British Election Predicted To Be Fiercest In Modern Times

FRANCE DEARLY WANTS BRITAIN TO OUST

BALDWIN IS BITTERLY ATTACKED

Opposition Parties Feel They Have Deep Grievance Against Premier.

SUPPORTERS RESENT

Labor Short of Funds and Women to Turn the Balance.

(By Canadian Press.)

London, Nov. 16.—It is predicted that the coming election will be one of the fiercest political fights seen in Great Britain in modern times; certainly there is no lack of bitterness in the speeches and newspaper comments thus far.

The opposition parties feel they have a deep grievance against the Premier for what they term "playing a confidence trick upon the public" in concealing his intentions and forcing an unnecessary election.

Mr. Baldwin's supporters resent this and warmly defend his "honesty of purpose."

Thus a good deal of temper has been injected into the contest at the outset.

Labor Cash Scarce
Labor admits itself short of funds, shorter in fact, than ever before, and attributes its poverty to the fact that unemployment and underemployment have emptied the pockets of the workers.

Its chief woman organizer, Dr. Marion Phillips, says this election represents "a daring example of the class struggle of the rich against the poor. We must ask penitence where the Liberals and Tories possess pounds; and we must ask knowing that we are demanding veritable sacrifices from hard-driven folks."

The decision of the Laborites to adhere to a capital levy as the leading feature of their campaign cannot but be welcome to the other parties as in their view this weakens Labor's chances while giving them a valuable argument. Labor, it is also predicted, will suffer from its refusal now said to be final—to make any arrangement with the Liberals with a view to avoiding split votes.

Tin-Can Election
Mr. Lloyd George's jibe in the House of Commons yesterday that the ministers were going to the country with tin cans tied to their tails to ask a blank check—an allusion of the proposed preference duty on canned salmon—has taken the fancy of the Liberal press and will be heard on many platforms.

The failure of the plans to bring Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkhead into the Government ranks is deplored by those Conservatives who think the loss of these statesmen will prove a great injury to the party's cause. The incident, in fact, is frequently referred to as a split in the Tory ranks.

Split Is Averted

The Times, however, argues that on the contrary it has averted a split which certainly would have followed if the negotiations with the two ex-ministers had succeeded. Many of the younger members of the Government, says the newspaper, would have resigned rather than serve with Lord Birkenhead.

Women are to take a very large part in the fight as organizers and campaigners, and all parties are likely to receive a large share for their help. Labor in particular contends that women will win the election. Dr. Phillips asserts that the poll will be a battle of the mothers and housewives against the risers in prices which a tariff would bring.

Consider Appeal In Murder Case

Montreal, Nov. 16.—The Court of Appeals here yesterday took under advisement a motion asking for a new trial in the case of Wilfrid St. Onge, sentenced to be hanged Jan. 16, for the murder of Nestor Gavrilovitch, a Roumanian cobler of this city.

Three points of law were claimed by St. Onge's counsel, who claimed they are sufficient to warrant a new trial. It is expected a decision will be given early next week.

Woman's Life Saved By Sagacious Dogs

The Dallas, Ore., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Ruby Pettis, aged 53, who lives on a ranch at Slocan Falls, near here, told in a hospital here how her life had been saved by her two dogs, Jack and Pop. While driving a loaded wagon Sunday, the wagon turned over, pinning her beneath the load.

SHARP POINTS IN ELECTION SPEECHES

Prominent Liberals Criticize Baldwin's Policy in the British House.

London, Nov. 16.—Some interesting points culled from speeches made by prominent Liberals in the present election contest follow:
Sir John Simon—The Premier has a perfect genius for uniting his opponents and confounding his supporters. Walter Runciman—Premier Baldwin has turned "tranquillity" into turmoil. Sir Alfred Mond—What concessions in the dominions heavy tariffs against the entry of British goods has the government obtained in exchange for the concessions in the proposed preference? Could they tell the consumers of dried fruits, tinned salmon and raw apples that the sacrifices they are called upon to make would assist British industry? Anyway, protection always has been a subsidy to private interests at the expense of the public, and is a pernicious, corrupting influence on public life.

Viccount Grey—We have everything to gain by the election and we are going in, thank goodness as a united party. I have always felt that the Premier could not by talking, but just waiting until there came up some great question banking the people agree so they could not help uniting.

HEADLESS BODY IS FOUND IN C. P. YARD

Young Man Victim of Tragedy at Sudbury, Ont.—Fearfully Mangled.

Sudbury, Ont., Nov. 16.—The headless body of an apparently young man was found in the Sudbury yards of the C. P. R. last night. The head was smashed beyond all recognition. The left leg was severed at the thigh and the right ankle was smashed. The clothes were apparently of good quality, but were so torn that only parts of them had been located by the police. In one pocket was found a small quantity of silver but no documents which might identify him. It is considered possible that he had fallen off the eastbound passenger train for Montreal, dropping his head between cars or that he had dropped off and trying to get up in front of a westbound freight train that pulled out just after the passenger train came in.

Madrid, Nov. 16.—Admiral Magas yesterday took the oath of office as temporary president of the military dictatorship. He will exercise the functions of this office during the absence in Italy of Gen. Primo Rivera, who is accompanying King Alfonso and Queen Victoria on their visit to Rome.

KING SHOWS ANXIETY IN SPEECH

Serious Situation in Germany is Brought to the Nation's Attention.

FRANCE WATCHED

Liquor Question With United States Reviewed by His Majesty.

BY LLOYD ALLEN, British United Press.

London, Nov. 16.—After a speech from the throne revealing the "profound anxiety" with which Britain views the continental situation, King George dissolved Parliament today. With Anglo-French friendship apparently the breaking point against the King, in his usual restrained language, directly placed on France responsibility for holding up a solution of the reparations problems. The speech from the throne, always a carefully weighed statement prepared by the Cabinet, was read by the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Cave, in the House of Lords shortly after Parliament assembled for its usual early Friday session.

It referred to Anglo-American efforts to start a reparations inquiry, and continued— "Unfortunately it was not possible to secure the assent of the French Government to proposals which it had made to assist British industry to a solution of the reparations problem."

"My government regards with profound anxiety the continuance of the present economic conditions in Europe, in which industry is engaged in the most serious struggle since the war, and the attention of my Government is directed to the King's speech, always explained here for its slightest shading of meaning as conveying the utmost significance, then passed in the House of Commons and the Anglo-American discussions about search of ships of the American coast for liquor, and noted—

"Negotiations are proceeding with the United States Government for the settlement of difficulties as regards the carriage of liquor in transit and its illicit importation into the United States."

Berlin Presses Work Overtime to Grind Out Paper Money.

BY WEBB MILLER (United Press Cable.)

Paris, Nov. 16.—"Expel the German Crown Prince with or without the help of England," was the call on the French government voiced by the press today.

Following the sharp disagreement between England and France that came to light in the ambassadors' conference yesterday and the British Prime Minister's warning of a refusal to collaborate with France, Premier Poincaré was urged to discipline Germany by himself. PRESSES RUSH MONEY

Berlin, Nov. 15.—More than 100 private printing shops were working three shifts a day to help the Reichs Bank print paper money for Germany before the establishment of the new "renten mark."

Thirty paper factories turned over their entire output to the government printing shops. The main Reichs Bank in Berlin has been sending 2,000 shipments of notes daily to outlying branches to keep pace with the drop of the mark in relation to the dollar.

