Miss MacMurphy's Special Reviews

Keep You in Immediate Touch With All That is New in Books—in Fiction, Poetry, Biography, etc.

THE LATEST WORK of well-known writers, any notable production by an unknown writer, any new collection or compilation that carries special interest—these will figure pre-eminently in the list of reviews by Miss Marjory MacMurphy, now posted in the Book Department. They will constitute the leading feature of this new service lately arranged for the benefit of patrons of the Department.

Here, for instance, is what Miss MacMurphy has to say about Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, just published, Mr. Bliss Carman's book of verse, and Mr. Thompson-Seton's latest animal stories:

"The World for Sale"—Sir Gilbert Parker.

This romantic story of the Canadian West was written by Sir Gilbert Parker before the War. Its characters include a strange mingling of races—Sydney, French-Canadian, Canadian, English, Georgian and negro. Fleda Druse, the roman girl, is a romantic type that finds a fit background in the Western p.e.n.s. Striking and quick action, the glamour of love and romance are good qualities in a very readable story. (Price $1.25.)

"April Airs"—Bliss Carman.

After the fine avior tradition of Canadian verse, Mr. Bliss Carman continues to write poems of Nature. He has lived in New England long enough to call this little volume "A Book of New England Lyrics," but he writes "A Remembrance."

"For spreading her old enchantment Of tender ineffable wonder, Summer is there in the Northland! How should I my heart not know!"

—Some of the loveliest songs he has written are in "April Airs." (Price, $1.00.)

"Wild Animal Ways"—Ernest Thompson-Seton.

"In Wild Animal Ways," the first story, "Coaly-Bay, the Outlaw Horse," is a good tale, and sets the reader free from his desk or her knitting. But Mr. Thompson-Seton has never written a better story of the wild than "Foam, or The Life and Adventure of a Razor-Backed Hog." It takes one back to the days when Mr. Thompson-Seton first began to write his wonderful stories. The story of Foam is a genuine Odyssey. It will arm a boy with the spirit of pluck, fidelity and hardihood, and will make us all think more, andy and reasonably of four-footed creatures. One of Mr. Thompson-Seton's earlier stories and one of his best, we can never forget the "Wild Animal Ways" is a fine book, splendid for boys and girls, and very good for the rest of the world. (Price, $1.25.)

In view of the scarcity of knitting yarn, and the immense demand for it, this particular supply is sure to be soon exhausted. T. EATON CO LIMITED

This is Interesting

MANY people who heard Professor Frank Alvah Parsons' recent lectures, and many who for some reason or other were not able to hear them, will be glad to know that this clever man's book on "Interior Decoration" is now available in the Book Department. After reading its interesting pages and studying its charming illustrations, one cannot fail to conclude that it more than justifies the little foreword on the title page. This declares it to be "A book of interior decoration that will be good for all time, because it is based not upon what is vogue at the moment, but what is right by the true principles of art and practice. From it the reader will learn not only what is good art in furnishing, but how to go about securing that result under any condition, whether it be for the home, public hall or hotel." The writer's treatment of historical period and characteristic styles in furniture and decoration is particularly entertaining to read and valuable to remember. The price of the book is $3.00.

Wear, doubtless, of waiting for skirts to grow long again trains have added to the new evening gowns, even though the same gowns still angle many lines above the instep in front. Young-looking, attenuated little trains they are consisting of a mere trailing strand of tulle or a limp, drooping pennant of velvet or brocade. Sometimes in fact they are so very meagre as to feel the necessity of repeating themselves of appearing in two, one on either side of the back. But, whatever their form, they are the finishing touch in many of the smartest dinner and dance frocks you see in New York. They will be forgotten, moreover, on certain of the French and American models in the little Grey and Rose rooms, in the Costume Department, here.

Another thing you notice down in Gotham is the real capriciousness of the new cape collars of moleskin, Hudson seal, ermine and other molish furs. Some of them reach to the very waist, where they are often bordered with rows of tails in true old-time fashion. On the young, slim figure they look delightfully quaint, and on the elderly woman they look charmingly picturesque. But she who is reluctantly turning the corner of middle age would be wise to choose one of the long, graceful stoles or jaunty little scarfs of black, taupe or cross fox. For capes verily have a tendency to make one look one's age.

The square-cut nail is a feature of some of the prettiest of the new blouses. It characterizes a delectable little model in flesh pink and Georgette crepe bound with satin of the same alluring tint, the price of which is $4.00.

