I hope you will live long to wear the order.

I was indeed pleased to receive on the English mail which has just come to hand,your very kind letter of the 23th ult..in which you extend to me your generous congratulations on the honour recently received. I thank you sincerely for your kind wishes and shall always be very grateful for this mark

Dear Mrs. Bate,

Your very kind letter of the 3rd inst. addressed to me at Lethbridge, has been forwarded to Ottawa, and I have only just received it.

I need hardly say that it has brought me very great pleasure, and that I appreciate sincerely your kind congratulations.

The strike at Lethbridge was certainly a very serious one. More serious in some respects than the strike at Nanaimo a year ago. What a pity it is there should be any strikes at all. Perhaps some day we will find some means which will prevent them altogether.

It is a great pleasure to feel that one's work may be of service to others, and certainly life has nothing better to offer in the way of reward than such kind words of appreciation. as you have expressed. I would have you know that I am very grateful for them, as well as for your kind wishes .

Dear King.

When Lord Strathcona left for Canada we Canadians here in London thought it meant that we should have a new Secretary from Canada. Lord Strathcona has returned and we still have a distinct Welshman to represent us.

As Secretary of the Canadian Office here I can still look after the Archivist work and in fact much better than at present. My letters remain unanswered by the present secretary and when I write a second time. I get a reply to say that my first communication is mislaid and he does not know what I am talking about! My pay as Archivist would be so much money saved.

With kind regards.

In view of this and of your refusal to take over the work I am writing to ask you what chance you think I should stand of having given the post for a year or eighteen months? All I want is to get things in order a bit when I should be quite ready to step out and allow any Canadian representative to take my place. In fact I should be delighted to initiate him into the business of the office.

This idea only seemed to me to-day and perhaps you may not think it feasible. I trust however that if you do not think that I stand a chance you can before the name of some Canadian who will be offended, for it is most exasperating to have English friends come up and ask you what is the matter with the Canadian Office here?

Dear Biggar:

I have just received your letter of the 26th ult., in reference to the secretaryship of the High Commissioner's Office in London. Personally, there is no one whom I would be more pleased to see in that position than yourself. Unless, however, you were prepared to give up your work in connection with the Archives and accept the position permanently, I doubt very much if the Government would make a temporary appointment. If you were prepared to take up the Secretaryship as a life work, it might be worth your while putting in an application for the position, in the event of your deciding to do which, I would suggest your communicating direct with Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself. You could point out the needs of the office, and your purpose in applying, and could mention the names of those who knew you, and would speak well of your abilities.

At the moment I cannot think of anyone whom I would like to suggest for this position. As you have raised the point, however, I will keep it in mind, and in the event of a suitable name suggesting itself, will communicate with you again.

I had the pleasure of seeing your brother, the Grand Trunk solicitor, on Monday, and had a very pleasant talk with him.

He had just received a letter from you which I imagine came in on the same mail which brought mine. He was looking very well. I, of course,see your brother Lyons very often. He has not been as well this winter as he should have been. I think a rest and change would do him good. He is,I think,hoping to arrange for such.

I hope you are well and prospering. I suppose you saw that Charley Cross is the present Attorney General of Alberta, and that George McCraney has been returned to the Dominion House as member for one of the Saskatchewan Constituencies. Some of our old friends are doing well.

Dear Mr.Borden:

I must apologize for not having sent you before, the copy of the petition which Dr.Wilfred T.Grenfell sent to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries,when he requested a grant from that Department of $2,000 in aid of the hospital which he intends to establish on the Canadian Labrador. I am enclosing it now; also, copy of the reply which was sent to Dr.Grenfell,and a report of Commander Wakeham,on whose report the Department of Marine and Fisheries acted in the matter. I also enclose a copy of a letter which Grenfell has written me in regard to Commander Wakeham's report.

Grenfell has decided to go ahead with a hospital on the Canadian Labrador,come what will,though at first he feared that it would be quite impossible to undertake the work without some guarantee on the part of the Government. He will not,however,be able to establish the kind of hospital he would like to,depending entirely on private subscriptions for its maintenance. If he could receive from the Government a small grant of $2,000 a year it would give him tremendous encouragement,and as the Newfoundland Government contributed $1500 a year for some years past,there would appear to be a good precedent for our Government giving him some aid in connection with medical and hospital work on our own Labrador coast.

I think if,as you kindly suggested,you would speak to Sir Wilfrid,and also,possibly,to the new Minister of Marine and Fisheries when he may be appointed,your word would be quite sufficient to secure $2,000 being put in this year's estimates towards Grenfell's work. Knowing,as I do,your opinion of Grenfell and his work,it is quite unnecessary for me to speak of it at all. I can only say that if you succeed in this,you will earn the life-long gratitude of one of the best men who has ever been on this earth, as well as many,many families who are struggling hard for their daily bread,and who,when sickness comes to their doors,are left a prey to superstition and absolutely without help or hope.

Yours sincerely.

About two weeks ago I had an opportunity of mentioning to the Prime Minister the advisability of a small grant in aid of Dr Grenfell's hospital. He was rather noncommittal on the subject and pointed out the danger that would arise through applications from all parts of the country for aid to hospitals. However, I think he will take the matter into further consideration.

Dear Mr.Borden:

Your generous congratulations and more than kind wishes have moved me deeply,and I must ask you to forgive me,if I fail to express as I would,the deep sense of gratitude I feel because of them. I would be happy,indeed,could I feel that I had merited at all so worthy a place in your regard. The honour which has been conferred has awakened in me a very real sense of the great incompleteness and imperfection of the little I have attempted to do,but the kind words of my friends,and in particular your own have convinced me of how much all is owing to them,how little to desert in me.

I value more than I can tell you this mark of your confidence; it would be strange indeed if it did not serve to make me a better manmand a more useful. Through life I shall prize as a priceless possession this expression of your generous good will, and I trust I may prove true to the high obligation which I am pleased to recognize it places upon me.

I regret that having been absent from the city until this morning I have not had an earlier opportunity of acknowledging your great kindness.

I feel rather diffident about writing to you at the present time, because such an interval has elapsed since I received your last letter. You probably know as well as I that the amount of work we have had to put through in connection with the close of the academic year and the change of organization has been the cause of the delay. I hope that next year things will be under different organization and that should we have a candidate for the prize matters will be conducted with a little more consideration for examiners and officers.

Dear Mr. King:-

We are in receipt of your letter of Saturday. All the photographs were returned last week, so that we are unable to make a new half-tone plate of Mr. Harper's portrait,- but the size can be cut down as shown in the enclosed, with the simple signature rather than the additional line. We shall proceed in this form unless you wire us to the contrary. On the other half tone plate we will use the longer inscription which, to our mind, is much more appropriate. We trust you will be satisfied not only with the illustrations but with the book itself when the entire work is completed.

Sincerely,

S. Edgar Briggs

It is agreed between the sender of the following message and this Company, that said Company shall not be liable for damages arising from failure to transmit or deliver, or for any error in the transmission or delivery of an unrepeated telegram, whether happening from negligence of its servants or otherwise, or for delays from interruptions in the working of its lines, for errors in cypher or obscure messages, or for errors from illegible writing, beyond the amount received for sending the same.

To guard against errors, the Company will repeat back any telegram for an extra payment of one-half the regular rate, and in that case it shall not be liable for damages beyond fifty times the amount received for sending and repeating.

Correctness in the transmission of messages can be insured by contract in writing, stating agreed amount of risk, and payment of premium thereon at the following rates, in addition to the usual charge for repeated messages, viz.: one per cent. for any distance not exceeding 1000 miles, and two per cent. for any greater distance.

This Company shall not be liable for the act or omission of any other Company, but will endeavor to forward the telegram by any other Telegraph Company necessary to reaching its destination, but only as the agent of the sender and without liability therefor. This Company shall not be liable in any case for damages, unless the same be claimed, in writing, within sixty days after receipt of the telegram for transmission.

Dear Mr.Briggs:

I have just received your letter of yesterday,enclosing the portrait of Mr.Harper,cut down,though not reduced,and stating that unless I wired you,you would proceed with the form you had enclosed.

I have just wired as follows:

> "Cutting down only adds to objectionable feature, which is size of head. Greatly prefer larger picture with two-line signature if impossible to reduce. Am mailing photos to-day."

Since commencing this letter I have sent a second wire as follows:

> "Please wait to-day's letter before including Harper portrait."

The cutting down of the portrait on the outside only emphasizes my objections to the original one,which is that the head looks,to me,abnormally large. This abnormal appearance is emphasized when part of the shoulders and chest are cut out. Besides,I think it is a pity to cut out the words "yours faithfully" and I would not like to have this done if you can avoid it.

In taking up a book a great deal depends upon the first impression which it gives to one. This is my reason among others

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

PUBLIC ARCHIVES PUBLIQUES

why I am particularly anxious that the portrait of Harper which is to be the frontispiece shall not be out of keeping with the appearance of the rest of the book. I am returning the photograph from which the half-tone plate has been made,and would again say that I will be most grateful if you will have another half-tone plate made reducing the size of the portrait,though not taking away from the shoulders in so doing. What I would like to have is to have the portrait vignetted. The manager of the American Bank Note Company here informs me that a half-tone plate,including the signature,can be done at little expense and within a day,and as I have already said,if necessary.I will be willing to incur the extra expense occasioned than have the book appear with anything which might detract.

The signature is so well made that a reproduction from the proof which you have sent me would,I am sure,come out quite distinctive enough for the purpose of the frontispiece. Will you not please have this done. If the dark background and the square block were taken away the head and shoulders appearing by themselves on a white background with the signature below,the effect would,I am sure you will agree,be vastly improved. I feel this so strongly that it is impossible for me to emphasize to you how important I think it is.

This letter should reach you to-morrow morning. In order

When you forward complete copies of the book, will you please also mail me an invoice, giving the best trade rates of the same, so that I may be able to pay the customs duty in accordance with the amount. I am looking quite expectantly to receiving the final book.

Would you also kindly let me know what price the book is to be sold at, and when you think the regular edition will be available for the local booksellers.

Dear Mr.Brigge:

I am writing to ask whether in connection with your publishing house you have an arrangement for securing clippings of reviews of books published by your firm,and whether an author can make any arrangements with you to secure the same.

I would also like to ask whether you think the Authors' Clipping Bureau,73 Devonshire street,Boston,is an institution doing good work in this connection,and whether in my case it would be worth while having them collect clippings for me.

What about copies of the book to be used for advertising purposes? Would it be proper for me to suggest the names of a few persons connected with some newspapers in this country who,I feel pretty sure,would give good reviews,and to ask your house to send them a copy with this end in view. I have a number of plans in my mind as to how the sale of the book might be furthered. Would it be advisable for me to suggest any of these plans to you? or do you think I should write Mr.Gundy of Toronto? We are,ofcourse,jointly interested in the book,and anything I can do towards furthering its sale will be cheerfully done. What I want to discover is,to what extent I may

Dear Sir:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 14th inst., in reference to the preparation of the English translation of Mantoux's work on the Industrial Revolution.

It is true, as you say, that Mr. Mantoux is at present in correspondence with me in regard to the preparation of this translation and it is probable that I will undertake the work. I have delayed giving Mr. Mantoux a final reply as I expect to visit France next month and to talk the matter over with him personally while there. I have not as yet arranged for an American publisher and, therefore, will be pleased to hear from you at your earliest convenience as to what you would be prepared to offer me for a translation. I might add that as my time is pretty fully taken up it will largely depend upon the terms it would be possible to make whether or not I will ultimately undertake this translation. Mr. Mantoux's book is, to my mind, one of the most valuable contributions to the literature

My dear King,

You will doubtless be surprised at hearing from me. Indeed, the last time we had communication together was, I believe, on the occasion of our trial before the Council of Toronto University, charged with malicious destruction of property, rioting & mob violence etc. on the night of October 30, 1893. You may remember the event. There were the days of our mad undergraduacy. Since then we have both become a little more sane, and, it may interest you to know, have both developed into economic students, you from the practical side, I from the theoretical.

Which is precisely the reason I am writing to you now. I am preparing for one of the New York magazines an article on the solution of labor troubles, and intend to advocate the adoption of a law along lines similar to those so successfully worked out by you in Canada. What I should very much like you to do is to send me all the available literature you can on the Canadian Labor Law, its text, its working out, etc; also some account of your own experiences in handling questions that have been laid before you. If you could also send me a photograph of yourself. I think my readers would like very much to see it.

I was exceedingly pleased with your memorial volume in Harper, so much so that I devoted a paragraph to it in The Literary Digest, with which I am associated editorially. Perhaps you have seen it? If not, I should be glad to send you a clipping. Stringer, as you may possibly be aware, spends his winters here, and his summers in Canada. I myself have been in New York since '97. Can't say I like the place as a home, but it is certainly the spot for business. No need to ask you what you have been doing, for I have kept watch of your progress, and am glad to see you so uniformly successful. You are in a splendid place now to make a record and be of continued service to Canada, and I doubt not you will live up to your opportunity.

Is Henry Scott Tam still in Ottawa? If so, I wish you would remember me to him when you see him. Also Burbidge and Burnside Robinson and Artie Dobell.

My dear Bruce:

I have just read with much interest and pleasure your letter of the 6th inst., recalling college days and associations, and telling me of your present work and interest in labour problems.

I wish I could agree with you that the destruction of the old shed at 'Varsity, for which we were both fined, was in any way foolishness. I still find in that event one of the best of recollections, and post graduate experience has, thus far, only served to convince me that many of the agitations and apparently rash denunciations made by some of us in our student days in regard to the management of affairs at Toronto University were in fact prophetic, and an evidence of something lacking in the way of administration which, unfortunately, has not yet been supplied. When I think of the success which has characterised the work of many members of our class---Norman Duncan in his writing, Charley Cross, Attorney General of Alberta, Don Macdonald, head of St. Andrew's College, Harper, a hero with a public monument in the city, Tucker with his own monument of verse, Greenwood, a member of the British House of Commons, yourself and Stringer,not to name many others---I cannot but feel that there was something more than rashness in the outbursts of spirit which we witnessed among the members of our class as a whole during our undergraduate days.

I am very much gratified with the kind mention you have made of my little volume upon Harper. I had noticed the paragraph in the Literary Digest,which I retained at the time as more than a generous appreciation,though I was not then aware,as I am now delighted to be,that it was from the pen of a friend.

As to your article on labour troubles,I am sending you under separate cover,copies of the annual reports of this Department which contain under the heading "Conciliation and Arbitration" an account of the work of the Department under the Conciliation Act. I am also sending you copies of the Labour Gazette which contain a reference to the more important strikes that have been settled. One of the best of these,the last one of any importance,being the strike of coal miners at Nanaimo in September of last year. I think you will find it worth while mentioning the Railway Labour Disputes Act, to which reference is also made in the annual reports. I am enclosing herewith copies of both the Conciliation and the Railway Labour Disputes Acts,so that you will have the text of them complete. I am sending you,also,under separate cover,the report of a Royal Commission of which I was the secretary,on industrial disputes in the Province of British Columbia. I think you will find the report most interesting reading,and possibly there will be parts of the evidence which may be of service to you. These documents will,I think,give you about all the material which you will wish to have for what you may be preparing.

As to my own part in the work,I do not know that there is anything to add to what appears in the official publications. I appreciate very much your kind references to myself in this connection,and also the compliment you pay in asking for a photograph to publish with the article. While some success may have attended my efforts,I do not feel that I in any way merit the distinction of appearing in a magazine as a public character,and I feel,therefore, that the article would be much more appropriate were no illustrations of a personal kind to accompany it.

I hope you will send me a copy of what you may write, not only in connection with the work of this Department,but of any articles on economic subjects. I will be much interested in seeing them,and can assure you that they will be appreciated greatly.

I will give your message to Southam,who is in the city. Dobell is in Quebec,and I am not sure where Robinson is. I just received before your letter,one from Burbidge,who is now in Winnipeg practicing law in that city. He tells me in it that he is to marry Miss Turner of Hamilton,whom you doubtless will know.

(Dear Rex

Very many thanks for the book from both the Judge & me. We will read it with great pleasure and interest as being your work & as embodying so much of the inner life of a very dear friend. My husband who has read many Lives can get into this into it remarked to me how very well written it was.

I have so many pictures in my mind of you & Mrs. Harper & Harry together that the book has

I am glad you decided to go on with it. It is well that men should know that there is more in life & its issues than what we see on the surface. Thank you very much again.-

Dear Mr. Mackenzie King,

I am in receipt of your letter of this date enclosing $10.00, being cheque from Mr. P.D.Ross . I have also received from Mr. Machado a cheque for $5.00, which will leave a shortage of $7.05.

I think the best plan will be for each member of the Committee who is willing to join, to contribute an equal sum towards the shortage, and the balance should be returned to those who have overpaid. If you think well of this, we might arrange the amount of each contribution after Mr. Rowley's cheque comes in.

Yours truly,

My dear Friend,

I am very sorry I did not see you at Miss Toynbee's last night, but I fancy you were too busy. She tells me you sail tomorrow so now I shall not see you at all, for which I am very sorry for I much wanted a talk with you. What form is the proposed legislation here with regard to Canadian emigration likely to take? We are continually getting complaints over here similar to the one I enclose. Can nothing be said in England to reassure people? Could you not authorize me to say something?

One day I hope to see you in Canada. Next year I shall be out

Sometimes parents ask me whether it is possible for me to keep an eye on their sons in Canada who go to make their way in life. Might I occasionally write to you about these lads?

One question more. Where can I get your book on Antarctica? Some months ago there was an appreciative article on him in the Times. If you have not had it I will get it and send it on to you.

I wish you bon voyage. My very kindest wishes.

Ever Sincerely yours,

[ONE HALFPENNY.

They were only street musicians,
    They had tramped for many a mile,
For the richer parts of the city
    Gave them frowns, and never a smile.

So they came to a crowded alley,
    Where a bitter and ceaseless strife
For a crust of bread, and a garret,
    Was the sum of the people's life.

Where the fathers were worn and feeble,
    And the sons were hollow of face,
And the daughters had lost their beauty
    For want of a breathing space.

Where the children played in the gutters
    'Mid the garbage, and filth, and dirt,
While their weary and starving mothers,
    Were living the "Song of the Shirt."

The musicians stood for a moment,
    Then they softly began to play,
And from harp, and flute, and viol
    Came the songs of a bygone day.

Through the hovel homes of that alley
    Swept the murmurings of the sea,
The breezes from the hilltops,
    The carollings of the lea.

The notes of the lark and the linnet,
    Floated quivering through the air,
And the scent of cowslips and daisies,
    Seemed to steal up each broken stair.

The children crept nearer and nearer,
    Forgetting their sorrowful play,
While for one brief moment their fathers
    Remembered their own childhood's day,

The birds, and meadows, and cornfields,
    All the joys of their country life,
Ere the grasping greed of the landlords
    Drove them into the city strife.

And off the sad hearts of the women
    Was lifted the burden of care,
As they travelled back to their girlhood,
    And the days when sorrow was rare.

They rested their weary, worn fingers,
    And their teardrops fell like the rain,
As they yearned with passionate longing
    For the days that come never again.

The chords changed from sadness to triumph,
    And mingled with all the regret
Was a hope and a prophecy golden,
    Of a gladness and joy to be yet.

When the father should glory in manhood,
    And the daughter rejoice in her grace,
When the mother should lose all her sadness,
    And the children be happy of face.

When the old world of toil and privation,
    Should seem like a dream of the night,
And the new world should have its foundation
    In Justice, and Wisdom, and Right.

The music died out in soft sweetness,
    Entwined with a pathos of pain,
And the struggle for crust and for garret,
    Claimed the lives of the toilers again.

But their hearts had been softened and strengthened,
    In the midst of life's infinite wail,
For the art which is sister to heaven
    From the future had lifted the veil.

They say that the people are brutal,
    That their instincts of beauty lie dead;
Were it so—shame on those who condemn them
    To the desperate struggle for bread!

But they lie in their throats when they say it,
    For the people are tender of heart,
And a wellspring of beauty lies hidden
    Beneath their life's fever and smart.

Day by day burns that fever more fiercely,
    Hour by hour grows that smarting more keen,
While the Paradise dims in the distance,
    For the pain of to-day comes between.

Yet, be of good cheer, oh! my brothers,
    And my sisters work on till the morn,
Though to-day you must suffer and sorrow,
    To-morrow shall freedom be born.

HERBERT BURROWS.

Ottawa,July I3,I906.

My dear Campbell:

I was delighted to receive,among the English letters which have just come to hand,your very warm and kind note of congratulation. Knowing your generous interest in my work and welfare it was natural that when the honour came my way one of my first thoughts should have been of you. I wished very much that you might have been here,but more strongly that your name might also have been upon the list. You have,however, a worthier and better distinction,which is the place you have won in the world of letters,and the place you will hold among those whose names will go down to posterity long after temporary recognitions may be forgotten.

I was delighted to know that you have been enjoying so much your visit to England,and particularly to learn that so well a publishing house as that of Adam Black's,has accepted from you a book on Canada at a price which I think,having regard for the kind of recognition which is given now-a-days to even the best work,is on the whole,satisfactory.

I was naturally pleased to hear that my little book is doing well in England. Such sale as it may have is likely to be for a short time only,and the result of the splendid reviews which appeared. Your volume of poems on the other hand will continue to be better known every year,and while the sale at the outset may be somewhat restricted the poems themselves will pretty well guarantee the future of the volume.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

I am glad you did not hesitate to speak to me about making you an advance which may be necessary to enable you to prolong your stay in England,and it will certainly give me pleasure to do something in this way if you find that you will require additional funds. You may remember my telling you that I had put what savings I have into the United Bank Note Corporation. The position of that concern at present is such that while it promises a future good,no dividends have been paid on the common stock since the new organization was formed. To drawout any of this money at this time would mean a considerable sacrifice to me in view,first,of the little I have put in,but more particularly because of the position which the stock is in at present. I have, too,since you left,assumed an obligation in which my father is parly interested. He has just sold his manuscript of his book on libel and slander,and is to turn over the notes to me. They,however, do not become payable until after the book is on the market,which may be several months. In the meantime I have agreed to advance him the amount of the notes and some other funds as well. Then with life assurance and a few other payments I have to make,it will leave me but little to come and go on between now and the end of the year. However,I think I could let you have,without embarrassing myself, $50 to be returned as you suggest (only without interest) by December,and possibly,if circumstances are more favourable than I anticipate and you should be hard pressed a little over that amount. Without borrowing,however,I could not let you have the amount you suggest,and I rather hesitate to do that. Please do not refrain from writing me fully,and know that what I feel able to,with such obligations as I have to consider,I would gladly do.

I promised to send you Miss Markham's and Miss Brooke-Hunt's address. The former is 8 Gower street,W.C.London,or Tapton House, Chesterfield,and the latter, Albert Gate Court,124 Knightbridge,S.W. I think you should make an effort to see both of them while in England.