AIRPLANES ARE EMPLOYED

Automobiles, airplanes and trains were employed to carry them. Much of the money returned to the Reichsbank, where 1,000 women and girls working in three eight-hour shifts counted in and sent to be chopped up, and made into wrapping paper and cardboard.

(By Canadian Press.)

Berlin, Nov. 16.—A strike of workmen in the Berlin mills has been terminated quickly by the vigorous action of the military authorities, who arrested the workers' delegates. Her attorney will seek to have the case dropped, so the proposed honeymoon to Florida may be started immediately.

A visitor to The Times today was "Bill" Maynes, sensational quarter mile runner, who is considered a likely contender for the Canadian Olympic team. He is a student at St. Francis Xavier University at Antigonish, and is here to participate in the Maritime floor championships this evening in the Arena. He had his right foot injured some weeks ago, and it is not in good shape, but he hopes to make a good showing this evening. It will be recalled that he was runner-up in the 25 per cent. mile race in the championships, although he was set back at the start of the race, he finished in the middle of the pack.

MICHAUD SUGGESTS FEDERAL SUPPORT

Matter of Provincial Immigration Discussed at Ottawa Meeting.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—At the immigration gathering of representatives of the provinces here yesterday the idea was advanced by Hon. D. A. Cameron, Provincial Secretary of Nova Scotia, that settlers with sufficient money to buy farms and machinery were what Nova Scotia needed most in the way of immigration. While the province could absorb a reasonable number of farm helpers, Mr. Cameron did not look upon this phase of the situation as at all acute.

The representative for Nova Scotia raised the question of emigration to the United States. He said that the number of young people leaving the province was positively alarming. Unless some scheme could be devised whereby the Provincial Government with the assistance of the Federal Government could render financial assistance to farm settlers lacking sufficient money to set themselves up in business, Mr. Cameron believed that Nova Scotia might make up its mind to face a number of years as far as immigration was concerned.

New Brunswick was in practically the same situation as Nova Scotia, Hon. D. W. Merseure, Minister of Agriculture, informed the conference when he rose to present the case for New Brunswick. He stressed what Mr. Cameron had said about the exodus of young Canadians to the United States and hoped some means could be devised to bring back the "boys and girls" and retain those who remained. Mr. Merseure complimented the Soldiers' Settlement Board upon the work it had accomplished and held, in concluding, that fitness for the business and sufficient capital were the two paramount considerations in selecting settlers for the farms in the Maritime Provinces.

Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister without portfolio in the New Brunswick Government, suggested that if some means could be found for permitting his province to appoint representatives to work with the immigration organizations maintained overseas by the Federal Government, New Brunswick would be able to carry on an aggressive campaign for immigrants. It would be too expensive for the province to attempt such a policy single-handed, he contended.

MENTIONED FOR POSITION. More than a dozen names are mentioned as applicants for the vacant position of Registrar of Probate. Among those prominently mentioned are Percy J. Steel, Heber S. Keith, B. S. Smith, Frank Kerr, Frank Hamm and E. P. O'Toole. J. M. Trueman was gazetted deputy registrar of probate without salary during the period Judge McInerney was registrar. He continued deputy at the request of the late registrar, S. B. Bastin. He is not an applicant for the position of registrar but is requesting the Government to accept his resignation when the new registrar is appointed. The position of registrar will probably be filled without any great delay to facilitate the large amount of business which passes through the St. John Probate Court.

Henry Borden, Grand Pre, a graduate of McGill and now studying law at Dalhousie, was awarded the Nova Scotia Rhodes Scholarship for 1924. It was announced last night at Halifax. "Bill" Mayave, the well known city athlete, a student at St. Francis Xavier was one of the nine candidates for the scholarship.

Duncan MacKellar, West St. John; Albert Morris, Garnett Settlement, and Frank Godwin, Little River, have been appointed justices of the peace. John Connolly was fined $200 in the police court yesterday afternoon for having intoxicating liquor in his beer shop, Main street.

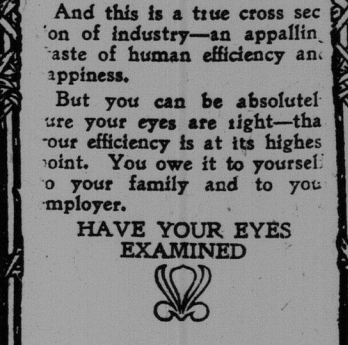

Three former Russian officers, who reached Montreal as stowaways and are now serving a month's sentence in jail there on that charge, have been ordered deported and will probably be sent back to Greece from this port, as they came from that country on the steamer Sawtell.

Safe Fat Reduction

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the over-fat wigg their hands in mortification and helplessness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly, and quickly, reaching their ideal of figure, with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famously harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription, it behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a box or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

SCOTTISH FORTITUDE. (Louisville Courier-Journal). If North Carolina has become one of the most prosperous, as it has always been one of the most virtuous, of American commonwealths, the credit for the achievement is due in no small measure to Scotsmen there who, while the last 50 years, have made bricks without straw and spread splendor through their once war-wasted homes.

HOSPITAL AID
PLANS TAG DAY

Large Attendance at Meeting Held Yesterday—Reports Encouraging.

The generous responses to the book day and jelly day appeals was spoken of at the meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid yesterday with much gratification, but the low ebb of the finances was a matter of serious concern and it was decided to hold a tag day in March and also to solicit the assistance of the chapters of the I. O. O. F., Mrs. E. Atherton Smith presided at the meeting which was held in the Board of Trade rooms with a large attendance.

The executive's action was approved in appointing Mrs. J. Goldman to replace Mrs. L. Green. Mrs. H. E. Thomas, as convener of the committee on ways and means, recommended that I. O. O. F. chapters be asked for assistance and that a tag day should be held if possible in March. This was agreed to. The Aid maintains the services of a social service nurse and its funds have reached a low ebb.

The appointment of a vice-president for the Christian church was decided upon and Mrs. W. J. Johnston was elected.

Mrs. L. A. McAlpine read an article by Dr. Copeland, who pointed out that hospitals answered every call made upon them and that no citizen had fulfilled his duty unless he had helped to support the local hospital.

Mrs. Lester Mowry, the treasurer, reported a balance of $839.17 in the general fund; $668.91 in the emergency fund and $11.47 in the flowers fund. The Halloween treat had cost $4.41.

Mrs. L. Owens reported on the Halloween treat which had been given to the 24 children in hospital and decorations for the epidemic and the children's ward. A report was given of the Thanksgiving treat of fruit provided for the public patients.

Mrs. P. H. Carter for the book committee reported that Book Day had been a success, 295 books for adults and 250 for children and many magazines having been received. She had catalogued the books and put in book plates and 80 books were sent to the epidemic hospital. Great appreciation was expressed for the response to the Book Day appeal.

The book committee and magazine convener were asked to suggest a plan for having supervision of the books.

Mrs. Ralph Robertson, as convener for the visiting committee, reported on the weekly visiting and gifts

QUEEN SQUARE HAS SPECTACLE

"Silent Command" Gripping Photoplay of International Intrigue.

International intrigues form the basis of the William Fox production, "The Silent Command," which opened a three day run at the Queen Square Theatre last night. Shots of the Panama Canal, the Atlantic and Pacific fleets and others showing a storm at sea, must have strained the steel nerves of cameramen.

