THE CONSOLIDATION OF ENGLISH SPEAKING RACES

Great Britain and Her Colonies and the United States,
Advocated by Harry J. Crowe in the English Press.

The British Empire Club,
12 St. James's Square, S. W.
June 7th, 1910.
To the Editor of the London Times:—

Sir,
I am taking the liberty of submitting for your consideration a suggestion that has for its aim the union of the English-speaking race, the consolidation of which I believe can be used to eventually bring about harmony among all nations.

Assuming that ere long Great Britain will adopt a tariff that will give her industries some protection from the system of dumping from highly protected countries, I would suggest as a step towards bringing about this union, a Commercial Preference between the United States, Great Britain and her Colonies, with a view of increasing the present volume of business between these countries as well as strengthening the sentimental tie.

In the past, the union of the English-speaking race WHO HAVE SO MUCH IN COMMON, has presented such difficulties that the question could not be considered as practicable, but in view of what is now taking place in some of the other nations and the present relations between the United States and Canada, the way seems to be opening up for this Union, making it not only more feasible, but NECESSARY, FOR THE COMMERCIAL AND POLITICAL SUPREMACY OF THE ANGLI-SAXON RACE. Allow me to refer to my reasons for this opinion.

As you are aware, Canada has been patiently waiting a long time for the Mother Country to respond in some measure to the substantial preference granted to her in the Canadian Tariff. The indifference with which the Government of Great Britain has treated these overtures of the Colonies for closer trade relations, has compelled the Canadian Government to seek a preference in foreign markets, resulting in a treaty with Italy, Germany, Belgium and the United States.

CANADA'S TRADE DIVERTED FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Concessions in the Canadian tariff to these foreign countries naturally reduce the value of the present preference to Great Britain, and will transfer a very large portion of Canada's rapidly increasing trade into foreign channels, which when established it will be very difficult for Great Britain to regain.

If preference for preference is granted the Colonies by certain foreign countries and refused by the Mother Country then we may find in the near future that the British Empire is MORE IN NAME THAN IN FACT.

As you are aware, CANADA NOW PURCHASES FROM THE UNITED STATES GOODS TO THE VALUE OF ABOUT TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS ANNUALLY WITHOUT TARIFF PREFERENCE. WITH reciprocity between these two countries the volume of trade would be doubled.

The United States is now alive to the importance of Canadian trade, and the great future possibilities of her Northern neighbor; she probably also appreciates that if Great Britain adopted a Protective Tariff, granting to the Colonies a preference before she secured a reciprocity treaty with Canada, it would be in her interests to participate with her brother kinsmen in this greater Commercial Union of English-speaking nations. Therefore, now is an opportune time bringing about such a union, and continued indifference upon the part of Great Britain to this vital question might be a serious blow to Imperial interests.

SENTIMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN FAVORS PROTECTION.

The recent British election was an evidence that there is a very strong sentiment in Great Britain in favor of adopting a Protective Tariff, granting to the Colonies a Preference, but certain opposition exists in the Mother Country to the Colonies having exclusive Preference fearing that the cost of living would thereby be increased.

This opposition in the minds of these extreme British Free Traders would, I believe, be met if the United States entered their markets on an equal footing with the Colonies, thus enlarging the sphere of Preference and creating more competition.

The Colonies would naturally be unfavourable to this competition from the United States, but it is possible to meet this objection if the United States granted free admission from the Colonies of some of their natural resources, such as wool and the products of the forest, sea and the mines.

CANADA WOULD BENEFIT BY AN OPEN MARKET IN U. S.

Canada probably would feel more than the other Colonies this competition in the markets of the Mother Country, but OWING TO HER GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION AND POSSESSING ABUNDANCE OF THESE NATURAL RESOURCES SHE WOULD NATURALLY RECEIVE THE GREATEST BENEFIT BY THE FREE ENTRY OF THESE RESOURCES INTO THE UNITED STATES.

I do not think the United States would suffer any disadvantage by the free admission of these natural resources from the colonies. It would mean the conservation of raw material, which is being so rapidly depleted in the United States, and would prevent the sharp advance in cost to their consumers, which is likely soon to take place, especially in the products of the forests, I also believe it would mean a great advantage to the manufacturers and consumers of the New England States if they had free entry into their markets of coal and

New Pastor of Providence Methodist Church

Rev. B. J. Porter, B. A. the new pastor of the Bridgetown Methodist church filled the regular appointment of his circuit on Sunday last and preached for the first time in Providence church Sunday evening to a large congregation.

Mr. Porter is comparatively a young man and in his first discourse held the attention of his congregation to a marked degree. He is a pleasant and fluent speaker and his earnestness and enthusiasm will no doubt make his pastorate a successful one.

Previous to coming here Mr. Porter had been stationed at Leepport, Sydney Mines, and Bermuda. He is a native of Yarmouth, N. S., as is also Mrs. Porter, who with their two children will arrive this week to take possession of the Parsonage.

A few days before leaving Lockport Mr. Porter was waited upon by his people and presented with a purse of money, and a handsome music cabinet. Mr. Porter was also generously remembered.

iron from the Maritime Provinces.

It would therefore appear that the United States would be making practically no sacrifice in granting these concessions to the colonies.

UNITED STATES SHOULD GRANT IN RETURN FREE ENTRY

It will be admitted by all that the Colonies have a prior right to a preference in the Mother Country, not only because they are British Colonies and contribute to the defense of the Empire, but because of the preference they now grant to Great Britain in their tariffs, (I refer particularly to Canada) for which they have received no trade preference in return. Therefore, if the Colonies waive their objections to the United States entering on an equal footing with them in the markets of Great Britain, the United States should grant in return the free entry from the colonies of such resources as I have previously named WITHOUT DEMANDING IN RETURN CONCESSIONS IN THE COLONIAL TARIFFS.

Thus the Colonies would receive a preference in the markets of the United States as well as Great Britain without granting to the former any reduction in her present tariff. This would enable the Mother Country to continue receiving the full benefit of the Canadian Preference, and would have the products of the United States entering her markets in competition and on an equal footing with the Colonies, which should meet the views of those who fear that an exclusive preference to the Colonies would lack the competition necessary to keep the values of the necessities of life down to their proper level.

This preference granted to the United States by Great Britain would give the former a portion of the trade on manufactured goods now enjoyed by such countries as Germany in this market, in consideration of which IT WOULD BE REASONABLE FOR THE UNITED STATES TO GRANT GREAT BRITAIN PREFERENCE ON THE GOODS IMPORTED BY HER FROM OTHER FOREIGN COUNTRIES, thus not interfering with her own industries, and resulting in a large increase of exports from Great Britain to the United States.

EXISTING FOREIGN TREATIES OF NO ADVANTAGE

Great Britain's treaties with certain foreign countries will probably be in the way of granting at present an exclusive preference to the United States, but I presume these treaty difficulties can be overcome when the occasion requires it. These treaties which have been of value in the past have served their good purpose, and are no longer of any particular advantage to this country or the world if the union of the English-speaking nations could be brought about.

Rural Deacony of Annapolis Meeting at Weymouth

The "Chapter" meeting of the above held in Weymouth on Monday and Tuesday of last week was both enjoyable and profitable. The clergy attending were Rev. H. How, Annapolis Royal, (Rural Dean) Revs. J. Reeks, Round Hill, J. Lockward, Clementsport, W. Driffield, Digby, C. R. Cumming and J. M. Withcombe, Weymouth; Canon Vroom, Windsor, and E. Underwood, Bridgetown, Secretary.

The Monday afternoon session was taken up with routine business and the customary Testament reading in Greek. On Monday evening a fully choral service was held in St. Peter's church, the Rev. Wm. Driffield being the preacher. This service was the first of its kind in connection with R. D. meetings. The combined choirs of the churches of St. Peter and St. Thomas, had evidently worked hard and faithfully, and more than sustained the fame they have justly earned for their music.

Tuesday's proceedings began with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a.m. in St. Peter's church and sermon (ad eorum) by the Rural Dean. At 10:30 the second session of the meeting was held, the Rev. Wm. Driffield reading an excellent paper on "The proper reading of lectures and rendering of church services."

This brought forth a profitable discussion, as did also the "Round Table" on Sunday schools, which followed. At 12:45 an adjournment was made for lunch. This was partaken of "al fresco" on the grounds of Mr. St. Clair Jones, who had kindly placed at the disposal of the entertainers, the use of his dining room.

At 3:15 the final session was held when Rev. J. Lockward caused an animated discussion by his able paper on "Mission and Jurisdiction." Under the head of miscellaneous business it was arranged that owing to the Church Congress taking place in September, the next meeting should not be held until the first week in December, at Middleton, for which papers are to be prepared by Revs. W. S. H. Morris, J. Reeks and E. Underwood.