A rug specialist gives these practical hints respecting the care of Oriental carpets: Oriental rugs should not be beaten, as this is liable to break the warp. They should be kept lying flat on the floor and cleaned by a broom or vacuum machine. If they are soiled or stained the wisest plan is to have them washed by a reliable cleaner, a process which adds to the life and lustre of a good carpet. To change the position of a rug is also advisable, as it distributes the wear and thus makes for greater durability. The Rug Department on the Fourth Floor undertakes the washing of Oriental rugs as described.

Dodgers Just Ousted To Beat the Red Sox 4 to 3

DODGERS ON THEIR HOME LOT OUTPLAYED THE RED SOX Put Savage Vigor Into Their Batting, and Even the Grand Boston Defeat Could Not Hold Them Back.

New York, Oct. 10.—Firmly entrenched within their own grounds, the Brooklyn Nationals turned on the Boston Red Sox by a score of 4 to 3, in the third game of the series.

True to their predictions, the Superbas, playing at Ebbets Field, proved far more formidable than when under the spell of Boston's cold stadium. Twice deprived of victory after thrilling battles at Braves Field, they finally rose in their might this afternoon, and, with the plaudits of the home fans ringing in their ears, they batted out a victory with savage vigor, swinging their bludgeons with such effectiveness that neither the pitcher nor the stonewall defense of the Red Sox could hold them in check. His runs of their bats with the snap and deadliness of exploding shrapnel, and while the invaders made a determined resistance, they were forced to bow to the superior playing of the winners.

As a result of their triumph, their supporters' joy and hopes reached great heights, and the victory was followed by one of the most extraordinary celebrations ever seen upon a world's series battlefield. Hardly had the final outburst of cheering subsided, when the players were pouring into the diamond and outfield, where they appeared to be carried away with the enthusiasm of conquest. The demonstration made the part of the lack of thrilling features, which lifted the first two contests out of the rank of ordinary baseball contests. The players, realizing in the third game the tenseness and sensational individual play which dominated the preceding clashes at Braves Field, Brooklyn jumped into the lead early in the contest, and was never headed, although the Boston club kept up to within a run of tying the score in the closing innings.

Neither was the game marked by super-excellent baseball, but Brooklyn won, and with the hope that the team would repeat tomorrow, that was entirely sufficient for their supporters. In contrast with the Boston games, that of today was played in cozy weather, and the spectators were necessary for comfort to the spectators in all but the sunny left-field stands.

Jack Coombs, already a veteran of two world's series, was the star of the day, as he came in for unstinted praise, both for his splendid twisting in the early innings, and for his cool-headed determination in requesting to be relieved when he felt himself slipping, and re-

DODGERS' WINNING PITCHER

Old Jack Coombs, formerly of the Athletics, pitched winning ball against the Red Sox yesterday, but fared in the sixth and seventh and was replaced by Pfeffer after Gardner's home run. Coombs batted in a run with a clean single in the fourth.

Likely to Pitch Today Pfeffer and Leonard

Jeff Pfeffer was in great form while working against the Red Sox yesterday. Jeff eight men in six innings, and not one of them reached first base. He will likely pitch today, with Dutch Leonard as his opponent.

The one-run margin was against the Red Sox yesterday. On Monday it was the sixth straight time in their recent world series warfare that the Sox got out of their home run game on their National League opponent. Carrihan's smooth-shouldered machine, which has been the Sox's big run. The Crimson Sox won the second game of their favorite world's series score of 3 to 1, but they were the goats yesterday.

Boston writers call the Red Sox the greatest one-run club the game has ever produced. They won eighty per cent. of their games during the regular 1916 season. They generally had the pitcher who could outlast the other fellow until the break came in the Sox team's favor.

After losing the first game of the 1916 series to Philadelphia, 3 to 1, the Sox have scored six straight triumphs over their rivals from the Tenderloin—Philadelphia and Brooklyn—by scores of 2 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 1, and 2 to 1.

FOURTEEN YEARS AS MANAGER OF GIANTS

John McGraw took charge of the New York Giants in July, 1902, after leaving the American League and returning to the National League field. Incidentally, McGraw was the manager of the Baltimore Orioles, as the fans of that city hold McGraw responsible for the fact that the Maryland metropolitans were sold to the Baltimore club, although larger than several cities in the big show.

McGraw was popular in Baltimore as a veteran of the pennant-winning Orioles of the National League, was also popular in Philadelphia, where he managed the Philadelphia Athletics from 1901 to 1902. McGraw took charge of the Baltimore Orioles in 1901. Almost from the first, McGraw and President Johnson were at loggerheads, and the warfare between the league boss and the scrappy pilot reached its culmination in July, 1902, when McGraw, backed by the controlling stockholders of the Baltimore club, sold their stock to the National League.