I enclose letters of introduction to Dr.Cunningham,who is professory of history and economics at Trinity College,Cambridge, to R.J.Tatton,who was formerly warden,but now,I think,assistant warden of the Passmore Edwards settlement where I lived for some time in London,and to Miss Toynbee,Arnold Toynbee's sister,whom I think you will be particularly interested in meeting. I hope,too, that you will not miss seeing Mrs.Ward. She,by the way,takes a tremendous interest in the Passmore Edwards settlement,which owes its existence in large measure to her efforts.

Please excuse this typewritten letter,but I have such a pile of letters on hand to acknowledge at the present time that I am forced to take advantage of the forbearance of my friends and ask them to excuse me. With best wishes and ever with kindest regards, I am,

Dear Mr Mackenzie King

I owe you many apologies for not having before thanked you for the Charming Card of good wishes & for your letter but I have been laid up with influenza.

The N.W. Coal strike was indeed an alarming affair; & the decision which you had to make neither easy nor pleasant. [2]

I think the control of British Indians workmen whether they be Canadian or Australian or in the U.K. sh^d never be allowed to go outside the Empire.

I think that the Govt. should tackle the question now.

All the talk about the danger of American immigration is nonsense; but the Americanizing of Canadian labour (much of it immigrant labour) is most alarming.

Personally I would go so far as to introduce a compulsory insurance of workmen in companies recognized by the State coupled with a provision making a workmen liable to forfeit part of claim (his pension) if he joined a foreign union. Also I should withhold all protection from unions not wholly controlled within the Empire!

Dear Mr. McKenzie King,

Many thanks for your letter and enclosures which I am very glad to have received. The wages paid to telegraphists in Canada appear to be somewhat lower than those paid to similar classes of men in this country, and many of the rules at the begining of the Canadian Pacific Order are, I think, very apposite to some of the questions which we are considering.

It was a very great pleasure to me to have an opportunity of introducing you and Mr. King to my family, and I only wish that your mother and sisters had been able to come over with you.

I think that you must feel very proud of the success of your mission. The Board of Trade informally mentioned the matter to me and after very careful consideration, I came to the conclusion that the form in which the provision has been put would probably deter any Emigrant who had been unsuccessful through his own fault, from bringing a frivolous prosecution in this country, and therefore I did not put forward the suggestion that any proceedings should be subject to the sanction of the Attorney General.

In case you should not have come across a reference in the papers to the matter, I am sending you enclosed a letter which appeared in the "Times" on Tuesday the 22nd November. I do not know who Mr. Walker is; but perhaps you do.

On the whole I agree with you that the probable effect of a Minatory Clause such has been inserted in the Merchants Shipping Act will be to make people, both in Canada and in this country, think three times instead of twice before they set out on the campaign of misrepresentation to induce emigration.

I see in to-days paper that an announcement is made that the Canadian Government is going to pay £1 for the introduction of every adult and 10/- for the introduction of every child into Canada.

I hope that in the future these payments to Agents will be administered in such a way as to be above suspicion. I think that you know that in the past there has been a good deal of mystery on this subject.

Hoping that we shall soon again have the pleasure of seeing you and Mr. King over here.

Dear Mr.Waley-Cohen:

I have just received your very kind letter of the 24th ult.,and hasten to thank you for it,as well as for the clipping from the Times which was enclosed. I do not know who the Mr.Walker is who has signed the letter. It is quite possible he may be some relation to Mr.Bruce Walker,who has been appointed chief of the Dominion Government emigration work in London.

I am glad to know that you feel,all circumstances considered,that the clause which has been added to the Merchants' Shipping Bill is reasonable and fair. I agree with you that it will cause people to be more guarded than they have been in the past in representations which they make to intending emigrants. This of course,is the whole purpose.

Both my father and myself continue to look back to the visits at your home and your kindness to us as among the best recollections which we have carried with us from England. As soon as I returned to Canada I had to go immediately to the Canadian West to intervene in a coal strike which was producing very alarming results. I enclose a copy of my report to the Government on the matter,which I think perhaps you may be interested in reading.

Dear Mr.Crane:

I am leaving to-night for Calgary,Alberta,to intervene in a building trades strike in that city. This strike coming on unexpectedly,has upset some of my original plans on going to Boise City,Idaho via Chicago,to attend the trial of Moyer,Haywood and others of the Western Federation of Miners. The trial,I am informed,is likely to come off between the IIth and I5th of this month at Caldwell,Idaho,which is near Boise City. I will go from Calgary direct to Caldwell.

I remember your saying that you thought you would like to have your son be present at the trial,and you were kind enough to say that perhaps we might arrange to go together. Could he not meet me at Caldwell? If you send a wire to Mr.James H.Hawley at Boise City,to be forwarded to Caldwell,he will,I think,be able to arrange accomodation at the hotel for him. Mr.Hawley is the crown attorney and has kindly promised to arrange accomodation for me,and it was my intention,had I gone by way of Chicago,to wire him from there in reference to your son after seeing you. I hope very much that it may be possible for your son to attend. I would like greatly to have the pleasure of meeting him there,and I certainly believe that the trial will prove one of the most interesting,as well as perhaps one of the most significant,in the history of American courts,certainly in so far as the latter will have to do with industrial questions.

My dear King, "Here's looking at you" in your new honour! Live read of it in the paper — a truly commendable recognition of the right man for public honour! Some things do turn out right in this world: all of his Majesty's honours do not go to brewers. Whereat I am most heartily glad, both for you and the government that sees right here the kind of man and the kind of man's work that should be recognized — Bully for you, old man, tho' I say it as shouldn't to a commander, being slang — Never mind, you can garner in all the titles and honours in Christendom & I shall still claim the right to say "Bully for You!" in so many letters — For I rejoice with you in the colloquial rather more heartily than in, say, Edmund Burke — In any and every case I congratulate you, not so much for a title but because you are seeing a harvest — the results of your labours, the winning of the sign manual that you have won men, won them over to the appreciation of your pioneer, path-breaking work — That is what seems to me most worth the utterance of congratulation, most worth while in the very existence of a C.M.G. – And the best of it is that you are strong enough to bear such honours. Out of your humility and out of your self-forgetful loving work for others, this honour, like so many others, has come to you – and I know that many others are still to come, out of the self-same life that you have chosen, and for the self-same reason: this is the best of it – A good bang on the back I would like to give you, old man, but feel it for me in these poor words that tell you how glad I am!

I believe I know why you did not come to Boston: it was because you brought your mother down to Kingsmere, nicht wahr? To her also my kindest-of-all regards and my congratulations – She must be a proud mother. Louie & I had a good time in B. tho' it was too strenuous for perfect comfort – The wedding was extra-swell and went off swimmingly – I think they will be as happy as two birds. At the reception we met scores of old friends & that was a great pleasure – On the Sunday we had breakfast with Edith Gilman who is as radiant as ever – Unfortunately, there were two strange folk there & we could not be quite as gossipy as I should have liked — but still, we had a good time. I wish you had been there — Louise came back with the backing out (if I may use that picturesque phrase!) of her salt-water trip au dernier moment — It was too much like going to another planet, she said, and came back to O. then on to Chicago where she may stay the Summer — I had some thoughts of having her come out here but have decided not, after all — For two weeks I stay here and then plunge into the unutterable woods of the Cascades, west slope — Here it is 100° in the shade: there it is about inferno. So I plan to rustle like a savage and skidoo home as soon as I can — albeit I shall see Mexico first. It is a graceful tribute to the jailed man from the Wn Federation of Miners, this proffer of the governorship of Colorado! That should be the limit, but it isn't —: there is no limit for the Western Fed.!

Goodbye, mon cher, — a good summer to you whether on this side or in Europe — Is it not terrible to think of Mr Barwick's end? — a sad, sad thing — Again, my regards to Mrs King, as to yourself. Always Yours.

In reference to the conversation we had yesterday about taking some articles to Harrington, on the Canadian Labrador, I have this morning written to Doctor Wakeham, the Officer in charge of the C.G.S. As the patrol of this vessel is in the neighbourhood of Harrington it is possible that she may be proceeding in that direction sooner than the regular boat from Quebec. Ottawa, Ont.

Dear Mr. King,

At the recent Convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, held at Victoria, B.C., resolutions respecting several matters more immediately connected with the Department of Labor were passed, and I beg to enclose herewith copies thereof.

In addition to these, considerable attention was given to the suggestion that the regulations of your Department should provide for the posting up in convenient public places at or about the locality where public work is being done of the schedule of wages governing the work, so that the workmen interested may readily learn what rate of wages they are entitled to.

This suggestion, I believe, has been mentioned to you before this and has met with your favorable consideration. It would gratify the workmen of Canada to see the suggestion adopted by you henceforth.

I may be permitted to express to you the gratification of Congress upon the successful result of your recent mission to England to secure the passage of legislation to prevent fraudulent representations to induce emigration to Canada. We feel that had it not been for the foresight and promptitude of the Minister of Labor in sending you, and for the tact, energy and ability you displayed in your mission, legislation in this important regard would have been long delayed. We feel certain that, not alone organized labor, but Canadians generally will be the gainers by your efforts.

Yours sincerely,

Whereas, it frequently happens that much harm is done to organized labor engaged in industrial disputes in Canada by reason of the only partial truth contained in reports appearing from time to time in the Dominion Labor Gazette concerning the continuance or discontinuance of such disputes;-be it resolved, that this Congress present this complaint to the Minister of Labor with a request that greater attention and notice be given in the Labor Gazette to the statements of the workmen involved in such disputes, so that disputes will not henceforth be reported as settled, when as a matter of fact, they are still in existence.

Whereas, the present Federal Law with reference to the Fair-Wage clause in Government contracts is not complete, inasmuch as the Fair-wage Officer has no power at present to investigate the books of a firm having a contract on a Government building other than when a complaint founded on indisputable proof has been received; therefore, be it resolved, that the incoming Executive of this Congress be instructed to take this matter up with the Congress' Solicitor and the Federal Government immediately with a view of having this matter fully remedied to admit the Fair-wage Officer being in a position to demand to see all the books of such a firm whenever there may be a suspicion that the fair wage is not being paid.

That this Congress is pleased to express its approval of the action of the Canadian Government in establishing a Department of Labor, and also its recognition of the work accomplished by the Department in the interests of the industrial classes in Canada during the six years of its existence. The Congress is, however, of the opinion that while it may have been expedient, pending such time as the organization of the department was being effected and its position established, to assign the portfolio of Minister of Labor to a member of the Government holding another portfolio, the time has come when, both because of the increasing extent and importance of the work of the department as well as to secure a fuller representation of the views and needs of the industrial classes in the Government of the country, the Department of Labor should be represented by a Minister of Labor, whose duties will be confined to the interests of that department, and this Congress is of the opinion that the creation of a separate portfolio of Minister of Labor would receive the hearty endorsation of the working classes of Canada from one end of the Dominion to the other, and that the confidence of working people in the administration of the department can best be retained by the appointment of working men to positions in the department.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada.

Dear Mr. King.

I have dropped formalities of address, but have not ceased to treasure up your friendship.

You will have heard that your good Officer secured me a stop-over at Riviere Ouelle, and that I had some delightful hours at Murray Bay. My stay was not long, but long enough to give a good impression of the better type of Americans. I thank you sincerely for your goodness.

I had not time at Montreal, however, to see about the return half of my Ottawa-Montreal ticket. I wonder if it is worth bothering about. In case it can be exchanged or refunded

I take the liberty of enclosing it. But should it involve any trouble, please do not bother about it further.

I greatly enjoyed your book, and should like to offer my appreciation at once. But I fancy I can do it better when we meet, as it is over 90° in shade here today, and I have been quite ready since Saturday. really bad walk. I am told.

A man of such pure and high ideals as Harper seems to have been must have had a big fulness: and it is much that you have given these ideals in their living form to the world. I believe your book will have a wide and lasting influence, especially upon young men in the formative stage of their life-career.

I should probably not be in Ottawa now, till the 4th or 5th of September. But I still hope to see Toronto with you, as you kindly suggested. With warm regard, and affection for any it touches in your goodness of heart.

Yours sincerely

My dear King,

Sam delights to think of you among the highland hills, and looks forward to seeing you next week in the Lowlands. Saturdays & Sundays are bad days to be with me at home, and I should suggest Monday, were it not that I do not wish to delay your coming to Glencairn.

If all goes well, I expect to be in Edinburgh on Tuesday next, taking Jane with me if the weather favours. In that case, I shall look you up at the Caledonian Station Hotel: and letters addressed to the Scottish Conservative Club, Prince St., will find me.

I hope you had a more sunny and less rainy passage than we experienced. It was very cold and miserable most

We hope you will bring good weather to Glencairn, do we. I may show you something of our neighbourhood.
Pleased to be prevented from meeting you in Edinburgh on Tuesday. I should expect you and your father whenever you find it most convenient to arrive. A Post-card will give me time to meet you at Dumfries or Thornhill. I should advise you to come via Glasgow, taking a train from St Enoch station to Thornhill, if the day be fine; otherwise you should come to Dumfries via Glasgow or Lockerbie, connecting with the Morning train which lands you at Kirkland of Glencairn. I shall be very pleased, so that you may have the drive from Thornhill through the Valley of Buccleuch if possible.

Wishing you a good time till we meet, and rejoicing at the prospect of seeing you so soon again,

There is a parishioner of mine, ill with phthisis near Toronto. I wonder if Miss King could discover him. His brother's address is 811 Yonge St. Toronto, and the sick man is Alex. Glencross. He was till lately with his brother at Chicot address, but is about 15 miles from Toronto now. The brother knows his address from time to time, and the poor lad needs some attention. It might be possible to get him into a Sanatorium?

Dear Billy:

The book is good. I have been meaning to tell you so for a long time. It is altogether worthy of you and of the subject. I picked it up with the idea of giving it a critical reading; but soon forgot the purpose, and was completely absorbed by Harper's personality, as revealed. I was conscious, by and by, however, that I was looking upon Harper through your heart and soul: that what I saw was not one man, but the soul (note the singular) of two. You have done a great deal more than portray. A mere portrayal would perhaps have been inadequate — misleading. But you have interpreted — you have made the life significant: this, of course, with your own fine philosophy (which you have not permitted to obtrude). You have explained the physical heroism of the man in reasonable, beautiful and most convincing way. It has ennobled (at least for me) heroism of that sort. I do most heartily congratulate you upon this fine achievement. And I thank you very, very much for the inscription in the book you sent me. It is far too generous and kind — how much so it would be impossible to tell. But I am glad that you think well of me, and I hope that you will continue to do so. You have taught me to learn somewhat to prize your good feeling and regard.

The other day — almost a week gone now — I was so strongly tempted to send you a telegraphic appeal to come on down for a visit that I could hardly resist. It seemed to me that more than anything else I wanted to have a jolly jump with you. You see that you are ever so much more thought about than my busy and infrequent letters would indicate.

With additional congratulations and thanks, and with every very best wish.

Always gratefully yours

Dear Bill:

First – to offer congratulations. I got back from Muskoka last night and then had first news of the high appreciations your work has won. It's splendid. And it is right. I feel as though something good had happened to me, too; and I am particularly delighted with the Government for its determination and gratitude. Such original, earnest and effective work as yours deserves all that the administration can do for you – and it will do more. You are getting nearer the ultimate honor – which, of course, comes from the people.

And now. I wonder if you would care to go with me to Arabia (cities and a mere peep into the desert) or Northern Africa in the winter: possibly February or January, a stay of two or three months. I have rather meantime engaged to go, and do want some fellow who would be a pal more than a companion. You are simply ideal. Let us get together again and have three months of life that we shall never forget. Can't you manage it? I will probably take an interpreter from New York to smooth the way.

Do let me hear from you. Really I have very little hope

Dear Billy:

Your letter has been lying here for a long time. I have been away. But in New York I had a talk with Mr. Remsen about an introduction to the book. We agreed that it was necessary; and my own opinion was that it would be unwise I could not write one without appearing to patronize the author; and I flatly refuse to take that attitude. You must know, too, that I have not reached an eminence which permits me to write introductions. My dear fellow, the book is ever so much better without a word from a fool like me. And I do feel that so strongly. It was kind of you to wish to trust me so far. You don't know how much I appreciate your willingness to associate

I'm so glad that the Revell Company is to publish the book. Mr. Revell is much pleased with it: and he was glad, too, to know that we were friends. Don't have Conner write an introduction. The book is too good. And don't depend upon Doran. He is much discredited just now. Had it not been for him, your book could now have been on the market.

Dear Mr.Echoyace:

When I received your letter telling me that some was trying to bring about a sale of the Muscowpetung reserve,and stating that the Indians did not want to have the reserve sold,I immediately saw Mr.Frank Pedley,the Deputy Superintendent General of Indian Affairs about the matter,and asked him to write me concerning it.

I have received this morning from him a letter in which he says: "So far as the sale of the reserve is concerned,this cannot take place without the consent of the Indians,and if at all,it will beafter due notice is given under the provisions of the Indian Act." If,therefore,you say the Indians on the reserve are opposed to having it sold it would appear from Mr.Pedley's letter that you need not have any fears as to the reserve being sold.

The Deputy Superintendent General of Indian Affairs says that his Department is not aware of any ground for complaint in regard to cattle from the reserve. I think it would be well if you wouldwrite him yourself in regard to this matter. You could tell him in your letter that I had suggested your writing direct to him. Let him know exactly what it is you don't understand,and what it is you want to know. Mr.Pedley will,I am sure,be glad to see that full justice is done to you.

As to the round dance Mr.Pedley tells me that it has so often led to extremes that the Department of Indian Affairs has discouraged it as much as possible,and in some cases prevented it taking place chiefly for the benefit of the Indians themselves.

I think you can feel quite sure that so far as the reserve goes the treaty which was made with the Indians at the time of Queen Victoria will not be broken. From what I can learn from the officers of the Government here who have to do with the Indians,their chief desire is to carry out,as far as possible,the wishes of the Indians themselves.

I hope that you are well,and the other Indians whose were attached to your letter. I wish you would remember me to all of them,and give them my best wishes. If a chance comes in the summer,I will try to get out and see you all again.

Honours & Awards
Mackenzie, William Lyon

(Copy) Ottawa, July 12th, 1906.

Dear Lord Elgin:

It is with sincere gratitude that I acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's letter congratulating me upon the honour which His Majesty the King has graciously bestowed, and tender my most respectful thanks for your Lordship's generous words in reference to the recognition.

That your Lordship should have submitted my name to His Majesty for the Companionship of the Order of S.Michael and S.George has given me a peculiar pleasure, in that it was your Lordship's father, the Right Honourable, the Earl of Elgin, then Governor General of Canada, who, on the Ist of February, 1849 graciously pardoned, in Her late Majesty's name, my mother's father, William Lyon Mackenzie, allowing him, after years of political exile to return to Canada to serve again the country of his birth.

If to preserve the principles of liberty and righteousness upon which the crown of England rests, my grandfather sacrificed home and fortune, and was forced, through conviction, even to rebel against what he believed was the opposite of all that established the throne in the hearts of the people, no man believed more strongly than he in the allegiance and honour due his King, and in the sacredness of the British connection. To his children's children he has bequeathed his belief in all that belongs to so great a

Your Lordship will permit me,therefore,to say with what deep gratitude it was that I accepted the distinction which His Majesty was graciously pleased to confer; and how especially gratifying to me it is,that the submission of my name to His Majesty should have been made by yourself.

I am,your Lordship,with great respect.

Very faithfully yours,

W.L.Mackenzie King.

February 21, 1906.

Dear Mr. King:

Your very cordial letter of February 15th gave me much pleasure, because you spoke so strongly of the satisfaction with which you remember your years spent at Harvard University.

I should have been glad to read the Memoir which you were good enough to send me; but unfortunately it has been lost to me through the automatic working of a general rule which prevails in my office, to the effect that I do not receive foreign books on which a duty is charged, unless I have ordered them. I learned to-day that a book coming from Canada was rejected, because a duty was to be collected on it; and I fear that the book was yours. I regret my loss because I always find interesting the biography of such a man as your friend evidently was.

Hoping that you always find your public service congenial and fruitful, I am

Dear Dr.Eliot:

I was very much distressed,on returning from Chicago a day or two ago,and receiving your kind letter of the 2Ist ult.,to learn that the copy of my little book,which I sent you at the time of writing you on the I5th ult.,was rejected owing to the automatic working of a general rule prevailing in your office in regard to foreign books on which a duty is charged.

As the book was printed in New York by Revell & Co.,and I paid duty on its coming into Canada,I presumed that no duty would be charged on the copy sent you to the United States,or I would certainly have seen that it was prepaid before mailing the book. I have,however,ventured to write Mr.Revell,asking him to mail you a copy from New York,which I hope you will duly receive. Were it not that I was quite sure the character of my friend Harper was one which would appeal to you strongly,and had the assurance which your letter brings that the biography of such a man was interesting to you,I would hesitate to bring the little volume further to your notice.

With many thanks for your kind wishes in regard to my official duties, and with sincere regards,I am,

Very respectfully yours,

Dear Sir:-

I beg to acknowledge, with President Eliot's thanks, the receipt of your letter of March 6 referring to the copy of your book which you had recently sent him. The President is somewhat puzzled by your reference to the rejection of the book by his office, as he has not heard of the rule to which you refer. If you should do us the honor to consent to this, I can promise you a large and appreciative audience, which would be keenly alive to the advantage of any advice you could offer. Dear Mr King,

I want to thank you very much for your words of sympathy. Coming from one who knows what it is to suffer loss, they speak with a message that is not just pity.

Though my Father was an old man, he had never grown old in heart or in sympathy and in the midst of our sorrow, we cannot but rejoice how beautifully chivalrous and tender hearted.

If you are in Montreal any time and can spare time, I should be so glad to see you - but please let me know before so that I shall miss you if you come - I have written so many letters that I am very weary of pen and paper and feel their inadequacy to express what I want - but I am grateful for your words and cling to the truths they express.

that he was spared any decay of his powers but that, full of life, he marched straight into life. It was a swift and painless and beautiful passing.

I feel as though I had lived through a life time of experience since we had that talk about Your friend.

I had had no personal experience of loss and I listened wonderingly to think that one could be more than resigned in the face of such a sorrow — could even know as strange unearthly joy. Now I have found out what that means and truths which had been matters of faith sprang into new life and vivid personal experience. Still the deep sense of loss will assert itself and a hitherto unknown capacity for pain as the familiar things have to be met without the familiar and sympathetic presence — all of which is intensified by watching my brother trying to take up life again.

My Dear Mackenzie King

Thank you for your cheque for fifty ($50.00) dollars on a/c of the Lincoln portrait & mother. and thank you for the photos of my pictures, and thank you much again for the photo of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the unveiling of the Harper monument. I was busy at Sir Wilfrid's portrait when it came in. Mr. Acland and Mr Hammond of the "Globe" were both in the studio lending criticism, and they regarded the likeness as Excellent. We found it very helpful. I am feeling hopeful of the result. There were a lot of interesting faces in that Group with Mme Excellencies and staff; and yours own has that quiet, half jubilant smile, a well controlled air of triumph that is good to look at.

Respecting portrait of Sir Wilfrid I hope to see Mr. McNaught tonight and to get from him a letter asking for the portrait that is wanted for the National Club; as he promises to have that matter put through. I shall then write to Sir Wilfrid. I have been waiting for this letter.

