PATRICK O'LEARY KILLED ON C.P.R. RUN OVER BY CARS IN THE YARDS

Bled To Death Before the Doctors Could Reach Him.

WAS POPULAR YARDMASTER

Heroic Attempt Made By His Comrades To Save His Life ---Leaves Wife and Family.

Yard Foreman Patrick O'Leary, of the C. P. R., residing at 704 Elias street, was run over by freight cars in the London east yards this morning at half past two o'clock and sustained injuries from which he died shortly afterwards.

Both legs were cut off at the hips and before a physician arrived, Mr. O'Leary had bled to death, notwithstanding the efforts of his comrades to stop the flow of blood.

Yardmen Charles Keller and Frank Larkin were standing close beside O'Leary at the time of the accident and were working with him.

How It Happened.

To The Advertiser Mr. Keller stated that Mr. O'Leary went into the trainmaster's office just east of Adelaide street to get some orders.

Yard engine 2,157 was shunting some cars in front of the station and making up a train.

When O'Leary came out he tried to run across in front of a string of cars which were being backed down the yard by the yard engine in charge of Engineer Morgan.

Before he could clear the tracks the rear car struck him, knocking him down.

He fell right across the tracks and in an instant both legs had been cut off near the hips by the wheels of the freight cars.

Bled to Death.

The train was stopped almost instantly and Yardmen Keller and Larkin lifted their comrade to one side of the track and worked desperately to stop the flow of blood with handkerchiefs and strips torn from their clothes.

Notwithstanding the efforts the men made, the blood continued to pour forth, and in less than fifteen minutes Mr. O'Leary died without having spoken.

His brother, Mr. Michael O'Leary of the Grand Trunk, was one of the first to arrive and he came just before his brother died.

Priest Broke the News.

Father McKeown was called, and although he came quickly he arrived just a few minutes too late.

To him fell the task of breaking the sad news to the stricken wife and three little children.

Dr. Reason, who was called, also came quickly, but when he arrived it was too late.

Mr. O'Leary was 40 years old and came to this city from Stratford eight years ago.

Previous to that time he was with the G. T. R. in Hamilton, and had always been regarded as one of its most faithful employes.

The remains were removed to Smith's undertaking parlors.

Late Mr. O'Leary.

Mr. O'Leary was the eldest son of Mr. Timothy O'Leary, of this city, and besides his father, is survived by two brothers and three sisters, Michael, yard foreman of the Grand Trunk in this city; Timothy, of Waterloo, Iowa; Mrs. T. A. Hutchinson, and Miss Annie O'Leary, of Detroit, and Mrs. Charles Edolnger, of Battle Creek, Michigan.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning to St. Peter's Cemetery.

The Inquest.

The inquest into the cause of the death of Mr. O'Leary commenced today at noon, when the jury, under Coroner Ferguson, viewed the remains in the East End undertaking parlors of Smith, Son & Clarke.

After viewing the body, the jury adjourned until Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the police station.

The jury was composed as follows: Fred H. Crabbe, A. Mohr, A. Keene, G. Hawkins, E. Guillemont, R. Holman, W. Riley, James Wright, W. Arbuckle, C. Armitage, J. Lawrence A. G. McLeod, J. Morley, J. Riggs and D. Ferguson.

$100,000 BAG OF MAIL DISAPPEARS

Biggest Robbery of Years Happens Near Kansas City Office.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 10.—Reluctant admissions made by postal officers of three cities today confirm to some extent the belief that the disappearance of a registered mail pouch in transit from Los Angeles to New York somewhere within the jurisdiction of the Kansas City postoffice, last Saturday night, will prove to be one of the largest losses in the history of the postoffice department. The amount may reach a total of $100,000.

That a pouch of value has disappeared was admitted today by the department at Washington. Cashier Seyler, of the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank, tonight said:

"According to our information, a mail pouch, made up here on June 3 and leaving for New York on the following morning, has disappeared. A conservative value of the currency contents, furnished by banks of this city, will be $50,000."

The missing pouch left Los Angeles over the Santa Fe and was due in Kansas City on Saturday.

VOTE ON THE WATER SCHEME WEEK FROM MONDAY NEXT

Board of Trade Will Open the Discussion on the Matter on Friday Night---Mayor Says the Combination Scheme Will Carry.

The vote on the water scheme will be taken on June 22, one week from Monday next.

Owing to the elections, this important question has not been discussed at any length, but it is expected that a thorough discussion will take place next week.

The board of trade will set the ball rolling on Friday night, when the matter will be threshed out by the members.

It is expected that one or two public meetings will be held to discuss the question, although no arrangements have been made for holding them.

The present scheme is meeting with general approval, as it is thought to be the best available.

With the approach of dry weather the necessity of obtaining more water is being brought home to the citizens of London with great force.

The Scheme.

The scheme, in brief, is a combination of spring water and high pressure scheme, with filtration in reserve. It includes the Kilworth springs, guaranteeing 500,000 gallons of spring water, to cost $125,000.

It includes the Cronyn and White springs, giving 800,000 gallons of spring water.

A complete high pressure system will be installed in the city, especially in the large wholesale district.

In addition there will be a filtration plant in reserve for fire-fighting purposes.

When the supply of spring water is exhausted, the filtration plant will be utilized.

In the opinion of experts, it will be many years before the supply of spring water is exhausted.

The Cost.

The total cost of the scheme will be $525,000.

"The scheme is an excellent one, I think," said Mayor Stevely, "and I am certain that the people of the city will indorse it. It settles the water question for practically all time to come. It guaranees us spring water as long as it is possible to have it, and when we can no longer have spring water we will have to use filtration."

Engineer Graydon Objects To Noises

City Engineer Graydon's troubles are not decreasing; in fact, every weary day brings its round of increasing woes.

The London street railway is always a source of worry, and the pavements are constantly rising up to worry him.

There are other troubles too numerous to mention, as they say at auction sales, but he has always more or less successfully handled them.

A new one has come to his notice, and it has made him sit up and look out.

It is called a noisesome pestilence, and Mr. Graydon has had some difficulty in diagnosing the case.

So he wrote a letter to the council this morning on the subject.

Mr. Graydon protested vehemently against the weird noises pervading the highways by numerous brazen-tongued gramaphones and electric pianos.

These noises have caused some timid persons to take to drink, and caused other troubles too numerous to mention.

Mr. Graydon wants the council to enact a bylaw to prevent these instruments of torture from breaking up business and disturbing homes.

The communication will come up at the council on Monday night.

John Pennicott Was Fined $60

John Pennicott, a local barber, was today found guilty of threatening the life of his wife and fined $60 by Judge Elliott at the general sessions of the peace, which, with the county court, closed this afternoon.

Pennicott was also bound over in the sum of $400 to keep the peace for one year. The fine will be paid today.

According to the evidence Pennicott, who served a year once before for pointing a revolver at his wife, recently got his wife to assist him in securing $300 on his insurance policy, calling for $1,000.

This Mrs. Pennicott agreed to do upon consideration that she receive $100 of the amount.

The money was divided in the manner mentoned.

Two days later Pennicott asked his wife for the $100 he had given her.

She refused to give the money up, and Pennicott, according to the evidence, then threatened to do with her as the Owen Sound murderer had done with his wife and daughters.

Other Cases.

The other criminal cases were disposed of in short order.

John Wallace, charged with non-support, was permitted to enter a plea of not guilty, Wallace and his wife having agreed to separate.

Mark Elwood, charged with stealing a robe from a Tempo hotel, was found guilty and allowed to go on suspended sentence, it being his first offence.

The Galpin vs. Powers wage suit was non-suited.

Knight vs. Huether, a non-jury case, was adjourned sine die.

The grand jury is visiting the Asylum today, and will make it's presentment tomorrow.

Will Rush Work on Dundas Street

The Barber Asphalt Company expect to commence work on the Dundas street pavement on Monday next.

The London street railway has commenced the cement work on the south track, and it is expected that a block will be completed before the end of the week.

The Barbers will then commence the south half of the street, and will push the work as rapidly as possible.

City oSlicitor Meredith sent City Clerk Baker his opinion regarding the delay caused by the street railway, and advised that a mandatory injunction be taken out against the company.

This will not be done, it was stated at the city hall today, owing to the fact that the Barber Company will be able to get on the street on Monday before the council meets to take action.

In that case a mandatory injunction will be of little use.

It will be possible, however, to use that in case of further delay.

The Barber Company has finished the Adelaide street pavement and has practically finished the Queen's avenue job.

It now has commenced to repair Dundas and Richmond street pavement.

The sum of $3,000 has been appropriated for this purpose, and it is expected that this will cover the cost.

In other years, the work has been done in the fall, and as a result there has ben more repairing to be done than ther would have been had it been done in the spring.

This year the council decided to do this work in the spring, and as a result theri s not nearly so much of it to do.

Building Permits.

Building permits were issued yesterday by City Engineer Graydon to Mr. J. W. Tomkin for a brick cottage on Surrey avenue; to Mr. John M. Moore, for alterations and additions to his residence, 478 Waterloo street; and to the separate school board for additions to the Sacred Heart school.

ANNUAL MATCHES ON DOMINION DAY

Seventh Regiment Rifle Association Changes Date—Extensive Programme.

The Seventh Regiment Rifle Association will hold its annual matches on July 1 this year, instead of on Thanksgiving Day, as formerly. The latter holiday will be kept as a field day.

Definite arrangements have not been made for the field day, but it is confidently expected by the officers in charge that the field day will be held.

The programme of contests is very extensive.

It includes a tyro match for those who have never won more than $2.

Then there is the regimental match at 200 and 500 yards, open to members of the Seventh Regiment.

A rapid-fire contest will be open to all. It will be similar to field conditions, and is bound to prove a great attraction.

The corporation of London match will be open to members and ex-members of the Seventh Regiment and will be shot at 600 yards. The prize will be a handsome gold medal.

In addition, there will be a grand aggregate and a handsome lot of prizes will be given to the best aggregate scores in all matches.

An extra series, open to all, will be shot at 200, 500 and 600 yards.

The company match, a five-team event, open to the several companies of the Seventh Regiment, will prove a very interesting match.

A handsome challenge cup will be given in the last event.

The number of prizes donated is the largest in the history of the association. Capt. Taylor reports that a generous response has been made to the appeals of the regiment for assistance.

The executive will meet on Monday night to complete final arrangements for the shoot.

ALL-RED LINE PORTS

Premier Says That Problem Will Be Left to Company.

Ottawa, June 10.—In the Commons today, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. Monk, said it was not the intention of the Government either to oppose or suggest any port in connection with the all-red line. That was a question which should be decided for purely business reasons,and which should be left altogether to the company which might undertake the service. The only condition to be considered by the Government was that the service must be between the United Kingdom and Canada. The Government were not aware that the high commissioner had ever expressed any opinion on the subject, otherwise than stated above. While the Prime Minister was in England last year he discussed the question of the al-red route with the British Cabinet committee, and Sir Wilfrid had no doubt that Lord Strathcona had continued to do so.

Replying to Mr. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was the intention of the Government to introduce legislation with regard to the Hudson's Bay Railway, and probably to provide aid for other railways. It was also their intention to present the civil service bill at as early a date as possible. The first duty of the House was to vote supply in order to carry on the business of the country.

DYNAMITED STREET CAR

Dastardly Attempt to Destroy a Cleveland Traction Trolley.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 11. — The police of Euclid Heights, the suburb in which a Municipal Traction Company car was blown up by dynamite at an early hour this morning, were bending every effort today to run down the miscreants who placed the explosive on the street car tracks. Seven passengers were injured, none fatally, as a result of the explosion. The car was running slowly when the front wheels struck the explosive. The explosion that followed was heard for over a mile. Windows were shattered and seats twisted. The floor of the car was lifted skyward, throwing the passengers in a panic-stricken heap on the floor. Only the slow speed of the car saved it from going over the steep embankment lining the road.

BREAKING ALL RECORDS

The Lusitania Knocking the Eastbound Time to Smithereens.

New York, June 11. — That the Cunard line steamer Lusitania is breaking all trans-Atlantic records in her trip from Queenstown to New York is made known in a wireless dispatch from the captain, which reached the agents here via Halifax, N. S., last night. The message says that at 11:36 a.m. yesterday the Lusitania was 1,948 knots from Daunts Rock, having made an hourly average of 25.12 knots. The Lusitania sailed Sunday morning and is due here at the bar about midnight tonight.

SPECTACULAR FIRE.

Chicago, June 11. — In a spectacular fire which destroyed the great grain elevator of the Tri-State Grain Company, at Hammond, Ind., last night, 250,000 bushels of corn were destroyed, and property valued at $200,000, including the corn, was burned.

THOUSANDS OF MERRY "KIDDIES" ARE AT SPRINGBANK PARK TODAY

SEPARATE PRISON FOR JUVENILES

The Young Convicts Should Not Associate With the Older Criminals.

Ottawa, June 10.—At the Senate yesterday, Mr. A. H. Comeau, of Nova Scotia, proposed a resolution declaring that in the opinion of the Senate steps should be taken to provide an institution for the keeping of juvenile convicts separate from other prisoners.

Senator Comeau called attention to the change of view regarding penal institutions which are now regarded, not only as places of punishment, but places of correction and training as well. He thought criminality in Canada would be reduced by keeping separate in penal institutions, classes of criminals who were not hardened from the older criminals, who would exercise a bad influence upon juvenile offenders. He suggested that the minister of justice should take up this question with the wardens of the various penitentiaries.

Hon. Mr. Scott said he would be pleased to bring the matter before the minister of justice.

CHEAPER TO BUILD A NEW CANAL

Many Millions Necessary To Deepen New Welland Canal.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 11.—The House went into supply on estimates for canals. Replying to a number of questions by Mr. Lancaster, Hon. Mr. Graham said if Canada was to hold its own in carrying its own traffic and to capture some American traffic Welland Canal would have to be deepened to 25 feet. He had been and was proceeding to collect data and opinions on the subject. In the opinion of some very prominent engineers, it would be better and cheaper to build an absolutely new canal, than to undertake to deepen the present canal to the depth stated. By a new canal the route could be shortened, and the number of lock gates reduced by 75 per cent. He would not like it to be understood as a carefully prepared estimate, but it had been calculated that the cost of a new canal might be between $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

MRS. FORSTER DIES IN BAY CITY, MICH

Mother of Several Londoners and Well Known in This City.

Mrs. George Forster, formerly a well-known resident of this city, died yesterday in Bay City, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Forster left London about 15 years ago. Before that time she lived in Simcoe.

She is survived by six daughters, Sister Zita, of Mount St. Joseph, London; Madam Forster, of the Sacred Heart, London; Mrs. Charlotte Doyle, of Mount Carmel, Ont.; Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Martin Maxwell, of Bay City; Miss Susie Forster, of London, and two sons, Father Frank Forster, superior of Assumption College, Sandwich, and Father Daniel Forster, of Mount Carmel.

The funeral will be held in Bay City on Saturday.

The Big School Picnic Is an Unqualified Success.

CHILDREN COOL BUT CHEERFUL

Weather Conditions Did Not Serve To Dampen Ardor of Little Ones.

Springbank is the mecca of the school children today, and London's popular breathing place is swarmed with merry youngsters.

Early this morning, the cars were packed with picnickers on their way to the park, and they made the welkin ring with their songs and cheers.

Every car was crowded to suffocation with the "kiddies."

What mattered it to them if they were crowded into the smallest possible space!

They were out for a time, and they were going to have it.

Thousands of them crowded the cars, and made merry in spite of all difficulties, and they sang their way to Springbank.

They had learned the songs of their elders and "Hail, the Gang's All Here," and "We Won't Go Home Till Morning," were heard on all sides.

They sang with a will, too, and never stopped for anything save sheer want of breath.

World Loves the Kiddies.

The juvenile entertainers had an audience all along the line. Every store, every home, every window, was filled with attentive listeners who lived their childhood days over again.

