QOTS SHANTEL SWIM HALF MILE OFF GOAL

COL. FREYBURG HANDICAPPED BY WAR WOUNDS

Tide Turns And Carries
Him Out To Sea
Again

17 HOURS FIGHT
V. C. Winner Left French Coast
at 8.25 Last Night; Water
Was Cold

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lieut.-Colonel Bernard C. Freyburg, V. C., lost by a slight half-mile today in his attempt to swim the English Channel. After battling the treacherous tides and currents of the channel for approximately 17 hours, during which at one time he was only 500 yards from the English coast, he abandoned the attempt, which began at Cap Gris Nez at 8.25 o'clock last night. The tide had turned and carried him out to sea again. The pilot accompanying him in the tug told the swimmer that it would be four hours before another change would again enable him to approach the shore.

WATER COLD

Freyburg decided that because of the low temperature of the water, and the improbability that he could last for four more hours, he would abandon the attempt. Colonel Freyburg was handicapped by the effects of numerous wounds received in the world war. He served in the British forces throughout the war, including the Dardanelles campaign, and held the rank of Brigadier-General at the close of the conflict.

WON V. C.

He was wounded nine times, mentioned in despatches six times, and besides the Victoria Cross, won the D. S. O., with two bars. He is 35 years of age. At seventeen he was champion long distance swimmer of New Zealand, where he was educated. During the Gallipoli campaign, he swam from a British destroyer four miles to the shore and lit flares which facilitated the landing operations of the British forces.

IF ELECTED WOULD CANCEL CONTRACTS. Tells Sackville Audience He Is Growing Away From Party Label.

Sackville, Aug. 4.—There was a large audience at the Imperial Theatre tonight to hear Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter and the Opposition candidates for Westmorland county. Senator Black was the principal speaker. Five minute addresses were given by the candidates, H. M. Wood, M. C. Siddall, Dr. M. A. Oulton and A. J. Leger, who expressed pleasure at the confidence placed in them and asked for support on Aug. 10. Mr. Leger spoke in both English and French. Selections were given by the Citizens' Band.

Dr. Baxter referred to the Workmen's Compensation Act which he said would not be interfered with by his government, except to cut the cost of administration.

The speaker dealt at some length with the hydro development at Musquash and Grand Falls. He contended that another independent estimate should be made before the Grand Falls work was proceeded with. He did not take much stock in the fact that the tender for building the dam in connection with Grand Falls was below the estimate. This was only a small part of the work. He said that if elected he would cancel the contract.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 5, 1925.

MARITIME PORTS

A subscriber of the Toronto Globe recently pointed out to me that in discussing the port of Vancouver it had remarked upon the advantage of its being open the year round, overlooking the fact that the ports of the Maritime Provinces are likewise year-round ports.

The Globe, which as a rule shows itself fair and even friendly toward Maritime claims, says: "A staunch upholder of the Maritime Province ports writes that in pointing to the open water all year round at Vancouver for grain shipments the same condition at Maritime ports is overlooked."

That may be true, but the advantage of Vancouver for short haul and long water haulage from the western half of the prairies is apparent, while for the winter the long rail haulage to the Atlantic is a handicap in cost.

It has never been contended in the Maritimes that Vancouver should have the proportion of Canadian freight to which its geographical position and the existence of the Panama canal entitle it. But the claims of the Maritime ports cannot be dismissed with the mere statement that winter haulage to the water here is costly.

In the first place the rate to Saint John and Halifax is no greater than that to Portland, Maine, and if a proper use be made of the Transatlantic, considering its favorable grades and its capacity for handling much heavier tonnage than the same locomotive power can haul to Portland, the actual operating cost to the Maritimes will stand up under any reasonable comparison.

And, of course, the Portland issue is but one. The Canadian traffic that goes to the coast of New York, indeed the whole problem of diverted business, is a growing menace.

The Government of Canada recently asked the Railway Commission to look into the question of greater traffic through Canadian ports, and the Commission goes into the matter—of immense importance to all Canadians—it will no doubt give close examination to the point which the Transatlantic now plays in national transportation, and the part it might play if it were used for the purposes for which it was built.