Edmund Lowe, as Captain Richard Deatur, of the U. S. Navy, leaps from a sinking vessel into a sea that rages furiously on a rock-bound coast. He swims to a life-line and draws himself hand over hand to safety aboard a navy life boat. The crew risks their lives not only in lowering the boat from the decks of a man of war, but again when they pull away into open sea, rolling dangerously under a whipping gale.

Again, in the wireless room of the sinking ship, Lowe engages in a hand-to-hand struggle with Bela Lugosi, who appears as the agent of a foreign power, intending to mine the Panama Canal.

Exterior scenes at Annapolis, the Brooklyn Navy Yard and aboard ship, as well as at sea and in the Canal, are remarkable in their effectiveness. And the story, dealing with the nary intelligence bureau and its cunning, pitted against the clever brain of international spies, is something to bring a thrill.

John D. Rockefeller took his first job 68 years ago.

delicacies and books. More stationery was needed, Mrs. Robertson said, and this the meeting voted to purchase. She spoke of many very pathetic cases. The response to jelly day for public patients had been wonderful and Mrs. Robertson announced that those who gave jellies and jams might receive their containers by applying at the hospital.

Special thanks were extended members of the book committee and all who helped for jelly day.

Miss Belle Howe reported as social service worker telling of 54 visits and cases supplied for four cases, as well as assistance procured for some cases leaving the hospital. An Indian family was sent to a reserve in Quebec with the assistance of the Aid. One family with eight children was being assisted by the Christian church and from the Women's Council free milk fund.

Denominational vice-presidents presented reports telling of fees received from three members for the Anglicans, three for the Presbyterians, two for the Hebrews, 44 for the Methodists and 26 for the Catholics. The Baptist showed eight out of the 11 churches had been organized.

MATING IN THE WILDS

By OTTAWELL BINNS
Illustrated by RALPH WATKINS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
Hubert Stane, a successful contractor, while visiting a northern post on Hudson Bay Company, meets an old friend, Gerald Ainley, who promises to call at Stane's camp at midnight. Stane becomes acquainted with Miskodee, a beautiful Indian girl. At midnight Stane is attacked and carried off by Indians. He awakens to find himself in strange surroundings.

Ainley, traveling with a governor of the company, falls in love with Helen Yardey, the governor's niece. Helen disappears from her uncle's camp and Gerald goes in search of her. Stane rescues Helen from the river when her canoe travels toward a dangerous waterfall.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
"Yes! That is the name. I remember my uncle mentioning it yesterday."
"Then you came down the main stream for a certainty, for the old fort stands on a lake that finds an outlet into this river, though it is rather a long way from here. We will keep straight on. No doubt we shall strike either your uncle's camp or some research party presently."

As it happened the conclusion he reached was based on a miscalculation. The only waterway to old Fort Winsport that he knew was from the main river and up the stream that formed the outlet for the lake. But there was another that was reached by a short portage through the woods from the subsidiary stream from which he turned aside, a waterway which fed the lake, and which cut off at least a hundred and twenty miles. Knowing nothing of this shorter route he naturally concluded that Helen Yardey's canoe had come down the main stream, and took the wrong course in the perfect assurance that it was the right one.

So hugging the left bank they passed the junction of the rivers, and a little further on crossed to the other side to seek shelter from a rising wind, under the high bank. And less than an hour later the canoe, carrying Gerald Ainley and his Indian swept out the tributary stream into the broader current, and they drove down-stream, unconscious that every stroke of the paddle was taking them further from the girl whom they sought.

CHAPTER VII.

Stranded.
It was high noon when Hubert Stane directed the nose of the canoe toward a landing place in the lee of a sandbank on the upper-side of which was a pile of dry driftwood suitable for firing.

He lit a fire, prepared a wilderness meal of bacon and beans (the latter already half-cooked) and biscuit and coffee, and as they consumed it, he watched the river, a long stretch of which was visible.

The long day drew to its close and the camp they sought had not appeared, nor had any search-party materialized. As they pitched camp for the night, the doubt which all day had been in Stane's mind became a certainty.

"I'm afraid we have made a mistake, Miss Yardey. You must have come down the other river."
"I am sorry to give you all this trouble," said the girl contritely.
"Please—please!" he answered in quick protest. "Believe me it is a pleasure to serve you, and with me a few days do not matter. I shall have enough of my own company before long."

"You live alone?" asked Helen.
"I have an old Indian for companion."
"And what do you do, if you will permit me to be so curious?"
"Oh, no sauciness. I hunt, I pursue the elusive sisset, and I experiment with vegetables. And this winter I am going to start a trapping line."

"But you are rich!" she cried. "You have no need to live in exile!"
"I am rich. I suppose Ainley told you that. But exile is the only thing for me. You see a sojourn in Dartmoor spells one for county society."

"Oh," she cried, protestingly, "I cannot believe that you—that you—"
"Thank you," he said as the girl broke off in confusion. "I cannot believe it myself. But twelve good men and true believed it; an expert in handwriting was most convincing, and if you had heard the judge—"
"But you did not do it, Mr. Stane, I am sure of that."
"No," he answered, "I did not do the thing for which I suffered. But to prove my innocence is another matter."

"You have not given up the endeavor, I hope."
"No! I have a man at work in England, and I myself make small endeavors. Only the other day I thought that I—"
Apparently he remembered something, for he looked sharply at Stane.
"But why discuss the affair? It is only one of the world's small injustices which shows that the law, usually right, may go wrong occasionally."
"I suppose that the other night when you were waiting for Mr. Ainley, it was on this particular matter that you wished to see him?"
Stane made no reply, but sat looking in the fire, and the girl watching him, drew her own conclusion from his silence, a conclusion that was far from favorable to Gerald Ainley. She wondered what were the questions Stane had wished to ask her uncle's secretary, and which, as she was convinced, he had been at such pains to avoid.

Was it possible that her rescuer believed that his one-time friend had it in his power to prove his innocence of the crime for which he had suffered? All the indications seemed to point that way; and as she looked at the grave, thoughtful face, and the hair of the man who had saved her from death, she resolved that on the morrow, when she reached her uncle's camp, she would herself question Gerald Ainley upon the matter.

But, as events befell, the opportunity that the morrow was to bring was not given. For that night, whilst she slept in the little tent, and Stane, wrapped in a blanket, slumbered on a bed of spruce boughs, perhaps half-a-dozen yards away, a man crept cautiously between the trees in the rear of the encampment, and stood looking at it with covert eyes. He was a half-breed of evil countenance, and he carried an old trade gun, which he held ready for action whilst he surveyed the silent camp. His dark eyes fell on Stane sleeping in the open, and then looked towards the tent again, a question in them. Evidently he was wondering how many travelers there were; and found the thought a deterrent one; for though once he lifted his gun and pointed it to the sleeping man, he lowered it again, his eyes turning to the tent again.

After a period of indecision, the intruder left the shadow of the trees, and crept quietly down to the camp, his gun still at the ready, and with his eyes fixed on the unconscious Stane. Moving very cautiously he reached the place where the canoe was beached, and looked down at it. A gleam of satisfaction came into his dark eyes as he saw a small sack of beans reposing in the stern; then again a covetous look came into them as their gaze shifted to the stores about the camp. But these were very near the sleeping man, as as the latter stirred in his sleep, the half-breed relinquished any thought of acquiring

HE WAS A HALF-BREED OF EVIL COUNTERTENCE.
A full three-quarters of an hour later Stane awoke, and kicking aside the blankets, replenished the fire, and then went a little way up-stream to bathe. At the end of half an hour he returned. His first glance was towards the tent, the fly of which was still closed, then he looked round the camp and a puzzled look came on his face. There was something a little unfamiliar, something not present which—
"Great Scott! The canoe!"
At a run he covered the space between him and the camp, and as he looked round and saw that most of the stores reposed where he had placed them the previous night, relief surged in his heart.
"Thank heaven!"
"Mr. Stane, what is the matter? You look as if something had startled you."
He swung round instantly. Helen Yardey was standing at the tent door with a smile on her face.
"The matter is serious enough," he

A dose at bedtime of DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Made them feel jolly again
Good Health in Happy Old Age
THE chief concern of elderly people is their health, and that is best assured by regular daily bowel movement. There is no truth, however, in the notion that because you are old you need a "strong physic."