It is a great day, is the school picnic, and the picnic today will be one of the most successful ever held in the city.

The street railway arrangements are excellent, and the thousands of youngsters and their parents were conveyed safely to Springbank.

Not an accident is reported to mar the pleasure of the day.

A Great Day.

"Everything is going along much better than we expected," said Chairman Graham. "There is not a hitch anywhere. We will have a great day."

The weather is absolutely perfect. It is cooler than it has been for some days, but just the sort of veather for picnics.

The programme is one of merit, and will please all.

The big feature will be the baseball match at 3:30 o'clock, between the public school principals and the collegiate and board team.

This will be a great affair. The costumes of the demon athletes are fearfully and wonderfully made, and will make Joseph's coat of many colors look like mourning.

Ex-Ald. Thos. Gillean will umpire, and that ought to add something to the occasion.

The Baby Show.

The baby show is drawing a large entry, and there will be many tiny ones on view.

A large crowd of older people went to the park in the afternoon, and it is estimated that there are 10,000 people on the grounds.

The Seventh Regiment Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Slatter is in attendance.

Artillery Recruit Under Arrest Fred Pegg Held on Detroit Charge

Accused of Robbing a Cash Register in a Bar in That City.

While drilling with a detachment of recruits for the artillery at the armories last night, Fred Pegg, whose home is in the city, was arrested by Detective Nickle, on a charge of grand larceny on information received by Chief Williams from Detroit yesterday.

Pegg is accused of stealing a considerable sum of money from a hotel in Detroit. He had been acting in the capacity of bartender in the hotel for some time, and had access to the cash register. Last week, it is alleged he went to the register and took a large sum of money from it.

He then made his escape. The Detroit police discovered that he had formerly lived in London and notified Chief Williams to keep an outlook for Pegg.

Came Here Four Days Ago.

Detective Nickle was given the case and he discovered yesterday that Pegg had come to the city four days ago.

He enlisted with the artillery which is getting ready for the camp at Goderich.

Last evening, Detective Nickle strolled up to the armories, where a number of raw recruits were drilling, and spotting his man, he arrested him.

Pegg spent the night in the police cells, and the Detroit officers were notified of his arrest.

An officer is expected today to take him back.

Field Battery Is Preparing for Camp

The London Field Battery is making preparations for the camp at Goderich, and is now recruited to full strength.

The full complement, 106 men, 4 guns and 78 horses, will be carried.

Last night there were 40 recruits drilling at the Armories for the trip, and were put through their paces.

An advance party of an officer and four men will leave on Saturday for Goderich to get the camp ready.

Major Mills, the commanding officer, is at present in England, but he cabled that he would be home and take charge June 17.

The other officers who will go are Capt. Cameron. Lieut. Leonard and Lieut. C. Hunt.

NEW TRIUMPH FOR EDWARD EUROPEAN PEACE ASSURED

His Majesty Sails for Home With the Anglo-Russian Convention an Accomplished Fact---Means Help for Macedonia and the Balkans.

Reval, June 10.—The Czar and Czarina, King Edward and Queen Alxeandra spent the day in going to and from one another's yachts, inspecting warships, receiving deputations and interviewing ministers. King Edward had a lengthy interview with M. Izvolsky, Russian minister of foreign affairs, who afterward conferred with Sir Charles Hardinge, permanent secretary of the British foreign office. It is understood that one of the chief topics of political discussion was a settlement of the Macedonian troubles. Reports indicate favorable results.

Honors the Czar.

King Edward has appointed the Czar an honorary admiral of the British navy, in which capacity the Czar visited the British cruiser Minotaur, and received an admiral's salute. Numerous decorations have been distributed among the members of the Czar's and King's respective suites. Premier Stolypin and General Baron de Fredericks, minister of the Russian imperial household, received the grand cross of the Victorian Order.

At the dinner given by the Czar on board the imperial yacht Standart last night, the Czar, in welcoming King Edward, referred appreciatively to the satisfactory settlement of Anglo-Russian questions.

Knitting the Bonds.

King Edawrd's reply was extremely cordial. Speaking with impressive energy of the Anglo-Russian convention he said:

"I believe it will serve to knit more closely the bonds uniting the people of the two countries. I am certain that it will conduce to satisfy settlement in amiable manner of some momentous questions in the future, and that it will also help very greatly toward the maintenance of the general peace of the world. I hope this meeting may be followed before long by another opportunity for meeting your majesties."

The last sentence is taken to confirm a report that the Czar and Czarina will visit England in the autumn. The King and Queen will start tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock on their return to London. The Czar will remain here for another day.

MILITIA PLANS FOR QUEBEC PAGEANT

12,000 Troops to Parade, Most of Them From Eastern Cities.

Ottawa, June 10.—The militia department has arranged with the Quebec tercentenary commission for the mobilization of 12,500 troops on the Plains of Abraham during the time of the Prince of Wales' visit next month. Militia orders will be issued in a day or so providing for the mobilization. The Quebec city corps will parade full strength and several other city corps of eastern Canada, aggregating about 5,000 men, will also be sent to Quebec in full strength. In addition there will be a number of small detachments from other city regiments and one company of five officers and 43 men from each of the rural regiments throughout the Dominion. The various units of permanent corps will all be represented, it being at present intended to assemble 1,200 men from Canada's standing army. The outside troops will leave their respective headquarters for Quebec about July 20 and will remain in Quebec for about eight days.

COMING ON INDOMITABLE

Newest of Britannia's Warships is to Bring Wales to Canada.

Quebec, Que., June 10.—The rumor that the Prince of Wales is to come to Quebec on the Indomitable, the newest, the largest and the swiftest of British battleships, is confirmed by cable, and a message from the colonial secretary today says the fleet, which was expected to precede him here by one day, has been ordered to time its arrival so as to finish coaling and cleaning up before the opening of the fetes.

This means that the four battleships, Exmouth, Albemarle, Russell and Duncan, and the two accompanying cruisers will arrive in port on July 16. Two British admirals will be here with this fleet, Vice Admiral Sir Curzon-Howe on the flagship Exmouth, as commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet, and Rear Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, second in command, flying his flag on the Albemarle.

PRAY FOR BILLIK

Jail Is Transformed Momentarily Into a House of Worship.

Chicago, June 11.—The Cook County jail was transformed into a house of worship for several minutes yesterday afternoon, when 650 prisoners joined in prayer, asking that the death sentence of Hermann Billik be commuted to life imprisonment.

This prayer meeting, without equal in the history of the jail, was entirely unpremeditated. Billik's wife and four children were visiting him. Just before they left, his daughter, kneeling near her father, started a prayer.

"O, God, please save my papa," she said.

Word was quickly passed from tier to tier from the women's ward to the "pen." The building, which a few moments before had been filled with coarse laughter and coarser talk, quieted down, and even the most hardened criminals there offered up a word of prayer that Billik's life might be spared.

CARRYING OF WEAPONS

Hamilton Italians May Form League To Abolish Dangerous Practice.

Toronto, June 10.—As a result of a letter written by Chief Justice Sir Wm. Mulock to the court interpreter at Hamilton to Mr. L. P. Scarrone, a meeting of the Italians of Hamilton and the vicinity will be held on Saturday evening to inaugurate if possible a league among these people which will aim to put down the habit of carrying dangerous weapons. The letter pointed out the need for some movement along this line, and stated that were a league formed, His Excellency the Governor-General-in-Council would perhaps be more inclined to consider the application which is being made for a commutation of the death sentence passed on young Guisseppi Grecco, who killed a companion while in a fit of passion.

N. H. Smith, of Chatham, was arrested in court yesterday while giving his testimony in a division court suit.

FLOODING VALVES REFUSED TO WORK

The Battleship Irresistible Has Narrow Escape From Foundering.

London, June 10.—The battleship Irresistible had a narrow escape from sinking in Portland Harbor yesterday, The crew were engaged in testing the Kingston flooding valves, which finally refused to close. The vessel began to fill rapidly, listing heavily to starboard, and it was necessary to call for the assistance of tugs. The guns were quickly trained to the port side in order to restore the balance of the warship. Divers and pumps were set to work as speedily as possible under the superintendence of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, and finally the leakage was stopped by collision mats.

The vessel still has a heavy list but the danger of her sinking has been averted.

HEALTH IN THE HOME

Dr. Montizambert Addresses Medical Association.

Ottawa, June 10. — "The basis of health in the home is cleanliness, simple food and proper rest," said Dr. Montizambert, director-general of public health, in an address at the 41st annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association. For old age he said one hour of sleep before midnight was worth two after midnight.

The insanitary and dangerous habit of women kissing on meeting and on parting was strongly condemned, and also the promiscuous kissing of children. He said that in every city there should be an official inspection of plumbing, and all plumbers should be compelled to take out a license after proper examination before a municipal board before being allowed to tamper with the plumbing of any house. The health of the household depended more on the plumber than on the doctor.

Canada, he declared, should follow the example of Denmark regarding the extermination of rats. He estimated there were 6,000,000 rodents in the Dominion, and the damage done to foodstuffs, etc., aggregated over $30,000 a day. Among other things advocated by Dr. Montizambert were a federal health bureau, a national tuberculosis sanitaria, a national system of vaccination, and a national board of health.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier welcomed the delegates to the capital. In a brief address he said that "No drugs, plenty of rest, and simple food" was the the prescription given him when broken down in health five years ago. By following that advice he had completely recovered his health. He promised the association the Government would do its utmost to further the movements in the cause of public health.

DECLINE RYAN'S $100,000

Old First Presbyterian Church, New York, Refuses Donation.

New York, June 10.—It was reported last night that an offer by Thomas F. Ryan to endow the old First Presbyterian Church, at Fifth avenue and Eleventh street, to the amount of $100,000 had been refused by the members. Mr. Ryan's offer, it is related, was made through a member of the board of trustees of the church, was discussed at a meeting of the board and then declined.

The church property extends from Eleventh to Twelfth street, on Fifth avenue. Just opposite, at the northwest corner of Twelfth street, is the city home of Mr. Ryan.

In order to preserve the residential nature of the neighborhood it is said the capitalist has recently acquired a number of pieces of property. Supposedly, it was because he had heard disquieting rumors that the church property was to be placed on the market that he made his alleged offer.

GRAIN WEEKS AHEAD.

Toronto, June 10.—The Bank of Commerce crop reports from the west for the last week of May indicate that the grain is in many places three weeks ahead, and there is every indication of bumper crops. In Saskatchewan there has been scarcely enough rain in places, and there are points in Alberta which have had almost too much. On the whole, however, the outlook is exceptionally hopeful.

WANT MORE FUNDS TO RECLAIM BATTLEFIELDS

Patriotic Scheme May Fall Through for Lack of Funds.

Ottawa, June 10.—The Dominion central committee of Quebec Battlefields' Association has issued a statement as to present situation with respect to a movement to raise a fund of $500,000 for the reclamation of two battlefields at Quebec by the time of the Prince of Wales' visit on July 21 next. So far, Ontario and Quebec have subscribed $100,000 each, British Columbia $10,000, and New Brunswick $7,500, making a total of $217,500. It is believed when the other provincial governments have been heard from a quarter of a million will be the contribution of the provinces. News coming from the motherland indicates that at least $50,000 will be brought over by the prince.

The balance required to be raised by private individuals and corporations is about $200,000. Outside Ottawa and Montreal, where about $15,000 each has been raised, other cities and towns have not yet shown any activity in connection with the fund. The committee urges that an extra effort should be made from now on, so that a splendid patriotic scheme may not fall through.

Advertiser Correspondence

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your Saturday edition you have taken the liberty to mention the names of the London Machine Tool Company and myself in a way that is not fair.

I think it would have been only fair if you had asked permission to use our names, and got a true statement of the facts as they are, viz., After the fire, caused by the burning of the planing mills and lumber yards of Messrs. Dyment & Baker, it was necessary to look around for larger premises, as the heavy lines of railway and other machinery into which we are working compelled us to look around for larger premises or abandon that class of work; so with the view of continuing in the larger work we bonded fifteen acres of ground in London East.

As the news of the fire became known abroad several cities and towns got into communication with us, and after visiting them all we decided to go to Hamilton, as the location would make a large annual saving, made up from power, freight, insurance and taxes.

You say that after the fire the company needed finances. I beg to say that I never approached the council or anyone else for financial help. What we did ask the council was that they put in a water main for fire protection. This the council agreed to do. It was after this that we went thoroughly into the Hamilton proposition, and finding the advantages so much greater than we could reasonably expect in London, we decided to go to Hamilton. Another error you have made is that the company is controlled by Hamilton capital, that being the cause of our removal to Hamilton. I beg to state there is not one dollar of Hamilton stock, so that we were not induced to go to Hamilton on that account. I never had any conversation with the council except for water, and after deciding to come to Hamilton the only conversation with Mr. Stevely was in a neighborly way, when he expressed his regret at out leaving the city, as, also, other members of the council. I am very sorry that our removal to Hamilton should necessitate a newspaper war, as we only went, as we believe, in our own interest. Sincerely yours,

WM. YEATES,
President London Machine Tool Company.
Hamilton, June 8.

The I. O. F. and the Old Members.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Will you allow me to make a few remarks in references to the outrage on the membership of the I. O. F.?

As the time is now near at hand when the Supreme Court of the I. O. F. meets to consider the question of raising the assessments of members who joined the order prior to 1898, it is urgently desirable that we should make a few remarks in reference thereto.

It has never before been found necessary by anyone to make the statement that the present S. C. R. of the I. O. F. has made, though he had not the courage and manliness in him to fire the first shot when he made it, but took into his confidence a $4,000 popgun to do it for him, and when confronted as to why such steps had been taken, as I believe, unlawfully and unconstitutionally, he denied any knowledge of the fact, and also stated that he had no power to contradict the statement made by the $4,000 popgun. This is a plain proof that the S. C. R. made the shot, but he had not the manly courage to fire the gun when loaded, but handed it over to the wily Harper to play the trick.

The attack on the so-called old members who fought so bravely to build up the institution and make it what it is today, after seeing it burdened with a $4,000 debt to overcome, when there were only about 200 members banded together under the name of the I. O. F.—did they howl out, raise the assessments? No; they had no selfish motives—is an unjust attempt to force out a vast number of the older members, and one that will be the means of bringing ruin and disaster to the order for many years to come; unless, by an all-wise Providence, the course of events may be changed.

Now, if the I. O. F. has upwards of $12,000,000 to $13,000,000, why is there any necessity to cry out, raise the assessments on the old (?) members? According to a late issue of the official organ, the Forester, printed in Port Huron, we are told that the assessments "do not increase as the member grows older, but remain the same as long as he remains continuously in good standing in the order. The right is reserved, however, as required by law, to levy extra assessments should the necessities of the order ever require it." We were told the same 25 years ago.

Now, in conformity with the aforesaid assertion from the now S. C. R. and the other executive officers, I am prepared to state that no member of the order has ever been asked to pay an extra assessment during the past existence of the order, not even when they had to encounter a debt of $4,000, and not a single dollar in the treasury; but, on the other hand, there is not, today even, a single member who would refuse to pay an extra assessment should necessity ever require it; but with a surplus of $13,000,000 there can be no extra assessments required. The present surplus alone would be sufficient to pay all the mortuary claims of the order for five years hence at the present mortality rate, without collecting one single mortuary assessment during that time, and in the opinion of thousands the excuses and remarks made use of at the London meeting were unworthy of the man who holds the office of S. C. R., and the schemes sent broadcast over this vast Dominion are merely the suggestions of the individual, and in my opinion based upon selfish motives. The simple fact of this assertion is the change that has already been made between Toronto and Port Huron. Another selfish (family compact) scheme.

In conclusion I would suggest that the Supreme Court will see the urgent necessity of cutting down the high-salaried officers and curtailing the expenditure of the entire order. Retrenchment is so necessary that it should not be delayed, but acted upon before too late.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

CONGREGATIONAL UNION.

