10,000 BOERS SURRENDERED

Very Rapid Steps Made Since the Conclusion of the Peace.

Friendly to British but Bitter Towards Both France and Germany.

Pretoria, Wednesday, June 11.—In all, 10,255 Boers have surrendered up to date. Many are youngsters of 11 years old and upward. The majority of them are under 30, though some of the burghers who have surrendered are septuagenarians. Reports from all the districts say that the burghers are increasingly friendly. The only bitterness observable among the leading Boers here is against France and Germany. They declare the war was protracted unnecessarily, owing to hopes held out by the French and German press. Some of the Boers are so incensed that they have expressed the hope that some day they will fight on the side of the British against one of these powers. The anticipated friction between the surrendered Boers and their former comrades of the National Scouts has not materialized to any extent. The Boers admit that they used most of it in hunting game since the peace agreement was signed.

SURRENDERS AT MAFKING.
Pretoria, June 12.—Commandant Kemp and a number of Boers have surrendered at Mafeking. Commandant Kemp says that he is reconciled to the new situation.

USED IN HUNTING GAME.
The Boers of the Orange River Colony are handing in only a small percentage of their ammunition. They explain that they used most of it in hunting game since the peace agreement was signed.

NO SYMPATHY

Colonel Lynch Finds the Irish Nationalist Party Disgusted With His Apology.

London, June 12.—"Col." Lynch gets little sympathy from the Irish party members of which were disgusted by his letter to the Speaker of the House of Commons, apologizing for the Irish party's knowledge of his plans or motives in challenging arrest, and regarding his action with some doubt. It has been suggested that he was in communication with the British government before he arrived.

LEWIS OCCUPATION GONE.
The Brussels correspondent of the Times says that the Transvaal agency in Rue de Livourne will shortly be rented as a private dwelling. Dr. Leyds is now busy with the final work of liquidation. The rumor is untrue that the Boer delegates to Europe or the personnel of the late agency are about to take the oath of allegiance before the British minister.

EXAGGERATED

Wild Stories in Circulation Today—A Mishap on the Lake Erie Railroad.

This has been a very busy day for the town gossip who have been working overtime concocting wild stories, which have circulated from mouth to mouth all over the city. The sad death of Dr. Backus, and the boy in Wallaceburg and the accident on the Lake Erie have furnished a great scope for the manufacturing of sensational stories and advantage was certainly taken of it. First William Turtle was reported killed in the accident, then a Maple City drayman was reported killed by lightning, and so these stories went on, until it would almost appear that the half of the people in Chatham had been wiped out of existence in the short space of 24 hours.

The accident on the Lake Erie was of a much less serious nature than reported. Engine No. 40 taking a special freight west ran off the track at Leamington about four o'clock this morning, derailed six cars. Mr. Turtle was in Chatham last night and was not even on the unfortunate train. He was put in charge of the auxiliary, which left here at six o'clock for the scene of the accident. Engineer Austin in charge of No. 4 engine and brakeman Eastman also went out on the auxiliary. An accident of a similar nature almost happened at Leamington once before. The country there is somewhat hilly and the wind storm last night blew the sand over the track, blocking the line. No one was injured last night.

PROGRAM FOR CORONATION

Their Majesties Have Completed and Authorized It—A Rehearsal.

Held Last Court of the Season Ere Leaving for Windsor to Await Festivities.

London, June 11.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra were engaged to-day in what was practically a rehearsal of the coronation ceremonies. Accompanied by Princess Victoria and a suite their Majesties drove to Westminster Abbey. They were quietly received by the Duke of Norfolk, earl marshal, and chief butler of England, who escorted their Majesties through the abbey, and in order to prevent the possibility of a hitch in the proceedings coronation day all the details of the procession and ceremonial were explained to them. The royal visit to the abbey was accomplished very quietly and but few of the persons about the building were aware of the presence of their Majesties.

THE ROYAL PROGRAM.

BOY KILLED

Little Nelson Woods, of Wallaceburg, Struck by Lightning—Killed Instantly.

Special to The Planet.
Wallaceburg, June 13.—A terrific storm passed over Wallaceburg last evening, doing a great deal of damage in and around town, and which caused the death of Master Nelson Woods, second son of Mr. Woods, blacksmith, who resides opposite the River House. Nelson and a young friend were playing in the blacksmith shop, when the boy was struck and instantly killed by the lightning. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

SURROUNDED IN WOODS.

Salem, Ore., June 12.—Governor Geer called out a company of the National Guard yesterday and ordered it to Gervais, where Tracy and Merrill, the convicts who escaped from the penitentiary on Monday, after killing three guards and shooting a life prisoner, are surrounded.

The convicts, heavily armed, are hiding in the woods near Gervais, a station on the Southern Pacific Railway, 30 miles south of Portland. Reinforcements have started both from Salem and Portland. Sheriff Durbin, who is leading a posse from here, intends to throw a cordon around the woods and make escape impossible, and starve the men out. Police authorities, however, believe Tracy will never be taken alive, and that he will make a break for liberty.

A report from Gervais says that a battle is in progress between the posse and the outlaws, Tracy and Merrill.

DEPUTIES FIRED ON THE CROWD

A Twelve-Year-Old Boy Seriously Wounded—The Mob Stone Street Cars.

Pawtucket, R. I., the Scene of a Serious Riot, the Outcome of a Strike.

Pawtucket, R. I., June 12.—The city officials having declined to increase the police force to meet the unusual conditions resulting from the strike of the Union Traction Company's men here and in Providence, eight companies of infantry and two troops of cavalry are patrolling the streets to-day by order of Governor Kimball.

