CANADA'S SHARE FORTY MILLIONS

Sir Thomas Tait Says She Should Give This Sum Annually.

FOR IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Australia's Naval Contribution of Doubtful Value in Time of Peril.

If the dominions did their share in the defence of the empire, the contribution of Canada to the up-keep of the British navy would be $40,000,000, and the contribution of Australia would be $10,000,000 per annum. This is based on the estimate that the British taxpayer pays 75 cents per capita for the navy.

Had Marked Effect. These words produced a marked effect on the large audience present. Thomas said he took it as a set-back, regardless of race, ancestry, religion, or politics, desired the maintenance of the empire. To such the ideal of the supremacy of the imperial forces against any combination of forces that might be brought against the British Empire.

duty and interest of all parts of the empire was to place it in that supreme position on the seas, and to do it as quickly as possible. Time was the important factor in this event.

One-Quarter Empire's Area. Sir Thomas gave an illuminating description of Australia, the island continent that embraced a quarter of the area of the empire. The climate was warm, and, in the north, tropical. The problem was what to do in this northern part, where white people could not live, and the country was a temptation to the settlement of black and yellow men.

The population of Australia had a greater proportion of men than women, and yet, perhaps, because of that, the franchise was possessed, not by men alone, but by all adults—one adult, one vote. Women were found better able to exercise the franchise than men when they got it. The chief export of the country was wool, of which $150,000,000 worth was sent out in ten years. Australia grew 100,000,000 bushels of wheat a year. Butter was largely exported, and the government had taken such pains with its quality that merchants who bought Australian butter in England knew what they were getting. The total trade of Australia was $690,000,000, against a total trade of $890,000,000 of Canada. Australia had a little over half the population of Canada, but her trade was three-quarters of Canada's trade. Her exports were $150 per capita against Canada's exports of $120 per capita.

Commonwealth Free of Debt. The commonwealth was free of debt, but the states were burdened with debts of $1,350,000,000, or $200 per capita. This was expended chiefly on railways and telegraphs, but the revenue from the state public works was sufficient to pay the interest on the debt. The rate per passenger was about the same as in Canada, except on the suburban services of the cities, where it was cheaper. Freight charges were higher, but the haul was shorter than in Canada. Australia was building two great transcontinental railways.

Sir Thomas described the social legislation of Australia. They had the eight-hour day and a minimum wage. Compulsory arbitration of strikes was not a success. A feature was an allowance of $5 to mothers for each child.

STRANGE STORY OF SHOOTING AFFRAY

Father of Man Accused of Murder Said Victim Attacked Him.

STE. SCHOLASTIQUE, Que., Feb. 23.—A story of having been shot in the leg and beaten as he lay helpless was told on the witness stand in the McGibbon murder trial here today by Peter James McGibbon, father of the accused Leonard McGibbon. Many of the statements of the witness, in explanation of the events of the tragic afternoon when his son, it is alleged, killed his nephew, were received with incredulous utterings. The prisoner sat dejectedly at the bar, and all the time his father was on the stand never raised his head. Witness said he did not see the fatal shot fired, but he distinctly saw the victim aiming a second shot at himself while he lay on his back. He denied assaulting his niece, Elizabeth McGibbon, sister of the victim. In cross-examination he admitted that the accused walked around his prostrate form toward his cousin, who was later shot.

TRAIN GOES THRU BRIDGE AND PLUNGES INTO CREEK

KEOKUK, Iowa, Feb. 23.—Passenger train No. 48, on the Keokuk and Western branch of the Burlington railroad, went thru a bridge over Little Creek, at Argelsa, Mo., today. Two engines, a baggage car, coach and mail car made up the train. All but the head engine went into the creek. Two trainmen were seriously hurt. There were about a hundred passengers on the train but none were dangerously injured.

KILLED NIGHT CASHIER FAILED TO OPEN SAFE

CORNING, N.Y., Feb. 23.—Harry Edwards, a night cashier of an express company here, was shot and instantly killed early today by David Dunn, a burglar. Dunn, who is only 19 years old, was captured and confessed the crime. He is a former employe of the company, and had been given permission to sleep in the office last night. In a struggle with Edwards he drew a revolver and shot the agent thru the heart. After assuring himself that Edwards was dead Dunn made two unsuccessful attempts to open the safe and get a shipment of $10,000 in currency which had arrived during the night and was to have gone west today. Finding he could not open the safe Dunn escaped, leaving a trail of bloody footprints in the snow. A bloodhound was put on the scent but lost the trail. Officers who went to question Dunn as a possible suspect found his shoes covered with blood and a revolver and bloodstained clothing in the mattress of his bed. Dunn then confessed and was locked up.

REFUSED TO POSTPONE TRIAL OF KRAFCHENKO

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23.—An application for the postponement of John Krafchenko's trial was made before Chief Justice Mathers this morning by J. D. Safford and was refused. The trial will go on at Morton on March 10. During the lengthy argument by Mr. Safford and Crown Attorney W. H. Hastings, the latter made the important statement that two new persons had been found who were eye-witnesses of the shooting of H. M. Arnold, manager of the Plum Coulee branch of the Bank of Montreal. In addition to the fifty-three witnesses who had given evidence at the preliminary hearing six others will be called by the crown.

REFUSE POLICE PROBE

EDMONTON, Feb. 23.—Edmonton City Council rejected a petition of 3000 property owners, asking for a judicial investigation into charges made against ex-Police Chief Carpenter and the police department. The mayor and the majority of the council took the ground that they were satisfied that there was corruption in the police department, and they did not need an investigation to satisfy themselves. The recent charges of immorality and corruption in the department, made by the mayor and Ald. Joseph Clarke, have created a great stir in the city, and it is said the matter will not be allowed to drop.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

FIRST NIGHTS AT TORONTO THEATRES

MARTIN HARVEY SCORED TRIUMPH

Famous English Actor Had Tremendous Reception at the Princess.

A NOTABLE COMPANY

Repeated Curtain Calls Induced Mr. Harvey to Make Short Speech.

Martin Harvey had a tremendous reception at the Princess last night. So much enthusiasm has not been seen at a dramatic performance for many a day.

The play is a frank melodrama, as most of the good old-fashioned inspiring drama is, but John Rutherford has made it more than usually logical and melodramatic, and if there be villains, they get their deserts and the arch villain is so much more fascinating than the hero villain is so utterly delightful and charming a villain, and with such a note of romance in him and such a touch of chivalric humor, that only an audience of Roundhead knaves could fail to sympathize with and love him.

How the management of Loew's White Garden expect to gain the favor of the theatre-going public and at the same time allow such acts to appear as the majority of those on this week's bill is beyond comprehension. It has been seen possible that some of the actors and actresses could obtain bookings on even a third-class circuit let alone being allowed to appear on the stage of a theatre advertising at high-class vaudeville bill. In justice to Charles Leonard Fletcher in his impersonations and character studies, it must be said that his act is so far above the rest of the bill as to seem out of place. His is as clever and convincing as anything of this nature ever seen in Toronto.

There are many features in the act of O. C. Falls, the Tramp Juggler, which must be eliminated before it can be called clean. His act and Bernice are billed as presenting a high-class musical offering from which title "high class" should be removed. He has been seen in the act of playing the piano and singing, while the comedy sketch of the Carrol and Pierlot Company was fairly well presented. Other acts on the bill were Romair and Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Magley and the three Escardos.

ARCHITECTS INQUIRY.

The city architect's investigation was resumed before Judge Denton yesterday afternoon. The investigation goes on at 1:30 today.

JOHN SCULLY LOSES.

The first appellate division at Grand Court Hall refused yesterday to grant John Scully, bookmaker, a stated case, following the dismissal in the police court of his action against W. P. Fraser, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, whom he accused of conducting an illegal betting house.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A conference between Col. George W. Goethals and President Wilson tomorrow afternoon was arranged today at the White House. They will discuss the organization of the canal zone government and preparations for the opening of the canal.

FIFTY THOUSAND BOOKS LOST.

MORRISTOWN, N.J., Feb. 23.—The Morristown Library and Lyceum Building, containing 50,000 volumes, among them many valuable historical records of New Jersey, was destroyed by fire today. The building was erected in 1878, and was owned by the Library and Lyceum Corporation, organized years ago to provide Morristown with a library and school building. The building was worth about $75,000. No estimate of the loss on the books was obtainable.

If anyone does not wish to take a dance lesson, he or she is entitled to remain in the theatre to watch the dancers on the stage.

ALICE LLOYD SHOW OUT OF ORDINARY

Dances of Every Kind and Variety at the Alexandra.

VAUDEVILLE STUNTS

Performing Dogs and Horses, Minstrel Troupes and Such Like.

