Effect of Earthquakes on Public Health.

It is said, by those whose position qualifies them to know, that there has been a general improvement in the general health of San Francisco since the earthquake occurred. The statements are that there is an unadmitted fact that a great many men and women who were in poor health before the shock, with bad appetites and defective digestion, are now eating all they can get and digesting it without trouble, while the mental constitution which so often accompanies the dyspeptic state, has equally improved.

The explanation is made so simple as it is rational. Many of these people were fortunately deprived of their drains, alcohol and luxuries; they had nothing but simple food as they were compelled to take exercise in the open air to get it. The men he found it possible to live without cigars or whiskey and the ladies without candy. They have cooked their simple meals in the streets, to the better ventilation of their houses; for the lack of light they have gone to bed early, with the compensation that they have risen with the lark. They have had the enforced benefits of a sanitarium and good health is the result.

Frederick Dixon was working at Windsor Junction for a man by the name of West. When the week's work was done, his employer gave him a cheque for seven dollars, which Dixon took into Halifax and got cashed, and that night was arrested by the Halifax police and kept in prison until the following Tuesday, charged with altering or erasing some words on the cheque. When Dixon was up for examination he was honorably acquitted, as there was no case against him. Somebody must have blundered when a man is deprived of his freedom and cast into prison for nothing, and his name published far and near in the Halifax papers.

The exhibit from the Province of Alberta that is on its way to the Dominion Exhibition at Halifax, extends 30 feet by 30 feet and will thus require a space of 900 square feet. The Saskatchewan exhibit will occupy 500 square feet. To accommodate these, so great is the crush in all departmental offices the Commission will erect a special structure. These exhibits from the newest Canadian Province will prove of exceeding interest. Splendid exhibits are also coming from the West Indies.

The entries for the Horse Races closed on Monday, September 10th, and show that a magnificent field of horses for the Speed Competition will be seen on the first Exhibition Track. That everyone in Nova Scotia who wishes to visit the Dominion Exhibition may do so the rates of travel during the two weeks of the Exhibition have been put down to a mere fraction of the ordinary charge. For instance, on Extension Days a visitor from St. John on the D. A. R. may come to Halifax for $4.00, and if by the I. C. R. for $1.75, which also admits to the grounds. If from the Sydney's, the charge, including admission to the grounds, will be only $3.25 from Yarmouth and return $3.00; Amherst $1.75; Truro $1.15; from Victoria $1.50 from Antigonish $2.00. These are given as sample rates—all other rates are equally low. On days other than the Extension of which there will be four on the I. C. R., and four on the D. A. R., the rate will be only one fare or less for the return journey.

The Grand Standard opens for Saturday, the opening days will be the Horse Show in the afternoon with the splendid Van-Ville and Spectacular "Carnival of Venice" and fireworks at night.

If in need of helping accommodation write to or call on W. J. Butler, the Dominion Exhibition Bureau, 160 Hollis street.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is the only medicine that cures. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, 75 cents. Fake Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CLARENCE.

The Ladies' Missionary Aid Society of this place entertained the Aid Societies of Paradise and Port Lorne on Tuesday of last week. The meeting, had been postponed from Monday on account of the rain, was well attended and of great interest. A very enjoyable program was given by the ladies of Paradise. Tea was served for the services at the close of the afternoon service. Rev. H. H. Saunders presided at the evening meeting. A paper on the work of the Mission Bands was read by Mrs. Maynard Brown of Lawrencetown. The principal address of the evening was given by Miss Ida Newcomb, of Lawrencetown. The subject of her address was A Day in Bonares and it was listened to with great interest. Collections were taken at both meetings amounting to over $20.

Miss Laura Kimee of Yarmouth, is the guest of Miss Etta Elliott.

Mrs. F. W. Ward and Miss Ruth Ward left last Thursday for a trip to St. John and Margerville, N. B. Atwood R. Banks and Fred E. Banks returned on Friday from a trip south.

Mrs. H. D. Woodbury, of Kingston, has been visiting at G. H. Jackson's, R. Lawrence Spurr, of Clarence, who has been spending the past three weeks in Boston, arrived home Wednesday. He was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Barclay LeC. Spurr, of Lynn.

Lane Back

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proven especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Luke LaGrange of Orange, Mich., says of it after using a plaster and other remedies for three weeks for a bad lane back, "I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and two applications effected a cure." For sale by W. A. Warren, P. M., B.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Dear Sirs,—I had a Bleeding Tumor on my face for a long time and tried a number of remedies without any good results, and I was advised to try MINARD'S LINIMENT, and after using several bottles it made the tumor quite cured, and it healed all up and disappeared altogether. DAVID HENDERSON, Belleisle Station, Kings Co., N. B. Sept. 17, 1904.

Three Nights in a Dory

After suffering the most terrible hardships, John McKay and Aubrey Gridley, two well known inhabitants, belonging to St. John, Capt. R. B. Porter, of Gloucester, reached land at Belle Isle on Aug. 19, having been astray for three days and nights in their dory. Both men were in bad shape and nearly gone when they reached the shore, but have since recovered.

The vessel was fishing on Baccara Bank for up on the coast of Labrador and 150 miles off Belle Isle. No more dangerous spot to fish can be imagined, with its sudden fogs, swift tides and icebergs.

The men got astray during a fog on August 16 and were unable to find their vessel again. They were without food and water, and to add to their perils a heavy wind and rain storm came on and they had all they could do to keep their dory on top of water. They had a sail and compass, and being very experienced men, lost no time in finding themselves astray in taking the only chance for life by baying for land, hoping to reach it before their strength gave out.

The heavy storm made their chance a rough and desperate one, but they kept to it, and by almost constant bailing succeeded in keeping afloat. The cold weather and lack of food and water began to tell on them and the morning of the 18th, found themselves nearly used up and almost helpless. With a determination and desperation born of despair, their weary hands still kept the dory on her course and in the afternoon the sight of land brought joy to their hearts for they knew then that they were safe. They had sailed a true course. They landed at four o'clock in the evening and were well cared for. They had suffered terrible hardships and would not have been able to have survived another day.

Teething Time.

Every mother dreads that period in her baby's life known as teething time. The baby is restless, irritable and fretful; the child suffers greatly, and is so cross and irritable that the whole household is on edge. All this is changed in homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used. This medicine always affords relief, softens the swollen tender gums, brings the teeth through painlessly. In proof Mrs. W. B. McCoy Dunbligh, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets a splendid medicine at teething time. My baby was very cross and fretful, was cross, restless and had no appetite. After giving her the tablets there was a marked improvement on it, and in the course of a few days she was not like the same child. The tablets are just the medicine to give little ones, over the teething time." You can get Baby's Own Tablets from any druggist or by mail for 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A dead whale was towed into Deep Cove the other day. It had no other wound than that of a charge of common shot, lodged a little above the snout hole. A small affair to finish a creature like that.

