to-date.

St. John's Gas Light Company.

Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your Works and I found 20.5 per cent of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manures.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

Yours truly,
D. JAMES DAVIES, B.S.C., F.C.S.
Analyst and Assayer.

FADS AND FASHIONS.

The perfect motoring hat is made of satin, corduroy, or it may be of white felt. All of these are soft, shaping themselves to the head or whatever the fancy of the wearer may dictate.

Frocks for play hours should be cut over a simple one-piece pattern, with kimono sleeves and a skirt sufficiently wide to give freedom when at play. The normal child is not happy if her dress is so fussy that it prevents her having a good time.

China silk, crepe de chine or foulard make ideal dresses for motoring, being comfortable and not easily crushed.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARDEN COWS.

Joints Quit Aching

Soreness Beats it Away

NO MORE STIFFNESS, PAIN OR MISERY IN YOUR BACK OR SIDE OR LIMBS!

Wonderful "Nerviline" is the Remedy. A marvelous pain reliever. Not an ordinary liniment—just about five times more powerful, more penetrating, more pain-subduing than any thick, oily or ammonia liniment. Nerviline fairly eats up the pain and stiffness in chronic rheumatic joints, gives quick relief to those throbbing pains, and never burns or even stains the skin.

"Rheumatism kept my joints swollen and sore for ten years. My right knee joint was often too painful to allow me to walk. In this crippled tortured condition I found Nerviline a blessing. Its warm, soothing action brought relief I had given up hoping for. I rubbed on quantities of Nerviline and improved steadily. I also took Ferrozone at mealtime in order to purify and enrich my blood. I am to-day well and can recommend my treatment most conscientiously.

(Signed) C. PARKS,
Prince Albert.

Not an ache or pain in the muscles or joints that Nerviline won't cure. It's wonderful for lumbago and sciatica; for neuralgia, stiff neck, earache and toothache. Nerviline is simply a wonder. Best family liniment known and largely used for the past forty years. Sold by all dealers everywhere large family size bottle 50c, small trial size 25c. Refuse a substitute take only "Nerviline."

Portia Returns.

The S. S. Portia, Capt. J. Kean, returned from the Westward Sunday afternoon after a quick round trip, though weather conditions throughout were not all that could be desired. She brought a big freight and these passengers:—

Messrs. Scott, Smith, Verge, Cull, Kearley; Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Moulton; Misses Stickland, Roberts, Norman, Jones, Baldwin, Penney, Barbour and 10 in steerage.

Rifle Contests.

Conditions were favourable for good shooting at the rifle range yesterday when the Harvey Challenge Medal and Smallwood Handicap Prize were competed for. The trophies were contested for at the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges. The Harvey Challenge Medal was won by C. Langmead, Jr., while E. Macnab captured the other.

Marine Notes.

The R. M. S. Pomeranian leaves Liverpool for here on Saturday next. The S. S. Adventure sailed this morning for Montreal whence she takes up the Hudson Bay route.

The R. M. S. Mongolian was scheduled to leave Philadelphia for here yesterday.

An Improvement.

By the S. S. Portia, we learn that there is an entire improvement in the codfishery on the South West Coast since last report. Caplin are reported numerous and the fish are glutted. Last week several Grand Bankers reached the home ports well fished.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

Castaway Arrives.

By Saturday evening's train a castaway banker named Harold Bush came. He belongs to LaHave, N. S., and strayed away from the schooner Lithgow last week during foggy weather. After being adrift for over twenty-four hours he was picked up by the banker Romeo, another LaHave banker, and brought to Caplin Bay thence coming here by rail. Bush is being provided for at the Seamen's Institute.

Special to Evening Telegram. SKAGWAY, Alaska, July 6. Thirteen persons en route for a Fourth of July celebration, were drowned on Saturday in Lynn Canal by the capsizing of a gasoline launch.

