CHAPTER XXXVII.

He would put an end to all his doubts at once; better a thousand times to fix his chain so tightly that he could not even move it.

Leah was standing against the carved mantel-piece in the drawing-room; a bright fire burned in the grate, the lamps were lighted, and a half-golden radiance from them filled the room and fell on the queenly head with its crown of rich dark hair, on the beautiful face that was transfused with love and happiness, and on the white graceful throat and rounded arms. The fine white lace swept the floor. A prince might have been proud to woo this girl for his wife; her beauty and grace would have charmed any man. Perhaps, out of the whole wide world, this man who was to marry her was the only man who would have looked on her loveliness without emotion.

He went up to her, and put his arm round her waist. He was not given to caressing, and Leah raised her face with an expression of half-amused wonder.

"I want to ask you a question, Leah," he said, gently. "What day shall we choose for our wedding-day? I shall leave it entirely to you, dear," he continued. "We arranged that the wedding should take place in the spring—in what month shall it be?"

"Something in his tone arrested her attention; his voice was not musical with love, but earnest, as though he weighed each syllable. She looked at him keenly; he was calm, with a thoughtful expression on his face; there was no rapture, no warmth. She could not tell why, but in that moment her heart chilled; then she reproached herself for it. He could give her no greater proof of love than this—that he asked her to be his wife. Why should she find fault with the manner of his asking? Yet she wished that there had been more passion in his words.

"May marriages are unlucky, so people say," he continued. "The violets bloom and the trees begin to bud in April. Shall it be in April, Leah?"

She put her arms around his neck and raised her face to his; the love that shone in her eyes might have melted a heart of stone.

"Are you quite sure that you wish it then, Basil?" she asked, anxiously. "I am quite sure," he replied, with more firmness and greater tenderness. "Then it shall be just as you will," she replied; and they parted that night.

with the distinct understanding that the marriage was to take place in April.

"You have the wedding-ring, Leah?" said Sir Basil.

"Yes, I have it in safe-keeping," she replied, with a happy smile.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

So the wedding-day was fixed, and in Leah's future there did not seem to be one cloud. Any one, on hearing of what awaited her, would have pronounced her to be one of the happiest girls on whom the sun shone. Beauty, riches, honor, love—every gift with which life and fortune can crown their favorites was hers.

There were times when she forgot all her troubles, both past and present, when the faint shadows died, and the sun of her love and happiness shone out in full and perfect day; then again the clouds of doubt gathered, and her disturbing fancies took tangible shape.

But in April with the snowdrops and violets, with the springing leaves and the song of the birds, would come her wedding-day, she said to herself. Sir Basil must love her, or he would not ask her to be his wife. He was not marrying her for beauty; he had seen fairer women. It was not for her wealth; he was rich enough himself. It could be for nothing but love. To her own heart she said that she would be happy; she would trample under foot all her fancies and thoughts, "vague ideas that knew no form," and give herself up to happiness which should have in it no alloy.

A week later Sir Basil drove over to Brentwood to consult Leah about the colors and decorations for her boudoir. In every detail he showed the strongest desire to please her. What he did not give in devoted or passionate love, he gave her in unremitting attention. Leah was in the hands of the decorators. It was many years since the interior had been renovated, and Sir Basil had determined that it should be a fitting shrine for the beautiful woman who was to be its mistress. The room that was to be essentially her own, her boudoir, he was interested in above all. He had laughed when the manager from the well-known firm of Clough & Hewson had waited upon him, and, after some little preliminaries had said that she should be grateful if he could see the portrait or have some slight description of the lady who was to preside over the room.

"No matter how beautiful the coloring of a room may be," he said, "if it does not harmonize with the lady for whose use it is, all the beauty is in vain. With walls of the most delicate amber, a blonde lady would be out of harmony altogether."

Sir Basil smiled and nodded approvingly. "The lady who is to inhabit this particular room is a brunette," he said.

"The manager bowed with a gratified air. "You see, sir," he said, "the coloring of a room is like the background of a picture. And Sir Basil had been so struck with the words that he had driven over to see Leah upon the point.

It was a fine morning, and he found his fiancée in the large conservatory, to which an aviary was attached. She was feeding some favorite birds of hers—birds of bright hued plumage. He was a lover of beauty, and he felt that it would scarcely be possible to find a fairer picture than this peerless girl in her simple morning dress of white. The background of pink flowers and foliage threw into bold relief the faultless lines of the graceful figure, even as the white hands looked like snow among the bright-colored hush. He could not help admiring her and telling himself that this peerless woman was his. There was more tenderness in the kiss he gave her than there had ever been in any caress of his before.

At any sign of love from him Leah's heart thrilled with happiness; and now her face brightened suddenly, as a gray landscape becomes golden under the light of the sun.

"I have ridden over this morning," he said, "on very important business. The decorators are awaiting instructions concerning your boudoir. I want you to choose the colors yourself; I will have no other taste consulted but your own."

"I saw a very pretty boudoir at Lady Daventry's last year," she answered. "It was all white, and paneled in gold. The hangings were of white satin with heavy gold fringe and tassels; the carpet was of thick white velvet, and the couches and chairs were covered with white satin. If you wish me to consult my own taste, Basil, I should like the same."

"Nothing could be more beautiful," he said. "How rooms after a time, seem to partake of the characters of those who live in them! I was looking round Glen this morning, and trying to picture you as you will be when you are mistress there. I could fancy you sweeping through the broad corridors and up the marble staircase—that staircase, by the way, is the most precious thing we have at Glen; I fancied you standing in the drawing-room, receiving visitors with the same grace as here. I went purposely into the breakfast-room that I might try to imagine what it would be like when your dear face shone there, when, morning after morning, I should see you there opposite to me. I thought of the months and years that would pass while we should be together. I wondered what life would bring to us, Leah. There is no limit to thought," he continued. "I tried to foresee what the coming years would be like, Leah—if ever, as they passed we should have little quarrels, little coolnesses, as other people do."

"Never my love—never!" she said. "My will must always submit to yours."

"I wondered if we should like the same people, make the same friends, share the same tastes. A whole life seemed to pass in review before me. Then I wondered if either one or the other would be stricken down by dangerous illness, and which would die first."

"I have often wondered which of us would die first, Basil," she said, clinging to him as though not even death should take him away. (To be continued.)

Criminal Gangs Have New York Mapped Out

How gangs of criminals have mapped the city into districts, whose boundary lines are exact as those of police precincts, with each district held sacred by its own particular gang for hold-up purposes, has been told to the authorities by Hubert J. Slahery, a former army transport captain, now a confessed gunman and gangster, who was arraigned for sentence on April 26. As a result of the revelations, the police allege, six important robbery mysteries have been solved within a few weeks, and nine men have been arrested. Fearing that the gang would take revenge against Slahery, the court consented to his removal from the city pending sentence on June 21.

Captain Slahery gave an excellent service during the war, but when retired found himself without a job. He went back to his old haunts in Yorkville section and renewed youthful acquaintances with old companions. Many of these friends, so the story runs, despairing of work, had become hold-up men and piled their trade with a regularity and organization more complete than is found in many more legitimate businesses. He was given an opportunity—or, perhaps, invitation is more suitable—to join a group of highly skilled amateurs operating in Yorkville.

Can Produce Potatoes But Not Wheat.

WHAT DO OUR AGRICULTURISTS THINK?

A short time since a Telegram correspondent advanced the statement that though Newfoundland could grow good quality wheat it could not profitably do so. In this connection and in securing verification thereof it may be of interest to note remarks of Professor Brickner, of the Hamilton College of Agriculture when recently addressing wheat growers of this Province. In his address he made the rather surprising statement that every million bushels of wheat raised took $500,000.00 in plant food—i.e., fertilizers—from the soil, but that butter or beef to the valuation of a million bushels of wheat could be raised with a plant food loss from the soil of but one thousand dollars. He further stated that in the past thirty years the yield of wheat per acre in Manitoba had fallen from 15 bushels to 10, owing chiefly to the loss of soil fertility through constant cropping to wheat. It would appear then that in Newfoundland would not be acting wisely in entreprising the growing of wheat whilst we may raise other and more profitable crops. The monetary return from an acre of wheat at current prices is not above $18.00, but we debit against this the cost of seed grain, planting, process, harvesting, operations, wear and tear of costly agricultural machinery, etc. It will be rather forcibly borne in on us that we may entertain but a very slender hope of getting four cheaper than its present price. This will not be hard to realize when we recall that an acre of wheat yields but 3 1/2 barrels of flour and delivered at St. John's this has an aggregate value of $35.50, which $18.00 goes to the farmer and does not yield him a living wage, and $15.50 proportionally to the wheat broker, the miller and the railway and other transportation companies for collecting the wheat in the storage elevators, transporting it to the milling centres, the manufacturing and barrelling costs and the subsequent sea-borne transportation cost to a Newfoundland point. But for the production—bran and middlings—which have a certain value, flour could not be sold even at present prices. Mass production of any product enables the irreducible minimum in production costs being attained. This is the case with wheat in Canada.