The Bank of Yarmouth

The commitment for trial of Senator Lovitt and S. A. Crowell, President of Yarmouth, on a charge of making false and deceptive returns to the Government is an event of importance and furnishes evidence, so far as it goes, of one of the ways by which the management of banks may deceive the public. The particular method adopted in the current loan column of returns which ought to have appeared in the auditing column. There is no evidence that any other bank has done anything of the sort, but the disquieting feature in this case is that the fact was apparently not discovered until after the bank's failure. Naturally the question arises, Why was it not previously discovered by the Government inspectors? In the absence of government inspectors it is only fair to assume that the failure followed too quickly to permit of this being done.

But even in such case it remains that time enough elapsed to wrong depositors. The bill holders are secured of course by the provisions of the Banking Act; it is the depositors who suffer as well as the share holders. Without contentious it may be pointed out that the insurance companies have been subjected to loss and damage upon original suspicious a better foundation should be a general demand for a Banking Commission investigation based upon this disclosure alone.

At 8 o'clock Monday evening, in a thick fog, Norwegian steamer Alma, from Louisbourg to St. John, with 4,000 tons of coal, struck on Gall Ledge, east side of Baccara, about a mile from the light, where she now lies in a dangerous position with the forward compartment full of water. The crew landed in boats and are now being cared for at Baccara. The ship will likely be a total wreck.

Blueberries are selling in the Boston market at 14 and 16 cents. Market is very firm. Last Thursday the D. A. R. steamer Prince George had 206 crates.

On Wednesday of last week, J. Homer Deane, photographer, Barrington was found dead in his garden. He was a son of the late S. Deane Deane and unmarried. Mr. Frank Deane of the Truro News, is a first cousin. His death was due to natural causes.

The general conference of the Methodist church of Canada is called to meet in Montreal from September 12 to Oct. 4 this year. The D. A. R. will issue one day rates on through issue of tickets should there be ten or more delegates from points along their line.

The Coast Guard says: "A year old child of Clarence Cox, South Side, was drowned in a wash tub partly full of water on Wednesday of last week. It had been out doors but a short time, and when its mother who had been busy with her housework, went to look for it she discovered it had drowned in the tub, which had been placed near the well."

THE HOUSEHOLD

CHILD'S PLAY TABLE.

CAN BE TURNED FROM TABLE TO SAND BOX.

Invented by a clever kindergarten teacher in Little More Than Four Feet Long, Two and a Half High and of Lesser Width.

An ingenious play table for children which has been adopted by many kindergartens in this country and even in Germany is the recent invention of Miss Frances A. Greenlaw, a young kindergarten teacher of Marinette, Wis. It saves space and time, serves as well in an ordinary nursery as in the school-room and amuses the little folk by its very capacity of transformation. The table is a little more than four feet long, two and a half feet high and of lesser width. The varnished top is ruled in squares, helpful in dressmaking, painting colored papers, designing and exercises in measurement. When the small students weary of such lessons, the top is tipped over on its hinges, off regardless of the dolls that crash headlong to earth, and a large box of white sand is disclosed. This slight usually evokes the enthusiastic murmur of song, and then the children ply their spades in the hope of finding pearls or sunken ships. The wise teacher sees that there is something new to be found each time.

But the possibilities of the sand box are endless. Horses are built on the beach to the accompaniment of the carpenter's song, the forestier sings and plants a grove of evergreens, the farmer builds his weather for inland, and the mother hangs out her clothes on the toothpick poles. The sand box is so much fun that it is a question whether the students will ever be willing to have the top restored and go back to the common toys of dressmaking and designing. Miss Greenlaw is a most enthusiastic kindergarten teacher. Her knowledge of carpentry, she not only invented the play table, but built the first full size model herself. Her furnishings were saw, plane, turning lathe and a hammer, which never miss the wielder's thumb for a nail.

What the Baby Needs. The less noise a baby hears, the less he is carried about and played with for the first six months of his life, the better it will be. It is seldom necessary to take him from his crib except for his bath and meals. The habit of tossing him about and trotting him on the knee makes him nervous and wakeful and cannot possibly do any good. His undeviated system calls for rest, yet he is often denied that privilege.

Children as well as older people are to a great extent creatures of habit, and they cannot acquire habits that are conducive to proper development and health of the body at too early an age. It is during sleep that the building up forces work without interruption and the child gains in flesh and strength. Have regular hours for his naps and see that everything is favorable for sleep at that time. There should be no tight bands to hinder respiration. Place his crib in such a position that the light will not shine directly upon his face, preferably in a cool, quiet corner. Do not cover him too warmly. Change his position occasionally, and he will sleep longer.

Slips For "Best" Blesses. Some girl with a love of pretty things hit upon the clever idea of making great bags and slips, with which she covered her best bibles and tuckers, of doctored stuff instead of the usual plain white muslin affairs. The open door of that closet reveals a pretty sight instead of a rather funeral effect the muslin shroudings are bound to give. Choosing a closely woven material, so that the dust is as safely defied as when a stout muslin is the shield, is the only point that need be looked to. Have some of the covers big, sheet-like affairs. There are certain gowns which keep in better condition if something is folded carefully about them than if they are slipped into the roughest of bags. And put loops upon legs or wrapping sheet, so that their weight, little as it may seem, will bear directly upon the closet hooks instead of adding its weight to straggling the delicate skirt or blouse out of shape.

Still Waters Run Deep. First Lady—That new housemaid of yours seems a very quiet girl.
Second Lady—Yes, she's so quiet that when she's cleaning out a room she doesn't even disturb the dust.

Had Tetter for Thirty Years
I have suffered with tetter for thirty years and have tried almost countless remedies with little, if any, success. Three boxes of Chamberlain's Salve cured me. It was a torture. THE TENNIS GIRL.

THE GIBSON WHITE LINEN TAILORED COSTUME STILL SMART.

To Dress Well For a Tennis Tournament is Half the Battle—Never Wear Lace Trimmed Petticoats, Appropriate Neckwear and Hats.