Why does Alice Lloyd get so familiar with her audience? No one can deny that she is doing it in a way that she sings her songs with a little appeal of her own, and that her personality as a whole is pleasing and winsome. But this manner of singling out individuals in the house for attention is hardly to be commended. It may go in the London music hall, where the vanity of an audience is tickled, but Canadians are not educated up to it as yet.

A goodly house assembled at the Alexandra last evening to see once more this popular comedienne, and to hear her sailor songs. Apart from Alice Lloyd, the evening was one of vaudeville, minstrel troupes and such. The program got off to a poor start with the audience, chiefly because Sidney Wood, in a preliminary skit, introduced some "raw" innuendoes. Their taste was not lost for half the evening, and if he and his skit are left on the program they should be reserved for the last scene, when everyone is worrying about his overcoat and hat and waiting for the final curtain.

FLETCHER'S TURN IS BEST AT LOEW'S

A Good Act in Mediocre Surroundings—Clever and Convincing.

How the management of Loew's White Garden expect to gain the favor of the theatre-going public and at the same time allow such acts to appear as the majority of those on this week's bill is beyond comprehension. MAN IN THE DARK HEADS SHEA BILL

Robert T. Haines, a Strong Favorite, Plays Leading Role.

CECILIA WRIGHT SINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry Are Warmly Welcomed, as Always.

Among the best things on the bill at Shea's is the one-act play "The Man in the Dark" by Wm. J. Hurlbut, in which a favorite of the theatre, Robert T. Haines, appears in the leading role. The sketch is that of a man who is interrupted in his endeavors to possess himself of the affections of another man's wife by a burglar—the man in the dark—who, in the end, proves himself a much better man than the society parasite. By threats of letting the husband into the secret of the midnight lute-a-tete which he had broken in upon so unceremoniously, the burglar secures a cheque for twenty thousand dollars from the man whom he now finds in his power. During the contest things appear in their true light to the wife. She thinks the burglar for saving the situation, and he in turn bids her send back the cheque, for even money from such a mean source would be polluted. Mr. Haines has good support in his company, the other members being Esther Van Eytting, Mark Fenton, the husband and Frederick Burt, the man in the case.

Cecilia Wright, the dainty and refined English singer, known as the "Daughter of the American Navy," is a favorite both here and there. Her act is a gem. Fun and frolic are found in the sketch by H. Burt McHugh "On the School Playgrounds" in which E. C. Brendel achieves many comical situations as the janitor, and Muriel Morgan as Miss Teacher, does some fair work. Favorites both here and there are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry, she as the clever New York actor, and he as the country rube who, in the end, turns out to be a member of the Indian club and the city. The clever impersonations of this popular pair in their well-worn old-outlet are provocative of much mirth and laughter.

Other popular features are Raymond and Caverley as Wizards of Joy; Morris Cronin and his Merry Men in a varied program of Indian clubs and other manipulations, and the Azard Bros. in hazardous equilibristics, some of the cleverest in that line seen during the season.

PROGRESSIVE GIRLS AT THE STAR THEATRE

Some of the most prominent stars of the burlesque field are assembled here at the Star Theatre. Jack Reid's Progressive Girls, this week's attraction at the Star Theatre. They present two big musical burlesques, "A Night in Bohemia" and "At Saratoga," both of which are replete with all that could be desired in the way of mirth-making and singing.

Jack Reid, in the chief fun-making role, makes everybody have a funny face while he is behind the footlights. The other comedians, introduce a number of new parodies. "The Bathing Girls" consisting of several members of the chorus, Ethel Joerns, "the mystery moon girl," swings out over the audience while singing on a large moon, which is one of the best electrical novelties seen here for some time. Ella Reid Gilbert, Pauline Palmer and Harry Carr are also well mentioned. The scenic effects and costumes of the ladies are elaborate and beautiful. The Progressive Girls are record-breakers.

BOX SOCIAL.

A box social was held by the Bedfordshire Fraternal Association at the C.O.F. Hall last night.

AT THE STRAND.

Large audiences yesterday welcomed the latest of the thrilling chapters in the adventures of Kathlyn. This week's instalment fully maintains the thrilling character of the previous episode and opens up new and exciting moving incidents in the harrowing experiences of the persecuted heroine. After further scenes from marauding wild beasts Kathlyn is captured by a band of traders and falls again into the hands of Umballah. Her meeting with her father and his attack on Umballah in the dungeon closes this instalment of the adventures.

"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"

Popular Book Play the Attraction at the Grand.

CHARACTER DRAWINGS

Harold Bell Wright's Story Adapts Itself Readily to Stage.

A heart-stirring and a wholesome story and one that breathes the simple life of the mountains and the pasture, but yet sets forth human passions, ambitious endeavors, failures and successes, is the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's widely-read story of the Ozark mountains, "The Shepherd of the Hills," which is the offering at the Grand Opera House this week, and which was witnessed by a large audience at the opening performance last night.

Harold Bell Wright has written many novels, but none seem to have the same heart interest as "The Shepherd of the Hills," and all the people of the "Nutten Hollow" take life and appear behind the footlights. The play contains scenes of intensely dramatic force and vividness. There is a scene of the rustic beauty of the mountain bully and big, strong young Matt, when that young giant makes a name for himself and re-joins the Old Matt, and under the scene with quite another background when the sorrowing father discovers the "shepherd's" identity, and the man whom he held is living. "Dad" Howitt is a hero whose life in the mountains is an uplift, an inspiration. His surrender of himself and his more or less important, but all intensely interesting, scene of forgiveness make a scene of great dramatic force. "Sammy," the heroine, is a girl to be appreciated and remembered. "Pete" gives a weird touch to the play but adds to its interest. "Preachin' Bill," "Wash Gibbs" and other personages have more or less important, but all intensely interesting, scenes of strong and developed along forceful lines.

The play would be interesting even if it only opened upon its excellent character-drawing to entertain, and the characters of the mountaineers of the Ozarks are indeed unusual upon the stage. The play's success that is really worth while. Those who love a quiet restful story will appreciate "The Shepherd of the Hills," and the Grand will do well to continue the matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"BILLY" AND HIS SLIDE MAKE GOOD BURLESQUE

Billy Watson, with the Girls from Happyland at the Gayety this week has sustained the reputation of Joe Hurlig for "Perfection beyond Correction" as the producer of burlesque. "The funny little slide" is so well known to Toronto burlesque patrons, that further scenes from the play are unnecessary. Suffice it to say that he is as funny as ever, and by his peculiar style of comedy he treats the audience to a laugh every minute.

SOME SUITABLE BULBS FOR EASTER FLOWERING

The Special Treatment of Narcissus. In order to cultivate your Narcissus successfully and obtain the most satisfactory results the most important point to be careful over is the planting. More failures are due to this one detail than to anything else. As nearly every bulb-grower knows Narcissus bulbs are "baldly" injured if they are allowed to come in contact with crude manure. Therefore, it is not necessary to further press upon the amateurs the necessity for extreme care in the preparation of the pot soil for these bulbs. If any fertilizer of this kind is used in the pots or boxes the great care that lies material is at the bottom of the pot or box, well covered with loam and sand. I think myself that a handful or so thus placed is a good plan (speaking from personal experience) since certain amount of bottom heat is constantly generated by the covered up manure. Another point in the planting of Narcissus bulbs, as well as all other bulbs, is the care with which the proper planting depth should be estimated. If the bulbs are not planted deep enough the green sprouting stalk will be forced into a too early appearance, long before the roots have had time to grow strong enough.

Narcissus bulbs should be planted about three inches below the level of the surface soil; while the smaller dwarf varieties should be planted about two inches deep. In every event be quite sure that the crowns are well covered and that there is an inch or even an inch and a half below the soil. This depth will give rise to a strong stalk a good sturdy, always a necessary point to be looked after where strong flower spikes are wished for. All bulb cultivators know that the resting season of the Narcissus is very short, and that they need little coaxing to do well if but a few common sense rules are followed. For indoor culture I think the most showy varieties are those characterized by the long trumpet-shaped corona, and known generally as the Trumpet Daffodils. Of this type, undoubtedly the best for window culture are the Emperor, with his generous golden trumpet, the Empress, his superb mate, Trumpet Major, a golden glow among daffodils and Princess, while Sir Watkin and Horsefield are immense size, beauty of form, and depth of golden coloring. (To be Continued.)

TORONTO NEEDS PUBLIC MARKETS

Mrs. Julian Heath Says Present One is Too Far Away.

SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL

Tradesman as Well as Buyer Should Receive Some Consideration.

Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the Housewives' League of the United States, spoke last night to the local council of women at Guild Hall. "The High Cost of Living" was her subject, and below in capsule form are some of the things she said: "We women don't know the market value of things. Men buy on a falling market; we decide in the morning what provisions we want that day and we buy them as they dear or cheap, in or out of season."