McGraw then went to New York, and on July 19 was engaged as manager of the Giants by Andrew Freedman, then owner of the Polo Grounds aggregation. McGraw took with him to New York several of the Baltimore Orioles, including Bill Joyce, Cap Anson, John B. Day and Horace Popenoe.

Most of the time the team was in or near the cellar, and the proud team of the "People," was but a memory. Soon after McGraw took charge of the Giants, he was out to John T. Brush, and in 1903 the Giants finished second.

The following year McGraw won the first of the five pennants he has annexed since he took charge of the Giants. In 1904, McGraw was still considered one of the best leaders in the history of the game.

MALVERN WINNERS

Malvern defeated North Toronto, 13 to 9, in a High School Rugby game yesterday.

HONEST CLOUTING TELLS WHY THIRD WENT TO BROOKLYN

Robbie's Boys Found Mays to Their Liking and Piled Up the Runs Early—Coombs Took Himself Out of the Game When Gardner Hit a Homer.

Hooper sent a triple over Shorten's head, scoring Wheat and Mowrey. Scott came in to make Dauby pick-up and a fine throw to first on Miller's slow roller, getting his man at first. Two runs.

Boston—Hooper, first up, tied to Wheat. A left fielder threw the first ball. Hooper tried to stretch it into a home run, but was out at first. Shorten tried to pick up the ball on the hit and was out. Stengel to Mowrey.

Boston—Hooper was hit by a pitched ball. Daubert laid down a perfect bunt for his first hit of the series. Stengel scored on Miller's throw. Hooper tried to stretch it into a home run, but was out at first. Shorten tried to pick up the ball on the hit and was out. Stengel to Mowrey.

CHANGES IN TANKARD AND DISTRICT GROUPS

The Ontario Curling Association is Preparing for the Winter Season.

No one asks to have the laws or rules altered for the curling season, which will be held in a number of districts. The Ontario Association will carry on the two championships as usual, viz. for Tankard and District Cup. The revision of the groupings shows only trivial alterations.

In the Tankard Millbrook drops out of No. 8, and Barrie and Elmwood drop out of No. 6. Barrie is now in No. 7, while the Barrie Thistles go over from No. 7 and take the place of the Barrie Club in No. 6. The rest of the 16 groups remain unchanged.

The Toronto and suburban groups are as follows:
 Group No. 4—Toronto Granite, Toronto Lakeside, Toronto Parkdale, West Toronto.
 Group No. 5—Toronto, Toronto Aberdeen, Toronto High Park, Toronto Queen City.
 Group No. 13—Agincourt Heather, Markham, Newmarket, Oshawa, Richmond Hill, Stouffville, Scarborough, Thornhill.

In the districts Lakeside is a new club in No. 2, Bala and Gravenhurst in No. 4, where Elmvalley drops out. The rest of the eight remain as they were. The Toronto district clubs are all in District No. 1, which is divided into two groups as follows:
 Group A—Agincourt Heather, Brampton, Clarendon, Markham, Newmarket, Oshawa, Richmond Hill, Scarborough, Stouffville, Swanton, Thornhill.
 Group B—Toronto, Toronto Aberdeen, Toronto Granite, Toronto High Park, Toronto Lakeside, Toronto Parkdale, Toronto Queen City, Toronto Riverdale, West Toronto.

The two winners play off to see who is to represent the district in the final.

Sportsmen Play Tigers Rugby Next Saturday

The only opportunity Toronto Rugby followers will have of seeing a game of senior Rugby will be on Saturday at Varsity Stadium when the Hamilton Tigers (1916) meet the Toronto Sportsmen (1916) in a scheduled match in the Varsity military series.

The Sportsmen are shown by the close game (18 to 9) they played on the holiday at Hamilton. The Tigers have a nifty team, but the Sportsmen outplayed them in the second half, scoring 7 points to 2. They are confident of winning the game here by a good margin.

Toronto Chess Club Elect New Officers

The Toronto Chess Club last night held its tenth annual meeting at the clubrooms, 41 Church street, where K. F. Powell, the treasurer, read his annual report, for which he received the thanks of the members and was highly complimented by the president, Mr. R. G. Hunter.

They call him C. Hercules Ebbets, which is somewhat different and colder than if they called him Charley Ebbets, the somewhat serious expression on his face, the way he sits up in the cheapest collection of ball players in existence, a team made up of cast-off players, and men called "ball players" by managers. Yet Wilbert Robinson would compare Ebbets with the best of the world's material into such a powerful, compact mass, that if he swung, it would have the momentum to the very crest of the National League.