WOULD COST MORE.
Were we to undertake the growing of wheat and its conversion into flour the cost thereof should of necessity be at least 35 to 40% above what we pay for imported flour. The mandate that "no man may serve two masters" is as true in its material as in its moral aspect. We are not taking a practical, common sense view of the agricultural problems that we have been for many years vainly hoping to solve to the impracticable extent that we have set for ourselves as a goal—that of being self-supporting in the matter of food production. We are told that the days of miracles have passed, and the realization of what generally thought practicable in the way of agricultural development would constitute a very real miracle, as it would mean the getting of results without effort or material. If a man may not serve two masters how can he be both a fisherman and a farmer at one and the same time, and as both industries with us are prosecuted between May and October and as both to be successful call for all one's time our expectations would appear to partake of the character of our absurdity. We have probably fewer than five hundred individuals who make agriculture their sole industry, and there is not much prospect of any material increase of this number. The fisherman-farmer class who confine their efforts to the raising of a limited quantity of hay and potatoes and who by a fortunate combination of conditions are enabled to get very satisfactory returns in their dual capacity, firstly owing to their operations being of limited extent and to the fact that hay calls for the minimum of cultivation and that potatoes will do well with but scant cultivation provided the ground be liberally fertilized. The women as a rule can do the former and the planters of fish, shell, hen, etc., furnish the latter. As a matter of fact our fishermen-farmers get results from their small operations that are above the average. They get 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 ton of hay to the acre and probably not less than fifty barrels, and in many cases more, of potatoes to the acre. The hay yield is about equal to that of the United States or Canada, whilst our potato crop per acre is larger than that of the United States and fully equal to that of Canada.

NO MARKETING SYSTEM.

Our fisherman-farmer class through their individual operations, are necessarily small producers in the aggregate of the great bulk of our agricultural products. We undoubtedly produce of late years a potato crop sufficient to meet home consumption requirements but we have no marketing system, hence parts of the country—St. John's for instance—which does not produce sufficient for their considerable population, are periodically compelled to import from Prince Edward Island. An equitable freight rate on potatoes from eastern shore to St. John's, would probably be transported before winter conditions made doing so impracticable, would eliminate all necessity for such importations. In 1921 nearly all the residents of the Codroy Valley had from 30 to 60 barrels or more of the 1920 crop unsold when they had to empty their cellars to put in the 1921 crop. Had the requisite marketing possibilities been available, these potatoes could have been sold with much advantage to both producer and consumer as it was a year of good prices for potatoes. The only crops that may be materially increased under present conditions, are hay and potatoes. The yield of the former may be increased 20 per cent. from the present acreage and that of potatoes 30 per cent. by increased plantings. There is a very urgent need for increased production of hay, as fully 70 per cent. of our horned and other cattle are notoriously underfed in the winter season. There is not a necessity so far as home consumption is concerned for an increased production of potatoes, but did we produce a hundred thousand or so barrels above our requirements, an advantageous market would appear to be open to us. The marketing possibilities of Canada, especially New Brunswick, do a large potato trade with the West Indies, shipping the product there as part cargo of fish carrying vessels and by the regular subsidized steamers from Halifax. If we will produce the potatoes we should be able to secure a share of this trade and probably with advantage to our fish business as it would enable the shipping of smaller consignments of the latter, and such are more in demand.

RECIPROCITY WITH BARBADOS.

In this connection it might be worth while if the present mooted reciprocity offer by Barbados takes practical shape, to be in the preference said to be offered to us to include potatoes as well as fish. The exportation by us of even a single shipment of agricultural products would do more to kill the pernicious and unmerited stigma on Newfoundland, as being a "country of fogs and fish" than volumes of writing would effect. The Department of Agriculture is compelled owing to the meagreness of its grant, to rely upon census statistics for the annual value of our agricultural products. It is known to many that the way in which census figures have been procured in previous censuses were far from being such as would commend their accuracy, and in the matter of agriculture valuations they do not stand up well under analysis. The census of 1911, which has so far been relied on as a basis of values, gives our farm products a yearly value of in or about 20 million dollars. Given that we have fifty thousand families in Newfoundland, we must deduct therefrom the number of fam-

That Condemnation.

(Dedicated to the Port Union Council F. P. U.)
From High Olympus thund'rous sound,
Echoing all the earth around,
Told that the gods were sore displeas'd,
"The F. P. U. must be appeas'd."
This was the message they sent out—
And what was all the row about?
Some weeks ago the Board of Trade
The subject of abuse was made
In resolutions which a few
Poor members of the F. P. U.
At Port Union passed in state
And published in the Advocate.
The Board said not a few
Than comment on this verbose mess;
And though this may have been severe,
It was not harsh enough, I fear.
And now, O dreadful to relate,
A painful blow is dealt by fate.
For from Port Union there has come
A message which surely nam'd
The Telegram with awful right.
An answer to its comment light.
But ah—perhaps this may not be
A thing which is rightly terrible,
For there is nothing which I fear
This letter is a little "spook"
Written by politicians who Got members of the F. P. U.
To sign their names to it. I think
To overlook it with a wink.
I'm sure that my opinion's right,
The clouds that seem'd as black as night
Have vanished, and so further sound
Comes from Olympus to the ground.

What a Laugh Is.

A laugh is just like sunshine,
It freshens all the day,
It tips the peak of life with light,
And drives the clouds away.
The soul grows glad that bears it,
And feels its courage strong—
A laugh is just like sunshine,
For cheering folk along!
A laugh is just like music,
It lingers in the heart,
And where its melody is heard
The hills of life depart;
And happy thoughts come crowding
To cheer the notes to greet—
A laugh is just like music,
For making living sweet!

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

ANY PRETEXT SERVES.
LONDON, May 12.
A Reuter despatch from Sydney, N.S.W., says local trades organizations have declared a general strike against wage reductions, and that threats of revolutionary action are heard. State railwaymen threaten to go on strike against the new regulations, requiring medical examination of workers before engagement.

WILL FIGHT AGAIN.
LONDON, May 12.
An agreement for Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey to meet, either in London or Paris, before next May has reached Jack Kearns, who told the Associated Press to-day.

HOLDING ONE POSITION.
MONTREAL, May 12.
Roy M. Wolvin has resigned as Vice President of Canada Steamships Lines, to devote himself, he says, entirely to affairs of the British Empire Steel Corporation.

CANADA INSISTS.
CANADA claims OTAWA, May 12.
Canada claims the ownership of Wrangell Island, and will send an expedition there, Minister of Defence Graham told the Commons to-day. United States claimed the island by pre-discovery, but it was not sure that the claim was well founded, he said. Stensland planted the Canadian flag on Wrangell.

INCREASING OUTRAGES.
BELFAST, May 12.
Renewed firing in the Marrowbone section, to-night, caused suspension of the car service. Robbers held up an engine and stole £1,000 from a pay clerk. A train on the Donegal road was raided by Meftineers, and large supplies of foodstuffs removed.

THE ART OF CHEWING.
Your whole system depends for its health and strength on the stomach. The stomach, in turn, depends on the teeth. The very foundation of health is therefore laid at the first step in food conversion—the act of chewing. Food improperly chewed enters the stomach in a wrong condition, and it brings about a wrong fermentation which causes first, indigestion, then kindred ailments. The proper chewing of the food will prevent these things. Chew your food plentifully.

Rebuilding the Churches.

Three thousand churches, we are told, were destroyed in French territory alone during the slightly over four years of the Great War. For a land where it was said religion had taken flight, a record of the destruction of the number of sacred buildings as given, establishes one prime fact, and that is that inwardly at least—France was not fast falling into Atheism, nor is religion impelled yet, it seems. For in the face of adversity and in spite of all the other huge and pressing demands on the French Nation, the Government has decided, according to current report to issue Bonds to the value of two hundred million francs, for the purpose of rebuilding and restoring churches, totally destroyed and others damaged in the war. France had set a great deal of store on receiving relief from the German reparations payment, but by devious methods and twisty ways the Germans have made evasions of remittances, and only place something to account when shaken up. There is a vast difference in the manner in which the Germans collected the French war indemnity in 1871, and the way they themselves are paying the present claims of France. Force, of arms was used in the first instance, and the French peasantry were kept under German military surveillance, until the last centime had been paid and checked. But France has the power to come back, and in taking up the work of rebuilding and restoring the churches destroyed by the Boche, it must be remembered that this is indeed a tremendous obligation to shoulder. For in addition to the burden of a vast public debt, France has all she can do to carry the ordinary expenses of Government, and provide funds for the restoration of ruined villages, and for the rebuilding of houses for the homeless. It is an object lesson to any country, this decision to look after the churches, and get them back to a condition fit and meet for public worship. The reconstruction of permanent churches and presbyteries is to be undertaken at once. A committee of architects will supervise all the work, a decision which is regarded as admirable for the artistic quality of the buildings to be undertaken. To France belongs the honor of being, one might say, the mother of ecclesiastical architecture, for it was in that country that some of the greatest buildings of all time, the great Gothic Cathedrals and churches of the Middle Ages reared their stately heads in a sublime era of building, and they have been subjects of close study and interest for countless persons.

CAPT WHITELEY PREPARING FOR STRAITS FISHERY—HOPEFUL OVER OUTLOOK BUT FITTING IS RATHER HIGH

Captain Whiteley is now making preparations for the Straits fishery and will proceed to Bonne Esperance via Bay of Islands on the 25th inst. so as to arrive at the fishing station about the last of May and be ready for fishing the first week in June. Captain Whiteley will have about 18 traps, and will employ 70 men at the fishery. Mr. Grant will employ about 300 men including a staff of coopers, who will introduce an economic innovation by making fish casks required on the premises. Capt. Whiteley is quite hopeful over the outlook, but says that he had hoped that commodities all round would have been cheaper.