Hon. R. J. Sutherland is to address the Empire Club tomorrow. I shall try and see to advancing the matter of the historic paintings if at all possible.

I am quite looking forward to "The Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier" I shall attach to this a cutting from the Montreal Star, of Saturday last, giving an account of the dinner to Sir Wilfrid. Although it did not appear in the Toronto papers, I think you will find it interesting reading, and I am sure you will be pleased to see the tributes which were paid him on that occasion. Sir Wilfrid himself was in splendid form, and made a most excellent speech. I was present myself, and can testify to the fact that it was received with great enthusiasm. I am sending a copy of this letter to Sir Wilfrid, at Quebec, as I think it will be a pleasure to him to have it.

Yours sincerely,

Hooray!!!

The National Club has passed a resolution requesting Sir Wilfrid Laurier to give sittings to J. W. L.

the Club; and has instructed ex-past President Wm. M. R. McNaught to place this request before the Premier but who has communicated through Mr. Mackenzie King his commission to me. ——. Further; a State Portrait may then begin to be con-=sidered. What do you think of a proposition to secure this State Portrait by a subscription for an Engraving of it — 200 subscribers at $10.00 each — ? The highest class engraving (full sheet 48 inches I think) plate, 200 artist proof prints, duty, delivery, postage and commissions, has been quoted to me at $1500.00. That would leave only $500. for the artist.

Does any other better plan suggest itself to you?

Re historic paintings. My last note to you said I expected to see Hon. Mr. Sutherland after his address to the Empire Club. He came in and when told of my letter requesting permission to place them to him, at Ottawa said, quite cordially, "I shall attend to that tomorrow."

I have not heard anything further from him, — I hope of course this has been simply owing to the Proportune Funeral Obsequies and consequent Cabinet Business.

It seems to me that if occasion offered and you happened to see Mr. Sutherland a word from you (if enquiry) would be esteemed just now. But I am sure he means to recommend the placing of those paintings. I feel, I think, a justifiable confidence in this.

I have improved some of the figures in both paintings since the photographs

My very dear Friend

Thank you for the "Secret of Heroism" which I received the other day from your hand; and for the salutation from your pen. I have just read it through.

You have touched a new mine in the world's store of good that is waiting for the miner; and you have uncovered enough of it to give the literary prospector a thrill such as gold-seekers get when they strike a lead. I doubt not but it will be followed and "worked" for the enrichment of the race that has domestically honoured both in the monument & Harper and in this message from his life.

The book seems to me, at first reading to be the necessary ex=pression of character forged not so much out of the white heat of strife in a furnace of National ferment, but rather of characters shaped by motives which are born of a young nation's aspirations and the clear call of a people's need. I am sure the liberal quotations from Harper's diary will find response in many hearts in which that impulses much akin to his own.

Yet I felt that this hero soul would have loomed larger by the recital of a few more facts of his life, like the one of his two hours' interview with the intoxicated youth and his effort to reinstate him within himself. That bit of Christ-like work caught me in the throat. You know also such facts buttress a man's philosophy, as a man's life either illuminates or beclouds his teaching.

These deeds impress a man's ideals with a hall-mark that leaders of thought never fail to examine; and are at the same time the best interpreters of his interest in the welfare of the great multitude of the nation's toilers.
Perhaps the introduction of a short Chapter of Facts of his Life might help the next Edition.
This is not a criticism for the reason that you explained this was not a Life of Harper. And moreover I had already from you, his David, learned the heart of this Jonathan, and did not need any further key to the life of the man.
And yet it does seem to me would not impede, but promote the work and ideals of the reverent and righteous Nation-builders with whom you are associated. But your constituency is not amongst the hand toilers only, but also amongst the brain toilers who employ them. When a life appeals to both these men and flashes light upon great truths - and the great truth - that they may see it together, it is potent with big benedictions for our future; and your masterful presentation of Harper's Life will bring an added blessing to the Peace-Maker.

As it is you have added another feather to your scalp-lock. You have placed the Country under another debt. You have honoured God in uncovering this light, which, if have kept under any measure would have been an Eternal crime. You have honoured yourself in thus honouring to whom honour was due. You have reinforced the links of affection with which you are held by the God men of the nation — and by none more sincerely than the one who can at least admire the virtues he would like to claim.

Thank you again for the honour done me and the inspiration given me by the book. I pray that your life, being governed by the highest - the divinest laws of God - may possess the Spirit that shall guide into all truth and keep you steadfast therein, that thereby you may institute and set in motion the forces that will reconcile all human interests, unify the creeds and ideals of men, make again of one brotherhood all races and nations and fulfil the most God like prayer ever offered — That they all may be one — in Him.

Both the Methodist Book-Room and the Tyrrell House are keeping your book, and each tells me it is going well. This was as far as I felt my modesty would go in the enquiries, but I felt no modesty in telling them of it's being reviewed in a remarkably fine way by the British Press, and notably by the London Times; also that the Literary Digest had and the United States' Press were giving a good deal of space to it. This was evidence of the exceptional merit

I begin to feel a slight reaction after the high pressure of the last few days. But I hope the effort has been in no wrong vain. Dear Mr. King

Ever since the tragic event that brought to such an abrupt close the beautiful earthly life of Mr. Harper, I have felt a sort of personal interest in him, & was so glad when I learned your intention to publish his Memoirs. I found the book had reached Wpg. & Yesterday obtained a copy. I have just laid it down after reading the Concluding words, & my impulse is to write & tell you how much I have enjoyed it, how fortunate it is that he had in you such a friend & like mind & lofty ideals, capable & willing to perpetuate the life story of one of Canada's most noble sons, one of whom she may justly be proud, one who rendered such true & lasting service to his country, in the short span allotted to him. What would he not have accomplished had he been spared through the years to come. But, through your intimate friendship & your ability to compile such a valuable book, "he being dead, yet speaketh". I trust it may have a very wide circulation, especially among the young men of our own land. I am forwarding to you Dr Fortin, who is battling with the exigencies of a strenuous life in Newfoundland, but the experience he is gaining will be invaluable to him. You may have met him while he lived in Ottawa. He purposes going abroad this summer for post grad. degrees - he has high ideals himself of life & its opportunities, & I feel sure that he will appreciate what you have done in giving to Canada the portrayal of such a beautiful character. I can quite imagine what a bless the loss of such a friend was to you.

I am so sorry we didn't see you during your last short visit to Ottawa. I tried twice to get you at the "Empire", but without success. The next time we hope to be more fortunate.

Mary returned from Ottawa in time to be with us at Easter, she certainly had a most enjoyable visit there.

I was delighted to receive the newspaper and read of the honour conferred upon you. Please accept my heartiest congratulations, as you most justly diserved them, and it must be an added pleasure for you to find that this is the universal opinion. This is a good step towards fulfilling the prophecies of your career that I have always made.

As you can see by my paper I am at Lake Delaware and am working hard at my law studies. Lord Coke was quite right when he said, "one must live like a hermit and work like a horse", in order to become a good lawyer. It is lovely here now, and if you happen to be in this part of the world this summer, I hope you will come to Lake Delaware, and I think I can promise you some very good fishing, as the waters have been lately restocked.

Last day I drove Alfred Vanderbilt public road coach "Venture", a couple of times a week to Belmont Park. It was great fun, as aside from the fun of driving, one was apt to get for one's box seat a varied and attractive collection of pretty women, as of course anybody who paid had a right to go on the coach. On the first of June the Coaching Club ended up the season by driving up here, spending Sunday, and driving back. It required nineteen teams and took two days each way, necessitating our spending a night on the 'Electric' both coming up and going down. The weather was perfect and we carried on three hundred miles with hardly a hitch. So my mind it is the most attractive way of seeing the country.

The warmest congratulations, believe me has just reached me. You know that I have always valued very highly your friendship and good opinion. What you said in your letter touched me very much, but I am afraid you are rating my ability on too high a scale. I am glad my bar exams are a thing of the past, as owing to my sickness it is five years since we commenced work at Lake Delaware, and I was tired of being a student.

At present I am riding to hounds five days a week, getting a run nearly every day, foxes being very plentiful, and altogether leading a most healthy life. As far as sport is concerned, I don't think anything can equal with a fast gallop after hounds, especially if you are on a real good one, who is going to your liking.

I hope we will now have better luck and that we shall meet very shortly, either, you being in down York or my coming to Ottawa. It was extremely nice of you to ask me up and I should love to come if I can get away.

With best wishes for your success in every way, believe me

Dear Rex:

I received this morning newspaper account of the recent honor which has been conferred upon you; I am perfectly delighted, but I must say I do not think it any more than you rightfully deserve after all the work you have done for your Government. I also hope that this will not add so much to your duties and responsibilities that you will be prevented from tearing yourself away and come down and stay a little while with Peter and myself. If you will come to New York, I will try and get away, and we might go up to Delaware County for a few days and have a little reunion.

If you get a chance to see any of your sporting friends, will you find out if there are any good thoroughbred horses (hunters, of course) for sale in your neighbour-hood, and if so, who owns them. I am after some horses up to 200 pounds to hunt myself, but they must be clean thoroughbreds or very nearly so.

Hoping to have the opportunity of congratulating you in person before very long, believe me,

When it came I thought at once of the days with Peter and yourself, and it gave me an added pleasure to feel that I could send you word of the announcement with the assurance that it would meet with the response which your letter has confirmed.

I must thank you too for your kindness in suggesting a little re-union, and saying that you would try to go up to Delaware county for a day or two if I could come down and see Peter and yourself. If we can arrange a time convenient to all, nothing would give

I was talking only the night before your letter came,with Joe Seagram of Waterloo,and had I but known that you were still on the lookout for horses and had thought of it,I would certainly have spoken to him. you do without being able to him in Spirit: as a biography it is beautiful You say it is the most unique idea of a man's life he has ever read. One knows your friend in reading it: I am glad you had such a friend - I will say what I believe - I am glad you have such a friend and that you love him as you do. I knew the moment you told me it, I was delighted with the name - "The Secret of Heroism" for I know Clarence never made an habitually selfish man the doer of a grand and noble deed. Christ-Himself was subject to His moments in Gethsemane before He came forth to the doer of miracles and the Saviour of men.

Your book deserves its title. I love and I know you so much better after reading it, for all through it we see another hero, always in Spirit with Him - always like him inspired by "the Manliest of lives". that hero is our dear friend, the

My dear Mr King,

Jan have done jan generation a service in setting forth the genius and character of Jans dear friend Henry Albert Harper. I thanks jan for the copy Jan gave me of the book the reading of which while carrying a pang fills me with satisfaction & a high pleasure. Indeed, I almost miss the pang - for there I realize what a stock & enduring loss is his untimely death - looking at his life in this book and knowing it as I have — the whole takes a historic & distant aspect, & I feel chiefly, & must say almost only, the completeness, the glory, the beauty & the pathos of it all closing as it has with a monument, a book, an example, — a beautiful & inspiring memory.

What a worthy, for the temple in his nature - along with what fine balance & the wisdom of the true statesman. He knew well the danger of the demagogue, not less than the danger of the helpful employer & men.

His talk about Newfoundland gave me pause & I let him see I easily understand it. I felt myself killing a distrust & the most modern, hooded crowd-terror I [illegible] felt with it. The shows of pain things are so mighty here, that the shows of virtue, the energies of God, are easily mis-construed. All is apparent & great - as is the force of God might among us - & some of those very men & wealth he fears are among the most devoted to the cause & their fellowmen, not merely by the power out of caring but of personal, active, disinterested work. If it were not so - if all were as cruel as it looks - the tender-hearted would go mad! But if we can see the frightful clamour of the money-seekers, we can see the still small voice. It is all bad enough, but there is God enough to keep us at work day & night with a heart of hope.

Things looked well to me in Canada - tho I dare say you can see troubles. It looks nice to see that you shared most your problems separately - mix on yourselves - & rise for us [illegible] from of your very self you had put in it than any essays on work, or abstract subjects. I am very grateful to you for sending it to me - It interests me so much because it is in full what you told me of at Laurier one afternoon, and the letters you quote, especially the last one to you, show your reason for your title and the broad and wonderful depth of the man — It must have been a hard book to write but still giving you great satisfaction. I am so glad for you too that the "Six Falcons" is in place and was received with such enthusiasm by all the city.

Your book has arrived this morning. I could not refrain, though behind with my work, from looking into it, and my brief glance makes me sure that the book is really well done, and will be well worth reading, and that it will have a worthy place in our Canadian literature. I think you have done a good deed for Canada in commemorating such a life, and the citizens of Ottawa did a good thing in signalizing such a death. No nation can afford to allow such men and such deeds to be forgotten. It is by such a life and such a death that our ideals are crystallized and our national life is enriched and ennobled.

I wish to thank you personally and very warmly for this work you have done, and to thank you for your kindness in sending me an author's copy.

With very kind regards,

Yours very truly,

SPEEDING ON TO THE ORIENT

Canadian Pacific "Over Seas Mail" Swiftly Traversing Continent.

TEN DAYS GAINED BY NEW ROUTE

Mails From London Will be Landed in Yokohama Within Thirty Days — C. P. R.'s Proud Achievement.

Chalk River, Ont., Sept. 1.—When the conductor at nine o'clock sharp yesterday morning at Quebec shouted "All aboard for Hong Kong and intervening points," he gave the cry of an historic epoch. Twenty years ago the first transcontinental train of the Canadian Pacific Railway made history for Canada. The train to-day "Over seas mail," which beats the record of two decades ago of two and one-quarter days, adds another page to the history of the Dominion.

The C. P. R.'s latest achievement in the direction of binding England and her over-sea possessions more closely together is the transportation of the China mail from Liverpool by one of the new Canadian Pacific steamships to Quebec, thence by a special train across Canada to Vancouver, and from there by another Canadian Pacific steamship to Hong Kong.

The total distance of 13,000 miles to be traversed in thirty days, ten days less than the time consumed by the Suez route. No other company in the world, steam or rail, or both combined, is capable of undertaking, still less of performing, such a feat by its own unassisted efforts. Nothing like it has ever been done before, simply because there has never, till now, been an organization of the resources and all embracing capabilities on land and sea of the Canadian Pacific.

The "Empress of Ireland" arrived at Quebec yesterday morning at 2.10 o'clock making a record trip across the Atlantic of six days, seven hours and fifty minutes, and on schedule time, the "Overseas mail" left at nine o'clock, reaching this point sharp on time at 8.15. There was no attempt at speeding the magnificent train, but merely an effort to make the time which would connect with the Pacific Empress of China, which would land the mails in Yokohama in twenty-two days and in Hong Kong in twenty-nine days from London, nearly a week less than has previously been done by any route. While there were a large number of passengers destined for the Orient, the great majority preferred lingering in Canada and so the initial train does not carry out so many people as was anticipated. When the Empress left Liverpool the main idea of landing the mails from Europe to the Orient in record time is being more than satisfactorily maintained. The Empress of Ireland brought over 1,437 passengers, a great majority of whom went to Western Canada by the "Empress special," which left Quebec within an hour of the "Overseas."

Dear Miss Greenshields:

Will you please excuse a typewritten letter in further reference to the matter of which I wrote you privately a day or two ago.

At a meeting of the Home Missionary Society of St.Andrew's Church no definite decision was come to as to how the sum of money (some $I200) raised at the annual fair,was to be distributed. Many claims were put in from different sources and amongst others a strong appeal was made for Grenfell's work. From what I learn,the Society is willing to give Grenfell something,but they would like whatever they give to go towards a definite object. It requires $I500 to endow a cot,and this is more than they can raise; $50 is required to maintain a cot for a year,and this is less than they ought to give. If something of a concrete nature,requiring about $500. could be fixed upon I believe that this sum might be secured.

From a letter which I received from Professor Wrong a day or two ago I believe I have discovered the very object. With Professor Wrong's letter he enclosed one from Dr.Grenfell,in which he spoke of the need of nurses,and asked what it would cost to send one of the Victorian Order of Nurses to the new Canadian hospital. I have made enquiries of the Victorian Order,which has its headquarters here,and find that $500. would about cover the salary and expenses. The salary is fixed at $30 a month; $360 would,therefore,pay the salary of the nurse. I imagine if $500 fell short of both salary and expenses the difference could be made up in some other way. Now,it happens that one of the nurses of the Victorian Order is a member of S.Andrew's Church,and also of the Home Missionary Society,which has this money at its disposal. The chief person to be influenced is Mrs. W.C.Bronson,who is at present the president of the Society,and my purpose in writing you now is to ask whether you as general secretary and treasurer,would be willing to write a strong appeal to Mrs.Bronson, mentioning,amongst other things,this particular need of a nurse,and saying,if you did not mind,that as the Victorian Order has its headquarters in Ottawa,it would seem particularly appropriate for the assistance given from any source in this city to be in this direction.

What is needed is a letter which could be read to the Society pointing out the difficulty Grenfell has had in establish a Canadian Hospital,that both Montreal and Toronto have contributed handsomely towards the cost of construction,and also in part,towards the maintenance of this hospital; that it is hoped some assistance might come from Ottawa as well,so that the three cities could be identified in the work. It might be well to mention that a nurse could send monthly reports to the Home Missionary Society of St.Andrew's Church as to the nature and progress of the work,so that the Church would be kept continually in touch with what was being done by the Mission through the assistance which it had given.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

I think it advisable that my name should not appear at all as having suggested this letter. It would be better that it should be written simply from yourself as general secretary for Canada to Mrs. Bronson as president of the Home Missionary Society,without,perhaps, disclosing the fact that you have a knowledge that the Society has this money on hand,and is looking about for a way to dispose of it. The next meeting of the Society will be held in a week or two,and the earlier,therefore,an appeal is made to Mrs.Bronson,the better. Her address is,Mrs.Walter C.Bronson,70 Bronson Ave.,Ottawa. I feel pretty sure that if you will send her this letter,and also such literature as you may have,showing the nature and need of Grenfell's work,the response which will come from this Society will be to your satisfaction. I am not sure,of course,but I believe that it will.

Let me say,in conclusion,that I have thought of every way in which it would be best to approach the Society to secure what has already been attempted,and I can think of none better than what I am suggesting. Having the pleasure of knowing you personally,and knowing how deeply you are interested in Grenfell's work,I feel quite sure you will pardon the liberty I have taken in writing and making these suggestions.

Yours sincerely,

My dear Dr. King,

Thanks you so much for your letter. I am indeed grateful to you for all your help, and have written to Mr. Brodeur thanking him for help about the Victorian Nurse and to any having heard from you alluding in any way to Money, besides suggesting, as you advise, that as Montreal Toronto are helping, and to help about the Hamilton Hospital, would not Ottawa also by sending the nurse. you are doing for the Russian, for I am sure as much interested in it as I am - but I cannot help doing so all the same. There is a meeting Committee here, and Dr. Grenfell wants them to raise another $2000 for Harrington Hospital upkeep, as it was [illegible] $5000 for that; there is a [illegible] deal to be done I am sure, in getting support from business men - Works a woman would only ignore, as I am old fashioned enough to think they only irritate busy people by collecting, when they are not wanted! I have $1900 to lend out for the General Fund, which may be $2000 by the end of the week - There is also an offer from Woodstock to give the 10 hospital beds at Matrimonial, if they are not already provided!

Dear Miss Greenshields:

You will be delighted to hear that the Board of Governors of the Victorian Order of Nurses have this afternoon voted a contribution of $I,000 from the Minto Hospital Fund toward Dr.Grenfell's hospital at Harrington. Learning that the Board were having a meeting to-day, and knowing that there was a chance of getting some contribution from the Minto Hospital Fund for this purpose, I sent in a request for a $I,000 contribution and saw some of the officers who have to do with the disposal of it. I have just received a telephone message from Miss Allen, the Superintendent of the Order, saying that a $I,000 has been voted on condition that the nurses to be employed at the Harrington hospital be members of the Victorian Order. This condition I know Grenfell will be delighted to have fulfilled, as there is a great deal to be said in favour of linking the work of the National Deep Sea Mission with the work of the Victorian Order.

The meeting of St.Andrew's Church Home Missionary Society comes off tomorrow, and we will know then if we are to get any grant from that source. I am afraid, however, from what I learn that Mrs. Bronson the president, is canvassing very closely in the interests of the Home Missionary Society, so that we may not get more than a

Dear Miss Greenshields:

I have been so busy during the past week that my good intentions to write as to the $200 voted by the Home Mission Society of St. Andrew's Church have been anticipated by your kind letter received this morning,and which I am glad to have. First of all,let me say that we have to thank you and Miss Redpath of Montreal,for the $200,and,of course,Mrs.Herridge,who was the one who was making a big fight for some contribution.

Between ourselves,Mrs.Bronson,who is the president of the Society,was very much opposed to giving anything to the Grenfell Mission, but,as far as I can learn,was the only person in the Society who was opposed. She tried to off-set the matter by bringing to Ottawa a missionary to speak on the need of mission work in the North West Territories,and at the meeting would probably have let a vote be taken for the work in the West only,had not Mrs.Herridge asked that your letter,and a similar letter which I asked Miss Redpath,of Montreal,to write,be read to the meeting. After they were read Mrs.Herridge moved that a contribution of $200 be voted,and the vote was carried unanimously. I had told her the night before what the Victorian Order had done,and of course the Home Mission Society was informed of the condition of their grant.

so as to point out the double value of any contribution that they might make. We will,of course,manage to raise in Ottawa the additional $300 required to send a nurse from this city. The $200 voted by St.Andrew's Church will help us to raise the additional $300. In fact,one or two persons have already been informed of the vote by the Victoria Order and St.Andrew's Church,with a view to having them supplement the amount so as to secure the sending of a nurse from this city. We can let another year take care of itself. If we once secure a nurse from Ottawa at Herrington,there will be something to permanently maintain the interest of the Ottawa people in Grenfell's work,and I think that even the Home Mission Society of St.Andrew's Church will probably be willing to contribute another year. However,all we need to care about at present is the fact that we have received from the Home Mission Society $200 and rejoice that it was gladly given by everyone,with the possible exception of the president. As I wrote you at the outset her position had to be courted on from the start,and I am glad that it was so successfully overcome.

Your letter in regard to the grant from the Minto Hospital fund brought me great pleasure. I wrote Grenfell immediately upon hearing of the grant. Now,I am again trying to get a further grant from the Government,and will stick at it as long as there is any hope of success.

Again with many thanks for your kind assistance in securing

My dear Miss Greenshields:

I wish to thank you very much for your kind letter of yesterday,received this morning. I am returning Mr.Wood's letters which were enclosed,but have retained the petition until I can have a copy of it made.

Enc--

I am glad to notice from Mr.Wood's letters that a finance committee has been appointed in St.John's to look after the work in Newfoundland,Labrador and Canada,this committee keeping in touch with the head committee in England. Now,if another committee could be formed say in Toronto or Montreal,to look after the Harrington hospital in particular,it being the only part of the Mission work in Canada proper,and this committee report to the St.John's committee, I think the business side of Grenfell's work would be in better shape. However,having a central committee at St.John's is of itself a great step in advance,and I think that this St.John's committee, through its paid secretary,Mr.Peters,might receive funds from Toronto,Montreal,Ottawa and other points,giving to each of these places in return a statement of the amount received from all taken together. The paid secretary could then be in a position to inform all persons who were interested in the Canadian work just what further amounts were required,and for what particular objects they were required.