This is almost exactly the tone of the remarks made concerning George T. Stallings' team when they came thru for the world's championship in 1914. They weren't any good, but they won just the same. History may repeat itself.

THE Battle OF THE Somme

"THE GREATEST MOVING PICTURE IN THE WORLD"

Sir Douglas Haig
Commander-in-chief of the British Forces at the Front.

THE OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT film recording the inauguration of the Battle of the Somme, and described by The London Evening News as "The greatest moving picture in the world," will be presented in Toronto on Monday, October 16, for the first time in Canada, and every afternoon and evening during all of next week, at the Regent Theatre, under the auspices of The Toronto Daily World.

Edited by General Haig

These wonderful pictures comprise the first war film to be allowed out of England without coming before the British censor. They were released for public exhibition as a tribute to the heroism of the British army, including the expeditionary forces of the British Dominions beyond the seas. And the sub-titles and explanatory notes were edited and corrected by Sir Douglas Haig himself. As the film stands it is official, and must not be tampered with. If it shows something of the horror of war, it shows more of British heroism.

Lady Drummond Asks Help of Canada to Defeat "Insane Intention."

CHANGE NOT ADVISABLE

Relations Between Canadians and Men of Britain Should Continue.

Any who had the pleasure of hearing Lady Drummond speak on any occasion can imagine the feeling with which she espouses the cause of the Canadian soldier when he asks that the relationship that has existed in the hospitals between him and his brethren of the British Isles or of the allies should be continued.

Hitherto the men of these different countries have been taken to the various hospitals irrespective of the place from which they fall. Now there is a movement on foot to segregate the Canadian soldiers in the old country in Canadian hospitals. It is said that while the minister of militia is held responsible by The Manchester Guardian and others for the proposed change, the suggestion really came from a board of medical men, headed by Col. Bruce. The contention is that hospitals supported by Canadian money are for the most part devoted to British soldiers, and that Canadians have to go to British hospitals, where they are supported on funds other than those from their own country.

Orpington, the institution built by the Ontario Government, is cited as a case in point. Here it is said that out of five hundred patients not more than one-fourth are Canadians. The doctors contend that greater efficiency could be obtained by segregation, especially for wounds of long standing, the freshly wounded to be placed in the most available hospital. Like to Mingle.

The view of the opponents of the change is expressed by Lady Drummond in an answer to the letter of Beckles Wilson in The Times. "I have it on my (Wilson's) own authority that it is not in any sense an official statement, but simply his individual opinion, strengthened into belief by his own imperial feeling. Therefore I wish to point out that this letter in no wise modifies my protest."

Lady Drummond then quotes a wounded Canadian sergeant at an English hospital, who says: "I can only speak for my own company, but I know our men like to mingle with English Tommies. It has not only been a benefit from a disciplinary point of view, it moreover has decidedly broadened their outlook. The proposed isolation would be a greater misfortune for the French-Canadians than any other measure."

The last statement is probably based upon the fact that many of the English soldiers are able to converse with the soldiers from Quebec in the French tongue, but simply his individual would feel the deprivation were they removed from this opportunity.

Summing up, Lady Drummond trusts to Canada's support at home to help her fight out the issue. She says: "Canada will help defeat such an insane intention. The proposal is anti-imperial and opposed to every real interest, not of the Empire only, but of every single unit of it."

Opinion of I. O. D. E.

The following cablegram has been received by Mrs. E. F. Johnston, who is acting president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, in the absence of the president in England:

Mrs. E. F. Johnston, Acting President, I.O.D.E., 119 St. George Street, Toronto.

Please make this public through press in Canada, and support in every way possible the Canadian wounded: "To the Editor of The Times: Sir—I have read Lady Drummond's letter in support of the segregation of the British army, including the expeditionary forces of the British Dominions beyond the seas. And the sub-titles and explanatory notes were edited and corrected by Sir Douglas Haig himself. As the film stands it is official, and must not be tampered with. If it shows something of the horror of war, it shows more of British heroism."

The Big Show is Here

ONCE a year retailers and newspapers all over North America join in a display called International Newspaper Window Display Week. It is now going on.

Many of our own merchants are participating as anyone can see by looking at the windows filled with newspaper advertised products and bearing the signs giving the reason for their presence.

When thousands of dealers in nearly 400 of the principal cities of North America concentrate in one week on one kind of a display window, it comes pretty near being The Big Show.

It is in fact the most impressive advertising demonstration ever held anywhere—the visualizing of the super power of newspaper advertising.