At 8 p.m. a service was held in St. Thomas' church similar to that in St. Peter's on Monday evening, the preacher being the Rev. A. S. Madill, of Toronto. This brought the exercises in connection with the Deacony meeting proper to a close, but on Wednesday morning the visitors ere their departure for home, were given a delightful trip up the river by Mr. Gideon Campbell in his motor boat "Maldonado". The meeting will long be remembered by all present.

Solid Gold Story a Myth

Ottawa, July 11.—The directors of the geological survey has received a report from Stewart, at the mouth of the Portland canal, which would seem to give the death knell to the stories cabled to England, which have caused such a furor over there as to the discovery of a "mountain of solid gold," etc. While the report is not an official one from a member of the survey staff, it comes from a gentleman in whom Professor Brock has the utmost confidence, and it is to the effect that the find is a ledge of low grade pyrite zone in slate, with free gold confined to the surface. This it would look as if the men who stamped from England, upon the receipt of the cables a couple of weeks ago, will have their journey for nothing, unless they choose to devote their time to cultivating the golden orchards of British Columbia.

The Royal Nickel

The Moving Picture Show is now running Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, with entire change of program each evening. As an addition to the regular show of Thursday and Friday evenings this week, will be shown the funeral pageant of King Edward VII. Every Saturday evening an illustrated song will be given.

Town Swept out of Existence by Terrific Fire

MONCTON, N. B., July 14.—The town of Campbellton in North New Brunswick, was swept off the map by fire today. Four thousand people are homeless, and the property loss is estimated at $2,500,000. The I. C. R. loss alone is said to be $100,000. It is feared that lives have been lost. There is a report here that seven men were killed in an explosion of dynamite, but this is not confirmed. The body of a baby was found. The little one had been suffocated.

WIPED OFF THE MAP.

Little however, in the way of valuables were saved, the reports say, and many people comfortably off yesterday are penniless today with no roof to shelter them. The fire is one of the most destructive in the history of the Province, and no place of proportionate size has been so obliterated from the map by the fire as the hitherto busy North Shore lumber town.

Campbellton was the home of some of the biggest lumber concerns in the Northern part of the Province. Shires, Richards and Mowats, and smaller concerns operated from this section. The three former had large mills in Campbellton, and were the backbone of the place industrially. They were all swept out of existence, mills lumber and all.

LOSS IS TWO MILLION.

A rough estimate of the total loss by the conflagration would be $2,000,000, and if the residential portion is as completely destroyed for a mile or more around, as reports seem to indicate, the loss may even exceed this by half a million or more.

TRAINS MOVED PEOPLE

The Ocean Limited and local express leaving here today were unable to reach Campbellton on account of the bridge over Mill Creek, just east of the town being burned out. These trains were utilized by the I. C. R. authorities getting people out of the fire district to places of safety. At midnight about five hundred people had been forwarded to Dalhousie for shelter, while a number of people escaped to Mission, (an Indian village) just across the Restigouche, opposite Campbellton.

FIRE STILL RAGING.

The latest report says that the fire is still raving furiously. The brook that runs at the back part of the town.

A Truly National Fair

St. John Dominion Exhibition Will Represent Canada From East to West.

At the Dominion Exhibition in St. John, N. B., visitors will be treated to an array of exhibits surpassing by long odds the industrial display seen at Maritime Provincial fairs for a quarter century back and closely approaching the great Toronto Exhibition itself. Already scores of applications have been received from manufacturing concerns in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton and other points west, as well as from notable American establishments. It will be somewhat familiar and exceedingly interesting to come in close contact with the exhibits, personal representatives and demonstrators of goods which most eastern folks see advertised extensively in magazines and the national press. Aside from this, the national character of the exposition will bring with it a large number of displays usually seen at the official fairs of the Dominion Government, which distinction St. John will enjoy this year. Spurred to special effort because of these conditions, St. John, New Brunswick, and Maritime Provincial manufacturers and others are planning upon making extensive displays, and the St. John Board of Trade is putting forth a great deal of effort towards the same end. During the last few weeks prior to Dominion Exhibitions, a great number of smaller exhibitors, entertainers, promoters, exhibition "camp followers," etc., will arrive on the scene.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF LAWRENCETOWN BAPTIST CHURCH

Read by Pastor H. G. Mellick at Recent Jubilee Celebration of Church's Organization in June 1873.

A half century makes many changes in a community. Most of those who initiated this movement and many who have been identified with it along these years have passed to their reward. Some remain and after all these years of service are faithful and untiring in their efforts for the Redeemers Kingdom.

This record should stir up our minds by way of remembrance and encourage us to press on in the service of our Lord. He shall not fail nor be discouraged and those who are faithful to Him shall not lose their reward.

It is encouraging to see how the small beginning expanded and increased in power and influence. Like the mustard seed of Christ's parable the church has grown large and high and has spread its branches far and wide. Besides sustaining herself the church has sent out many noble men and women to help carry the gospel to other parts. We have now representatives among the foremost pastors and missionaries both in our own country and in foreign lands.

It is with gratitude to God we look back on the way He has led us and recount His goodness to us throughout these fifty years. Let us renew our views of consecration to Christ and make this a year of Jubilee.

In 1860 there were only ten Baptists in Lawrencetown; these belonged to five different churches. During the first nine years, or up to 1869, occasional Baptist services were held in the town. Through the influence of Mr. E. Crisp, Rev. Robert Burdett, who was pastor at Pine Grove, came occasionally and preached during parts of 1871 and 1872. Meetings were held in the building now occupied by Mr. Forman Bishop.

About 1871 a meeting of the Baptists was called and the following brethren were appointed a committee for the purpose of building a house of worship: Manning Brown, George Starratt, Edward Crisp, W. B. McKeown, George Bishop, Hanley Fitch, P. H. Saunders and Dr. L. R. Morse. The site where the church now stands was purchased at that time from Mr. Alfred Starratt and was paid for by the sisters through their circles.

The material for the building was supplied by subscription. Outside friends also helping, notably through the efforts of the late John James. The contract for raising and boarding the building was left to Mr. Thomas Shaw who completed his contract. Mr. J. A. Brown was then put in charge of the work, and finished the outside and the vestry in 1873.

Regular services were held in the vestry for about three years, when the auditorium was completed and dedicated. Rev. Davenport Cox conducted the dedication service, there being no settled pastor with the church at that time. Very kind mention is made of Rev. A. Colchon who gave the church much help and encouragement in these times when it was pastorless.

On June 2nd, 1873 a request was made by a number of members of the Nictaux church, and a few others, who were living in Lawrencetown, Valley West and Ingleville, for a council to be called for the purpose of organizing a church. Brother J. A. Brown, M. C. Beals and Samuel Fitz Randolph were appointed a committee to meet the council.

The following are the names of those who composed the council:—
Revs. Geo. Armstrong, M. P. Freeman, A. Colchon, Deacons Rice and Fellows; Brothers A. M. Gilmory, S. L. Chipman, W. C. Felch, Avard, Longley, Geo. Dodge, Maynard, Wheelock, Walter Welton, Clark Neily and Isaiah Dodge, Rev. L. Morton, Brothers William Bishop, John Whitman, William Shaffner, Geo. Charlton and John Chorlton.

The council met in the Valley West meeting house. Rev. George Armstrong was appointed moderator and Rev. A. Colchon secretary. The council, fearing the church would be so small and weak it would be a burden to the Mission Board at first decided not to give their consent to organize, but through the persistence of the committee representing the members they reconsidered this decision and advised to proceed with the organization. The recognition service was held the same day. The sermon was preached by Rev. Geo. Armstrong. An address was also given by Rev. M. P. Freeman.

The church as organized was named the Lawrencetown and Valley West Baptist Church. There were 33 charter members, other names are given in the first list recorded making a total of 50. Some of these are still with us but most of them have gone to the heavenly home.

The first members were:—

Geo. J. Bishop, Charles Burbridge, Harriet Daniels, Samuel Bishop, Mrs. Ichabod Newcomb, Mrs. Beriah Daniels, Mrs. Wallace Balcom, Beriah B. Daniels, J. G. Charlton, Mrs. Geo. L. Bishop, Judson Daniels, Mrs. Jacob Beals, Lalia A. Balcom, Mrs. Samuel Bishop, Mrs. Judson Bishop, Mrs. John A. Brown, Avard Daniels, Mrs. John F. Randolph, Mary E. F. Randolph, Minard E. Beals, Mrs. Minard E. Beals, Ingram Bishop, S. Fitz Randolph, Robert Fitz Randolph, Phineas Charlton, Geo. Fitz Randolph, Delia Fitz Randolph, Cordelia Fitz Randolph, Mrs. Isaac Bishop, Mrs. Wm. Whitman, Anna G. Barteaux, Ambrose E. Banks, Mrs. Albert Whitman, E. R. Whitman

CONSOLIDATION OF ENGLISH SPEAKING RACES

There are foreign countries that are now desirous of having the most friendly relations with Great Britain: THIS UNION OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING NATIONS SHOULD NOT DISTURB THIS FRIENDSHIP, BUT RATHER STRENGTHEN IT, for the mutual support of Great Britain would then be greater, and she would then be a more valuable ally, and as for trade, the United States would not interfere much, if at all, with such countries as France and Italy in the British markets. The goods of these countries are in a position to sell Great Britain, after the latter adopts Protection, are not the main natural products of the United States.