In discussing the question of ports, the Government, the Toronto Globe, and the Railway Commission should all look squarely in the face of the fact that this country to-day is suffering tremendous economic loss because of a great proportion of traffic of Canadian origin is carried by American transportation agencies to American ports.

The greater part of the cost of the railways now constituting the Canadian National was undertaken chiefly for the purpose of making Canada self-sufficient in the matter of transportation, of increasing inter-provincial trade, and of keeping Canadian freight in Canadian channels. The people of the Maritime Provinces contributed, and are contributing, very heavily to the cost and maintenance of these railways, but it is known to all Canada that the purpose for which they were built are not being rightly served, and will not be rightly served until a very much greater proportion of the nation's traffic is handled by its own railways and its own harbors.

This question of the right use of Maritime ports is not one that can be lightly brushed aside. There must be a show down, and not a distant day.

THE STRIVING CITIES. At the same time it is curious that while the two largest cities of Canada are wrangling for the coveted prize, while they are willing to admit the claims of smaller cities, such as Halifax or Saint John, and would probably prefer to see it go to one of them, rather than be outdone by each other, Quebec is quite ignored.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Chronicle-Telegraph, in making the remarks quoted, is discussing the proposed holding of a celebration in 1927 to mark the diamond jubilee of Confederation. As soon as consideration of this project was begun, Montreal and Toronto, naturally enough, both began to say that they should have it. The claim was put forward on behalf of Montreal, that, as a great argument, only received mention in newspapers which noted the celebrating location has no merit in this particular case. It is maintained by the Toronto Star that the Ontario capital, because of its more central location, would draw larger crowds than Montreal and would be better able way to a fresh period of expansion.

to accommodate them, an assertion which Montreal challenges sharply. Montreal, it is pointed out, is not only the largest of Canada's cities, but is made up of both French and English-speaking people, and is in many ways more ideally fitted for a Confederation celebration than other places.

Now comes the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, which admits that this project originated in Montreal, but which says that Quebec City is "the cradle of Confederation," that it is more convenient for overseas visitors than Montreal, that it can draw as large a crowd as Toronto, and that the Tercentenary celebration should be held there. It is in the Quebec conference, and on the site that now is Montmorency Park, that Confederation Day is to be held.

It is not here, in the City of Champlain, that the most grandiose, the most successful pageant ever seen in Canada was organized and carried through to success on the occasion of its tercentenary. If there is to be a profit of a function, it should do it. Justice was first thought of and already been actively promoted by Montreal, then we believe that Quebec should not meekly stand aside. It is here in the cradle of Confederation, and nowhere else, that the diamond jubilee ought to be observed with fitting honors.

As for "admitting the claims" of Saint John and Halifax, there is little of that going round in the big city of Central Canada, beyond admitting our inalienable right to pay taxes, too often for national enterprises from which we derive no advantage, and which we are compared with other parts of the Dominion.

SMUTS AND SECURITY. The warning recently issued by General Smuts against the proposed security pact is the subject of considerable discussion in London. It is said that he sent unselected to a London newspaper by cable his arguments against the arrangement to which the British Government is committed. One of his objections is that the proposed pact would "stereotype the settlement of Europe under the peace treaties."

Another is that as some of the Dominion, in his view, are certain to stand aside from the agreement, this would mean that Britain would be unilaterally taking a line of her own which other parts of the Empire would not follow.

Some of General Smuts' critics in London are reminding him that he was one of the men responsible for the whole of which he is not now so ready to speak. He is being asked whether he believes in the whole of the Versailles can be discarded without involving another war. It is pointed out, also, that while Great Britain naturally has every desire to undertake in Europe only such responsibilities as the overseas Dominions are prepared to share, and are prepared to share, the outstanding fact at the moment appears to be that the Dominion is not disposed to commit themselves while as a matter of fact, European security without inviting greater dangers than it seems likely to bring.

General Smuts is reminded that while he warns Great Britain strongly and solemnly against "the specter of Europe," those specters, and Britain's powerful and conflicting neighbors, cannot be conjured out of existence by mere words. And, however much any of the Dominions may be impressed by the Smuts warning, these essential facts remain. Even many Englishmen who feel a sense of uneasiness concerning the proposed arrangement are compelled to recognize the fact that the nature of her trade, and the extent of Empire interests and Empire territory, cannot decide upon a policy of mere isolation. It is compelled by circumstances to take a hand in dealing the European cards.