Montreal, Que., June 10.—The Congregational Union of Canada, comprising former Congregational unions in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, opened its second annual meeting in Emmanuel Church today. Rev. THE MOVING BLACK TOMORROW

DRESS GOODS

49c, 69c and 89c

Instead of 75c, 85c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.35, $1.50 and $1.75

In view of occupying the first section of our new premises by the end of the coming month, the problem of moving must now engage our minds.

The difficulty of this is increased, as our new store fixtures will not be ready until the second section is completed, which necessitates our moving stock, shelving and fixtures.

For the above reason, the next few weeks will be crowded full of interest for the shoppers of this city and vicinity, and we are planning to turn everything possible into money, to make reorganization as easy as possible. While the lowered prices mentioned here for these BLACK DRESS GOODS tomorrow, also many that will follow, and others which will never appear in the newspapers, will appeal strongly, we would remind you that all are of our HIGH STANDARD QUALITY and REGULAR STOCK.

No part of any of the offerings during the next few weeks have been bought for special sale purposes, but because of the ENTIRE CHANGE, MOVING, and REORGANIZATION, it is imperative that all stocks must be reduced to the lowest possible basis, therefore, where stocks are heavy, goods will be PRICED EXTREMELY LOW. The next few weeks will be in the history of this store's business A MONEY-SAVING TIME, as we have concluded it will be easier to carry the money than move the goods into our new store.

NO SHOWS FOR CANADA

Threat to Cut Out the Dominion If Copyright Is Not Honored.

New York, June 10.—The abandonment of the entire Dominion of Canada by theatrical managers was proposed at the annual meeting today of the National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers.

William A. Brady outlined a long list of drawbacks to the profitable exploitation of theatrical enterprises in Canada. The chief drawback in Mr. Brady's opinion, is that international copyright is not recognized in the Dominion. Another is the customs expenses and that what are known as "good show towns" are so far apart that they cannot be made with profit.

The association adopted Mr. Brady's resolution that an effort be made to adjust the questions of copyright and customs with the Dominion Government and, failing to get results satisfactory to the members, to discontinue the booking of companies across the border.

O. P. BELMONT DEAD

Great New York Capitalist Succumbs to Appendicitis.

New York, June 10.—O. H. P. Belmont, the capitalist, died at his home at Hempstead, Long Island, this morning.

Mr. Belmont had been seriously ill only about a week. He had not been in the best of health for some time, but his condition was not such as to cause any alarm until appendicitis developed last Monday.

Mr. Belmont's first marriage was with Miss Sarah Swan Whitney, now Mrs. George Rives. His only child, Mrs. William Burden, died several months ago. Mr. Belmont's second marriage was with Mrs. Alva E. Smith Vanderbilt, who prior to her divorce was the wife of W. K. Vanderbilt, sen. Mrs. Belmont and her two sons, W. K. Vanderbilt, jun., and Harold Vanderbilt, were constantly at Mr. Belmont's side from the moment his illness took a critical turn. Mrs. Belmont's daughter, Consuelo, the Duchess of Marlborough, was kept constantly advised of Mr. Belmont's condition.

LAKE TRAFFIC LIGHT

Many Freight Carriers Tied up in U. S. and Canadians Ports.

Toronto, June 10.—Shipping men along the waterfront find trade very quiet this spring. Some of the package lines have not even put all their boats into commission, and the tramp steamers are being hit hard. As a result a good bit of coal is being handled by vessels that ordinarily do not compete for that trade. At Oswego the competition is very keen, for while grain is being moved from Port Arthur and Fort William to Montreal, steamers are forced either to take coal or return in ballast. This condition of affairs is not confined to upper Canadian ports, but is equally felt on the American side. So many vessels have tied up across the line that several men with officers' and captains' papers have visited Toronto during the last few weeks, seeking to obtain berths for the summer.

The man who is least acquainted with the world is most likely to take liberties with it.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 11.

JUSTICE LONGLEY MISREPRESENTED.

Mr. Justice Longley, of Halifax, has published the full text of his address before the Canadian Club, New York, a garbled version of which was telegraphed broadcast, and made the subject of many criticisms and comments unfair to the distinguished Nova Scotian. It was reported also that Mr. Longley left the banquet in high dudgeon, because of a rebuke from Mr. Bryce. He explains that he had to catch a train at midnight, and that his departure during Mr. Bryce's speech had no other meaning. Furthermore, Mr. Bryce made not the slightest allusion to Mr. Longley's address.

The majority of Canadians will agree with Mr. Longley that Canada cannot always remain in the status of a colony or dependency of Great Britain; that there must be an evolution in their political relations which will place the Dominion on a plane of equality with the mother country. Mr. Longley does not believe this change will take the form of imperial federation. The majority of Canadians are of this opinion also. He predicts that instead of a colony, Canada will become an ally of Great Britain, with the responsibilities of an independent nation. Canada's relations with the mother country, he argued, would not be severed, but adjusted. There is nothing revolutionary in these remarks, and those who have been attacking Mr. Longley might explain the difference between his argument, and that of Sir John Macdonald, who said in the course of the confederation debates:

> "The colonies are now in a transition state. Gradually a different colonial system is being developed, and it will become year by year less a case of dependence on our part and of overruling protection on the part of the mother country, and more a case of hearty and cordial alliance. Instead of looking upon us as a merely dependent colony, England will have in us a friendly nation—a subordinate but still a powerful people—to stand by her in British North America, in peace or in war."

A portion of Justice Longley's address is an eloquent appreciation of British institutions and British civilization. "In the main," he said, "her (Britain's) policy in the world stands for justice and righteousness, and, therefore, when the time comes that Canada feels it fitting and proper that she should assume national autonomy, she will not hesitate to throw the her influence in support of British principles and policy and put behind the Empire whatever moral and physical power she can command." Mr. Longley also declared that whatever might be Canada's future "it must be thoroughly understood that Canadians have no thought of political union with the United States."

Canadians feel that their destiny is in their own hands and will be worked out, step by step, as circumstances arise, without the travail which attended the birth of responsible government.

CANADA'S DAIRY INDUSTRY.

That the dairy industry is one of vast importance to this country no Canadians need be told, but doubtless few people have an accurate idea of the marvelous growth and progress of that industry in recent years. Many will be surprised to learn that the total annual value of the products of Canadian dairies, including milk, butter, cheese and condensed milk, amounts to the enormous sum of $100,000,000, or about $17 per head of the population.

This subject was interestingly dealt with recently by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dominion dairy and cold storage commissioner, in an address which has been published in pamphlet form. He shows that while we recover with the aid of the cow so large an amount of wealth from mother earth by the transmutation of pasturage and fodder crops into milk, the soil, instead of being impoverished by the process, is left in better condition every year to produce another $100,000,000.

While the progress of this industry is necessarily judged by the multiplication and output of the factories, figures of the value of butter produced on the farms being unattainable, there is reason to believe that the milk which is used for direct consumption and the butter which is made on the farm have a total value which is at least double that of the butter and cheese made in factories.

The splendid reputation enjoyed by Canadian cheese abroad is no doubt largely due to the fact that Canadian cheesemakers have led the van in applying the teachings of science to the practice of their art. With the establishment of the first Canadian cheese factory—in Oxford County, in 1864—came the introduction of modern methods. Since that time the industry has grown until now there are 1,284 factories in Ontario, 2,806 in Quebec, and 265 others distributed among the other provinces, making a total of 4,355 in the Dominion. Mr. Ruddick sees no reason why the dairy industry should not be largely extended to every province. He has visited every dairy country in the world except Siberia, and unhesitatingly declares that none of them is better fitted by nature for successful dairying than Canada.

Britain offers an enormous market for Canada's dairy products. Canadian butter stands high there, not only because of its superior quality, but because our laws relating to its manufacture and sale are the most stringent of any country in the world and are a standing guarantee of its purity. Britain imports annually $33,000,000 worth of cheese, of which Canada supplies 72 per cent.

To the wise administration of the department of agriculture by Hon. Sydney Fisher much of the development of the dairy industry is undoubtedly due. Long before he became a cabinet minister Mr. Fisher rendered the industry in the eastern townships valuable service, the fruits of which are seen today, both in that section and throughout Quebec and the maritime provinces. Since becoming head of the department he has been indefatigable not only in behalf of the dairying interest, but of agriculture. When some years ago those who had started co-operative creameries in the northwest territories found themselves unable to carry on the enterprise, it was the present minister of agriculture who went to their assistance by taking over the management of these creameries, advancing sufficient money to pay off their pressing debts and making loans for the equipment of new creameries that would come under the same management. The result was a speedy restoration of confidence, and under expert supervision the business grew and prospered so that at the end of 1905 the department was able to give up the active control of a large number of creameries which had been assisted to a position of independence and stability. With the exception of a few trifling amounts all the money loaned has been repaid. It is a result of Mr. Fisher's foresight in preparing the stringent laws to which Mr. Ruddick refers that Canadian butter stands so high in the British market, while the steps taken by him to ensure the transportation of dairy produce have proven of immense value. The benefit of the cold storage services, both on land and sea, cannot be overestimated. The dairy industry in Canada owes much to Hon. Sydney Fisher.

THE DUST.

The dust during the past few days has become almost intolerable. On some streets where the ratepayers are assessed a frontage tax for sprinkling, the work appears to be imperfectly done. It is not enough that a wagon should pass along a block a couple of times a day, leaving a few driblets of water in its wake. There should be a thorough sprinkling from start to finish of each trip from the hydrant, not, of course, so heavy as to make the roadway a mass of mud, but heavy enough to lay the dust. Nor is a sprinkling in the forenoon and another in the afternoon sufficient; double or treble that number would be none too much. The soil hereabouts is light and rapidly dries. If anything like a smart breeze happens to be blowing, the dust is carried to the nostrils of the pedestrian and into the homes of citizens, there, perhaps, to sow disease germs, and certainly to the injury of curtains, carpets and other furnishings, and the discomfort and annoyance of the inmates. If the street is one on which there is much vehicular traffic the nuisance is greatly aggravated.

Bad as condition are on streets which receive this scant sprinkling they are infinitely worse on the dry streets—those which receive no sprinkling at all. As is well known to get into the street watering area it is necessary for the owners of one-half the property on both sides of a street to petition the council to have the work done, as for a local improvement. Occasionally the fact that a small frontage tax is levied inclines a large property owner on the block—a non-resident, perhaps, or one who has no particular objection to dust—to refuse to sign the petition. The wishes of his tenants and other property-owners are thus thwarted, and they are forced to put up with a nuisance, and a menace to health. The only remedy seems to be to change the system, do away with the frontage tax and pay for the street sprinkling out of the general fund, just as is done with street lighting, street cleaning, etc. Then every citizen would receive equal benefit. The summer months should be the most healthful, because people are out of doors much of the time, but these benefits are neutralized when they are living in clouds of dust, and when doors and windows have to be closed to repel dust-laden air which would be pure and wholesome if street sprinkling were general.

THE CAPTAIN'S BLUNDER.

"I am very sorry to hear, Capt. Salter, that your wife left you so unceremoniously."

"My mistake, sir. I took her for a mate and she proved to be a skipper."

Nurse—Doctor, a sponge is missing; possibly you sewed it up inside the patient.

Eminent Surgeon—Thank you. Remind me to add $10 to the bill for material.

CAUSTIC CRITIQUE.

Salter—Pardon me, my dear sir; it is not my habit to repeat what everyone is saying.

OULD BARNEY TO THE BOY.

[T. A. Daly, in Catholic Standard.]

Arrah! Barney, ma bouchal, 'tis courtin' ye are,
An' you but just out o' your dresses!
'Tis the light in your eye, like a new-risen star,
That this news to your father confesses.
Now ye're off to the town,
For the sun has gone down,
An' the spell o' the gloamin' is o'er ye;
Faith, ye're started like me,
But it's lucky ye'll be
If ye end like yer father before ye.

Oh, the glamor o' night
Breeds a passion too light
For a dacint long life—time's adornin',
But the blessin' that cheers
All the slow-wheelin' years
Is the love that blooms warm in the mornin'.

Arrah! Barney, ma bouchal, when I was a lad
I courted one lass an' another,
But the sorra bit comfort from anny I had,
Till I came on the heart o' your mother.
Oh, her charms they were rare,
In the dusk, at the fair,
At the dance, in the house she was born in;
But her heart it was found
When I happened around
Where she sang at her work in the morning'!

Oh, the glamor o' night
Breeds a passion too light
For a dacint long life—time's adornin'
But the blessin' that cheers
All the slow-wheelin' years
Is the love that blooms warm in the morning'.

OUTRAGED HUSBANDS.

[New York Sun.]

Mrs. Belle de Rivera, president of the Equal Suffrage League of New York, said at a recent dinner:

"We'd have had the suffrage, we women, long ago, were it not that where women are concerned, men are inclined to be a little unfair, a little churlish.

"Their treatment of women is on a par with old Hiram Doolittle's treatment of his wife. He made her keep a cash account, and would go over it every night, growling and grumbling, like this:

"'Look here, Hannah—mustard plasters, 40 cents; three teeth extracted, $2. There's $2 20 in one day spent for your own private pleasure. Do you think I'm made of money?'"

CONSCIENTIOUS.

[Tit-Bits.]

One of Manchester's sextons, in making a report of burials, is explicit to a commendable degree. For instance, such entries as this occur:

"Died, John Green, male; aged three days; unmarried."

CAUTION FOR CANDIDATES.

[Judge.]

"What's the matter with the candidate?"

"Sh! He's very ill."

"Isn't it rather sudden?"

"Very. He smoked a cigar from the wrong pocket."

A MODERN TENDENCY.

[Mr. Asquith on Old Age Pensions.]

There are two figures in our modern society which make an especially strong and, indeed; irresistible appeal to our sympathy. One is the figure of the child. Since 1870 you have added to your annual provision for the education of the children of this country out of taxes and rates an annual sum of over twenty-four million pounds sterling. The other figure is the figure of old age, still unprovided for except by casual and unorganized effort, or by what is worse, invidious dependence upon poor law relief.

GENIUS AND OBESITY.

[Strand Magazine.]

The annals of genius are filled to overflowing with the names of men who toiled and achieved fame under a full habit. Nothing can be more unjust than the gibe about "fat and folly," and fatness and indolence. Martin Luther was as fat as Calvin was thin; Ernest Renan's obesity did not obscure his insight and brilliancy.

Many writers and speakers have too long spoken invidiously of fatness, but the best retort we have been able to glean in our researches into their weighty subject is that of C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher. "People," said Spurgeon, "say I am fat. I am not fat. I am bone and flesh. My limbs, thank God, are amply clothed, and I am in my right mind."

MONEY FOR CANADA.

[Hamilton Times.]

During the present year about $30,000,000 will be spent in building work on the Transcontinental Railway. Besides this vast amount, many more millions will be expended on the G. T. P., C. P. R., C. N. R. and other roads. This money will mostly go into general circulation, and will tend to promote our people's prosperity.

NORTH MIDDLESEX.

GRENFELL THE HERO.

[Hamilton Herald.]

Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the noble Englishman who has consecrated his life to the service of the poor fisher folk on the Labrador coast, narrowly escaped a horrible death a few days ago. Caught in floating ice with a dog team while on an errand of mercy, he was attacked by the famished dogs and badly bitten. To save his life he was obliged to kill two of the dogs to feed the rest, and to partly cover himself with the skins of the dead animals in order to keep himself from freezing to death. He tied together the legs of the dead dogs, making a pole, to which he fastened a handkerchief and signaled to the land for help. His signal of distress was seen by some fishermen and he was rescued from his perilous plight.

It was a thrilling experience, but only one of many similar ones through which Dr. Grenfell has passed. These incidents are all in the day's work. Many will, because of them, feel like acclaiming Grenfell as a hero. Of course he is a hero; but his heroism has been put to the test not so much by thrilling experiences such as the one of a few days ago, as by the long years of service quietly, patiently, cheerfully rendered to a neglected people who needed him.