The typical tennis girl, the sort of girl one would expect to find in a Gibson picture, is gowned in dazzling white linen of severe make and wears a shirt and a straw Panama or linen hat. The only relief she affords herself is a hand and waist belt in colors which probably proclaim the college or the club of some masculine relative or friend. More becoming if less ostentatiously sporting is a ribbon of pale blue to match blue eyes or a pale pink to accentuate a delicate complexion. Perhaps most alluring of all is the entirely white ensemble. The tournament girl should remember to dress well for her matches. We all know what a tremendous incentive is the sympathy of on-lookers on such occasions. Indeed, on-lookers are quite as alive to the appropriateness as to the prettiness of a player's costume, and they give a perhaps unconscious backing to the girl who is clever enough to combine the desired objects. Not knowing either of the players, they want the one who looks the most charming to win. And she is swayed to her best exertions by this thought, probably openly expressed in applause of her good strokes.

For this girl the ideal apparel is that described above. Every garment must, of course, be of spotless freshness. Nothing is likely to prejudice the minds of an audience as any lack in this respect, and this means a clean white skirt every day of a tournament week. The undershirt also forms a consideration of essential importance. On no account should a lacey petticoat be worn for tennis. Great as is the attraction of such lingerie, there is danger of the feet catching in it. The embroidered substitutes are now so lovely that one can give up the less suitable alternatives without regret. A white petticoat is likewise delightful for tennis, as it is so easy to move about in, and it may be made with an embroidered main overdone, so that no effect of daintiness is lost.

The question of hats and neckwear is not so easily disposed of. Some tennis players have never swayed from their devotion to the sailor hat, and custom has insured them to its weight and made them oblivious of any discomfort arising from its hardness. Others, however, have adopted the Panama and linen hats, both of them preferable from the picturesque point of view. The Peter Pan waist is a popular sporting model this summer. With its turnover collar, elbow sleeves and flaring cuffs it is indeed both comfortable and becoming.

The tennis costume illustrated is of white linen. The skirt is laid in box pleats and stitched ten inches from the waist. The little jacket is on the kimono order and elaborately worked in English embroidery.

AMY VARNUM.

"Peter Pan" Things.
First came the "Peter Pan" hat, a queer little plaided Scotch affair, with quills.
This was followed by the "Peter Pan" blouse, with low round collar, short sleeves and patch pocket.
Now there's an entire "Peter Pan" suit, which youngish girls are wearing with immense delight, because of its simplicity and girlishness.
It's merely a shirt, waist cut, the blouse wherever it is like that described above, and the short round skirt plaided or plain. For country wear, mornings, picnics, etc. it's a very pretty sort.

So far that's all the "Peter Pan" modes, though possibly those new belts of bright Scotch plaid silk belong to that category.

Water Clothes.
When packing away winter clothes try dried lavender, cloves and other fragrant spices with them. Instead of the inevitable camphor or moth balls. Pleasant odors will prevent the moths as effectually as disagreeable ones, provided they are sufficiently pungent.

For Fancy Work.
Large sewing bags to use for one's fancy work are made of wide ribbon and two small embroidery hoops are used for handles.

The Manitoba Legislature has passed a bill providing that children must not be married under the age of twelve years, and that under the age of eighteen the consent of parents must be obtained. This is doubtless to fit the cases of some recent immigrants from Central Europe.

BATHING CAPS.

Made of Silk Covered Rubber to Match the Suit.

Natty and becoming are the caps to go with the new bathing suits this season, and very far removed are they from the old style rubber cap, which made even the prettiest of women look plain and homely.

Made of silk covered rubber to match the color of the suit, they are most fetching and attractive. Formed of a froreerred piece of material, there is cunningly concealed beneath a rubber cap of oil silk to slip over the hair, one point of the cap coming just over the forehead, the other two ends being brought up and tied in a bowknot.

Still another shape, when tied, forms a pretty ruffle in front, which is exceedingly becoming. Nor are these caps only for show. The introduction of the oil silk cap renders them very practical, and a girl can not only paddle about the shores, but actually swim, without fear of getting her hair wet—that is, unless she essays to dive, when no bathing cap made can be kept in place.

BROOMING BATHING CAP.

two toned or plain colors are best liked, the effect of the figures being more common. Along with the new bathing caps come cunning little silk pockets which have a particularly all fashioned favor, being in appearance like those that grandmothers used to carry with her handkercher, glasses, etc. when she went out to tea. For the summer girl, however, who doesn't wear spectacles, both keys or any valuables she may wish to keep with her. They are fastened to her belt securely and are of the same material as the bathing suit. It is quite unnecessary to say that the girl who wears this accessory to the new bathing suits has no intention of getting her feet wet, but, rather, is out for the purpose of promounging the beach, to see and be seen.

An Economical Fashion.
That deep band of color used to edge the coverings of down quilts or the lightweight cotton filled ones so satisfactory for summer weather is there for a purpose quite aside from that of beauty or effectiveness. It is always the edges that soil first, and it was to protect them that the bands of solid color, usually much darker than the material of the quilt, were first used. If your summer quilts haven't these bands they are easily applied, and as easily ripped off and fresh ones substituted when they finally succumb to soil. Only choose a material that is closely enough woven, so that the design of the foundation may not show through.

Keep Lemon Peel.
Do not throw away your lemon peel. Fill a bottle with rectified spirits and when using lemons cut off the yellow part of the rind and place in the spirits. You will find this quite as good as the essence of lemon which is sold in the shops. Essence of orange can be made in the same way.

Embroidered Parasol.
Something novel in the way of an embroidered parasol is shown in the illustration, and with the growing fondness for having all of one's personal belongings marked, it is fair to suppose that the initial or monogram parasol will have great vogue. At present, lines and shades are marked in this way, and the letters are always worked solid and not too heavily padded. To be effective the monogram or interlaced initials should be four or five inches high and not too elaborate in design. Should one wish to work her monogram on a ready made parasol it is best to clip the stitches which hold the cover to the frame and rip the section which is to be worked partly off the frame before doing the embroidery. When the work is finished and pressed it will be only a few minutes' work to set this section in place again. Of course, if one is accustomed to doing the satin stitch embroidery, as well as the padding in a frame, it will not be necessary to rip the covering from the frame of the parasol.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

H. Price Welder's Boston Comedy Company will appear in the court house on October 2, 3 and 4.

The Baptist Sewing Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Troop Thursday, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

For an umbrella left in the Court House on the evening of St. James' Church concert, apply to Mrs. E. Underwood.

One of the thriving industries of the Bay Shore is the gathering of dulse for summer visitors. One truly we know of sold $500.00 worth this year.

The Duke Cup will be competed for on Saturday at ranges of 500, 600 and 800 yards, seven shots and a sighter at each range. Competition begins at 1 o'clock.

Frank Crosskill, for thirty-seven years station master for the D. A. R. in Bridgetown, has resigned and on Saturday takes a similar position for the Middleton and Victoria Road railroad.