Does Not Grippe
You can be sure of satisfactory evacuations every day if you will take a spoonful of Laxative Syrup Pepsin at night when you retire. You will not as a few doses will soon encourage the bowels to act for themselves. The popularity of this wonderful family remedy has become so great that it is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Because of its mildness and freedom from griping it is especially ideal for the extremes of ages, for children and for elderly people.
Effective at Small Cost
Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at any drug store. The formula is in the package, and the cost less than a cent a dose. Take it when you feel heavy, sleepy, poor, have headache or night cramps, for these are also symptoms of constipation. Give it to the children when they are restless, fidgety or have a cold. Laxative Syrup Pepsin will keep you and your family free from constipation, a condition that lowers the vitality 25 per cent and raises the blood pressure 28 per cent. Freedom from constipation lessens the pain of kidney trouble, neuritis and rheumatism.

THE BLUES.
According to all figures, scientific data and physicians' reports, Americans are subject to attacks of "the blues" more than the people of any other country.
"The blues" may be diagnosed as a chronic state of being out of sorts, out of tune with everyone and everything, yourself included. There are melancholia, gloom, depression, a distinct lowering in mental tone and poise, physical inactivity with organic disturbances of the stomach, liver and spleen. The feeling is one apart from sorrow. The common "blues" may be said to resemble sorrow only as mist resembles rain.
The attack may be attributed to being broke, to falling hair, jabs mistle, unrequited love, taxes or your mother-in-law.
"The blues" may be banished by courage, patience and determination to accomplish the task set for you.
"Yours is a job worth having and you can do it better than anyone else."
"The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well." The sunshine of such a mind is a real tonic. Too many people underrate the real value of giving happiness as a positive health factor.
As civilization grows, we seem to depart more and more from the natural way of living. Our bodies to function less automatically. We seem to require attention like a machine. Stop worrying, eat within reason, sleep one-third of your time, be on the job, don't daydream. Enjoy the blue sky and the blue sea, but keep away from "the blues." They spoil your temperament, ruin your digestion, blight your business chances and cause the loss of friends. Decide for sunshine against "the blues."

"I'm called Andy Armadillo," answered Mister War-Tank. "Want a ride?"
"Yes!" cried the Twins quickly. And they hopped right on.
Along they went, along and along and along, their steel chattering like a phonograph every step of the way, when suddenly the Twins were dumped off on the ground, kerbump! And Mister Armadillo disappeared like a cent in a slot-machine.
"Wh—where are you go?" called Nick.
"I'm down this hole! I'm mindin' my Q's and P's as I told you, I heard someone coming. Don't wait for me, please."
"Now you know how the ant feels," called Nancy. "Come along, Nick."

The World's Fastest Shave
GENTLEMEN, your skin specialist will tell you the facts about right and wrong shaving. You should know these facts.
We offer the fastest shave in the world, yet every one a super-velvet shave with the keenest edge known on a safety razor blade.
But that is not all. We offer here a scientific shave, with due consideration given to dermatological principals, a shave which does not pull the skin or facial muscles, a shave which does not irritate.
We spent a fortune attaining a super-keen blade. It has created a world-wide sensation. Sales have reached a new peak.
ONCE OVER—THATS ALL
With this new edge you run over your face one time only. And that's where you reduce your shaving time one-half. Also, you spare your face, for dull edged blades are harmful.
Mis-treatment helps to age the face and wrong shaving is an important factor. Only a fast shave with a super-keen blade keeps the face in condition.

Social Notes of Interest

Mrs. F. T. Dunlop entertained yesterday afternoon at a delightful tea, her guests being intimate friends, many of them nurses. The function was particularly informal. Mrs. D. C. Malcolm and Mrs. John Vaughan presided at the tea table, which was centered as on Wednesday, with scarlet geraniums in a large silver loving cup, one of the pretty tablecloths owned by Mrs. Dunlop. The old candlesticks of heavy silver were set with red candles and the effect in the autumn twilight was very picturesque. Mrs. Dunlop's mother, Mrs. L. D. Millidge, received with her.

Night Club. Bridge was played in the afternoon and tea served at five. The weather was ideal for such an occasion, making the motoring from and to the city more like an October experience than a November one. Before they leave for Moncton today, other entertainment will be given the guests of yesterday. Some of those present at the function at the Golf Club were Lady Hazen, Mrs. H. B. Robinson, Mrs. Malcolm Mackay, Mrs. Arthur W. Adams, Mrs. Simon Jones, Mrs. Walter E. Foster, Mrs. George K. McLeod, Mrs. J. Busby, Mrs. Stuart Skinner, Mrs. Sherwood Skinner, Miss Helen Sidney Smith, Miss Mabel Sidney Smith and Mrs. Fred Coverhill Jones.

Sister Mary's KITCHEN
DILL PICKLES
Every old garden had its bed of dill, and now that so many women are cultivating old-fashioned gardens why not include this fragrant old-timey herb?
Dill can be dried and used during the winter months when greens are scarce, in plain salads, egg salads and with creamed fish. Let stand in cold water to fresh it for winter use in salads.
And nearly everyone likes the tang of dill in pickles with wieners or club sandwiches.
Dill pickles are usually made of cucumbers from three to four inches long. The cucumbers can be put into the brine as gathered, a few at a time, until the crock containing them is full. Then cover with grape leaves to keep crisp and take care of any top spoilage.
Dill Pickles
Wash cucumbers and wipe smooth and dry. Make a brine of four quarts of water and one quart salt. Put cucumbers in brine, cover with a weight to keep under the brine and let stand 24 hours. Remove from brine. Put a layer of dill in the bottom of a deep crock. Add cucumbers to almost half fill the crock. Add another layer of dill and fill crock to within two or three inches from the top. Cover with a layer of dill.
Four over a brine made of four quarts of water, one and one-half quarts vinegar, and one quart salt. Boil this mixture for 10 minutes. Let stand till cool and pour over cucumbers. The brine must completely cover the cucumbers to prevent mould. Put a layer of the grape leaves over the whole.
Ella's Pickles
One cup ground mustard, one scant cup salt, three quarts of vinegar, one quart water, small cucumbers.
Mix mustard, salt, vinegar and water and bring to the boiling point. Boil three minutes and let stand till cold. Wipe cucumbers dry with a clean soft cloth and put in a stone crock. Pour over vinegar and let stand three or four days before using.
These pickles can be made as the cucumbers are gathered. They are not soaked in brine before pickling. To keep, cover with a weight and store in a dry, cool place.
Cups Pickles
One cup rock salt, one cup mustard, one cup sugar, one gallon vinegar, horseradish root.
Wash cucumbers and wipe dry. Put in a stone crock. Add horseradish root well washed and cut in quarter-inch pieces. Put a layer of horseradish over each layer of cucumbers. Mix salt, mustard, sugar and vinegar and let stand until dissolved. Pour over cucumbers. Continue to add cucumbers and horseradish until crock is full.
Wash and wipe grape leaves. Cover cucumbers with seven or eight long pieces of horseradish and a thick layer of the grape leaves. Put a big plate over the crock and store in a dark, cool place.
The pickles will be ready for use in six weeks. The horseradish root keeps the pickles crisp. If the vinegar is very sharp dilute it with water. Too strong vinegar is often the cause of warty pickles. Rinse pickles in clear water before serving.
Cucumbers to present mould. Put a layer

