The Report of Newcastle Firewards REPORT OF NEWCASTLE FIREWARDS.

The firewards of the town of Newcastle The Brewards of the town of Newcastle beg leave to submit the following report,—
We are pleased to state that our town has not been visited by any serious 1 cs.
There were several alaims, only thre of which were accompanied by any loss of property, viz., an old house known as the McBride house, a barn belonging to Mr. Alex. Atchison, in which the fire had gained so much headway before discovery that it was impossible to save it, and another the spool factory buildings belonging to Mr. M. Russell, which were burned on the 26th Dec. last. On the occasion of the last fire there was considerable difficulty and delay in getting the steamer in a position to obtain water which could not be avoided under the circumstances. On being placed the engine did splendid work, fully maintaining its reputation as a well constructed and reliable piece of machinery. The engine is now in excellent condition. Early in December the Board accepted the resignation of Rich'd Fairman and have appointed Robt. Beckwith in his place as engineer. The latter performs all the duties of his predecessor and is to live over the engine room and receives a salary of $160 per annum and the use of the vacant rooms in the engine house.

During the past year the fire company with the exception of a few members appear to have lost interest in their duties and the Board have decided that a volunteer company is not at all times to be depended upon, and they would suggest that hereafter in case of fires the fire wards should hire the best men available to work on the hose and pay them a certain.

The would not prevent the public from the condition and would anoth the fire wards should not prevent the public from the condition of the condit we are pleased to state that our town pay the balance on hand of $1.00 to his

The evidence was conclusive, if the entry-clerk told the truth. The tracks that left the store were those which entered it !