The English-speaking nations are the only nations that could be united to their mutual advantage on such a "Commercial Union," no other nations have so much in common; their language, aspirations and commerce are in harmony. The Colonies and the United States have now their largest market in Great Britain, and in many staple lines they find Great Britain the best market in which to buy.

Preference such as I have ventured to outline would not only enormously increase trade between these countries, but, WITH A UNITED POLICY FOR OUTSIDE NATIONS AS REGARDS RECEIVING OR GRANTING A PREFERENCE, THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING NATIONS WOULD HOLD A WEAPON that could be used to secure the most favored tariff concessions in all other countries.

MARKETS FOR EXPORTS WOULD RAPIDLY INCREASE.
Some of our statesmen fear a preference to the Colonies would antagonize other nations, and that the loss of foreign trade would not be compensated by closer trade relations with the Colonies. Can this argument be made with equal force in connection with a commercial union that will include the United States with the Colonies? I believe however, that the markets of the Colonies for the exports of Great Britain will increase more rapidly in the future than those of any foreign nation.

These English-speaking nations united would secure greater concessions in foreign markets than are now enjoyed by Great Britain and would eventually tend to overcome this antagonism that is so feared, by removing the IMPRESSION THAT GREAT BRITAIN HAS WITHHELD THE RIGHT NOW THE POWER to prevent foreigners making her a slaughter-market for their surplus manufactured goods, and that she has any weapons for lowering their high walls of protection now placed against her when she attempts to enter their markets.

THE UNFAIR FOREIGN COMPETITION WHICH OUR MANUFACTURERS AND AGRICULTURISTS NOW FACE, must decrease the investment of fresh capital in the industries of this country, as well as curtailing the output of their already established plants, which will amount in a measure to the heavy burden of taxation now felt in this country. The high walls of protection now placed against her when she attempts to enter their markets.

THE COMBINED IMPORT TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND HER COLONIES FROM OTHER NATIONS WOULD BE OF SUCH MAGNITUDE AND IMPORTANCE that foreign countries who have been depending so largely on these markets, would be desirous of granting concessions in their tariffs in return for an intermediate preference in the markets of the English-speaking countries, that is, the latter to grant a preference between their general tariffs and the rates applying to themselves.

THIRTEEN MILLION SQUARE MILES OF THE RICHEST TERRITORY
It is as important for the United States to prepare to meet the Yellow Peril which is now threatening to attack her Commercial, Naval and Military Power, as it is for Great Britain to "put her house in order" to overcome Germany's determined designs upon the British Empire.

THE UNION OF THESE ENGLISH NATIONS WOULD CHECK THE AGGRESSIVE SPIRIT OF JAPAN WHICH IS NOW A GREAT MENACE TO THE UNITED STATES, and it would justify the latter in making any reasonable tariff concession to Great Britain and her Colonies, which would practically only mean the free admission of some of the natural resources of the Colonies and a Preference to Great Britain on

THE SIMPLE LIFE.
"I weary of the whirl!" quoth she;
"Henceforth the simple life for me.
To take my breakfast ere I rise—
Of coffee just a single cup."
(N.B.—Her mother brought it up.)

"And when I'm dressed," thus spoke the maid,
"I'll lie me to the elm tree's shade,
And waking a book there I will find
Sweet rest and comfort for the mind.
And so in sylvan shade she read,
(N.B.—Her mother made her bed.)

"A dainty lunch will suit me best—
Salad with oiled of Letuce dressed!
No steaming soup, nor heavy roast,
But broiled spring chicken served on toast."
She ate it all and cooked it good,
(N.B.—Her mother cooked the food.)

Then when the day at last was spent
Her mind was filled with sweet content!
She donned a dainty gown of white
With rosy ribbons all bedight
And looked as fair as any rose.
(N.B.—Her mother ironed her clothes.)

"I love the simple life," quoth she;
"My heart from care is ever free.
A good night's rest I'll have I know,
For prompt at nine to bed I'll go."
True to her word retired she then,
(N.B.—Her mother worked till ten.)

GOT HIS RECEIPT.

He had run up a small bill at the village store, and went to pay it, first asking for a receipt.
The proprietor grumbled and complained it was too small to give a receipt for. It would do just as well, he said, to draw the account off, and so drew a diagonal pencil line across the book.
"Does that settle it?" asked the customer.
"Sure!"
"An' ye'll never be askin' for it again?"
"Certainly not?"
"Faith, thin," said the other coolly, "an' I'll kape me money in me pocket."

"But I can rub that out," said the storekeeper.
"I thought so," said the customer, dryly. "Maybe ye'll be givin' me a receipt now. Here's yer money."—Lippincott's.

FINE DISTINCTION
No mere man can hope to understand the principles which govern feminine fashions. A man went with his wife while she bought some dress goods.
"This stuff," he said, "is pretty and would make you a good dress."
"That!" said the wife in contempt. "Nobody is wearing that now!"
"Then how about this?" asked the husband, indicating another sort.
"Oh, that wouldn't do at all. Everybody is wearing that!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

WHERE SHE FOUND COMFORT
At a prayer meeting held in the back woods of Rhode Island, testimonies were requested, and a very old woman tottered to her feet.
"I want ter tell this blessed company," her voice quavered, "that I have rheumatism in my back, rheumatism in my shoulders, and rheumatism in my arms, and rheumatism in my legs, but I hev ben upheld and comforted by this beautiful Bible verse, "Grim and beat it,"—Lippincott's.

NO TIME FOR FOOLERY.
A burly farmer anxiously entered a post office. "Have you got a letter for Mike Howe?" he asked.
The new postmaster looked at him sternly. "For who?" he snapped.
"Mike Howe!" repeated the farmer. "I don't understand you!" said the postmaster.
"Don't understand!" roared the farmer. "Can't you understand plain English! I asked you if you've got a letter for Mike Howe!"
"Well, I haven't," snarled the postmaster. "Neither have I got a letter for anybody else's cow. Get out! I've no time for foolery!"

NO IMMEDIATE RESULTS
Ethel, aged four, had been to visit her cousins, two fun-loving and romping boys. She had climbed upon her father's knee, and was telling him of her visit. "Papa, every night John and George say their prayers they ask God to make them good boys," said she.
"That is nice," said papa.
Then thinking soberly for a few minutes, she said: "He ain't done it yet."

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

MRS. LIZZIE PAINTER, 803 1/2 3d Ave., Evansville, Ind. For twenty years we have been constantly receiving just such letters as these. There is scarcely a locality in the United States where there is not some one who can testify to the merits of this remarkably successful Heart Remedy.

Original of "Sam Slick" Still Living

Famous Character From Which Halliburton is Said to Have Taken His Clockmaker.

Bangor, Me., June 28.—Local traditions assert that the original "Sam Slick" of Judge Halliburton's books, which were printed under the special title of "Sam Slick, the Clockmaker," about sixty years ago, is a resident of Bangor. The old man who is pointed out to strangers as "the original of Sam Slick" bears the name of Samuel Johnson Young. He has resided on his farms in West Bangor and Carmel for more than 177 years, and has been accumulating money as a farmer.

Mr. Young, who is still alert and vigorous, will be ninety years of age on July 4. He says that the "Sam Slick" over whose adventures the boys and girls of sixty years ago used to laugh and grow fat, was not intended as an exact representation of himself, but was rather a composite sketch of the brothers, of whom he was one.

ONE "BOY" WENT TO THE WAR

They set out to peddle watches and clocks in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia in 1836, and followed the business until all had accumulated fortunes, and quit the business soon after the "Tippecanoe-and-Tyler-too" political campaign.

"There were four of us who started out in the business," said Mr. Young. "I was the youngest of the lot, and perhaps, the most reckless. My brother, Harrison Young, who was next older, made considerable money from the business and used his funds to buy a hotel in Calais, where he died years ago. The next in point of age was Winthrop Young, who made money as a Boston trader, and who has been dead many years."

"The oldest and smartest of the lot was Benjamin, who was the Civil War soldier that served in the 61st Mass., having enlisted when he was only sixteen. He served two years and was taken prisoner. He made so much fun for the Confederate officers that he was exchanged and came back and served his term out. He lived to attend the great reunion of the Grand Army in Portland in 1884, where all the old soldiers cheered him as the oldest Grand Army man in the line. Later he went West and died when he was nearly one hundred years of age."