Under the circumstances, while there is little satisfaction in doing so, it is natural that London observers should be asking General Smuts why, if he knows a better plan than the security pact, he has not made Britain a present of it.

There is a tone of increased business confidence in Winnipeg of late. Announcement has been made that the Hudson Bay Company is to build a great store in Portage Avenue, and the city is to undertake the construction of a memorial boulevard from Portage Avenue to the legislative buildings. In publishing the news that these improvements are now practically assured, the Manitoba Free Press says this "takes one back to the previous days when Winnipeg was a heart location has no merit in this particular case. It is maintained by the Toronto Star that the Ontario capital, because of its more central location, would draw larger crowds than Montreal and would be better able way to a fresh period of expansion."

Former Saint John Minister Resigns. SYDNEY, Aug. 4.—Sydney Presbytery today permitted the resignation of Rev. F. S. Dowling, assistant minister of St. Andrew's United Church.

A congregational resolution of regret stated that industrial depression made the change necessary and highly commended the services of Mr. Dowling, who came here about two years ago from Saint John, N. B.

For the present the minister, Colonel St. Andrew, will carry on alone at St. Andrew's.

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

Rainbows

No two people see the same rainbow. Each views his own arc of loveliness through raindrops of a multitude of raindrops. Other multitudes of raindrops produce other rainbows for other multitudes of people. But it is never the same bow. Says a writer in the National Geographic magazine:

The falling raindrops are as colorless as the water in your drinking glass until they arrive at a certain line in the sky; then they flash forth their blue of color for a fraction of a second and resume their colorless paths, colorless, that is, for your eye. But their pencils of colored light may be falling on another eye and creating a bow for that eye. The eyes of the rainbow are yours, and yours only.

It is indeed a fascinating fact, and one which has no rainbows of his own—of his second, the eyes of something out of life which free itself from the raindrops of the sky and opens in the right place and at the right time, and lifted to the heavens of the rainbow, and union of multi-colored glory. Such visions have made poets and prophets.

The rainbow of the spirit waits—but not for long. If man delays to look for it, it will be gone. Like the rainbow of the sky, it is not a material thing like a cloud or a tree; it circles one draws in the air with a whirling torch. But the eye of fancy, the eye of the spirit, the eye of the mind, results in its beauty.

The rainbow is hot of earth. It is not material. Hence there are those who never see it, and who never see it. Their eyes are fixed upon the ground, and they are seeking the pot of gold. And by them the glorious arc goes unseen.

British Empire "A Menace"

(Kingston Standard). How any supposedly well educated man can describe the British Empire as a menace to the world is beyond understanding, yet this has been stated by Professor Cary Coady, of Harvard University, and an Italian Fascist Senator, at a meeting of the International Institute of Politics at Williams-town, Mass. It is not necessary to refer to the people with whom the "menace" has been connected to see the absurdity of such a statement. There is the German menace, and there is the Soviet menace. Everyone now understands that the former means to take the leading part by immense sacrifices, which are not yet over, in defeating it. Can any one in his senses say the menace of the Empire can be brought off for a moment as compared with what it would mean if the Soviets gained control? The subject is really scarcely worth noticing, and can be dismissed by quoting the saying that has never been contradicted truthfully, "The Empire is the greatest instrument for righteousness that the world has ever seen."

GYRO CLUB OUTING IS MUCH ENJOYED

Picnic at Loch Lomond Proves to be Very Successful Event. The most successful outing the Gyro Club has ever held was that at Loch Lomond yesterday with the day's program of sports and happy events. A unique baseball game played between the married men and the ladies, resulting in a win for the latter, 8 to 2. All thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Supper was had at the Hotel.

The results of the events were as follows: Three-legged race—First, Gil Hart and Lloyd Ryan; second, Harold Finley and Stan Rankine. Shot put—First, Murray Sinclair; second, Gil Hart. 50 yard dash—First, Murray Sinclair; second, Lloyd Ryan.

Three events were the patch—Joe Keyes and Marion Rankine. Dash, eat a biscuit and whistle—Harold Finley. Tag of war—won by the married men.