I have not yet had a chance of seeing Mrs.Daly,nor of writing to Montreal to Miss Redpath.but I expect to do both to-day or to-morrow,and as soon as I have heard from them I will write you again.

I need not tell you what a great pleasure it was seeing you in Toronto,nor how much I enjoyed the short talk we had together.

at once, as I feel sure the English Committee, as well as Dr. Grenfell would never consent to have any but a Protestant Nurse, and I think this should be clearly defined in any arrangement Ottawa may enter into in agreeing to take a Nurse from that order, for the Mission.

When we engaged a Nurse for the Mission before, Dr. Grenfell said one of the essentials was - that she should be a decided Christian.

Dear Miss Greenshields:

I should have acknowledged ere this your letter of a few days ago,but delayed replying,among other reasons until I had an opportunity of talking with Mrs.Chaplin,of Montreal,who,Miss Redpath had written me,was likely to be in Ottawa at the end of last week. I had the pleasure of seeing her on Saturday and had a very pleasant talk about Grenfell's work. She agrees with me absolutely,as does also Miss Redpath,in reply to a letter which I sent to her,that there is great need for some centralizing of the work in connection with the Herrington hospital. Mrs.Chaplin spoke in a way that made me think that the Montreal Committee,and in particular,Miss Redpath,would like to be the central organization for the Herrington hospital,seeing that they were the first ones to interest themselves in this particular hospital. I told her,from the talk I had with you,I judged that,as long as there was some person who was prepared to accept the full responsibility of keeping all the local committees informed of what was being done,I believed it was a matter of indifference to yourself who that person might be,or in what city the committee existed,that

Volume 5

CANADA

all that was most desired was a perfect understanding,so that each branch could look after its own duties and undertakings,and at the same time not be conflicting with or duplicating work done in other localities. Mrs.Chaplin,for example,knew nothing about what the Toronto committee,with which Mr.Strachan Johnston and Professor Wrong are connected,had undertaken to do,and she told me,also,that the readers of the Montreal witness had raised about $2,000 for a launch for the Herrington hospital,which,perhaps you had not heard of. She also told me that in Montreal they had raised this year $8,000 for running expenses of the hospital and an endowment fund of $150.

As to the nurse Mrs.Chaplin told me that the Montreal committee had been seeking to make an arrangement,at Dr.Grenfell's request,for a Victorian Order nurse,and had,in fact,already commenced negotiations with a view to securing a young lady who was a medical missionary in either China or Japan,and who is now a member of the Victorian Order. She appears to be just the person desired. I do not think there need be any anxiety in regard to the person likely to be chosen from the Victorian Order. If this particular nurse is secured Mrs.Daly will turn over the money which she has collected for the purpose of paying her expenses for the year.

Do you not think it would be a good thing if Miss Redpath or someone in the committee there would take in hand this centralization and worganization work? In her letter Miss Redpath says: "There certainly must be some central committee for the Herrington hospital.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

to which the others can refer. I think Dr.Grenfell intneded this committee to be the Montreal committee because he said that New York was interested in Battle Harbour,England in Indian Harbour,Toronto in St.Anthony's and that he looked to Montreal for support in Herrington. Also,Miss Greenshields referred the Woodstock people who are doing much to furnish the hospital,to us,and I am corresponding with them."

In speaki ng to Mrs.Chaplin I did not commit you in any way, but I must say that,personally,I was very pleased to hear her volunteer the work on behalf of the Montreal Committee,as I understood from you that you would not like to undertake this part,and I do not [redacted] of anyone else,either in Toronto or Ottawa who would possibly be able to do the work to the satisfaction of the people at the various points.

When next in Toronto I will call and see you,and we will have another talk on this matter. In the meantime,with kindest regards,I am,

I am naturally delighted to think that the College men of '95 take an interest in my career. You may be sure I shall never do or say anything that will be other than creditable to our class, to our College, and to our Canada.

You certainly have got along in the Dominion, and I sincerely hope you will have the health and strength to attain one of the highest positions in the country.

Sincerely yours,

By dear Greenwood:

I have not written to thank you for your kind letter of the 4th ult.,which came duly to hand,for the reason that since returning to Canada I have not had a moment to take up in private correspondence. As soon as I arrived in Ottawa,I was obliged to go immediately to the Canadian West to intervene in the settlement of a coal strike at Lethbridge,and having returned only a few days ago and been engaged on a report for the Government since,this is the first opportunity I have had of even looking over letters which have been received.

I feel that I must repeat again my thanks for your kindness to me while in England. I need hardly say that I deeply appreciate the kind words of your letter,and the assurance of your friendship which it gives me. I have always hoped that we might come to know each other better,and I feel that the short time we had together in England has given us what a wide gulf of years has made impossible. All that you express of wishes for myself I assure you I reciprocate for you. You will admit I could not wish you more.

The Government here were greatly pleased at the results of my trip to England. The letters which were secured through Mr. Chruchill's kind intervention,have been especially appreciated,and were exactly what was both wanted and needed. The Canadian press generally has commented most favourably on the action of the British Government in meeting the wishes of our Parliament so promptly.

If you happen to know,among the clerks in any of the Departments,some one who could send me any references to the legislation, a copy,for example,of the bill,the speeches or references to the particular clause made in either the Commons or the Lords,or anything else which would be interesting as a matter of record in this Department,I would be very grateful if you would have such person forward this information. The Department will be pleased to defray the cost of any publications which may be forwarded,and allow a reasonable amount for his trouble in payment of services. When I was in London I asked Mr.Johnston of the Colonial Office if he could arrange this for me,but he informed me just before I was leaving that he would not be able to do so. I intended writing you at once about it,but as I say,have not had an opportunity of so doing since leaving England. You understand,I think,what is wanted. The measure was the Merchants' Shipping Bill,and the amendment was the clause making it an offence punishable by fine to induce or attempt to induce,through false representations,fraud or false pretences, anyone to emigrate from England. I want to have the references,first.

that I may have a proper record in the Department, and secondly that I may give a full notice of the matter in the Labour Gazette.

Enc-- I enclose a copy of my report on the coal strike. You will observe that the last paragraph or two contains a recommendation to the Government for new legislation. I am at present engaged in drafting a measure along the lines of this recommendation, which the Government will introduce this session.

With kind regards and best wishes for the approaching season, believe me,

Sincerely yours,

My dear Greenwood:

I wish to thank you very sincerely for the extremely kind and generous editorial which appeared in the Saturday World of last week,and which,I understand,is from your pen. It only came to my notice a day or two ago,or I would have written to thank you before this. I value very much this mark of your friendship,and assure you that for it I will always be grateful.

I have often thought of what an interest little sketch might be made of the class of '95,in view of the way in which we were,in the year of our graduation,all blacklisted by the University authorities. Your own brother has won the greatest distinction of all,but he has a good following,with Norman Duncan,author,Charley Cross,Attorney General of Alberta,Donald Bruce Macdonald,LL.D. and a member of the Board of Governors of the University,as well as head of St.Andrew's College; Sharpe,as you have pointed out,candidate for the Commons; Witcher,erstwhile distinguished missionary in Japan and now professor at some university in California; W.Macdonald, lecturer at the University of Chicago; Lovell Murray, a distinguished missionary in India,besides a number of other men prominent in the legal,medical and teaching professions. Then,of course,there is poor Bert Harper (who,by the way,you put as belonging to '96,but who was '96) who has a monument to his memory in the capital of the Dominion,and Jim Tucker,who has left his own monument in a volume of poems which were published subsequent to his death. There are other men to whom I regret I am unable at this minute to recall. Our class has offered to found a scholarship at the University,to be awarded each year for the best essay on "Citizenship" or something of that kind,on condition of the University Senate giving Tucker a post obit degree,so that his name may be kept with the list of graduates of our class.

Do you not think that sometimes an article might be properly written,with a view to showing that the wishes of a class which has in its number men who have made their mark to the extent that the members of this class have,are entitled to some respect? Up to the present time the Senate has not seen its way to meet this request,and the class,of course,have not,as yet,founded the scholarship. We made the first step towards the amende propre in offering the scholarship,and the least the univereity authorities could do would be to accept the offer in the spirit in which it was made,and not to continue the persecution of one who is long since dead,and who was made to share whatever of criticism or penalty should have come,either rightly or wrongly,to the class as a whole. If you ever think of writing an article on this subject,Ed.Cillis of Toronto can supply you with full details as to the offer the class has made and the reception it has thus far received.

My dear King:

I thank you for your kind words regarding a certain World editorial. I must say that I feel many of the things that I wrote in that article. I have followed your career from my under graduate days until the present, and am proud to feel that you number me among your friends.

I have written an editorial along the line that you suggest in your letter regarding Jim Tucker. I will look up Ed. My dear Grenfell:

I have intended each day for weeks past to write and thank you for your kind letter,which I received during December,and which brought the splendid news of the successful results of your efforts to establish a hospital on the Canadian Labrador. It came into my hands too late to reply to you at St.John's as per directions on the postscript,and as I had one or two schemes on hand in regard to the hospital,which I hoped might result successfully,I deferred writing until I could tell you of them. As another couple of weeks may elapse before they come to aught,I have thought it best not to delay longer.

In the first place,please accept my best congratulations upon your success,which is really a great triumph. I am delighted to know that you have found the means to go ahead. Now for business!

I have not lost an opportunity of speaking to practically all of the Ministers about the late Mr.Préfontaine having failed to give you any assistance. One night at Government House I was talking with Mr.R.L.Borden,the Leader of the Opposition,and with Earl Grey,about your work,and Mr.Borden,during the course of our talk very kindly said that as Leader of the Opposition,if he could assist at all in obtaining a grant for you,he would do so. He was prepared to speak publicly from his seat in Parliament in regard to the matter,but offered to do, also,what may prove more effective,namely,to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself privately,and say to him that the Opposition would support his Government in any contribution it might make toward your work. He asked me to let him have particulars as to your work,and also as to Wakeham's report,etc.,all of which I have done,and he has taken the matter in hand.

You will,of course,have read of the death of Mr.Préfontaine. This means the appointment of a new Minister of Marine and Fisheries. As soon as the new Minister is appointed I will see him at once,and will try to bring other things to bear on him,to put something in this year's estimates. I had quite a long talk with the Honourable Charles Fitzpatrick,the Minister of Justice,who represents a Quebec constituency,and hetold me that he would do what he could in Council towards getting you some help. He is one of the Ministers whom we did not see, as I think he was absent at the time,but he is an important man,being a Minister from Quebec,and also a Roman Catholic.

Professor Wrong has sent me your letter to him,in which you speak,amongst other things,of the admission of timber for the new hospital,free of duty. The Honourable Mr.Patterson,Minister of Customs. and the Assistant Commissioner are at present absent from Ottawa in connection with the Tariff Commission,and will not likely return until the end of this month or the beginning of next. I have written Mr. Patterson a strong letter,which will either be forwarded to him or placed before him immediately on his return. I will also see him myself as soon as he comes back,and think that he will be willing to have an Order-in-Council passed admitting the timber free. I would suggest, however,that on receipt of this letter you write him personally yourself. The Ministers,I know,appreciate communications coming direct to themselves from the parties most interested. He would then bring the matter up in Council,reading your letter to his colleagues,and this,I think,would quite assure the end you have in view. It enables the Department to have the kind of official record which they desire to have in regard to matters in which it is necessary to pass an Order in Council,seeing that they constitute an exception to the general act. From the point of view of sympathy with your work,and desire to assist it,I feel sure you could have no better friend than Mr.Patterson,whose own favorite son is in missionary and church work.

Mrs.Herridge is trying hard to get you a grant towards your work from the Home Missionary Society of St.Andrew's Church. The Society raised some funds at a church fair during December,and have a few hundred dollars to distribute,only there are a thousand and one claims for the whole or part of the amount. Among these is the one from Mrs.Herridge for $500 for your work. The matter has been discussed at one meeting,and the discussion went to show that the ladies who had to do with the funds would be more likely to contribute if the sum they were to donate could be given to some object with which the Society's name could be identified. Fifteen hundred dollars ($1500) being required to endow a cot is more than they can afford,and $50. the amount required for the maintenance of a cot for a year,is less than they ought to be asked to give.

On seeing the enquiry in your letter to Professor Wrong as to the cost of sending one of the Victorian Order of Nurses to the new hospital,and the need of such a nurse,I have begun seeing as many people as I can,with a view to having the Home Missionary Society of St.Andrew's Church agree to undertake to send you this nurse. I think $500. would pay her salary and at least part of her expenses. At any rate,by asking this amount for this purpose I think it is more likely to be secured than in any other way. There happens to be an excellent nurse, a member of the Victorian Order,who is also a member of theHome Missionary Society,and in the course of two or three weeks I hope it may be possible for me to write and tell you that the Society have agreed to pay her expenses for the Canadian Hospital,should you

Volume 5

be willing to accept this particular contribution. If they do this it will do good in every way,as she could write monthly letters to the Society in regard to the work of the hospital,and keep the church interested in this work. I have written to Miss Redpath of Montreal,and Miss Greenshields,Toronto,asking each of them to send strong letters to Mrs.Bronson,the president of the Home Missionary Society,which may assist towards this end. Mrs.Herridge has seen every individual member,and it seems to me that if the president of the Society can be won over (she,and a certain following,being much interested in some other work) this contribution may be regarded as secure.

To return to the Government grant,the fact that you have been able to raise the money for the hospital,and expect to be able to maintain it out of private contributions,should not,to my mind,cause us to stop in our endeavour to secure something from the Government. I. at least,am going to keep at that particular object until it is accomplished. Two thousand dollars($2,000) contributed by the Government could be turned to good advantage in connection with the Canadian hospital in addition to anything you may get from private sources. If it does nothing other than enable you to do the work on a larger scale, and gives what prestige there may be in Government recognition,it is worth fighting for.

I was going to suggest to you that in connection with any literature published for the purpose of enabling parties who wish to contribute toward the Mission,to know the needs,methods,etc.,that it might be a good thing to,if possible,arrange a scale,running from $5 to $1500 or over,naming amounts which could go towards specific purposes,for example, $50. maintains a cot for a year; $1000 the launch for a year, $1500 endows a cot for a year. There is nothing,however, that I can see,named between $50 and $1000. There should be something fixed for $250,something for $500 and something for $800,say. Human nature is such that it sometimes likes to identify itself with particular objects,and I think,perhaps,this feature is worth watching. I think,too,it would be well to have a sort of standing advertisement on this head in all publications relating to the work of the Mission.

My little volume on Harper is being published by Revell of New York,and I expect to receive copies some day this week. I will send you one just as soon as they come to hand,and hope,amid your many duties,you will find time to look into its pages,and to let me know whether or not you think I am right in the main thesis of the book.

Please do not regard my delays in writing as any mark of indifference or neglect. I have the highest regard for yourself and the work you are doing,more than for any man I know,or have ever met. I look back upon the few hours we have had together as among the most inspiring and best in my life,and as for your own friendship,I prize

Will you,if you can,arrange to have one of your men, or someone,send me as full particulars as possible in regard to your co-operative work,dealing with the mill,the schooners,the stores,etc. etc.,going as much as possible into detail as to the beginnings,the success,the progress,etc.,of each undertaking,and the effects of prices in the way of profits to the men,improvement of character,numbers,etc. Whatever you send I will publish in the Labour Gazette,and will distribute such numbers of copies of the Gazette,where you think they may be of service,as you may desire.

My dear Grenfell:

I enclose a letter received to-day from the Assistant Commissioner of Customs in reply to the letter I sent to the Minister of Customs on the 15th inst. re the admission of lumber for the Herrington hospital. You will notice that Mr. Bain, the Assistant Commissioner, suggests your writing his Department at once particulars of the quantities and nature of the lumber in question, together with the value thereof. He also directs your attention especially to Item No. CII of the Customs Act. From reading this item it seems to me that the timber which you will be sending in will, as Mr. Bain suggests, probably be on the free list. It will be just as well for you, however, to write the Customs Department, and if you find it is on the free list, so much the better.

I am enclosing both letter and copy of Customs tariff, and with best wishes, am always,

I shall place your communication before Mr. Paterson at the earliest opportune moment. Meanwhile, I would suggest that you write Dr. Grenfell asking him to give you, for our information, particulars as to the quantity and nature of the Lumber in question, together with the value thereof.

It may be that the Lumber is entitled to free admission under the Tariff. I enclose a copy of the Tariff Act, and would ask you to direct the attention of Dr. Grenfell to Item No 611, which I have marked.

Dear Grenfell:

When making enquiries concerning the Victorian Order of Nurses a week or so ago I learned that there was a fund known as the Minto Hospital Fund in connection with the Order, and that grants had been made from this fund to assist in the erection of hospitals in outlying districts. Originally, it was intended that the funds should be used for what is known as the Minto cottage hospitals solely, but I understand that recently, where it has not been possible to erect Minto cottage hospitals, part of the fund has been used towards assisting other societies in connection with the construction of hospitals. I, accordingly, thought I would try a shot off my own bat at the fund on your behalf, and learning that there was a meeting of the Board of Governors this afternoon I sent a letter this morning to the Board requesting a grant of $1,000 towards the Herrington hospital, and saw the treasurer of the fund and communicated with one or two other members of the Board, getting in a word on your behalf.

I enclose herewith a copy of a letter which was sent. I have just received a telephone message from Miss Allen, the Chief Lady Superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, telling me that at the meeting of the Board they had granted the request, and will give you $1,000 from the fund,on condition that the nurses employed at the Harrington hospital be Victorian Order nurses. This is a condition.I am sure,which you will be glad to have fulfilled,as your letter to Mr.Wrong would show that you had a desire,if possible, to having nurses of the Victorian Order connected with the hospital. There is much to commend in connection between your work and the work of the Victorian Order. I think I will be able to get you one of the nurses from here,so that this condition we will probably meet in Ottawa,though I cannot promise definitely. As soon as I receive a letter from the Secretary of the Board I will forward you a copy. In the meantime I am rushing this letter,so that you may get this bit of information as soon as possible.

Dear Miss Allen:

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, Superintendent of the National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen, has decided to erect a hospital at Harrington on the Canadian Labrador, and has written, asking me if I would kindly assist him in raising the money which it will be necessary to have to build the hospital and maintain it, by placing before the proper persons a petition on his behalf. I desire, therefore, on behalf of Dr. Grenfell to make application for a grant in aid of this hospital from the Lady Minto Hospital Fund, and would be most grateful if you would kindly have this application placed before the Board of Governors, or such committee of trustees as may have control of the fund.

The work which Dr. Grenfell is doing is likely to be so well known to anyone in any way connected with the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, that it is unnecessary for me to give an account of that work. I might, however, say a word or two as to the hospital which he proposes to erect at Harrington. The Mission has at present, three hospitals, two of which are on the Labrador and one on the Newfoundland coast, as well as a hospital ship, the "Strathcona". Each

Volume 5

CANADA

hospital has a resident doctor and trained nurse. Two of them are open all the year round, and more than a thousand cases were treated during the past year. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, who knows the conditions on the coast and the need of medical assistance to the people, has shown his approval of the work by giving the first hospital ship and by subscribing $1,000 a year to the work of the Mission. Harrington is a distance of 200 miles from the nearest hospital. It is in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, between the Strait of Belle Isle and Anticosti Island. With the exception of an occasional visit of the Commander of the Canadian fishery boat in summer there is no doctor for the people on this Canadian coast for over 400 miles. If a hospital is erected at Harrington it will be the duty of those connected with it, to care for the sick of this entire district. Each hospital is supplied with a launch, so that the doctor is able to visit any part of the coast, bringing the sick to the hospital, if desired. The district being a wholly unorganized one, and the population sparse, it is to be expected that no physician would undertake work in this district by way of private practice. If sufficient aid can be obtained the building will be immediately erected at a cost of $5,000, equipped and supplied with a resident physician and nurses, and the hospital kept open summer and winter.

There is a considerable population in the vicinity of Harrington, and along the entire coast line, the most of

Volume 5

CANADA

the people being engaged in the whaling industry. It is estimated that the hospital to be erected will cost $5,000, and it is desired to have in addition to the resident doctor, two trained nurses. The deep sea fishermen on the Labrador and Newfoundland coast are assisting in the building of the hospital by getting out timber, having wood sawn, shipped,etc. and the men in the vicinity of Harrington have promised to give each a number of days labour free towards the erection of the building. It is estimated that an annual income of from $3,000 to $5,000 will be raised toward the support of the hospital, once it is erected. The hospital scheme appeals to all classes of the community, as Dr. Grenfell has been petitioned by the people of the district time and again to erect such an institution. There being no resident physicians in the district an expression of opinion from any such cannot be given. A free site has been granted and a good title can be obtained. In the event of a grant being given from the Lady Minto Hosiptal Fund, Dr. Grenfell, and those connected with the Deep Sea Mission, are willing to assume the responsibility of going on with the undertaking.

Her Gracious Majesty Queen Alexandra, the patroness of the Victorian Order of Nurses, is also the patroness of the National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen. This, as well as other reasons, would make an association between the work of the Deep Sea Fishermen and the work of the Victorian Order of

of Nurses, most appropriate. The undertaking is eminently British, and the purposes of the hospital at Harrington are identical with the purposes of the hospitals in the Canadian West.

I shall be pleased to give any additional information which may be required, if requested. In the meantime, on Dr. Grenfell's behalf, may I petition for a grant of $1,000 from the Lady Minto Hospital Fund towards the proposed hospital at Harrington.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Grenfell:

Just a line to say that the Home Missionary Society of St.Andrew's Church voted $200 at their meeting yesterday, as a contribution towards paying the expenses of a Victorian Order nurse to the Canadian hospital at Harrington. The Mission is indebted entirely to Mrs.Herridge for getting this grant, as the president of the Society was most anxious to have the money which they had, go to Home Mission work in the North West Territories in connection with the Presbyterian Church there. Mrs.Herridge, however, saw practically every member of the Association, and at the meeting they took up the claims of your work and maintained that it would be impossible for St.Andrews Church to make a better contribution than by giving something to assist in yourCanadian Hospital.

Ihope we may be able to raise enough to make good the amount required in addition to the $200 voted by the Missionary Society to send a nurse for the first year. I will keep you informed as to progress.