GOT RICH SELLING CLOCKS.

"All of us were born on a farm up in the town of Waterford, Vt., and as my father had thirteen children who lived to grow up, some of us had to 'swarm' early to prevent the live from overcrowding. "When it came my turn to strike out I naturally followed the peddling business of my older brothers. One day, I remember, a hotel man at Annapolis, N. S., told me that brother Ben was the first Boston drummer who had ever come to the Province. Then he added: 'I wish he was the last,' which shows how ill-informed the people were in those days, for my brother had never been in Boston."

"No doubt we were a pretty wild and wide-awake set of lads in those days. We drove through the country on our shining carts and sold clocks nearly as fast as the Connecticut factory could turn them out. "Perhaps we were rather lively at times, and we were said to quarrel, breathe more hate, and love more—and all good things are yours. —Elbert Hubbard."

GOULDTHRIFTE'S SUICIDE.

Detroit, July 3.—The body of Frank Gouldthrite, fugitive superintendent of stationery in the printing bureau at Ottawa, was found today floating in the Detroit river near Trenton, a little village a few miles south of this city. The body, which was found by a fisherman, had gashes about the throat and the man's shirt and collar were covered with blood. Gouldthrite had evidently first tried to end his life by gashing his throat and then jumped overboard from the steamer Eastern States, on which he left a note telling of his intention to commit suicide. The finding of the body is a surprise to the local police, who all along looked upon the note left on the steamer as a mere bluff. The body is being held awaiting instructions from Ottawa.

Pass Exams.

Some parents express displeasure at small children being taken from the West Side for instant, to the High School for pass examination. They say some children get nervous when put in a room with a stranger and consequently fail to work up to their average. No doubt the objection is well founded; but there is more than that. Can anyone give a good reason why a mere child should be compelled to go to a strange room for a pass examination? Is not the child's teacher the best judge of that? If she or he is not to be trusted; let the monthly examination papers be preserved; they will tell the tale without the harrowing experience of the examination in a strange room by a stranger person. It is no fun for a little tot to come home crying, "Mamma, I know I didn't pass. I was that frightened that I could not answer the questions and I forgot everything. And my heart was jumping, Mamma!" Then there are the days of horror thinking about it and carrying round the fear that he or she would miss. But these are the days of rule and square when educationists—the great est factists on earth—try to make over every pupil in the one hole, to put round pegs in square holes and square pegs in round holes. But there is more than that: Suppose that a whole school in one room or two rooms failed to pass their grades? Would they be held there until they could pass for one, two or three years and keep those who would take their places out until then? The truth is that pass examinations for those who must leave their home in order to let in those arriving at school age. A certain number in No. 2 grade must pass out to make room for those who must leave their home in order to let in those arriving at school age. A certain number in No. 2 grade must pass out to make room for those who must leave their home in order to let in those arriving at school age. SMUGGLING TALES.

Stories of the Evasion of the Officers at the Boundary.

The higher a dam is raised, increasing the quantity of water held back, the greater the liability of the water to overcome the obstruction either by sweeping it away or by cutting out for itself a new channel.

Smuggling is the leakage around the dam; and as with the water, so the greater the effort to break through, the greater the leakage around the dam; and as with the water, so the greater the effort to break through, the greater the leakage around the dam.

On one occasion an officer seized an American buggy, which no duties had been paid, at a village about ten miles distant from his office. The seizure was made in the morning by only an imaginary line indicated by iron posts, set by the roadside at points where the highways cross the boundary, there is wrapped up with the local history many smuggling tales.

Some of them may be worth spinning again just for the sake of old times—of course there is no smuggling to-day (?).

Public Trustee Managing Estates of Tramp and Millionaire.

A most interesting address was given at the Society of Arts in London recently by Mr. C. J. Stewart, the Public Trustee.

In summarizing the extraordinary responsibility to which he has already succeeded, Mr. Stewart said he is concerned already with the estates of seventy-nine already deceased persons, with 300 people still living, with 1,000 settlements affecting about 15,000 beneficiaries, and £38,000,000 worth of estates, and is in some measure responsible for the bringing of the estates being not less than £4,000.

His duties concerned the estates of testators who varied in their wills from the formula, "I bequeath to my wife £5," to the millionaire, the average value of the estates being not less than £4,000.

That the experience of the Public Trustee is not limited to one class or to the strictly academic and formal cases was shown. An applicant was asked to secure his savings for his little daughter, nine years old. He added, "I have no permanent address or occupation."

From this the range of variety mounted or fell to the "tragedy that is sometimes behind great riches," as Mr. Stewart phrased it grimly.

The Public Trustee has been invited to reconcile husband and wives. One client, seventy years of age, consulted him in connection with the will of a similar age, whom he wished to box, run, or jump for £100.

In another case a lady required the Public Trustee to look out her train for her, and when everything had been done to make her comfortable reported that "the guard was most attentive, and had a carriage for us labelled 'Ladies only.' My daughter, however, did not appear to appreciate his attention."

Who'd Be a Teacher? What is wrong with the schoolastic profession? Something, evidently. For even the British National Union of Teachers has issued a strong manifesto warning parents of the risks of their children becoming teachers.

They were twenty years ago, insufficient to provide board and education; that residential colleges cost great expense; and that a child may remain in a secondary school till sixteen and then be rejected.

In 1908, 4,384 teachers left the training colleges; three months later 1,228 were without employment, and a year later 259 were known to be unemployed. And of 4,836 students who left training colleges in July, 1,228 were still looking for work in October.

A Linguist on the Bench. Judge Bacon, of the Bloomsbury, Eng. County Court, is well qualified as a linguist to settle the disputes reaching his court from the foreign quarters of London, where he has jurisdiction. "Let a man speak the language he understands, and if we do not understand him we must interpret," said the judge the other day. Yet there is hardly a European language which he does not understand. He is a somewhat shrewd critic of interpreters, and on one occasion remarked: "I have known those who try to interpret a language they know less."

Blythe's Practical Joke. According to David Denton, the Yorkshire cricketer, who has been touring South Africa with the English team, Blythe, the Kent bowler, likes a practical joke. Previous to one match an old man came on to the ground with a bundle of nails and a hammer to tighten the matting. Charlie Blythe took him to the centre of the matting and told him to put his feet on it. The old man, who he had, did, and he had not the slightest idea but that the matting was right. Of course, they had to be moved before a start could be made.

Origin of the Word Sterling. The origin of the word "sterling" is very curious. Among the early miners of coin in northern Europe were the dwellers of eastern Germany. They were so skillful in their calling that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the metal money of the kingdom. The strangers were known as "esterlings." After a time the word became "sterling," and in this abbreviated form it has come to imply what is genuine in money, plate or character.

Where Girls Marry Quickly. On the prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta are hundreds of settlers who are eager to secure wives from the Old Country, but who, owing to the necessity of sending their farms, have been prevented from visiting the populous centres in search of marriageable girls.

To meet this requirement, the Salvation Army Emigration Department has established a marriage bureau, and Army parties are personally conducted by an officer, who, while he does not act as matchmaker, gives valuable advice on matrimonial affairs. Out of a party of fifty recently sent out to British Columbia, more than half were wedded in a little over a year. The age of the lady emigrants ranges from eighteen to forty, and they are drawn from all classes from the factory girl to the lady with a small private income.—London Answers.

Stopping Undesirables. Since the beginning of the year 1910 78 persons have been picked up at the frontier as undesirables, according to the report of the Ontario police. The provincial authorities claim that many of the lowest crimes committed are the work of just such people, who are ejected from other countries. Two of these undesirables were wanted by the United States authorities for murder and another for rape.

The letter of Harry J. Crowe to the English press, published elsewhere in this issue will be read with special interest. Mr. Crowe, who was at one time connected with the commercial life of Bridgetown, is now a prominent figure in Canada's industrial life, having large timber interests in Newfoundland for the development of which he has been instrumental in securing the aid of English capitalists.

A commercial treaty between the Great English-speaking nations, Great Britain and her colonies and the United States such as is suggested by Mr. Crowe, is a possible consummation that must appeal strongly to all broad-minded individuals of these countries, not only as a means of preserving the commerce and building up the industrial life of these nations and a wise measure of political economy, but as the initiative of a movement which must result in the predominance of the English-speaking race, an amalgamation of power that would be unassailable by a foreign nation, and thus ultimately bring about universal peace.

Possibly the scheme may appear visionary at first glance, but a study of the problems and conditions which confront the various nations will convince that the scheme outlined would prove a solution for many of them.

In the case of Great Britain there appears to be a growing sentiment toward a protective policy giving the colonies the preference. The objections of the extreme free traders would be in part overcome by extending this preference to include the United States market.

Canada and the other colonies would have the benefit of a great open market for the fast increasing products of their immense natural resources.