Last evening a detachment of sixteen special deputy sheriffs was attacked by a crowd which had held up and demolished a street car. The officers were stoned and a number of persons were injured, but none fatally. There was no trouble this forenoon. Cars were run guarded by deputy sheriffs, with some regularity, but few passengers.

Since the strike began on June 2, crowds have opposed the running of cars, and the guards of deputies on each car have encountered growing hostility. Mayor Fitzgerald was appealed to to increase the number of police, but he declined, on the ground that the city's financial condition would not permit of it. The national guardsmen ordered out were supplied at Providence with shot and ammunition.

About noon four cars became stalled in a crowd on Pawtucket avenue. They were each guarded by deputy sheriffs and special officers. Troop K, of the cavalry, and Company A were hurried there. Part formed ahead of the car and part behind. A bombardment of stones began and several officers and men were struck and slightly injured. A volley of shots was fired by the deputies. The crowd fell back and the car proceeded.

Chief of Police Rice advised the people to quit the streets, but the crowds were disposed to be insolent. Soon after a car, escorted by cavalry and filled with deputy sheriffs, was stalled on Main street by a mob. Stones crashed through the windows, and a volley was fired by the deputies. Tanner Patterson, 12 years of age, who was in the crowd, fell shot. This staggered the crowd, and the car passed on badly battered. A doctor said that the boy was critically injured.

The astonishing increase in the number of lawless acts directed against the U. S. Traction Company, whose union men have been on strike since June 2 and the inability of the limited police force and deputy sheriff to suppress the rioting induced Governor Kimball to call out the militia. Numerous scenes of disorder occurred during the day, and more than a score of persons were injured, one fatally. No cars were operated to-night, but they will run again in the morning, and further trouble is feared. While the militia is policing the city, Pawtucket is not under martial law. Tonight Mayor Fitzgerald, who has been away on his wedding trip, returned, and is using his influence with the populace to maintain order. In the presence of about 1,000 persons and the militia this evening Adjutant-General Sackett read the riot act.

A VILLAINOUS TRAFFIC.

Montreal, June 12.—Representations have been made to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women and Children that a regular traffic in young Syrian women is being carried on between the old country and Canada, with the object of robbery or gain through handing them over to people interested in the traffic in immigrant women for immoral purposes. The case arose through the assault and robbery of a young Syrian woman named Akhoril, in this city. The secretary intends to make representations to the authorities at Ottawa on the subject.

Friends of McLeod Objected to his Lengthy Incarceration in Police Cells.

Officer From Berlin Appeared Last Night and the man was Taken Away.

Chief of Police John Klippert, of Berlin, arrived in the city last night. He wanted John McLeod, arrested on Tuesday night, on the charge of appropriating $85. He left this morning with his prisoner.

McLeod had been locked up at the police station since Tuesday night. Yesterday his friends here were talking out habeas corpus proceedings. Chief of Police Holmes consulted Mayor Sulman, and Mayor Sulman consulted the city solicitor. The solicitor said that the police were only justified in keeping the

THE HEART

The human heart, that most wonderful of engines, is scarcely larger than a man's fist. Yet in each twenty-four hours the dual heart moves approximately six tons of blood, equivalent to about two barrels of blood per hour. And this continues without ceasing from the first breath of infancy to the last sigh of age. Is it any wonder that when continued extra strain is put upon so delicate and busy an organ, it should break down? Is it any wonder that in this age of overwork there should be an increasing number of deaths attributed to heart failure?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition and purifies and enriches the blood. One of the ingredients entering into the "Discovery" is one of the best heart tonics known to medicine. Thus while through the action of "Golden Medical Discovery" the body is nourished into strength, the heart is also strengthened and an adequate blood supply is pumped to the stomach and kidneys thus improving the action of these organs.

Sick people, especially those suffering from chronic diseases, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free, and so obtain without charge, the opinion of a specialist on their ailments. All correspondence strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been troubled with catarrh of the stomach and heart trouble," writes Mr. W. D. Merck, of Pittsburgh, Clarion Co., Penna. "Had doctors for some time without relief, then I began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took seven bottles. Before I began to take it I weighed no pounds, and now I weigh 125. I am working steadily and feel like a new man. I send you many thanks."

INDUSTRIES REPORT

In Bulletin 79, of the Ontario Bureau of Industries, published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the following remarks are made on the crop situation by correspondents from different parts in Kent:

Harwich, Kent.—San Jose scale continues its ravages. Some farmers are cutting down their orchards, and others are battling with the scale by spraying.

Orford, Kent.—There is constant improvement in all farming operations, due, I think, to the Institute meetings mostly, but also to the reports of the Agricultural College, although

About Drainage

You know the deadly consequences if a house is badly drained. Only a madman or a criminal would himself incur the risk, or subject others to it, for one unnecessary minute. But do you realize the danger of a badly drained body? Are you aware that it poisons the blood, the very fountain of life?

Harwich, Kent.—Too many cattle are going to Buffalo and other points which by a better system of feeding could be fattened at home, but we are slowly learning. The number of feeders is increasing each year. Bams are being rebuilt and remodelled, and windmills are being erected. The most increase is in the acreage of corn, and the number of hogs.

Raleigh, Kent.—There have been more stock feeding for market this year than usual, and there seems to be a greater disposition to go into raising improved stock, particularly horses and cattle. A considerable number of farmers are going to try sugar beet to the extent of from one to five acres.

Camden, Kent.—There seems to be a great change about taking place in the method of farming. A large sugar factory is being built in our town and many of the farmers are contracting to grow sugar beets, and are also leasing their land to other parties to put in beets. We have also in course of construction, a large canning factory, and farmers are contracting to grow tomatoes for it. With the flax mill already in town, and soliciting the farmers to grow flax again for them, you will readily see that a great deal less grain will be sown this spring. What the outcome of all this will be time alone can tell, with so much taken off the land and so little left on, because if straw is not grown a great deal less manure will be made and our land will become useless unless we can fertilize it.