"Public markets and lots of them are needed. I visited your market here today, but it seems to be miles from the housewife; away downtown, instead of at the kitchen door. I saw celery and cabbages on the Toronto market that came from the United States. Surely that is not economic. "All along too much attention has been paid to production and not enough to consumption of products and produce."

PRICE OF MILK WILL ASCEND IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—The Montreal Milk Shippers' Association, at its annual meeting this week, will consider raising the price of milk two cents a gallon to the consumer from May 1, which will make the price per gallon 17 cents. On an average sixty thousand gallons of milk per day is consumed here and the quality is low compared to that sold in the other city.

The Special Treatment of Narcissus. In order to cultivate your Narcissus successfully and obtain the most satisfactory results the most important point to be careful over is the planting. More failures are due to this one detail than to anything else. As nearly every bulb-grower knows Narcissus bulbs are "baldly" injured if they are allowed to come in contact with crude manure. Therefore, it is not necessary to further press upon the amateurs the necessity for extreme care in the preparation of the pot soil for these bulbs. If any fertilizer of this kind is used in the pots or boxes the great care that lies material is at the bottom of the pot or box, well covered with loam and sand. I think myself that a handful or so thus placed is a good plan (speaking from personal experience) since certain amount of bottom heat is constantly generated by the covered up manure. Another point in the planting of Narcissus bulbs, as well as all other bulbs, is the care with which the proper planting depth should be estimated. If the bulbs are not planted deep enough the green sprouting stalk will be forced into a too early appearance, long before the roots have had time to grow strong enough.

Narcissus bulbs should be planted about three inches below the level of the surface soil; while the smaller dwarf varieties should be planted about two inches deep. In every event be quite sure that the crowns are well covered and that there is an inch or even an inch and a half below the soil. This depth will give rise to a strong stalk a good sturdy, always a necessary point to be looked after where strong flower spikes are wished for. All bulb cultivators know that the resting season of the Narcissus is very short, and that they need little coaxing to do well if but a few common sense rules are followed. For indoor culture I think the most showy varieties are those characterized by the long trumpet-shaped corona, and known generally as the Trumpet Daffodils. Of this type, undoubtedly the best for window culture are the Emperor, with his generous golden trumpet, the Empress, his superb mate, Trumpet Major, a golden glow among daffodils and Princess, while Sir Watkin and Horsefield are immense size, beauty of form, and depth of golden coloring. EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

With Bacon Bacon makes almost any food better. Take parsnips, for instance, a few persons do not like these pesty roots. But cook them with Bacon and you hear a constant demand for "more."

Bacon and Eggs, Atlanta Style—Have the oven hot. Butter an open baking dish that will answer to serve the food in. Break the requisite number of eggs in this and lay a wire rack over it. On the rack place very thin slices of best flavored bacon. Slip this into oven and close the door. The eggs will be basted with the bacon drippings as it cooks and the whole should be done in five to eight minutes.

Remove the dish and rack with a heavy holder. Drain the fat from the eggs and garnish with the crisp bacon slices. For an omelette with Bacon—Freshen a salt mackerel over night and then freshen still further by simmering it gently in a pan filled with fresh water. Drain and place on the serving dish. Put bacon on a rack and dispose it over the fish as directed for the eggs in above recipe. Cook in hot oven until bacon is crisp. Do not drain off the fat, but serve a little of it on each helping of fish. Small, fresh perch may be cooked in the same way, but a pan must be used for them in the place of the serving dish.

For a salad with Bacon—Oysters, lobster meat, chicken liver and mushrooms, or any dainty square of meat arranged on a skewer with squares of bacon between each piece, and the whole fried or broiled or baked as the food may warrant. This is always served a la brochette, or on the skewer, and is removed by the diner, with a fork, as it is eaten.

A delightful savory for luncheon or a little supper is made by stamping out a round of bacon about two inches in diameter. In the centre put a small square of strong cheese. Pepper well and cover with another round of bacon. Secure with toothpicks. Place on square cracker, put in hot oven until cheese melts and bacon brown.

Golden Fingers—This is the best way to use up a small amount of cold meat and makes a pleasing breakfast meat. Roll strips of cold veal or beef in strips of bacon. Put on a rack in the oven until the bacon is a golden yellow. Filled lightly on a hot dish and nicely garnished with parsley leaves look and taste satisfactory.

WOMEN CANDIDATES FOR CHICAGO COUNCIL

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The names of eight women candidates for aldermanic nominations will appear on the ballots to be voted at tomorrow's primary election, the first chance women have had here to express themselves at the polls since the legislature granted them the right of suffrage.

Organizations of women are expected to centre most of their attention on the first ward, where Miss Marion G. Drake is the progressive party candidate.

WEDNESDAY'S FREE CONCERT.

Where You May Spend a Pleasant Leisure Hour. From 2:30 to 3:45 tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon, a program will be rendered in the Heintzman and Co. Hall, 193-195-197 Yonge street. Selections of the best artists, such as John McCormack, Tetzlaff, Caruso, Harry Lauder and others, will be given.

Everybody is made welcome at these Wednesday's concerts, no charge whatever being made for admission.

BEETHOVEN.

The Shakespeare of Music. The Shakespeare of music is counted Ludwig van Beethoven, born in 1770, and his birthplace at Bonn is considered a musical shrine. He was the son of a tenor in the King of Saxony's Chapel, and his musical education was begun at five years of age. Before his eight birthday he was an accomplished violinist; at the age of thirteen he published a book of popular marches, and sonatas, and his music has such wide scope and variety that many of the phrases in his sonatas and piano selections have become popular melodies and songs. His entire loss of hearing did not prevent him from continuing to achieve exquisite compositions, and it was his versatility and wide range of every form of musical expression that made him famous.

Some of Beethoven's matchless melodies are to be found in "Heart Songs," and embrace the value of that volume to the true music lover. This paper is placing it before its readers on terms that amount to a gift. See the coupon in today's issue for explanation.

Selfishness Real Cause of Divorce

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

Winifred Black

YOU can no more drive a man away from a good table than you can a cat, and if you do he will come back. The way to keep husbands at home is to feed them well.

So says Dr. Wiley, the food expert. Tell me truly, Dr. Wiley, do you and the rest of the men really mean half of the astonishing things you say about yourselves?

I hope not. I really do hope not. Men seem to be such good, kind, well-meaning creatures.

Some of them actually appear to have hearts and souls and consciences and will power, and some wish to have self-control. I should hate to believe that it's all a sham, and that under all the civilization and all the polish and everything that means or seems to mean an attempt at some kind of spirituality, men are just plain animals after all.

Have you changed a bit, Dr. Wiley, since we women wove a mat of rushes for the front of the fire and hung garlands of scented grass on the stone wall of the cave where we all lived together with the bones and the dogs and the half-dried skins of wild animals?

"Who ever heard of a divorce in rural France?" says Dr. Wiley. "The French peasants know how to cook."

True, Dr. Wiley, who ever did hear of divorce in rural France. And who ever heard of a club there either, or of theatre parties, or golf links, or any of the other things that take men away from their homes.

Egotists Instead of Animals

If I had a husband who lived with me just because I was a good cook I would hand him his hat and tell him to go and find some affinity who had a better recipe for rabbit pie or chicken à la marenco than I had.

What a lot of nonsense people do talk about divorce and the cause of it. There is just one cause for divorce, and cooking hasn't a thing in the world to do with it.

Any man who would run away from his wife because she put too much salt in the soup would run away from her because he woke up one morning and noticed that her nose was too long or her eyelashes were not quite as curly as the eyelashes of his perfectly good stenographer.

What is the one cause for divorce—the real cause? Selfishness, and selfishness alone.

It takes different forms, but you look into the records of any divorce court in the world, and right at the bottom of the whole miserable business you will find the wretched trait of selfishness squinting out at you like an evil spirit.

"My husband did not understand me." "My wife was not sympathetic." "He fell in love with some one else." "She met some one she liked better."

And little children are left homeless and some poor woman is turned adrift in the world—alone, or some wretched man nurses for the rest of his natural life a cruel bitterness of the heart. All because of the old, old reason.

"I couldn't stand it another day; I wouldn't put up with it; I was so lonely; I was so unappreciated; my wife never gave me a decent meal; my husband never took me out with him."

I, my, mine, me, myself—always the same old story. So you fell in love with another woman did you, Mr. Man, and after that you really couldn't endure your home at all and be happy.

Who asked you to be happy? All that any one on earth asks of you in this world is to be good, to be decent, to be just, to be honest, to be kind.

What if you are in love with another woman—or think you are? Does that release you from the promise you made to love, cherish and protect the girl that you took away from her father and mother and sisters and brothers and people who really did love her, when you only pretended to?

Love—sometimes when I look at the divorce records I wish there was never any such word.

Selfishness the Real Cause

It is so profaned and so dragged into the slime of utter selfishness. It is not love that you feel when some little goose of a girl makes a fool of you—Mr. Middle-Aged Husband. It is just flattered vanity.