The United States would welcome the opportunity to get these natural products of which she is so greatly in need, and the privilege of having a preference over her rival, Germany, in the markets of Great Britain would be an additional advantage and a strong inducement.

On the other hand the aggressive nations, Germany and Japan, who have apparent designs upon the commercial, if not the political supremacy, of the world, would receive their quietest and the war-cloud that is becoming portentous would be dispelled.

Success is in the blood. There are men whom Fate can never keep down—they march jauntily forward, and take by divine right the best of everything that earth affords. But their success is not attained by the Samuel Simples policy. They do not lie in wait, nor scheme, nor fawn, nor seek to catch the breeze of popular favor. Still, they are ever alert and alive to any good that may come their way, and when it comes they simply appropriate it, and, tarrying not, move steadily on.

DANIELS—McLEOD.

The Congregational Church, Liverpool, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, June 15th, when Miss Reta Bernice McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. MacLeod, was united in marriage with Mr. Newman I. Daniels, of Paradise, Annapolis Co.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. W. Ball, a former pastor, in the presence of about four hundred people.

The bride was attended by Miss Lena Wagner, of Port Mouton. Mr. Fred Clements and Mr. Harry Dauphinee acted as ushers.

The church was prettily decorated in green and white. The Wedding March was rendered by Miss Gladys Dexter.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a large number of friends and relatives met to offer congratulations and best wishes. A dainty repast was served.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white silk, with a veil and carried a bouquet of carnations and fern. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain, and to the bridesmaid a gold brooch.

The large number of gifts received testify to the popularity of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels left on Thursday afternoon by the H. & S. W. Ry. for their future home in West Paradise, Annapolis Co.

The bride's travelling costume was of smoke grey serge, with large black hat.—Liverpool Advance.

SLOCUMB—SANFORD

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Marshall of Arlington Wednesday evening, June 23rd was prettily decorated it being the occasion of the wedding of their daughter, Bessie Maude to Mr. Jacob Slocumb, of Hanley Mt. The bride looked charming dressed in white and carrying a shower bouquet of snowballs. Promptly at five o'clock the bride entered the room leaning on the arm of the groom, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Jos. Marshall.

The happy couple stood under a pretty arch of green leaves and wild flowers. They were united in wedlock by Rev. Walter Smith, of Port Lorne the ring ceremony being used. They received many gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Slocumb will reside at Hanley Mt.

Upper Granville

Mr. Edmund Clarke returned recently from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Fenwick Balcorn. Barring failing sight this aged gentleman retains much vigor of mind and body.

Mr. Wm. Clarke presented the writer with a box of strawberries, twenty-three in number, weighing one pound and seven ounces, measuring in a line one foot. Can any of our strawberry growers beat this?

Mr. McLellan and son of Brookfield, Queens county, drove from that place early in the month, and are guests of the home of Mr. and Max Newcombe, where they are enjoying the rural scenery of Burrie farm, and pleasant drives to different points in the valley.

Mrs. E. P. Fellows accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Edwin Dodge, leaves for Truro and other places in Colchester, Pictou Co. today, where they purpose sojourning for several weeks.

Miss Bessie Troop, of Granville Centre, has been engaged as teacher in Chesley Section for the coming year.

Misses Clara Parker, Winnie and Edith Troop and Vernon Parker were among the candidates writing for Provincial grades.

Farmers are making hay when the sun shines.

When we are faithless, the judgment is as unreliable as the compass of a ship whose hold is full of iron ore; when we hate, we have unshipped the rudder; and if we stop to meditate on what the seeps say, we have allowed a hammer to befool the screw.

A BRAVE WOMAN

Boston, July 5.—During a fire today, Mrs. Sarah Pomer, twice crossed a narrow plank, four stories above the ground, carrying to safety Mrs. Solomon Rosenberg and her four days old baby. Four small children who also were in the house followed the directions of Mrs. Pomer and escaped. Children playing with matches were responsible for the fire. The damage was not heavy.

FAVORING WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

After a debate lasting for nearly five hours, the National Council of Women, recently passed a resolution favoring the enfranchisement of women by a vote of 71 to 51. The debate was opened at the morning session when it was discussed for two hours. It was resumed when the Council met at night, and the final vote was not taken until after eleven o'clock. The resolution dealing with the question was as follows:—

Moved on behalf of the Canadian Suffrage Association, seconded on behalf of the Medical Alliance of Toronto University, Resolved, That the National Council of Women of Canada do hereby place itself on record in favor of the enfranchisement of women.

Some Nova Scotians Abroad

(From the Lynn Item)

Roy Snow Brooks, a well known young man of Glenora, has gone to Hampton, Annapolis county, Nova Scotia, where he will engage in the grocery business with his father, Lloyd D. Brooks, as junior partner. Mr. Brooks is a recent graduate of Burnett Business college, and has held responsible positions with Felton H. Stone of Chigonville, and the J. B. Blood Co. He is also a prominent worker in the Order of the Sons of Temperance.

Miss Minnie Dent, of 114 Bowler street, is visiting friends at Haverhill, Mass.

Miss Effie Dent is one of a party of young ladies from Haverhill, Mass. who are spending a few days in camp at Canobie lake, N. H.

George Foster, started Sunday, for a three weeks trip to Nova Scotia, where he will visit his sister, Mrs. Laurie Eisenhaur, at New Germany, Lunenburg county, and Hampton beach, Annapolis county.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dixon are spending their annual vacation in the Pine Tree State.

How is Your Thyroid Gland?

Serious Disorders and Even Insanity May Come from Neglect of Important Organ.

A London despatch says—"Should your mind be sluggish, accompanied with that sort of can't-be-bothered, rather-do-an-anything-than-do-an-anything feeling which assails one at times; should you feel started in body and spirit, you often attribute it to disordered liver, and treat yourself accordingly, not always, perhaps, with satisfactory results. Now it has been discovered by a Harley street specialist—that Harley street, London, is of course the street in the West End where most of the fashionable physicians and surgeons reside—that the real offender is not the liver, but the thyroid gland, situated in the neck, a very important organ, the improper treatment of which, according to what he says, may result in very serious disorders, insanity even lying that way.

"Inefficient action of the thyroid gland," says he of Harley street, "produces a disease in which the mental faculties become slow. Thought is slow, the person gets fat, owing to the subcutaneous tissues becoming watery; the hands become spade-like and the skin takes on a distinct yellow tinge. On the other hand, over-activity of the thyroid gland will create a tendency to acuteness of the mental process, nervous excitability palpitation of the heart, thinness of body and hypersensitiveness."

Of the awful results which may follow improper treatment for this ailment he has something to say by way of warning. "Administered to the patient under his physician's directions," he says, "capsules containing extract of the thyroid glands of sheep will be useful, but awful trouble has come from taking it improperly. I know one poor girl who did so to reduce her obesity and as a result she is now in a lunatic asylum and likely to remain there. Over stimulation of the thyroid gland acts on the brain very disastrously. If a person insists on taking it the result is acute mania and small doses will give rise to fever and heart palpitation. It must be given under the best medical supervision.

"Any one whose thyroid gland is not acting properly should live, if possible, at the seaside. Sea bathing is good, because some of the water is swallowed. The thyroid gland contains iodine, and sea water is full of iodides."

Obituary.

MURIEL JOY LLOYD.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lloyd and family have the heartfelt sympathy of their widely extended circle of friends in the death, after a brief illness, of their second daughter, Muriel Joy, (Rill), Though never of robust health she showed no symptoms of being a victim of tuberculosis until a few short weeks ago, following an attack of la grippe. Her naturally delicate constitution quickly succumbed to the dread destroyer. The shock of her brief illness and death is keenly felt by many outside of the family circle, especially among her youthful associates to whom her sweet and charming personality had greatly endeared her. The funeral is to be this afternoon at three o'clock. A pathetic coincidence in connection with her death was that a few hours before her spirit had given its flight, a little daughter was born to her sister, Lee, Mrs. Alfred O. Morse, of Boston, who named the little one Muriel Joy, and was unaware of the fatal illness of her favorite sister.

Cooling Summer Drinks

Among the cooling summer drinks lemonade is always popular, besides being so easily made. As a change, the addition of pineapple or some other fruit flavor may be made. For pineapple lemonade, empty the can of pineapple into a large bowl, and cut the slices into small pieces. Add the juice of half a dozen lemons, sugar to taste, and pour over a quart of boiling water. Let cool, then strain into a sealer and set in the ice box. Add sufficient cold water when serving. Mint, which grows in many parts of the country, is a refreshing addition to the lemonade. Take the fresh mint, pick off and wash the leaves, and pour over a quart of boiling water. When cold, strain, and add large lemons and sugar to sweeten, sprinkle over with the juice of two put a handful of them in a bowl, more cold water is liked.