LONDON, July 6. Mrs. Rebecca Clark, of Wood Green, London, probably King George's oldest subject, died yesterday, aged 110 years. Her recipe for long vitality was "Never Worry."

LONDON, July 6. It has been announced that the Foreign Office has taken steps to obtain an investigation into the arrest of Albert St. Clair Douglas, a British subject, by the troops of Pancho Villa, on the charge of having aided the Federals before the rebels captured Zacatecas.

LONDON, July 6. The Bishop of London has written a letter to the Times, clearly contradicting the idea that he condones military, though he reiterates his objection to forcible feeding. While strongly anti-militant, he will continue to support the constitutional clause.

LONDON, July 6. Frederick Smith, M.P., one of the Ulster Unionist leaders, speaking at an anti-Home Rule meeting on Saturday, said that the Lords would amend the Amending Bill as to make the exclusion of Ulster terminable only when Ulster said that it wanted to come in.

LONDON, July 5. A woman, who was arrested last night, near the gates of Buckingham Palace, where she demanded entrance, and insisted on seeing King George, was identified today as an Australian, who was suffering from hallucinations. She carried two revolvers in her pockets at the time of her arrest.

ST. ALBAN'S, July 5. Canadian and American troops joined in a dual celebration on Saturday of Independence Day and the centennial of Peace between Britain and the United States. The feature of the exercises was a parade in which a squadron of the 2nd States Cavalry and a detachment from the second Brigade of heavy artillery had part.

LONDON, July 6. The debate in the Lords on the second reading of the Home Rule Amending Bill will be concluded to-night. Whether or not Lord Willoughby de Broke presses his motion for the rejection of the Bill, the second reading is sure to be carried. The committee stage will then probably be begun on Wednesday, when numerous amendments will be discussed.

LONDON, July 6. Armed with swords, bayonets and well-filled bandoliers 300 men of the second south Belfast regiment paraded the main streets of Belfast on Saturday, this being the first time that armed volunteers have been seen on the streets. This incident, which is the sequel to General Richardson's order permitting volunteers to carry arms, is regarded by both sides as a serious development, but danger is feared less in Belfast than in the mixed provincial districts. The police, who watched the demonstration took a census of the number of rifles.

MEXICO CITY, July 6. Latest returns from yesterday's elections confirmed the re-election of President Huerta, and the choice of Minister of War Blanguet for Vice-President, a post which had been vacant since the assassination of Pino Suarez. Huerta is in complete control of Congress. It is expected that the Senators and Deputies, who will be called into session within a few days, will declare the election void, and a new provisional president will be selected. It is probable that this will be Pedro Lascurain, unless President Huerta changes his mind, or his supporters encourage him to retain office.

VANCOUVER, July 5. When five Hindus, who were permitted to go in the Government launch on Friday from the Komajata Maru, to parley with the local Hindus in regard to better food conditions, turned to board their own boat again, they found the gang-plank drawn up and Gurdit Singh, the leader, refused to permit them to go aboard, claiming that they were playing the part of traitors in complaining to local Hindus of the food on the boat. The immigration officers had to bring the five men to the Detention shed here. Three attempts have been made to put them back on the Komajata Maru, but the Hindus in the vessel have refused to allow them aboard, threatening to kill them.

LONDON, July 5. The House of Lords, to-day, by a vote of 273 to 10, passed the second reading of the Bill to amend the Irish Home Rule Bill. That the Lords should pass the Bill in order to amend it in Committee, was a foregone conclusion, but there was surprise that only ten "die hards" could be found to vote for Lord Willoughby de Broke's motion for rejection. The Marquis of Crewe, in winding up the debate for the Government, challenged the Opposition to guarantee there would be no civil war in Ireland.