The Order was founded by a few earnest, honest men, for fraternal and beneficent purposes. Its sphere of usefulness has been enlarged, and it has been faithfully conducted as its founders designed it to be—not to subvert the selfish interests of a few, but for the mutual benefit of all. Brothers, remember the fraternal obligation brings a man to think of others, then let us continue bringing in applications.

Visiting brethren always welcome.

ESTEEMED MAPLE CITY PHYSICIAN
FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM

Sudden Demise of Dr. Lorenzo Backus—Death Came While He Was Alone—An Inquest Will Be Held.

A deep gloom was spread over the entire community this morning when the death of Dr. Lorenzo Backus was announced.

Citizens generally were surprised to hear of his death, as it was very sudden, and entirely unexpected. The doctor has been ill for the last three or four weeks. He went to visit his brother Milton for a week, and returned last Friday not much improved. It is supposed that the cause of death was heart failure.

Henry Gerber, a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, was the last man who heard him speak. Gerber went up to the doctor's office at a quarter to 8 with a sick benefit certificate to be signed. When he was near the head of the stairs he heard the doctor call out, "Come in." Gerber was in the habit of going up to the doctor's office, and Dr. Backus knew his walk. Gerber tried to open the office door, but it was locked. He then tried to open the bedroom door but it was also locked. He called two or three times but received no answer.

"I thought it queer at the time," said Mr. Gerber, "but I did not bother my head much about it. I thought the doctor had probably called out in his sleep."

Mrs. White, who cleans out the office each morning, was the first to discover his death. She went up as usual and found the bedroom door locked. As she carried a key she opened it and found the doctor lying in bed, dead. Drs. Rutherford and Gray were called, and it was found he had been dead for some time. Stephen Backus was also called. Outside of this nothing is known as to the cause of death.

Deceased was 45 years old and was unmarried. He was the son of Thos. Backus, of this city. He was born in the Township of Howard, and at one time attended the C. C. I. He, however, graduated in medicine from Trinity College in 1882. After his graduation he entered the London hospitals. He stayed in London for a year and then accepted a commission as ship surgeon on a revenue cutter going from London to China.

He came to Chatham in 1885 and entered partnership with Dr. Fleming. He remained here for five years with Dr. Fleming and then returned to London and practiced with Dr. Moorhouse, of that place. He returned again to Chatham and practiced for himself, opening up an office where Geo. B. Douglas is at the present time. Deceased at one time acted as town physician and was one of the best read men in Chatham.

He was a thorough student and occupied the whole of his spare time in studying and reading. He was held in the highest esteem by the entire community.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at half-past two, from his father's residence, Wellington street, to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. R. McCosh will conduct the obsequies. The pall-bearers will be Messrs. Dr. Fleming, Dr. Rutherford, James Fleming, Dr. Thornton, Wm. Holmes and J. Johnson.

Coroner Dr. J. L. Bray was called and deemed an inquest necessary. He swore in a jury and after viewing the body, adjourned until to-night at half-past seven in the Old Town Hall. The jury is composed of Messrs. Dr. Carpenter, (foreman), J. M. Northwood, Alfred Glean, Jas. Richardson, R. Griffith, A. T. Fleet, Wm. Kealey, David Holmes, James Graves, William Hayden and Robt. Bryan.

PRESENTATION

At a quarter after six o'clock last night the employees of the Banner-News assembled in the editorial room and presented Bert Shepherd with a silver dish accompanied by a suitably worded address. Mr. Shepherd has just returned from his wedding tour and the dish was given as a wedding present. Fred Forrester, foreman of the news room, read the address and Mr. Niven, the editor, made the presentation. Mr. Shepherd made a suitable reply and in behalf of himself and bride thanked his fellow employees for their gift. On the vessel was engraved the words "To Bert Shepherd, from the Chatham Banner-News, June 3, 1902."

The following is the address. To Mr. J. C. Shepherd.

Dear Sir and Friend—

We, your fellow employees of The Chatham Daily Banner-News, embrace the opportunity of offering our congratulations on your recent union to an estimable lady of this city. In our daily relations and intercourse with you, we have noted and appreciated your kindness and courtesy, qualities which have won our esteem and respect and as a slight token of our sentiment, we beg you to accept this silver dish, accompanied with the sincere wish that the fullest happiness and prosperity may attend you and Mrs. Shepherd on your way through life.

(Sgd.) Banner-News Employees.

SCANE ESTATE

Before Judge Bell in Chambers today evidence was taken in the proceedings to establish the amount of the lien the estate of the late E. W. Scane has on the farm of the late Moses Chandler, of Chatham township. The late E. W. Scane bought a farm of 50 acres, believing the title to be good. He put improvements on the land in the shape of a house, orchard, etc. In the suit of Chandler vs. Gibson and Scane, the Judge decided that Mr. Scane's title was not legal. The late Mr. Scane began proceedings to recover compensation for the permanent improvements, he had made to the place. During the enquiry he died, and his widow, the executrix, has continued the proceedings. The late E. W. Scane was the last witness before the adjournment, and this was probably the last case with which he was connected prior to his demise.

M. Wilson and J. B. O'Flynn for Chandler, Fred Stone and W. W. Scane for the executrix.

COURT OF REVISION

The Court of Revision on civic assessments sat in solemn session this morning. Chairman Ward Stanworth, Sheriff Gemmill, and G. O. Scott were present. There were also in attendance, W. E. Rispin, Frank D. Laurie, J. D. Kerr, C. R. Atkinson, W. G. Richards, City Clerk Merritt, Civic Finance Minister McCoig, Engineers Macnab and Jones.