This year Window Week shows a greater variety of products than ever before, for many more general advertisers have come into the newspapers in 1916 than in any previous year.

This year more retailers are taking part because of their desire to convince manufacturers that the only kind of advertising that helps them is direct newspaper advertising.

This big show—International Newspaper Window Display Week—is well worth the study of anyone interested in the great problems of advertising and merchandising.

CAPTAIN R. M. FAIR KILLED IN ACTION

Shot by Sniper While Passing Thru a Captured Village.

LATEST LIST HEAVY Lance-Corp. J. W. Rowland, Well-Known Lacrosse Player, Falls.

Unofficial reports received in Toronto state that Captain R. M. Fair, eldest son of Mrs. Fair, 4 Sandford avenue, was killed in action, Sept. 22. He was attending McGill University, and took out his commission with a second contingent battalion and on arriving at the front was transferred to a trench mortar brigade. The colonel of his unit, in writing to the soldier's mother, stated that Fair was passing thru a captured village when he was shot by a sniper.

Reported killed in action, Lieut. J. H. Prescott, was, before enlisting with the 83rd Battalion, assistant manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia. He entered the trenches last June and was a native of New Brunswick and came to Toronto six years ago.

Wounded in the leg, Lieut. Christie T. Clark, of the 74th Battalion, is a son of F. J. Clark, of the Rolph and Clark Company. He was educated at St. Andrew's College and when the 74th was broken up in England, joined the Mounted Rifles.

Lieut. Tom and Gerald Baylis Dixon, adopted sons of F. Haylis, 143 Major street, have both been wounded in action. They were born in England and enlisted together as privates. During the battle of Zillebeke, they were both wounded and were granted commissions on their return to the firing line. Tom was wounded in the leg and Gerald has a gunshot wound in the chest.

Suffering from wounds received on Oct. 4, Lieut. P. G. Young, well known in sporting circles, has been removed to a base hospital. Lieut. Young's mother lives at 182 Campbell avenue and he went overseas with the 74th. In England the unit was broken up and he obtained a commission with a mounted unit.

Pte. Lewis Gray, whose next of kin live in Syracuse, N.Y., was killed in action on Oct. 8. He joined the 81st Battalion and when the unit was split up, was sent to France in a draft.

Reported missing, Pte. William Fee, 333 Bartlett avenue, went overseas in a draft from the 35th Battalion. Last November he was sent to join the first division and during that month was wounded, but remained on duty.

Another well-known lacrosse player has been killed in action. Lance-Corporal J. W. Rowland, played with the Tecumseh lacrosse team in 1911 when it went to Vancouver to contest for the Minto Cup. He joined the 35th Battalion and had been in the trenches over a year.

Sergeant Samuel J. Trimble, killed in action, was a veteran of the South African War. He was 10 months in the trenches and was, prior to signing up, a conductor on the York Radial

JUDGE CONDEMNNS MOTOR REGULATIONS

Justice Middleton Would Have Every Driver of Car Pass Examination.

SPEAKS STRONGLY No Leniency for Man Who Drives Instrument of Death While Drunk.

Condemnation of the existing regulations regarding motor cars, and the laws concerning their operation featured in the grand jury of the criminal assizes, which commenced in the city hall yesterday. Commenting on the number of cases on the list as the result of motor car accidents, his lordship urged the jurymen to make some recommendations which would lead to the reduction of accidents. He referred to the fact that the owner of a car, or any member of his family, under the present regulations is allowed, whether capable or incapable, to drive a car on the public highways. He considered that every individual driving a car should be required to pass an examination just the same as chauffeurs, who employ this means of earning a livelihood.

Justice Middleton spoke strongly in connection with the cases in which drunken men have met with accidents while driving cars. He said that no mercy should be accorded to any man who, under the influence of liquor, takes one of these "instruments of death" on the public highway.

Decrease in Crime. He was delighted with the great decrease in the amount of crime, and stated that the last time he addressed a Toronto grand jury there were over four hundred persons in the jail, while at the present time only eighty-four persons are incarcerated. On his last visit to Hamilton only eleven people were in there.

With reference to the case of Albert Sinclair, sr., who is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his son, his lordship pointed out that there was no evidence taken at the police court proceedings to justify the committal. "The fact that there was no evidence submitted makes your duty as grand jurors more onerous," he said. "There was no evidence of murder and no evidence at all against the father. You are not to infer, however, from what I have said that there was no foundation for the charge, but the evidence should have been sent forward for your examination. The prisoner has a right to be at the preliminary inquests, the purpose of which is to let the prisoner see what is the nature of the offence with which he is charged."