Subscriptions accounts due the Monitor for the present year are being made out and our collectors will be calling in a short time. It would save us considerable work though, if our subscribers would call and see.

The Weymouth Gazette is expected to make its bow to the public on Thursday, September 20. Mr. Hill left Bridgetown today to take charge of the office, which opens for business with a full staff to-morrow. Preparations are also being made to issue a French paper, to be called Le Progrès.

A meeting of the Bridgetown branch of the "Guns and I sh. Pro. Soc." will be held in the hall over Warren's Drug Store Thursday evening, Sept. 13th, at 8 p. m. All interested in the cause are urged to attend. The subject of the meeting will be "The Progress of the World."

Next Wednesday the name of the winner of the "Frasco Trip to Halifax" competition will be announced. The highest number of subscribers sent in by any one person to date is only twenty, but there are a number running pretty close to this. However, this number is not high enough to prevent any young man or woman trying for the trip even at this late date.

The Women's Missionary Aid Society of the Baptist Church wishes to extend their sincere gratitude to all the ladies of the other churches who so kindly assisted them in entertaining the W. B. M. U. Convention lately held here, also to Mrs. Bishop for presiding at the organ and Mr. Beck with for furnishing lights for the dining room free of charge.

The usual evening service in St. Mary's, Belleisle, on Thursday, Sept. 20, will take the form of a Harvest Festival. On Sunday, 24th, Harvest Festival will also be held in St. James' Church, Bridgetown. The preacher at the Sunday services will be the Rev. Canon Vroom, D. D., Divinity Professor at Kings' College, Windsor. Collections will be for the Episcopal Income Fund.

The harvest tea and picnic given by the ladies of the Upper Grandville auxiliary of the Church of England missionary society on the 5th inst. was well attended, and a success financially. Much praise is due the ladies of the society for their capable management and strenuous exertions to make the festival such an enjoyable affair—not forgetting the many others who so generously contributed of their good things to eat, and also gave their cheerful assistance.—Com.

Cullins, Chase and Weston's Big City Minstrel will be the attraction at the Opera House Thursday evening presenting their up to date program of modern minstrelsy. This company is headed by Billie Chase, one of the best liked comedians in the minstrel profession, and he is the center of attraction. The first part, a scenic set entitled "Ben's Dramma's Social Reception" depicting the entire company ranged tier above tier in semi-circles, the costume of same being Louis XIV style. The olio, containing eight original and high-class vaudeville acts, is pronounced by competent judges to be the best ever carried by a minstrel company. A solo orchestra of 12 musicians is a feature, and a big street parade will be given at noon, with a concert on Court street.

HYMENEAL

COVERT-PARKER.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. D. Parker at Belleisle, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 5, when their third daughter, Lettie M. H., was united in marriage to Wallace E. Covert of Karlsruhe, Rev. W. H. Langille of Bridgetown officiating. Miss Alice Sprague of Stony Beach emceed the wedding party. The bride was daintily gowned in cream muslin and carried a beautiful bouquet of white asters. Miss Cora Parker sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, while Steadman Covert supported the groom. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was tendered to about eighty invited guests in honor of the occasion, after which the newly wedded couple drove to their future home at Karlsruhe, followed by showers of rice and good wishes for their prosperity and happiness. The numerous and elegant presents testify to the esteem and popularity in which the young couple are held in their respective communities.

Bridgetown Girl With Tatted Man.

St. John, September 9.—Minnie Wilson, aged 19, of Bridgetown, is under arrest here on a charge of theft, and Michael Krantz, or Krantz, is also a prisoner, charged with acting with her in the stealing. She has been working in a city hotel and he came here with Barnum and Bailey's circus as a tatted man. Where he has been since is not known, but he was seen at the exhibition last week. He and the girl met Thursday, and they spent Friday night in an Indianapolis hotel as husband and wife. When they left, Mrs. Ferris, the proprietor's wife, missed a $20 silk skirt, which was in a clothes trunk in their room. The police found the skirt in the girl's possession and arrested her. Later they arrested the man.

A Local Fish and Game Society.

A meeting having for its object the organization of a local branch of the People's Fish and Game Society was held in Warren's Hall on Monday evening. The attendance was somewhat small. W. A. Warren read the correspondence received from the local society in Annapolis, asking that a representative be sent to meet other representatives in Annapolis for the formation of a Provincial Society. It was decided to organize a local society, and the following officers were elected: President—W. A. Warren, Vice-President—E. A. Hicks, Treasurer—Dr. L. G. DeBlais, Secretary—H. L. Bastin, Council—H. W. Conroy, Geo. H. Dixon, John Bath, B. M. Williams, H. G. Bishop, F. R. Fay, Charles Hoyt, A. L. Anderson and Frank Bath. F. R. Fay was appointed delegate to the meeting in Annapolis, after which the meeting adjourned until to-morrow night.

Pandora Range
Managed Like an Engine.

One-third of a housekeeper's life is spent in her kitchen. One-half the labor of housekeeping is at the cook stove. Your range can double or halve the cooking slavery of housekeeping. A poor range adds worry as well as work, and worry multiplies the housekeeper's care.

Get a range that reduces the work and eliminates the worry. The Pandora Range is as easily and accurately managed as an engine—it responds to the touch as quickly and certainly as the huge engine obeys the hand of the engineer.

The Pandora Range saves worry, and because worry kills, it prolongs life. Sold by enterprising dealers everywhere. Write for booklet.

THE FRENCH-CANADIAN.

His Economy is Not Miserly and His Courtesy Delightful.

The "habitant" has to be frugal, for his means of supporting his family—usually a small family—are somewhat meagre. Nor is frugality unknown amongst those who are in what are called easy circumstances; no bad thing either, seeing that this virtue is the opposite of the vices, wastefulness and extravagance. But though frugal, the French-Canadian is not miserly; he may be impecunious, but he is not parsimonious. Fortunately, too, his domestic wants, though many, are simple and easily satisfied. It is said that a Scotchman could live where an Englishman would starve; but a French-Canadian could live where a Scotchman would find it difficult to supply himself with the simple but nourishing articles of his diet. In this respect he reminds us of those two great chefs, the Frenchman and his servant Goussier, depicted with such consummate skill by the immortal Lytton.