The city's appeal against the G. N. W. assessment was first heard and evidence taken. Engineers Macnab and Jones had made an estimate of the value of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co's plant. The plant was assessed at $350 and was valued by the engineers at $1,747.

All morning was occupied in hearing evidence in this case. The court adjourned till 2 o'clock to enable the city to put in additional evidence. J. G. Kerr appeared for the city and C. R. Atkinson, K. C., for the Telegraph Co.

FREE FROM DEBT

The A. M. E. Church, Princess St., has a decided distinction among city churches. It is entirely free of debt. The last payment on the mortgage was made last week. Three years ago when the managers undertook to lift the mortgage of over a thousand dollars there were those who said, "It couldn't be done, but by dint of hard, earnest and unselfish work the mortgage has been removed. The Rev. James Richards, pastor, is well liked and it was under his popular pastorate that the A. M. E. Church was freed from debt.

REDMOND'S MISTAKE.

Ottawa Journal.

One of the Mr. Redmonds, in a speech in the imperial house of commons denounced Kitchener as having "made war on women and children."

At the same time comes word that in speeches at Vereeniging, Generals Botha, of the Transvaal, and De Wet of the Orange Free State, said Kitchener's course had been "honorable and generous."

It is a pity that any home ruler, over a matter which does not concern Irish grievances, should put the Irish cause in a position to be hit by the effect of slanders against the British course, repudiated by the Boers themselves. (This mistake has been made often since the war opened and it is a terrible handicap to the Irish cause.)

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Considerable damage was done by the severe lightning which accompanied yesterday's storm. One of the most serious cases occurred on Fred Dolsen's farm, down the river. His barn was struck by the lightning, and a very valuable team of horses killed. The hired man, who was in the barn at the time attending to the stock, had a very narrow escape. He was stunned by the shock but otherwise received no injury. The barn was not injured to any extent.

VISIT THAMESVILLE

The officers of the 24th Regiment met last evening and decided to go to Thamesville on July 1st, provided the river-named town will provide transportation, furnish rations and pay the band. If the Thamesvillians are willing to do this the Regiment will visit their place 180 or 200 strong. All the soldiers are anxious to go, and they are glad that the officers have reached such a popular decision.

Owing to the storm last evening the turnout of the members of the 24th Regiment was a little light. The Regiment as represented, however, was drilled by Colonel Rankin in person for about an hour and a half in the drill hall.

BAD BOYS

Sam Moore, the fireman, says that the cause of the poor light at the corner of Harvey and Queen streets is no fault of the line or the electric light plant either, but it is due to the work of some youngsters who make it a practice of closing the switch. The switch connected with that light is near the Separate school and Sam says that he has gone around there and found it closed and opened it and gone back a little while after and found it closed again. The police have been notified and are looking into the case.

man a reasonable time. If the man was kept too long the city might be liable for damages.

The Mayor instructed Chief of Police Holmes to ask Berlin if they wanted McLeod back enough to come after him.

Chief Holmes went to the Central Office, and told the operator that he wanted to talk to the chief of police or one of the Berlin policemen. The answer came back that all that Mr. Holmes had to do was to talk to one man, he was both chief and the whole police force.

The telephone operator remarked to the Maple City Chief that Berlin must be a better town than Chatham since in the one place one man was the chief and whole force, while in the other there was a chief and a force of four men.

The chief of police of Berlin reported that a man was coming for McLeod, and Klippert arrived last evening.

Children and the Poisonous Plants.

Four Ohio boys recently ate wild parsnip, thinking it to be sweet anise. One died and the others are in a critical condition. Every country child should know the comparatively few poisonous plants growing in his vicinity. Boys especially have a disposition to investigate and taste all sorts of plants and fruit. A little care on the part of parents will often prevent the making of such fatal mistakes. Instruction in these matters in country schools would not be out of place. Specimens obtained from a summer Saturday in the field or woods would furnish pupils an interesting and valuable object lesson.

Make the Collar Fit Well

A sweet pad is undesirable if a well-fitting collar can be secured, says Farm and Fireside. It is warm and it springs the collar out of shape. A hard, smooth leather surface is probably as good as anything for the shoulders. The fitting is best done by soaking the collar and then pounding any place or places that unevenness of the shoulder may demand. The shape of the hames has much to do with the fitting of the collar.

Vaccination Concerts.

There is a smallpox scare in England, and an ingenious vicar in Kent has devised "vaccination concerts" for the hop-gatherers. A band plays in a big tent, and in a smaller tent are vaccination officers, while the vicar and his assistants go through the audience urging the desirability of vaccination.

DAY'S DESPATCHES

SWINDLED BANK OF FRANCE.

Paris, June 12.—An employee of the Bank of France, who was entrusted with the care of collateral securities, abstracted a number of these documents, and through the help of a friend borrowed money on them from the Bank of France itself. The papers this evening say that the sum lost by the bank amounts to $50,000 francs ($9,000).

GERMANY AND VENEZUELA.

Berlin, June 12.—The foreign office here is without details of the reported bombardment of the seaport of La Guaira, Venezuela, by the forts and Venezuelan warships in consequence of a revolutionary movement in the suburbs. The foreign office, however, takes the occasion of this inquiry to say that the German cruisers Gazelle and Falke were sent to La Guaira simply to guard German interest there, and that their presence in Venezuela was the long-pending claims of Germany against Venezuela. Emperor William has ordered the training ships Charlot and Storch to cruise in the West Indies, and the training ships Stein and Molke to cruise in the north Atlantic.