Why Bovril puts pep into people—
MEAT is of the highest dietetic value. It not only supplies the necessary protein to our bodies, but directly stimulates cellular activity, says Prof. E. F. Cathcart, speaking to the British Association.
That is why Bovril, which contains all the most valuable part of beef in highly concentrated form, fills you full of "Pep" and does away with "that sinking feeling."
Bovril not only stimulates and nourishes; it has the unique power of enabling you to extract more nourishment from all the food you take.
COLORS
The latest hospitals are doing away with white, especially in the operating room. White, it's discovered, causes headaches, nervousness, indigestion and other ailments. So it's eliminated and more restful grays and tans are used instead.
Why don't they use green? It's the most restful color. That's why nature uses it so much in trees, grass and other plant life.

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN—that's why it relieves constipation!
Half-way measures mean nothing to the man, woman or child whose very existence is threatened by the habitual clogging of the elimination channels. Foods with only part bran can never clean and sweep the intestines in the natural way as does Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.
And, Kellogg's Bran is as delicious in flavor as it is positive in its action. If it is eaten regularly—two table-spoons daily, in chronic cases, with each meal—it will permanently relieve the most aggravated case.
Your health will be greatly improved within a brief period if you will eat this delicious Kellogg cereal. Know what Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will do for you and for your loved ones. There is no time to be lost in getting the relief that Kellogg's Bran assures.
Kellogg's Bran is delightful as a cereal, sprinkled over any hot or cold cereal, or served in countless appetizing ways in baking and cooking. It makes the best sort of pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, macaroons, etc., you ever ate. And, each thoughtful contributor to health! Kellogg's Bran works for you all the time! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation.
A pimply complexion or an offensive breath can both be overcome by the regular use of Kellogg's Bran, which is sold by grocers everywhere.

To Become Wealthy
Is an Ambition That is Cherished by Many.
You, perhaps, have the same ambition. At least, you want to be well-to-do later on, and able to enjoy comfort and independence.
What Are Your Chances?
Experience shows that of 100 average healthy men 25 years of age, the following will be true at 65:
1 only will be wealthy.
4 will be well-to-do.
5 will be compelled to go on working for a living.
36 will be dead.
54 will be dependent upon friends, relatives or charity.
Facing These Facts
Can you afford to go along without a definite plan of saving and investment, uncertain whether you will be well-off or an object of charity?
There need be no such uncertainty about your future if you adopt the safe and definite plan of setting aside a deposit regularly each year for a Canada Life "Endowment at 65."
It will guarantee you in cash at age 65 the sum of $2,000—$5,000—$10,000 or more.
It is a certainty—the full amount of your policy will be paid in any case, whether you live or die. Other investments may depreciate in value or fail. The Endowment at 65
will take care of your home, your business, or your personal interests, as nothing else can.
Substantial dividends are allotted at intervals.
If these be allowed to remain at your credit each year instead of being withdrawn, the face of the policy will be payable earlier than the date set.

FIND GIRLS LIMIT FOOD TO PAY RENT

Miss Marshall Says Housing Problem Acute—Low Wages a Factor.

New York, Nov. 16.—Working girls—bookkeepers, stenographers, milliners, teachers, factory girls—are buying less so they can pay the high rents charged for rooms, Miss Cornelia E. Marshall told a conference of social workers and State officials interested in a solution of the housing problem at a luncheon of the Association to Promote Proper Housing for Girls.

Miss Marshall urged protection of a license system for landlords so girls would be assured of clean, decent quarters at moderate rents. The average rent for a room for one week now is $8 in sections where working girls can live, said Miss Marshall, and the average wage only $20.

Thus, said Miss Marshall, the women workers who must shift for themselves in the big city are forced to economize in food. Frequently they are forbidden to cook, they eat a meagre breakfast, gulp down a cup of coffee and a sandwich during the noon hour at a lunchette and subsist on only one good meal a day—a repast served up for them at some cafeteria or restaurant at night.

Needs of Girls Not Met. There are 80,000 girls and women trying to find suitable rooms in New York each year in the Manhattan district, said Miss Marshall. Most of them have to try their luck with the landlords, for the "organized homes" have place for only 5,400. According to the last census figures there are 945,000 women and girls living in Manhattan and of these 342,218 are gainfully employed. "The girl who rooms is the most unprotected of our division of girls," said Miss Marshall, "for her needs are not met by any church, club or settlement. She follows the advertisements in the newspapers to find lodging and she has no idea what she is going to get when she goes out for a room."

"Why doesn't she go to an organized house? Because there are aren't enough in the first place, and in the second she doesn't like them. Frequently she is a girl that comes to the big city with an aspiration for freedom. Back of it very logically is her desire to meet some man and to marry and have a home. Therefore she will not willingly subject herself to rules and regulations of any board of directors."

Architect Gives Warning. Miss Marshall told of two self-supporting houses that girls who room have organized under the guidance of the Association, at 109 East Thirtieth street, housing 160 girls, and at 94 MacDougal street, sheltering 35, with no supervision other than that dictated by their own good sense.

Sullivan W. Jones, State Architect, supplemented the remarks of Miss Marshall with respect to the shortage of dwellings, saying that the community must suffer as a result of having the poorer classes of tenants crowded into small apartments.

"If they are obliged to live like animals then their condition of life becomes a menace to health and public welfare," Mr. Jones said. In the case of housing he remarked the law of supply and demand did not provide a remedy, for few if any houses to rent cheaply were being built.

Bernard L. Shientag, State Industrial Commissioner, said the fundamental problem was one of inadequate income, declaring that the housing situation was as menacing as lack of factory regulation was ten years ago, and that the time was ripe for an aroused public opinion to work out a solution. He said that 84 per cent. of the women in mercantile establishments in New York

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had it.

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Harbin, Reputed Last Outpost of Sin, Less Wicked Than Supposed.

Harbin is a young and foreign town. It is Russian rather than Chinese. It is a mixture of village and metropolis; of crudeness and elegance and of grand gaiety and of those sturdier pursuits common to the Wolfville and Main streets of every country.

There are many women and girls from the grottoes of Moscow and Petrograd and from nearer cities who are here to amuse and be amused, but above all to get in this wild, new place a livelihood or perhaps a small fortune.

THEY'RE NICE ONES. The flowers that bloom in the Spring, Tr-La. Have nothing on those in the Fall. Mrs. R. E. Coleman of 5 Metcal street, while on the way to the city this morning, plucked half a dozen pansy blooms from her front garden and brought them with her. She showed them to a Times reporter and it was difficult for that individual to believe that the flowers were picked in the middle of November and not on June 1. The colorings were perfect and the blossoms were just as fresh as they could be.

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

THE TIMES-STAR SPORT REVIEW

Breezy Briefs on Current Pastimes on Events of Interest to Fans.