ATHENS, July 6. The Athens papers publish despatches from Chios Island in the Aegean Sea, saying that a Turkish destroyer on July 3rd, bombarded and captured a Greek sailing ship, which was transporting refugees from Chios. The same destroyer proceeded to Gioum Islet, where it bombarded and destroyed the monastery. According to despatches, the fishermen of Tcheno, a seaport in Asia Minor, opposite Chios, declare that they saw the captured transport but without passengers, whom they allege the Turks drowned.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 5. The Leander Club saved the Stewards' Challenge Cup for England by defeating Maveene. The German oarsmen cracked and dropped leaving the Leander to finish alone, 7 minutes, 52 seconds. Giuseppe Singaglia, Lorio, of Italy, carried off the Diamond Sculls by beating Stuart, of Trinity Hall, Cambridge. The final heat the Italian finished alone 9 minutes as Stuart had stopped dead beat, just after passing the mile. He had to be lifted out of his boat and taken aboard the Empress launch. Harvard won the final from Boston, by a length and a quarter in 7 minutes, 20 seconds. The race was a magnificent one throughout.

Where Responsibility Lies. No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland.

Robinson Crusoe Very Popular at the Crescent. Daniel De Foes great masterpiece, Robinson Crusoe, in three reels, was a big scoop at the Crescent Picture Palace yesterday, and those who had the good fortune to witness it enjoyed it immensely. The various scenes were wonderful and realistic. "Pearl's Mistake," a clever comedy, featuring Pearl White, followed the illustrated ballad: "Garden of Roses," by Miss Louise Arkandy. It was a really good performance which thoroughly pleased the large crowds and which will be looked forward to to-day. Note.—To-morrow the feature picture is "Memories."

A Timely Rescue. At Bowling Park yesterday afternoon a sudden gust of wind blew a baby carriage and its little occupant down the grade and into the pond. The child's father, Mr. William Moore, waded into his waist and promptly rescued the little one. Quite a number of persons witnessed the occurrence.

The Royal Visit

To St. John's on Thursday, July 16th—Second Day's Programme.

The plans which have already been published for the reception of His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, on Wednesday, July 15th, the first day of his visit, have been laid out with the special object that all the King's subjects in St. John's and the neighborhood may have many opportunities of seeing His Royal Highness at all times of the day. For which reason Wednesday has been proclaimed to be a Bank Holiday.

Special accommodation by rail at reduced fares will be offered on the lines from Carbonear, from Placentia and from Ferryland so that many people living at a distance, may have a chance of joining in this general reception of the Duke of Connaught.

The second day of the Duke's visit—Thursday the 16th—is not to have so strenuous a programme, nor are the details settled so definitely, in order that His Royal Highness may have the opportunity of seeing the country as well as of meeting the people.

In the early morning, the French cruiser Friant (which replaces the Descartes on fishery duties), under the command of Captain de Lagrange, will arrive at St. John's on a visit of courtesy to greet His Royal Highness. After the exchange of salutes with H.M.S. Essex, Capt. de Lagrange will pay his official call at Government House which will be duly returned on behalf of His Royal Highness and the Governor.

The Duke of Connaught will then go for a drive in a motor car, belonging to and driven by Mr. H. D. Reid. The route will probably be to Port-au-Cove. This will give His Royal Highness an opportunity of looking at a fox farm, and of obtaining a view of Bell Island, though it is to be regretted that the time at His Royal Highness's disposal is not sufficient to allow of an inspection of the wonderful iron mines which now stretch for three miles under the sea into Conception Bay.

His Royal Highness has signified his desire to take luncheon with the Premier of Newfoundland and Lady Morris.

At 3.30 His Royal Highness will inspect in the grounds at Government House, the Newfoundland Ambulance Division organized as a branch of the Overseas Brigade of the Order of St.

New Model Collapsible Lounges.

With the approach of really warm, summer days all one's plans for the summer cottage come into action, and the first thought of the housekeeper is generally that of comfortable sleeping accommodation, combined with economy of space.