I am sending you under separate cover my little volume on "The Secret of Heroism", which has just come out. I hope you may

My dear Grenfell. I arrived here this morning having got in to Old Fort Bay last evening. Not many sick about this end, but I will try and work along to Forteau if possible. Dr. Mumford came as far east as Blanc Sablane and expected to meet me there. Had he mised me I would have tried to meet him, but I had to go West as far as Musquaro to see Mrs Forman, as I wrote you. I mind you a couple of weeks ago, asking for leave to go home in April from Esquimaux Point - to Gaspé coming back by first trader the third week in May. My reason for this change is this. I cannot travel for the month from April 15th to about May 20th either by boat or cometick. Now if I can use that month of enforced idleness it will be better I think, than leaving the Coast in August when the Rooms have their full crews working and the harbours are full of fishermen. Then the Engineer that you said you would get for the Launch this summer will be drawing wages during the time I am home, which will be money thrown away. How does it look to you. Of course it will be settled one way or another long before you get this, but I hope to get a line from you long before it is time to leave for the Point. I have seen Dan Chevalier, and it seems to me that he wants or rather needs is to come to Hospital for awhile. He has been practically well ever since Xmas, but gets an attack of Haematuria after doing any hard work or "forcing" do he calls it. Possibly could I see him and irrigate with an astringent it would help him. He wants me to leave him everything and do it himself, but I am almost frightened to do that. At the same time if he got an attack of Cystitis that attacked that villous patch or polyp or whatever it is, it might cure him after curing the cystitis. I have asked you for some Wintropium which I think will do the trick

I need some for Osborne at Goose Bay. I gave him all I had and it has helped him a lot. He had Cystitis for years following Typhoid. His wife has a Vesico Vaginal fistula and Cystitis as well. Suffers a good deal of pain and discomfort. She has been operated upon in Quebec but it was not a success.
I hope to be better fitted for teams next winter. Nobody has actually refused with the exception of the people at Old Past-they have six teams there but I could not get them to bring me as far as St augustine. The people are busy about their wood, and to lose a couple of days means something to them. Burgess, the man in charge of the Post at St augustine has dislocated the left internal semilunar Cartilage. I have tried all the means at my disposal to get it back but without success. He has done it several times before but always put it back himself. He should have it taken out entire, it is only a foreign body now. I dont want to tackle it alone especially as he is a chronic alcoholic.
What Kind of a winter have you put in, busy of course and I hope successful in every sense of the word. I have been busy, but I dont know how successful. I have been able to save several lives humanly speaking that means something to their families.
The Canrin will be upset in a few days on his way West. There will be one more mail, but I dear go home in April I will not be on the Coast when it-leaves, so this may be the last letter I will have the pleasure of sending you, this season.
Your Card about the doors + windows dated Dec 30/05 came to hand the last mail.
Now old Chap. May God Prosper and Bless you in your work

Yours Sincerly

My dear Grenfell

A day or two ago I returned from my trip east. I was gone from here almost a month and succeeded in getting as far as the light East side of Forteau Bay. Of course I understand that my district ends at Blanc Sablon but I wanted to see my old friends the Davis boys at L'Anse au Morts and spent a very pleasant evening there. The three brothers, wives and the old mother have lately been converted and they are all very happy. I saw a lot of people who were ailing from one thing or another, and was pleased to find those who I had seen earlier in the winter were, with one or two exceptions feeling decidedly improved. In a day or two I hope to leave for Natashquan again and trust that I may get back before the travelling by cometick is over. I consider it important that I get in as many miles as possible this winter and make as good a showing as possible in work done in case it should get into the hands of some of the people at Ottawa. I have tried to keep you posted so far as possible as to what is going on down here amongst us "Shut ins" and will post this when I get to Natashquan so that it may go by the steamer when it gets down. We will not get any mail here in the regular way until the first trip by boat about June 1st to 10th. It certainly is a rotten service. Another trip by boat in the autumn and at least one more trip in the spring could be managed without any difficulty. The truth is this County is too large it should be divided at Esquimaux Point and give us a member for this end, then we would let them know we are alive.

Your card written Dec 05 reached me Mar 8th 06 I was glad to hear from you. Of course I did not order anything in the way of building materials. The plans have not come from London yet, so I don't know what it to be done. The men here have gotten out sticks for sills, which will be squared six inches which will probably be large enough.

I am afraid I will not get my wife and family down till May but Mr. Thompson says they can come in June. Now if I can go home in one of the vessels when they return for their June trip I can bring them down and will only have to be off the coast about sixteen days to three weeks. If I can go, I wish you would drive me to that effect. Of course I don't want to be away when you come, but I would like to know definitely as soon as you know your probable date here. After May 1st my family will all be living at a hotel and I wish to stop that expense as promptly as I can. I did think of going home via Quebec and coming down in the first vessel, but Thompson says that is impossible so I need not have cabled you for leave. It will be better if I can go about the first of June and get back here in a little more than a fortnight but I don't want to miss you.

I have managed to get up the two cases of drugs at St Pauls River, and one of the fams landed at Blanc Sablon there are still three Cases there, which I trust you will be able to bring with you.

Can you manage to see Will Keats at Salmon Bay and fit him for a truss. He needs one and I have none. Jean Dave Chevalier and left him a catheter and taught him how to pass it and disinfect it. He is all right until he begins to strain then the bleeding starts and the clot will not pass which causes the pain. So long as he takes things easy he has no trouble at all. I am sorry to say I had a lot of trouble down East in one or two places in getting men to set me a stage along the coast. I do hope that we will have a Hospital team next winter then I will be able to make the trips in shorter time and not be refused. Can you not bring me a couple of good dogs from the North to breed from. The dogs along this shore are run out and are next to no good. There are only about three good teams on the Coast this winter. Many people have to Kill their dogs for the want of food, the fall fishery was a failure and they depend on that for their dogs grub.
Bring a small sized Matthieu's Tonsillatome with you mine is rather large for children. What about the stipendiary, have you taken any steps towards it.
I trust something will be done towards breaking up the distillers business in St Augustine. Francis Gaumond a Quebec trader brought down the worm etc so I am told. This is probably the last time I will be able to send you a line and for that reason am sending my report of work done up to date, thinking you might want it if you go through Canada at all. Hoping to hear from you about my going home in June. (I might be home & back by June 15th the "Alice Ethel" is usually back before that time) and hoping to see you ere long I am Yours Sincerely

My dear Grenfell

I reached this delightful place this morning, and as I hear the "King Edward is on the way down from Quebec, and will take the mail, I hasten to add a line to mine of the 10th inst. I have just had a wire from home to say that Capt Marvin will not bring my family down on the "Pleroma" so that is barred. Can I make the round trip on the "Minnie D." or "Alice E.G." and bring them down in June, there seems to be no other way that will get me down here again so promptly. My Report, hereunto enclosed will speak for itself. I have not seen half the sick people here yet, and I have three hundred and eight cases on my book, so you may say that 320 cases will be a conservative estimate. ~~of the~~ This does not cover the work done, as some of them needed daily attention for weeks as in the case of Rheumatism.

Now about the conditions on the Coast. You know what a farce our mail service is, compared with what it easily might be. For instance. Another trip could have been made by boat last autumn, another trip could easily have been made by Cornetick this spring. An extra Cornetick could be hired to accommodate the mail which always accumulates, between the times of the departure of the last boat mail, and the first- conntich mail. For sennal years Fred Jones the Carrier going East- from Natashquan, paid out of his own packet from four to seven dollars to have the extra mail taken as far as Romaine. This year he refused to do it and the mail that he cared not carry was left- there until the next trip. Joe Hebert, is the Contractor and shamed he compelled to move the mail. I have been told this afternoon that twelve sacks of mail are at Bersimis to be forwarded. This cared easily have been forwarded as it came if they had a couple of Carriers extra. People along the Coast- will not get these papers etc until the boat trip which will arrive at Harrington somewhere between June first- and tenth. There is no use in paying for papers when they are three to six months old when you get them. I should think that the publishers of a paper like the "Family Herald" cared so represent it to the members, that we waned get a mail service more in accordance with our needs, and the proud position that Canada is beginning to occupy. We are not out of the world down here, and the sooner the present members of this Caunty gets to Know it the better. Another crying need on this coast is for some adequate protection for the nesting sea fowl. This is of more importance than many people will be inclined to give it. These sea birds supply the only fresh meat that these coast people get, they take the eggs, some, not all in the case of ducks, but when June comes in and the birds want to sit they do not disturb them any more. The birds lay and set in peace so far as the Coast people are concerned. Then about the time the eggs are spoiled for using, the fishermen, principally from Newfoundland. (Very few vessels come from Nova Scotia now, begin to come and proceed to rob the nests and shoot the old birds. I have myself seen, (when on the coast before) fifteen barrels of eggs taken and not one barrel of good ones in the whole lot, these were broken and thrown overboard. Some of them would have hatched out in a few days, all of them in the course of two or three weeks. Men have been seen to catch the old duck wring her neck and rob the nest: The eggs were not fit for food nor the duck either. Cannot the birds be protected, or a law made and properly published forbidding the taking of eggs after June 1st in a few years these poor people would have something like a return to the former conditions when they could get enough birds to give them a much needed change of diet: If the present wholesale destruction of bird life be persisted in it will not be many years before the ducks, Auks, and murres are destroyed or banished and the people suffer because of the wantonness of outsiders Will not the members do something about this? The wanton destruction of herring, I understand has been represented to the Depart of Marine + Fisheries. Many hundreds of barrels are left to rot on the spawning ground every season, which will drive all the fish away. The present extent of ground on which the herring spawn is only nine miles in length instead of many times that as it used to be. I hope the Depart will take prompt measures to save what is left from total destruction.

I think I have written you more than you will have time to read, but what touches these people touches me also and that must be my excuse. Should you go to Ottawa dont fail to see Mr. J.B.A. Boudreau Depart Marine + Fisheries. He is + Queen interested in the Hospital scheme and to a certain extent in the Coast through me. He will I have no doubt be glad to see you

Now old chap God Bless and prosper you will be very glad to see you when you come, only do come before I have a chance to go home for my wife and family

Report of Work done Uriuln 1906
North Shore of Gulf of St Lawrence
H. Mather Hare

In accordance with instructions received by wire on Sept 18th 1905. I made my preparations to leave Halifax by the last schooner which was to leave on the morning of Sept 20th. As it turned out we did not leave until the 21st on account of bad weather. Sunday evening at 7 pm Sept 24th we dropped anchor in Harrington Harbour.
Sept 26th we ran into Mutton Bay, and the next morning I was called upon to go a couple of miles to see a man who was suffering intensely from acute indigestion. relieved him then on our way back called in and saw several children in one house who needed attention and pulled and saw bad stumps for the mother. Called next door and saw a man suffering from Tuberculosis both apices involved, no provision made for the winter and a wife to support. Did the best I could for him, then spent the remainder of that day as well as the next in making sick calls around the harbour and in going to Tabatiere and old Post and Baie Rouge. Altogether I saw and treated about twenty five patients
Sept 29th Came back to Harrington on another vessel where I remained until Dec 21st seeing in the interval thirty five cases, one of which belonged to the Schr Daisy of Quebec, and then to the Govt Survey Schr Bégin

On Dec 20th in response to a telegram from Mutton Bay I started with dog train and Cometicks, got to the Bararois that evening, and the next morning a little after four oclock found us en route, with a temperature of eight below Zero and a north wind that was trying, to put it mildly. The snow was deep and the travelling heavy and slow in Consequence so that it was not until after four pm that we got into Mutton Bay. After supper, we got another team and an extra man to help over the high hills and it was after eight oclock when we finally got away We reached Baie Rouge at ten thirty with dogs and men fairly well tired out; and all dripping wet with perspiration caused by the heavy work of the portages. Found my patient who had been ill since the march or April previous, almost moribund in fact he passed away the next day, never rallying. After seeing my patient and doing what I could we went on a mile further to Tabatiere where I made my headquarters.

The next day, Dec 22nd I saw a number of cases, one a case of Acute Rheumatism in a woman, (the baby was about three months old,) with a good deal of heart involvement requiring my attendance twice a day. Did not leave her until Jan 3rd when I went to Mutton Bay where I stayed until Jan 9th being laid up a week with a badly ulcerated throat. then returned to Tabatiere where I remained until the 16th

River. Very heavy soft snow made it slow travelling so we did not reach Cacapuei until after dinner we were cold and hungry so we did justice to the cold pork and cold seal meat that was set before us. Got into St Augustine about half past seven after a fatiguing day.

Jan 18th I left for Shecaltica Bay to see a sick woman. We reached Cocksikpi at 2 pm when I got a fresh team and pushed on reaching the Bay after six pm. Left them again after nine, very dark and driving snow making it a disagreeable trip back to Cocksikpi which we reached between one and two in the morning. The man turned his wife out of bed and wanted me to turn into it but I would not hear of any such arrangement and insisted upon her going back to her warm bed and I laid on a sea chest in the Kitchen until daylight. I relieved four sick people before leaving to return to St Augustine.

It took us two days to get back to Tabatière on account of the depth of the snow. One or other of us were on raquets almost all the time.

Remained at Tabatière until Jan 28th having some badly infected hands to dress, caused by getting wounds infected from the seals they were working with.

Returned to Mutton Bay Jan 29th seeing patients that day and the next. Then after dark on the night of Jan 30th I had to turn out into one of the worst storms of the season and go over the portages to Tabatière to see a girl suffering intensely with an infection of the frontal sinuses caused by snuffing a solution into the nose for a catarrhal affection. Prompt treatment; with an ice bag in addition, set her so far on the road to convalescence that I was able to leave her the next day and return to Mutton Bay and two days afterwards on Feb 3rd I returned to Harrington a long cold day with blinding drift all day.

The next day I had a call nine miles down into the Sound to see a sick woman, who I was able to relieve.

Jan 7th I was called into the Barrasois to see a case of Tubaid Phthisis in an old woman, and on the way was met by another Cometick who wanted me to go and see a young woman who was "having fits." When I got there I found a severe case of Uremic convulsions. Hypodermic, then Chloroform & forceps, with other treatment, hot packs etc saved her life with God's blessing but the twins only lived a few hours. I stayed all night, leaving her sensible, though very weak and shaky, next morning. She had been totally unconscious for about ten hours. Next morning a Cometick came for me to go down into the Sound again, and I went, calling on my way to see the old woman, that I had started out to see the day before.

Jan 10th I had a note asking me to go up as soon as I came to Kegashka or Cases as it is called on the Coast

January 12th the started west. before going I had to bandage the dogs legs as the crust on the snow was hard and sharp, the dogs cannot have travelled any distance without their bandages and shoes.
The Bays not having frozen over, we had to go over the hills, plains, rivers and every Kind of hard travelling so that there was no pleasure in it, but that which comes from doing ones duty. Stayed the first night at Wolf Bay. Next morning there were a couple of people needing to be patched up, then we carried on for Grand Romaine, which we reached about half past four after stopping at Goose Bay for dinner and seeing a couple of patients.
at Romaine I was entertained by the manager of the Hudsons Bay Post, in the person of his wife, the master of the house being away. They have been called upon to mourn the death of their eldest son by a drowning accident a short while ago, a fine fellow, universally liked.
A short journey the next day, brought me to my patient with whom I remained until the morning of the 17th leaving somewhat improved. Got into Kegashka that evening and saw several people before bed time. Went to the telegraph office to find out about my patients up and down the coast. Spent Sunday the 19th quietly at Kegashka getting the people together to talk about the things of Eternity. Having a room full of people and the next morning we left on our last stage of the journey to Natashquan which is supposed to be my Western limit. We had rather a bad day of it, going to windward almost all day against a SW hard breeze and blinding snow. With a good team it took us eight and a half hours to go about thirty miles. One of us on raquets from time to time we got on the plain, until we got close to the Hudsons Bay Post. After once getting on to the Natashquan river we had nine miles to tramp, and it seemed as if the headland that we had to pass, receeded as fast as we approached it. We stayed at the Post that night as the village of Natashquan is four miles further on, and the next morning we went into the village and put up at the postmasters. I at once called on the R.C. priest feeling sure he would know about the sick ones of the village better than anybody else, and he kindly came with me to see some of those needing assistance. I was kept busy all day, then in the evening we pushed out into a dark stormy night to go four miles out to the Post and thus make the next days journey so much shorter. After treating several patients the next morning, we started for Kegashka by a different route, this time following the shore which we found an improvement for some miles, but we had not gone more than six or eight miles before the travelling began to be bad again and a soft wet snow began to fall which ere long turned to rain and sleet. This kind of weather lasted almost all day. We were glad enough when we got to Casco River where we had dinner. This family has been fortunate with the fur this season. I understand they have over thirty foxes. This means a big lift after a poor summer.

Feb 22nd Left Kegashka and returned to Musquarro where I found my patient better, getting up a short time each day. Remained there all the next day, and the following day left to go to Romaine. Crossing the Bay the ice was now too good, and the smell from the sea was plainly noticeable under the ice. The next day it was all gone Saw several people in Romaine and removed two optic tumours from a mans arm which bothered him by getting irritated when knocked. The next day sunday Feb 25th stayed in Romaine so that I could dress the arm and remove the silk worm ligature before leaving on monday morning. Saw several people during the day. All the people at this place are French and only a few of them can speak even broken English.

Dressed my mans arm the next morning, union by first intention then packed up and left for Goose Bay and the Bluff as I wanted to see the two families living at these places, treated two patients in one house and three in the other, had a cup of tea then pushed on again for Wolf Bay where I spent the night.

Treated two patients the next morning before leaving and just as I was about to start a telegram was handed to me calling me back to Harrington as a patient was taken very ill. Called in at Natamamu River for a few moments then on to Point de Maurier where I had dinner and got another team. Saw a family in Qui Estich Bay, when I prescribed for the father and saw one of the daughters who is a lunatic and who shared her in an institution, and then left for Harrington across the ice about fifteen miles. We never got in until long after dark, the dogs gave out and I had to strap one of them on the Cometick The ice was very rough all hummocks where it had frozen after driving in, the wind was dead ahead and blowing half a gale and driving snow so that you could not trust the dogs, and one of us had to be ahead more than half the distance I found my patient in rather a bad way. I had seen her at Baie Rouge and advised her coming up to Harrington as I was pretty sure I had a dangerous case of [Placenta Praevia] on my hands and so it turned out. I was called up in the night and had to institute pretty vigorous treatment before she was out of danger. She made a good recovery though slow. The next day but one I had a hurry call to Mutton Bay thirty miles away, and started within a few minutes getting down there after ten at night Another case of Acute Indigestion, which kept me there two nights and on Sunday March 4th I got back to Harrington Barrasois. a severe storm raging all day, could not see the dogs sometimes. The people in the Barrasois would not let us go any further so we finished the remaining four and a half miles the next morning finding my sick woman gaining, and practically out of danger though very weak from haemorrhage. March 9th I left to go East again. Called in to see some people on the way there got into Hamilton Bay in the afternoon. Found a team just leaving for Baie Rouge so got a passage for my things, the travelling was so heavy and the team so small, only four dogs that we walked almost all the way. When I got to Baie Rouge I got another team to take me the remaining mile to Tabatière. Here I was compelled to remain until the morning of the 12th on account of the difficulty of getting a team. People were moving to their summer houses & several teams were in the County caribou hunting. We got away about seven in the morning, shortly afterwards I was hailed and asked to look at a man who had hurt his knee. Found him with what I think was a dislocated Cartiledge (Semilunar) found it had happened several times before but he had always succeeded in putting it right himself. I got a coach box on a cometick, and then sent him to his own home when I overtook him in the evening. That evening I tried to reduce it, and the next morning but with only partial success. I had no chloroform mine having been spilt so did the best I could without. He has now almost the full range of motion but not quite. The next day March 13th we started at sunrise, ten below zero and blowing half a gale from the North. The thermometer only got to five degrees above Zero all day, we were able to go outside, down across Sandy Island which made the distance to old Fort Bay quite a little shorter than if we had had to go inside. The wind had a grand chance at us, and made the most of it. We got into Old Fort Bay just before dark and soon got warm. Saw several sick people before leaving for St Paul's River next morning. Saw quite a number of cases in the River also. During the afternoon I sent a wire to Halifax and received an answer in an hour which is very good for the Labrador Service.

Salmon Bay was as far as I could get the next day as all the teams were away hauling wood. Saw a couple of patients here, and the next morning we got off for Blanc Sablon. Stopped a few moments at Bradore telegraph office, thinking there might be something for me, but found the office shut to business and the operator in the country deer hunting. The weather was beginning to be very bad so we hurried across the hills getting in there in the late afternoon only about half an hour before the storm burst. One of the worst blizzards of the season. The next day it cleared up about noon and I went to Isle au Bois to see a family, getting back about eight pm a beautiful night with a grand Aurora Borealis. Got to L'Anse au Claire the next afternoon and in the evening we had a packed roomful who all listened attentively to the "Old old Story"

Next day 19th went over the hills to Forteau where I saw some people then after dinner I got taken across the Bay to L'Anse au Mort where I saw the friends that I stayed with when on the Coast nearly fifteen years ago. Next day I went to the lighthouse and the Marconi station then went back to Forteau where I saw quite a number of sick ones, having a straight talk with several of them. After dinner I left for L'Anse au Claire and in the evening had another crowded roomfull, with a few people to treat afterwards.

Blanc Sablon early the next day and after dinner went out to Greenley Island and spent an hour with the light Keeper. He is living by himself this winter and at one time was forty eight days without seeing a person. The new fog Alarm will be a great improvement on the old one. Started the next morning for the bottom of Bradore Bay, going via Long Point where I stayed for a couple of hours visiting sick people, then had dinner and after getting two fresh teams went into Bradore. The fish families here are not at all well off with one exception possibly, but they like most of the people along this Coast, are Kindly and extremely hospitable. A simple little service closed this day also.
We left in the morning in the hope of getting to St Pauls river or at the least Salmon Bay, but when I saw the team I feared not have given much for our chances, however we got to Salmon Bay in time for me to get another team and get into the River at dark. Saw several people here before leaving in the morning for Old Fort Bay. Here I was detained for the remainder of the day as I could not get a man to take me as far as Baie de Roche. However the next morning a man who only had three dogs himself borrowed enough to make up a team and took me the next fifteen miles. Before reaching them we met the only two teams in the harbour so I knew I was in for another delay, and so it proved, However I had a service that night and treated a Couple of cases, then in the morning left for Shecatica Bay. When we got there, we found that the only team in the place was away, so there was a delay of about forty eight hours. We finally got away shortly after two oclock in the morning of the third day as I had heard the men in Cocksippi were going to leave at daylight and go deer hunting. It was but little later than that when we surprised them and they agreed at once to take me to St Augustine River where we arrived before dinnertime. That afternoon I went to St Augustine Island fifteen miles out in the bay to see a child getting back just at supper time. I got a telegram while at supper begging me to go as quickly as possible to Mutton Bay, and they were sending a fresh team to meet me at Cacapuei. This arrangement we were able to carry out so that we got into Sabatier in fairly good time, there the load was divided up on three fresh teams and we came on into Mutton Bay where I found my former patient with another attack of acute indigestion which I was able to relieve. She had been in agony for forty eight hours and as I was delayed at Shecatica Bay where there is no telegraph office, they did not know when to find me. April 3rd I got a cometick to take me back to Sabatier where there were a couple of people I feared not delay to see when coming up. and after staying a night and parts of two days I came back to Mutton Bay and on the 6th left for Harrington. Having treated eight one cases on the trip, and enjoyed it.