REQUIESCAT.

[A. C. Benson.]

Written for the memorial service of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, and sung ta the Bishop Satterlee memorial service at Calvary Church, New York, March 8, 1903:

Lie still, beloved, lie still!
It is His tender will,
Who made thee, saved thee, loves thee, bids thee rest.
Nay, nay—it is not long
Before the angelic song
Shall waken thee, to be forever blest.

O Father, Thou dost keep
The souls of all who sleep
With Thee in Paradise, restored, forgiven;
Break forth, triumphant song,
And say that 'tis not long
Ere they who weep on earth shall meet in heaven.

Lord, touch our troubled eyes;
O make us strong and wise,
To know Thy loving heart, to will Thy will;
Until Thou call us home,
Until Thy kingdom come—
Till then awhile lie still, beloved, lie still.

OLD SWINDLER IN THE TOMBS

James D. Hallen Is Accused of Cheating Nicaragua Out $11,000.

New York, June 10.—James D. Hallen, now gray-haired, but still carrying the same distinguished air of ten years ago, when he admitted that he stole about $70,000 from his clients—paying most of it back, he said—and was sentenced to eight years in Sing Sing, for forgery, bobbed up again today in the criminal courts. This time he is accused of swindling the Nicaraguan Government out of $11,000.

When the Nicaraguan Government was tackling a revolution in the fall of 1906, it needed millions of cartridges. Hallen, who had traveled much in South American countries before his prison days and kept track of the doings down that way, heard of the revolution and the urgent need of the cartridges. He went to the representative of the Nicaraguan Government in this city and said he could supply 1,100,000 Remington cartridges for $11,000 and see that they were delivered before the revolution was over.

Hallen got the contract. He bought a lot of copper dross and got boxes of the size that cartridges are packed in. He figured it would take just 1,100 boxes to hold 1,100,000 cartridges, got them and filled them with the dross, which he packed with paper that is usually put around cartridges. Then he marked the boxes "cartridges" and shipped them on a South American steamer.

Hallen got his bills of lading and called on Ramon Echazarrita, the New York agent for the Nicaraguan Government, and presented them. He was a bit pressed for money and could not the Nicaraguan Government pay him his money, taking the bills of lading as security? Certainly, said the agent, who handed over the $11,000.

One fine morning, Mr. Echazarritz got a blast from Nicaragua that almost took his head off. The cartridges had arrived at Greytown. All the generals of the Nicaraguan army were there with their men and directed the unpacking of the boxes. Instead of cartridges, they found only copper dross, and even a South American soldier could not shoot with that stuff.

Hallen was arrested. He said he was a broker and that his home was at Suffern, N. Y. Beyond that he would say nothing, but his lawyer said that he was innocent and the charge was only a scheme of his enemies to make trouble for him. He was arraigned before Magistrate Wahle in the Tombs court and held in $5,000 bail. He went to the Tombs.

The Army and Navy Club at Manila is soon to break ground for a handsome new clubhouse that will cost $200,000 gold before it is occupied. The local lodge of Elks, which has become a popular American social club of the city, is to build a $70,000 structure.

NO GREAT DIAMOND YET

French Court Grants Few Days More to Lemoine.

Paris, June 10.—Henri Lemoine's time limit for the production of a diamond of specified size and shape, expired today, but he has failed to produce the stone. Maitre Labori, his counsel, has obtained for him an extension of a few days.

Lemoine lengthily explained to the judge the difficulties he encountered in installing his electric furnace. He accused his landlady of being in league with Sir Julius Wernher, on whose charge of swindling him out of a large sum of money Lemoine is under arrest.

Then a great hydraulic press had to be brought from Nuremburg. This cost $5,500. Now everything had been ready since Saturday. Two hundred crucibles had just been received. He declared that if he were granted a small delay he would prove himself no swindler.

Judge Poittevin remarked that the best jokes were the shortest. If by June 17 the diamond was not forthcoming, he would send Lemoine before the correctional court.

Though no textile mill was driven electrically five years ago, John Shaw, of the British Thompson-Houston Company, finds that the electric motors now aggregate 26,000-horse-power in the United States. The greatest advantage is the steadiness and uniformity of speed, but important also are the reduction of power transmitting devices, less wear and tear, greater flexibility, ease of tracing power costs to each department, and the centralization of power-generating plant. In new millis the capital cost is reduced 10 per cent, justifying the prediction that the electric drive will soon become universal in textile mills.

The second day's receipts of the sale in New York of the collection of Chinese curios made by Mrs. E. H. Conger in Pekin before and during the Boxer uprising amounted to $9,382, a total of $17,439 for the two days' sales.

THE CRIMSON BLIND

BY FRED M. WHITE

"Lord Littimer was furiously angry when he heard that Frank and Claire had got on speaking terms. He imperiously forbade any further intercourse, and General Carfax did the same. The consequence was that these two foolish young people elected to fancy themselves greatly aggrieved, and so a kind of Romeo and Juliet, Montague and Capulet, business sprang up. There were secret meetings, meetings entirely innocent, I believe, and a correspondence which became romantic and passionate on Claire Carfax's side. The girl had fallen passionately in love with Frank, whilst he regarded the thing as a mere pastime. He did not know then, indeed nobody seemed to know till afterwards, that there was insanity in the poor girl's family, though Hatherly Bell's friend, Dr. Heritage, who then had a practice near Littimer, warned us as well as he could. Nobody dreamt how far the thing had gone.

"Then those letters of Claire's fell into Lord Littimer's hands. He found them and locked them up in his safe. Frank, furious at being treated like a boy, swore to break open the safe and get his letters back. He did so. And in the same safe, and in the same drawer, was Prince Rupert's ring. When Lord Littimer missed the letters he missed the ring also and a large sum of money in notes that he had just received from his tenants. Frank had stolen the ring and the money, or so it seemed. I shall not soon forget that day.

"After taking the letters Frank had gone straight to Moreton Wells, and it looked for a little time as if he had fled. Within an hour of the discovery of his loss Lord Littimer met Claire Carfax on the cliffs. She was wearing Prince Rupert's ring. Frank had sent it to her, she said. Anybody but a man in a furious passion would have seen that the girl was not responsible for her actions. Littimer told her the true circumstances of the case. She laughed at him in a queer, vacant way and fled through the woods. She went down to the beach, where she took a boat and rowed herself out into the bay. A mile or more from the shore she jumped into the water, and from that day to this nothing further has been seen of poor Claire Carfax."

"Or the ring, either?" David asked.

"Or the ring, either. The same night Lady Littimer started after her boy. Littimer was going to have Frank prosecuted. Lady Littimer fled to Longdean Grange, where Frank joined her. Then my uncle turned up, and there was a scene. It is said that Lord Littimer struck his wife, but Frank says that she fell against his gesticulating fist. Anyway, it was the same as a blow, and Lady Littimer dropped on the floor, dragging a table down with her, flowers and china and all. You have seen that table in Longdean Grange. Since then it has never been touched, the place has never been swept or dusted or garnished. You have seen my aunt, and you know what the shock has done for her—the shock and the steady persecutions of Reginald Henson.

"Who seems to be at the bottom of the whole trouble," said David. "But do you think that was the real ring on the poor girl's finger?"

"I don't. I fancy Henson had a copy made for emergencies. It was he who sent the copy to Claire, and it was the copy that Littimer saw on her hand. You see, directly Frank broke open that safe, Henson, who was at the castle at the time, saw his opportunity—he could easily scheme some way of making use of it. If that plot against Frank had failed he would have invented another. And the unexpected suicide of Claire Carfax played into his hands. Henson has that ring somewhere, and it will be our task to find it."

"And when we have done so?"

"Give it to Lord Littimer and tell him where we found it. And then we shall be rid of one of the most pestilential rascals the world has ever seen. When you get back to Brighton I want you to tell this story to Hatherly Bell."

"I will," David replied. "What a weird, fascinating story it is! And the sooner I am back the better I shall be pleased. I wonder if our man is awake yet. If you will excuse me, I will go up and see. Ah!"

There was the sound of somebody moving overhead.

CHAPTER XLV.

On the Trail.

At the same moment Williams came softly in. There was a grin of satisfaction on his face.

"The brute is fast asleep," he said. "I've just been in his room. He left the lamp burning, and there is a lump on the side of his head as big as an ostrich egg. But he didn't mean to go to sleep; he hasn't taken any of his clothes off. On the whole, sir, would not it be better for you to wake our man up and get him away?"

David was of the same opinion. Van Sneck was lying on the bed looking vacantly about him. He seemed older and more worn, perhaps, because his beard and moustache were growing ragged and dirty on his face. He pressed his hand to his head in a confused kind of way.

"I tell you I can't find it," he said; "the thing slipped out of my hand — a small thing like that easily might. What's the good of making a fuss about a ring not worth £20? Search my pockets if you like. What a murderous-looking dog you are when you are out of temper!"

All this in a vague, rambling way, in a slightly foreign accent. David touched him on the shoulder.

"Won't you come back with me to Brighton?" he said.

"Certainly," was the ready response; "you look a good sort of chap. I'll go anywhere you please. Not that I've got a penny of money left. What a spree it has been. Who are you?"

"My name is Steel. I am David Steel, the novelist."

A peculiarly cunning look came over Van Sneck's face.

"I got your letter," he said. "And I came. It was after I had had that row with Henson. Henson is a bigger scoundrel than I am, though you may not think it."

"I accept your statement implicitly," David said, drily.

"Well, he is. And I got your letter. And I called. . . . And you nearly killed me. And I dropped it down in the corner of the conservatory."

"Dropped what?" David asked, sharply.

"Nothing," said Van Sneck. "What do you mean by talking about dropping things. I never dropped anything in my life. I make others do that, eh, eh! But I can't remember anything. It just comes back to me, and then there is a wheel goes round in my head. Who are you?"

David gave up the matter as hopeless. This was emphatically a case for Bell. Once let him get Van Sneck back to Brighton and Bell could do the rest.

"We'd better go," he said to Enid. "We are merely wasting time here."

"I suppose so," Enid said, thoughtfully. "All the same, I should greatly like to know what it is that our friend Van Sneck dropped."

It was a long and tedious journey back to Brighton again, for the patient seemed to tire easily, and he evinced a marked predilection for sitting by the roadside and singing. It was very late before David reached his house. Bell beamed his satisfaction. Van Sneck, with a half-gleam of recognition of his surroundings, and with a statement that he had been there before, lapsed into silence. Bell produced a small phial in a chemist's wrapper and poured the contents into a glass. With a curt command to drink he passed the glass over to Van Sneck.

The latter drank the small dose, and Bell carried him more or less to a ground-floor bedroom behind the dining-room. There he speedily undressed his patient and got him into bed. Van Sneck was practically fast asleep before his head had touched the pillow.

"I went out and got that dose with a view to eventualities," Bell explained. "I know pretty well what is the matter with Van Sneck, and I propose to operate upon him, with the help of Heritage. I've put him in my bed and locked the door. I shall sleep in the big armchair."

David flung himself into a big deck lounge and lighted a cigarette.

"My word, that has been a bit of business," he said. "Pour me out a little whisky in one of the long glasses and fill it up wtih soda. Oh, that's better. I never felt so thirsty in my life. I got Van Sneck away without Henson having the slightest suspicion that he was there, and I had the satisfaction of giving Henson a smashing blow without his seeing me."

"Sounds like conjuring," Bell said, behind his cigar. "Explain yourself."

David went carefully into details. He told the story of Prince Rupert's ring to a listener who followed him with the most flattering attention.

"Of course, all this is new to me," Bell said, presently, "though I knew the family well up to that time. Depend upon it, Enid is right. Henson has got the ring. But how unfortunately everything seems to have turned out for the scoundrel."

"If a man likes to be an unscrupulous blackguard he can make use of all events," David said. "But even Henson is not quite so clever as we take him to be. He has found out the trick we played upon him over Chris Henson, but he hasn't the faintest idea that all this time he has been living under the same roof at Littimer."

"The girl is a wonderful actress," Bell replied. "I only guessed who she was. If I hadn't known as much as I do she would have deceived me. But Henson has shot his bolt. After we have operated upon Van Sneck we shall be pretty near the truth. It is a great pull to have him in the house."

"And a nasty thing for Henson——"

"Who will find out before tomorrow is over. I feel pretty sure that this house is watched carefully. Any firm of private detectives would do that, and they need be told nothing either. I know that I was followed when I went to the chemist's to fetch that dose for our friend yonder. Still, it is a sign that Henson is getting frightened."

"Why do you bring Heritage into this matter?" David asked.

"Well, for a variety of reasons. First of all, Heritage is an old friend of mine, and I take a great interest in his case. I am going to give him a chance to recover his lost confidence, and he is a splendid operator. Besides, I want to know why Henson has gone out of his way to be so kind to Heritage, and, finally, Heritage was the family doctor of the Carfax people you just mentioned before he went to practice in London. Let me once get Heritage round again, and I shall be greatly disappointed if he does not give us a good deal of valuable information regarding Reginald Henson."

"And Cross. What about him?"

"Oh, Cross will do as I ask him. Without egotism, he knows that the case is perfectly safe in my hands. And if we care to look after Van Sneck, why, there will be one the less burden in the hospital. What a funny business it is! Van Sneck gets nearly done to death under this roof, and he comes back here to be cured again."

David yawned sleepily as he rose.

"Well I've had enough of it for to-night," he said. "I'm dog-tired, and I must confess to feeling sick of the Hensons and Littimers, and all their works."

"Including their friend, Miss Ruth Gates?" Bell said, slily. "Still, they have made pretty good use of you, and I expect you will be glad to get back to your work again. At the same time, you need not trouble your head for plots for many a day."

David admitted that the situation had its compensations, and went off to bed. Bell met him the next day as fresh as if he had had a full night's rest, and vouchsafed the information that the patient was as well as possible. He was cold and no longer feverish.

"In fact, he is ready for the operation at any time," he said. "I shall get Heritage here to dinner, and we shall operate afterwards with electric light. It will be a good steadier for Heritage's nerves, and the electric light is the best light of all for this business. If you have got a few yards of spare flex from your reading-lamp I'll rig the thing up without troubling your electrician. I can attach it to your study lamp."

"I've got what you want," David said. "Now come in to breakfast."

There was a pile of letters on the table, and on the top a telegram. It was a long message, and Bell watched Steel's face curiously.

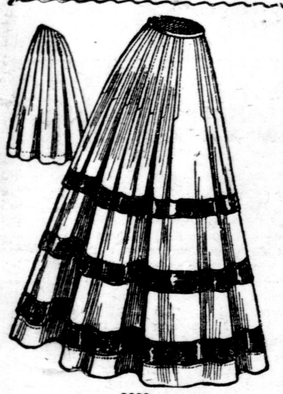

"From Littimer Castle," he suggested. "Am I right?"

"As usual," David cried. "My little scheme over that diamond star has worked magnificently. Miss Chris tells me that she has—by Jove, Bell, just listen—she has solved the problem of the cigar-case; she has found out the whole thing. She wants me to meet her in London tomorrow, when she will tell me everything."

PIMPLES AND BOILS

HEALED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mr. Joseph Arsnault resides at Cassumpec, P. E. I., and says: "About five months ago sores broke out on my body. They came in the form of small pimples which discharged. These sores would grow until they got as large as a nickel. I used Carbolic Salves without effect. I saw Zam-Buk advertised in the papers and secured some, and daily applications of this healing balm for one week effected a permanent cure. Since then I have recommended Zam-Buk to my brother for boils on his knee, and also used it again myself for a poisoned finger, in both cases with marvelous results. I cannot recommend Zam-Buk too highly.

Zam-Buk, the great skin healer, can be obtained at any drug or general store for 50 cents a box, or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

ILL IN THE WOODS

Sportsman Was Borne by Indians Many Miles on Stretcher.