In the keen competition and maddening hurry and bustle of the present day, the peaceful and contented French-Canadian of this generation, especially if he be a farmer, is a class, may not be well adapted to play a leading part. His natural inclination is to be a quiet, unassuming life, his domestic disposition, his conservative tendency, all predispose him against wildly struggling in that mad rush for worldly wealth which is so distinctive of this plutocratic age. Long ago he learned the salutary lesson, indeed, he seems never to have learned it, but always to have known it intuitively—"Having good and quiet, let us be therewith content." Is he any worse for it? Is he not all the better? Is it really a hindrance to his true and permanent success in life? And is it altogether to be regretted that the Anglo-Saxons as we are, to have as our neighbors a race of people, who, by their comparative industry and industry, are constantly reminding us that this life, with its many false ambitions, is not everything? Yes, the "habitant" is frugal, and his domestic economy is one of charming simplicity; but in spite of this—or is it not because of this?—one would have to travel long and wide before one could find a people among whom domestic happiness prevailed more generally.

But it is his industry in the pursuit of the tourist more than his frugality, for he is more ready to give up his somewhat acquainted with his household arrangements, with his actual home life, to appropriate the latter, he has only to meet him in ordinary intercourse to notice the former. He evidently belongs to the English aristocracy, those old French grays, who, when they had come face to face with their British opponents in deadly warfare, politely removed their helmets, and, bowing to their adversaries, begged the gentlemen of the English aristocracy to then the honor to fire the first round, and to the English justice, they refused to take advantage of the Frenchman's excessive politeness; and whether you are visiting the same time, the descendants of the old nobles, or in the comfortable dwellings of the skilled artisans, whether you find yourself in one of the grand mansions, or amongst the picturesque cottages of the "peasants," the universal courtesy of the people is that first strikes the visitor from any of the sister provinces. But it should, perhaps, be called politeness rather than courtesy, and it is not of necessity anything to do with the English aristocracy, though, of course, from no people who are of French extraction, who are of French extraction, the courtesy which has been spoken of proceeds not so much from a desire to avoid making a faux pas in social intercourse as from the wish to please others—or, as the French say, to be well as obliging to you find him, and which so unobtrusively, that when you are forced to bid him good-bye you regret that it is not merely a reverend Byron Nicholson, in The French-Canadian.

An Honor to Canada.

The distinction of being elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society has recently been achieved by Mr. C. V. Curry, B. A., of Toronto University. In recognition of the work accomplished in connection with his book on "Sinal," he has also received an appointment, in connection with the New York Art Museum, as adviser, in regard to Egyptian antiquities, says a contemporary. Some time ago he was awarded a decoration by the Khedive, being made an officer of the Imperial Order of the Mejidieh. This latter was in consequence of the great work he undertook in removing, at the request of the Egyptian Government, great tablets of stone from the face of the cliffs where the old Turquois miners mannaed the treasures of the rocks. These tablets dated back to the time of Cheops, about 2,800 B. C., and contained not only archaic inscriptions, valuable from a historical point of view, but also representations of the Pharaohs, who built the pyramids.

Mr. Curry is also a joint editor of "Abydos," the last publication of the Egyptian Exploration Society. The chapters written by him on the tomb of Senusert III, and of Amenhotep I, who was the founder of the eighteenth dynasty, and the conqueror of the Hyksos, and also the part of the book devoted to the Shrine of Teta Shera, "The Great Queen and Royal Mother," are particularly interesting. Mr. Curry has thus been made the recipient of English, American and Egyptian honors, and brings much learning and experience to his new position relative to the Museum of the University of Toronto.

A Canadian Abroad.

Dr. Walter Courtney, chief surgeon of the Northern Pacific Railway since 1888, was born at Moore, Lambton County, Ont., Sept. 18, 1855. He was educated at the local public schools, Stratford Collegiate Institute and the University of Michigan. Dr. Courtney was married at St. Clair, Mich., in 1885 to Hildegard von Jasmund. He is an ex-president of the Minnesota State Medical Association, a member of the American Medical Association, the International Association of Railway Surgeons and of other medical organizations. He is an honorary member of the North Dakota State Medical Society and president of the Upper Mississippi Medical Society. He is a resident of Brainerd, Minn.

His fiancée.

"He was born with a silver spoon in his mouth."

"Yes, but he met a chap who was raised with four axes in his hand."

Sir Aemilius Irving.

The Dean of the Bar of Ontario was knighted in the King's Birthday. Sir Aemilius is an old man, but he carries his eighty-three years remarkably well. He has been a barrister of Upper Canada since 1849, and as Treasurer of the Law Society has seen two generations pass through Osgoode Hall. For many years Mr. Irving had a place among the foremost of the bar in the province, and his services in the matter of accounts in dispute between the Dominion and Ontario have been invaluable. He sat for Hamilton in the Commons from 1874 to 1878 as Liberal. His connection with the Liberal party was by birth as well as inclination. His father, the Hon. John Irving, had served as an officer of dragons during the Napoleonic wars, and was present at Waterloo. He came to Canada in 1834, and after the union of 1840 sat in the Legislative Council. He was a friend and ally of Baldwin's Liberalism, and it was in the atmosphere of Reform that Aemilius Irving grew up.

Capt. Bernier's Route.

This trip Capt. Bernier is leaving for the polar seas by a route different from the one he followed in 1904, attempting to explore new important channels, and at the same time planting the Canadian flag in many new islands. Hard coal is to be found in large quantities on these islands. She will call at Disco on the west shore of Greenland, from where she will reach Canada about the middle of the month.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market

For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has constantly gained in favor and popularity and it is now one of the most staple medicines in use and has an enormous sale. It is indeed especially good for acute, chronic and lung diseases, such as coughs, colds and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant to take and is undoubtedly the best in the market for the purpose for which it is intended. Sold by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

CHEAP ALCOHOL.

What It is Expected Denatured Alcohol Would Do For the Dominion

Of Canada largely depends upon the denatured alcohol?—is a question that the members of the Dominion Parliament are likely to hear most frequently from their constituents until they are able to make their escape to Ottawa again. If they value their reputation for precedence, they had better post themselves on the subject, and if they wish to retain their popularity it would be well for them to give favorable answer to the further demand, "What's the matter with us having cheap alcohol in Canada?" Already the farmers and manufacturers are eagerly discussing the matter, and the topic is shaping itself into a political issue. As yet, the first protest against removing the prohibitive tax on alcohol that has been rendered unfit for drinking is to be heard.

Benefits to the Farmers.

The country farmers are printing letters from leading farmers, who point out the benefits they would expect if alcohol could be sold at 20 cents a gallon. One man makes the estimate on a single acre, after the removal of the tax, that he could produce 19 bushels of a good quality of commercial alcohol. If this is a correct estimate, the day may be at hand when the products of the farm that are now practically useless will supply the owner with fuel, light and power, and leave him a balance of cash in hand. In Germany the process of making alcohol has become so simple that farmers are their own manufacturers in many instances. There the cost is only about 15 cents a gallon.