Two large items of outfit are higher or than they were last year, viz: flour and salt. Gasoline also is much higher than is justifiable at 52 cents per gallon, when it can be bought in Halifax for 33 cents. Salt is $2.20 as against $2.00 last year, and flour is so far about $1.50 dearer per barrel. Capt. Whiteley will begin fishing with the hook and line with caplin bait, as soon as the trap time comes he will put his 18 to 20 traps in the water. When the trapping season is over he will take up the hook and line fishing again.—Trade Review.

Preferential Agreement.

"Word has been received that Jamaica has been induced to place Newfoundland on the same footing with Canada as regards her preferential tariff. It will be remembered that a preferential tariff was recently arranged between Canada and Jamaica, that would have given Canadian Fish Exporters a decided advantage over Newfoundland. The Prime Minister, on representation from the Trade took the matter up with the satisfactory outcome as given above. This will be welcome news both to Exporters and the country generally. The above is clipped from to-day's issue of the Trade Review. We do not remember hearing anything of this matter previously, but if it is correct a good stroke of business has been accomplished.—Telegram.

To Correspondents.

Mrs. C.A.W. Bell Island—We have made some enquiries about the proposed establishment of a training school in Newfoundland for the blind, and so far as could be learned the project has not been finally dropped as you state, but under the financial conditions of the Colony neither the Government, out of general revenue, nor the public, by private subscriptions, are warranted in launching the undertaking for the present.

Sensational Arrest.

BROTHER AND SISTER CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER—ARE RELEASED ON BAIL.

Denis O'Brien and Margaret Duff, brother and sister, who reside at Freshwater, were arrested this morning charged with manslaughter. The charge reads that they "feloniously did kill and slay one Thomas O'Brien, against the peace of our Lord the King, his crown and dignity." The accused have been released on bail in their own recognizances of $5,000 each and two securities of $2,500. It will be remembered that on March 28th, last, the body of Thomas O'Brien was found in a barn on the Oxen Pond Rd., under conditions of the most disgusting nature. A post mortem was held and death was ascribed to natural causes. The police have evidently been making a full investigation and to-day's arrest is the result of their enquiries. The arrest was made by Detective Constable Lee and Constable Walsh. The preliminary enquiry into the case will be held during the latter part of the present month.

A meeting to elect officers of the B.I.S. Football team will be held in the Club Rooms on Saturday, the 13th, at 9.30 p.m.—May 12, 21.

Sealing Voyage Finished.

TOTAL TURNOUT 128,031. S. S. Thetis finished discharging her seals at Job's this forenoon. The ship's turnout amounted to 5,438. Up to yesterday at 6 p.m. 3,800 seals were landed. Amongst the pelts were those of three or four square flippers—or sea dogs. The fat on one of these skins was nearly 4 inches thick. The sealing voyage for 1922 has now closed, and the total catch amounts to 128,031 made up as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Name of ship, Total catch. Includes Sagona (8,908), Ranger (4,296), Thetis (15,825), Seal (4,978), Viking (19,373), Eagle (16,183), Neptune (22,158), Terra Nova (23,157), and others.

Derelict Towed to Port.

TURNED ON BEAM ENDS. The derelict Schr. Dallas B. which was reported yesterday as being about 1 1/2 miles out in Conception Bay was towed to port this morning by the tug John Green. The schr. which is of about 25 tons, is now moored in the upper part of the harbour. The little vessel, it appears, was coming from Hillview, T.B., with a load of herring, and suddenly sprang a leak. When she turned on her beam ends the crew took to their boats. A number of barrels of herring which the schr. had on deck were lost when she capsized.

French Fish at Oporto.

OUR COMPETITORS BUSY. Lind and Couto's market report for the latter part of April states that the French schooner Gaulgion from Bordeaux has discharged 690 qts. French dried fish at Oporto. Last fall North German fish entered this market and found a ready sale. Last year and the year before French firms entered largely into competition with our catch in the Italian market and it now appears they are bidding for the Oporto market.

Family in Cells.

EVICTED FROM HOUSE, MOTHER AND CHILDREN SHELTER AT POLICE STATION. Evicted from their house in James Street yesterday, the family of a city laborer are still sheltering in a Police Station cell, where they spent the night. The father left to look for work and another house, but so far has been unsuccessful. There are three children the eldest of whom is seven years of age, and until the father can find work, they will have to remain in the cell which has been allotted to them. Mr. Joseph English, Bailiff of the Central District Court, requests us to say that he had no connection whatever with the eviction.

Shipping Notes.

S.S. Canadian Sapper is due to-morrow from Montreal. S.S. Rosalind was due to leave New York at 11 a.m. for here via Halifax. S.S. Maple Dawn will sail for Halifax to-morrow forenoon. The ship will load sugar at Halifax for Montreal. S.S. Clyde leaves at 5 p.m. to-day up the Green Bay route. S.S. Oxonian will sail for Liverpool on Monday or Tuesday. The ship is now taking on board feed for her cattle cargo. AT THE BALSAUM:—The following guests are registered at Balsaum Place. W. J. Parsons, H. Grace; A. E. Mercer, Bay Roberts; Rev. H. Our Local Papers.

HIS DIARY.

May 12th.—All the talk of the town is of the Railway and how the situation is critical which is, I think, foolish, seeing how if the Railway Company defaults, the Receiver will take it and operate it for the Government. The unemployed make shift to dig the places chosen for cabstands but many men still with no work. In the afternoon, I to see about the purchase of a motor coach, seeing how my wife will give me no peace till I possess one. At night, to the picture house and so home and to bed.

New Marine Appliance.

RUDDER CONTROLLED MOTOR.

Press representatives were to-day given a practical demonstration of an invention which will, when better known, be a real boon to local motor boat fishermen. It consists of a Kitchen reversing control gear which does away with the necessity of a reversing gear on the engine, permits the motor boat to spin round on its heel and to be instantly stopped. Mr. Haber Angel, of the Win. Heap Company, agents for this reversing gear, took representatives of the city press for a spin around the harbor in the Company's motor boat this morning, and explained the system on which the new rudder works. The rudder not only controls the steering of the boat but also the speed. It is controlled by a wheel mounted on the stern. The rudder blades are in the shape of a cone which opens and closes in response to the control wheel. A small boat fitted with this rudder can be brought from full speed to a dead stop almost instantaneously. The Spanish Coaster "Alca," a steel vessel of 500 tons displacement and 140 feet long, has been fitted with a Kitchen rudder, was brought from full speed to a dead stop in 34 seconds and the distance travelled was only 200 feet. The control permitted the boat to perform complicated manoeuvres with ease. What a large boat like that can do, the ordinary motor boat can accomplish far more easily. The rudder is the invention of Mr. J. A. Kitchen, of England.

Taking Up Routes.

COASTAL BOATS LEAVE. The various Coastal boats are now resuming their regular routes for the summer season. S.S. Clyde leaves at 5 p.m. for Lewisporte to take up the Notre Dame Bay service. S.S. Malakoff sailed at noon on the Trinity Bay and Port Union service. The Susa has just completed her first run on the Fogo Mail service and leaves again on Tuesday. S.S. Prospero sails early next week on the Northern Coastal service as far north as Outport.

Bad German Salt.

COOKS AND HOUSEWIVES are advised to beware of bad German salt. "The Germans have found a way to pulverize rock salt into an imitation of refined table salt," said representatives of the Salt Manufacturer's Association. "At almost every port it is put into cartons and sold as British manufacture." "By using German salt a Cork curer spoils a large quantity of bacon. The Dublin Government analyst has reported that it contains magnesia in large quantities and is unfit for butter-making."

Relief Works.

TRUCKMEN PROTEST—ANOTHER MEETING IN BANNERMAN PARK.

Tenders for the relief works in the West End of the city will be awarded this afternoon. It is understood that some eight or ten bids for tenders were received. The works include widening a part of the Southside Road, crowning Molloy's Lane leading up to Topwell Road, and widening the Waterford Bridge Road near the Asylum. The cost of these works will be in the neighbourhood of $40,000. The work on the canal is progressing, especially on the site near the Post Office. It has been suggested that as the men on relief work made a large number of paving blocks during the past winter, and there is not much immediate chance of selling them, they be used to pave this place. A number of truckmen for some time have been doing nothing at their avocation, have protested against the use of the Council's motor truck in hauling away the excavated clay and stone from the stand near the Court House. They state that horses should be employed on the job and the Council is doing them an injustice in keeping them out of work. We learn upon enquiry that the Council is not doing the trucking, but that a few days ago the Government asked for the loan of the motor truck which Council granted. A number of unemployed ex-service men are holding a meeting in Bannerman Park this afternoon, when the matter of obtaining work will be discussed.

Education Report.