That permission has been granted to the Tech hockey team to come to the Maritime Provinces during the Christmas holidays, providing that they train faithfully, will be gratifying news to hockey lovers.

Turf followers in the Maritime Provinces will regret to learn of the death of Robert McKee. He was a great lover of harness racing and on numerous occasions officiated as a starter at Moosepark Park, Moncton and other places.

Tonight the Maritime Indoor Championships will be conducted in the Arena under the auspices of the Y. M. C. I. and from all indications competition in all of the events will be keen. It would not be surprising to see some of the old records "go by the board" for this meet is bringing together some of the most promising athletes developed in the Maritime Provinces in many years.

A report has been received from Boston that the proposed match between Willie Hoppe and Jake Schaefer has been declared off. No reason has been given, but it is thought that this meeting might detract from the championship play-off in Chicago between Hoppe and Cochrane, and that those who have them under contract decided to take no chances.

Boston sport writers differ in their opinions as to the benefits, which the Braves will derive from the recent trade with the New York Giants. Arthur Duffy writes as follows: "For once we can frankly say that it looks no work out for the good of Boston fandom. In the past, the New York Yanks and McGraw, too, for that matter, have been inclined to come this way and garner up any ball player that might want in building up their championship teams. But at last Boston looks to have gotten something like a square deal. No longer do we look to be the dumping ground for either the New York or Chicago teams."

On the other hand Paul H. Shannon, sporting editor of the Boston Post says: "As far as this latest New York-Boston trade is concerned the shifting of players is not one that will arouse any great amount of enthusiasm in either city involved. Joe Osceger, of course, once a great pitcher, and still able to show flashes of an effectiveness that McGraw and his coaches may be able to develop again has never been himself since that memorable 26-inning duel with Leon Cadore. The change of scenery is bound to benefit the Californian and such a team as the Giants' cast behind him may serve to restore Osceger's fading confidence and put him in the front rank of 'twelve's once more. But the departure of Billie Southworth, easily the best player on the Braves payroll, will cause unmeasured regret."

Young Stribling, who was matched to box Joe Egan in the Boston Arena next Monday night, has asked for a postponement of the bout. He claims to have sustained an injury to his back while training. It will be recalled that Stribling in the school boy who gave Mike McFigue a trimming and who is considered one of the most promising young middleweights in America.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—(United News)—Eddie Collins, the spry old second baseman, who starts his 16th season as a major leaguer next spring at second base for the White Sox, does not want to become a big league manager yet.

"I don't want to try managing a team until I am through as a player," Collins said when he returned home today from a hunting trip in Maine. "I'll play a few seasons more."

Collins had been mentioned for the managership of the White Sox after the resignation of Kid Gleason. When Frank Chance was given the job it was thought Collins might be disappointed, but he said he would go right along with his work and wouldn't begrudge Chance his employment.

It was reported today that everything was in readiness and that the events would be started at 8 o'clock sharp. One of the big events on the card will be a mile relay race, teams from the Y. M. C. SMOKER HELD BY POWER BOAT CLUB

The first of the season's series of smoking concerts was conducted in the rooms of the St. John Power Boat Club, at Marble Cove, last night. There was a large attendance of club members and friends and the programme was greatly enjoyed.

Vice-Commodore R. A. McAuliffe presided. Vocal solos were sung by Douglas Thorne, F. J. Punter and G. Herbert Mayes, while choruses by the assembly were conducted by F. J. Punter. The North End String Band was present and delighted those present with several selections. Charlie Kane amused with banjo selections and comic songs. Master Punter provided an attraction with his piano solos.

Captain Pollock, of the Naval School, delivered an interesting lecture on the compass and his remarks proved educational to the members of the club.

Commodore Dr. J. H. Barton gave an illustrated travel talk of his trip through England, France, Belgium and Germany. The pictures were clearly shown on the canvas, and the doctor gave interesting incidents regarding the different places he had visited.

Commissioner T. H. Bullock delivered a short address and a very happy evening was brought to a close with the singing of God Save the King.

ITALIANS SEEK HORSE TO RACE WORLD'S BEST

Milan, Nov. 16.—Italian horsemen are searching for an Italian Epipurus, Zev or Papyrus. A record purse for racing in Italy will be offered early in 1924 for three-year-olds. The purse will aggregate 500,000 lire and will be given by a group of sportsmen who aim to encourage the breeding of thoroughbred stock in Italy.

The recent international race in which Zev and Papyrus participated has given added impetus to the zeal of Italian horsemen to produce sires with good blood as those in other countries.

IN MEMORIAM READY FOR ZEV

Trainer Confident He Will Win—Has Only Light Workout.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 16.—Bob Gilmore, trainer of Carl Wiedemann's In Memoriam, recent victor over Zev in the Loretta championship, has given his charge only gallop exercise so far this week and has not asked him for speed in preparation for the match with the Hancock colt at Churchill Downs on Saturday.

After In Memoriam had galloped a mile in 1:48 5/8 with a heavy stable boy on him, Gilmore said the large McGee colt was in the best condition of his career and he was confident that he would again prove Zev's master.

"I honestly believe In Memoriam can beat Zev from one-quarter of a mile to as far as horses can run," Gilmore said after the workout.

Should Zev win the match race Saturday he will have won more than $300,000 during his racing career, placing him at the top rung as the largest money winning horse in America and England. In Memoriam, too, will have set up a nice figure providing he should return the winner, as he would have earned over $100,000 and his price would be enhanced many times as a stock horse after his racing days are over.

Col. Matt J. Winn, general manager of Churchill Downs, said that the card to be offered Saturday at Churchill Downs has not been equalled on any course in America this year. Besides the match race there is the $385,000 Kentucky Jockey Club stakes at a mile, in which Wise Counselor and Happy Thoughts, two of the leading juveniles developed this season, will measure strides. Other great two-year-olds entered, including those of the Sinclair Stable.

TECH HOCKEY TEAM WILL INVADE CANADA IF THE PLAYERS STICK TO WORK

Boston, Nov. 16.—The advisory council on athletics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology has granted permission to the hockey team to make the Canadian trip during the Christmas recess to play some of the college teams there. But there is a string tied to it. The team must show marked improvement over past seasons. Whether the trip will be permitted during the last two weeks of December will depend largely upon the application of the players to training and practice, according to Dr. A. W. Rowe, of the council.

ENJOYS LIFE AS WRESTLER

Jack Albright Says it is Fun for Him.

Boston, Nov. 16.—Jack Albright of Chicago, the second grappler of late years to be known as a "Thousands holds man," Earl Craddock being the other holder of the title, is one of the clubs from Clara, Beaverton, Gladwin, Rosebush, Farewell and Coleman. Father Menner is proud of his ball-playing sons. Mrs. Menner, mother of the nine players, says she doesn't know much about the game, but likes to see her boys play and win. Playing on Sundays, as has been the custom in the league, is much against her wishes, however. Another cause for worry is her fear that some of her sons may become "too good" on the home diamond and be lured to the cities by scouts from the big leagues. Mrs. Menner wants her family to remain here and work the 600 acres of farm land that occupies most of the entire family working hours.

The age range of the brothers is 19 to 36 years. August Menner, the oldest player, is a rightfielder; Henry, the "baby," who is 19, plays second base and pitches when brother Joseph, pitcher and captain, needs relief on the mound.

The Coleman team roster is: Jason Menner, lf.; Joseph, p.; Edward, c.; William, ss.; Fred, 3b.; Floyd, 1b.; Otto, cf.; Henry, 2b. and P. August, rf. and Frank, manager.