ATTACKED BY BLACKS.

Victoria, B. C., June 12.—According to advices received by the steamer Aorangi, a Malayan sailor recently arrived at Port Darwin, and reported he was the only survivor of a crew of ten men of a Malay trading schooner which had been wrecked off Cape Wilberforce, north of Australia. After the wreck of the schooner, the crew were attacked by blacks, and with the exception of the man who was brought to Port Darwin by another trading schooner, all were murdered. The survivor escaped into the woods after being wounded, and lived on shell fish for eight days, until taken off by a trading schooner, which took him to Port Darwin.

"IT'S GOOD TEA"

This is what the proprietor of Red Rose Tea claims for it. Some say the claim is too modest, but you may notice that a grocer is very often asked, "Have you any good tea?" The word "good" in this sense is probably intended to mean "best." So perhaps Red Rose tea is The Best Tea.

And Total.

George Ade, the Chicago man who writes the "Fables in Slang," has from Indiana, which he has said is a State which a man "should never go back on—or to." The other night he met an Indiana woman who asked him if he had ever noticed how many bright people come from Indiana. "Yes," he replied, "and the brighter they are the quicker they come."

A lunacy commissioner was making his customary rounds. An inmate, whose particular fancy it was to pose as a much-married man approached with the announcement that he had once again taken to himself a wife. "And who is the fortunate lady?" said the commissioner. "Ah," said the lunatic, smiling sweetly, "she's the daughter of the devil." "Indeed; and how do you get on together?" "Get on? Oh, well, I get on right enough with the wife; but it's the old people I can't put up with."

An English mining engineer who has come out from the Yukon brings among other interesting things evidence that the higher the latitude the greater the latitude. Watching a poker game in which the stakes were heavy, he saw a player give himself four aces from the bottom of the pack. Burning with indignation at such shameless cheating, he turned to a bystander and whispered, "Did you see that?" "See what?" "Why, that fellow dealt himself four aces!" "Well, wasn't it his deal?"

When Miss Delaville Barrington was playing Miami in The Green Bushes at the old Mary Street Theater, Cork, a ludicrous incident occurred. Miami has to jump into the Mississippi, but when Miss Barrington reached the rocky eminence from which she had to leap she saw there was no mattress below to receive her; also the ledge of rock in front of the supposed river was too low to conceal the actress after her leap. Miss Barrington, however, nothing daunted, took her leap, and came down with a thud on the bare stage. The situation struck a member of the "gods," for a stentorian voice called out: "Oh, be jabbers, 'tis frozen!"

A salutation of respect in China is to comment on the mature and even venerable appearance of one's guest. When the United States Minister to Siam (Mr. Barrett) called officially on Li Hung Chang he was accompanied by a prominent missionary, a man eighty years of age, with white hair and beard, who was to serve as interpreter. Unknown to Mr. Barrett, the missionary and the Chinaman had had a falling out some years before. Li came into the reception room, saluted Mr. Barrett cordially, and bowed stiffly to the patriarchal interpreter. To the youthful Minister the Premier said: "I congratulate you, sir, on your venerable friend; and then, nodding toward the octogenarian, he asked: "And is this your son?"

A Highland laird who could not afford to keep his own piper was accustomed to employ the village piper when he had company. On one occasion, through some oversight, Donald had not been given his preliminary glass of whiskey before he began his performance. Accordingly, he found his bagpipe a most refractory temper. The laird asked him what was the matter with it, and Donald replied that the leather was so hard that he could do nothing with it. "What will soften it?" asked the anxious laird. "Och! just whuskey," said Donald. A tumbler of whiskey was at once brought, which Donald immediately drank. "You rascal!" said the laird; "did you not say it was for the bagpipes?" "Och, yes, yes," said Donald, "but she will be a ferry peculiar pipes this. She aye likes it blawed in."

Gladstone was fond of loitering around the second-hand book-shop windows, and fingering the volumes which were there displayed. If he picked up a book that interested him, he frequently became quite oblivious to his surroundings. On one of these occasions, a loafer, who must have carefully studied Mr. Gladstone's habits, whispered quietly: "Half-a-crown, please, sir." Without raising his eyes from the book, Mr. Gladstone put his hand in his pocket, and handed over the half-crown. A few minutes later he was going off with his prize, when the bookseller, who knew him well by sight, stopped him with a demand for one shilling, the price of the book. "But I have already given you half a crown," said Mr. Gladstone, and explanations followed.

In the heyday of the glory and power of the late Ward McAllister, the leader of New York society, he was a slave to conventions. Like most young conservatives, he grew liberal with years. When his brother, the late Hall McAllister, came to visit him from San Francisco, he looked upon it as an affliction of a country relative. Hall was developed here, and he wore a broad-brimmed hat, and had something of the Western breeziness in his manner that distressed his brother, the New York society leader. Ward asked Hall if he would please wear a silk hat, frock coat and gloves. "No," said Hall, "you attend to all that nonsense for me. I am too old to change. Let me go my own way." Hall had the habit of shaking hands with ladies upon making new acquaintances. This especially distressed his brother, "It is very bad taste to offer your hand to a lady," explained Ward. "Don't do it, Hall." Finally Ward introduced Hall to Mrs. Astor, and she cordially offered him her hand. "No, madam," said Hall. "I should like very much to shake hands with you, but I can't. My brother Ward says I mustn't."

A Large Covey.

Two old hunters were swapping yarns and had got to quail. "Why," said one, "I remember a year when quail were so thick that you could get eight or ten at a shot with a rifle."