OUT AT LAST. The Report of the Department of Education has at last made its appearance. It is a bulky volume of 276 pages and a wealth of interesting statistics. There are now 1,107 schools in the island and 1,511 teachers are employed. Of these, 360 are men and 1,151 women. There are 140 teachers in training. The pupils attending schools throughout the island are, 27,603 boys and 27,985 girls, a total of 55,588. Each pupil costs the Government $15.02. All the statistics quoted above are according to the report. The average of daily attendance in the schools is 50.57 per cent, and this compares very favourably with the percentage of 51.6 in Nova Scotia, 52.02 in Saskatchewan, and 55.49 in Ontario. The percentage of pupils attending our schools after the age of 14 is very small, being only 10.6. The attention of this is brought by the Report to the Legislature. The Deputy Minister of Education, who wrote the report, makes several suggestions, which would tend to improve educational facilities in the colony. The following statistics are interesting: In the Primer and Kindergarten, there are 893 pupils overage, in Grade 1 1,390; Grade II 1,355; Grade III 1,019; Grade IV 1,975; Grade V, 1,295; Primary 576; Preliminary 640; Intermediate 278. The total percentage of overage pupils in all grades is 47.49. This points to a great deal being wrong with our educational system. We beg to thank the Deputy Minister of Education for the courtesy of a copy of the Report.

Bad German Salt.

COOKS AND HOUSEWIVES are advised to beware of bad German salt. "The Germans have found a way to pulverize rock salt into an imitation of refined table salt," said representatives of the Salt Manufacturer's Association. "At almost every port it is put into cartons and sold as British manufacture." "By using German salt a Cork curer spoils a large quantity of bacon. The Dublin Government analyst has reported that it contains magnesia in large quantities and is unfit for butter-making."

WEDDING CAKES. STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY. The Wedding Cake in the Marriage Ceremony occupies a central and altogether unique position and is rightly considered indispensable to the success of the function. It is peculiarly the Bride's Cake, and is an object of thoughtful care and concern. It must not be any ample in quantity and of the best quality, but also from an artistic point of view, worthy the occasion. STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY do not hesitate to claim for their Wedding Cakes a position unequalled for quality, artistic finish and good value. The materials used are the finest, and the workmanship is such as ensures complete satisfaction. It is to be understood that no matter what size cake may be ordered the quality of the materials used is the same. Birthday and Xmas Cakes a Specialty, PRETTILY ORNAMENTED. may 6, 10

RETIRING PRESIDENT HONORED.
 The St. Thomas's Women's Association held its last meeting for the season in Canon Wood Hall yesterday afternoon when the year's work was finalized, which showed gratifying results, and the ladies are to be congratulated on all they have accomplished. The Sale and Concert on Tuesday last was a grand success and great credit is due Mrs. William Knowling who arranged the latter. At the close of yesterday afternoon's meeting, Mrs. Tasker Cook, who retires from the office of President of the Association, was made a presentation, accompanied by an address, in which was expressed the good wishes and good-will of the members. Mrs. Cook was genuinely surprised and feelingly assured the members that it had been a great pleasure to her to have such pleasant workers during her term and said she would always help the Association in every way possible.

Report of the S. P. A. Inspector.

FROM MAY 1st to MAY 12th.
 Mr. Jonas Barter, Chief Agent of the S.P.A., between the above dates attended to the landing of two cargoes of cattle from the Sable I. (81 in all). Had one with broken leg taken away on a stretcher and slaughtered immediately. Examined nine hundred and seventeen (917) head of cattle on the Winifredian at the request of the Furness Withy Co. Attended to the landing of seven hundred and sixty-seven (767) head of cattle from the Oxonian. All watered and well fed. Saw steamer cleaned, limeed and disinfected. All cattle put on board with the exception of one which had its hip put out of place. Had the taken to the slaughter house and slaughtered. Captain and Agents spoke well of the work of the S.P.A. Shot two dogs and visited several stables. Had nine horses put off the street temporarily for treatment. Shot one horse which was past its labor. Also stopped some express drivers for hard driving on Saturday nights. Requested Road Inspector to have holes in the roads filled up, which they gladly did. Took charge of one mark and seal which were out on a very cold night, and placed them in a stable at owner's expense. Attended to the landing of 16 horses at the railway station, one in very poor condition—Official.

From Far and Near.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO WAR MEMORIAL FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA AND ENGLAND.
 Yesterday Padre Nangle received subscriptions from far and near. One came from Grand Forks, British Columbia, with the following verse:—"Think! Would you wish that he had stayed! Nay, rather thank the Lord that he rose to such height of chivalry!—That, with the head, his loyal soul swung like a needle to its pole;—That, setting duty first, he went at once, as to a sacrament." Another came from Lt. Col. Burton, who at one time commanded the 2nd Battalion, and is now residing in Donegal, Ireland. Col. Burton sends his kind regards to all old friends.

Schooner Reported.

The Shipping Department received the following wireless yesterday afternoon via Cape Race from the S.S. "Voualia," lat. 46.48 north, long. 52.02 west. "Passed schooner Ruby and Doory of St. John's, Nfld., 36 days from Gibraltar. Wished to be reported, 18.35 Greenwich time." The message was dated, evidently in error, April 12th and should no doubt have been May 12.

Home From London.

MR. M. S. SULLIVAN, M. H. A., TELLS OF CONDITIONS GENERALLY.
 Mr. M. S. Sullivan of St. John's, Nfld., accompanied by Mrs. Sullivan, arrived in town this morning en route home after a visit to London, says the North Sydney Herald, of May 9. They will sail by the Kyle tonight. Mrs. Sullivan went to London in January and Mr. Sullivan in March. They returned to Montreal last week by the C. P. O. S. Montreal, which Mr. Sullivan states is a magnificently fitted and comfortable boat. Before coming here they visited New York.

While in England Mr. Sullivan, who is one of the leading members of the Newfoundland Legislature, had the opportunity of meeting some of the most prominent men in England, besides Premiers and other statesmen from Australia who were in England, and he was able to obtain from them first-hand knowledge regarding some of the most serious problems facing the world to-day. He found things pretty dull in England, but the prevailing opinion is that, as regards the industries and trade of the country, the worst is over, and while recovery may be gradual the depression will not go any lower. When he left England, the opinion was general that a very great deal depended upon the Genoa Conference in regard stabilizing economic conditions in the world, and the cable despatches since have confirmed this and shown what importance is attached to the conference.

Mr. Sullivan is general sales agent for the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company, and in close touch with Commercial affairs in Newfoundland, thinks that the business of the Colony is on the up grade now, and that the worst of conditions are over, though as a leading member of the opposition, he of course thinks will depend upon how the government meets the grave problems facing the colony.

Producer Coming.

MOVIE MAN WILL SELECT LOCATIONS.
 Ernest Shipman, Canadian motion picture producer, will visit Newfoundland next month to select locations for the pictures which he will make here. No definite arrangements have been made by him in connection with the making pictures in this country. It is reported that David Wark Griffiths, world famous producer, will also come to Newfoundland this summer to "shoot" scenic effects.

Saints Elect Football Officers.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Saint Andrew's Athletic Association held last night the following officers of the football team were elected:—
 Captain—A. Elton.
 Vice-Captain—J. Young.
 Secretary—S. Lumsden.
 League Delegate—R. E. Innes.

Express Passengers.

The following passengers are on the incoming express, which left Port aux Basques yesterday, and is due early tomorrow morning:—A. N. Marshall, H. F. Haliburton, M. C. Sullivan, A. McLoughlin, Miss A. McLoughlin, G. Godenhead, A. M. Piper, Mrs. J. B. Har-dimann, Mrs. H. Frost and son, Mrs. M. Kilboye, H. W. Currie, B. Bayde, S. A. Knight, Mrs. E. Suley, Miss E. Morris, Mrs. G. Hitchcock, L. B. Downing, Mrs. H. Harris, A. House, M. A. White.

Personal.

Mr. L. A. Basha, of Norris' Arm, who had been in the city on an extended business trip, returns home by the express leaving town tomorrow. During his stay here, he was the guest of his brother, Mr. J. A. Basha, Shaws Lane. Mr. and Mrs. John Benson of Grates Cove, Bay de Verde, have returned home after spending a very pleasant winter with relatives and friends in Canadian and United States Cities. Mr. and Mrs. Benson left Newfoundland last October and during their trip abroad enjoyed many happy reunions with their children, all of whom have been very successful in their chosen professions.

Mr. A. Lawrence will sing a solo "Hosannah" (Ganter.) A short organ recital will be given at the close of the service by the Organist, Mr. Moacriet Mawer. During this recital Miss Marguerite Mitchell will render the solo "The Lord's Prayer" (Krebs).

Honey Bee's Sting Brought Death.

Harry Collier, a farmer, was working on his place at Pine Brook, N.J., on April 26, when he was stung on the right temple by a honey bee. He stumbled across to the farm house in a fainting condition, and collapsed in the kitchen after telling his wife what had happened. Before physicians could reach the farm, probably ten minutes after he had been stung, Collier was dead. It is thought the farmer died of apoplexy, caused by the shock of the insect's sting and a weak heart.

$10.00 Invested To-day Should Mean $1000 or More to You on Completion of Our Plans--READ

We are running this advertisement as an invitation to you to join our $10.00 Get Acquainted Club, so read what we have to say. WE HAVE TWO WELLS IN, AND HAVE OUR THIRD WELL STARTED. Our stock to-day is worth $3.00 per share, brokers are listing it at $1.50 to $2.35.