HEALEY BEATS HUNT

Halifax, Nov. 15.—Ned Healey was given the referee's decision after the judges disagreed in his ten round bout here tonight with "Old" Hunt. Most observers agreed that Healey won the fight. Hunt led in a number of the early rounds, but especially in the last four rounds, Healey had a wide margin.

NINE BROTHERS WIN A PENNANT

Family of Six Footers Wins Baseball Championship in Michigan League.

Coleman, Mich., Nov. 15.—(A. P.)—To write the line-up of the Coleman baseball team all a scorer is required to do is to put down "Menner" at the top of the column and then jot down eight "ditto" marks beneath.

The Coleman team is all Menner—nine brothers—each a six footer, and there are three others who can pinch hit if needed. Fred Menner, 70 years old, is the father of this baseball team that won its second consecutive district league pennant this year. "Pa" Menner keeps his weather eye on the management of the club, although another son is in active charge. Mr. Menner did not miss a game during the past season, being on hand to see his boys capture 12 and lose three games played in the league that is made up of clubs from Clara, Beaverton, Gladwin, Rosebush, Farewell and Coleman.

Another cause for worry is her fear that some of her sons may become "too good" on the home diamond and be lured to the cities by scouts from the big leagues. Mrs. Menner wants her family to remain here and work the 600 acres of farm land that occupies most of the entire family working hours.

GUNNER WHO SANK FIRST U-BOAT DIES IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The man who is reputed to have fired the gun that sank the first German submarine in the world war died here this week. He was Axel Johnson, formerly of the Swedish navy, but later of the United States merchant marine during the war.

Johnson's boat sank a German submarine in August, 1917, according to his records. Soon afterward his boat was sunk by a U-boat in the North Sea and Johnson was among the crew that floated foodless for twenty-one days and until rescued.

SAYS MONEY BASIS OF CHICAGO OPERA; GALLI-CURCI DECIDES TO QUIT

Claims Commercialism Dictates Management's Policy.

New York, Nov. 16.—Mme. Galli-Curci has announced that she would not sing with the Chicago Opera Company next season because the management had refused to show her consideration in the choosing of the opening opera in which she would appear.

Mme. Galli-Curci charged that commercialism was responsible for the Chicago management's policy and said her only plans called for her appearance with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

The refusal of the management to allow her to appear in "Dinorah," her favorite opera and the one in which she scored her initial success in New York, Mme. Galli-Curci said, was responsible for her decision. Officials of the opera company, she added, requested her to sing in "Lakme."

Stay This Year. Mme. Galli-Curci's managers said that she would keep her contract to sing in Chicago this year, but after that she would appear only in concerts and at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Mme. Galli-Curci said: "Hating my attitude on the establish precedent of past seasons. I had assumed courteous consideration would be shown my desires regarding the opera to be selected, but as the present attitude of the company clearly indicates that you now deem this entirely unnecessary, I am obliged to accept your decision, inasmuch as I am bound to the company for this season. I deem it but fair, however, to inform you at this time that in view of your complete ignoring of even a preliminary discussing of my preferences I shall not be with the company next season."

Dispute With Polacco. According to reports, Mme. Galli-Curci's quarrel is with Giorgio Polacco, artistic director of the company. He and Herbert M. Johnson, general manager, took charge of the company last year after Mary Garden resigned. One of the first things Polacco did was to publish a statement that the Chicago Opera Company did not want any stars and could get along very well without them. Mme. Galli-Curci, who has been one of the company's brightest stars for seven years, replied with a statement that stars made the opera popular.

Last July Mr. Salter said Mr. Johnson agreed that Mme. Galli-Curci should open the 1935-36 season in Dinorah. On October 29, however, Mr. Polacco returned from Europe and decided on Lakme.

Hopes She'll Change Her Mind. Chicago, Nov. 16.—Samuel Insull, president of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, said he hoped Mme. Galli-Curci would "exercise a woman's privilege and change her mind."

Publicity Men Would Starve if They Depended On Producers Like Daly

(By Jack Jungmeyer)

Hollywood, Nov. 16.—Is it better policy, from the picture producers' standpoint and that of the screen celebrity, to let the public in on backstage mysteries of movieland and off-stage life of its stars, or to cultivate the glamorous illusions which once shrouded both stage and screen?

This is again becoming a hotly debated controversy, now that present day high-power exploitation of personalities has demonstrated what it may provoke of prestige or disenchantment, glory or scandal.

Appropos, is De Witt Jennings' re-emergence of Augustin Daly's methods of handling his players two decades ago—the very antithesis of seven publicity technique. Jennings, 32 years on stage and in pictures, and noted for his presentations of police inspector roles, was with Daly, whom he calls the "greatest American stage director," for a year before the impasse died.

Daly, said Jennings, "always contended that the stage must be kept mysterious and aloof from the public. Actors' lives concerned the public only during the few hours they were before the footlights. What they did off the stage was not to be discussed or fawned."

"In that attitude he was obdurate. He contacted his players not to be seen in public places; not to eat in popular restaurants; never to occupy a ground floor seat in any New York theatre; not to stroll Broadway; to come and go to the theatre by obscure streets; in no wise to engage in or permit personal exploitation. Why, my young actors weren't even permitted to walk home with any of the girls in the cast?"

"Wouldn't that make a movie publicity man faint! And as for the fan magazine publishers—well, words fail me."

"Daly wanted to sustain illusion, and he knew how," resumed Jennings. "The screen has pretty well ripped it off. For better or worse—well, I hardly know."

"The waning of illusion has undoubtedly been a marked factor in making the public more critical of pictures. Fed up on personality babble, they are now demanding real performance, acting, rather than glittering parade of resplendent nonentities. Thus some of those astoundingly pampered have cooled their own goose."

"On the other hand nearly everyone in a movie audience now knows the trickeries of picture making—some even suspect more trickery than there really is—and knows how commonplace the lives of many celebrities are. For those who do not live by faith and enchantment alone, this is not essential to complete enjoyment of screen plays—but are such folk in the majority?"

"As a boy I used to shiver deliciously at the howling wind and snow melodrama. Mature appreciation of plays hasn't quite compensated me for those days. It was merely a wind machine and paper that made me thrill. I'd like to shiver again, I must confess."

"And how many of a movie audience can thrill to a Romeo when they know he's 40, has a fat wife, loves pancakes and snores over his evening paper?"

"Can you, romantic leader? If not, blame the movie publicity system."

For Better Pictures. "Our movement to eliminate waste in the production of motion pictures has already borne fruit in a new frame of mind in Hollywood. This change of attitude is extremely vital, because the waste of the past was largely due to the mental attitude with which the attending people approached production. Because of this mental readjustment I am confident that in the future we shall be able to make pictures at a cost less than the present price levels—and we'll make better pictures, too, confident as I am in fact that we are preparing for the production of additional pictures which, released on a schedule of one a week, will carry us through to next September."

Mr. Lasky said no step would be taken toward cheaper pictures. Those produced, he said, are not good enough and should be improved.

Says Directors Waste Time. Mr. Gosdol specifically complained against "unnecessary extra time taken by directors in the production of their pictures," and said "this is and has been difficult to control because of the attitude assumed by the present-day director of importance."

"There are too few leading film artists, outstanding directors, continuity writers, art directors and others for the yearly production of pictures, with the result that producers are continually bidding for the same people," Mr. Gosdol asserted.