The importance of the potato to the farmer is not to be underestimated. In Germany it may be noted, farmers and manufacturers work in great harmony. One stimulates the other. In the matter of alcohol, for example, the potato is used to produce it, and to supply the market. The German farmer has become famous as an expert potato grower, and the farmers of any other country, who are not so fortunate, should have been extracted there was still a considerable remainder of potato, the potato starch industry has come to the front in the manufacture of starch. In Maine there are more than 60 fact. (also engaged in the business. Now plants are being erected for the manufacture of alcohol, in connection with the potato starch works of the province.

The Uses of Alcohol.

Under the heading "Tax Free Alcohol," Industrial Canada publishes an interesting list of the different uses to which alcohol is now put in the order of their importance. They are as follows: Cellulose, varnishes, paints, enamels, etc., soap, disinfecting dyes and colors, photographic materials, etc. In all about fifty distinct manufacturing operations are commenced with alcohol, and many others indicated. For these purposes about 2,000,000 gallons of alcohol are used in Great Britain during the year ending March 1, 1901. No account is taken of the industries of the Dominion, but it is important in the manufacture of paints and varnishes, which might be made more cheaply if alcohol were used.

The coal tar group of industries cheap alcohol is essential, and it is said that the German prohibitionists, who are in England by Germany because of the time that the former country placed restrictions upon the use of alcohol. Prof. Cobos speaks emphatically of the German prohibitionists and its dependence upon cheap alcohol.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are stated under each as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests, and the most potent are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman's children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into them, and the medicinal principles used in them, viz.—pure, refined glycerine, and the most valuable medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour flatulency, and in the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sagar's Cathartic Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

It is a common and serious cause of bronchitis, throat and lung affections, and the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sagar's Cathartic Remedy. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market

For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has constantly gained in favor and popularity and it is now one of the most staple medicines in use and has an enormous sale. It is indeed especially good for acute, chronic and lung diseases, such as coughs, colds and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant to take and is undoubtedly the best in the market for the purpose for which it is intended. Sold by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

What It is Expected Denatured Alcohol Would Do For the Dominion

Of Canada largely depends upon the denatured alcohol?—is a question that the members of the Dominion Parliament are likely to hear most frequently from their constituents until they are able to make their escape to Ottawa again. If they value their reputation for precedence, they had better post themselves on the subject, and if they wish to retain their popularity it would be well for them to give favorable answer to the further demand, "What's the matter with us having cheap alcohol in Canada?" Already the farmers and manufacturers are eagerly discussing the matter, and the topic is shaping itself into a political issue. As yet, the first protest against removing the prohibitive tax on alcohol that has been rendered unfit for drinking is to be heard.

Benefits to the Farmers.

The country farmers are printing letters from leading farmers, who point out the benefits they would expect if alcohol could be sold at 20 cents a gallon. One man makes the estimate on a single acre, after the removal of the tax, that he could produce 19 bushels of a good quality of commercial alcohol. If this is a correct estimate, the day may be at hand when the products of the farm that are now practically useless will supply the owner with fuel, light and power, and leave him a balance of cash in hand. In Germany the process of making alcohol has become so simple that farmers are their own manufacturers in many instances. There the cost is only about 15 cents a gallon.

The importance of the potato to the farmer is not to be underestimated. In Germany it may be noted, farmers and manufacturers work in great harmony. One stimulates the other. In the matter of alcohol, for example, the potato is used to produce it, and to supply the market. The German farmer has become famous as an expert potato grower, and the farmers of any other country, who are not so fortunate, should have been extracted there was still a considerable remainder of potato, the potato starch industry has come to the front in the manufacture of starch. In Maine there are more than 60 fact. (also engaged in the business. Now plants are being erected for the manufacture of alcohol, in connection with the potato starch works of the province.

The Uses of Alcohol.

Under the heading "Tax Free Alcohol," Industrial Canada publishes an interesting list of the different uses to which alcohol is now put in the order of their importance. They are as follows: Cellulose, varnishes, paints, enamels, etc., soap, disinfecting dyes and colors, photographic materials, etc. In all about fifty distinct manufacturing operations are commenced with alcohol, and many others indicated. For these purposes about 2,000,000 gallons of alcohol are used in Great Britain during the year ending March 1, 1901. No account is taken of the industries of the Dominion, but it is important in the manufacture of paints and varnishes, which might be made more cheaply if alcohol were used.

The coal tar group of industries cheap alcohol is essential, and it is said that the German prohibitionists, who are in England by Germany because of the time that the former country placed restrictions upon the use of alcohol. Prof. Cobos speaks emphatically of the German prohibitionists and its dependence upon cheap alcohol.

Pandora Range

Managed Like an Engine.

One-third of a housekeeper's life is spent in her kitchen. One-half the labor of housekeeping is at the cook stove. Your range can double or halve the cooking of housekeeping. A poor range adds worry as well as work, and worry multiplies the housekeeper's care.

Get a range that reduces the work and eliminates the worry. The Pandora Range is as easily and accurately managed as an engine—it responds to the touch as quickly and certainly as the engine obeys the hand of the engineer.

The Pandora Range saves worry, and because worry kills, it prolongs life. Sold by enterprising dealers everywhere. Write for booklet.

LAWRENCETOWN

THE FRENCH-CANADIAN.

His Economy is Not Miserly and His Courtesy Delightful.

The "habitant" has to be frugal for his means of supporting his family—usually no small family—are somewhat meagre. Nor is frugality unknown amongst those who are in what are called easy circumstances; no bad thing either, seeing that this virtue is the opposite of the vice, wastefulness and extravagance, that, though frugal, the French-Canadian is not miserly; he may be impetuous, but he is not parsimonious. Fortunately, too, his domestic wants, though many, are simple and easily satisfied. It is said that a Scotchman could live where an Englishman would starve; but a French-Canadian could live where a Scotchman would find it difficult to supply himself with the simple but nourishing water he uses. He is a man of simple means of those two delightful characters, Dr. Riechmann and his servant Giacomo, depicted with such consummate skill by the inimitable Lytton.