Ladies' race—First, Miss Kennan; second, Miss Bowyer. Tag of war—won by the single ladies.

The officials were Ralph Gale and Arthur Rankine, Judges; Lyle MacFarrer, clerk of course, and Dr. I. K. Gowen, starter. Harold D. Finley acted as general chairman for the picnic arrangements and to his efforts, as well as those of his committee, belong the credit of organizing the most successful outing the Gyro Club has held since its inauguration here.

Liberals Speak in Kings County

NORTON, N. B., Aug. 4.—Two government meetings in Kings County this evening heard vigorous addresses from the speakers and were attended by large and enthusiastic audiences. At Hatfield's Point the speakers were Hon. W. P. Jones, K.C., of Woodstock; Col. O. W. Wetmore and Sterling Keith, one of the candidates.

At Collins the speakers were Dr. G. H. McAllister, of Sussex; Col. G. S. Kinner and C. J. MacPherson. The issues of the election were discussed at both meetings.

SYDNEY, Aug. 4.—Sydney Presbytery today permitted the resignation of Rev. F. S. Dowling, assistant minister of St. Andrew's United Church.

SECOND ARTICLE FROM ANGUS McLEAN

In this, my second article, I would like to submit for the benefit of those of the public who have not read same, some correspondence which appeared in the press, which speaks for itself.

From the Fredericton Gleaner, Monday, July 27th, 1925.

SECRET CONCLAVE HELD AT CHATHAM

Lumber Barons Seeking Strange Hold on the Crown Lands

CAMPAIGN FUND FOR OPPOSITION

Quebec Scale and Leases in Perpetuity Among the Demands

Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner. CHATHAM, N. B., July 27.—Grandly as they are to be congratulated for their success in securing the Quebec scale and leases in perpetuity, the lumber barons are not without their own secret conclave here.

It is understood that the lumber barons are in the process of organizing a campaign fund for the Opposition party and through their support behind Col. John Balmington MacAsky, Baxter, the new Opposition leader, and his cohorts.

Upon the understanding that these concessions would be given to the lumber barons, they have in the past publicly stated that they could make and unmake governments through their support in the present election behind the Opposition.

Practically every one of the big lumber barons, who already control practically all New Brunswick's Crown lands, and the province's richest natural resources, are lined up against the Veniot Government today, in almost direct or their indirect representatives on the Opposition ticket—to serve the big interests of the lumber barons.

SOME MORE DEMANDS. In addition to the introduction of the Quebec scale—which would mean that every free holder when he sold a thousand feet of lumber would be really selling 1,200 feet, every contractor when he contracted for a job would have to get out 1,200 feet of lumber for every 1,000 feet of lumber that the workmen would have to perform on the job.

One block of 6,000 shares of U. S. Steel common was changed hands at 120 1/2, up 1/2, and initial gains of a point or more, were recorded by Missouri Pacific pfd, Mack Trucks, General Motors and Glaxo Company attained new 1925 high prices.

Morning Stock Letter. NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The market closed strongly yesterday under leadership of steel. Believe steel will sell higher and that at present it is the best speculation on the list, presuming, of course, that the market is going higher. There is enough doubt about the latter, however, to warrant extreme caution, and we believe one should cut down commitments. According to the Times this morning, President Coolidge hopes to make railroad consolidations one of the big domestic policies in the next three years. He hopes that voluntary action by the railroads will be the most drastic legislation unnecessary, but if legislation is required to make the consolidations and the consequent economies in transportation he will not hesitate to recommend congressional action. There is no doubt that they are far behind the industrialists and that traffic and earnings are sufficient to justify higher prices. The biggest speculation, though, still seems to be the low priced rails, like Katy, New Haven, O.W., etc. So far is still a good purchase.

Bituminous and Anthracite Production in United States on Increase.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Coal production, which has lagged somewhat during the recent months, is now shown in the weekly production statistics of the bureau of mines to be increasing sharply. For the week ended July 25, the bureau reported the total output of bituminous in the United States was 9,225,000 tons, against 8,966,000 the preceding week, and 7,885,000 during the corresponding week of last year. Anthracite production for the week ended July 25 was 2,049,000 tons, against 1,955,000 the preceding week and 1,857,000 in the corresponding week of 1924.