"This, he added, is a problem the individual producer can solve only by development of 'unknown artists and by the employment of uncelebrated

SAY AIM OF CUT IS TO IMPROVE FILMS

Producers Declare Economy Has Spread to Actors and Directors.

New York, Nov. 16.—Two leading movie producers have given their views on the aftermath of the recent curtailment of production in the studios. Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players Corporation, which inaugurated the recent temporary shutdown, said on his return from the Pacific coast that as a result of this restrictive process Hollywood had turned over a new leaf, and both actors and directors were cooperating in the wave of economy. F. J. Gosdol, president of Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, declared that "the vital issue is whether or not the producer is to receive fair and reasonable prices for his pictures."

While Lasky would make no direct references, his statement was taken in trade circles to be a commentary on word from his coast that actors who held out for $3,000 a week salary are now willing to work for $1,500, and that directors who demanded huge sets to give proper elbow room for their art are now talking about the effects to be achieved with small, inexpensive sets. Stars who insisted in being the only feature of a picture are now willing to work with other stars. Lasky said:

"Our movement to eliminate waste in the production of motion pictures has already borne fruit in a new frame of mind in Hollywood. This change of attitude is extremely vital, because the waste of the past was largely due to the mental attitude with which the attending people approached production. W. W. Jacobs Says That Movie Producers Treated His Stories Well

Unusual Exception to the Average Experience of London Author—Stories Were Well Adapted to Screen Production.

London, Nov. 16.—Not long ago John O. London's Weekly staged a rollicking row in the town by inviting the best English story-tellers to say exactly what they thought of their film producers. And the stories they told about what had happened to their work once the movie men got hold of it will not be repeating. But there was one notable exception. W. W. Jacobs, who has had five of his London tales made into pictures, says the cockney bully, became picture pacifist, in "The Converter," and the fun is rollicking despite the fact that the cockney accent is not quite translated. How should it be? Cockney is one of the subtlest things an artist can tackle because its accent—so say men who are word-wise—comes out of the habit of the cockney of unrounding his vowels because he always says "no" with a wide grin.

The three-masted schooner Ada A. McIntyre, from New York, of and for St. John, laden with 400 tons of soft coal, which went ashore on Schoodic Island, off Gopplaboro, Me., in a gale two weeks ago, is now badly broken up, with most of her cargo washed out. Following a survey held on her this morning, she is now being towed to the Portland Press-Herald.

After Every Meal, WRIGLEY'S All the goodness, the flavor, the quality that goes into WRIGLEY'S at the factory IS KEPT IN IT FOR YOU.

But as a matter of fact, the offensive began over a year ago with "A Will at Bay" and reached something of a climax with "The Monkey's Paw." This new series of short features is only a signal of success, as far as these producers are concerned. Now here is the company prospering, the directing improving, the acting improving, everyone content—including those most difficult persons, Mr. Jacobs' readers—and the author himself paying compliments and showing his confidence by allowing no other producer to touch his stories without paying honor to the honest labor, humble though it is, of the men who are mounting this Jacobs' ladder without smashing its rungs or insulting its carpenter.

Another reason why these films have won respect is that the producers—or rather Manning Haynes, the artistic director—most faithfully avoided using "stars" or getting effects by "slapstick."

And just here is where this honest labor must be lauded. For without real screen stars who can, like Chaplin, make comedy without using slapstick and come out the far end of a joke pathetic as well as funny, the producer must compromise by using actors who are utterly adequate and getting funniest that is often ordinary. Chaplins are rarer even than Jacobes, and good screen acting is not, like good stage acting, the accomplishment of the average professional.

So these Jacobs films, though among the very best of their kind, are not yet really artistic, despite their ambitions. They are too realistic; the acting in them is not distinguished, but is the result of very clever type casting (sometimes done, rumor has it, by Mr. Jacobs himself hunting up his originals). There is no powerful pathos; there is no wit and subtlety in the photographing and acting, as there is in the writing.

But the point about these films is Church Members Hear Address by Rev. T. A. Kennedy, Elder.

The first quarterly conference of St. Philip's A. M. E. church was held last evening, Rev. T. A. Kennedy, who was recently appointed elder of Nova Scotia, presiding. He made an interesting address dealing with the triumphs of the church in other points and the healthy condition existing in the local church. He congratulated the members on the return of their pastor, Rev. George Stewart, for another year and expressed his confidence in the future prosperity of the church here. The reports of the church for the quarter showed marked progress, he said, but he emphasized the need of greater missionary activities.

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "have you seen Old Man Winter anywhere around the Settlement?" "No, sir," said Hiram, "the hairet been here. I guess he's givin' you folks here in town a chance to get the fall work done—'an' wear out your summer clothes. He's a nice old feller sometimes. Oh, he'll be joggin' along soon. "Have you banked the house?" queried the reporter. "How well I remember when we used to get the banking done in the fall to keep the frost and cold from getting under the house. And then we laid spruce and fir boughs over it. And when it was done we were as proud as if we'd won a prize."

"I got 'er banked all right," said Hiram. "An' me an' Hanner'll be as snug as a bug in a rug—yes, sir!—got lots of dry wood in the wood-house—'an' everything we kin eat in the salar—'an' we hairet got nothin' to do but look after the stock an' do a little work in the woods—'an' worry about you pore critters that hes to live in a flat—By Hen!"

SELL KONGSHAVN NEXT WEEK.
That the steamer H. M. Kongshavn will be sold at public auction—as and where she stands—is the subject of an announcement this morning by her local agents, Nagle & Wigmore. GOES OVER TILL NEXT WEEK.
Commissioner Bullock said this morning that it had been found impossible to hold the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. The meeting was postponed until the 22nd of this month.

MUST ACT THIS MONTH.
A late bulletin of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, received at the office of the Chamberlain this morning, called attention to the fact that licensed manufacturers and wholesalers who intend to make applications for the new sales tax to be paid on goods in stock on January 1, 1924, must notify the local collector of customs on or before December 1, 1923, of their intention to do so, or the deduction would not be allowed.

HYDRO MATTERS.
The extension to the Provincial Asylum was to be started today, it was said this morning at the office of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. The work will run from the station at Manchester's corner to the annex and will be about one mile in length. It is expected to start work on the Welsford extension in a few days, as soon as sufficient poles were installed. It was said the water was still rising in the west branch and the load was back on this river again. In the east branch the water has risen about four feet above the minimum.

Good progress with the distribution system on the whole, it was reported in the office of the City Power Commission this morning. All the poles had been erected, the wiring all strung, and about one-quarter of the secondary leads strung. In the city proper the crew were reported busy installing the service, and up to date there had been 1,140 meters put in.

CANNOT PROMISE TO REIMBURSE CITY

Minister of Public Works Writes About Grain Conveyors Here.

Commissioner Bullock this morning received a letter from Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, stating that he could not make any change in his attitude in the matter of guaranteeing the reimbursement of the city should they finance the building of a grain conveyor to berth No. 10 in this winter. It will be recalled that at a conference held recently between the Minister and representative citizens, at the place of Mayor Fisher, Hon. Dr. King said that he could not undertake to give any guarantee that if the city financed the building of the conveyor the Government would include in next year's appropriation enough money to pay back the amount guaranteed on the work. He also said that there was no money available for the work at present, as the Government had provided for what was said to be the more important work, that of the extension of the breakwater.

He said the matter of grain conveyors would receive his earnest consideration and he would bring it to the attention of his colleagues in the Government when the estimates for next year were under discussion by the executive.