It is not love that makes you forget your own little children and run away with some man who won't care a button for you after his month or so of infatuation—Mrs. Feather Head. It is vanity with you, too, and utter and complete selfishness.

Bad cooking at the root of divorce! Fie, fie, Dr. Wiley. Who is it who gets the divorce? Nine times out of ten it is the woman, and, if you will go to court some fine spring morning you will see there a good many plain, honest, kindly women who are not at all bad cooks, as cooks go, in their station of life.

And if you could see the other woman in each particular case, it would probably be impressed upon you that cooking has very little to do with the matter.

When a man leaves his wife for another woman, I don't believe he even thinks of the salt shaker or the pepper pot. I hope he doesn't anyhow.

I'd rather see a man a sentimental egotist than to believe that he was just an animal that was all right so long as he is comfortably fed.

The French peasant woman is an excellent cook. She is also, from what I hear, a good many other things that the average American would prefer not to talk too much about. What suits a French peasant would never in the world suit a plain everyday American—either in the way of food or in the way of wifely devotion.

Good cooking is a good thing, Dr. Wiley, an excellent thing. But when you say that bad cooking is at the bottom of the divorce evil you are like a man standing on top of a tall building shouting the time of day through a megaphone, and shouting it wrong.

Nobody is going to believe you. Watches are too cheap and too easy to get.

Lucky King Solomon

By Tom Jackson

KING SOLOMON was big and great, his wisdom still survives; he was a much married man and had three hundred wives. He managed to support them all and they were quite content—those who could not live in the house he corralled in a tent. In those old days the price of eats was cheap in foreign lands. Today King Solomon would be in the receivers' hands. Think of three hundred loving wives demanding steak today; think of the awful butcher bill that Sol would have to pay!

They had no opera dresses then, or other fancy frills, or Solomon would surely have defaulted on his bills. The tango and the turkey-trot were not then in the rage, or Solomon, for safety, would have lived within a cage. For every become stained at the end of orange wood cut into one end may be used as a straight edge. Take up the time, and rub it in. Children may mean it there is a story about the opera—the necessity for the sign of security and will have no scribbles to grow up with a of the value of the perversion in regard to of the child's wife most surely would insist upon her right to do the pretty tango step with hubby every night. Three hundred tango in a night of dance would be too much. "Would put a king, or any man, no matter who, in Dutch, to follow with three hundred trots and then with bunny hugs, would send the strongest man on earth to dwell amid the bugs.

If Solomon at present reigned instead of days of yore, three hundred limousines per day would stand before his door. For every wife would, of course, her own exclusive car, and Solomon's old pocketbook would get a fearful jar. So Solomon was wise indeed to live long years ago, when no one had a motor car, and cost of eats was low.

and cost of eats was low.

PRESERVING BEAUTY'S BLOOM

Grace Valentine, Who Advises Against "Rough" Massage

Complexion "Don'ts" for Springtime

By Maggie Teyte

Prima Donna of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

I MET a woman famous in her profession and in society for her marvellous complexion and her matchless figure. She was buying great quantities of sterilized gauze in a drug store. "Laying in my year's supply of wash-cloths and powder puffs," she explained. "I never use anything more severe than this gauze on my face. There's a saute secret for you. And the only powder puff I possess is made of a dab of cotton. I make them up by the hundred, tying each little puff with a bit of thread, and keep them in a perfectly airtight glass jar. I never use one but once. I better say 'use two or three every time I powder my nose.'"

There's a useful hint for all of us. It is simple and cheap to have always a clean and generous puff. And really, many women are a bit careless about the powder puff. They forget that it accumulates dust and distributes it with the powder. The chamolis is worse.

I gained many suggestions in my little chat with this lovely woman, who, at the age of a grandmother, has the face of a debutante. She never uses hot water on her face, because she says it dries and wrinkles the skin and makes one old before her time.

Luke-warm water and the purest of sterile water her nightly "face bath," and in the morning she dashes cold water over her face and neck. She gives the cold water treatment as the best remedy she knows for keeping the throat firm and youthful.

She warns against massage, no matter how gentle, and says it, combined with steaming, will put more wrinkles in a woman's face than any other treatment she knows of.

After washing her face and drying it on the softest of linen towels, or with the gauze, she puts into it a nourishing cream made of only the purest and simplest of oils.

Whatever cream the skin will not absorb is removed with a bit of gauze, and in removing the cream she is careful not to rub the skin, but uses the same gentle patting.

Grace Valentine, who is noted for her beauty, describes a recent experience as follows:

"The vigorous rubbing which has been called massage is so seldom resorted to nowadays that it seems almost superfluous to mention it, but the other day I had a young woman sent to me by a friend, who requested that I give her wondrous beauty work I had to be done, as she was young and ambitious, and my friend was anxious to see her succeed."

"She was a pretty girl, and told me where she had studied and in what felt she was peculiarly fitted for the work.

"Then she commenced on my poor face. She rubbed with deep and heavy strokes which loosened the skin from its moorings and brought the tissues from place. I stopped her. But I fear the explanations I gave her of why the entire theory and practice of her work were wrong had no effect. She left with more resentment than sorrow in her bearing."

If there are lines forming it is permissible to use the gentlest smoothing cream, in the opposite direction. It is a stroke between smoothing and patting. It is the same motion you would use in smoothing the crease out of a delicate bit of lace or fragile trimming. It really surprises me to see how careful women are of their dresses and finery, and how thoughtlessly careless of their complexions.

Yet it is easier to replace the lace than the bloom of the cheek.

This is the time of the year when I am ever so careful of my skin. I use no more water on my face than I am obliged to. The water is hard, the air in the house dry, the outside air raw and cold, and the skin dries and chaps so easily. During the day when my face needs cleansing I wipe it "tenty" with some good cleansing cream without dragging the skin. There are many such on the market. The idea is to st one that will not promote a growth of hair, and prefer one which is composed only of vegetable oils.

Before going in the air I apply plenty of good, pure powder. Powder over cream creates a splendid protection for the face. Also, if properly used, it is not apparent. It is not necessary to make a powder and cold cream plaster.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Ills Cannot Flourish Where Laughter Reigns

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirshberg.

PICTURE to yourself Jennings or Baker holding both his sides! That is laughter. Laughter is manly vim and muscular perfection clapping his pelvis.

To be grave exceeds all power of face in a buoyantly healthy individual. The saving grace of humor means that men, no matter how successful socially, financially, pedagogically and politically they may be, are not in the full bloom of human vigor without laughter.

Laughter is the alpha-key which Hygeia, goddess of health, clasps to her bosom. Men may be wise in various ways, but they are not full of health unless they can laugh.

He who laughs last laughs best only because he has learned that health means success, and laughter spells health. Laugh first, last and always with others, at others and most of all at yourself.

The proof that militant emotionalists, vice-cruders, antis at this and antis at that are below par mentally and physically rests upon the universal observation that such romanticists are woefully lacking in a delectable sense of laughter.

Do they ever smile? Are the walls vibrant with their laughter? You may bet the bottom of your boots the answer is nay.

It is inconceivable that such physiologically unnatural sentimentalism could be associated with the joys of life and the human nature which goes with the sunshine of laughter.

Health is infectious. Life without laughter is a dreary, sickly blank. People who do not encourage themselves to laugh, whether they are clergymen, philosophers, reformers, moralists, prudes or presidents, are always pompous, self-centered and sneeringly domineering about the very habits, health and happiness of others.

The word "healthy" is correctly associated with laughter, because laughter is a muscular act which includes the heart muscle and the rest of these valuable and vital organs.

Health, like disease, is infectious; therefore, the infectiousness of laughter which rock the very sides are contagious, and stimulate the lazy, flaccid, disused muscles of those within hearing.

The man that laughs is the man that is beloved. Laughter is the flow of the soul, the embodiment of certain liquid emotions called "hormones." Juices which pour into the thinking brooks of your blood current as well as into your lava stream called "lymph."

The reason that you, perforce, make yourself laugh often when you might rather cry is because you are well and hearty. It is not melancholy or gloomy carried by many men to its highest pitch to conquer melancholy tumults of the soul by shaking laughter.

The antidote for gloom. It is more than that. It is the sound, physiological antidote for depression, the "dumps," Old Whiskered Gloom and the other "hormones" of grievous emotions and ill-health.

That want of the capacity to laugh was recognized before these new experimental discoveries proved it, as evidence of degeneracy, physiological and hence moral, is plain from Her Teu-

Answers to Health Questions

READER—Since I had nervous breakdown, when I read of study much I have pain, heat and itching in the crown of the head. What treatment would you recommend?

If you have pain, itching and heat all at once in the head it is not a serious condition, merely the same sort of an annoyance which you have with a fly or mosquito buzzing about.