In the keen competition and maddest hurry and heartless and dissipated French-Canadian of this generation, especially if he belongs to the lower classes, may not be well adapted to a leading part. His natural inclination not to be grasping, his quiet life, his domestic disposition, his conservative tendencies, his prodigious but against wildly struggling in that mad race for worldly wealth which is so distinctive of this plutocratic age. Long ago he learned the salutary lesson, indeed, he seems never to have learned it, but always to have known it intuitively—"Having food and raiment, let us be therewith content." Is he any worse for it? Is he any poorer? It is really a hindrance to his true and permanent success in life? And is it altogether the greatest of his misadventures? Anglo-Saxons as we are, to have our neighbors a race of people, who, by their comparative indifference to Mammon, are constantly reminding us that life, with its many false ambitions, evanescent pleasures, and real glories, is not everything? Yes, He has also received an appointment in connection with the New York Art Museum, as adviser in regard to Egyptian antiquities, says a contemporary. Some time ago he was awarded a decoration by the Khedive, being made an officer of the Imperial Order of the Medjidieh. This latter was in consequence of the great work he undertook in removing the tablets of the Egyptian Government, great tablets of stone from the face of the cliffs where the old Turquoise miners ransacked the pyramids.

Under the heading "Tax Free Alcohol," Industrial Canada publishes an article that is interesting in the different uses to which alcohol is now put in the various countries of the world. The uses of alcohol are as follows:—Paints, varnishes, enamels, etc., soap making, dissolving dyes and colors, other and chloroform, smokeless powder, etc., medical extracts and chemical uses, dissolving dyes and colors, photographic materials, etc. In all about fifty distinct manufacturing operations alcohol is used. In Great Britain during the year ending March 1, 1901, no account is given of the industries in which alcohol might be used if its price were reduced about 90 per cent.

How an Industry Was Lost.

Prof. Cobbe divides the uses of denatured alcohol into three parts—(a) as a solvent, a re-agent, and as a source of heat, light and power. His uses under the third head have been pretty thoroughly discussed already, and it is interesting to glance at the other two. It constitutes a very important element in the cost of the production of the various articles of the manufacture of paints and varnishes, which might be made much cheaper if denatured alcohol were duty free. To the coal tar group of industries cheap alcohol is essential, and it is said that these industries were captured from England by Germany because of the artificial protection and its dependence upon cheap alcohol.

Germany Leads the Way.

Alcohol is the principal constituent in other, a commodity that has become one of the very necessities of life. Vast quantities of it are consumed from alcohol, and there are scores of other instances of its use as raw material. It is interesting to compare the enormous consumption of alcohol in Germany, where it is untaxed, with the limited use in Great Britain. In the latter country, as noted, a year's consumption was about 2,000,000 gallons for industrial purposes, about 1,000,000 gallons for motor and other uses, and 14,000,000 gallons for light and heat. It is probable that its use for internal combustion engines will be increased by this time, and the amount of the remarkable increase in motor boats and automobiles. It would seem to be an essential to a country's prosperity in many lines of manufacture that no artificial restrictions should be placed upon the use of alcohol.

In Prison For His Dog.

In that language his name is Mac-An-Ultaigh.

CHEAP ALCOHOL.

What It Is Expected Denatured Alcohol Would Do For the Dominion of Canada.

"What's all this talk we hear about denatured alcohol?" is a question that the members of the Dominion Parliament are likely to hear most frequently from their constituents until they are able to make their escape to Ottawa again. If they value their reputation for presence, they had better put themselves on the subject, and if they wish to retain their popularity it would be well for them to give favorable answer to the further demand, "What's the matter with us having cheap alcohol in Canada?" Already the farmers and manufacturers are eagerly discussing the matter, and the topic is shaping itself into a political issue. Benefits to the Farmer.

The country papers are printing letters from leading farmers, who point out the benefits they would expect if alcohol could be sold at about 20 cents a gallon. One man makes the interesting statement that the cornstalks on a single acre, after the removal of the grain, could afford about 1200 gallons of commercial alcohol. If this is a correct estimate, the day may be not far distant when the farmer will be able to supply the owner with fuel, light and heat, and to have a balance of cash in hand. In Germany the process of making alcohol has become so simple that farmers are their own manufacturers in many instances. There the cost is only about 10 cents a gallon. In the greatest harmony one stimulates the other. In the matter of alcohol, for example, the potato largely used to put in the ground to supply the market of the German farmers have become famous as potato growers, getting a greater and better yield per acre than the farmers of any other country. When it was found that the potato had been extracted there was still a considerable residue of potato, the "Tender" for the purpose of utilizing it in the manufacture of starch. From Germany the potato starch industry has come to this country, and in one county of Maine there are more than 60 factories engaged in the business. Now plants are being erected that manufacture alcohol, in connection with the potato starch works.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicine—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are given under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are getting for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being medicinal roots found growing in our American forests, while the potent essences are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman's children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent than any other for treating and curing all the most distressing ailments. This agent possesses the most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, sour, full breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, growing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, it is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stage it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely from mucus, and use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally leaves the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis and acute affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most effective remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs, which are cured by its use. Pandora Range

Managed Like an Engine.
 One-third of a housekeeper's life is spent in her kitchen. Get a range that reduces the work and eliminates the worry. A poor range adds worry as well as work, and worry multiplies the housekeeper's care. The Pandora Range is as easily and accurately managed as an engine—it responds to the touch as quickly and certainly as a huge engine obeys the hand of the engineer, and because you kill it, it prolongs life. Sold by enterprising dealers everywhere. Write for booklet.

An Honor to Canada.
 The distinction of being elected a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society has recently been achieved by Mr. C. C. Curry, B. A., of Toronto University. In recognition of the work accomplished in connection with his book on "Sinal," he has also received an appointment, in connection with the New York Art Museum, as an adviser in regard to Egyptian antiquities, says a contemporary. Some time ago he was awarded a decoration by the Khedive, being made an officer of the Imperial Order of the Mejidieh. This latter was in consequence of the great work he undertook in removing, at the request of the Egyptian Government, great tablets of stone from the face of the cliffs where the old Turquois miners ransacked the treasures of the rocks. These tablets dated back to the time of Cheops, about 2,800 B. C., and contained not only archaic inscriptions, valuable from a historical point of view, but also representations of the Pharaohs, who built the pyramids.

W. E. PALFREY, LAWRENCETOWN

THE FRENCH-CANADIAN.