Greenwich, Conn., June 10.—Ill with typhoid in a dying condition, Charles P. Geddes, of New York City, has traveled more than seven hundred miles, twenty miles on a stretcher through the woods, fifty miles in a canoe and the remainder by rail.

Mr. Geddes and several prominent New York sportsmen were taking an outing with the Laurentian Club, at Lake Lapeche, Canada. He became seriously ill, and as there was no chance whatever of obtaining medical aid his friends made haste to convey him to some place where he could get treatment.

Placing him on a stretcher borne by eight Indians they hurried him along the rough trail through the thick woods until Three Lakes was reached A part of the time Mr. Geddes was delirious. Doctors say he will recover.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL.

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with indigestion—are compelled "to diet"—find eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Two Charged With Series of Thefts at Toronto Junction.

Toronto, June 10.—Michael Martin, John Riley and John Sullivan were before Judge Winchester this morning on charges of committing a series of burglaries on March 17 last at Toronto Junction. The two latter men were caught while burglarizing the store of Keys & Sons, and Sullivan, while attempting to escape, was shot by Constable Peters. He has just left the hospital and came into court with the aid of a crutch. On the one charge Sullivan and Riley were found guilty, and they will be tried on the other charges this afternoon. Martin was allowed to go. He said he might have been with Sullivan and Riley on the night of the burglaries, but he had been so drunk that he could not remember. Both the other prisoners said in court that they never saw Martin before.

IT'S TAFT, SAYS WOODRUFF

New York Republican Leader Says Certain to Get to Nomination.

New York, June 10.—Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the state Republican committee, in an interview at state headquarters today said that it appeared to be absolutely certain that Taft would be nominated for President at Chicago, and that in view of this Gov. Hughes' candidacy ought not to be permitted to stand in the way of New York State getting the vice-presidency.

If Gov. Hughes' friends, he said, should insist on the governor's name going before the convention there would be no objection, provided it was understood that it would be merely a complimentary vote, and that New York State waived none of its rights to the second place by presenting the governor's name. Mr. Woodruff declared that he himself was not a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination.

LOBO TOWNSHIP SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Seventeenth Annual Convention Held in Poplar Hill—Year of Progress.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Sunday School Association was held in the Disciples Church, Poplar Hill on Tuesday, June 2. The number present at both afternoon and evening sessions and the interest that permeated the whole assembly surpassed any of the preceeding years. Much of the success of the convention was due to the untiring efforts of the worthy president, Mr. S. P. Zavitz, and also to the real of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ella Zavitz, who keeps the subject on her mind during the whole year. Luncheon was served in the basement of the church. The choir (instrumental and vocal) added much to the enjoyment o fall present.

Teachers' Study Meetings.

Messrs. D. Campbell and McVicar, visitors of schools, gave a comprehensive account of the standing of each school. This was followed by an open discussion, the main point being the lack of teachers' meetings to prepare the lesson. Tact in studying the lessons together, it was held, would create an enthusiasm that would be an important factor in presenting the lesson subject to the class.

No Rewards.

Rev. Mr. Moore spoke on "Rewards." He was not in favor of any rewards, not even church entertainments for trying to secure good attendance. The increased attendance soon lags because it often encourages a selfish motive. It takes time to learn that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Jesus Christ gave His life a ransom for sinners, and there is a rich reward in the spirit world for all who follow the teaching of Scripture. Diplomas for repeating from memory portions of Scripture may be all right, but the good comes not from the diploma but from committing to memory the Scripture. Welldoing brings its own reward.

The Round Table.

The round table conference was led by Rev. Mr. Fowler, who said it was not a round table unless the answers came from all around. So they did. Listen: "Can a Sunday school be successful without a teachers' meeting to study the lesson?" "It is essential for a friendly discussion of the lesson. You get enthusiastic about the lesson and you go to the class better prepared to teach."

"How can we get our scholars to bring their Bibles to school?" "By doing away with the reading in the Sunday school helps. It is often necessary to refer to passages not on the helps, and it cannot be done without the Bible."

"How can we induce our scholars to study their lessons before coming to Sunday school?" "Teachers should teach in such a way as to interest the scholars in the lesson. Much responsibility rests on the parents."

"Should the superintendent summarize the lesson at the close of the school?" "Yes, unless some one else is better qualified. Teachers and superintendent should both summarize."

"What is the best way to increase the regular weekly attendance and offerings?" "Get the parents to come. Teachers should look after the absent ones. Let the parents know that they have an interest in the little ones."

"How is it best to teach temperance in the Sunday school?" "Teachers should themselves be temperate, or they cannot teach temperance. Actions speak so loud that words cannot be heard."

Aim of the Sunday School.

"The Aim of the Sunday School" was the subject assigned Rev. Mr. Fowler. He said the Sabbath school was the best cause on earth, because it sought to bring the children into the kingdom. Jesus Christ was much interested in children when on earth. Earnest men and women of today are interested in getting the Scriptures into the hearts of young people. The nation is interested in the boys and girls, because of what they will become when men and women, and if the Scripture is imprinted in the heart of the child, his aim will be to bring others into the kingdom.

The Adult Bible Class.

A very important address on "The Adult Bible Class" was given by Rev. Mr. McEwen. He said that only 20 out of 100 people attend Sunday school, but he hoped the time would soon come when only 20 out of the 100 would be found outside of the Sunday school. Every member of this class should feel responsible for the success of the class.

The president, secretary-treasurer and committees should do everything in a businesslike way. The teacher should be a man with insight into God's own plan of saving sinners. Keep everyone in the class busy, so that they will not rust.

A vote of thanks was given to the president, secretary and to the church workers, who made such efforts for the comfort for all present. The next meeting will be held in Beechwood Church in East Williams.

LOOKS BRIGHT FOR TAFT.

504 Delegates Instructed For Him on Temporary Roll Call.

Chicago, June 10.—The Republican national committee by its work today decided contests in two states at large and in fourteen districts, the net result being that 33 full votes and two half votes were added to the number already accredited to William H. Taft and that two half votes were given to Senator Joseph B. Foraker. The committee has yet to consider contests at large in four states and a total of 38 district contests and two from the territories, involving a total of 94 votes. Before the meeting of the committee the number of delegates instructed for Taft was 387. The work of the committee, as far as it has progressed, has given him 117 additional votes, or a total of 504 on the temporary roll call.

It is the hope of the national committee that it will be able to finish its work by Friday night. To this end the members are making every possible effort to induce the warring factions to consent to the consolidation of cases. Much important work is slated for the committee on Saturday and Monday and it is earnestly desired that the hearings be over in ample time to allow sufficient attention to be paid to those matters.

With great ease water is placed in waterpan, drafts opened and coal fire started. Fire soon burns up brightly, drafts are closed and check-draft opened. Immediately heat-power begins to penetrate dome and radiator surrounding dome. The incoming cold air immediately receives the energy of this heat-power, and by natural law ascends up the hot-air pipes, thence to rooms. FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

May Be Realized By Shareholders in the York County Loan Company.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 10.—Latest estimates, based on the upward tendency of real estate in sections where York County Loan has its holdings, are that the dividend to shareholders when liquidation is complete will be at least 40 cents on the dollar, and figures may even reach 50 cents.

Land has been selling readily at increased prices. The district is one exactly suitable for the erection of houses that rent at from $25 a month up, and builders have not been slow to buy and build. Land that was selling at $15 a foot a year ago cannot be touched now at $20.

As there are between 35,000 and 40,000 feet still to be sold, it is evident that every rise of a dollar a foot adds $40,000 to be divided among the shareholders.

Dividends will also be increased by cutting from the list of those entitled to share, a number of worthless claims. It was evident after the sifting process which took place before the official referee that claims of $4,000,000 will now total not more than $3,000,000.

REPAIRED IN GOV'T YARD

Grenville Conservative Member Did Not Pay for Same.

Ottawa, June. 10.—The public accounts committee this morning heard evidence of John Offsprigge, carpenter of the Government yard at Prescott, in the case of Dr. Reid, Conservative member of parliament for Grenville, who was recently charged with having had his steam yacht repaired in the Government yards without paying for the service. Examined by Mr. Carvell Offsprigge said that in 1905 the yacht owned by Dr. Reid was overhauled and repaired in the Government yard. A carpenter, caulker and an ordinary laborer were employed on the work. When the time came to pay the men Dr. Reid was not around, and the bill for the caulker was paid by W. H. Noble, Government assistant commissioner of lights. He understood Noble had paid the sums out of his own pocket. Repairs for the boat were ordered by J. F. Fraser, commissioner of lights. Offsprigge said he kept the time, and the charges against the boat were regularly entered in the books of the yard, and to the same account was charged a fourth of the cost of putting in ways for hauling boats from the water that season. Afterward Offsprigge said another boat was hauled from the water for Dr. Reid, and no charge was made for the service.

TROUSERS VANISH LIKE A DREAM

Series of Distressful Thefts on Trains Out of Toronto.

North Bay, June 10.—During the past few days an organized band of crooks have been working Pullman sleeping cars on the C. P. R. and G. T. R. T. Harris, of North Bay, divisional car foreman, was returning from a trip of inspection on his division, on Saturday night, and while sleeping in his berth on the Winnipeg express was robbed of his trousers, containing $80. He was obliged to keep to his berth until an extra pair of uniform trousers were located after considerable search.

On the same train a man named McLeod lost three coats.

J. Canham, en route to Spragge, Manitoba, from Toronto, arrived in North Bay on Sunday morning poorer by $2,000 in negotiable paper, besides ready cash, watch and tickets. He was obliged to wait a day in North Bay to secure funds to continue his journey. The robbery occurred between Allandale and North Bay.

Two men on No. 1 Express on Monday night lost their trousers between North Bay and Sudbury, while sleeping, but the cash loss was small. Three other passengers were relieved of their valuables Monday night west of North Bay.

The C. P. R. Company have taken steps to protect passengers from further trouble of the like nature.

CRISIS AT BRUSSELS

Brussels, June 10.—On the eve of the opening of the special session of parliament for the purpose of concluding the discussion and taking a vote on the question of the annexation of the Congo Free State, the darkest views prevail in political circles. The measure is regarded practically as doomed, as King Leopold is reported to have refused all further concessions.

The defeat of the bill is likely to be followed by the resignation of the ministry and the dissolution of the chamber, involving a grave national crisis.

IS THE DANGER REALIZED?

How few people realize the vast amount of ill-health that arises from absorption of catarrhal poisons into the system. Languor, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and indigestion are frequently caused by catarrh, which, if unchecked, paves a certain road to tuberculosis. Better inhale into the lungs, nose and air passages the purifying, healing vapor of Catarrhozone. This simple treatment permanently stops catarrh, gives ease to asthma, bronchial irritation and chest colds. Head and throat are cleared of stuffiness in two minutes, bad breath and ringing ears are stopped—every trace of catarrhal cold is cured once and for all. Be advised, use Catarrhozone this spring—clear all the taints of winter congestions from your nose, throat and lungs. All dealers sell Catarrhozone; 25c, 50c and $1 sizes, the latter being guaranteed.

GOOD CROP AND YEAR'S SAVING

Banker Points Out How Canada Financially Can Get Back To Normal.

Toronto, June 10.—"Yes, there is every reason to expect a good crop," said Banker Byron E. Walker, when asked his estimate of the situation. "There is nothing," he added, "which we need more. I have said often and I repeat again, that what Canada needs is a good crop and a year of economy. That would bring us back to the normal."

"Then the crop alone would not be sufficient?"

"It would not," said Mr. Walker, "and perhaps it is because we have not been badly enough punished that we do not fully realize that. The west may think that the depression was caused by a bad crop. As a matter of fact the bad crop was only an incident. The depression would have come without it. In the States they had good crops, got more for their cereals and their cotton than before, but they had worse trouble financially than Canada had. The real cause of depression was caused by the tendency and the practice of people in living ahead of themselves. If there is a splendid crop and Canadians have not learned their lesson, they will start cutting the same wide swath over expenditure. Then there will be the same inevitable trouble following. The country needs a year of economy. The natural result of a good crop will be that money will be easier. Municipalities will find themselves able to sell their bonds. Some of them, perhaps, will take advantage of this to plunge into improvements on the old large scale. This will not be justified, for the country needs caution as well as crop."

TORONTO EXHIBITION

The Prize List for 1908 Is Now Being Distributed.

The prize list of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Ont., Aug. 29 to Sept. 14, has come to hand. It has been thoroughly revised from beginning to end and in some respects presents a neater and more convenient appearance than formerly. Several important additions have been made, including an offer of $1,100, divided into six prizes, for the best floral design to cover not more than 500 square feet of floor space. The Dominion Shorthorn Association give $2,000 and the Clydesdale Association $500 to the premiums offered for Shorthorns and Clydesdales. Several classes for horses and outfits used in business have been incorporated. Upwards of $700 has been added to the amount given in prizes in the agricultural section. Altogether, including medals and cups, the amount given in premiums reaches upwards of $50,000, by far the greater portion of which is devoted to live stock and agricultural products. A more than usually extensive art loan collection is promised by old-world masters; by special permission of H. M. the king the band of the Royal Artillery, Woolwich, Eng., will play and take a leading part in a grand international military tattoo and spectacle representing "The Siege of Sebastopol." Each day will close with a display of fireworks on a scale hitherto unattempted. The usual cheap rates and excursions have been arranged for by all lines of travel. On application to J. O. Orr, Exhibition offices, City Hall, Toronto, prize lists, entry blanks and any information desired will be forwarded on the instant.

AFTERMATH OF ELECTIONS

Monteith May Ask for a Recount in His Constituency.

Toronto, June 9.—Hon. Nelson Monteith, minister of agriculture, was at the Parliament buildings this morning and held a brief conference with the Premier.

"Latest returns show that I am down by seven votes," he said, "but we had a very pleasant campaign."

Mr. Monteith said he was asking for a recount, and with that in view could say nothing as to his future. He had no allegations of impropriety to make, but knew of one poll in which three ballots marked for him were not counted, owing to the deputy having failed to initial them.

"What are your intentions for the future?" the minister was asked.

"The crops are looking fine," he observed with twinkling eyes," and we have been having some delightful weather in Perth."

It is interesting to know that a minister can legally continue to hold office and administer the affairs of his department without being a member of the Legislature.

"Constitutional practice and the sense of propriety, however, make it advisable that he shall be a member," said Hon. Mr. Foy, the attorney-general, "and both Mr. Whitney and myself put our convictions on record in 1898."

During the legislative session of that year it will be remembered that Hon. Mr. Dryden continued to act as minister of agriculture, although, being defeated at the polls, he could not take his seat in the House and had to be represented there by another member. The then Opposition placed itself on record against the practice of having ministers who were not members.

The election of J. C. Milligan, the Conservative, in Stormont, by a majority of one, is reported, but McCart will demand a recount.

Mr. J. B. Tudhope's majority in East Simcoe is 177, instead of 32.

In East Wellington Mr. Craig, Conservative, has 219, instead of 53 majority, and Lucas, in Center Grey, has 1,035, instead of 200.

"We haven't decided yet about protests," said Mr. F. G. Inwood, secretary of the General Reform Association for Ontario. "There may be some."

At the offices of the organizers for the Conservatives they haven't thought of protests yet.

OTTAWA HAS BEEN CAPITAL 42 YEARS

Seat of Government Was Established After a Long and Strenuous Fight.

Ottawa, June 11.—Forty-two years ago on June 8, 1866, the legislature of Canada met in Ottawa for the first time. Therefore the seat of Government had alternated between Quebec and Toronto every four years. The system was cumbersome and expensive and finally both houses of the legislature passed a resolution requesting Queen Victoria to decide on a permanent location for the Government. She selected Ottawa to the surprise and irritation of the advocates of Kingston, Toronto, Montreal and Quebec.