You must direct your attention away from the physical buzzing and put your thoughts upon some task, business or ambition to be accomplished. Keep outdoors in the sunlight, sleep in an airy room and wear eye-glasses if you need them.

J. F. C. Philadelphia—Kindly explain why people cannot keep awake when they are reading.

Usually this indicates that there is an improper strain upon your eye muscles which require first aid from eye-glasses. Have your eyes examined by an ophthalmologist—not a spectacle "fitter"—at once.

CONSTANT READER—My 6-year-old girl has had a swollen ankle for nearly a year. The X-ray shows it was only a sprain.

Have the ankle massaged upwards toward the knee, never downwards. This should be done three times a day for several months. Be sure, however, that there is no tuberculosis in the joint.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirshberg, care of this office.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

Pets or Babies? XXXIX

"ISN'T he cunning!" cried Mary.

I glanced at the horrid pumpernickel little Pomeranian.

Mrs. Ascot was holding in her lap, and daintily as sented. I made a mental reservation for the good of my soul.

"Who?" said I rebelliously. "Mr. Ascot?"

"Mr. Ascot, indeed!" sniffed Mary unambiguously. "Certainly not. I meant 'Tiny Tim, the Pomeranian.'"

"Lord Almighty, Mary," I exclaimed, "I think it's positively revolting to see a grown woman act like a fool over such an animal as that. She'd much better be fondling a baby."

"Peter," said Mary, indignantly, "don't be coarse!"

"Coarse," I exclaimed, a little shocked. "I had no intention whatever of being coarse. I mean it. Whenever I see a woman fondling a beast like that I lose respect for her. She's wasting, in a horrible way, a lot of maternal energy. Wouldn't you rather see the wonderful motherly light in a woman's eyes over a baby than over such a disgusting little brute as Tiny Tim?"

"Peter," said Mary primly, "you do say the most indelicate things. Mr. Ascot hasn't a baby, and she doesn't like them."

"Doesn't like them?" I exclaimed heatedly. "And still she likes that hirsute bunch of rags?"

"It's different," said Mary haughtily. "A baby and a Pomeranian are certainly different." I admitted, "and the advantage lies heavily with the baby. I hope Mrs. Ascot will have a baby some day and chloroform the Pomeranian."

Mary frowned.

"Peter," she said primly, "I see no reason why we should be vulgar or indelicate."

"Now Mary, I fear, is a prude. I've run around on the shoals of propriety before.

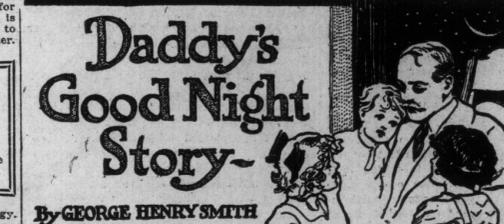

Tonight somehow it nettled me.

"Mary," I said, "the sooner you learn that mention of the big salient facts of the universe is not indelicate the nearer you'll be to a wholesome broadening of your mind. Women have babies, and it's a fine, true, holy fact. We ought all to be glad of it and not ashamed. Prudishness doesn't conduce to dignity of any kind. There's a great difference between licentious conversation and frankly reverent facts of life."

Frustratedly women make me tired.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

WHO is that coming?" asked Jack Rabbit of Billy Bunny one evening when they were both peeping out of the window.

"It looks like Mr. Squirrel," said Billy, as that interesting little fellow hopped along the fence near the Rabbits' home.

Sure enough, there was a knock at the door and in walked Mr. Squirrel, bowing very low to Brer Rabbit, who was reading his paper.

"Tell your good wife that Mrs. Squirrel wants her to come over to tea tomorrow," said Mr. Squirrel.

"Very well," answered Brer Rabbit. With that Mr. Squirrel went out. Baby Bunny was fast asleep in the next room. He woke up and asked for his doll.

"Jack," said Brer Rabbit, "take Mirandy Lou in to your baby brother." Baby Bunny took Mirandy Lou and went to sleep. Brer Rabbit began reading again.

"I wish you would tell us a story," said Jack Rabbit.

"You boys bother me too much," said Brer Rabbit. He took Jack and Billy on his lap and began:

"Once upon a time there lived an Indian boy by the name of Silver Star and he had a sister named Ka-wash-a. Every day they used to go into a large cave near their home and play house.

"One day they were playing as hard as they could when a great big bear came right in front of the cave and looked at Silver Star and Ka-wash-a. He growled 'Br-r,' just like that."

"Oh! Oh!" came a voice from the next room.

Brer Rabbit rushed in to Baby Bunny and there he was holding Mirandy Lou tight in his arms. "What is the matter?" asked Brer Rabbit.

"I dreamed Mirandy Lou fell out of bed," said Baby Bunny.

"When Brer Rabbit came back Jack asked: 'What became of the Indian boy and girl?'"

"Well," said Brer Rabbit. "Right in front of the cave where they were some hornets had their nest, so they poked the nest and the hornets came out and drove the bear away, while Silver Star and Ka-wash-a hid in the back of the cave. They ran home when the bear was gone and—"

But Billy and Jack were fast asleep.

PURCHASING DEPARTMENT FOR THE CITY IS FAVORED BY COUNCIL

Mendelssohn Choir Gets Ten Thousand Toward European Tour—T. J. Henry is Chief Electrical Inspector—Eastern Entrance to Exhibition This Year.

A large amount of business was worked thru by the city council yesterday. Every member tried to shorten debate and talk to the point. There was even an interim session behind closed doors to agree upon the amount of retiring allowance to T. Coady, but that did not head off a lengthy debate. A feature of the meeting was a vote of 18 to 7 in favor of continuing the negotiations for the street railway purchase.

The purchasing department was decided upon. The Mendelssohn Choir got its grant of $10,000. F. J. Henry was appointed chief inspector of electrical installations. Exhibition Park is to have an eastern entrance this year by the building of a temporary bridge at Bathurst street to cost $117,000. Recommended annexations in the northwestern suburbs were referred back. It was decided to purchase lumber in the open market instead of by contract, owing to falling prices.

Ald. Wickett made a sharp attack upon the treasury department, alleging that at least $100,000 was sacrificed by the sale of $200,000 of city securities last year. His allegation was sharply challenged by Ald. Dunn.

The council was in session for over nine hours.

Choir Grant Carried.
Sir Edmund Walker, J. W. Flavell, W. P. Gundy and Dr. Vogt led a large delegation that urged the council to grant $10,000 toward the $75,000 expense for the tour abroad of the Mendelssohn Choir next year.

Controller Simpson urged not only the grant but a temporary bridge at Bathurst street which would permit all classes to hear the best choir on this continent.

Ald. Graham voted that the grant be made $5,000 instead of $10,000. Ald. McEldred offered to contribute $100 toward the $10,000 if the rest of the members of the council would do likewise.

Controller McCarthy declared that the Mendelssohn Choir is the greatest choral organization in the world. "A number of the members of the choir are paying their own way in this projected trip abroad," he said, "and what we contribute will be to assist those who cannot afford to pay their own way on the trip."

Ald. Graham's amendment to make the grant $5,000 was lost and the recommendation that $10,000 be granted carried by a good majority.

To Tax or Not to Tax?
Ald. F. Spence moved for a special committee to consider and report upon how unearned increment can be taxed and the tax collected. The motion carried. The committee is as follows: McCarthy, Simpson, Hiltz, Wickett, Singer, Graham, Smith and F. Spence.

Ald. Meredith put forth a resolution that the works committee consider supplying seasonable wearing apparel to the scavengers.

Board of Control. Ald. D. Spence moved that the corporation committee of the Ontario Railway Board to withdraw the order allowing the Toronto Railway Company to run the Queen street cars at Bostead avenue. The motion carried.

The bylaw for the extension of Wilton avenue to West avenue was held over because a majority had not been reached.

Too Much Committee. When the matter of revision of the manual was up Ald. Wickett suggested that the board of control should supervise administrative business, a committee for executive work should be established, and then the standing committees could be abolished. Committee work has become so onerous that busy men have not the time to spare for it," Ald. Wickett said. "Many good men are thus kept out of the council."

Legislation is to be asked for authority to issue debentures for a $45,000 cold storage plant for the municipal slaughterhouse and for a $60,000 car barn site on Coxwell and Danforth avenues. The barn site has four acres, and the sale of the frontage will cut down the expense to $35,000.

The recommendation to establish an electrical installation inspection department, with a salary of $2500 a year, was adopted. Controller Church tried to have H. F. Strickland appointed instead of Mr. Henry, but had little support.

The suggestions regarding metropolitan areas were referred to the transportation committee.

Without debate the objection to the proposed allotment of Consumers Gas Co.'s capital stock was approved.

Ald. Risk Opened the Debate upon the establishment of a purchasing department by asking for a full explanation.