Here is where our New Model Collapsible Lounges come to the front; of light, strong manufacture, full sized spring mattress when extended, and easily manipulated by means of an adjustable foot brake, these Lounges are particularly suitable for summer residences. They can be folded during the day, and by means of rugs and cushions made into luxuriously comfortable seats, while a couple of minutes transforms them into perfect beds for perfect rest at night. These Lounges are very reasonable in price. Come and see one demonstrated in our store, you'll be charmed with the result.

Over 2,000 Excursionists.

Over two thousand holiday seekers availed of the excursions, offered by the Reid Co., since Saturday last. By Saturday's express about 200 trout-ers went out, and the afternoon excursions on Sunday were largely patronized. Yesterday the excursions to Caplin Bay and Bay Roberts were attended by nearly 800 persons, 500 of whom were for points along the Southern shore. The weather was all that could be desired, and not the slightest accident occurred. The last contingent returned to the city at 7 a.m. to-day.

Ice Forces Kyle to the South.

The s.s. Kyle, Capt. Parsons, is now returning from the Labrador route having been unable to get further north than Holton. The ship reached Holton on Saturday last after leaving there to proceed further north as barriers of heavy ice was met and the ship was forced to return to Holton, where Capt. Parsons remained for 24 hours awaiting a change. As conditions did not change it was decided to return, the ice being impenetrable. The ship left Holton at noon Sunday and is due here about Saturday next.

Boy Dies Suddenly.

With unusual suddenness Patrick Day, aged 17, died last night at Bay Bulls. He had been trouting during the day and returned home about 8 o'clock. After resting awhile he left home again and had gone only a couple of hundred yards when he collapsed on the roadside before medical or spiritual aid reached him. Death was due to heart failure. Several people saw the lad fall. The sad affair has cast a gloom over the settlement.

Personal.

His Excellency Sir W. E. Davidson and Lady Davidson left by last evening's express in a private car for Curling where they will meet His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught upon his arrival.

Hon. R. A. Squires, Minister of Justice, who had been visiting the principal Canadian and American cities during the past few weeks, returned to the city by Sunday's express.

Mr. J. J. Mully left by Saturday's express en route to North Sydney, and will be absent from the city for about 10 days.

Mrs. W. H. Moulton and child, who have been in Burgo for the last three months, spending a vacation with Mr. Moulton's parents, arrived by the S. S. Portia.

QUEBEC, July 6.
The Duke of Connaught, accompanied by Colonel Farquhar, left on Saturday on H.M.S. Essex, for Newfoundland.

LONDON, July 5.
Fifteen hundred men at the Woolwich Arsenal struck because a man had been dismissed for refusing to erect a machine on a concrete bed, where it had been laid down by non-union workmen. The strikers threatened to call out 10,000 other workmen if the dismissed man is not re-instated.

LONDON, July 6.
It was formally announced in the House of Lords to-day that Lipton's Ltd. had been removed from the list of contractors for the British Army. This action is taken in consequence of the recent scandal in connection with army canteen contracts, for which several army officers and some civilian employees of Lipton's Ltd. were convicted on charges of receiving and giving bribes.

VIENNA, July 6.
Emperor Francis Joseph, in a proclamation to the Army and Navy, says: "We bow in our grief before the inscrutable will of the Almighty, who has demanded an immeasurable sacrifice from me, my forces and the Fatherland. Nevertheless I do not abandon hope of a prosperous future, convinced that in every trial by which we may be visited, the monarchy will find its sure refuge in the devotion, even unto death, of the Austro-Hungarian forces, whose loyalty cannot be shaken."

LONDON, July 6.
The body of Mitchell, the bandman, who lost his life in attempting to rescue Sir Denis Aagon, who jumped overboard from a launch on a woman's "trip," early on Friday morning, has been recovered, but the body of Sir Denis has not as yet been found. Considerable secrecy has been maintained as to the identity of those composing the party, but it is now known that the guests on the launch included Raymond Asquith, the Prime Minister's son, Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Earl of Rutland, Jasper Ridley, brother of Viscount Ridley, and Miss Iris Tree, daughter of Sir Beoroborn Tree.