Antagonism to the new site grew to such an extent that in 1858 it resulted in the defeat of the Government, but eventually the opponents of Ottawa saw the futility of opposition. The laying of the corner stone of the new buildings Sept. 1, 1860, served to further demonstrate the determination to abide by the Queen's decision. In 1866 the legislators met for the first time in the new buildings, although the latter were still unfinished.

The first cabinet comprised Sir N. F. Belleau, premier and receiver-general; John A. Macdonald, attorney-general for the west; George E. Cartier, attorney-general for the east; A. T. Galt, minister of finance; Alex. Campbell, commissioner of crown lands; Thomas D'Arcy McGee, minister of agriculture; J. C. Chapais, commissioner of public works; A. J. Ferguson-Blair, president of the council; W. P. Howland, postmaster-general; William Macdougall, provincial secretary; James Cochrane, solicitor-general for the west; H. L. Langevin, solicitor-general for the east. Owing to a dispute with his colleagues George Brown, who had been a member of the cabinet, resigned and was succeeded by Ferguson-Blair.

Ottawa, when the representatives of the people first met here, was not a place of much importance. The population amounted to 15,000 and the assessed value of property totaled only $5,000,000. Today the population of the capital within a radius of three miles of the city hall is 100,000, and the assessed value of property is recorded as over $48,000,000, while nearly $12,000,000 worth is exempt from taxation.

Before a second session of the legislature had completed its deliberations in Ottawa the act of confederation was passed uniting upper and lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1870 Manitoba came into the union, British Columbia following in 1871 and Prince Edward Island in 1872. In 1870 the northwest was divided into territories and provision made for their Government.

HAS KITCHENER BEEN SHELVED

He Is Returning From India To Find All Important Offices Filled With Juniors.

New York, June 9.—A dispatch from London to The Tribune says:

"Lord Kitchener's term of office as commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, with a salary of $50,000 a year and allowances to the tune of half that amount, comes to an end two months hence, and he has absolutely declined to accept any extension thereof. In order that his good work of reorganization of the army may continue on the lines laid down by him, the Government has selected as his successor General Sir Beauchamp Duff, who, throughout his stay in India, has been his chief of staff, and his principal lieutenant.

Appointed Over His Head.

"While Lord Kitchener is universally admitted by British and foreign experts to have increased tenfold the military strength and efficiency of England in India, by his radical reorganization not only of the army itself, but of the entire system of defence, it is known that he is returning home with health impaired by his sojourn in India, and in fact, he is understood to consider himself badly used by the present Government. Only the other day, Lord Grenfell, his junior by several numbers on the list of generals, was appointed over his head to the dignity of field marshal. Another of his juniors, General Sir William Nicholson, has just been appointed chief of the general staff of the entire British army at home and abroad, an office analogous to that occupied by the great field marshal, Count Moltke, in connection with the German army at the time of his death. Still another junior, General Sir Neville Littleton, has just been assigned to the lucrative and important command of Ireland, which was considered of sufficient prestige to be awarded to Lord Roberts when he came home, after completing his term in India, covered with all the glories of the Afghan campaigns. Yet another junior, Sir John French, almost at the very foot of the list of generals, has lately been appointed inspector-general of the forces, with a large salary.

Virtually Shelved.

"Thus, Lord Kitchener, after five years of brilliant work in India, is coming home to find that not only have all the most important offices which he had a right to look for on his return been newly filled with his juniors, but that the pledge of supreme command in the event of war has been given to one of them, notwithstanding the expectations that had been held out to him of that highest prize of a military career. His friends insist that when he first went out to India he was distinctly promised that his interests at home should not suffer, and that these promises have not been kept. Of course, the trouble is that Lord Kitchener is too imperious, and too intolerant of opposition and contradiction to be popular with the ministers of the day and with those in authority. That is why he is returning home to find himself virtually shelved."

A Filthy Condition

Many a man, otherwise scrupulously clean is dandruff dirty. The small persistent germs of dandruff working all day as well as night are constantly throwing off the small white dandruff scales, which falling on the shoulders of a coat gives it a filthy appearance, which is repulsive to the friends of the victim.

Many men allow this condition to exist because they believe there is no cure for dandruff; they have tried various so-called cures with unsatisfactory results and naturally condemn all.

The famous prescription called Parisian Sage is now put up in America, but only by the Giroux Mfg. Co., of Buffalo, N. Y. It is for sale in London and Fort Erie, Ont., by W. T. Strong, who guarantees it to cure dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to do more; it will make short, thin hair grow long, lustrous and luxuriant; it will stop hair from falling out; it will cure all diseases of the scalp. W. T. Strong guarantees it—every bottle of it. The price is only 50 cents, and if you want to stop the filthy dandruff flakes from lodging on your coat and disgusting your friends, get a bottle at once.

GIANELLI BEATS OLD TEAM-MATES

London Wins and Loses in a Double Header With Niagara Falls.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 10.—The Londons were successful in winning and losing one of the two games played with the Yankees here this afternoon. The first contest of the day was won by the Yanks in a masterly fashion, by a score of 4 to 3, while the Londons copped the next heat by a score of 9 to 5. Gianelli, who was formerly with the London team, pitched for the Yanks in the first game. He was in excellent form, striking out thirteen men and passing but four. Parkins also twirled good ball. He struck out ten men and walked six, but a few errors lost his game. The second game was easy for the London nine with Payne in the box. His twisters had the Americans completely puzzled, and not a few fanned the atmosphere in attempting to connect with the pelt. Bradley, the local druggist, was in the box for the locals, and was touched up quite freely, and aided by several errors, he lost. Keenan, Bird, N. Jeffries and Lee had their weather eyes on the sphere, and each of them landed on Bradley's curves for two hits apiece. The score:

ST. THOMAS GETS GUELPH TEAM

Owing to lack of patronage the Guelph International League franchise has been turned over to St. Thomas. The opening game will take place tomorrow.

It was stated to The Advertiser today by one of the players that the attendance at yesterday's Guelph-Hamilton game numbered exactly 35. The Guelph diamond is nothing more or less than a big, rough field, and little or no attempt had been made to level it or keep the grass cut.

Mr. George McLeish, manager of the London Grand Opera House, who held an option on the St. Thomas franchise, has turned the option over to Jack Murray, manager of the Guelph team.

TIGERS VICTORS IN 12 INNINGS

Mullin Wins a Sensational Game From Griffith's Fast Highlanders.

Detroit, June 1.—The Tigers won. They had to go twelve long, hard innings to do it, for the crippled infield with its excusable misplays kept putting them in wrong and they would have to fight their way out of it each time. To George Mullin must be given credit for the victory to a large degree.

The big fellow pitched a masterful game and at the close of the twelfth inning was pitching steadier and better than earlier in the struggle. He fanned eight and repeatedly worked himself out of dangerous positions. Doc Newton on the other hand was driven from the box at the early stages and Lake, who succeeded him, had a hard job of it holding the Tigers.

In the eighth they tied the score and when an error put Mullin in bad in the tenth and they scored two tallies the champions came right back. Then in the twelfth they won out by one tally, although the decision at the plate was disputed by New York.

Crawford Schmidt and Cobb were the bright stars at the plate for the Tigers. Their long drives at opportune times drove the runs over the plate and saved the day.

It was a see-saw battle from the start, with this new chap, Ball, making the most of the trouble for the Tigers.

New York gained the first score when Ball took a third strike on a wild pitch and dashed to first. He moved over on Stahl's out and scored when O'Leary threw badly to Crawford on Conray's hard grounder. Keeler's triple and Crawford's muff of Chase's bounder at first added another in the third. Then the Tigers started.

Schmidt walked, advanced on O'Leary's sacrifice, made third on Mullin's line drive to Keeler and scored on McIntyre's smash to center. Cobb tied the score in the next round when he singled and stole and sprinted home on a hit by Jones. Killifer went out, but Schmidt pulled the champs into the lead with a two-base smash that scored Davy.

It was neck and neck again, however, when Ball bunted in the sixth and stole, scoring on Conroy's smash to left in the sixth. Griffith danced faster in the next round, when Hemphill singled, Keeler walked and Ball smashed one to short, for Hemphill scored. O'Leary tried to get Keeler at third, but could not. Stahl likewise hit to O'Leary and Ball made second. Conroy smashed one to Schaefer and the Dutchman tagged out Ball and the Tigers pulled from a bad hole.

One run behind, they tied it up in the eighth by Crawford's lusty triple to left, he scoring on Cobb's sacrifice fly to left.

The tenth and it looked hopeless when the visitors made two runs. Ball singled and Schaefer, who had to return to third because of still another injury to Coughlin, threw low to first on Stahl. Conroy's out advanced both men and they sprinted home on Blair's drive to right.

But Charley Schmidt came through with still another long distance drive. Crawford opened the way with a fine single, Cobb fouled out, but Jones drew a base. Killifer flied and with two down Schmidt landed on one of Lake's benders for three bases. The ball missed going into the right field bleachers by a few feet. The score was again even.

In the eleventh it looked bad. Crawford's fumble put Niles on first and Hemphill sacrificed. Keeler singled and stole second. With but one out and third and second occupied it looked bad, but Mullin forced Chase to pop to Schaefer and struck out Ball, who had been causing so much trouble.

Cobb opened the twelfth and winning round with a two-base drive to left, made third when Davy Jones beat a bunt to first and scored when Killifer dropped a roller to Conroy. Conroy tried to get Ty at the plate, but the Georgian slipped under the throw. The Yankees were still arguing with Sheridan as the crowd swarmed over the field.

Poor Support Keeps Nap Pitcher From Having Shutout.

Cleveland, June 10. — Had Liebhardt received perfect support today he would have shut Boston out. As it was, Boston won, 8 to 4, in eleven innings. Cleveland bunched hits in the first inning and scored three runs.

After that Young was invincible until the eleventh, when hits were again bunched. A double play by Lord, however, stopped the rally. Stovall had a finger split in the fourth inning, necessitating a shift in the infield. Lajoie starred at first. The score:

BISONS TAKE ODD FROM MONTREAL

Eastern League Leaders Give Jimmy Casey's Royals a Setback.

Montreal, June 10.—Buffalo today won the odd game in the series with Montreal and gave Jimmy Casey another setback in his march to the top of the race. By winning the series the herd accomplished what no other team has done here this season. Thanks to the pitching of Bill Tozer, Buffalo won today, and it was well that the Bisons had a big lead, because there was a blow-up in the eighth that would have lost most games. In this inning, four errors, divided between Nattress and Hill, let Montreal score four runs on one base hit, and when the third man was retired a hit would have tied the score.

LONDON LADY WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

Tells of Accident to Little Brother Some Time Ago.

The Advertiser has received the following from a former London lady:

Los Angeles, Cal., June 4, 1908.

"Many times since leaving the old home I have been tempted to write something for your paper. In order that friends and relatives may hear of the sad accident that happened to my brother, Griffin, also brother to Lew. of 135 Dreaney avenue, London, and Ted Sheldrake, of 12 Sutton avenue, Toronto.

"While at play with several little companions he was feeding a lawn mower, and in turning the machine it cut off the index finger on the right hand. We regret the accident and hope that nothing will prevent a speedy recovery.

"Again we regret that the much ooked for homeward trip for Old Boys' Day cannot be participated in by my father, Mr. John Sheldrake, who had laid many plans to return and once again mingle with friends and relatives, but circumstances unforeseen have presented themselves, and the much looked for trip will have to be postponed another year.

"My mother is much improved in health since coming to California, and enjoys the pure air, sunshine and outdoor exercise.

"As for myself I am playing in one of the largest theaters in the city, keep regularly employed and am in love with my profession, the people, and the country. We are located at 5900 Howard street, mid sunshine and roses. Southern California is, to my mind, 'a haven of rest,' a paradise on earth, and, as the Grecian would say 'Eureka,' I have found it.

"As a musician and one fond of music, I am constantly and continually serenaded. Not altogether by the music produced by man, or on the harp of a thousand strings, but by the sweet music produced by the little birds on every twig and tree; all through the day and night, they gladden the weary traveler, that he may rap the drapery of his couch about him and lay down to pleasant dreams.

"Together with the beautiful parks, drives, lawns, flowers and the perfume of the sweet magnolia tree, all in all go to make one grand panorama of a life in the golden west. Respectfully,

"MRS. E. PHILLIPS."

A WEDDING IN ST. MARY'S PALACE

Miss Nora Healey United to Mr. Richard Jennings.

The wedding of Miss Nora Creena Healey and Mr. Richard Paxton Jennings, both of this city, was solemnized at the new palace of the priests of St. Mary's Church last night by Rev. Father Tobin.

The bride was assisted by Miss Constance M. Downey and the groom by his brother, Mr. E. J. Jennings.

After the wedding, a reception was held by the young couple at the bride's parent's home on Lorne avenue.

The happy couple left on the Grand Trunk for Chicago last night where they will reside.

CHELSEA GREEN PEOPLE WOULD LIKE A STATION.

On the Line of the L. and P. S. R., South of City.

A flag station on the line of the London and Port Stanley Railway is a proposition that Chelsea Greeners are heartily in favor of.

A flag station would be satisfactory to the residents and would certainly be a great convenience.

A platform situated near the Wilcox factory would be the most convenient.

There are now over 200 people living in the Green, and it is thought that the railway companies would be agreeable to the proposition, as that population is worth catering to.

The matter has never been taken up by the Chelsea Green Board of Control, but it has frequently been discussed among the residents.

It is probable that it will be considered by the board in the near future, as it would be a big boom to Chelsea Green.

NO NEW SCHOOL FOR CHELSEA GREEN.

Board of Control Puts Matter Off for a Year.

At a meeting of the board of control of Chelsea Green, held recently, it was decided that it would not be profitable to build a new school this year.

The Presbyterian Church is now being rented for a schoolhouse at $10 per month, which comes much cheaper than a new school, which would cost between $4,000 and $5,000.

ROLLING MILLS MEN ARE LAID OFF.

Owing to an Accident to the Crusher There.

Owing to an accident to the "crusher" at the Rolling Mills, the entire staff has been laid off until next Monday.

Men are now at work repairing the break, and it is expected that work will be resumed Monday.

CHELSEA GREEN PEOPLE OBJECT TO BATHERS

Who Frequent the Old Swimming Hole at Burkett's.

An amusement which certain Chelsea Green residents do not relish is that taken by certain boys and young men at Burkett's swimming hole east of Chelsea Green.

Nearly every warm day, Sundays included, young men take a dip in the Thames at this point, and afterwards have foot races along the bank.

No effort has been made so far to check the bathers this summer, but it is expected that they will be "shooed" away hereafter.

WORKMAN INJURED IN RECTORY STREET SEWER

Tile Fell on George Boyes While He Was in the Trench.

George Boyes, a laborer employed on the Rectory street sewer, had a narrow escape from serious injury while at work there yesterday afternoon.

He was working in the trench when a heavy tile fell on his head cutting it badly.

Had it not been that the tile struck a glancing blow he would have received more serious injury.

A physician dressed the injury.

A JUNE WEDDING IN AN EAST END CHUICH

Marriage of Popular Couple by Rev. A. J. Bowen.

On her return home the bride will hold a reception at the home of her mother, at the corner of Muir and Price streets, East London.

PRODUCER GAS AND THE PRICE OF POWER

McClary Plant Is Still Giving Entire Satisfaction.

The engineers in charge of the producer gas plant now in operation at the McClary powerhouse on Adelaide street south, have been doing a little figuring as to the cost of electricity per horsepower generated by producer gas.

The engine is now generating between 182 horsepower and 200 horsepower daily.

The amount of coal required to run the plant, being about one ton and a quarter per day.

Figuring it down close they found that one horsepower for the day could be generated with 1.04 pounds of coal.

Four men are employed in the power plant. The producer gas engine is giving perfect satisfaction. The men are unable as yet to figure out the cost per annum, but they are of the opinion that producer gas can successfully compete with Niagara power in London.