"We would save from $50,000 to $100,000 a year," Mayor Hocken explained. "All big concerns have a purchasing department. It would be a separate department and under the board of control. Most of the purchases are under contract. The head of the department would make such purchases as would be of advantage in price and quality, and he would have to keep posted on prices. I feel satisfied there is easily $50,000 worth of material wasted every year, and this would be stopped. The board would recommend to the next meeting a man for purchasing agent."

"It seems that the matter has been tackled a little too much in a piecemeal fashion," said Ald. F. Spence. "Before voting we should have more details. I move to refer back the recommendation for more details." Ald. Maguire declared.

"First approve the principle and then get a competent head to attend to details of organization," Controller McCarthy advised.

"The department would cost several hundreds of thousands of dollars," said Ald. Wickett. "We should not vote this bill."

"It is the intention to go into departmental business, I'm not in favor," said Ald. Hiltz.

No Warehouses. "It is not intended to build warehouses or spend $70,000 or $700,000," Controller McCarthy explained. "Our thought is to take the nucleus now organized and extend the organization."

"The discount alone on purchases would pay the whole expense of the department," said Mayor Hocken.

The recommendation to establish a purchasing department was carried.

An expenditure of $117,000 for a temporary bridge at the railway crossing at Bathurst street was approved. This will provide an eastern entrance to Exhibition Park this year.

The city was depicted in the press in the meantime for a proclamation of the McNaught bill for the interchange of traffic between street railway systems.

Ald. Wickett's motion would make a radical change in the transportation situation.

NEWS FROM THE CITY HALL

CHURCH MINORITY NUMBERED SEVEN

He Rallied Six Disciples to Support of His Anti-Purchase Motion.

There was another showdown in the city council yesterday upon the street railway purchase and the vote was 16 to 7 against the opponents. Controller Church had six "disciples" ready to follow him thru any blind alley.

Controller Church had on the order paper a motion that legislation be asked for power to construct and operate city car lines in every part of the city needing a service, and go ahead with construction without asking consent of ratepayers.

"The most ridiculous and preposterous motion that ever Controller Church has made to this council," Mayor Hocken commented. "I don't want this council to put itself into an absolutely ridiculous position before the legislature. This council has been turned into a bear garden several times thru just such tactics as Controller Church is adopting today."

Ald. Maguire loudly supported Controller Church and was applauded from the gallery.

"This sort of thing only widens the breach in the council," Ald. Meredith declared. "The purchase issue should be settled by the ratepayers before any further action is taken about city car lines."

"Never heard of such an outlandish proposition as Controller Church has made," Ald. Meredith declared.

Bold Gallery Play. "One of the boldest pieces of gallery play I ever saw in my life," Controller Church declared.

Ald. Maguire tried to swing in as an amendment a resolution that a by-law be submitted to the ratepayers at the earliest opportunity. Hocken ruled it was not an amendment and was out of order.

Ald. Meredith moved that Controller Church's motion be referred to the board of control, but the motion did not carry.

Controller Church's motion was killed on the following division: Yes—Church, Rowland, Hiltz, Meredith, Graham, Rydins, Maguire.

No—McCarthy, Simpson, Smith, F. Spence, Hiltz, Singer, Whistler, Risk, Walton, Wickett, Wanless, Robinson, D. Spence, McBride, Dunn, Hocken—16.

EXPERTS WERE NOT RIGHTLY INFORMED

So McTaggart Explains Winchester Report on Wood Contracts.

Wide open and brisk were the proceedings at the first meeting yesterday afternoon of the special committee to report on Judge Winchester's findings and Supt. Bishop's reply respecting the board of education building department.

The committee commenced by adopting a resolution that the meetings be open to the press, and members of the board.

Trustee Miles Vokes was an energetic chairman, and 30 pages of Judge Winchester's report were dealt with.

Trustee McTaggart, chairman of the board, said that he was prepared to express his views regarding the investigation in public, and when some sections of the report came up his remarks would be somewhat drastic.

The Coal Contracts. The members of the first section, dealing with the coal contracts in short order, it was agreed that it cost no reflection on the officials of the building department.

Experts Were Wrong. Trustee McTaggart explained the situation in regard to the carpentry work and the difference between the statements of Josephman and Craddock, who made a series of charges of irregularities, and the contradictions made by Supt. Bishop and others. The chairman was explained by the chairman of the board as arising thru the two experts making their investigation armed with a wrong set of specifications.

This, Mr. McTaggart said, was admitted. The difference in the wood which exception was made was specifically provided for in the contracts, but it was not in accordance with the clause in the specification respecting exceptions. The exceptions were for work under the roofs and common.

Iron Weights Proper. The use of iron weights in place of lead weights, where the size of the sash admitted, was without either the prevailing practice in the building trade. The term lead weights was merely a trade name for iron weights, which actual metal. The iron weights were cheaper, but would not be a factor in letting contracts.

Used. It was true, however, that some contractors had used "a limited quantity of hemlock," contrary to the contracts, but this was without either the approval or the assent of Supt. Bishop or the building department.

A resolution concurring in Chairman McTaggart's explanation was adopted.

The committee will meet again at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to take up the section of the report dealing with the heating and ventilating. It is the section described as "containing the throwbacks."

PROPOSED SQUARE A LOUNGING PLACE

Alderman David Spence Opposes Postoffice Project, Which Was Held Over.

Ald. Robbins, chairman of the parks and recreation committee, advised referring for a couple of weeks the annexation of Cedarvale until Commissioner Hocken arranged for another driveway in the plan of the subdivision.

Ald. Wanless moved that the recommendation be carried by a vote of 10 to 7. The recommendation was carried.

Then the matter of the proposed postoffice square, came up for consideration at 1 o'clock this morning.

Ald. Meredith declared against taking any action to have the square.

"The council is not in favor of the square, and we should vote now to kill it," said Ald. Walton.

"I'm not even willing to wait for a report giving the cost of the square," said Ald. D. Spence. "This council will never vote to build a square which will never be used."

Controller McCarthy said the increase in the value of the surrounding property would largely meet the cost of the square.

"We shouldn't kill the proposition tonight," Ald. Whistler said.

Controller Church's motion that the matter be thrown out was lost. The report from the commissioners will be taken up at the next meeting of the council.

Ald. Maguire tried another motion, that the council be asked to refer the matter to the ratepayers at the earliest opportunity.

Ald. Meredith put thru a motion that the council be asked to refer the matter to the ratepayers at the earliest opportunity.

Ald. Meredith moved that the council be asked to refer the matter to the ratepayers at the earliest opportunity.

The council adjourned at 1:25 this a.m.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND FOR COADY PATTERSON NOW IS TREASURER

A. E. Black Becomes Deputy-Treasurer—Appointments Made by Council After a Lengthy Debate—Vote for Two Years' Salary Was Thirteen to Nine.

R. T. Coady, former city treasurer, was given $16,000 for a retiring allowance by the city council. He had claimed the full amount $24,000 permitted by the statutes. Controller Simpson objected to $24,000 being given.

"Mr. Coady was in the employ of the city for forty-one months," Mayor Hocken said, "and we are warranted in being liberal to him in considering his retiring allowance. He probably spent much more in maintaining his offices from England than other heads of departments may have saved for their old age. He never took a holiday. Are we going to take a discount on integrity and enthusiasm in office? He made his salary every year in the way he handled everything. If we are going to get the best service we can get, we must make it rank with the best service in private concerns. Thru illness and thru high-minded action Mr. Coady is today without a dollar laid up for his old age."

"We ought to be ashamed of ourselves if we do not give the $24,000," Ald. Smith declared.

Ald. Risk was not in favor of the full amount.

"I move that we vote Mr. Coady an honorarium of $10,000," said Ald. F. Spence.

Controller Church insisted that $24,000 be given.

"I think the people of Toronto would approve our making the amount $16,000," said Ald. Graham.

This amendment that gave $16,000 was put, and it carried by 13 for and 9 against.

Then the matter of the promotion of Mr. Patterson to city treasurer and Mr. Black to deputy city treasurer was taken up. Ald. Wickett urged that the promotions be held up as requested by the civic surveyors.

"The civic business should not be held up by a civic surveyor's report," Ald. Wickett declared.

"The civic surveyors were brought here, I believe, not to get civic government out of a rut, but to unearth suspected graft such as in cities in the United States," said Ald. Dunn.

"The city may feel proud that surveyors of graft were found by the surveyors. Are we to frustrate our business to allow the civic survey committee to try to have appointed the man they want to put in as city treasurer?"

An Afterthought. "The action of the civic survey committee seems to me to be an afterthought," said Mayor Hocken. "I request to await the surveyors' report came only last Friday, and we have been discussing reorganization of the treasury department for several weeks. If we have any self-respect left, we should do our work without waiting for a civic survey report. We have known Mr. Patterson many years, and know his capabilities."

Ald. F. S. Spence urged the appointment of Mr. Patterson as city treasurer and Mr. Black as deputy city treasurer.

ment of a finance commissioner, and the effect back of the recommendations.