A powder for a cooling home-made drink, convenient to have on hand in the country when one cannot afford to procure lemons, is made as follows: Drop thirty or forty drops of essence of lemon over a half pound powdered sugar, and let it dry out. Then mix with a quarter of a pound of tartaric acid in powder and a couple of ounces of bicarbonate of soda. Sift through a fine hair sieve and keep in a glass bottle tightly corked. To serve, put a small quantity in a tumbler and fill up with cold water.

Barley water is both refreshing and nourishing. Wash quarter of a pound of barley, put it in a saucepan, and let it simmer for two hours. Strain off the liquid, add enough lemon juice to give it a flavor, sweeten slightly, and set it away to get cold.

Outmeal water has the same nutritive and cooling qualities. Remove the rind from three lemons, cut the lemons in thin slices, and put into a large jug. Add quarter of a pound of coarse oatmeal and the same weight water, stir till the sugar is dissolved leave to get cool, then strain. Serve with more cold water added if desired.

The first pastor was Rev. Willard G. Parker. He began his pastorate in Oct. 1873 and served the church faithfully until 1876. Previous to Mr. Parker's settlement an effort was made to organize a Sunday School but it was not until some months later the present Sunday School was organized with brother J. A. Brown as superintendent in which office he served for twenty years. He was succeeded by Brother W. B. McKeown. He was followed in that office by the late lamented W. E. Palfrey, shortly after whose death our present superintendent S. E. Bancroft entered upon the responsible duties of the office. All these brethren served with marked faithfulness and it is gratifying to find the Sunday School in a healthful and prosperous condition to-day. We trust our present efficient superintendent may be long spared to lead this important department of our work.

J. HARRY HICKS

The Open Air Medicine, Sleeping Out of Doors

(From the New York Sun.)
"That was all very well, but when bedtime came it seemed so cruel to leave the child out there alone that I moved out a cot for myself. Of course, my husband objected, saying the child was perfectly safe, but if anybody had to stay with him, it should be the nurse. As I was not to be changed, he let me try it, prophesying one night would be all for both me and the child."
"I am sure it had been twenty years since I had slept through a night without waking. Even as a young girl I had suffered from insomnia and the boy had inherited it from me, at least that is what we all thought. The next morning when I awoke I realized I had slept the whole night through and the child was still sound asleep."
"There was a tinge of color in his cheeks and lips, a thing that hadn't been there for two years. I called my husband out to look at him and was informed that he had spent the greater part of the night going back and forth to see how we both were standing the experiment and had always found us both fast asleep."
"Within another week I felt like another person and the improvement in the boy was even more marked. Then the other children began to beg to be allowed to bring their beds out. One by one they came, until all three were sleeping on the porch, when my husband gave in and one evening he came home saying he had ordered another cot and would sleep on the porch to see what the charm was."
"He is there still, we all are, and I never bear the slightest reference to anybody's wanting to go in. All of the indoor bedrooms are just as they were when we moved out on the porch and occasionally we use them when there is a severe heating rainstorm, though my husband asserts that he is sure it wouldn't hurt any of us to stay out and get a little damp air. However, he comes in when I think it best to set an example for the children, because none of them are quite willing to obey when it comes to sleeping in the stuffy air of indoors."

TENTING ON THE ROOF
Another woman, who before her marriage was a trained nurse, explained the reason for moving her family into tents on the roof of their home as a precaution against an inherited tendency to tuberculosis. "My husband's health had never been strong," she said. "Indeed he was so delicate that my friends remonstrated with me when they learned of our engagement. All of his life my husband had been going south at the first suggestion of cold weather and remaining there until it was warm again. We talked the matter over before our marriage and decided that we would spend the first year camping in the West."
"To make things more comfortable we bought a small, portable house. It was second-hand, and we paid only $50 for it, though originally it had cost five times that much."
"We lived in that house for thirteen months, having it moved from place to place as the weather and our desire to see other localities prompted it. When we returned here, and within a few weeks I noticed that my husband was losing both strength and color."
"Now it wasn't because it had been cold, for we hadn't had a single cold day or night. The doctor and I talked it over, and I was decided to try sleeping out of doors."
"For the first few weeks he used a hammock couch, one of the kind that swings between its own stakes and had an awning over it. He began to pick up at once and was looking so well and feeling so strong that he suggested that it might be well to let the baby sleep outdoors to insure it against tuberculosis."
"The baby was at the time just three days old. When it was three weeks old, I took his suggestion, and of course, went with the baby. We occupied a second hammock couch, but soon finding it too narrow, my husband planned and built a tent, 12 x 10 feet on the roof, and had two single beds with a crib for the baby moved under it."
"As the winter came on the question of going South came up, and much against our inclination we decided to go. With a nurse and baby we thought it would be impracticable to live in a portable house, and we went to a hotel. It was only a few days before my husband began to look peaked, and he admitted that he found our sleeping room, though there were large windows, not so pleasant as our tent on the roof."
PINE FOR THE BABY.
"The baby also was restless at night, and even I, who hardly knew what nerves were, began to feel jumpy and find it hard to get to sleep at night. We moved from one hotel to another, but conditions didn't improve. When we returned north in May all of us were in a worse condition than when we left. Once at home we went back to the tent on the roof and soon there was a noticeable improvement."

"The next autumn being still a afraid of having my husband risk a winter in the north, we went south and rented a house with a rear porch. On the roof of this rear porch we set up our sleeping tent and spent a delightful winter. Four years from the time I had married him my husband had become so strong and well that even his best friends say they hardly recognized him."
"Two winters ago we remained north and enjoyed it. Now my husband is in business and my children at school and we never think of going to a milder climate for the cold months. Instead we add more blankets to the beds on our roof."
"My husband and children use sleeping bags, but I have found a muslin nightgown and a light wool kimono all that is necessary. We all use knitted woolen hoods with capes coming well down over the shoulders. Every night about half an hour before bedtime a copper vessel filled with hot water is slipped into each bed between the sheets to have them good and warm when we get in. These copper vessels are long and about the shape of a flat-sided bottle. They hold about a gallon of water and remain warm all night."
VACATION ALL THE TIME.
A young college woman just beginning to work in her profession as a landscape architect was the next to give her experience.
"My sleeping out of doors began in a girls' camp in the second year of my college life," she said. "I had a hard cold that winter and the doctor advised my parents to let me go into camp for my vacation instead of going home and attending the parties and picnics I had been looking forward to."
"I didn't like it a bit and must admit that my mother had some difficulty in getting me to obey. Before that vacation ended, however, I had promised myself never again if I could help it would sleep in a house during the summer. From the very first night in that camp tent I slept every night and all night. In the morning I would get up feeling as if

THE FORMULA OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Is On The Outside Of Every Box For All The World To See

Every user of "Fruit-a-tives" knows exactly what is being taken. The formula of this famous fruit medicine is printed plainly on the outside of every box. We have stated many times—and now state clearly—that "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, with valuable heart and nerve tonics and antiseptics.
Everyone knows that fruit juice is healthful—but perhaps some do not understand why this is true.
Fruit juice consists of about 91% water, 8% of sweet principle, and 1% of a bitter substance. It is the quantity of bitter principle in fruit that gives the fruit value as a medicine. An eminent physician of Ottawa, after years of experimenting, found a method of increasing the bitter principle in fruit juice, thus increasing the medicinal or curative qualities.
The juices are first extracted from fresh, ripe oranges, apples, figs and prunes. By a secret process, some of the sweet atoms are replaced by the bitter principle. Then tonics and antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets, now known far and wide as "Fruit-a-tives."
"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that has been made of fruit juices, and is one of the few remedies that have their composition be known from their introduction to the public.
"Fruit-a-tives" is nature's stimulant for the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. In cases of obstinate Constipation, Liver Trouble, Indigestion, Backache, Rheumatism, Headaches and Impure Blood, this wonderful fruit medicine cures when everything else fails.
"Fruit-a-tives" is sold everywhere at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

I had been made over new during the night.
"All other vacations they had hard work persuading me to come home until my father built a tent on the top of our back porch. While not, so good as sleeping near the ground it was a good substitute and I got so used to sleeping there in the summer that I was loth to give it up when the cold weather came."
"Now that I have launched out for myself I have a tent on the porch of the little cottage that a friend and I have taken in the suburb. As soon as the weather becomes sufficiently settled, which is generally around the latter part of May or the first week in June, I have my tent put up and move into it for the season."
"I am sure I couldn't do half as much work if I attempted to sleep in the house. As it is I am up every day soon after the sun, feeling fresh and fit. I didn't take a holiday last summer and I don't expect to take one this year."—New York Sun.