His Economy is Not Miserly and His Country is Delightful.
 The "habitant" has to be frugal, for his means of supporting his family usually no small family—are somewhat meagre. Nor is his frugality unknown amongst those who are in what are called easy circumstances; so bad thing, seeing that this virtue is the opposite of the vices, wastefulness and extravagance. But though frugal, the French-Canadian is not miserly; he would be impetuous, but he is not parsimonious. Fortunately, too, his domestic wants, though many, are simple and easily satisfied. It is said that a Scotchman could live where an Englishman would starve; but a French-Canadian could live where a Scotchman would find it difficult to supply himself with the simple but nourishing food of his country. This respect he reminds us of those two delightful characters, Dr. Baccobacca and his servant Giacomo, depicted with such consummate skill by the inimitable Moliere. In the keen competition and unending hurry and heartless strife of the present day, the peaceful and contented French-Canadian of this generation, especially if he be a humbler class, may not be well adapted to play a leading part. His natural inclination not to be a hustler, his life, his domestic disposition, his conservative tendency, all predispose him against wildly struggling in that mad rush for worldly self which is so distinctive of this plutocratic age. Long ago he learned the salutary lesson, indeed, he seems never to have learned it, but always to have known it intuitively—having food and raiment, let us be therewith content." Is he any worse for it? Is he not all the better? Is it really a hindrance to his true and permanent success in life? And is it altogether a matter of indifference to the Anglo-Saxons as we are, to have our neighbors a race of people, who, by their comparative idleness and contentment, are constantly reminding us that this life, with its many false ambitions, its empty and dissipated pleasures, is not everything? Yes, the "habitant" is frugal, and his domestic economy is not a matter of simplicity; but in spite of this—or is it not because of this?—one would be surprised to find a French-Canadian across a people among whom domestic happiness prevailed more generally. It is more a matter of habit, and the tourist more than his frugality, for he is more easily satisfied with a somewhat austere and simple life, and he has only to meet him in ordinary intercourse to notice the former. He evidently belongs to a different race, and the honor to be first round, and to do the English justice, they refused to take advantage of the Frenchman's excessive politeness; and whether you are visiting in the homes of the nobles and the descendants of the old nobles, or in the comfortable dwellings of the skilled artisans, whether you find yourself in one of the great centers of trade and commerce, where men meet to do business, or amongst the picturesque cottages of the humblest peasants, "far from the maddening crowd's ignominious strife," the universal courtesy of the people, what first strikes the visitor from any of the separate provinces. But it should, perhaps, be called politeness rather than courtesy, and it is not of necessity anything to do with the courtesy of the English; though, of course, from no people does this last receive more punctilious attention than from the French or the one who are of French extraction. The courtesy which has been spoken of proceeds not so much from any desire to avoid making a faux pas in social intercourse as from the wish to please others—or, at least, to avoid the sacrifice of one's own convenience or comfort. This makes you more courteous with the French-Canadian, however important, than with any other people, and so obliging do you find him, and what so unobtrusive, that when you are forced to bid him good-by, you regret that it is not merely a revoir—Bryan Nicholson, in "The French-Canadian."

Under the Head of "Tax Free Alcohol," Industrial Canada publishes an article by Prof. Cobbe, of McMaster University. An interesting list of the different uses to which alcohol is now put is given. In the order of their importance they are as follows:—Making varnishes, paints, enamels, etc., soap making, medicinal purposes, and other uses. In the matter of alcohol, for example, the potato is largely used to produce it, and to supply the market. The German farmers have become famous as potato growers, getting a good return there was still a considerable residue of potato, the Germans proceeded to utilize it in the manufacture of starch. From Germany the potato starch industry has come to this continent, and in one county of Maine there are more than 60 factories engaged in the business. Now plants are being erected for the manufacture of alcohol, in connection with the potato starch works.

Germany Leads the Way.
 Alcohol is the principal constituent in a commodity that has become one of the very necessities of life. Vast quantities of it are used in the manufacture of other commodities, and other instances of its use as a raw material are innumerable. In consequence of enormous consumption of alcohol in Germany, where it is used largely for medicinal purposes, and in the manufacture of other commodities, it is essential to a country's prosperity in many lines of manufacture that artificial restrictions should be placed upon the use of alcohol.

In Prison For His Dog.
 Eamon McNulty of Cressleugh, County Donegal, is enjoying a week's sojourn in Derry Jail because he refuses to take out a license for his dog unless the document is issued to him in Irish. The Donegal Magistrate fined him five, or seven days' imprisonment, and Mr. McNulty selected the latter alternative. Mr. McNulty's contention is that it is impossible to sell his name save in Irish. In that language his name is Mac-An-Ultaigh.

Capt. Bernier's Route.
 This trip Capt. Bernier is leaving for the polar seas by a route different from the one he followed in 1904, attempting to explore new important channels, and at the same time planting the Canadian flag in many new islands. Hard coal is to be found in large quantities on these islands. She will call at Disco, on the west shore of Greenland, from whence she will reach Canada about three months ago, via European ports.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market.
 For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has constantly gained in favor and popularity until it is now one of the most staple medicines in use and has an enormous sale. It is especially good for colds, coughs and lung diseases, such as whooping cough and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant to take and is undoubtedly the best in the market for the purposes for which it is intended. Sold by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

CHEAP ALCOHOL.

What It Is Expected Denatured Alcohol Would Do For the Dominion of Canada.
 "What's all this talk we hear about denatured alcohol? Is a question that the members of the Dominion Parliament are likely to hear most frequently from their constituents until they are able to make their escape to Ottawa again. If they value their reputation for presence, they had better post themselves on the subject, and if they wish to retain their popularity, it would be well for them to give favorable answer to the further demand, 'What's the matter with us having cheap alcohol in Canada?' Already the farmers and manufacturers are eagerly discussing the matter; and the topic is shaping itself into a political issue. As yet, the first protest against denatured alcohol has been raised, and that has been rendered unfit for drinking has to be heard.

Benefits to the Farmer.
 The country papers are printing letters from leading farmers, who point out the benefits to be derived if alcohol could be sold at about 20 cents a gallon. One man makes the interesting statement that, from taking a single acre, after the removal of the cobs, can be made to yield about 170 gallons of alcohol. This through course is a correct estimate, the day may be at hand when the products of the farm are being used to supply the market, and power and leave him a balance of cash in hand. In Germany the process of making alcohol has become so simplified that farmers are their own manufacturers in many instances. There the cost is only about 15 cents a gallon.

The Potato Starch Industry.
 In Germany, it may be noted, farmers and manufacturers work in the same business. One class of potatoes is engaged in the potato starch works, for example, the potato is largely used to produce it, and to supply the market. The German farmers have become famous as potato growers, getting a good return there was still a considerable residue of potato, the Germans proceeded to utilize it in the manufacture of starch. A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attached under each as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests, while potent to cure are perfectly harmless. Even to the most delicate woman a child's Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A man who has tried this medicine for curing and preventing the most common diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, will find it a most valuable and reliable remedy. This agent possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Dr. Pierce plays an important part in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour flatulency, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, sour appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above and distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, throat or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to the passage of this remedy, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages generally two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This through course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most valuable remedy, especially in those obstinate cases of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for some coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be used in the case of chronic coughs, which are either, or badly treated, lead up to consumption. It is in the case of these coughs that can be cured.