Controller Simpson made a strenuous appeal for support of the promotion of Mr. Patterson. "The city is shocked," Mr. Patterson said. "The city is shocked. Mr. Patterson is not competent for the position of city treasurer. We sacrificed our securities last year and lost at least $100,000. If we had had a reputable finance commissioner we would have carried our securities over the depression. Mr. Patterson never had any experience as chief office of city treasurer. He was promoted at the recommendation of the board of control."

"No banker in the city would take the position of city treasurer at any salary," said Controller Church. "I would not stand the carping criticism."

"The civic surveyors' committee have an awful lot of nerve to interfere with this council," Ald. D. Spence declared.

"I do not feel that citizens should spend a lot of money in having a survey and we should refuse to give their report before making the promotion. I will support referring the recommendation back," said Controller McCarthy.

"The civic surveyors believe we should have a finance commissioner and so do I," said Mayor Hocken. "We also need a city treasurer, and we should go ahead with the appointment of a finance commissioner."

"I'm going to support the promotion, and as proposed to a finance commissioner," said Ald. Rowland.

Totally Incorrect. Ald. Dunn challenged Ald. Wickett's assertion that $100,000 was lost last year on the sale of securities. "It is totally incorrect," said Ald. Dunn. "It will become," said Ald. Wickett, "to make such a statement on hearsay." Ald. Dunn said that he had $20,000 worth of securities at the worst time of the depression last year. Ald. Wickett said, "and that must have been a heavy loss."

"If we promote Mr. Patterson, he will be the head of the department," said Ald. Wanless. "He must have been a heavy loss to the commissioner over his former position. I should let this matter stay over for a couple of weeks."

"I'm surprised at the haste of the board of control to make the promotions," said Ald. Walton.

Ald. Meredith supported the promotion of Mr. Patterson and Mr. Black. The promotion was made by a vote of 14 to 9.

VILLA'S OUTRAGES AROUSING EUROPE

British Parliament Cheered Sir Edward Grey's Significant Allusion to Situation.

MAKING ENQUIRIES

Ambassador at Washington Instructed in Mode of Conducting Investigation.

request impressed upon the leaders of the Constitutional party in Mexico the necessity of respecting the lives of foreigners. "I should like to add to that the fact that we are communicating with the government of the United States does not, of course, imply that it has any responsibility for what has taken place."

"Communication has been made because the United States alone can influence these circumstances exercise any influence to discover the truth and get justice done. Juarez is close to the United States frontier and we have ourselves to means of exercising influence in those regions under existing circumstances. It is still in communication with the British ambassador at Washington and with the United States Government as to what further steps can be taken."

Other Missing Europeans. Sir John Reese asked whether Sir Edward Grey had any information concerning other Europeans who had disappeared in Mexico.

Sir Edward replied: "No, sir, but I have telegraphed to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, suggesting for his consideration what steps it would be possible to take in this very disturbed region to ascertain the whereabouts of these people."

Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under secretary for foreign affairs, made an earlier statement, in which he said:

"The pacification of Mexico is an object we earnestly desire to see accomplished, but it is impossible to effect it by British intervention. We do not intend to make any attempt of that character, which would be both futile and unwise."

Instructions to Ambassador. That the British Government is concerned over the reported disappearance

SITUATION IN MEXICO DOESN'T WORRY FRANCE

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The French foreign office has no comment to make on the situation in Mexico, nor does the French Government appear to be disposed to offer any suggestions to the United States on the subject or to press any other policy upon Washington than the policy which is now being followed. The foreign office appears to leave President Wilson to work out the situation.

JOSEPH WARREN GOT THREE YEARS

Quackenbush Turned King's Evidence and Was Allowed to Go.

A three-year sentence in Kingston penitentiary was given Joseph Warren in police court yesterday, and when this term is served the prisoner will have spent 21-2 years of his life behind the bars of that institution. Warren was convicted through the evidence of Charles Quackenbush, a police inspector in the city, who, in turning king's evidence, said they intended to assault Ernest Had the hold-up, as accomplished the pair expected to get $2000. Quackenbush was remanded for sentence and allowed to go.

J. H. Gowen's case occupied the court for a full hour. He is the man with whom Mrs. May J. Fenton was discovered in her home at Bloor and Church streets. Gowen was convicted on three charges and remanded today to be tried on a fourth.

The possession case, William G. Cunningham, accused of the theft from the mails, was sent up for trial before a jury.

Queen City Chapter No. 7 of the Eastern Star Society held a concert, supper and dance in celebration of their first anniversary in Foresters' Hall, College street, last night. The reports presented showed that the society was making progress both in regard to finances and membership.

NO SUCH ADDRESS.

The local detective office has received a telegram from the New York police, asking them to locate Robert F. Guest, thought to live at 2187 East Queen street. There is no such address, and in the New York City morgue and from papers found on him the New York police believe Guest is a friend of his.

IS CRITICALLY HURT.

While engaged in coupling freight cars in the Union Station yards yesterday afternoon Arthur Walker, 609 Crawford street, was caught between two shunting cars and badly crushed. He was conveyed to the Western Hospital, where it is reported he has internal injuries and is in a critical condition.

DEMOLISHED CAR VESTIBULE.

A horse in a Rogers Coal Co. delivery wagon ran away from in front of the Toronto Silver Plate Co. on King street, and struck a car, which was only stopped after it had collided with and completely demolished the front vestibule of Queen street car 1033, at the corner of King and Portland streets. The wagon was also badly broken and the horse may have to be shot.

LABOR SMOKER.

A smoking concert will be held in the assembly hall of the Labor Temple on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Independent Labor party. In addition to their regular program they will render, Fred Banerford will address the gathering on "Workmen's Compensation From Labor Standpoint." Controller Simpson will also speak while Joseph Gibbons will occupy the chair.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

There has been placed on the statute books of Canada millions of dollars of cash subsidies which have never been earned by the companies having received them. Millions of dollars of expenditures which have never been repaid. The original authorizing legislation.

The Canadian Northern is not an exception to this general statement. Guarantees have been granted by provincial governments for lines which have never been commenced, which, in some cases, were never built, and which, in some cases, were never completed.

These guarantees, with up-earned cash subsidies to certain railways, which the system are charged up by state subsidies, casually referring to the blue book, as against the constructed mileage of the C. N. R.

So much for the origin of representations that have taken place. Now as to the fact that the C. N. R. Co. has under construction, and expects to have completed by the end of 1914, 9343 miles of railway. There are completed 8694 miles under operation. 7182 miles of mileage has cost for construction and equipment to Dec. 31, 1913, $30,319,232. From the Dominion and the provincial governments, and from municipalities, up to the same date, there have been received by the companies forming the C. N. R. systems, what amount to $20,000,000 in cash subsidies, or about 6 per cent. of the total cost of the railway mileage constructed.

These grants are correct. They include all the cash subsidies received from public sources as a set-off against the three hundred and three million of costs before mentioned.

When compared with the cash subsidies given to either of the other transcontinental railways, or when compared with the total cost of the work and the great economies of good which has been and is being accomplished by the C. N. R. system, these grants are not excessive.

The idea that the public mind may be misled by the cash subsidies granted or to put it mildly, there has been given an opportunity to reinvest the subsidies in outside ventures.

The critics at this point, naturally asks what about the land grants. Let me explain in a few words this all too hopelessly misrepresented fact of the case. Briefly, the grants were made between 1882 and 1890 to three companies: The Lake Manitoba Rail### way and Canal Co., the Winnipeg and Hudson Bay Railway Co. and the Manitoba and Southern Railway Co. For the construction of certain defined lines in Manitoba, and then in the Northwest Territories. The lands at that time had little value, and the reason for inadequate transportation facilities, there was no eagerness to take up farming in Western Canada, and under the homestead regulations, a few settlers coming into the country obtained all the land they required for the discharge of homestead duties. The promoters who had the support of the financial interests. The promoters of the Winnipeg and Hudson Bay Railway visited New York, London and Paris in a fruitless endeavor to arouse an interest in the undertaking.

Years after the land grants had been authorized by parliament, Mackenzie and Mann bought the charters carrying the land grants, and built the railways. They were the financial backers of Canada, or the United States, and of the continent, after careful scrutiny, repeatedly refused to do. After the railway had been constructed and the statutory provisions for the grants discharged, Mackenzie and Mann owned the land exactly in the same way as the man on the street owns his watch. If he had then retired from railway building, and had retained the lands, they would be in an enviable position in today's world of finance. One would not need to go far back in Canadian history to find examples of men who have done this very thing.

However, this was not the course of action. The lands were turned over to the Canadian Northern Railway Co. and used for issuing land grant bonds. Lands were sold from time to time at market value, and the proceeds applied in redemption of these bonds. Up to Dec. 31, 1913, there were issued $24,000,000 of land grant bonds. The land grant made to the companies, the charters and rights of which were secured by Mackenzie and Mann, total $30,000,000. The company got the benefit of these lands.