The other one sighed. "What's the matter?" said the first. "I was thinking of my quail hunts. I had a fine black horse that I rode everywhere, and one day, out hunting quail, I saw a big covey on a low branch of a tree. I threw the reins over the end of the limb and took a shot."

"Several birds fell and the rest flew away."

"Well, sir, there were so many quail on that limb that when they flew off it sprang back into place and hung my horse!"—Los Angeles "Times."

WASH DRESSES.

Irish Crochet Collars Are Seen on Many of the Prettiest Models.

With cotton, zephyr and pique suits the chief feature is the collar. This must be of the coarsest lace. Do not imagine, however, that this means a common lace, but one of the thick new makes in vogue at the present hour and resembling as near as possible Irish crochet. Some of the applique lace collars look charming with edgings of black velvet or colored silk worn on an all white dress.

brightest of pinks. In fact, brightness of color is the key to the summer modes.

One of the favorite combinations and one which looks very well in wash materials is pale blue and pale yellow.

The cut shows a boating costume made of drill or canvas. The color is cream white, trimmed with bands of red taffeta. The loose Eton jacket has revers and is bordered with the taffeta. The crush belt is of the material. The scarf around the neck and the undersleeves are of white mull. The hat is of white straw trimmed with rosettes of red silk.

Curious Bits of News.

Of the 12,000,000,000 letters annually distributed by the postoffices of the world 8,000,000,000 are addressed in English, 1,200,000,000 in German and 1,000,000,000 in French. All the other languages have less than 2,000,000,000 between them.

By employing compressed air, a Dresden manufacturer has lately succeeded in producing glass vessels of extraordinary size. Heretofore, it is said, concave glass could be blown into vessels having a capacity not exceeding about 25 gallons, but by the new process glass bath-tubs and large glass kettles can be blown.

The highest tunnel in the world is now in course of construction by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at Crow's Nest Pass. It is at an altitude of 4,500 feet above sea level. The Loop Tunnel, as the work is called, will be 840 feet long, of which over 360 feet are completed. A force of 200 men is working day and night, and it is anticipated it will be finished by December next. This tunnel will shorten the route by fourteen miles, and will greatly reduce grades and curvatures.

A sporting friend of the editor of "Sporting and Dramatic News" keeps some green tree frogs in a glass globe, and the children feed them on flies and other insects. "In their bowl stands a miniature flight of steps, and when the frogs climb up and perch on these steps my friend leaves his mackintosh at home, being assured of fine weather. When the frogs huddle together at the bottom of the globe, then he says it is a safe sign of coming rain."

For soldiers' use, and for employment under circumstances where fresh milk, coffee and chocolate are not easily obtainable, a dried preparation is now being manufactured which serves excellently as a substitute. Skimmed milk is evaporated by the help of an air blast to the condition of a paste, and, after being dried, is reduced to powder by grinding. Then it is mixed with powdered chocolate, half and half, and is either put up as dust or compressed into cakes. When wanted, water is added, the resulting fluid is boiled, and all that is needed is a little sugar.

A system of teaching the French language by phonograph is to be tried in England. Several prominent French professors are devoting their energies to preparing phonograph cylinders carrying French lessons upon them. The phonographic records are accompanied by a book, which contains thirty lessons, each of which corresponds to a phonographic cylinder, and each lesson is ingeniously illustrated. All that the student has to do is to set the phonograph in motion, and the book will explain what the instrument is saying.

The following advertisement is from the Tokyo "Nippu" (newspaper): "I am a beautiful woman. My abundant undulating hair envelops me as a cloud. Supple as a willow is my waist. Soft and brilliant is my visage as the setting of the flowers. I am endowed with wealth sufficient to saunter through life hand in hand with my beloved. Were I to meet a gracious lord, kindly, intelligent, well educated, and of good taste, I would unite myself with him for life, and later share with him the pleasure of being laid to rest eternal in a tomb of pink marble."

One of the oddest of recent inventions is a refrigerant, as it might be called. It is an oval capsule of nickel-plated copper, about the size and shape of a hen's egg, hollow and nearly filled with ice. If you have a drink of cold water, you do not like to put ice into it, because dilution with water spoils the beverage. But, if you have one of these eggs handy, you may drop it into the glass, and in a few moments the liquid is reduced to the desired temperature. In the same way you may cool your cup of coffee, if it is too hot, and the idea is equally applicable to any other drink.

The newest floral wonder is the "Shasta daisy," originated by a flower-grower of California. It measures a foot in circumference, and when one is exhibited recently in a florist's window in San Francisco, people literally flocked to see it. It is really a new kind of flower, and has been produced by several years of crossing and selection, three different kinds of daisies being used—the common American species, the larger and coarser European sort, and the Japanese anemone. There are three rows of petals of the purest white, and each blossom is upheld by a single strong and wiry stem, which is nearly two feet long.

The Origin of Whist.

THE following statement, culled from the current number of a magazine, is an egregious blunder:

"The originator of the game of whist is (sic) Edmund Hoyle (1672-1769)." Cotton writing in 1674 tells us that Whist was so well known at that time that "every Child almost of Eight Years old, hath a Competent Knowledge of the recreation." Hoyle was then not two years of age. But we must go a great deal farther back for the origin of the game, which is indeed lost in the obscurity of the centuries. Previous to 1526 the game of Triumph (whence trump), which embraced the essential features of Whist, had considerable vogue in England. It furnished Bishop Latimer with an illustration for a sermon preached at Christmas, 1523. Shakespeare's familiarity with the game is evident from Antony's address to Eros ("Antony and Cleopatra," Act IV., Scene XIV.)

The game acquired the name of Whist, or Whisk, in the forefront of the seventeenth century. Butler uses the present appellation in Hudibras (1663).