Thursday 12th I left Harrington for another trip to Natashquan, the late season warranting the attempt. As you know the travelling in the early morning is good, but so soon as the sun gets strong enough to melt the snow in the daytime it melts into leaving fine needles of ice sticking up which hurt the dogs feet cruelly if they are not protected. So we had to use dog shoes pretty constantly until the sun softened the snow surface again. We tried to do the biggest part of each days work between from two or three in the morning until ten in the forenoon. Spent that night in Wolf Bay and the next evening found me at the Hudsons Bay Post in Romaine after calling to see a family at Goose Bay en route. Saw some old patients while having a cup of tea and got in to Romaine before dark. Today was a cold day all day allowing us to travel. Had several Indians to see before bed time. The old chief must have heard that a doctor possesses marvelous powers, or that we had gotten hold of the ~~Philosophers Stone~~ "Elixir Vitae" as he wanted to be made young again. He is, I should think almost ninety, the people say that he is over a hundred.

For two and a half days I was storm bound at Romaine, not being able to move, but in the afternoon of the third day, it cleared up enough to warrant my attempting to cross the plains so as to strike the Washecootai River and from thence, got to Musquarro. This took us almost six hours of hard labour as the snow was so rotted by the rain and warm wind that it would not neither bear us, or the Comatick or the dogs, so it had to be waded through, often thigh deep. The next day there was no moving as the thermometer only registered +29 as the nights minimum temperature. While here I made my first meal on Wild Cat meat. I think it overestimated. We were afoot very early the next morning and were able to travel with comfort for a few hours, but soon after sunrise, the dogs began to sink and by the time we had reached Kegashka Bay, we cared see that we were not going to do much. We did manage to get to Kegashka River another four miles but it was hard work. We were compelled to remain there the remainder of the day. Only one family at this place. The following morning shortly after two a.m. We were astir again and after a breakfast of fried ptarmigan we started to try and make Natashquan. We came along the sandy beach, but had to take to the plains as we were looking for a better road, and found it I am glad to say. The last nine miles on the Natashquan River were pretty soft, but we came without a great deal of trouble, to the Post where I saw an old patient finding her somewhat improved then another four miles of very soft road brought us to the Settlement of Natashquan where I had quite a lot of patients old and new.

Almost all the Indians are out, and the season as a whole has been disappointing one to them and the fur traders who advanced them their food for the winter. I can see clearly that it will not be many years before the Government will have to do something for these people in the way of giving them a yearly grant: The fur gets scarcer and more diffient to get: Carribou are not nearly so plentiful as a few years ago. Not enough deer have been Killed this season to make raquetts for the Indians themselves for next winter, Consequently the diffiencly of the settlers getting theirs from them is also increased, people are wondering what they will do next winter.
Simple services have been held as opportunity offered and I have been pleased to see the attention, and evident interest manifested. Occasions occur when you can have a word with a man, or a woman not only when they are ill, but in the various meetings of the days, when one comes and goes among them. As near as I can come to the distances I have covered between one thousand, and one thousand and twenty miles by Cometick, and about sixty by schooner. A launch last autumn, would have given me a months beautiful weather and I would have had more milage to report: With heartfelt thankfulness to the Father in Heaven for His blessing and care during the seasons work. My dear Grenfell:

Not having heard from you for many months I presume that the several letters I have sent to you have not been received, or that you have not,up to the present,had the time or opportunity of answering them.

I have been in communication with Miss Redpath of Montreal,Miss Greenshields and Professor Wrong of Toronto,and Mrs.Daly here,in regard to the Canadian hospital at Harrington,and from the several letters which I have received,and talks I have had there appears to me to be a great need for some systematic arrangement or central organization to be effected,so that the persons at different points will know what the others are doing,and that there may be no over-lapping in grants that are made. Each one in turn has told me that he or she is not aware of what the others have done, and the following situation has come about. A lady in Montreal has given you a grant for the erection of a hospital at Harrington. The Victorian Order here have voted $1,000 towards the erection of the hospital,their votes to hospitals being restricted for use in connection with the construction of hospitals. The Victorian Order grant,however,is dependent upon Victorian Order nurses being engaged. The people who are raising money for the maintenance of the hospital do not appear to be aware of the condition of the Victorian Order grant,and consequently,thefar as I have been able to learn,have not yet been in a position to say whether or not the Victorian Order nurses would be negaged. Also,unless the money being given by the Victorian Order can be used for construction purposes and some of the money which has been given to you by the lady in Montreal used for equipment purposes,if the hospital is to cost only $5,000 there would seem to be a possibility of $1,000 being lost. More than that I believe I could get another $1,000 from the Victorian Order,as I think I have already mentioned to you in a previous letter,but before making a request for it I would like to be sure that the money could be used towards the construction of this hospital,and that you are prepared to enggage Victorian Order nurses.

Mrs.Daly in Ottawa has nearly enough money collected to pay the expenses of a nurse for one year from this city. Miss Greenshields thought that Mrs.Daly ought to negage the nurse herself. It seems to me that the nurse should be engaged by you,and that the money should be sent to you or your committee for this express purpose. Do you not think you could arrange to have either the paid secretary at St.John's or some other person or set of persons act as a committee for the Harrington hospital. Let them prepare a statement of what has been received and what is already promised from different organizations or individuals for this institution, sending to each group a copy of the statement,so that they may know what the others have done. Also have some appropriation of the several amounts made that will answer for any amount secured.

Of course I understand that the work of the Mission is all one,and that the Harrington hospital is simply the latest addition by way of institutions. Still I think,human nature being what it is,your work as a whole is likely to be more furthered if people in Canada are asked to contribute in the first instance towards the Harrington hospotal. It will appeal strongly to them until at least its put on its feet. New York and Boston I understand are looking after St.Anthony's hospital and other parts of the work. I also think,as I wrote you before,that if all the needs of this hospital could be set out,nnnsly,amount for building,for launch, for construction nurses for cots,for coal,for instruments,etc..etc. a great many grants could be secured for specific purposes where nothing is likely to be obtained by a general contribution being asked for. To sum up,will you please let me know.

I. Whether the $1,000 voted by the Victorian Order towards the construction of the Harrington hoppital can be used for that purpose,and to whom this money should be sent.

2. Whether an additional $1,000 from the same order could be used for the same purpose.if obtained,and whether I will make a request on your behalf for the amount.

3. Whether you will undertake to engage Victorian Order nurses for the Harrington hospital,and in what way will you undertake to engage them. Will Mrs.Daly send you enough money to pay for a nurse for one year,so as to secure the Ottawa contributions in that way,and will you see that other organizations contributing towards maintenance do not make an arrangement which will preclude your engaging a Victorian Order nurse with the funds they may contribute?

I am writing Miss Redpath to-day,telling her not to lose sight of the condition in the grant of the Victorian Order in any arrangements which the Montreal commitee may make towards the maintenance of the hospital at Harrington. I am also writing Professor Wrong to the same effect at Toronto.

With best wishes for the coming season,and hoping to hear from you soon,I am,dear Dr.Grenfell,

My dear King:-

Honestly I do not think it is possible that I did not answer your letter. Though, as I posted about 150 letters this last mail, and do not keep a letter press, I would not be prepared to take oath in the matter.

Your letters have been received, and gratefully received, and have been so full of good news, and of brotherliness, they have done me a real lot of good. For I am always getting into hot water by interfering with what I consider villainous actions, that I cannot afford to take any chances of losing friends by neglecting their letters.

I recognize all you say as good and true. And I am going to try and answer your queries seriatim.

I remember now, I waited to answer one of your letters as you asked for Cooperative news, and I had not any on hand just then. I started three stores on this side the Straits of Belle Isle, as you know. The balance sheet of No. 1, the Breha store, I enclose you, with their circular. I also enclose you the balance sheet of the Flower's Cove store. The store at Englee, No. 3, I had to close, as the people were not making a living, and could not support any store; depending on Government relief and charity very largely. The Mill, which affords them winter work, and a good fishery last year, has allowed them to get ahead a bit. I held a meeting there the other day, offering to make the store attached to the Mill a Cooperative store on the profit-sharing principle, viz., giving tickets for all purchases made, and sharing xpf profits in proportion to business done. This, I hope, will become cooperative soon again. The two Labrador stores, I cannot tell you very much about. One is very small, there being no one in the place to cooperate the others. The other is the first I started, and has done exceedingly well. They are building a new store of their own, ordering it all down from our own Mill. And it will go down in our own schooner, which goes every year for their fish. I can't get their balance sheet till the ice lets me across. I have had the greatest difficulty in this cooperative work. It has made me many enemies. They burst out in abusive letters last Christmas, anonymous or signed. The worst were by the Roman Catholic Archbishop, an ignorant bigot, who hates a Protestant Mission, and tried to make out all these were simply money-grabbing schemes. I have been very much handicapped by having no one to help me, except my admirable agent in St. Johns, who is a keen young Christian of the best type, a man your soul would love. I think of these things as sermons in stores,(not stones) their influence is far greater than the amount of business they do. They have reduced prices. You have only to go to them, and you will hear, not so much that they are far below the traders now, but that the traders are far below what they used to be.

I do not like writing my own things up for print. There are many reasons, especially now, why I should not be aggravating the enemy by imputing his sins to him in print. I do not want to boast of the stores. If any business man had the interest I have in them in his heart, and was methodical in his work for them, they would be ten times better. I am ashamed to think what they might be, compared with what they are, if I had been as keen about them and been able to give as much time to them, as I might,perhaps, have done.

We are building another schooner, two motor launches, and a large barge, on the Mill this winter. Our method of logging is,perhaps, uniqhe. We wait until we find out how the people are off individually, and we first of all give a contract for so many logs to each in proportions to his needs. That is, enough to enable him at least not to want common food, and the necessities of life. Then we give the balance of crop (25.000 thousands) to those who wish to work. I hope to see you next Fall. I am proud to hear what you say about Mr. Borden. I hope that Mr. Fitzpatrick will be able to help. Thanks for the Customs papers. I have had to hand over the details of the building at Harrington to the English society, and they have just closed the contract. It is going to be a much more elaborate affair than I had anticipated. I send you a copy of the contract, at the risk of wearying you, because I want the Government of Canada to understand that the society is not a little paltry one, being a Royal National affair, (whatever that means?), and is doing the thing properly. I confess I should have built a hospital like this one for about $5000.00. But they are spending $15000.00, and Canada herself will not have to be ashamed of it. We have a splendid man there in Dr. Hare, a man of ability, of courage, and devotion, A man we should admit to our friendship, and whom I am proud to be associated with. He is a good man. I must send you a letter of his, just come to hand. There's nothing in it, but it may help you a little to guage him. You see that we shall need, besides the $5000.00 given by Miss Dow, all we can raise to erect it, free of debt, and the Victorian Order need have no fear but that every cent of their money will be spent on the building. I think, somehow, sooner, or late, we shall live down the opposition, and get a grant from your Government. You see now we have not really got all the money necessary to build. The new motor boat is built for them, Harrington and Hare will have dogs and komatiks of his own next year, I trust, as he most rightly desires.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

PUBLIC ARCHIVES PUBLIQUES

I think when they see the way the Mission is going about the business, the Government will be more likely to help. I am going to make out a list of what particular sums of money could go to as soon as I can make it a serviceable one.

I have not received your little book yet. If i[t] represents yourself, I shall like it.

The overlapping you speak of is a bad thing. The whole thing needs systematizing. I will talk over your letter with my friends in St. Johns. Now, your Victorian Order question is answered. So is the question of a second thousand dollars. Ye[s]

Wes, I should certainly have a Victorian Nurse. I want to be associated with that Order. It will be a great help. I am going to ask you to see Mrs Daly. She is a diplomat, if there is not a woman's suffrage, and I know that I can leave her to arrange a way out of the difficulties that have arisen, and suggest some way to prevent them rising again.

I would like to write you a long letter, but I would far rather drop in and spend the evening. I have three operations hanging over my head now, and I find the responsibility of doing these alone much more than I used to do, for I have so many now ~~hopping~~ caring and watching in case anything went wrong. My dear King:-

I want to ask you one other thing, and that is about reindeer. Hare assures me that the time is very short before the Indians of Quebec will have to either starve to death or receive Government support. Their hunt is increasingly small(Irish). You know yourself how bad travelling is on that coast with dogs. I have been proposing to our Government that they should adopt the metho of the United States Government, and have a herd of their own of the Lapland reindeer. From this they lean reindeer to the natives. It has made the Missions in Alaska self-supporting, and it is saving the native races in the best way. It would give Labrador a decent mail service in winter, communication and transport. The deer are easily raised. The herds double in three years. There is no reason why the vast interior of Labrador should not raise enormous quantities of deer. It is not cultivatable land. This is the only way to make the desert blossom into a rose. The deer feed themselves, give milk, butter, meat, warm clothing. Perhaps the meat could be exported. Finland, Lapland, Siberia, Alaska, find it remunerative, and almost exist on them. Why not Labrador? Talk to some Quebec member, and prime him with a speech for the House. Dr.

Sheldon Jackson, Washington, U.S.A. will give you every particular and his Department issues admirably illustrated reindeer reports whibh are well worth getting a look at. The native deer are closely akin to these, and flourish in spite of ruthless enemies. It is not an experiment. It has been proved easy in Alaska. Some man might make a name re-claiming the whole north-east by starting these Government herds, and might solve the Indian problem, and make himself a name. Think what a boon to the Labrador settlers! I am trying to get some for myself, both through Washington, and through London, a little herd in this north Newfoundland.

Contract for house, hospital etc - ready by end season + all $15000 - first class to committee at home + must have it done by =

My dear King:-

Mr. J. E. P. Aldous, of 182 South James Street Hamilton, is forming forming a Men's Committee at Hamilton to help on this work. He writes, asking me what he can do, and I have replied that I should like Hamilton to confine their efforts for the present to raising an additional sum of $8,500 for the Canadian hospital and doctor's house and plant at Harrington. I have asked him to write to you, or to come and see you, as I want to persuade him what I have fully persuaded myself, that it is essential we should build this hospital in such a way as to make it beyond criticism from the point of view of plant to do good work. You know the critical eye that will be directed to that building, and the work there. I have described to Mr. Aldous the kind of man Hare is, a man and a Christian, and I have asked him to see you, who can give him in five minutes' conversation what I could not give him in five pages of laborious letter writing. I have pointed out to him that subscribers in Harrington can visit and see the work for themselves, if they wish to do so.

Things are progressing well here. I am slipping you in a photograph of our women's ward, with our good nurse, and my volunteer assistant from Harvard University: also, of a little lad on whom I operated for tuberculous disease of the bladder, such a jolly little chap. Also one of my boys' class of carpentering. Also one of yours truly, in very unconventional rig, in our operating room, dressing a little girl on whom we had operated for disease of the middle year.

Now, my dear King, I must close this brief conversation with yourself. I always feel glad to have the opportunity of even a short talk by letter, though I hate writing letters. I do look forward to seeing you next winter in Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

Mr.W.L.Mackenzie King left a few days ago for England,where he has been sent by the Government to interview the British authorities in regard to certain legislation which the Canadian Government is desirous of having enacted in Great Britain. Before leaving Mr.King asked me to drop you a line to say how much he regretted his inability to find time to write you before leaving. The truth is Mr.King has been so tremendously rushed for the past few weeks, owing to his mission to England and the preparation of the Department's annual report,that he has hardly found time to attend to purely official correspondence.

Mr.King wished me to say that he had written Mrs.Chaplin,enclosing plans and specifications of the Harrington hospital,and that he will have an interview with Mr.Wood while in London. He will also make another effort this session to obtain a grant from Parliament toward the maintenance of the hospital.

My dear Grey,

I am extremely delighted to hear that you liked the review. So splendid a record of heroism certainly deserved all the honour we could give it. It was a very touching and noble idea to represent the deed by the statue of Sir Galahad.

I agree . . . as to the need of getting the Canadian people to believe in Harper's ideal rather than that of the millionaire.

(Confidential) Ottawa, November 15, 1906.

Dear Lord Grey:

In response to your Excellency's request for a confidential note from me as to my impressions of the Colonial Office in London, and of the view which one coming from this country and having business to transact with the Colonial Office, is likely to gain of that institution, I would say that having received every kindness and consideration from Lord Elgin and Mr. Winston Churchill on my recent visit to England, I hesitate to make any reference which might seem to reflect in any way on the Colonial Office, and would refrain from doing so altogether did I not feel that a great injustice is being done these gentlemen and likely to be done any responsible Minister or member of the Government through the possible impressions which a visitor at the Colonial Office might receive were he unfortunate enough not to have his dealings exclusively with the responsible heads of the Office, and be drawn into the vortex of Civil Service officialdom which threatens the visitor on every side.

From the fact that Lord Elgin, at the one interview which I had with him, gave me reason to believe that the British Government

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

intended to meet in full the wishes of the Canadian Parliament in the matter of the mission on which I had been sent to England. I had every reason to feel delighted with the result of my visit to the Colonial Office. It seemed unfortunate to me,however,that the Government's action,so generous and hearty in its nature, should have been left,as to the credit which the Government would receive and as to the impression which it would make upon the public,to the mercy of a number of officials,who appeared to me to have neither interest nor concern in Canada,nor any great measure of political foresight or sagacity.

My experience may serve to illustrate what I mean. Lord Elgin,at the close of the interview which I had with him,informed me that I would hear in a day or two definitely as to what the Government would do. I was kindly given permission,in the event of not receiving a reply by the end of the week to see one of the officers of the Department,whose duty it would be to follow up the matter. Lord Elgin,doubtless,at the time,gave instructions to someone in the Department to see that I was fully informed. I waited some days for a communication from the Colonial Office, stating definitely what had been done. The first intimation I had came to me in a letter from one of the clerks in the Department, which was semi-private in its nature. This letter was written in kindness and with good intent,but it placed me in the painful position of being obliged to go to a higher official in the

Volume 5

CANADA

Department and ask for a reply in the form of an official letter which I could take back to Canada. The drafting of this reply was left to the clerk who had given me the semi-private letter in the first instance. I pointed out the significance which would probably be attached to the reply given,and ventured to make a suggestion or two as to what,in the interests of Canada and Great Britain alike,it seemed to be advisable to insert. In acknowledgment of this,I received, a day or two later,an official letter signed by the law clerk of the Colonial Office,which was a mere statement of what the Government had decided to do. It contained nothing which,when published could have been of any particular service either to the Home or Canadian Governments.

That the whole significance of the Government's action should not be lost,and that I might have replies to the letters which were sent from the Premier and Minister of Labour to the Colonial Office,I had,therefore,to see either Lord Elgin or Mr. Winston Churchill and point out what seemed to me was due by the Colonial Office to Canada in connection with the matter of my mission. Once I had explained matters to Mr.Churchill,both he and Lord Elgin did everything which it was possible to do to have matters arranged in a manner completely satisfactory. It seemed to me unfortunate,however,that it should have been necessary for

Volume 5

me to have had to take the steps which I did to achieve the end desired by all. I make mention of the fact only because I feel that a person differently disposed,having gone to the Colonial Office,might,under similar circumstances,have hesitated to incur the displeasure even of officials,to the extent to which I ventured to risk it,with the consequent result that all the good intentions and purposes of the responsible heads of the Colonial Office,and the benefits which the British Government might have reaped,would have been in large part frustrated through the action of non-interested officials.

I would like to make quite clear to your Excellency that I am in no way taking exception to the action of any individual or individuals in the Colonial Office. Each person whom I met, did,I believe,what seemed to him best in the interests of the Colonial Office,and also what he believed would be most helpful to me in my mission. I am drawing attention only to what seems to be a limitation in a system which permits clerks who have no responsibility to the public,to be charged with the duty of directly conferring with the representatives of any colonial government on matters which,of necessity,must be partly confidential and partly political in their nature.

I am,your Excellency,

Very obediently yours,

His Excellency,
the Right Honourable Earl Grey,

Extract from Message of the President of the United States. 1906.

The Commission appointed by the President October 16, 1902, at the request of both the anthracite coal operators and miners, to inquire into, consider, and pass upon the questions in controversy in connection with the strike in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania and the causes out of which the controversy arose, in their report, findings and award exprest the belief "that the State and Federal governments should provide the machinery for what may be called the compulsory investigation of controversies between employers and employees when they arise". This expressing of belief is deserving of the favourable consideration of the Congress and the enactment of its provisions into law. A Bill has already been introduced to this end.

Records show that during the twenty years from January 1, 1881, to December 31, 1900, there were strikes affecting 117,509 establishments, and 6,105,694 employees were thrown out of employment. During the same period there were 1,005 lockouts, involving nearly 10,000 establishments, throwing over one million people out of employment. These strikes and lockouts involved an estimated loss to employees of $307,000,000 and to employers of $143,000,000,a total of $450,000,000. The public suffered directly and indirectly probably as great additional loss. But the money loss,great as it was,did not measure the anguish and suffering endured by the wives and children of the employeees whose pay stopt when their work stopt,or the disasterous effect of the strike or lockout upon the business of employers,or the increase in the cost of products and the inconvenience and loss to the public.

Many of these strikes and lockouts would not have occurred had the parties to the dispute been required to appear before an unprejudiced body representing the nation and ,face to face,state the reasons for their contention. In most instances the dispute would doubtless be found to be due to a misunderstanding by each of the other's rights,aggravated by an unwillingness of either party to accept as true the statements of the other as to the justice or injustice of the matters in dispute. The exercise of a judicial spirit by a disinterested body representing the Federal Government,such as would be provided by a commission on conciliation and arbitration would tend to create an atmosphere of friendliness and conciliation between contending parties;and the giving each side an equal opportunity to present fully its case in the presence of the other would prevent many disputes from developing into sericus strikes or lockouts,and,in other cases,would enable the commission to persuade the opposing parties to come to terms.

In this age of great corporate and labor combinations,neither employers nor employees should be left completely at the mercy of the stronger party to a dispute,regardless of the righteousness of their respective claims. The proposed measure would be in the line of securing recognition of the fact that in many strikes the public itself has an interest which cannot be wisely disregarded;an interest not merely of general convenience,for the question of a just and proper public policy must also be considered. In all legislation of this kind it is well to advance cautiously,testing each step by the actual results; the step proposed can surely be safely taken,for the decisions of the commission would not bind the parties in legal fashion,and yet would give a chance for public opinion to crystallize and thus to exert its full force for the right.

My dear Mr. Griffith:

Your very kind congratulations on the honour which has recently been conferred on me by His Majesty have brought me the greatest pleasure, and I thank you most sincerely for your generosity and courtesy in extending them to me. I am pleased to believe that the conferring of this honour upon me has been intended as an evidence of the appreciation which the highest authorities are desirous of giving to efforts put forth on behalf of labour and recognition to which the cause of labour is entitled. As such, the distinction is most gratifying, and may, I trust, help to invite a more sympathetic interest in the welfare of the

Dear Mr.Gundy:

Mr.Revell has written me saying that the office in New York or Toronto will always be glad of hints or helps that will enable you to better exploit any of your publications,and has suggested my giving you the names of papers or individuals that I think would be specially interested. I am,therefore,taking the liberty of attaching a list of a few persons who,I think might be counted on to review the book favourably,and would be glad if you could have copies for this purpose sent to them.