"Electricity, generated by producer gas is the coming power," they say, "and if it cannot be operated to generate power as cheaply as Niagara Falls power can be delivered in this district, then it will certainly be used in other places farther from the Falls."

EAST END NOTES.

Mackie will hold down the first base for the Ramblers in the second game at Queen's Park Saturday. Cochrin, the regular player is not in good condition.

The mayor also received a letter from Major Beattie, M. P., telling him that it is advisable that a Quebec battlefields committee be appointed in London, and requesting that a meeting of citizens be called at once to deal with the matter and form a committee.

The meeting will be called shortly.

Motion to Wind Up the Ginseng Co.

Another motion has been entered for the weekly sitting of the high court for London to wind up the business of the Ontario Ginseng Company.

A motion to this effect was set down in the same court some time ago, but was later withdrawn, as it was thought that the company, if allowed to continue, would prove a paying investment.

The motion is made on behalf of Mr. N. S. Williams, a shareholder, to the extent of $1,200, who alleges that if the business is not wound up shortly and the crops sold there will be a loss.

J. W. G. Winnett for motion; W. H. Burnum, for the company.

THE MISSING BALLOTS

Still Lost and It May Be They Have Been Destroyed.

Ottawa, June 11.—The committee on privileges and elections made its final attempt this morning to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Stanstead by-election ballots. Mr. Foley, clerk of the crown in chancery, who succeeded the late Mr. Lamothe, gave evidence as to the finding of the ballots of the 1904 election in a box labeled "Stanstead by-election, 1908." The ballots and papers of latter election could not be found anywhere and Mr. Foley's only conclusion was that they had een inadvertently destroyed in place of the 1904 ballots by the late clerk, Lamonthe. Mr. Foley recommended that additional space be allowed the clerk of crown in chancery for proper custody of election papers, and that records room be made more secure. The committee decided to report to the House without any comment evidence taken and recommendations of Mr. Foley.

SMALL LOT OF FARM PRODUCE

LOCAL MARKET.

Thursday, June 11.

The attendance of farmers at the market today was small, and consequently the supply of farm produce was not large. There was not much change in prices. The fruit growers, in the vicinity of the city, report that the strawberry crop as promising a large yield. And such was the case last year, and then the crop turned out to be the smallest in several years. What is wanted is a few good showers, which would make a vast change. It would not require many hot days, such as Monday, to make the crop almost a failure.

Grain—There was a good demand for oats and prices were firm at $1 60 to $1 63 per cwt. Wheat sold at 91c per bushel.

Butter and Eggs—Butter sold quickly and prices held firm at 18c per pound for mixed lots, and 19c to 20c for rolls. Eggs were not any too plentiful, and prices firm at 16½c for crate lots, and 17c to 18c for a single dozen.

Vegetables and Roots—The supply of potatoes was small, still the demand was slow at 75c to 80c per bag wholesale, and $1 retail. Asparagus was scarce, at 60c per dozen. Lettuce and radishes, 20c to 30c per dozen. Cucumbers were lower at 80c per dozen. New beets sold at 80c per dozen. Green onions were in better demand at 25c per dozen. Tomatoes, celery, and onion plants sold at 15c per box, 2 boxes for 25c.

Poultry—Not much doing in this line. Spring chickens sold at 18c to 20c dressed. Old fowl in fair demand at 10c per pound alive and about the same price dressed. The few turkeys offered sold at 13c to 14c per pound.

One small load of apples, which were a fair sample, sold at 60c to 65c per bu.

A few crates of strawberries were offered and sold at 17c to 18c per box, wholesale, and 20c retail. The demand was slow.

Butchers Meat—The quantity offered was small. There was no change in the prices.

There was considerable wool offered, which sold at 12c to 13c per pound for washed and 7c to 8c for unwashed.

A few dressed hogs were offered, and sold at $8 per cwt.

London Old Boys and Mardi Gras Most Beautiful Pageant City Ever Saw

Will Be a Feature of the Old Home Week in This City.

The Old Boys are quietly working on their plans to produce the Mardi Gras, on a scale never before attempted outside of the New Orleans far-famed entertainments. To do so it will be necessary that hundreds of citizens must assist and form part of the grand pageants.

Every society in town will be called upon to do their share, and it is safe to say that no entertainment will so interest our citizens as the one decided upon by the committee.

The float in which the queen will be crowned, accompanied by her maids of honor, is one that for gorgeousness can hardly be described.

Canada, England, Ireland, Scotland, Japan, Italy and other places will be represented on separate floats twenty feet long and eighteen feet high. In addition to that there will be the floats which are described below as follows:

Proteus.

A colossal dragon, with prodigious wings of crimson and gold, and dazzling scales that seem to be of living fire, bears upon his gigantic back the glorious form of the versatile and handsome god. Proteus is gracefully seated upon a throne embellished with bright rubies, and is the incarnation of masculine beauty and royal magnificence. His cloak resembles liquid gold strewn with radiant gems and the diamonds of his helmet and of his scepter are as brilliant as the stars of heaven.

This car is of cyclopean size and is one of the most impressive and the most sumptuous ever presented in a carnival display.

Title Car.

Beneath a massive pillar, which supports a rich canopy, appears a stately golden statue of the great Hindu master who first trod the path that leads—

"Unto Nirvana, where the silence lives."

Upon two large scrolls, supported by the central pillar and two artistically carved elephant heads, is painted the title of the display. The car is ornamented with a wealth of flowers, and with the sacred leaves of the bodhi tree.

The Regents of the Earth.

The four regents of the earth, who rule over the north, the south, the west and east, are reclining upon the summit of a star-carpeted mountain. Each one of them has an attendant, who rides upon a fiery charger emerging from an opal-escent cloud. The Hindu gods depicted in this picture of Mount Sumeru are those

"Who write men's deeds on brazen plates; the Angel of the East,
Whose hosts are clad in silver robes and bear targets of pearls; the Angel of the South,
Whose horsemen, the Kumbhandas, ride blue steeds with sapphire shields; the Angel of the West,
By Nagas followed, riding steeds blood-red, with coral shields; the Angel of the North,
Environed by his Yakshas, all in gold, on yellow horses, bearing shields of gold."

The Abode of the Rishis.

Above the multi-colored clouds the stars are shining with dazzling brilliancy and bright flames are leaping forth from a number of elaborately carved braziers of silver. With flaming torches in their hands the divinities of the stellar system are rejoicing in their celestial abode.

"For heaven was filled with gladness for earth's sake,
Knowing Lord Buddha thus was come again."

Suddhodana and the Dream Readers.

The solemn and fantastically dressed dream readers are standing reverently in the palace garden before Suddhodana, and these learned interpreters of the mysteries of astrology are telling him that his son, Sidhartha, is

"A prince of earthly dominance,
A Chakravartin such as rise to rule,
Once in a thousand years."

The king is under a sculptured archway, encompassed on all sides by picturesque shrubbery, and behind him is a stately tree, gracefully waving its heartherlike leaves between two imposing columns.

Offerings of the Merchantmen.

In one of the pavilions of the palace of Suddhodana, the wealthy merchants of his realm have gathered to acknowledge the supremacy of the new-born Buddha,

"Bringing, on tidings of his birth, rich gifts."

The table in the center is loaded with vessels of embossed metal, and urns of rare workmanship, whose polished surfaces reflect the rainbow-colored lights of the numerous lanterns suspended from the arched canopy above.

Homage of the Holy Ones.

While reclining in the woods, the spirit of Buddha is entranced. The leaves and trees around him become transformed; they begin to glow with an enchanting light, and form a graceful, overhanging screen of emerald hue above the prince's head.

"There flew high overhead that hour five holy ones,
Whose free wings faltered as they passed the tree.
What power superior draws us from our flight?
They asked—for spirits feel all force divine,
And know the sacred presence of the pure.
Then, looking downward, they beheld the Buddha,
Crowned with a rose-hued aureole, intent
On thoughts to save; while from the grove a voice
Cried, 'Rishis,' This is he who shall help the world;
Descend and worship. So the Bright Ones came,
And sang a song of praise, folding their wings."

The Marriage Feast.

The prince and his bride Yasordhara are standing upon a richly carpeted platform, under a broad canopy, ornamented with brilliant silver bells. Before them are two winged lions, carved out of the purest marble, and potted plants of luxuriant foliage are tastefully arranged about them. The musicians are playing upon sweet-sounding instruments and a long-bearded Brahmin is blessing the happy twain.

The Arrow Test.

Beneath a specious tent of scarlet silk, fringed with gold, the peerless Yasodhara and her maids are watching the prince, whom Nanda has challenged for the arrow-test. The prince holds in his hand Sinhahanu's bow.

"Then fitting fair a shaft, he drew and closed,
And the keen arrow clove the sky and drave
Right through that farthest drum, nor stayed its flight,
But skimmed the plain beyond, past reach of eye."

Sale of Tickets.

Citizens must remember that to put on an entertainment of such gigantic nature that there must be expenditure. There is only one way the Old Boys have of meeting an expenditure, and that is through the sale of their membership tickets and the generosity of the citizens.

Already numerous tickets have been sold. The committee have met with no refusals, and the members are very hopeful that within a week or so all the money necessary will be raised.

The Official Count Makes No Changes

The official count of Returning Officer M. E. H. Johnston, in connection with the recent McEvoy-Beck election was made yesterday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The official majority for Mr. Beck was 1,404, and the figures agreed with those given by The Advertiser on the evening of the election.

There were 48 spoiled or rejected ballots, out of a total of 8,810 votes polled.

The largest number of spoiled ballots was in subdivision 7 of ward 3, where 7 ballots were spoiled.

The official count was made by Mr. Johnston, returning officer, assisted by Election Clerk J. H. Campbell. The Conservatives were represented by Mr. J. Percy Moore, and the Liberals by Mr. J. H. Fowler.

DEWAR--MARSHALL NUPTIALS

Wedding of Former Young Londoner at Aylmer—A Brilliant Function.

The marriage of Mr. John G. Dewar, of Toronto, formerly of London, to Miss Effie A. Marshall, at Aylmer, on Tuesday (as already noticed by The Advertiser) was a brilliant social function. An Aylmer correspondent gives the following details:

Trinity Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Tuesday evening, when Effie Alicia, only daughter of Mr. David Marshall, M. P., and Mrs. Marshall, became the bride of Mr. John George Dewar, of Toronto.

The bride entered the church at 8 o'clock, on the arm of her father, preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Minnie Dewar, of London, sister of the groom, and by the ushers. At the chancel she was met by the groom and his best man, Mr. McKinley Milliman, of London.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. J. Andrew, of Berlin, formerly pastor here, assisted by the present pastor, Rev. C. A. Miles, M.A. The wedding music rendered with great expression by Miss Mann, was from Lohengrin, as the bride entered; as she left the church Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played, while during the ceremony suitable selections from Wagner and Mendelssohn were played.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Thomas Dockstader, of London, sang most exquisitely, "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy."

The church was lavishly and tastefully decorated with orange flowers, marguerites and ferns.

The bride's dress was a Paris gown of hand embroidered silk and duchesse satin. Mrs. Marshall wore a handsome gown of black lace and white satin, and the groom's mother, Mrs. John Dewar, of London, wore a black silk voile.

The ushers were Messrs. Archie McMahon and McNie, London, and R. G. B. Moore and J. M. Farthing, Alymer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Maplehurst, the residence of the bride's parents. After the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Dewar, the wedding presents were the center of great interest and admiration. Among these were a bracelet set with diamonds, from the groom; several substantial checks, a sterling silver tea service, from Mrs. Nairn, and many beautiful things in silver and cut glass. The groom's gift to his best man was an umbrella, gold mounted, and to the ushers, gold cuff links. The staff of the Merchants' Bank, Toronto, in which Mr. Dewar is accountant, presented him with a very fine 400-day clock.

Upon their return from the Eastern States, Mr. and Mrs. Dewar will spend a few days in Aylmer before taking up their residence at Toronto.

THE "LAKE OF BAYS" COUNTRY.

A handsome brochure, artistically illustrated, has been issued by the Grand Trunk passenger department, telling of the beauties of the Lake of Bays district, in the "Highlands of Ontario." A new feature of this district is the new hotel—the Wawa—at Norway Point. The hotel itself has a page illustration reflecting the summer glories of woodland and water, with a brood of seven wild geese soaring skyward beyond the tower. The concise description embodies the story of a charming resort.

The very pretty duo tone photo engravings show the beauties of the new fairy land far more effectively than words can do. A copy can be obtained free on application to J. D. McDonald, D. P. A., Toronto. b of ever deepening cordiality in our relations have long since revealed to you the sincerity of our personal devotion and the freedom of our official service to you as the divinely constituted pastor and bishop of this diocese.

CLERGY OF LONDON DIOCESE

"The day has arrived wherein is fulfilled that august decree by which you were eternally pre-elected to the great charge now awaiting your administration. In this hour it is meet that we should lay aside all private griefs, and devoting our thoughts to the contemplation of the divine dispensation, rejoice in the dignities by which the Most High has honored you. It would, indeed, be most selfish and unjust to the loyalty we profess for you were we not moved to joy when Providence bends towards you to crown you anew, when Rome extends her hand to conduct you to the metropolitan throne of Toronto. Those sacred words which we read so often in the breviary seem to have been written especially for you: Ideo jurejurando fecit illum Dominus crescere in plebem suam.' This ecclesiastical elevation moves to joy both clergy and people, and, I have the right to call upon all the faithful of the diocese of London to rejoice with great joy in the words of the sacred writer: 'Sacerdotes Dei, benedicite Dominum; serviDomini, hymnum dicite Deo.'

"To you, most revered prelate, whose magnetic personality and brilliant executive gifts have long marked you out for elevation—to you has come the divine command, at once a signal of love and of election: 'Friend, go up higher.' Now you leave us to be invested in your new See with the plentitude of archiepiscopal dignity, we cannot feel that your departure means absolute separation. The kingdom of Christ upon earth is one. You go to rule in another court, but the King you serve is still the same, and his interests here or there will never be indifferent to you. The mutual claims which we have so long and amicably exercised are in some sense irrevocable, and it shall be hereafter our delight and privilege to maintain inviolate our title to your esteem.

"In your new See you will, doubtless, find a wider field for the exercise of your zeal and activities, a more abundant harvest ripe for your hand to gather. There will be difficulties also; this is inevitable, since the divine institution which you represent must live and operate through human elements, must continually adjust itself with protean facility to the requirements of an all but infinite variety of races and conditions. But the great soul glories in such struggles as serve to develop and augment its powers and prove its preeminence over circumstance and accident. We have seen with what masterly address you have wrestled with and overcome every obstacle which threatened to impede your progress in this diocese, and we foresee that any similar opposition which may in future arise will but add to your laurels of victory. Nor do we doubt that the fervent support of the clergy and people of your new flock will be attended with those grand and beneficent results which cannot ail to issue from harmony of thought and continuity of concerted action; while the charm of your personal influence will speedily make you as beloved and reverenced by the people of Toronto as you have ever been by those of London.

"Your Grace, you are going away, but your work remains to perpetuate your living memory. These forty Separate schools, these new parishes—works of your Episcopal zeal—are imperishable monuments, because they are built not of marble or of bronze, which time annihilates, but in immortal souls.

"In conclusion, we wish to offer you our most ardent gratitude for all the good you have accomplished for us and for our diocese during your sojourn here, by the prudence and zeal of your government, the energy of your self-sacrificing exertions, and your tireless solicitude for the interests of your Divine Master. Our constant prayer for you will be that the superabundant benediction of heaven may attend all your apostolic labors, and we reverently beg that you, in your goodness, will ever reserve a foremost place in your holy prayers and in your paternal affection for your devoted sons,

"THE CLERGY OF LONDON."

The Archbishop's Reply.