We are offering for new stockholders to join us and then investigate. Ten share NOW for $10.00, not more than 100 shares to any one person or more than 1000 shares to any one family at this $1.00 per share price.

10 SHARES $10. 50 SHARES $50. 100 SHARES $100.

Join us in this small way, then investigate our standing, our plans, etc., then, if you are satisfied, you can buy more stock at the prevailing price at that time. YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED, we will return your ten dollars on demand, if you make demand within thirty days from the time you send us the $10.00.

IS THAT NOT FAIR ENOUGH? COULD YOU ASK FOR MORE?

Our plans are to drill Ten Wells just as quick as money, labor and material can be assembled, and we honestly expect our stock to sell from $100.00 to $1000.00 a share as soon as our plans are carried out.

We are not a one well syndicate, but a thoroughly organized and going company, and expect to not only drill hundreds of wells as has been done by the Standard Oil Company, Sinclair Oil Company and others, but we expect to build our own pipe lines, and our own refineries and establish our own gasoline filling stations all over the country.

With these plans carried out your $10.00 invested to-day should be worth a THOUSAND DOLLARS, or more to you. Start right, in a small way, then satisfy yourself that you are in the right company, then increase your holdings, or get out if you are not satisfied.

TEN DOLLARS starts you on the road to success and wealth with us if you act now, to-day, at once. Inquiries invited.

Catalina Notes.

On St. George's night, April 24th the S.U.F. Society held a Concert and Social in the L.O.A. Hall. The Elliston Band being in attendance, some excellent selections were rendered. The ladies who assisted were: Mrs. Miffin, Misses Laura Miles, Anita Randell, Gladys Brushett, Maude Goodyear, Phyllis Haynes, Nellie Reid, Bertha Conway; J. Smith being the organist. The curtain rising at 8 o'clock the following programme was splendidly gone through:

Chairman's remarks—Robt. Guy.
Chorus—"Here we are again."
Band Selection.
Dialogue—"Leaving Jonah."
Song—"Fancies." J. M. Cloutier.
Recitation—J. Baldwin.
Band Selection.
Solo—Mrs. Miffin.
Dialogue—"Advertising for a Servant."
Song—"Dear Heart," Miss Reid.
Interval. Candy for sale.
Recitation—H. J. Torrville.
Duet—J. N. Cloutier and Mrs. Miffin.
Recitation—J. Baldwin.
Song—W. Pardy.

Band Selection.
Dialogue—"The Black Barber."
Chorus—"How are you going to wet your whistle?"
National Anthem.
I would like to make a few remarks on the manner each one performed their part. In "Leaving Jonah" the characters were:—Allen Seder—Miss Phyllis Haynes; Frank Ray—Eric Brushett; Joah—J. Baldwin; Oliver J. Jackson—Robt. Guy. "In Advertising for a Servant" the characters were: Mrs. Dignity—Miss Nellie Reid; Bertha Van Valkenstein. (Dutch)—Bertha Conway; June Ann O'Donovan (Irish)—Maude Goodyear; Aunt Dinah—R. Pierce. The black barber, was portrayed by Caesar—James Haynes; Pompey—E. Pierce; Jumbo—N. Mullins; Jericho, L. Collins; The Opera Manager—J. Russell. Each one rendered his part in an appropriate fashion. The recitations by J. Baldwin were no doubt well recited and acted and we may say cannot be beaten by any person. Also H. J. Torrville recitation being said in a stylish and clear tone. The singing was of the best and that rendered by N. J. Cloutier in his usual good way. Also Mrs. Miffin and Miss Reid their voices rang clear and sweet. W. Pardy's (comic song) was sung with great fashion and acted to the fullest extent. The Elliston brass band deserves great praise for their good music. At 11.30 o'clock supper was served and the sum of near $38.00 was raised in aid of the society. We are fully sure every one attending that concert certainly enjoyed each part.

Tablecloths past mending can be cut-up for traycloths, table napkins, sideboard slips, and these in turn will supply centres for d'oyles. Old bed-sheets can be used for dusters, and later, as odd cloths for household purposes. Towels, though worn in the centre, are still good for using as wash cloths and dishcloths, if cut in half and hemmed at the ends. Old linen should be kept for mending purposes, unless too much worn, in that case it can be put up for times of sickness. Woolen combinations, if badly shrunken, can be cut in half, a band inserted at the waist to lengthen them, and when they have served all purposes as garments they have still uses for cleaning-time as rubbers or polishing cloths.

My mouth to hold my teeth in place. And when I talk a funny sound. Like hissing comes out of my face; And there's a little screw back there Which can turn to make it tight. And he says it will be a year Before my teeth are fixed all right.

My Pa says not so long ago
Teeth just grew anyhow they could;
If they were bad, they didn't know
There was a way to make them good.
And that's why his buck tooth is plain
Cuz it was crowded out of line
And never could get back again,
But now I've got a band on mine.

When Jimmy first put his glasses on
The kid's all socked around to see
And he just let 'em, every one,
Look through 'em. Now they'll
Come to me
Cuz I've got something I can show
And talk about that's just as grand
As glasses are, I'd have 'em know,
Inside my mouth I've got a band.

JOKING BARRED.
My old friend Volstead looked so sad, I asked him, "Are you feeling b a d?" and he replied, "It's pretty raw, the way they joke about my law; I'm weary of the ribald jeers of journalists a n d pamphleteers, of tinhorn lawyers in the courts, and all the cheaper grades of sports. The Volstead law is too sublime to stir up laughter all the time." "Oh, slush," I answered. "likewise pshaw! I've backed you and your well known law. I've urged the people to shun their forty drops of spavin cure, and make your law a shining light by which to guide their steps aright. But if your law can't stand the graft, and shrivels when the people laugh, it will not do for mirthful skates who dwell in these United States. Your law with me has made a hit, and yet it is not Holy Writ; it is not sacred, you must own, like those famed tables made of stone. We are a jocund, jesting band, we people of this spangled land; and we must have our little flings; and when you write a heavy tome, or hand us out an epic poem, or frame a law forbidding sin, you must expect to see us grin; and if your law or poem or book or little jesting cannot brook, drag it away from joking souls and have a tinsmith patch the holes."

It is interesting to note that the Coldstream Guards, who have now returned to pre-war uniform, wear the colour and the badge which were first used in the British Army in the campaign of 1544 in France. It was that year that the scarlet uniform was first introduced in our army, bearing the badge of St. George's Cross. The Coldstreams retain both! The long hose worn in 1544 was red and blue, and so are the trousers of the Coldstreams today, the red taking the form of the narrow stripe on the blue cloth. At Poitiers and Agincourt the old English cry of 'St. George' rang in victory, and it is the Cross of St. George that the Coldstream Guards bear.

Methodist and Congregational bodies following the... of non-controversy, observed during the war. Since that time, the committee on Union, representing the three denominations, has met and passed the following resolution: "That a standing Committee on Law and Legislation be appointed to consider and report on the legislation necessary to give effect to the Union of the negotiating Churches and to have prepared copies of all proposed bills to be submitted to the Parliament of Canada, and to such other legislative bodies as may be necessary to the... to be submitted to a further meeting of this Committee, and further, that the Law and Legislation Committee have... the necessary legal assistance."

SCHEMES OF THE CHURCH. The Church Treasurer will be able to report having received the substantial sum of $1,071,728 during 1921 for what are termed the Schemes of the Church—such as Home and Foreign Missions, Pensions Funds, Church and Manse Fund, etc. Notwithstanding the financial depression this item shows an increase of nearly $12,000 over the budget receipts of 1920. Over against this relatively satisfactory evidence of generosity, there are good sized deficits, totaling in Home and Foreign Missions, $278,000, owing largely to the increased cost of operation. No expansion of the work, which is greatly needed—has been made during the past year, but, as has been said, there are open doors waiting on every hand and Macedonian cries are coming from many points in both home and foreign lands. A notable forward step taken a year ago to advance the minimum stipend of ministers to $1,800 a year and a manse for married ones, in meeting with the most encouraging response on the part of congregations, constituting a real achievement; financially as well as in the broader sense of recognizing a long overdue responsibility. Over 400 congregations have already reached the new minimum and the number is being steadily increased. This action will bring cheer and encouragement to many a manse. Among the subjects discussed a year ago and remitted to Presbyteries for their judgment, was the question of numerical representation in the Assembly, the frequency of Assembly meetings, and the centres where they should be held. At present, the full representation totals about 600; the Assembly meets annually and moves from centre to centre, all the way from Halifax to Vancouver. Some of the Presbyteries are advising that these questions be held in abeyance pending Union decisions and actions, while others advocate a substantial reduction in the representation.

AN INTERESTING STUDY. The Assembly itself is an interesting study in its entirety. It is temperamental, having its moods and tempers—and often its tense moods. It is moreover, a testing school for orators and arguers, where naturally, the fittest survive. It is difficult to "sell a proposition" to this earnest and thoughtful company of gentlemen without a satisfactory guarantee, and few there be who have ever succeeded in "putting anything over" the Presbyterian General Assembly. It will thus be seen that the Winnipeg Assembly will have its own importance to the followers of Knox and Calvin—not only to the members of this denominational family, because the Assembly interests itself for every corner of Canada and every type of member is represented. The responsibility of the elected representatives is great, when it is considered that they are dealing with the religious interests of fifteen per cent. of the total population of the country, covering 350,000 communicants, 200,000 families, as well as 12,000 elders.