Mr.Harper's home having been in Barrie and his family being well known there,I think the book should have quite a sale in that town. Mr.Donald Ross,the mayor of Barrie,is a brother-in-law of Mr.Harper. If written to he would,I think,see that good notices were put in the Barrie papers. The Rev.Mr.MacLeod,Presbyterian Minister of that town,was also a great friend and admirer of Harper, and was the Minister who buried him. He would,I know,speak of the book to his congregation,and could do a lot in the way of circulating it in Barrie. He would also,I am sure,be glad to review the book for one of the papers. Rev.E.I.Hart, a Methodist clergyman at Sault Ste.Marie,Ont.,is another brother-in-law of Harper,and might be expected to render a similar service in his locality. Rev.Frank Harper,of Pickering,Ont.,is a brother,and could be counted on for a similar service in his locality. I am sending each of Harper's relatives a copy from myself,but I think it would be well to write them,so as to get them interested in pushing the sale of the book. In the village of Cookstown,where Harper was born,and is buried, I think a number of copies of the book might be disposed of,if you could get someone to handle the sale of them there,and a notice in the Cookstown paper.

Volume 5

Sir William Mulock told me in Toronto,that he had spoken to a number of the judges about the book,and that they would be all interested in seeing it. They told him that they would be glad to subscribe. If you could by chance see Sir William yourself at the same time,who is keenly interested in the sale of the book,he might. I think be able to make a suggestion or two which would be of value. He is a great friend of Mr.Whitney of Ottawa, a brother of the Premier. and he told me he thought he could get Whitney of Ottawa to influence his brother in the matter of having the book put in the schools. In this connection,I think it would be well for you.to have the Minister of Education and the other Ontario Ministers put in the way of seeing the publication. I,of course,will have to keep in the background in this matter. Mr.J.L.Hughes can be counted on to do anything in his power. I am sending him a copy myself,but I think it would be well for you,also,to see and consult with him. Rev.Dr.Rose,of Hamilton,whose son has recently secured two prize scholarships at Oxford,was most anxious for me to have the book published. If you communicate with him he will,I think,help to further its sale,as will also Chancellor Burwash of Victoria University. These men,I think,would strongly favour its introduction into the schools. I presume you will have the book brought to the attention of all the clergymen of the different denominations in Canada,as I think it would be welcomed by them,and I also think that it will probably be taken by every Sunday school,by all of the public and Carnegie libraries,and by the libraries of schools and collegiate institutes. Perhaps it would be well to have notices sent to all the high school and public school teachers,as well as to any private schools. The list of names which I am enclosing are persons to whom I would suggest your sending the book for purposes of review.

My father,John King,K.C. was for years solicitor for the Canadian Press Association. He has defended a large number of newspapers in the Dominion. If you would call and see him at his office (King & Sinclair,Canada Life Building) at the time of sending out copies to any of the newspapers for reviews,he would,I am sure,be glad to enclose a personal letter to editors whom he knows well, which I think would call forth first-class reviews. I would suggest your seeing him at once,as I am sure he can do a great deal to help in this matter,and I know he will do it gladly.

I hope it is not too late to say to you how much I was distressed to learn of the fire which partially destroyed your establishment. I hope that everything was well covered by insurance. Please allow me to say,also,what a pleasure it was to me to have had the pleasure of meeting you in Toronto,and to have had the hour which we had together. When I am next in the city I will look you up,and I trust when you are in Ottawa you will not fail to let me know.

Dear Mr. King:-

Your letter reached me on my return from New York where I went to get away for a while from the ashes.

I have made arrangements with the Revell Co. to handle your book for Canada and I expect the first shipment will arrive in about ten days. When the book is received, I will endeavor to make use of the very valuable pointers you have given me, in furthering its sale. Will be glad to see you if you are in Toronto, but until stock is received, nothing can be done in the way of special correspondance. I shall interest myself more particularly in the book because of the very pleasant recollection I have of the short time we were together.

Dear Mr.Cundy:

When do you expect to have copies of my book in the hands of dealers here. A good many people have been asking about it,and I have been assuring them that the books are likely to arrive at any day.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter,marked "private" which I would ask you to kindly regard as strictly confidential,which I received from His Excellency,Earl Grey. Quite confidentially,His Excellency has done more than speak of the book in a letter to me. He has sent copies of it to the Outlook,the Athenaeum,the Spectator the Times,the Adadeny and two or three other English publications, with personal letters to the editors,expressing his views in regard to the book,and asking that it receive favourable reviews in their papers. His Excellency has also sent copies to several members of the English cabinet,and will,as soon as additional copies are on sale here secure an additional number to forward to Great Britain.

Mr.Goldwin Smith has written me saying that in a short time he will call attention to the book himself. I have letters also from other people equally promising.

I was going to ask you whether you would regard it a fair

business proposition to let me have a number of copies to send to persons for the purpose of securing favourable reviews,crediting me with such copies as might be the means of securing reviews,and charging me with any copies supplied for which there was no return of this kind. I have already sent out about 100 copies to different persons. I feel,unfortunately that I would be hardly justified in incurring the expense of sending out additional copies for advertising purposes unless I could in some way be assisted in this matter by the publishers. Would you let me know what you feel you can do in this matter.

When Sir William Mulock,now Chief Justice of the Exchequer Court was in Ottawa a day or two ago,he said to me that if I would arrange to have someone interview him he would speak in the highest terms of the book,and would advocate its use in the schools. Mr. Willison,of the News,would,I know,be pleased to send someone to get this interview from Sir William,and publish it in his paper if you thought that was the best way to go about it Let me know exactly what you think it best to do,and I will,if necessary,write Mr.Willison,or leave it to you to see him. Now that Cohoun has been appointed Deputy Minister of EducationI think we can count on his assistance. He is a strong personal friend of mine,and is also,as you know, a great friend of Mr.Flavelle,Mr.Willison and Mr.B.E.Walker,who are also very friendly to myself,and who will be glad to assist the sale of the little book in any way.

I am to address the Canadian Club of Montreal on Monday of next week. It has occurred to me that if you would mail a copy of my book to Mr.A.J.McMaster,the president,157 St.James street,with a note,asking him to make some reference to it in introducing me to the Club,he would be glad to do so. As I expect,in my address,to refer to some of Harper's views on the Labour question.it is just possible that if copies were available in some of the bookstores in Montreal there might be among the members of the Club those who would be glad to make an immediate purchase

I hope you do not mind these suggestions. I will,with your approval,make them from time to time,as we are mutually interested in the sale of the book,and I hope,if you think I am mistaken,you will not hesitate to say so.

Dear Sir:-

Invoices are to hand from New York covering shipment of your book. I mean to devote a great deal of energy and will keep closely in touch with you in our joint efforts to promote its sale. Ogilvy of Ottawa wrote asking for two copies and I asked him if he would be interested in a quantity if I made price an object. He has not replied. I expect to be in Ottawa the first week in March and will stir the trade up on this book.

I have taken the liberty of asking a young fellow who is bright and energetic to call and see you. His name is Geo. W. Kaye and he seems to have a hankering after a Civil Service position. He has been employed as advertising man in a department store in Ottawa, joined the Masons, and this to his employer, was a sad mistake. Perhaps you will be good enough to give him a card to someone, you will know better after he calls what his chances are.

Thanking you in anticipation

Dear Mr. Cundy:

I have just received your letter of yesterday, and probably you will have duly received mine written at the same time. I was quite amused at your mention of Ogilvie having written for two copies of my book. Between ourselves, I understand that his business is in rather a precarious position at the present time, so perhaps he feels that it is just as well not to place too many orders. Both Hope and Thorburn may, I think, be expected to take a real interest in the work. If you make an offer to either of them as to quantity I think it would probably be taken up.

When Mr. Kaye calls I will be glad to have a talk with him, and if opportunity presents, assist him in any way towards obtaining a position. You will understand, of course, how many men there are applying for Civil Service positions, so that he will probably feel that an immediate opening is not to be looked for. If, however, I can do anything towards assisting him in any way it will be very gladly done.

Dear Mr. King:-

This morning, shipment of your books came to hand and I am sending copies to all the Ottawa trade, also a complimentary copy to yourself. Next week I will write to you fully regarding review copies. The Revell Co. have allowed me only 25 copies free; these we must use to best advantage and if you think 50 more are required, you might write to Revell and tell them that you will forego your Royalty on the extra 50, but I think it would be unwise to present too many copies. The book is so well worth purchasing that I am averse personally to too generous distribution of free copies. You might write per return advising me as to disposition of the 25 copies which have come to hand.

Your letter with enclosure has just reached me. I will write to you fully on Monday.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr.Cundy:

I have not replied further to your letter of the I0th inst.,as in it you mentioned you would be writing fully on Monday. Being in Montreal Monday and Tuesday,I only received your letter yesterday,and am deferring writing about the copies to be distributed until I hear from you.

I might mention that I received a letter from Mr. Ackland of the Globe,acknowledging the copy I sent him,in which he said he would be pleased to make mention of it in the Globe. I presume there will be a review in one of his Saturday numbers. Gerald Brown,the Ottawa correspondent for the Tribune,the new Liberal paper in England,is send a one-column article to that paper,reviewing the book. This,with the eight copies sent with personal letters by Earl Grey to the leading English papers should secure good reviews from that source. I gave T.C.Marquis a copy a day or two ago,as he suggested he would like to review it for the Canadian Magazine. He spoke of making the review an illustrated article,putting in a picture of Harper,the monument,etc. I think it is a good idea. There are first-rate photos if the Canadian Magazine would like to secure them. Perhaps you would speak to Cooper about them. I think he would be generously disposed in the matter of giving the book a good review.

I had a letter from Mrs.Hart,wife of the Rev.E.I.Hart, of Sault Ste.Marie,Ont.,acknowledging the copy I sent to her. She says there are many persons in Sault Ste.Marie who would like to obtain copies,among them,Dr.Shepherd,George Stone,A.Flynn,Chas. Flynn,and Mr.Green,Public School Inspector. I am writing Mrs. Hart to-day,telling her that the books can be secured from you,but I think it would be well for you to communicate with some book-sellers in Sault Ste.Marie. In herletter she says that she hopes to be able to scatter a number of copies here and there among persons to whom she thinks they may be of service. I think it would be well for you to communicate with all the Harpers,as mentioned in one of my first letters to you.

I expect to be in Toronto on Thursday of next week, on my way to Chicago,and will look you up,if you are in the city on that day.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr.Gundy:

I have intended writing you each day since I left Toronto, but have been so busy that I have had no opportunity. I am sending you a copy of the Ottawa Journal,which contains an editorial reference to my book. I will also send you,as soon as I can get an extra copy, a number of the Message,published by St.Andrew's Church,of which Harper was a member,and which has a good review. I called in at the Westminster office after I left you and Parker,and found that Mr.Macgregor had already written a nice review in this month's Westminster. He told me that a copy would be sent to you. The Saturday Night of March 3 as a short article,signed "Canadienne" entitled "A Book of Remembrance," which has a complimentary reference to the book. Percy Parker was going to see Miss Jean Graham about a careful write-up of the book, which I presume will come independently. This may be her article,though I imagine she is likely to write something else as well.

Since returning to Ottawa I have had two or three letters from people in Toronto,asking me where they could get copies of my book. Mrs.Strathy of the Queen's Park,and Mrs.Grafton,residing at the Queen's Hotel,each mentioned to one of my sisters that they had been unable to

Volume 5

get a copy in any of the stores. I also heard through a friend, that Tyrell had only one copy left on Wednesday.

Mr. Hope here informs me that he had sent an additional order for 75 copies, but that you had been able to supply only 25. He also says that he has had letters from two bookstores in Montreal, asking if he could supply them with the book, or where it was to be obtained. All this looks as though there were some demand for the book, and I sincerely hope that you will be able to get copies into the stores pretty generally throughout the country. It was Hope's intention to fill one of the windows with copies when you supplied him with the number he had ordered. I presume you have already sent to Revell for an additional supply.

Knowing how busy you are with many things which have come up since the fire, I hesitated to trouble you about my book. Naturally, however, I am anxious to have the copies on the market while notices of it are appearing in the press. I think the fact that your first order from Revell is sold out so quickly will perhaps cause you to feel that there would be little risk in pushing the book as much as possible.

I am looking forward with pleasure to seeing you some day soon.

Dear Mr.Gundy:

You will see a very good editorial notice of my book in the Toronto Star of Saturday last under the heading "Worthy of Honour."

Wilfred Campbell,whom I have just seen,tells me that when in St.Thomas lecturing he referred at length to my book,and has since had a number of communications asking him where copies can be had. I hope you will send some copies to the bookstores in that city. Mr.John Coyne,the registrar of St.Thomas,was among the number enquiring for the book.

Have you sent a copy to Miss Warnock of the Mail and Empire? If not,I wish you would,as I have reason to know that she will give the book a careful review. Perhaps you would mention to her in sending it that it is being sent at my request,if you think this advisable. I would be obliged,too,if you would ring up Parker,and ask him if he has communicated with Miss Jean Graham of Saturday Night. He is one of the directors of Saturday Night,and told me that he would secure a good review for the book through Miss Graham.

I hope you have sent copies to the bookstores in Berlin and Waterloo. I have a great many friends in Berlin,who,I know will buy copies. I might also mention that Mrs.Alex.Goldie,of Galt,has written to a friend of mine,asking where she could obtain a copy,saying that there did not appear to be any copies in the bookstores in Galt. Perhapers you could bring this to the attention of one of the stationers in that place.

You may be interested in knowing that Mr.Byron E.Walker has written me from Gernany saying that he hoped this book would get into the hands of thousands of men and women in this country. He spoke very highly of it,and said he would do what he could towards making it known. Mr.Willison of the News has written me a very kind personal letter,in which he speaks in the highest terms of Harper's character as revealed in the book,saying that Harper's was an unusual character,that there is a singular maturity about many of his observations,and that he grew early into the idea of service in public duty. He desaribes my own work in the book as "admirable" and says "I have seldon found a book more easy to read,and there is no truer test of good workmanship in letters." Professor Clarke of Trinity,writes that he regards the book as "beautiful" and would like to see its influence extended.

Norman Duncan,in a letter received this morning,writes: "The book is good. I have been meaning to tell you so for a long time. It is altogether worthy of you and of the subject. I picked it up with the idea of giving it a critical reading,but soon forgot the purpose, and was completely absorbed by Harper's personality as revealed.....You have done a great deal more than portray. A more portrayal would,perhaps, have been inadequate,unsatisfying; but you have interpreted. You have made a life significant; this,of course with your own philosophy (which you have not permitted to obtrude) You have explained the physicial heroism of the man in a reasonable,beautiful and most convincing way. It is noble heroism of that sort. I do most heartily congratulate you upon this fine achievement." Knowing your opinion of Duncan,and your estimate of him as a critic,I thought you might be interested in this extract from his letter.

Dear Mr. King:-

Although a little late, I wish to write and tell you how thoroughly I enjoyed meeting you in Ottawa and the Luncheon at the Rideau Club, supported as we were by the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York and the Maker of Millions will long be a pleasant memory.

I had the pleasure of a visit from your father the other day and at his request sent a copy of the book to Mr. Hawkes of The World. Two very nice reviews have appeared lately in The News and The Globe; I shall send these on to Mr. Revell in New York, having in mind the idea of a circular.

St. Thomas is doing very well; had a further order to-day for six copies. Mr. Stewart, our Eastern Traveller is in St. John this week and has instructions to give your book a foremost place. Will keep you posted if anything of mutual interest occurs.

With kind regards,

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr.Cundy:

Enc-- The enclosed communication contained a first-rate reference to my book from the Literary Digest of March 31,which probably you have seen. I enclose the letter as I felt that possibly the writer might be known to you and that you might desire to phone him in connection with the book. I wrote telling him that I thought the book could be obtained at any of the bookstores in Toronto.

The Ontario Churchman of March had a fine review,also the Sunday World,Toronto,of March 25th and the Montreal Witness of March 31. The review in the Witness is one of the very best which has appeared. As I have sent my copies of these papers on to Mr.Revell I regret that I have not copies to forward to you. Perhaps you already have them at hand.

I wonder if you say the reviews from the Westminster Gazette,the Standard and the London Times. Each of these papers devoted nearly a column to the book,and have given reviews which should be extremely valuable for purposes of advertising.

His Excellency Earl Grey has promised to give me a paragraph which Mr.Revell can use in any circular he prints in reference to the book,giving His Excellency's opinion of it.

In a letter received from my father this morning he mentions that Mr.Ackland of the Globe told him that in the letter from Lally Bernard which will appear in the Saturday Globe a week from Saturday,there will be a first-rate reference to my book by Mrs.Humphrey Ward. It appears that there was an unveiling of a statue to Matthew Arnold at the Pasmore Edward settlement at which I lived while in London. Mrs.Ward is a niece of Matthew Arnold, and at whose country house I had the pleasure of staying part of the time while in England,spoke at the unveiling of this bust and referred to my connection with the settlement,also to my book and the influence of Matthew Arnold on Harper and myself. These things Lally Bernard has noted in her letter,which Mr.Acland says is a very good one. I should think this reference from Mrs.Ward would also be helpful.

One or two of my friends in Winnipeg have informed me that they have not been able to get any copies of my book in the stores there. I hope that something has been done toward getting it into some of the shops in that city. Also,what about Vancouver Victoria and Nanaimo in British Columbia? There are a number of people there to whom both Harper and myself were well known,and I think the book only needs to be brought to their attention to be purchased.

Hope tells me that he has secured 100 copies thus far and expects to require other copies soon. How about the bookstores in Toronto? It would be fine if enough copies could soon be sold to justify Mr.Revell in getting out the second edition. In this connection,all the splendid reviews and references which have appeared could be put to first-rate use.

I expect to be in Toronto during the Easter vacation, and will be glad to call and see you then.

With kind regards,I am,

Yours sincerely.

My dear Mr.Cundy:

I was very much delighted to receive your kind letter of the 30th ult.,with its generous congratulations. Please accept my very sincere thanks for them. Your kind thought in writing me has brought me much pleasure,and I value very much this mark of your friendship.

I am pleased to know what you say as to the prospect of my little book being taken on as supplementary reading. It has occurred to me that the circular which Mr.Revell is preparing and which contains extracts from the best references to the book,would be a useful thing to place before Mr.Colquhoun. I have a letter from Doran in which he says that it will be ready in a few days. From his account it is likely to be in the nature of a pamphlet,as a very large number of reviews are being included.

Mr.Byron E.Walker of the Bank of Commerce,in writing me some time ago,was kindenough to express the hope that the book might find its way into the hands of every young man and woman in the country. If you could arrange to have Mr.Walker say a word to Mr.Colquhoun or let Mr.Colquhoun know of Mr.Walker's opinion,

I think it might carry some weight with him. They are personal friends,if I am not mistaken,and I think Mr.Colquhoun has a high opinion of Mr.Walker's views.

Dear Mr. Mackenzie-King:-

I am glad to have your letter of the 4th. and am in communication with Mr. Colquhoun. The suggestion of interesting Mr. Byron E. Dear Mr.Gundy:

I was in Toronto yesterday and called at your office, but unfortunately it was after five and so I was not able to see you. I wanted to tell you I had a talk with Mr.Colquhoun atthe Normal School during the day,and he said to me that he would have pleasure in recommending my book, "The Secret of Heroism," to the Advisory Board as a book to be added to the list of supplementary reading in the schools. He informed me that the Board had the decision in the matter,but that he would do all he could to see that the book was put on the list,and that he thought it should be.

I am leaving for England on Thursday,so have not opportunity to follow up this matter further,but will be glad if you will do so. Perhaps you could ascertain who the members of the Advisory Board are,and have them supplied with copies of the little pamphlet containing the reviews which Mr.Revell has published recently.

I hope you will make a special effort with the book for the Christmas sale. I should think that booksellers pretty generally throughout the country might,with the notice which the

The Ray Court is going to give eight lectures on Canadian History. I was wondering whether you would care to join them if so, would you take the enclosed ticket. The price for the whole course is $10

Dear Colonel Hanbury-Williams:

I have just received your letter informing me that His Excellency has graciously recommended me for the honour of the Companionship of the Order of St. Michael and St.George, and asking if it would be agreeable to me to accept this honour should His Majesty see fit to confer it upon me.

I would, in truth, feel it the highest of honours to accept this honour from His Majesty, should His Majesty see fit to confer it. I am unable to say this, however, without expressing to His Excellency, with my feelings of deepest gratitude, something of the sense I have of my own unworthiness of a distinction so great and honourable. In so far as His Excellency's recommendation may constitute a claim for better service of my King and Country I shall seek to be more deserving of it as life goes by.

I am,

Yours very faithfully,

W.L.Mackenzie King.

Dear old Rex,

"The Secret of Heroism" reached me here on Saturday last and, I assure you, has been good reading - I finished it this afternoon - No one has such good qualities of mind and heart as you undoubtedly have for the appreciation and delineation of dear old Bert's nature - You have known him; and you have written what you knew - The book is a gem for the delicacy and taste in which you have published, but more than that it is a treasure to me for what it recalls. You have indeed succeeded in your work, Rex, for as I read the book, Bert seems to be speaking to me in it through his new thoughts and the interpretation of them by the friend he loved. I am off to Barrie now and no doubt Mrs. Ross also will have much to say about her appreciation.

With sincere thanks to you and any best wishes to yourself and Max,

This morning's mail gave me a pleasure that was two-fold in the reading of Jennie's letter (no doubt brought by you from Kingsmere) and the news in the Globe of your share in the King's Birthday honours. I must postpone the answer to the letter until a later leisure but in the meantime I would have you accept my sincere congratulations on the recognition you have received at the hands of the King.

Dear Mr King,

I hope you will pardon this tardy acknowledgment of "Secret of Heroism" which was received several weeks ago. I commenced a letter then - but words failed me when I tried to express my feelings. I wish I could now express fully my appreciation of the beautiful work your pen has turned out and I think you are to be congratulated upon the results of your literary efforts and your labor of love which animated the work. I am sure you have received generous praise from many people - but to Bert brothers & sisters your little volume means so much & has afforded so much pleasure and pride and comfort that you may never realize just how much we owe you.

Its message of sincerity & true manhood will be read by many who cannot fail to profit by the reading of it, and the evidence between lines of the warm & lasting friendship existing between hero & author must be a source of admiration & pleasure to the reader.

Dear old Bert! I never knew him as you did. He was a female boy when I left home and I saw but little of him after he reached manhood and got away from the discouragement of life insurance work. The soul of honor & integrity I never knew him to do a thing discreditable to himself or family as a boy or as a man. That you have penetrated the depths of his

I was very pleased indeed,on returning to Ottawa from intervening in a building trades strike in Calgaray,Alberta,to receive your letter of the 13th inst.,with the welcome announcement that you were to be in Trenton,Ont. during the latter part of this month and early in July. I doubt if I will be in Toronto on the 24th or 25th of this month,but it is possible that I may be in the vicinity of Trenton before the middle of July,in which event I will make a special effort to see you there. I am almost certain to be in Ottawa most of the time,as I have the annual report of the Department to prepare during the month of July,and expect to be pretty busily engaged upon i t during the first two weeks.