LONDON, July 6.
Shamrock IV after alterations to her rigging, will have a further try-out to-day, but no more speed trials will be made. After to-day's trial the sails of the yacht will be dismantled, and the Ketch-rim fitted for the Atlantic voyage. Life rafts will be put on both decks. The hull will be strengthened with cross girders and stringers. The challenger will probably leave Southampton on July 20th sailing via the Azores, where the crew will be relieved, by fresh men from aboard Lipton's steam yacht Erin, which will accompany the Shamrock. It is estimated that four weeks will be occupied in the crossing as no towing is to be done, unless it is absolutely necessary.

NEW YORK, July 6.
In the ruins of a Lexington Avenue tenement house, wrecked on Saturday by the premature combustion of a powerful explosive, which killed Arthur Caron and three other people, the authorities to-day found inflammatory literature, which was printed there, and discovered that at the time of the explosion the house was apparently a bomb factory. Printing presses, revolutionary pamphlets, an electrical dynamo, two electric batteries, cartridges, and bits of steel were among the things uncovered in the search, which tends to show an archaic plot at assassination. That a demonstration halted by the bungling of someone, who was preparing an infernal machine for its mission, was planned against the Rockefeller family, is the theory upon which the authorities are working.

LONDON, July 6.
A flat denial that the British Government had brought pressure on the United States in connection with the Panama tolls, was made last night at the banquet of the American Society, by Viscount Bryce, former British Ambassador at Washington. Lord Bryce said he had simply advised his government that if President Wilson think it right to go to arbitration, he will do it. The Viscount added that no country in the world has a stronger desire than the United States to do what is right and honorable. The American Ambassador, Walter H. Page said that the last letter to the government at Washington relating to Panama affairs, was written by Ambassador Bryce before the end of the Taft administration. The speakers referred to the international Polo match and Henley Regatta as evidence of the generous feelings between the two countries.

Empress of Ireland Disaster.

Amongst those lost in the above mentioned Disaster was Mr. H. R. O'Hara, of Toronto. Mr. O'Hara was insured with the Railway Passengers Assurance Company for $5,000.00. The total amount which has been paid under this policy was $13,500.00, made up as follows:—

Original principal sum $5,000.00, plus accumulations $1,750.00 making in all $6,750.00. This doubled for travel accidents amounts to $13,500.00

Another point in connection with this case is that Mr. O'Hara carried $2,000.00 in the Canada Life, $2,000.00 in the Continental Life, $4,000.00 in the National Life, and $5,000.00 in the Sun Life totalling in all $13,000.00. His policy with the Railway Passengers, which was a Combination Accident and Disease Policy, cost him $35.00 and for which his beneficiaries received in final settlement $13,500.00 as against $13,000.00 from the total of his Life policies and which as above stated cost him $474.06. These figures show the importance of not delaying in taking advantage of the benefits granted by the Regatta Notes.

The Regatta Collectors began work to-day, and, as usual, the people subscribed liberally. Intending crews have only four weeks for practice. This morning three crews were out on the harbor and a similar number on the pond.

This evening the Mary, Red Lion and Myrtle will be in commission for practicing.

Reid's wharf is now completed and the work of renovating the Cadet Boat House has commenced. The new racer now in the hands of builder Sexton, will soon be ready. She will be launched, it is said, tomorrow fortnight.

The Amateur Race this year, will be more interesting than ever as four good crews are now practicing. A young crew of tradesmen will also enter the arena this year. They will row the new boat and are looked upon as "dark horses."

Fishermen Had Trying Experience.