Tarvia Prevents Dust; Tarvia Preserves Roads. In the United States and Canada Tarvia is the standard by which all other road-binders and preservatives are judged. Tarvia is made in three grades—"Tarvia X" for road construction, "Tarvia B" for preservation of road surface and "Tarvia K-P" for repairing roads. Both "Tarvia B" and "Tarvia K-P" have been used in St. John's Municipal works for several years. "Tarvia B" actually enters the road surface, acts as a cement and resists the tear and wear of traffic. By cementing together the dust particles "Tarvia B" prevents the formation of dust. After the application of "Tarvia B" to a road surface a thin layer of sand should be applied to take care of the excess liquid and to prevent tracking. This layer of sand will prevent horses from slipping and Automobiles from skidding and will prolong the life of the road surface. Broken stone is not as satisfactory or as economical as sand for this purpose. A road after being treated with "Tarvia B" does not become muddy in rainy weather, but sheds the water and dries off quickly after the rain, leaving the road in admirable condition while untreated roads are still deep with mud. "Tarvia B" surfacing should be applied annually but only when roads are in good condition and free from surplus dust. All holes and depressions should be repaired with fine broken stone and "Tarvia K-P." When "Tarvia B" is applied by mechanical sprinker, care should be taken to have men with brooms and hand sprinklers go over the ground which excess "Tarvia B" may be washed out and not allowed to run waste and so that bare spots be treated and the entire road surface secured. A loose, "happy-go-lucky" application is sheer waste of time and money, "whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well." "Tarvia B" is admirably adapted to the treatment of sidewalks and walks in parks, hospital grounds and cemeteries. Wooden plankings of bridges will last longer if treated with "Tarvia B." Fence posts, sills and houses etc., will be greatly benefited by treatment with "Tarvia B." Further particulars will be gladly given upon application. COLIN CAMPBELL LTD. may2, eod, tf

Does Giant Squid Explain Serpent Yarns?

Authority Tells of Peculiar Characteristics of Monster Sea Dweller and Deals With Serpent Stories.

(By A. B. KLUGH, in Canadian Fisherman.)

The belief in the existence of sea-serpents is of great antiquity. Aristotle, writing about B.C. 320, mentioned serpents on the coast of Libya, which upset vessels, Pliny tells of some encountered in the Persian Gulf which were thirty feet in length, and among the Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Finns the existence of a sea-monster of prodigious size, known as the Kraken, was believed in for many centuries.

Coming to comparatively recent times we have numerous records of the appearance of sea-serpents. Egged, known as the "Apostle of Greenland" says, "On 6th July, 1734, there appeared a very large and frightful sea monster, which raised itself so high out of the water that its head reached our main-top. It had a long, sharp snout, and spouted water like a whale; and very broad flippers. The lower part was formed like a snake. After some time the creature plunged backwards into the sea, and then turned its tail up above the surface, a whole ship's length from the head." In 1809, Mr. McLean, the minister of Edg, in the Western Isles of Scotland, said that he had seen, off the Isle of Canna, a great animal which chased his boat as he hurried ashore to escape it, and that it was also seen by the crews of thirteen fishing boats, who were terrified that they fled to the nearest creek for safety. In 1817 a huge marine animal, having the appearance of a serpent and variously estimated to be from fifty to one hundred feet in length, was reported from Gloucester Harbour, Mass. In May, 1823, a party of British officers crossing Margate Bay, off the coast of Nova Scotia, saw at a distance of two hundred yards, "the head and neck of some denizen of the deep, precisely like that of a common snake in the act of swimming" and estimated its length at eighty feet. Three residents of Christiansand, Norway, in 1847, reported a marine animal "about six fathoms long, the body as round as a serpent's, and two feet across." In 1848 the captain, and some of the officers of H.M.S. Daedalus, saw in the Atlantic "an enormous serpent, with head and shoulders kept about four feet above the surface of the sea, sixty feet of the body being visible, the body being about sixteen inches in diameter, dark brown in colour and yellowish-white about the throat." In 1857 the captain of the Castilian reported a sea-serpent with a head eight feet in diameter seen off St. Helena. In 1875 the officers and crew of the bark Pauline saw a sperm whale which was gripped around the body with a huge serpent. When swimming the Serpents propel themselves backwards by the out-rush of a stream of water from the siphon, a tube which points in the contrary direction to that in which the animal is going. The tail, therefore, goes in advance and the body tapers towards this. They swim at the surface in calm weather, and it is noteworthy that practically all accounts of the appearance of sea-serpents refer to the fact that this was the condition of the weather. The arrow-like tail is raised out of the water, and as it precedes the rest of the body, moving at the rate of several miles an hour, it, of course, looks to a person who has never heard of an animal going tail-first at such a speed, like the creature's head. The appearance of this "head" varies in accordance with the lateral fins being seen in profile or in showing more or less of their flat expanse. The elongated tubular body gives the idea of a long neck, and the upper tentacles floating in undulations behind, resemble a serpentine body, while the excurrent stream, pouring aft from the siphon, is readily mistaken for an indefinite prolongation of the body.

In view of these facts it seems altogether probable, if not practically certain, that the Giant Squid is the animal which has for ages figured as the "sea-serpent."

Imagination or Reality.

The above are some of the reported appearances of sea-serpents, of which there are many more, but those mentioned are typical. Now is there, or is there not, such an animal? Opinion is much divided on the matter. First, there are those who scoff at the idea, and who deride all such reports as due to an over-active imagination or as fabrications. But before we adopt such an attitude we must bear in mind that the persons who have made these reports were men accustomed to the usual sights of the sea, and that they were men of integrity and sincerity. Next, there are those who believe that such an animal exists, and that it is one of the huge reptiles, such as Plesiosaurs, which has survived in the depths of the ocean since the secondary geological period. Such a theory cannot be banished as an impossibility, but the probabilities are strongly against it in view of the fact that no remains of any of these animals occur in the rocks of more recent geological periods, and neither have any remains been cast up on the shores of any of the oceans. Thirdly, there is the view of Dr. Oudemans that it is a huge mammal closely allied to Zeuglodon of the tertiary period, which had a small head, long neck and more or less whale-like body. This idea, it must be remarked, is founded on the sum of the recorded appearances of sea-serpents, and not on any specimens or remains. Finally, there are those who believe that all the records of sea-serpents can be accounted for by the appearance and habits of some known animal.

Some of the records are, in all probability, founded on the well-known habit of porpoises of swimming in lines, and leaving from the water, thus furnishing the vertical undulations which suggested serpentine motion, though it must be noticed that the movement of the body of a snake is from side to side and not up and down.

Giant Squid the Explanation.

The animal, however, which undoubtedly forms the basis of most of these records is the Giant Squid. In early days the existence of these creatures was unknown, and Perrett, describing a voyage made in 1763-4, is apparently the first to mention these gigantic cuttle-fish. The Danish naturalist Steenstrup in 1847 described a Squid with a body twenty-one feet long and tentacles eighteen feet in length. In 1881 the French steamer Albatron encountered a Squid with a body from sixteen to eighteen feet long near Tenerife, and the crew succeeded in roping it, but the rope cut through the body near the hinder end and only the tail was secured. Since that time many spec-

Grandmother came to this House a Bride

SHE came into it perhaps 60 years ago, she enriched it with all the romance of youth, the experience of maturity and, thanks to its wonderful preservation, she was permitted to spend the evening of her life amid the old familiar walls.

And to-day it still stands—a trifle old-fashioned in architecture perhaps—but in every essential, a home rich in memories and a silent tribute to the wisdom of protection against decay.

THE TIRESOME THANKER.

It is a very difficult thing to give thanks gracefully. It is even more difficult, I think, to receive them gracefully.

We have all heard of people who hated to be thanked for anything. Doubtless they thought that feeling was due to modesty. But was it? Wasn't it rather a confession of their own social inability. To be able to receive thanks gracefully, without appearing smug or embarrassed should be as much a part of one's social equipment as the ability to eat one's soup without making a noise, or to enter a room without stumbling over the furniture.

However I think we all have preferences about the way thanks should be given.

For myself I hate anyone who keeps thanking me. If I entertain a friend for a week-end in the country or take her on a drive, I hate her keeping thanking me all the time she is with me.

The Guest Who Notices.

That does not mean that I don't like to have a guest express pleasure and appreciation. Who doesn't love that? To have one's home, the

First Doctors— Then a Skin Specialist— Then a Bottle of D.D.D.

I will consider it a favor if you allow me to add my testimonial to many hundreds you no doubt have read of the great results of the D.D.D. Prescription. I was suffering for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried or four different doctors and none of them did me any good. I got trying their remedies. I then went to a skin specialist but he was no better than the other. I was reading a Sunday paper and happened to see your ad. I am very glad that I saw it. I secured a trial bottle of D.D.D. and it did me so much good that I sent for a dollar bottle, also a box of soap. That is all I used and I am perfectly well. I have advised several others to use it and they have been the same. You are worthy to use my name for I used D.D.D. the best remedy in use.

KEARNEY'S.

Electrical Inspector Needed.