WANTED HIS SHARE OF CREDIT.
A Highlander fell into a river and after desperate efforts managed to reach the bank in safety. His wife, who had been a distressed onlooker, exclaimed as soon as her anxiety was relieved: "Ah, Donald, ye should be yerra thankful tae Providence for saving your life."
Donald was somewhat aggrieved at what he deemed an unequal apportionment of the credit. "Yes, yes," he replied. "Providence was yerra good, but I was yerra clever, too, whatever."

THREE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Kingston, N. Y., June 25.—While playing with matches in a barn, three little children were burned to death last night in Saugerties, N. Y. They are Jack and Richard Doyle, aged three and five years respectively, sons of John Doyle, and Harry Abel, the four-year-old son of Harry Abel. The children were playing in the hay mow of the Abel barn when one of them dropped a lighted match into the chaff on the lower floor. The flames spread so rapidly that the children were trapped. Members of the Abel family did not know the children were in the barn until they opened the doors and heard the children's cries for help. No aid could be given.

SERIOUS DEPLETION IN FUNDS

HARD TIMES HARD ON THE POOR CONSUMPTIVE

Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives Makes an Urgent Appeal FOR MONEY.

$38,000 Required to Cover Bank Overdraft and Provide for Maintenance of Poor Patients.

These head-lines tell the story of our needs.

They are heavy and urgent.

Many times during the past twelve months the question has pressed itself upon the Trustees, "Can we continue the work further?"

Every month brought its quota of accounts for salaries and wages of staff, bills of butcher, milkman, eggs, groceries, heavy coal bills—a serious item—and other uncontrollable expenses so long as the doors were kept open.

These had to be paid somehow. Contributions—especially after the turn of the year when the financial depression was felt at its keenest—fell off to such an extent, that each month the burden became heavier.

During all this period there was only one thing to do, and that was to lean on our banker—swelling the bank overdraft.

The trial was the severest in the history of these Muskoka Homes, in which nearly 3,000 persons, stricken by the dread white plague, have been cared for.

Stack Life at Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives.

But never for a single hour did the doors of the Free Hospital fail to swing open, and give a welcome to suffering ones without money and without price.

The good news has gone forth of a rich harvest the wide Dominion over.

Friends, we come to you at this time, when the clouds of depression are being lifted, asking that you now—in the direness of our extremity—help to lift the burden being carried—not for any personal gain, but solely, alone, only on behalf of suffering sisters and brothers.

Our plea is on behalf of the sick ones.

What will you give? Do not say nay. Help generously. Help all you can. Help some.

Contributions may be sent to W. J. GAGS, Esq., Chairman Executive Committee, 84 Spadina Avenue, Toronto; or J. S. ROBERTSON, Sec.-Treasurer National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street West, Toronto, Canada.

Gold Reef Twenty Miles in Length

A Seattle despatch says:—One of the greatest mining sensations in the history of the province is furnished by the confirmation of the great gold strike almost at the doors of Stewart City, brought by passengers on the Comox, which reached Vancouver Wednesday of last week.

The stories of the richness and extent of the discovery and the stampede at Stewart and Prince Rupert were quickly circulated about the city. As a result a great rush northward to British Columbia's latest Eldorado is anticipated. The Portland Canal Miners extra, under date of June 10, says:

"A mammoth gold reef, unknown in extent but traced for almost twenty miles, lies at Stewart's door and according to mining men who, following news of the discovery, rushed to the location, it is the greatest free milling reef ever discovered in the north and perhaps in the world. Although Portland canal district is now full of prospectors this greatest mineral belt of all lay undiscovered. It is very easy to reach and in consequence hundreds of men are now trekking toward it and it is stated there will be room for all to locate for the great white reef can be seen for miles as far as the eye can reach.

"It is purely a free milling proposition and the first rock of the kind in any considerable quantity that has been found here. News of the discovery was brought down to the camp Thursday by C. M. Deigrove and Louis Anderson, who have been on the reef several weeks prospecting. They kept closed mouths until Clotier and Ritchie returned assays of $40, an average for 3,000 feet, and $8, an average for five claims. As a result of the news the entire prospecting fraternity is now headed for the south fork of Bitter Creek, about thirteen miles inland from Stewart.

"Deigrove and his partner followed the creek for miles and found excellent float all along which had broken off from the reef towering 2000 feet above them. Retracing their steps they followed the reef back to the moonlight group, through which it passes, on over the Roosevelt group, and could still see the same general formation on toward Mount Gladstone. The discoveries are certain they have found the reef from which the streams herabouts obtain their gold and which have for ages been supplying gold to the famous Unak river and the Alaskan creeks.

"It is the greatest thing I have ever seen, and I have prospected in many localities," stated Deigrove. "It is almost unbelievable. A thousand stamps could be worked for a hundred years on the ground we traversed and scarcely mark the reef, for it is many miles in extent and in places not more than 200 feet high as I judge.

"It is more than a mountain of ore—an entire range of it in fact. Great prephy dikes extend through the reef and between them lies the ore, in places thirty to one thousand feet wide. It is my opinion the reef will eventually be traced on down the canal and it will prove the greatest mineral discovery ever made."

WOMAN'S EXECUTIVE ABILITY.

John Stuart Mill once said: "It is my belief that, in all those parts of the business of life which depend on the vigilant superintendence and accurate estimation of details, women have the necessary special knowledge, are better administrators than men. And I am now speaking, not of women as they might be—not as some improved mode of education would make them—but of women as they now are, and of the capacities which they have already displayed." Having instanced the Sanitary Commission in the great American war, he added: "From the beginning and through it was women's work. It was planned, organized, and worked by women. The government was jealous of them at first, but the hopeless inferiority of its own arrangements made it soon glad to make over the first place to them. Not only had such work never been so well done, but nobody had ever supposed it possible that it could be done so well."

Mark Twain's Tribute to His Wife

Mr. Twain has thus spoken of her in his autobiography: "I saw her first in the form of an ivory miniature in her brother Charley's state-room, in the steamer 'Quincy City,' in the Bay of Symrna, in the summer of 1857, when she was in her twenty-second year. I saw her in the flesh for the first time in New York in the following December. She was slender and beautiful and girlish and she was both girl and woman. She remained both girl and woman to the last of her life.

"Under a grave and gentle exterior burned unextinguishable fires of sympathy, energy, devotion, enthusiasm and absolutely limitless affection. She was always frail in body and she lived upon the spirits, whose hopefulness and courage were indestructible. Perfect truth, perfect honesty, perfect candor were qualities of her character which were born with her. Her judgment of people and things were sure and accurate. Her intuitions almost never deceived her. In her judgements of the characters and acts of both friends and strangers there was always room for charity and this charity was never false.

"I have compared and contrasted her with hundreds of persons, and my conviction remains that hers was the most perfect character I have ever met. And I may add that she was the most winningly dignified person I have ever known. Her character and disposition were of the sort that not only invites worship, but commands it. She was always cheerful; and she was always able to communicate her cheerfulness to others.

"During the many years that we spent in poverty and debt, she was always able to reason me out of my despair, and find a bright side to the clouds, and make me see it. In all that time I never knew her to utter a word of regret concerning our altered circumstances, nor did I know her children to do the like. For she taught them and they drew their fortitude from her. The love which she bestowed upon those whom she loved took the form of worship, and in that form it was returned—returned by relatives, friends and the servants of her household. It was a strange combination, so to speak, by marriage—her disposition and character and mine.

"She poured out her prodigal affections in kisses and caresses, and in a vocabulary of endearments whose profusion was always an astonishment to me.

"I was born reserved as to endearments of speech and caresses, and hers broke upon me as the summer waves break upon Gibraltar. I was reared in an atmosphere of reserve. I never knew a member of my father's family to kiss another member of it except in ones, and that was at a death-bed. And our village was not a kissing community. The kissing and caressing ended with courtship.

"She had the heart-free laugh of a girl. It came seldom, but when it broke upon me it was as inspiring as music. I heard it for the last time when she had been occupying her sick bed for more than a year, and I made a written note of it at the time—a note not to be repeated."

BE READY TO DO BETTER

Today the chance may not come, nor tomorrow. It may be delayed for years. So much the better, for so much better equipped you will be when it does come. The man who mastered the transcontinental railroads in America was fifty years old before the chance came that he had so long waited for.

When it did come, he knew about railroads down to the minutest detail. The result proved that his waiting years had been spent profitably. He became the greatest railroad man that America had ever seen.

It is well enough for any man to await opportunity, but let him not await it sitting down. To a few come inherited fortunes; to none comes inherited success. Trust the opportunity. It will arrive in due time, and it will be followed by another, and another, and still another.

But unless you are ready to take advantage of it it will prove about as useful to you as the comet which will soon be swinging past the earth, or the cloud shadows which fly across the fields on a pleasant spring day.—New York American.