It was currently reported yesterday that two local fishermen were drowned off the Narrows by the upsetting of their boat. We are glad to learn, however, that such is not the case. Mr. Wentzell, of the North Battery, went adrift in his motor boat, but there was no serious consequences. Wentzell had been fishing during the day off Small Point near Sugar Loaf and when returning from the grounds last evening the motor engine became disabled. The boat began to drift ashore and would probably have gone ashore and been dashed to pieces with poor chances of the occupant surviving but for the timely assistance rendered. J. Richardson, G. Hennebury and P. Warren who were returning from the fishing grounds in the former's motor boat noticed Wentzell's plight, went to his aid, took his boat in tow and brought it to port.

Plenty of Fish

And of Unusual Size.
Codfish were very plentiful on the local grounds yesterday and all the fishermen who were out got good fares. During the early morning and forenoon many boats could be seen entering the Narrows deeply laden. Some of the fish taken within the past week were of very large size, and two of our veteran cod-killers informed us that in forty years experience they never saw fish as large as what they hauled from their traps this season. To date Mr. Joseph Peckford, an eminently successful fish hunter, has landed a saving catch, and one or two others have done almost equally as well.

Painful Accident.

There arrived by train on Sunday a man named Monooe Smith for the General Hospital. The patient was second officer on the S. S. Meigle and a few days ago met with a painful accident that will incapacitate him for some time. He was working the donkey, which when he got one of his hands caught and severely crushed, the thumb being completely severed. The wound was temporarily dressed, while the victim suffered great pain. On arrival here the patient had to be driven to the Hospital in the ambulance.

HORSE FRIGHTENED.

Yesterday, on LeMarshall Road, a passing automobile frightened a horse which upset the carriage attached and the two occupants, a man and a woman, were thrown out, but neither were hurt, fortunately. The man managed to rein in the animal.

Two Baseball Games Yesterday.

The chief attraction for those who remained in town yesterday were the baseball games which took place on St. George's Field and witnessed by large gatherings of onlookers.

In the forenoon the Red Lions and Cubs faced each other. The game was lively from start to finish and caused unending excitement among the supporters of both teams. The Cubs for their first time put up a remarkable showing. They had honours in their best when victory perched on the banners of their opponents who made an excellent score in their last innings.

The personnel of the teams and score were:—

Cubs.	pitcher	Red Lions.
Clouston	catcher	Winter
Tobin	1st base	Brien
Herder	2nd base	Ross
Clouston	3rd base	Hiltz
Meehan	short stop	Frost

Simms	right field	Munn
St. John	P. Duff	3 2 1 0 1 0 3-10
Red Lion	1 3 0 2 2 2 2-11

A rare treat of ball was handed out to the spectators in the afternoon when the Wanderers and B. I. S. met. The latter, however, went down to defeat after a stiff fight.

The players and score were:—

B. I. S.	pitcher	Wanderers

LONDON, To-day.
Austen Chamberlain has decided to resign his seat in Parliament in order to seek re-election in his late father's Birmingham constituency.
EL PASO, To-day.
George St. Clair Douglas, a British subject, held by the constitutionalist authorities at Zacatecas, was released to-day. His detention had been the subject of representations to Carranza and Villa agents here by H. C. Miles, British Vice-Consul. The charge that Douglas assisted the Federalists at Zacatecas has been withdrawn.
VANCOUVER, To-day.
The immigration authorities won before the Court of appeal on the Hunsli Singh test case, covering the Komagata Maru's passengers. The Court unanimously upheld the validity of the Dominion Order-in-Council, respecting the prohibition of entry of aliens not direct from their land of birth and not having $200 and being a laborer.

NEW YORK, To-day.
Herman Dietz, a New York Diamond Merchant and his son were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury here on eleven counts as participants in an alleged conspiracy to smuggle diamonds into the States. The indictment charges the accused with smuggling stones worth upward of $100,000 from Canada.

LONDON, To-day.
The increasing probability of an amicable settlement of the Home Rule question has not been allowed to interfere with the speedy organization and equipping of rival volunteer forces in Ireland. It is reported that 200,000 rounds of ammunition were landed yesterday on the County Down Coast under the very noses of destroyers patrolling the coast. The Ammunition for Ulster volunteers was concealed in coal bags on a collier.