Dear Sir.—With your permission I would like to make a few comments on the letter of your correspondent, "Fuse" in your issue of the 10th inst. on fires caused by defective wiring. While it is true that many fires are blamed on the wiring which is due to their causes, it is hardly correct to blame the housekeeper, shopkeeper, etc., for tampering with the wires. Your correspondent "Fuse" states that these people tamper with the wires in order to get "leads" for electric irons, percolators, sewing machines, etc. Now any person who is at all familiar with electric lighting here, knows that these articles are on the "lighting wires" and can be attached to an ordinary socket, therefore there is no necessity to get a "lead" to operate irons, percolators, etc. "Fuse" speaks on the manner in which electricity is installed. He should know it is the wiring that is installed, and not electricity. "Fuse" also suggests that an expert should be employed to deliver lectures on the subject; in my opinion the proper remedy is to appoint an "Electrical Inspector," electric wiring cannot be done by everybody, and with an inspector, the capable electrician would be placed in the position he belonged.

Rumors of fires caused by defective wiring have a tendency to prevent people from using electricity in their homes, etc. with a consequent injury to the business; past experience has shown, that while many fires were blamed on defective wiring, a proper investigation proved that the wiring was in no way to blame for it. Such may be the cause of the Martin-Royal Stores Hardware fire.

"Fuse" refers in rather a slipshod manner to stand in the bath and grab the electric light and you won't be long before you get your little wings, or "shovel," that is a very serious matter to treat lightly. I may say that a citizen was killed last year whilst in the act of handling a socket. My advice to the public, be sure you turn on your electric light before getting in the bath, and further, keep the other hand clear from iron pipes or any metallic material, that may be in close proximity to the light you are turning on. It is true Electricity is a great boon to mankind, but the wiring and fitting must be installed properly. With this, Mr. Editor, I will close with the "slogan" Prevention is a good foundation to work on, therefore let us have an "Electrical Inspector".

Yours truly,
GROUND WIRE.

"Love's Penalty" Scores at the Crescent.

ABUNDANCE OF ACTION IS STRONG. As predicted, the tremendously big photoplay "Love's Penalty" went over with a bang at the Crescent Theatre last night. The audience expressed their delight by their hearty applause. Seldon has a picture been received with such a reception as was tendered this play. The picture had all the "pep" that is required to give it the immense entertainment value it contained. The action of the story started right from the very beginning and there was no "let up" until the final sub-title, commonly called "the end." The star of the plot is Hope Hampton, who plays a difficult role to perfection. She is ably supported by a strong supporting cast.

Another attraction of the same programme, which is equally as good as the picture is the beautiful singing by Miss Betty Donn, who delighted all with her well-rendered selections, "Loch Lomond" and "Don't Leave Me Mammy." This bill is being repeated to-night, when any who did not see it yesterday will have another opportunity of doing so.

Masquerading Count on the Riviera.

Visitors to a well-known hotel near Monte Carlo lately were impressed by the hall porter's appearance and exquisite manners. His arrest brought an amusing story to light. Colonel Sergius Chatinsky of the Imperial Russian Army, lately serving with the anti-Bolshevik Commander, Denikin, went to France on an official mission. When Denikin's career ended, Chatinsky took a room at a hotel on the Riviera and led a gay life. He lost his fortune at bacara, and obtained a post as hall porter at the very hotel where he had been living. Unfortunately, before starting on his humble career, he cashed a cheque which was dishonored. Hence his arrest.

A show like "Cotton's Patch" comes only once a lifetime. Don't miss it.

New Type of Engine for Revillon.

The well known fur and trading company, known as Revillon Freres Trading Co., Ltd., have purchased a wooden deadweight schooner of 400 tons deadweight capacity, now under construction at Liverpool, N.S. This vessel will be used to take supplies to the Company's trading posts in the Arctic, and will be away about four months on this service. She will be installed with a Densil semi-diesel engine of 100 H. P., which should give her a speed of seven or eight knots.

The Densil is a new engine to Canadian experience, and is being placed on the market by a firm in Montreal. It is of the two cycle, low compression type, and this particular model will operate on a consumption of about six gallons of crude oil per hour, which will certainly make this vessel a very economical job to run.

That this engine has been chosen for such a strenuous service, which entails a strict schedule with no allowance for delays, is a distinct compliment to the Danish makers.

The Tables Turned.

"Please, ma'am, father's sent me round to say that your dog Towzer's killed three of his prize Cochins this afternoon," announced an apple-faced youth to the elderly maiden lady.

The lady held up her hands in horror.

"Towzer," she said, "couldn't do such a thing! Go and tell your father that he must have made a mistake."

"But father saw him with one of the chickens in his mouth, madam."

"Tell your father circumstantial evidence has led many a wiser man astray," sniffed the lady. "Run away and do as I tell you now!"

The boy returned, three minutes later, and he struggled with an ear-to-ear smile.

"Father's compliments, madam, and perhaps you're right," he said. "He says that I'm to tell you that circumstantial evidence would point to the fact that he shot your dog two minutes ago, but on going into the matter he thinks that perhaps you'd find that the poor thing died of nervous prostration."

Two Smiles From Afar.

A white man was lost in a Nigerian forest which was known to be frequented by dangerous savages.

At length he saw a light in the distance gleaming through the trees, and as he crept cautiously towards it he heard voices.

"If you go nap on a blanketly hand like that," said one voice, "you can't blanketly well be surprised," and so on.

"Thank heaven!" exclaimed the poor wanderer. "Christians!"

There are many good stories in "Up Against It in Nigeria," from which the above is taken. Here's another:—

There was a Scot named Thompson who, when the author mentioned a friend of his by name, exclaimed: "Oh, that ass!"

"Have you ever met the man?" he was asked.

"No," said Thompson. "But he must be an ass if he is out in this rotten country."

Cakes may be ornamented by sprinkling over the soft icing a bit of finely cut yellow and green candied fruit.

POLITICS IN THE PULPIT.

"City, faint not; either Truth is born Beyond the polar gleam forlorn, Or in the gateway of the morn."

Two, at least, of our city clergymen—one in the East, the other in the West End—have recently been very candid in their utterances on certain phases of the Prohibition Act and the liquor question generally. As a natural result, some unkind and irritating things are being said of them by friends and dependents of certain persons prominent in the public life of the country. I do not regard this as quite fair to our clerical fellow-citizens, seeing that they have just as much right to renounce on such matters as have we of the laity. As the minister of religion is pre-eminently the friend and father of the people, he cannot be indifferent to any of the social, political, and economic questions affecting the interests and happiness of the colony.

EVLIS OF POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

The relations of Church and State, the duties and prerogatives of the citizen, the evils of political corruption and usurpation, the labor privileges and obligations of labor and capital, the ethics of trade and commerce, popular amusements, temperance, female suffrage, socialism, and anarchy—such are vital, and often burning questions, on which hinge the peace and security of the community. Politics has a moral as well as a civil aspect. The clergyman is a social as well as a religious reformer, a patriot as well as a preacher, and he knows that the permanence of our civil institutions rests on the intelligence and the virtue of the people. He has at heart the temporal as well as the spiritual prosperity of those committed to his care. They naturally look up to him as a guide and teacher. His education, experience, and sacred character give weight to his words and example.

OUR SPIRITUAL DIRECTORS AND THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES.

Take the spiritual directors of the denominations here to-day, and I think it will be found that they measure up, fairly well, to the requirements of the onerous and exacting positions they occupy. They appreciate the fact that there is scarcely a social or economic movement of reform on foot, no matter how extravagant or Utopian, that has not some element of justice to recommend it to popular favor. If the scheme is abandoned to the control of fanatic demagogues, or if it will reduplicate the masses and involve them in greater misery. Such living topics need discriminating judges to separate the wheat from the chaff. And who is more fitted to handle these questions than the deity's ambassador, whose conservative spirit frowns upon all intemperate innovations, and whose Christian sympathies prompt him to advocate for his suffering brethren just measures for the redress of grievances and the mitigation of needless misery?

EFFECT OF TEMPERATE AND REASONABLE DISCUSSION.

Obviously, then, the timely interposition of the minister of peace might have helped to check many a disastrous popular inundation by watching its course, and diverting it into a safe channel before it overspread the country. Nor can it be affirmed that the temperate and reasonable discussion of these problems, or at least those phases of them that present a religious or moral aspect, involves any departure from evangelistic and apostolic precedent. There is hardly a subject of public interest that has not been alluded to, if not discussed, by Christ or His Apostles. Yes, the province of the preacher is exceeding broad, and no right-thinking person will sympathize with those who would banish politics from the pulpit.

TOUCHING THE THEORY OF GOVERNMENT.

Let me say just here that I am hoping to see the masses of the near future—I mean the people generally—better qualified to appreciate the theory of government, and an hopes to see the time come when our children will be taught the basis of Government, when, for the use of our schools there will be provided a dictionary of every public office from the executive head—His Excellency the Governor—to the youngest clerk in the white service. Were the children to have defined to them the meaning, purpose, function of every office in the island, such knowledge would be a serious appeal to a large number who would take a more intelligent interest in every bearing of civil life. It occurs to me that a dictionary should be brought out at once for our schools and for our libraries, so that the status of the Governor, cost of maintenance, the extent of his executive authority and responsibility to the Cabinet; the meaning of Responsible Government; its executive authority; the Legislative Council, its meaning and its legislative power; the functions of the many officers of the Dominion; the House of Assembly, modes of procedure, a definition of its functions; the Municipal Council, corporate control in any direction; the names of the several officers, their functions, administration and limits of authority; a clear definition of rating and revenue taxation, the meaning and resources of the various funds, powers of borrowing and purchasing; the banking system; names and meaning of every institution, every public body—a terse and clear definition of Self-Government, so that each child, instead of learning the history of the success or failure of Sir Herbert Murray or Sir Henry McCallum, shall rather be taught the present and practical meaning of our institutions and of effective administration of the same.