It will not be denied that the C. N. R. has shared in the work of development of western Canada in the days when it was needed, when western Canada had been for years practically stagnant. The railways in existence at the advent of the C. N. R. were located in the southern portion of Manitoba and the then territories. The C. N. R. plunged into the comparatively unknown and untraveled country of the north, making for the Saskatchewan River, and subsequently traversing the Saskatchewan Valley from the Pas du Nord to the Rocky Mountains, across the river eight times in a distance of 1000 miles.

Brought in Settlers.

The completed route of the territory brought to its railway settlers from the United States, the United States and Europe, and placed them on the land. By reason of the erill of the war, the immigration at that date, it succeeded in building up a territory which was ultimately to be known as the prairie provinces. There have been expanded by the C. N. R. the industrial agencies for colonization work in the prairie provinces. There have been expanded by the C. N. R. the industrial agencies for colonization work in the prairie provinces.

Eastern Lands Less Valuable.

In assistance of eastern lines, the Ontario Government has granted 2,000,000 acres of land, and the Quebec 749,540 acres of land. These lands are wooded

MINISKAMING MINING COMPANY ANNUAL STATEMENT ISSUED

Free Gold Found In Quarry in Previously Unprospected Ground Near Northwest Corner of Property.

The seventh annual report of the directors of the Miniskaming Mining Company, Limited, for the year ended 31st December, 1913, was issued yesterday, and in part says: The financial statement shows that our income amounted to $428,468.75, and the expenditure to $428,468.75, leaving a net profit of $117,375.00 on the year's work.

Of this amount, $75,000 was disbursed as a dividend, and the remainder added to last year's balance on profit and loss account. The total dividends paid now amount to $1,354,155.55.

Our profits show a marked decrease as compared with those of the previous year, a result solely due to the scarcity of high-grade ore, the depletion of the reserves of which was foreseen in the last annual statement, unless new deposits could be located to replenish it. In this, however, we have been little favored, but so long as we have sufficient ore available to take care of our current expenditure, we look forward with confidence to sooner or later encountering some of those substantial bodies of high-grade, which, in the past, have been so material a factor in our earnings.

At present most of our production comes from the diabase formation, 850 feet below the surface, the camp's deepest productive workings, and we will soon be attacking the same bodies at a depth of 100 feet, with reasonably sanguine expectations of success, considering the results obtaining in the level above. The total production for the year was 738,726 ounces, $55,930 of which were recovered by hand-sorting, and $33,795 by concentration.

The total ounces of silver produced from the mine since the commencement of operations is now 7,173,352, of which amount 2,307,812 ounces were recovered at the mill, the complement direct by hand-sorting.

As previously advised during the year, owing to the falling off in our earnings and our reluctance to jeopardize in any way the financial position of this company, it was decided, for the present at least, to advance no further of its money towards the development of the North Dome property. There is ample stock in the North Dome Company's treasury for this purpose, but owing to the stringent money conditions prevailing, the market has been unfavorable for the disposal of any of it.

The underground results obtained on this property were not so high as were to be expected from the rich surface showings, and the similar specimen ore was encountered from time to time throughout its workings. It was but limited in extent, the whole thing resolving itself into a large tonnage of low-grade ore, running $2 to $7 to the ton. This will have to be much more developed, however, to merit the heavy expenditure that would be necessary to install a fit plant to treat it with any reasonable margin of profit, a provision altogether beyond the present means of this company.

It may be added that, before ceasing work here, a diamond drill hole was put down in the previously unprospected ground near the southwest corner of the property, where the contact between the slate and porphyry is hidden from view by deep musings, with the view of picking up the supposed extension of the Big Dome series along this zone. At a vertical depth of some 400 feet, about 60 feet from the surface, a vein of quartz was reached, cross-cutting will immediately commence to test the known veins striking north and south, incidentally testing their extension into the south end of our Gas lot, which is quite close by.

It was thought wise to take this step because of the early necessity of testing this outlying section of our territory, and as it was economically impossible to do this from our main shaft, it was decided to take advantage of the work already done on the Duchess close to our line, and at the same time be in a position to benefit by any favorable results that might accrue from our work on it.

The work is still quite a sound position financially, your directors think it inadvisable to declare any more dividends at the present time, but rather to conserve the available funds until an improved condition in the reserves of your property should merit a further distribution.

Lead, Kindly Light

The words of this beautiful hymn were written by Cardinal Newman, and published anonymously in 1832, in The British Magazine. John B. Dykes composed the music, and both words and music are known and loved wherever the English language is spoken. Cardinal Newman was for many years a priest of the Catholic Church in England, being made a cardinal in 1879. He will long be remembered for his masterful defence of his faith in a controversy with the great Gladstone, known at the time as "the battle of the giants." His whole life was one of sincerity and saintliness, and his memory will always be revered by his countrymen. He died in 1890.

The music was written by the author of "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul"—as noted above—who ranks among the greatest of English musicians.

"Heart Songs" contains many sacred songs and melodies which are adapted to ritualistic work, as well as home, church or Sunday school. The music and words are the highest expression of true religious faith, regardless of creed or denomination.

THE IDEAL NIGHT TRAIN TO MONTREAL

Is From North Toronto Via Canadian Pacific.

North Toronto Station serves one of Toronto's most largely populated residential districts, and the excellent service offered by the Canadian Pacific Toronto to Montreal should appeal strongly to the traveling public, not only those residing in that vicinity, but to all Torontonians.

A feature in connection with this service and providing a class of accommodation most sought after by the traveling public is the operation of an electric-lighted compartment observation car, in addition to electric-lighted standard sleepers.

The hour of departure, at 10 p.m. daily, is an ideal one, enabling passengers desirous of retiring early to do so, as berths are ready for occupancy when train is placed. Montreal is reached at 7:35 a.m., affording business men plenty of time for breakfast before office hours. Electric-lighted standard sleeping car to Ottawa is also carried on this train.

Secure tickets and berths from any C. P. R. agent.

CATTLE MARKET PRICES FIRMER

Good to Choice Cattle Sold a Little Higher on Monday.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards yesterday were 67 car loads, comprising 1221 cattle, 644 hogs, 83 sheep and 188 calves.

The cattle trade was fairly active yesterday, there being a few good to choice lots on sale, which were quickly bought up at an advance of 10c to 15c, and in some instances, 20c per cwt. In all other classes of live stock there was little, if any change in prices for hogs, which were quoted a little lower.

Butchers. Choice steers sold at $3.25 to $3.65; good steers and heifers, $2.75 to $3.10; medium, $2.40 to $2.80; common steers and heifers, $2.10 to $2.50.

Stockers and Feeders. Only a limited number of stockers and feeders were on sale. Choice quality steers of good weight, 800 to 900 lbs., at $3.50; good steers, $3.20 to $3.75; stockers, $2.75 to $3.25.

Receipts of calves were again light, and prices ruled firm. Choice veal calves, $10 to $11; good, $9 to $10; medium, $7.50 to $8.50; common calves, $6.50 to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs. The sheep and lamb market was firm. Sheep, light ewes, sold at $6.50 to $7; heavy ewes, $5.75 to $6.25; lambs, $5.25 to $5.75; heavy lambs, $4.50 to $5.25; choice lambs, $4 to $4.75.

Hogs. Selects, fed, and watered, were quoted at $3.10. Representative sales. Rice and Whaley sold 12 car loads: Six loads heavy steers, $3.25 to $3.50; 2 loads good, butchers, $2.75 to $3.10; 2 loads common butchers, $2.10 to $2.50.

U.S. IS INCLUDED IN "ALL NATIONS"

Former British Ambassador Discussed Panama Tolls Question at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—American diplomats who negotiated the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty had no thought of exempting the United States when they agreed to the provision stipulating that "all nations" should use the Panama Canal on equal terms, according to Henry White, former ambassador to Great Britain. Mr. White was secretary of the embassy at London in 1898, and in the absence of Ambassador Hay opened the negotiations for the repeal of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, which the Hay-Pauncefote pact supplanted.

In an address on diplomacy before the George Washington University students today, he declared that there could be no doubt that the words "all nations" were intended to include the United States.

"Nobody," said the former ambassador, "not in touch with diplomatic affairs could realize what a deplorable thing it was to know that this country was going back on its word. No one views with deeper humiliation the fact that we have no merchant marine. I would, therefore, do anything that could be done with propriety for the resuscitation of our merchant marine, but I do not believe in violating our pledged word."

Senators O'Gorman and Chamberlain purpose to fight against repeal until the last, but many Democratic senators are assuring the president that they will reverse the action of congress.

Representative Adamson, chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, plans to have a repeal bill reported from his committee.