"Very Rev. and Rev. Fathers: Several priests were anxious to make a tangible presentation on this occasion, but you are giving what is much better and more acceptable, namely, your good wishes and your prayers. Besides, you have on former occasions shown how generous you can be, and I considered it unfair to accept any further evidence of your generosity. I will carry with me the beautiful souvenir you presented on the occasion of my silver jubilee. And while our official relations have ceased, I hope the bonds of friendship and affection will ever continue. In fact, looking back over the past nine years I find that our relations have been friendly rather than official; and, with scarcely an exception, it was only necessary to make suggestions and not to give commands. It is true that on account of the death of several good priests, and the starting of new parishes, many important changes became necessary among the members of the clergy, and many were called upon to make sacrifices, and to do hard work in building churches, schools, presbyteries and convents; but to your credit, you were always equal to the occasion, and went to work with a zeal and unselfishness that won the approval and generous assistance of your people, and hence the splendid results that followed.

"It was a real pleasure in speaking to the Holy Father to give him a detailed account of your work. He replied it was no wonder I was a happy bishop since I had such a zealous body of priests. Every true priest is obedient to the proper authority appointed to govern the diocese, and hence I am sure you will work in harmony with the Right Rev. Administrator, and he will treat you with every kindness and courtesy.

"I thank you sincerely for your beautiful address, and for your many acts of kindness and courtesy in the past. Wherever the present Archbishop of Toronto will make his home every priest from the diocese of London will receive a hearty welcome. In this world we expect trials and partings; but in the next, if we are faithful, we will enjoy life everlasting, infinite brightness, steadfast peace and safe repose."

PRESBYTERIANS AND QUEEN'S

The Question of Separation Is Under Discussion at the General Assembly.

Winnipeg, June 10.—The question of separating Queen's University, Kingston, from the Presbyterian Church caused a spirited discussion in the general assembly today, and opinions for and against were vigorously expressed. The subject came up on presentation of a report by Principal Patrick, Winnipeg, of the special committee appointed to advise the assembly. This report suggested leaving the matter to the university trustees, and met with much opposition. The debate occupied about half the time of the assembly today.

The vote in the assembly affirming the practicability of organic union was 156 for and 32 against. This is generally regarded as a final pronouncement on the principle.

The first business was the reception of the report of the committee striking 32 standing committees for the year. The list showed comparatively few changes from that of last year, and was adopted with little or no amendment. It was decided to detach two presbyteries, to be named Saskatoon and Abernethy, respectively, from the present Presbytery of Qu'Appelle.

Augmentation.

Rev. J. H. Edmison, of Cheltenham, has been appointed by the committee to do what Dr. Somerville did for augmentation prior to his appointment as treasurer.

The year was begun with a balance on hand of $1,070 35, the receipts from all sources were $39,102 60, and expenditure $37,340 02. It is estimated that $46,000 will be needed for augmentation this year.

Dr. Lyle urged the necessity of supporting the fund liberally. A short discussion ensued, and the report was adopted.

Rev. S. J. McArthur, of Newcastle, N. B., presented the report of the augmentation committee (eastern section).

A special committee was appointed to arrange for religious services by the Presbyterian Church connection with the Quebec centenary celebration in July.

The report of the committee on the Order of Deaconesses, with important recommendations, was presented by Rev. Mr. Martin, Brantford, and adopted.

ROBLIN'S LOVELY LAW

How It Works to the Disfranchisement of Manitoba Liberals.

Winnipeg, June 10.—Many grave irregularities in registration are reported from Gimli, which is a large and sparsely settled portion of the country, peopled principally by foreigners. At Gypsumville the date of registration was fixed for June 3, but on that date no clerk appeared to officiate, and it has since been learned that he was at Oak Point, 60 miles away. Several other polls have had a similar experience. At one place the clerk did not appear for about ten days after the appointed time, and then gave only a few hours' notice of his presence, which practically disfranchised a number of people, who are nearly all Liberals.

GOULD'S MOSCOW

Wabash Railroad To Retreat From Smoky City Within Month.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 10.—Within a month the Wabash Railroad practically will have deserted Pittsburg, and one of the most monumental failures of railroading will have been recorded.

Today the announcement was made in this city that with the beginning of next month all offices of the Wabash Pittsburg terminal, the entrance of the Gould lines into Pittsburg, will be removed to Cleveland, while all offices of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the other Gould line, which yesterday asked for the appointment of a receiver, will be removed to Toledo.

B. A. Worthington, vice-president and general manager of both roads, who yesterday was appointed receiver of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, will remove his entire official family from the million-dollar building the Wabash erected in this city to Toledo.

The driving of the Wabash from the Pittsburg district is considered a great victory for the Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt lines. The Carnegie Steel Company will abrogate its contract with the Wabash, which provided the latter should receive 25 per cent of the western business, because of the inability of the company to handle it out of Pittsburg.

CHINA AND JAPAN

Gratifying Work of Native Christian Biblemen in the Orient.

The work of the native Christian Biblemen in China and Japan during the past year has been truly gratifying, and several thousands of gospels in the native language have been sold, and not only sold, but explained, and accompanied with public preaching in hundreds of towns and villages which the ordinary missionaries have never yet been able to reach.

In aid of this encouraging work Rev. Dr. Beaumont has lately received contributions of $5 from the following gentlemen: Messrs. V. Cronyn, K. C.; W. M. Spencer, James Granger, and an anonymous donor; besides one or two smaller sums.

Further contributions in aid of colportage extension in the east will be thankfully received

50,000 ENDEAVORERS

Rapid Growth of the Society Told by President Clark.

Boston, June 11.—The rapid growth of the United Society of Christian Endeavor was told of by the founder of the society, Rev. Francis E. Clark in his annual report to the board of trustees at the annual meeting yesterday. The figures show a net gain of over 1,266 societies and about 50,000 members, making a net enrollment of 70,404 societies. All the old officers were re-elected.

Among the new trustees are the following: Rev. A. A. Shaw, Winnipeg, Man.; and Rev. E. H. Tippet, Montreal, Quebec.

RICH GIRL WEDS CLERK

Has a Fortune of $1,250,000 and Her Mother Approves of the Match.

Butte, Mont., June 16.—Mary Montana Largey, eighteen years old, youngest of the Largey millionaires, came into her fortune amounting to $1,250,000 yesterday, and last night she was married to Raymond J. McDonald, a clerk in a cab office at $60 a month.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Lulu Largey Catron approved the match. Some friends asked the girl why she wanted to marry the poor clerk.

"Because I love him and have enough money for both," she replied.

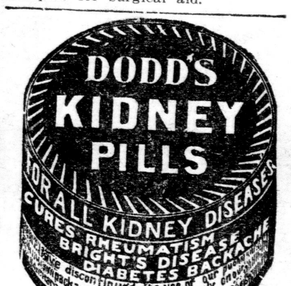

The couple left for San Francisco this morning and from there will start on an automobile wedding trip to New York. Miss Largey's big touring car and driver having been shipped on ahead

SHOT FATHER'S SLAYER

Mississippi Girl Takes Up the Feud and Downs a Man.

Tunica, Miss., June 10.—Using her father's pistol, Mrs. Una May Weinstein, daughter of T. M. Houston, recently killed by J. T. Lowe in a street fight here, mortally wounded Lowe today.

Lowe turned and leveled his revolver, but dropped it by his side when he saw his assailant was a woman. She fired a second shot, but her little brother-in-law caused the bullet to go wild of its mark by tugging at her dress. Mrs. Weinstein is under arrest at the home of her mother. Lowe was taken to Memphis for surgical aid.

The Stoddart Stock Company opened the summer season at Springbank Theater last night with a large attendance. The offering was the three-act farce, "Facing the Music." It delighted the audience immensely.

The honors of the play fell to Miss Leah Stoddart, who is well and favorably known to Londoners. She is an actress of ability, and last night made a splendid impression upon her hearers.

Mr. W. L. Stewart was very capable in his role, and showed marked ability.

The supporting artists are very capable, and the company should increase its popularity as the season advances.

There is considerable vaudeville between acts, and the offerings are an improvement over the usual line offered.

Work of Salvation Army Women Commissioner Coombs Opens Home

In South London for the Rescue of the Marys Who Have Sinned.

The new $12,000 addition to the Salvation Army Rescue Home on Riverview avenue, South London, was formally opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large number of citizens.

Dr. Eccles presided, and in a brief address spoke of the excellent work the army is doing.

Addresses were also made by Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs, Col. Sowton, Inspector Sanders, Rev. Dr. Ross, Rev. Mr. Leckey and Dr. Hodge.

The new home is now one of the most complete in Ontario, and has accommodation for cases of all kinds, including a maternity hospital.

Commissioner's Address.

Last night in the Congregational Church a large audience was present when Commissioner Coombs spoke of the "Women's Social and Rescue Work" that is being carried on by the army.

Mayor Stevely presided, and alluded to the rapid growth Salvation Army work has made in this city and in Canada.

After a solo by Lieut.-Col. Pugmire and a selection by the band, Mayor Stevely called upon Commissioner Coombs, who was given an enthusiastic reception, and in speaking of the work said:

All Over the World.

"Our organization has spread itself all over the world, said the commissioner. "When I came here 24 years ago it was indeed the coming to foreign parts, and I never expected to see any of my friends again.

"In these days, however, of fast ocean passage it is just like going to see your neighbor. How wonderful it is the change that has taken place so quickly. The army work has spread just as rapidly.

"We have now 125 different branches of Salvation Army work.

General Booth.

"I have just returned from England and the most wonderful sight I saw in my travels was General Booth, at the age of 79, addressing an audience for an hour and a half.

"General Booth had spoken of the splendid reception he had received in Canada and of the pleasure it gave him to come here. In the coming summer he is going to tour South Africa.

"The woman's social work is done among women who have fallen.

"Nearly 6,000 women every year pass through our institutions, their moral character made good and refitted for life's battle.

"It is hard enough when a man gets so low that all hope has left him.

"It is a hard trial, especially if they seek to raise themselves by their own strength instead of going to God.

The Fallen Woman.

"If it is hard for a man, how much more difficult is it for a woman? When a woman falls into sin she is in ten times as hopeless a position as a man.

"A woman sinks deeper when she does sink than a man. It seems as though every mark of God had been taken out of them and every mark of the devil implanted in them.

"I have seen them, nevertheless, come to the mercy seat of God and accept him. One of the great difficulties they have to fight is the unforgiving spirit of the women who have not fallen.

Big-Souled Women.

"We have in the army an increasing number of big-souled, big-hearted women, who will go down to the lowest depths and give the women there that touch of love and compassion which shows them that somebody cares.

"This touch of kindness often awaken the woman's better self. Too often, however, their own friends turn them from their doors and their case is almost hopeless unless they are brought to God by some other means.

"There is no work that moves the heart more or calls forth the best that is in one than the 'woman's rescue work.' The army has been at the work for many years, and the task has been most successful.

Thousands Saved.

"Thousands who came to the army in despair have been saved. It is an inspiring sight to see these women going about in their work. Because the Lord uses the army to save thousands of criminals. Many people have the idea that the members of the army are criminals, too.

"This is a mistake. The army has thousands of pure and noble characters, who have given their lives to save others. The army has never known any creed, but the need of those who are tired of life. In this city great work is being done in the Riverview Rescue Home, and the prospects are for even greater work in the future."

In concluding, the commissioner urged everyone to be as careful as they can of their conduct and of their example to others, and especially to little children.

Mrs. Coombs, wife of the commissioner, spoke briefly of the work the Salvation Army women are doing, and related many examples of women who have been rescued.

Rev. Mr. Hamilton.

Rev. D. S. Hamilton spoke of the great work that the army is carrying on, and the great lesson it has taught the churches in applied Christianity. He indorsed Mrs. Coombs' statements and spoke of the time when the world will demand the same moral strength in men that it does in women.

Adjutant White, of Toronto, spoke briefly concerning the work that will be done at the new Riverview Home.

The meeting closed with a short address by Col. Sharp.

A Complaint Lodged Against School

A petition has been sent in to the board of education from the residents of that section of the city whose children attend the Princess avenue school, complaining of the sanitary condition of the school.

For some time complaint has been made concerning it, and now the residents of the district have determined to bring matters to a focus and have sent the petition to the board.

Trustee MacRobert, chairman of No. 2 committee, and City Architect Nutter have inspected the school, and Mr. Nutter will make a report on conditions and present it to the board.

It is expected that alterations will have to be made and a new system of heating and sanitation installed.

Short Weight Sharks Infest Market People Should Buy By Measure or Lb

Only Way for the Housewife To Protect Herself in London.

The question of short weights on the market was again brought up before No. 3 committee last night.

Market Clerk Maker called attention to the fact that short weight potatoes and other produce were being sold on the market and nothing had been done to prevent it.

"This has been brought up before, but nothing has been done about it," he said. "It was the intention to bring it to the attention of the Legislature, but nothing resulted. Something should be done, as there are many complants."

Ald. Booth's Opinion.

"This matter was brought up last year, and it was sent to the Association of Ontario Municipalities," said Ald. Booth. "This organization was to bring the question before the Legislature, but such was not done. We have also the opinion of the city solicitor on the subject. If a man asks for a pound of butter or a bushel of potatoes, and he is not given the proper weight or measure, he can proceed against the person who sold him the goods; but if he asks for a roll of utter or a bag of potatoes, the purchaser must take chances."

Will Consult Solicitor.

Ald. Greenlees said he would consult the city solicitor as to what could be done. He thought that it would be possible to enact a bylaw covering this matter.

An invitation was received from the secretary of the Fire Chiefs' Association asking that a delegate be sent to the thirty-sixth annual convention to be held in Columbus, Ohio, this summer.

On motion of Ald. Booth and Armstrong, it was decided to recommend that Chief Clark be sent to convention.

The chief thought that the convention would be held the last week of August.

A petition for a light on the corner of Adelaide and Elias streets was received and laid over.

Fire Hall Tenders.

The tenders for the north end fire hall were not opened. They will be opened on Monday evening at 7 o'clock together with the tenders for the south end hall.

John Hayman was awarded the contract for repairing the chimneys of the east end fire hall for $42.

The tender of Geo. T. Jolly of $41 for painting the hose tower was accepted.

The tender of H. G. Abbott & Co. of $29 for painting the chemical engine was accepted.

The Waterous Engine Company was awarded the tender for repairing the boiler of the fire engine.

Those present were Ald. Greenlees, chairman; Ald. Moorhead, Ald. Booth, Ald. Armstrong, City Engineer Graydon, Inspector McCallum, Fire Chief Clark and Market Clerk Maker.

The benefit was under the direction of the International Theatrical Stage Employes' Union, of which union Mr. Deacon is a member, and the credit for the success of the enterprise is due to the efforts of the members of the union.

On City Diamonds

In a fast game of baseball at Springbank last night McCormick's team defeated the G. T. R. nine by a score of 9 to 5. Both teams played good ball, McCormick's winning by their heavy hitting and fast base running.

Batteries — McCormick's, Monahan and Waud; G. T. R., Welch and Logan.

After witnessing some of the games in Tecumseh Park recently some of the drivers of the Dominion Express Company thought they could take a hand at that game themselves, and, laboring under this delusion, issued a challenge to the clerks of the same company. As a result a friendly game was run off on the C. P. R. diamond on Saturday evening, and it was a shame what the men of the office did to those off the wagons. To cut a long story short, the final score was 23 to 13 in favor of the clerks. The features of the game were Bryce's pitching, and a triple play unassisted by Hennessy, of the clerks. The lineup was as follows:

Clerks—Hoy, c.; Pryce, p.; Griffin, 1b.; Kingsmill, 2b.; Hennessy, 3b.; Gurney, s.s.; Stevens, r.f.; Pattison, l.f.

Drivers—Hennessy, c.; Bird, p.; Griffith, 1b.; H. Stilson, 2b.; A. Stilson, 3b.; Hall, s.s.; Mercer, l.f.; Harding, r.f.; Finch, c.f.

Umpire—A. R. Williams.

There is some possibility of the Dominion men taking those of the other transportation companies into their camp.

SOME FAST GOING AT THE MATINEE