About 1728 a little circle of players, presided over by the then Lord Folkestone, was wont to meet in the Crown Coffee House. This was the inception of scientific Whist. Hoyle was probably a member of the coterie in question.

The publication of his treatise (1742-3) and his efforts as a professional teacher did much to establish the game in the favor of the upper classes of English society.

"What do you think of the movement for shorter honeymoons?" I asked my fellow-traveler, an experienced gentleman from Chicago. "That's right," he declared, without a pause. "Short honeymoons and more of them. That's my platform!"—Ez.

Tonny's Pop—A placotat, my son, is a man who has enough money to make a fool of himself without being one.

Three Photographs.

"P" PHOTOGRAPH all the prisoners? Sir Felix Felix-Williams, Old Can. Kempe shrugged his shoulders. Admiral Trewhitt turned the pages of the Home Secretary's letter. They sat at the table covered with the photographs of the prisoners in the magistrates' room—the last of the visiting justices who met under the old regime, to receive the Governor's report and look after the welfare of the prisoners in Tregarrick county jail.

"But why, in the name of common sense?" Sir Felix persisted.

"I suppose," hazarded the Admiral, "it helps the police in identifying criminals."

"But the letter says 'all the prisoners'—You don't seriously tell me that anyone wants a photograph to identify a criminal?"

"No," the Admiral mused, "but I see what the Home Office is driving at. Someone has been perusing them to test these new theories in criminology the doctors are so busy with, especially in Italy."

"But the letter says 'all the prisoners'—You don't seriously tell me that anyone wants a photograph to identify a criminal?"

rible I would have this picture framed and glazed and hung up in every cottage home in the land."

"My dear fellow," interrupted Sir Felix, "we cannot possibly let this monstrous go up to Whitehall as representative of the inmates of Tregarrick jail. It would mean an enquiry on the spot. It would even reflect upon us. Ours is a decent county, as counties go, and I protest it shall not, with my consent, be injured by any such libel."

Mr. Smithers handed up photograph No. 2.

"This looks better," began Sir Felix, and with that he gave a slight start, and passed the photograph to the Canon. The Canon, too, started, and stole a quick glance at Sir Felix; their eyes met.

"It certainly is singular," stammered Sir Felix. "I fancied—without irreverence—but you detected it too," he wound up incoherently.

"You have a look at the Canon's head; however, did not relinquish the photograph, but turned on Smithers with sudden severity.

"I presume, sir, this is not an audacious joke?"

"I assure Your Worship," protested the photographer, "I had some thoughts of tearing it up, but thought it wouldn't be honest."

"You did rightly," the Canon answered, "but now that we have seen it, I have no such scruple." He tore the print across and across again. "Even in this," he said, with a glance at the Admiral, who winced, "we may perhaps read a lesson, or at least a warning, kept a misapprehension in extending the bounds of his knowledge—or as I may prefer to call it, his curiosity—may—bring him face to face with—"

But the Canon's speech tailed off as he regarded the torn pieces of cardboard in his hand. He felt that the others had been seriously perturbed and he was not listening; he himself was conscious of a shock too serious for that gift emolument—usually so efficacious—the sound of his own voice. He perceived that it did not impose even on the photographer, a man of some comfortable silence fell on the room.

Sir Felix was the first to recover. "Put it in the waste-paper basket; no, in the fire," he commanded, and turned to Smithers. "Surely between these two extremes—"

"I was on the point of suggesting that Your Worship should find No. 3," he cleared his throat, and then interrupted, forgetting his manner in his anxiety to restore these three gentlemen to their ease. His own discomfort was acute, and he over-acted his constitutional reticence. He was a man who was unwillingly and a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity of menstruation at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ALL THE CREW DROWNED.

East London, Cape Colony, June 12.—The Norwegian bark Athara, from Hamburg, March 13, for East London; the Swedish bark Aurora, from Gefle, Oct. 15, for East London, and the German bark Eliza Linck, from Bremerhaven, about Feb. 1, for East London, have been wrecked during a heavy southeast gale. All the crew of the Athara were drowned except the captain, who was ashore. The crews of the other two vessels were saved. The coast is strewn with wreckage and portions of the barks' cargoes.

CHATHAM DEFEATED.

An eleven of the local cricket club journeyed to Detroit yesterday and met defeat at the hands of the team of that place by a score of 38 to 31. The Detroit team went to bat first and piled up their runs by hitting Kenny and Aitken hard. Grylls and Johnson were the only ones to make double figures, but they batted heavily, making 25 and 27 respectively. Miller, for Chatham, performed the feat of the day in a wonderful one-handed catch, the seemed impossible. After lunch Chatham went to bat. Kenny topped the score with sixteen and Miller came next with ten. Seymour, of Detroit, made an excellent catch of the top of his bat and going into a fielder's hands. The Chatham team was right royally treated by the D. A. C's Detroit will likely visit Chatham next week. Detroit.

GOOD SCORES

Harwich Rifleman and Men of the 24th Hold Successful Joint Shoot.

The Harwich Rifle Club and members of the 24th Regiment had their bi-monthly shoot on the farm of Mr. McCormick. For the first two hours the sun was very glaring and the shooting was a little off; but the last range was shot under rather more favorable circumstances.

The shooting was in some cases very good. C. Spicer, Sergt. Farnsworth, J. Houston, Sec. McCormick, A. Hutchinson and J. McKellar are deserving of mention.

The military rifles held their own even at these short ranges. The kindness and courtesy of the Harwich Rifles is very much appreciated.

MASSACRE BY MEXICANS.