Excursions.
OLD FAVORITES.
The Old Favorites excursion to Caplin Bay, yesterday, was largely attended. The weather was all that could be desired, and the Garden Party, in aid of the R. C. Church at Caplin Bay, was most successful. The party returned to the city at 1 o'clock this morning.
S. U. F.
The S.U.F. annual excursion to Bay Roberts, yesterday, was one of the most enjoyable outings in the annals of the society. Nearly three hundred persons went out by the morning train and upon arrival at Bay Roberts games were indulged in. At night a grand dance was held which was kept up until an early hour this morning, return to the city being made at 7 a.m.

In Memoriam.
A few short weeks ago there passed away at St. Bride's, Miss Katie Conway, daughter of the venerable and respected John E. Conway.
Miss Conway who occupied the responsible position of postmistress and operatress was a young lady of more than ordinary charm of character, kind, sympathetic, and obliging, she was thoroughly trusted and respected by all, and her early demise has caused a void which it will take years to fill. Not satisfied with the ordinary village education, she improved her mind by judicious reading and was thoroughly posted on all the events of the day. When the Bond Government extended the telegraph lines to St. Bride's Miss Conway was appointed, and faithfully and well discharged the duties of her office, dying almost in harness.
For nearly two years it was seen by those who knew her best that the "red hand" of phthisis had delivered its fatal stroke, yet the unsuspecting victim fought on, concealing her wound—so to speak—until two or three weeks before her death, when knowing that the end was approaching she prepared for eternity with sublime faith, and beautiful resignation.
Her remains were followed to the grave by large numbers and she rests almost within the shade of the church of which she was so faithful a daughter, and in sight of the home she loved so well.
For the aged parents now almost at the sunset of light, the deepest sympathy is expressed, but we know that they will find peace and consolation from Him who said "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavily burdened and I will refresh you."

Bowring's Ships.
The Prospero left Seal Cove at 10:25 a.m. to-day.
The Portia sails to-morrow for western ports.
POOR PROSPECTS NORTH.—The fishery north continues bad. Reports received to-day from Bonaville, Fogo and other principal fishing centres state that traps are only getting from a half to three quintals of codfish daily, and that prospects are poor.

Sensational Developments

Regarding Mysterious Death of Young Man at Bell Island—Two Men Arrested as Suspects.
At present there is considerable sensation at Bell Island over the mysterious death of the young man, Thomas Fitzgerald, who was found near Whitney bridge in a terribly mutilated state. The cause of death has not yet been determined and various theories are advanced, as the victim is alleged to be foully dealt with. To-day we learn that further developments have occurred and that Sergeant Cox and Constable Morrissey had arrested, on suspicion, two men named James Ryan and John Quinn, charged with having knowledge of how Fitzgerald met his fate. The suspects were miners and fellow workmen of the deceased.
Yesterday a post mortem examination was held at Bell Island on Fitzgerald's body by two doctors to try and determine the exact cause of death. Inspector General Sullivan has received a message saying that a physician, who held a post mortem on the body of the unfortunate shortly after he expired, attributes death to shock, but the nature of the shock is not known. The authorities are leaving no stone unturned to clear up what now looks like a mystery, and other arrests are expected to occur any moment.
From people who came over to the city to-day from Bell Island we hear that the deceased was an honest, hard working, and self-respecting young man, made many friends on Bell Island, and had several relatives in St. John's East proper.

Fifty Dollars Stolen.
A daring theft was committed on Sunday, and the sum of fifty dollars stolen from Wood's West End Restaurant. At midnight Saturday, when business ceased for the week, employer and employees left the store and on re-opening yesterday morning found that some one had entered, allegedly to be early Sunday morning, and during the interval got away with the amount mentioned. The police are trying to run down the perpetrator of the theft. There was nothing to show how entrance to the building was effected.