When you have a moment to spare from the round of duties, mentally and physically, let every muscle rest and the mind become as near blank as possible. The majority of women do not know how to relax. They keep their muscles at tension all the time and minds at the very point continually, when the spare moment comes instead of relaxing, which would mean a real rest, the average woman will twist her fingers or wriggle her feet. When she sits in a chair, she holds tight to the arms. A little practice will bring control of muscles and ability to profit by the slight opportunities for complete rest.

A FORTUNE IN IT
If you could place an ad in the Moon millions of people would read it. Even then it would only be valuable a few nights each month, whereas a Want Ad in this paper while more limited in its scope will cover this particular locality every day in the year.

Imported Hair

The health authorities of Chicago have a new problem to face. Lately a number of cases of leprosy have broken out in that city in the most unexpected quarters. For some time the health officials were completely baffled with regard to the origin of the disease but the mystery has at last been solved.

China is a land of lepers. Investigation showed that the great bulk of hair used for "rats," "puffs," "rolls" etc., came from the celestial Empire, where pig tails are gradually going out of fashion. An enterprising American syndicate has been making a corner of pig tails and find a ready market for this peculiar line of goods in the United States and Canada. As a result of the barbaric fashion that now prevails among the fair sex, countless numbers of the "smart set" are wearing in their hair the abandoned queues of leprosy Chinamen.

Ten cases of this malignant and loathsome disease have been discovered in Chicago during the past month and in each instance the medical officers attribute the cause to "rats." Our gentle sisters as they stand before their mirrors twisting and dis torting their "crown of glory" into all imaginable shapes by the artificial aid of rats, rolls, puffs, or whatever you call them, can doubtless find comfort in the fact that at one time those "first aid to the wounded" adorned the head of some leprosy native of Hong Kong or Canton. It must be a comforting thought.—Ex.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and ten castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by all dealers.

Good health! When you go out of doors, draw the chin in, carry the crown of the head high, and fill the lungs to the utmost; greet your friends with a smile, and put soul in every hand-clasp.

Do not fear being misunderstood; and never waste a minute thinking about your enemies.

Try to fix firmly in your own mind what you would like to do, and then without violence of direction you will move straight to the goal.

Fear is the rock which we split, and hate is the shoal on which many a bark is stranded.

A NEW PIGMY RACE DISCOVERED IN NEW GUINEA.

London, June 23.—The greatest interest has been aroused in scientific circles by the discovery of the expedition of the British Ornithologists' Union of a new pigmy race in New Guinea. The news came by telegraph from Townsville, Queensland, having been transmitted to that place by a Dutch steamer from New Guinea.

The intelligence was conveyed in a communication despatched in April by Mr. Walter Goodfellow, the noted Ornithologist, who is in charge of the British expedition.

Mrs. Bertha Morse, of Salem, Mass arrived here on Saturday last to spend her vacation with her mother, Mrs. Douglas Berry, at their summer cottage. Rev. Porter Shirley, the newly arrived Methodist minister, preached his first sermon at the Methodist church here on Sunday afternoon last to an appreciative congregation. The discourse was able, logical, and practicable. A very interesting and profitable meeting in connection with the Sunday schools here was held in the Methodist church on Friday evening last. The meeting was ably addressed by Miss Annie Young, County Secretary, who recently attended the sixth World's Sunday-School Convention, which convened at Washington, D. C., and other Sunday school workers. We are very sorry indeed to have to chronicle the death of Mrs. Reginald Burrell, which occurred on Sunday last about 11 o'clock a.m. The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. Burrell in his sad bereavement. Mr. Joseph Hamm, who lately sold his farm to Waldee West, has moved here with his family, and will reside here permanently in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Leander Miller, of Esigtown, were the guests of Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Miller's mother, recently. A number of gentlemen from the village visited Port Wade one day last week by boat and report great improvements made there of late. W. V. From spent a few days last week at Digby on business. Capt. Herbert Hawking and wife arrived here lately to spend the summer. They are the guests of Mr. Jacob Durling. Quite a number of Americans are now in the village and more are looked for in the near future. Our vessels are making rather lengthy trips owing, no doubt, to calm foggy weather that we have had lately. Our farmers are about commencing haying. The hay crop, we are glad to state, in this vicinity, is far above the average.

Port Lorne

Stevenson. Probably many persons have asked themselves what is the safest place in a thunderstorm? T. P.'s Weekly supplies some answers. As a rule the safest place of all is inside a building which is provided with a perfect lightning conductor. The conductor, however, must have no defects. If it be broken, or have a faulty earth connection, it is then a source of grave danger. In an ordinary dwelling house, unguarded as it usually is against lightning, a safe place is the middle of the largest room, where one is away from the walls, or a still safer precaution is to lie on an iron bed drawn out from contact with the wall.

Clarence Centre

Miss Ward, of Worcester, Mass., is spending the summer with her brother, F. W. Ward. Little Grace Poole is spending a few weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Sprowl. We are sorry to learn that little Pearl Sprowl is quite ill in New Brunswick, where she and her mother, Mrs. Everett Sprowl, went a few weeks ago to visit relatives. Mrs. Roach, widow of the late Howard Roach of St. John, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ward. Mrs. Clara Palmer is spending a few weeks with relatives at Brooklyn, Middleton, and Germany. Mrs. C. S. Balcom, after several months absence, is spending a few days with friends in this place. Mrs. Florence Muir, who has been visiting friends at Lawrencetown is now the guest of her sister, Mrs. Freeman Pritch.

BRITISH TEAM WON EMPIRE CUP.

Bisley, England, July 4—Great Britain won the Empire Challenge Trophy at the National Rifle Association on Saturday. The final scores were as follows: Great Britain, 2,177 out of a possible 2,400; Canada, 2,105; Australia, 2,044; India, 1,978; and Singapore, 1,972.

Smith Cove

Word has been received of the marriage of Right Rev. Bishop Jagger, who owns a beautiful summer residence here. His Lordship spent several weeks here early in the season, and left for the United States about a month ago. The news of the wedding was received shortly after his departure. Captain Robert Austin is home from Little River for a short visit. He is doing his usual good work in his factory at Little River. Mr. Spurgeon Weir is building a cosy cottage in his shore field. The situation is delightful. The beach nearby is one of the best on the Basin, and there is an abundance of good water. This cottage will probably be rented to summer visitors, and it should prove very popular. Mr. John McEure is in receipt of news from his son, Frank, City ticket agent at Winnipeg for the Canadian Northern, that his new position is a good fit financially and every other way. Last month his commission over and above his salary amounted to one hundred dollars. His straight salary is $150 per month. Miss Hattie Chisholm is home from Regina to spend her vacation. She is teaching school there and likes it well. Mrs. G. H. Raymond has arrived from New York to spend the summer on her farm here. The hotels and boarding houses are beginning to fill with tourists. The banner month is August. Every place will be full then. The quarterly business meeting of the Baptist denomination was held last Tuesday evening. The business conducted was entirely of a routine nature. Rev. Mr. Dykeman has arrived from Boston to spend July and August in his cabin here. He says he has traveled a good deal and finds this the prettiest spot on earth. Mrs. John Smith has purchased a fine new boat for her son Oakley. Mrs. Buchner has come from Boston for the summer. She brought a lot of furniture with her for her cottage. Her husband will arrive later on. Ralph Connell, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Connell, who are summering at Harbor View, has had a serious time with croup. At one time his life was despaired of. Dr. G. A. B. Addy, the family physician, was called from St. John in consultation. Ralph is now on the mend and will recover. The Methodist ministers in this and adjoining circuits are busy moving. Rev. Mr. Daniels, the new pastor in this circuit delivered his inaugural sermon to an appreciative congregation last Sunday and made a good impression. New potatoes and green peas were offered for sale July 4th. Potatoes brought thirty cents and peas twenty cents a peck. Mrs. Spurgeon Weir was at home to her friends on the 5th instant. It was her birthday and the festivities were much enjoyed. Mrs. Weir was the recipient of hearty congratulations and of sincere wishes for many happy returns of the day. Mrs. George Weir entertained at luncheon on the 6th instant. Fortune telling from the tea cups was one of the features of the day, and of course the ladies were much interested in their future. The forteller of the events that are to happen in the future apparently gave satisfaction in each case, for her predictions always met with hearty approval. Two gentlemen were telling a day or two ago. One was inclined to borrow trouble. "It is time enough to shake hands with the devil when you meet him," said his friend, whereupon the gloomy one smiled, extended his hand and said "shake". Mrs. Fannie Winchester is here from Boston for a vacation. She is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. O. Morgan. Mrs. Eugene Welchard's family has arrived from Boston to spend the summer in their old home. The Baptist prayer meeting last Thursday night was led by Rev. Mr. Dykeman, who is a pulpit man of weight and conviction. He draws vivid pictures of both places and starts his congregation thinking seriously whether they want to or not. Miss Hattie Weir has gone into the ice cream business. Judging from the patronage, her business has been profitable from the start.