Tucson, Arizona, June 12.—A prominent Arizona banker arrived here today from Prietas, Sonora, with details of a massacre of Yaqui Indians, men, women and children, Tuesday, in Santa Rosa Canyon, 35 miles from the Monas Prietas mines, by a detachment of General Torres' troops. It appears that the Yaqui forces that were operating in that section had moved further into the mountains, leaving their women and children in Santa Rosa Canyon under a guard of 80 men. The Mexican troops came upon this camp, and without warning opened a terrible fire, sparing neither women nor children. After the first volley the troops charged down upon the panic-stricken victims, and massacred all within their reach. Of the guard of 80 Yaquis not a single one survived, and more than 100 women and children fell victims to the Mexican bullets and bayonets. The bodies of the dead were left in the canyon and the remaining women and children were driven to Monas Prietas by the soldiers, and from that point will be taken to Hermosillo.

In order to be a first-class theorist a man must have perfect confidence in his imagination.

Down on the Modern Theater.

VERTONE is familiar with General Sherman's famous definition of war. The great Italian actress, Eleanora Duse, now applies the same harsh epithet to stage life. She says it is "hell—downright hell."

Duse has confessed to an interviewer that she is "tired of the theater, but not of art, tired of the theatrical part of stage life, tired of the necessary co-operation of artists, managers, scene-shifters and lamp-lighters."

"Yes," she continued, "I am tired of all and everything liable to obstruct my artistic endeavors and to interfere with my plans, executed or intended. I am dreaming of entering the lecture platform, but will do things in quite a different way from the ordinary."

"I mean to enliven the lecture platform and broaden its scope by retaining some of the stage's features. My American tour will be my own's song as far as stageland is concerned."

"After that I will endeavor to realize this dream of making the world acquainted with the great masterpieces of literature without detracting their attention by undue scenic effects and the awkwardness or stupidity of actors playing incident parts."

"One or two ladies or gentlemen will be engaged as my assistants, merely to look their parts and give me the cue. As for myself, I couldn't think of assuming several roles as some do at dramatic recitals."

"I needn't repeat," she continued, "that I leave the stage without regret, yet at the same time I am almost forced to do something of the kind. I can't be for ever playing Dumas and Sardou, Ibsen and St. Iermann. No one of account is writing new plays for me, and those that are written might as well remain unacted."

"I tell you la Duse is threatened by literary famine. Shall I wait until the public tides of my reputation? Besides, I must rid myself of the slavery of stage life. That's no life at all. I assure you it is hell, downright hell."

Curious Whims.

Eccentricity is often nothing but the exaggeration of individuality, as with a scholar of some distinction who died towards the end of the last century. His peculiarity expressed itself in the way in which he tried to carry his scholarship, or the symbolism of it, into the grave. By the terms of his will he left six thousand guineas to his sister on condition that his funeral was carried out on curiously-prescribed lines. His coffin was painted green, and was followed by only six gentlemen—no relatives being invited—who were to receive ten guineas each provided they did not dress in black. The body was fully dressed. Under the head was placed a copy of Horace, and at the feet Bentley's Milton. In one hand was a pocket edition of Horace, and in the other a small Greek Testament; and another copy of Horace was laid underneath.

The hired mourners sang over the closed grave the last stanza of the twentieth ode of the second book of Horace; and subsequently, after a generous supper, another ode was sung. "Which done," ran the final injunction of the will, "I would have them take a cheerful glass, and think no more of me." A French historian had a whimsical fancy for reading and writing by candlelight. At full noon-day, in the brightest summer weather, he would have his candle by his side, and he would carry it in his hand when showing his visitors to the door.

Appearances Deceived Him.

The Bather—I like this mixed bathing idea. It's worth dressing for. Her Friend—I had an idea from your appearance that you thought the reverse—"Pick-Me-Up."

Wit and Wisdom From New Books.

"When the lights are out," he said; "when forever and a night the actor bids the stage farewell; when stripped of his art, and tinsel, he goes home to that Actor who set him his part; then perhaps he will be told what manner of man he is. The glass that he dresses before tells him not; but he thinks a truer glass would show a shrunken figure."—"Audrey."

The Up-to-Date Undertaker.

A Yankee undertaker advertises: "Why live and miserable, when you can be comfortable, buried for twenty dollars? We shall expect something of the kind over here soon. Don't be surprised when you take up your morning paper if you read this sort of thing: 'Billy Morgan looked down the barrel of his daddy's gun to see where the bullet went to when it went off. The funeral was handsomely conducted by Smith & Co., who have always a large staff of hand, and are open to bury the whole neighborhood at twenty-four hours' notice. A pound of tea given away with every coffin. Order early and avoid disappointment.'"

DAY'S DESPATCHES

THEIR FISHERIES FAIL.

London, June 12.—The correspondent of the Times at St. John's, Nfld., says official reports show French fisheries on the Grand Banks are a complete failure. Fishermen at St. Pierre have been unable to procure bait because of the stringent laws. A hundred French vessels are lying at St. Pierre, helpless, and awaiting bait.

STRANGLING AN ELEPHANT.

Tours, France, June 12.—A crowd of about 3,000 witnessed the killing of the largest of Barnum & Bailey's performing elephants in the city park at midnight. The animal suddenly went mad, broke its chains, tried to kill its keepers while on the way to the railroad station, and had to be slain immediately. Two hundred men tugged at the rope which strangled it.

BOXED EACH OTHERS EARS.

Vienna, June 12.—There was a scene of wild disorder in the Reichsrath today during the debate on the Danube navigation agreement. Herr Schreiner, a leader of the Pan-German party, and Dr. Wolff, another leader of the same party, exchanged insults and finally boxed each others ears. It was necessary for friends of the rival leaders, to drag them apart, amid cheers and jeers from the galleries.