URGENT NEED OF A LABOR BUREAU.

It is very evident from the unrest and dissatisfaction manifested here for some time past by the toiling masses, that we want, and must have, a Ministry of Labor as a department of the Government, part of whose duty it shall be to exercise a controlling force in the matter of adjusting the difficulties brought about by intermittent employment; such department, of course, receiving all possible assistance from the trade societies. The growing necessity for this has been sufficiently emphasized by those recent demonstrations in Bannerman Park and elsewhere. The dovetailing of interests between the classes and masses could be considerably accelerated if we had a department always obtaining statistics and using them to the advantage of the working community, which may yet come to be anonymous with the welfare of the country at large. Politically, our workmen are not likely to be long connected with either of the two parties; complete independence is absolutely requisite for success. It is a case of hold both at arms length, beg from neither, but quickly and effectively through the agency of the Labor organization, bring pressure to bear wherever it is most wanted.

PLAN OF A GREAT EMPLOYER.

By the way, I notice that Henry Ford, head of the great Ford Motor Company, of Detroit, U.S.A., has just announced an excellent plan to meet the exigencies of the demand for labor there. He says that "for six months he has been studying the problem of providing employment for several thousand of Detroit's idle workers, and to afford workers already on the payroll more time to spend with their families, the Company and its allied interests will adopt, as a settled policy, the 40-hour week, the workers now in the service to continue to receive a minimum wage of 6 per day and new employees $5 per day. A minimum of $5 per day was the wage-scale established in 1914 by Henry Ford, and that it was, during the war period that this was raised to $6 to enable employees to meet higher living costs. Approximately 55,000 men, according to Edsel Ford, will be affected by the new order, while some 5,000 additional employees already have been taken on. The management believes that with more leisure the workers will be more contented and that there will be a corresponding increase in efficiency. Certainly, as the Boston Financial News predicts, "the working out of this latter intention will be watched with considerable interest, if not concern, by all other employers of large numbers of workmen." A few of the American editors recall the widespread scoffing, and the prediction that Ford would suffer financial collapse, upon his radical departure from common practice almost a decade ago. "Yet," observes the Louisville Courier-Journal, "it was after he announced an astonishing and seemingly impractical wage-scale that he made his greatest success."

"THE LAND THAT GOD GAVE CAIN."

In his new book on "Labrador," William Brooks Cabot, the American explorer, I notice, points out that this isolated, elemental country (he said Labrador) which Jacques Cartier unkindly christened "the land that God gave Cain," may yet be known as "the last of the far countries." What bearing this fact is likely to have on the settlement of the so-called "Boundary Question" I am not at present prepared to say. At all events, most other regions of the earth left to the hunter races are being fast invaded. Apparently in blissful ignorance of the fact that Labrador is still the greatest fishing and sealing country in the world, he tells us—and doubtless, he believes what he says—that "for six months he has been studying the problem of providing employment for several thousand of Detroit's idle workers, and to afford workers already on the payroll more time to spend with their families, the Company and its allied interests will adopt, as a settled policy, the 40-hour week, the workers now in the service to continue to receive a minimum wage of 6 per day and new employees $5 per day. A minimum of $5 per day was the wage-scale established in 1914 by Henry Ford, and that it was, during the war period that this was raised to $6 to enable employees to meet higher living costs. Approximately 55,000 men, according to Edsel Ford, will be affected by the new order, while some 5,000 additional employees already have been taken on. The management believes that with more leisure the workers will be more contented and that there will be a corresponding increase in efficiency. Certainly, as the Boston Financial News predicts, "the working out of this latter intention will be watched with considerable interest, if not concern, by all other employers of large numbers of workmen." A few of the American editors recall the widespread scoffing, and the prediction that Ford would suffer financial collapse, upon his radical departure from common practice almost a decade ago. "Yet," observes the Louisville Courier-Journal, "it was after he announced an astonishing and seemingly impractical wage-scale that he made his greatest success."

UNFISHED RIVERS AND GLORIOUS LAKES.

There (on Labrador) Mr. Cabot will still find clear, unfished rivers, glorious lakes, and "nowhere" are such wilderness hills as those of the semi-barren, velvet, to the feet and fair to the eye. The troubles, says Mr. Cabot, with much of the interior in its little soil, "if there were enough soil," he adds, "almost the whole table land would be forested high." Apparently, the appeal of Labrador to the author of that book was less climatic than ethnological; he found the people "worth while," and not less worth while in his account of the Indians, "whose hospitality and friendliness are so notable." Mr. Cabot has yet to learn much about Labrador, its people and resources—quite enough to furnish data for even a larger volume than the one to which I here and now refer.

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

Those recent wonderful achievements in connection with the wireless transmission of music, etc., remind us that "there is nothing new under the sun." For a time interest in the wireless telephone was confined to a few ardent scientists who talked a jargon that failed to arouse any enthusiasm with the ordinary mortal. Then the small boy suddenly discovered he could have a world of fun with "radio" telephones. Presently the small boy's elders became interested. Yes, women and children caught the wireless fever, as a result to-day there are in the United States over 600,000 persons who own apparatus with which to receive wireless messages. It is curious to examine the many inventions which we deem novelties, but which are in reality very old. The ancients knew of the lightning-conductor or, at all events, the method of attracting the lightning. The Celtic soldiers in a storm used to lie down on the ground, first lighting a torch, and planting their naked swords in the ground by their side with the point upwards. The lightning often struck the point of the sword and passed away into the water without injuring the warrior. The Romans, also, seem to have known the lightning-rod, though they let their knowledge slip again into oblivion. On the top of the highest tower of the Castle of Duino, on the Adriatic, there was set, from time immemorial, a long rod of iron. In the stormy weather of summer it served to predict the approach of the tempest. A soldier was always stationed by it when the sea showed any threatening of a storm. From time to time he put the point of his long javelin close to the rod. Whenever a spark passed between the two pieces of iron he rang a bell to warn the fishermen. Gerbert (Hugh Capet), in the tenth century, invented a plan for diverting lightning from the field by planting in it long sticks tipped with very large lance heads.

INVENTIONS AND DISCOVERIES OF BYGONE DAYS.

In 1682 France was already in possession of street-cars. The Romans sank Artesian wells, even in Sahara. The plains of the Lebanon and Palmyra were artificially irrigated; traces of the wells and canals are still being found. In 1855 Papi published an account of an experiment made by one of his friends, named Wilde, who caused flowers to be grown instantaneously. The secret lay in preparation of the ground, but it was not revealed. The message is very ancient practice, and was known to the Romans. Nor were the doctors of those days as far behind us as some people imagine. Paracelsus, in his "Opera Medica," speaks of Homoeopathy, and says that life is cured by like and not contrary by contrary. "Natura's Herald," he says, "shows this, and like things seek and desire each other." Polybius also speaks of healing by similarity. Miraprus used arsenic in infinitesimal doses as a remedy for intermittent fever. In China Camouls Indica was used pretty generally as a sedative, 230 years before our era.

WHEN OUR ANCESTORS WERE SAVAGES.

Then again, look at the much-depised Arabs of to-day. They used aloes and camphor as we do; this they did away back in history, when our British ancestors clothed themselves in skins, lived in mud huts and caves, and worshipped Britannia. The apertures, the probe, the forage, were known in the year 500; indeed, specimens of them have been found in the ruins of Pompeii, and are preserved in the National Museum at Naples. Aristotle noticed that seawater could

The Store That Shipped the Tea.

LONDON.—In Gracechurch Lane, an obscure byway just outside one of London's busiest commercial centers, American tourists may see over a grocer's store the "Sign of the Crown and Three Gift Sugar Leaves" that marks the location of the shop whence the tea was shipped in 1773 that ultimately went overboard in Boston Harbor during the world's famous tea party. Only the sign, which was but recently restored and which bears in big gold numerals "1750," the year the firm was established is suggestive of remote times. The grocer's shop, conducted by descendants of the firm's founders, over which the sign hangs, is now housed in a modern brick building. Inside nothing distinguishes the place from thousands of similar places of business.

Cut Your Fuel Bills 1/3

You should know how important it is to weather strip your house and buildings. Weatherstrips keep out cold and actually save one third of your fuel expense. Fuel is so high now and there is very little chance that its cost will come down soon. It is too expensive to waste. Not only can you keep out cold by installing Ceco Metal Weatherstrips, but your home is kept free from dust, dirt and soot, and the disturbance of street noises.

Ceco Metal Weatherstrips are economically installed, they last as long as the building. They are always there when needed and are easy to handle. No matter whether your home is in the process of construction or old as the hills, let us show you without obligation the conveniences and effectiveness of the most practical weather-stripe on the market.

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!

And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes.

It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.

LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.

Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.

Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roast.

Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.

The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?