Tourist Travel Breaks Record

ST. STEPHEN, Aug. 4.—The tourist travel beat all records here Sunday and Monday when 281 cars passed through the customs on these two days. On Sunday 150 cars passed through the customs. This is the largest number that the local customs has ever experienced. On Monday 131 cars passed through, making the second largest number. Up to Monday, Aug. 3, 3,167 cars have passed through the customs at this point. Last year to the same time 2,395 cars registered, making an increase of 772.

Hikes 177 Miles To Enlist; Is Rejected

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Edward Langfield's feet were good enough to carry him over the 177 miles from Fall River, Mass., to New York, but not good enough to get him into the army. At the Army Building they told him why. His feet were flat. His two companions, John W. and Ronald F. Watson, who had walked 840 miles from Fryeburg, Me., had better feet and better luck. They were accepted for the artillery. Langfield, flat-footed, disconsolate, but still patriotic, is now thinking of the 177 miles between here and Fall River.

GOLD PAYMENT IS NOT FROM RESERVE

Bank of France Ships $6,000,000 to United States—Interest Payment.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—The news that the Bank of France has shipped gold from its reserves to New York, gathered from despatches announcing that the Federal Reserve Bank on Monday received $6,000,000 in gold from Paris, caused a flurry in financial circles yesterday. There was considerable speculation whether the French government had adopted a new policy of sending gold to cover interest payments to the United States, rather than buying dollars on the open market.

Free School Books For N. B. Children

"HELPING THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF NEW BRUNSWICK TO GET AN EDUCATION" FIRST FREE SCHOOLBOOKS TO BE PROVIDED BY THE GOVERNMENT NEXT TERM. PUBLIC SCHOOL. This is only one other of the direct benefits being given the families of New Brunswick by the Government's progressive policy. No father or mother will deny giving credit to Premier Veniot's administration for this extra consideration. To the home of moderate financial circumstances where there are several children, free school books will be a direct blessing—and what about widowed workday mothers? Support such a Government!

ONLY FOUR DAYS REMAIN BEFORE ELECTION DAY

The Government's Hydro policy in the instance of the Musquash development has broken a monopoly and reduced the cost of electricity fully two-thirds! Its Grand Falls project will do the same for the remainder of the province and place our homeland upon footing equal with Quebec, Ontario and New England as a cheap manufacturing centre.

The Government's Road Policy is the talk of tourists and natives alike. It has done more to bring New Brunswick before the traveling world than anything ever before attempted and the great influx of strangers has only fairly begun. Besides it is a new source of inter-communication for rural and city residents.

The Government's Health Act is the wonderment of the medical world. It is being copied by other provinces and states. As a net result it is saving 1,200 lives per year, is regulating the health of all ages of people and is something too sacred in its spirit and effectiveness to be held up to ridicule by ribald Opposition speakers.

The Government has ordered free school books for children of the Province to be distributed next month. It has helped the Farmer, instituted Vocational Training for more than 6,000 youths and maidens; is laying away nearly five per cent. of its revenue for sinking funds and is supporting Abattoirs for pork packing enterprises and their far-reaching benefits.

The Government is vigilantly fighting off the attacks of some big employers who object to the moderate levy made on them to support Workmen's Compensation. Workpeople are being protected in this regard and are receiving compensation when injured—hundreds of them weekly.

The Government seeking a new lease of power commends itself to the honest consideration of the fair-minded voting public. Its opponents are using every petty and distorted argument to bring about confusion and defeat, even stooping to the oldtime racial cry, and the last resort the introduction of the White Hood!

These are serious matters, to be considered well by non-partisan folks, who after all are the sensible, dependable household element of people who have the common good of their province and fellow citizens next their heart. Dr. Baxter, leader of the Opposition forces, says provincial elections have nothing whatever to do with Federal affairs and that a voter is at liberty to cast his or her ballot in any way he or she chooses, without any qualms about injuring their own party.

SATISFY YOUR CONSCIENCE, NOT PARTY. E. J. Henneberty, B. C. L. L. M. Curran, M. D. Wm. A. Ross, B. A.