I am greatly interested in the subject of industrial assurance as a practical problem which is one of the most pressing of our times,and I would like very much to talk the matter over with you,not with the hope of offering any suggestion,but of receiving from you advice as to how I might become myself better informed. I am almost inclined to say that I would be prepared to commence a Government investigation so far as Canada is concerned.

grew upon me I could only wonder that a deed of heroism was necessary to let the world know what manner of man he was. Shall I confess to you - "For having entered beneath its portals there is no longer anything to conceal" - I have always thought that life must have been very easy for you that your sunny boyish nature was so, because sorrow had not yet dealt severely with you and I wondered how sorrows would appeal to you, neglect, unkindness, distrust or ill fortune, but when I thought that, I did not know your friend. I had not the faintest conception of what your friendship was, I had not yet been privileged to know a hero's inner life. To have the glad uplifting of knowing such a pure, rarely simple soul had really lived. When I thought of what it must have meant to you such a sorrow seemed to separate you from anyone I have ever known. As I closed the book, tears in both eyes and heart I wondered why God thought best to take such a helpful strong life away from us, so young - The old blind cry - and then the words of Lord

My dear Mr. King:

This is a grand and glorious western Spring day. The gardens are full of beautiful white Snowdrops: in fact we hardly know there has been a winter our here.

I really must apologize for our seeming neglect in not writing and thanking you for the lovely cards we

I can not express giving you all the credit that is due to you for such a masterpiece, it is all so like your own true self, I can assure you it will always be my most treasured book.

While writing I can see the dear old Quadra as she lies anchored in the Bay it was there you first talked to me of your friend Harper, his life and the book you were going to write I remember you reading, the last letter he wrote to you: they were days and hours never to be forgotten  once more thanking you for your kind remembrance. that was with Mrs. Harper's love to Mrs. King and yourself.

how much I love and appreciate the little book you sent me. it is beautifully arranged and well written. I have read it two or three times and it seems more pleasing each time.

Mr Harper certainly had a noble character you would know his thoughts and words were only from a true and honest heart.

I think it one of the most beautifully written books it has ever been my good fortune to read.

in fact I feel that an attractive personality this must have been, and what a power for good he was building within himself. The working of Providence in removing such a life from this world when at the very threshold of its usefulness, is indeed inexplicable. Wide and deep had he laid the foundations, strong and towering reared the superstructure, and though the completion was denied him it cannot be said that his life on his work was in vain.

In collecting and giving to the world his thoughts and aspirations you have in a measure accomplished what he would have done had he lived. Rex you have well done a good

I am glad to know that our dusky old friend "Pie-Pet" has a chance of again being a "happy big chief," and I hope he will be allowed to dance once a week even if he is lazy, ornament, shiftless and old - all of which I expect is true. He probably would not be any better than he was as Indians instead of "Lords of creation." What think you?

I am glad your Indian pictures came out well for mine did not. I am sending you by express to-day some enlargements and two albums of views taken around our camp. My dear "Pet":-

I am afraid you may think me very unappreciative in not having written more promptly to thank you for your letter with its cordial invitation to visit Ottawa Feb. 1st, and for that volume of charming poems of Wilfred Campbell's. I am never speaking personal with a thrill of delight to receive a book from your own pen and can hardly wait till it arrives. When it does come "Bill and Jimmy" will constitute themselves a "Court of Revision" and send you its findings. Must you sign simply?

I prize very much the autograph copy of Campbell, and find the poems delightful reading. The Ode to your friend Harper is fine, and "the Skeleton" written in your cottage I like very much. The "Lords Bath" and "Consolations of the Stars" are both appaling. I am so glad to get to know Campbell through these poems. I thank you so much for them.

I have been trying to discover a shadow of a chance to get out of this blooming town about Feb. 1st, so I could accept your very kind invitation to come to Ottawa but am afraid the fates are against me, for winter practice, college and hospital work have me pretty well tied down here for the next three months.

I cannot begin to tell you how sorry I am, for I know of no visit that would give me more real pleasure. To sit before a roaring fire and talk over with you our life on the Dei Appelle Marsh would in itself be a delight, and when you add that dinner, which will undoubtedly be a feast for both body & spirit, and the meeting again of those friends who so kindly entertained me at their camp - the temptation to break away from work becomes very strong. I have, for a long time, wanted to see Canada in winter and I hope that pleasure is in store for me before many years have passed.

I don't believe Peter will need any stirring up on the subject if he feels he can get away. He is looking so well this winter.

The next morning at the studio I found awaiting me "The Secret of Heroism".

It was indeed kind of you to send me the book, and thus enable me to more completely comprehend the beauty of character and nobility of soul so wondrously revealed therein.

there was indeed a rare privilege, to have the opportunity to endeavor to interpret your quoted lines. "Harper sought to keep unbroken, the vision of immortality which was his."

Would that the statue could serve to be the link between the memory of Harper, and the desire of others to seek further understanding of your Galahad, by reading the revelation of the "Why" in the — Secret of Heroism — Thus would the influence of that life continue to be felt, and to again quote

I am very grateful for your kind telegram of to-day. It is so like you to be always considerate & sympathetic, and such expressions on the part of yourself and others have been of great consolation to us.

My sister was called upon to suffer very much, and Providence was so merciful as to give her an Easy death. I have been at her bedside almost constantly, and am worn out: She did everything in our power to relieve her suffering, and to

I intend to remain here all this week and to be in Ottawa after that.

July 2nd,1906.

My dear Sir Wilfrid:

Your kind note renewing your congratulations to me on the honour which has been conferred has helped to deepen the sense I have of my inability to express to you~~self~~ aught of the gratitude I feel for this very great mark of your confidence and trust. Indeed it is a gratitude so deep that I doubt if the honour itself has brought a feeling that is comparable with it. In the light of the good opinion of yourself and His Excellency, all my past work---the little of it that there has been---seems to me so faulty,so unworthy,that it is with difficulty I am at all able to reconcile to myself the thought that there has been anything in it which could merit recognition. While this is so, I must confess that I am not a little proud to feel that my interest in the industrial life of Canada and in the welfare of the working classes,has commended itself so strongly to you,and that a cause which has its need of the best a nation can afford, should thus be dignified by your approval.

I am,with sincere thanks,

Dear Sir Wilfred:-

The hamlet of Bladworth is the supply point for settlers in approximately twelve townships surrounding. These townships have approximately fifty settlers each settled thereon. The country is open rolling prairie-devoid of trees. The settler depends for fuel on wood and coal obtained at the nearest railway station - Bladworth. The local dealers secure their wood from the Prince Albert Country and their coal generally from the Galt mines Lethbridge. No coal has been obtained from this latter source since April last. One car has been obtained from Banff Sept last since which no coal has been received here. Ten cars are under orders from Lethbridge and none delivered. One car is ordered from Souris and promised by the mine operators for the 17th December inst.

Bladworth Saskatchewan

Dear Sir Wilfred:-

The hamlet of Bladworth is the supply point for settlers in approximately twelve townships surrounding. These townships have approximately fifty settlers each settled thereon. The country is open rolling prairie-devoid of trees. The settler depends for fuel on wood and coal obtained at the nearest railway station - Bladworth. The local dealers secure their wood from the Prince Albert Country and their coal generally from the Galt mines Lethbridge. No Coal has been obtained from this latter source since April last. One car has been obtained from Banff Sept last since which no coal has been received here. Ten cars are under orders from Lethbridge and none delivered One car is ordered from Source and promised by the mine operators for the 17th December inst

Wood has been ordered from the Lowan Company Prince Albert and their answer is "we have neither Slabs, edgings nor cuttings and though we have enquired we are unable to purchase any ordered - their is none in the City"

Settlers here have been burning lumber at 30^{00} willow bramble, twisted hay and grain These sources are well nigh exhausted

Doctor J. Fyffe reports from observation that no fuel is in the settlers hands and that suffering and perhaps death will ensue therefrom. All public schools have closed for want of fuel. The Saskatchewan Hotel, a thirty roomed house has but one fire.

A Blizzard has been blowing on the 15, 16, and 17th inst with Zero weather. I leave you Sir to imagine what the condition of your fellow subjects are in this electoral district of Battoche - a name not unknown to history. This condition is not local, but general

I would respectfully ask that you Sir put an end to a dispute that is intolerable and the maintenance of which endangers the life and happiness ≠ (inalienable rights of all free people) of all settlers

I ask Sir on behalf of a suffering people that by the powers vested in you that the right of eminent domain be exercised

I can assure you Sir, without exaggeration that this matter is one of life and death to the settlers here, one requiring immediate attention

My dear Sir,-

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 19th instant. This matter is unfortunately a very serious one and, I am sorry, one over which the Government has no control. We have sent the Deputy Minister of Labour to Lethbridge with instructions to endeavour, if possible, to bring the strike to a close.

This is not a matter as to which we can give peremptory orders, but we have been, in fact, ready to offer, and have offered, all the police protection at our command and we will do anything else that is in our power to assist, but you will readily realize that it is not our business to supply the coal.

I have reason to believe that within a few days, if not already, a solution will have been found to the trouble.

Yours very sincerely, of the subject. I think it deserves to take rank as a Canadian classic. Certain the purity of spirit, constancy & elevation of purpose, and maturity of mind Pitt Harper possessed are most remarkable, especially perhaps the last, considering the early age at which he met his heroic death. I wish the book could be placed in the hands of every undergraduate of the University of Toronto, and I am not at all surprised at the attention it has attracted in England.

As I hear you are bringing out a new edition may I call attention to what I think must be a couple of misprints.

At p. 129 Mr Harper is made to say that "in his declaration the answer became compulsory education ... in Great Britain & Canada individualism will not go so far." Should not "collectivism" be substituted for "individualism".

Dept. of Labour
Immigration Policy - Hindus
Labour Disputes

Ottawa, Sept. 20, 1906.

Dear Mr. Lemieux:

I have instructed my secretary, Mr. Giddens, to handle all correspondence in the Department during my absence, and to consult with you in regard to any matters which it is important to bring to your notice. He has been working with me in the Department for over five years past, and knows my mind pretty intimately on all matters pertaining to the Department. You may, I think, have every confidence in his judgment and discretion. I have instructed him to refer to Mr. Edgar any matters which may require the signature of an Acting Deputy. As I will not be away very long, I do not think it desirable to appoint any one Acting Deputy during my absence, though in the event of any matters arising which will require the signature of such an officer, it would be my wish that Mr. Edgar should discharge these duties.

In the event of the Government deciding to exclude the Hindoos from British Columbia, I think it would be good policy for you, as Minister of Labour, to send a communication to the Victoria Trades and Labour Council, acquainting them with the action of the Government in the matter. It could refer to

Volume 5

a previous communication sent from the Department to that body by your direction. Mr.Giddens will be on the watch for this matter,and will bring you over the correspondence and a draft letter which it would be suitable to send.

In the event of the Department being asked to intervene in a strike,I would suggest that it might be advisable,in acknowledging receipt of the letter of the parties requesting the Department's intervention,to inform them that you have corresponded with the other party to the dispute, offering intervention under the Conciliation Act,in the event of the same being acceptable to both parties,and that as soon as you have received a reply you will again communicate with them in reference to their request. Mr.Giddens has in the Department complete files of previous correspondence,and will be able to shape these letters satisfactorily. In writing the other party to the dispute,it would be well to enclose a copy of the Conciliation Act,and say that you would be pleased to lend your good offices toward bringing the parties together,in the event of the same being acceptable.

Unless the strike has been on for some time,there will be no harm in keeping the parties at bay by correspondence as to the time at which you could get away,and it is advisable, in the event of intervening,to inform the parties at the outset.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 5

that your time is linited,and that you hope they will do all in their power to assist you in bringing about a speedy termination of the difficulties. Your strong weapon in any negotiations is to point out that as Minister,under the Act,you are obliged to acquaint parliament and the public with the facts in connection with the situation,and that you hope it will not be necessary for you to draw attention to what appears to be an unfair position of one side or the other. In the case of a strike in the province of Quebec,I think Mr.DuBreuil might be entrusted to act as a conciliator,though it would be well for you to begin negotiations yourself and send him with a letter at the last minute. I do not think it would be advisable to send any other officers in the Department on such a mission.

Of course the Department need only intervene unless requested to do so by oneof the parties. It is always a good answer to give in the House,to any complaint as to inaction on the part of the Department,to say that intervention has not been requested.

Yours faithfully,

WLMK

Dear Mr.Lighthall:

You have indeed been more than kind in the exceptionally fine review which you have given my little book. I appreciate it more than I can say,and am deeply grateful to you for it. Dear King,

There is no subject in this country at the present time that interests more people than the great subject of Canada and its future. In fact, people are just beginning to discover that there is something more than a narrow ribbon stretching across the Northern frontier of the United States. The difficulty with the Canadians who live in this country is that when a citizen of the United States asks one of them for a book on Canada which after reading would give him an adequate idea of the country, its history, its present position and its possible future, there is no book which can be recommended. We have a great many books about Canada and some histories of Canada, but nothing that gives a picture of the country in its proper perspective and with sufficient details to complete it in an artistic way.

The result is that I have been thinking for some time about such possibilities, and have been fortunate enough to secure as an author possibly the person who could best do this work. In fact, I believe she can do it best, or I never should have secured her.

We expect to have a book on Canada by Miss Agnes Laut. It will have possibly three hundred pages or more, and we are assured of a sale of some forty thousand to begin with. We shall be very much disappointed if it does not go to one hundred thousand. Why I am writing to you is that I believe in getting out such a book as this it would be wise to have the opinions of representative men in the Dominion of Canada as to what ought to be included in such a book. I do not mean by this that I would ask you to give an exhaustive opinion, but to suggest what seem to you things that cannot afford to be passed over. I assure you that our firm would greatly appreciate any answer you may make to this question, and more than that, it will help us to present Canada to the world from the most favorable and comprehensive point of view.

My dear Locke:

I was absent at an Old Boys' Re-Union at Berlin when your letter of the 6th inst., was received at the Department, and since my return I have not had an opportunity of acknowledging it until today. I must ask you therefore, to pardon me for not having replied at an earlier date.

I am pleased to know that your firm intend to publish a book on Canada of the kind of which you speak, and I much appreciate your kindness in including me among the number whose opinions you are requesting as to what ought to be included in such a book.

I presume that,as a background for such a work, there will be the usual historical sketch of the political and constitutional development of the country and the features instant thereto, and a descriptive account of the natural features of the country. What a writer might be apt to overlook is both the political and industrial significance of the future arising out of the geographical position of Canada in its relation to other parts of the British Empire and the rest of the world. The great railway development, the settlement of the West, the vast areas available for cultivation, the possibilities of trade with the Orient, are all features demanding special attention. The continued prospects of the industrial classes at a time when immigration has been so enormous is something which should be noted. There is perhaps not another country in the world in which the standard of the comfort of the masses is so great or the opportunities for the many are so numerous as in Canada.

Some emphasis should be given, I think, to the evidences of culture which are so rapidly increasing in our midst. Enough work has been done by Canadian poets, writers, artists and others to demand some special recognition.

One might suggest almost an infinite number of subjects, but it is altogether probable that most of them have already been thought of and noted. The one or two points here mentioned will probably have been noticed, but I think they are worthy of some emphasis. The book should, I think, try to off-set any current false notions about the country in a marked way. Rudyard Kipling's "Our Lady of the Snows", gave the idea that Canada is a northern uninhabitable clime, and Sarah Bernhardt's remark that there are no evidences of culture in Canada have between the two of them helped to convey to many a false impression of the country. Special care should therefore, I think, be given to remove both impressions to the extent to which this may be possible.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

My dear King,

I hope you will have returned victoriously from your struggle at Fernie by the time this reaches you. It was hard to have to rush off to the Pacific after a laborious Atlantic voyage without a moments rest. But this is to give you news up to date. I have seen much of the little establishment in Sloane Square since you left & have nothing but good news to report. About 3 weeks ago they moved from their not quite satisfactory lodgings to a delightful furnished flat (10 Cadogan Mansions, Sloane Square, W.) which has been taken for some months, and there they are blissfully comfortable and well looked after. Mrs. Hamilton is in touch with Mrs. D'Oyly Carte & hopes soon to be on the edge of ~~a~~ Comic Opera engagement, & she has made a highly successful first appearance at a provincial concert. I have heard much of her singing lately, & she has every chance of doing well, so she is in good spirits & full of hope. Her brother is expected to arrive before Christmas & complete the party. He is coming over to do research work at St.

Mary's under Sir. A. Wright.

It will be a good deal of a relief to me to know that there is a man in the house, as two women on the edge of professional life in London need as much help of a masculine kind as possible.

Miss Hamilton is playing on steadily in the Shaw pieces, and I am pretty confident that before long she will be given her chance in a part really suited to her. So far, of course, she is engaged in the useful drudgery of understudying & playing minor parts. She looks well & I think is happy enough. She is obviously popular at the Theatre & soon, I hope she will have gathered a solid body of friends and acquaintances. I am trying to collect a few for them on my own account.

I don't know if her people still worry about her being on the stage. If they do, I hope they don't make it the chief burden of their correspondence, as that would have a depressing effect only, & it would be easy for her to suffer depression — away from home & among strangers.

In the next 6 months at least I shall be able to keep a close eye on their fortunes, & even after that I am likely to remain in London for a while if not for good.

I hope you are doing a little effective work in Canada with

Dear Sir.

I have been greatly interested in your book 'The Secret of Heroism' which I have had for some time but which I only read recently. It takes some time to get round to all the books. I am in the habit of giving Sunday night addresses based upon striking books when they are worth while and took up your book last night as a character study for young men. I have known young men like Harper and they are always interesting as their influence. I think I understand Harper's attitude in regard to the Church and the reason for it. I have endeavored in my own ministry to make the Church a real integral part of the community's life and not a side attachment. I was pastor in Winnipeg for 8 years and in Vancouver for over 4. and have always taken an interest in Social Problems. I have had some share in strike settlements. I think Harper showed marvellous insight in those matters. Ch 15 8-15 9. He gives a true view of things as they are. Thanking you for the book. Yours sincerely D MacBeth

Before leaving Government House I received a copy of your "The Secret of Heroism", and I have read it with much satisfaction.

I spoke to Mr. Bertram about the matter and they fully understand that a new edition of five hundred copies is to be distributed for Mr. Carnegie's account under some arrangement to be suggested by you to Mr. Bertram.

My object in writing at this time is first to thank you for your consideration in sending me your most interesting book, and secondly, to express my pleasure at meeting you and the hope that I may soon have the satisfaction of welcoming you here in New York.

My dear Mackenzie King,

My wife and I are going through Canada this autumn and on our way are to call at Ottawa. We shall leave Liverpool some time about August 17th and we should be glad to see you while we are in your neighbourhood, as we have many things to talk over with you.

I should like to know what is going on in the way of emigration : what its effect is going to be on the Canadian race ? How far Quebec has remained separate from the rest of Canada ? What position the Jews are now occupting in Canada ? What the industrial mind of Canada is, e.g., Protection, Imperial Prefernce, &c., ? I should also like to see at least one of your Settlements, say, a Salvations Army Settlement of a Doukhobors Settlement.

If possible, I should also be glad to have an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. If you could help us in any way, in this or in a similar direction, we should be exceedingly obliged.

We are going on to New Zealand and out time in Canada will be quite limited.

We follow your proceedings with much interest.

Dear Sir/-

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 11th inst, regarding rates of freight from Calgary and Vancouver to Liverpool and the Orient.

The present rates on the articles you mention are as follows,-

Calgary to Liverpool, on wheat 46¾¢, on flour 44½¢ per 100 lbs.

Hong Kong)

Vancouver to Liverpool, on canned fish 85¢ per 100 lbs.
on pickled fish
in barrels - - 96½¢ " " "

on lumber (fir, larch or spruce) $1.06 per 100 lbs on lumber (cedar and pine) $1.16 " " " Vancouver to Yokohana) on canned fish $6.00 per ton weight of 2,000 lbs.

HongKong)

in brls. - - $6.50 per ton weight of 2,000 lbs.

The rates mentioned are made up of the inland rates, plus the ocean rates from the seaboard, and as, you are no doubt aware, ocean rates are continually fluctuating, the through rates named are therefore only approximate.

As there is never any coal shipped from Vancouver to the Orient, or to Vancouver we have nothing in force on this business. You also ask for rate on lumber from Vancouver to Yokohama and Hong Kong. Each shipment of this business is subject to special contract, but the rate is about $10.00 per thousand feet, but as already stated these ocean rates change, and this would be merely approximate.

Trusting the information I have given will be of service to you

Yours very truly.

My dear McKenzie:

I hope you will accept from a fellow clansman a little volume, which I feel sure will be of some interest to you. Notwithstanding that it was written by myself, it contains much that I know will appeal to you. It is a memoir of my friend Harper, who was associated with me at one time in the work of this Department. You may, perhaps remember my referring to him in some talks I had with you. I wrote the book after returning from Nanaimo, and had really intended to send you a copy long before this. However, the delay up to the present gives me an opportunity of sending with it my best wishes to you for Christmas and the New Year, as well as for the years to come.

I have often thought of our talks together while in Nanaimo. Though it was a little over a year ago, it seems in some ways but yesterday, in others like years. I have forgotten many incidents of the strike, but I shall always remember the opinion I formed of the men who were on the committee with which I had to deal, and particularly the high regard which I had for yourself.

With best wishes, believe me,

Yours sincerely,

I have grown to like this little country town very well, and the life has taught me many things in which I was sadly deficient before.

It is a pleasant, rolling, stony country, picturesque by reason of its irregularities. For the most part the farms are small but the farmers coming as they do from Scottish stock are naturally thrifty and have overcome many difficulties that must have been encountered in its first wild state.

I hope that you are very well, and have likewise and "making it go" as I know he will.

Dear Mr. King:

I have just now finished reading, not for the last time, your new book, and I wish to thank you for that memorial and inspiration.

It is my misfortune that I knew Harper but slightly and had seen little but the lighter side. Needless to say, I liked him and would have been glad to have known him better.

When he left us, I felt, as all must have felt, with what unhesitating noble generosity he freely gave a full life which held much for him (for he must have known how remote was the chance of escape), but until I read your book I owned realize how many good reasons there were for seeing in Sir Sala-had a type of the clean white-ness of Harpis personality

To have lost such a friend was a loss indeed, but to have the memory of such a character is consolation indeed. It is good to know that there is a record by which the influence of his life still lives and works among men, for good; such a beneficent memorial is that which he might have wished.

At the risk of reintroducing an old acquaintance I enclose a copy of some verses of Henry Newbolt which seem true to interpret some of Harpis spirit in all his undertakings

With renewed thanks for your book and for the inspiration it may give. I am

Vitaï Lampada

There's a breathless hush in the Close tonight —
Ten to make and the match to win —
A bumping pitch and a blinding light,
An hour to play and the last man in.
And it's not for the sake of a ribboned coat —,
Or the selfish hope of a season's fame,
But his Captain's hand on his shoulder smote —
"Play up! Play up! and play the game!"

The sand of the desert is sodden red, —
Red with the wreck of a square that broke; —
The Gatlings jammed and the Colonel dead,
And the regiment blind with dust and smoke.
The river of death has brimmed his banks,
And England's fair, and Honour a name,
But the voice of a schoolboy rallies the ranks:
"Play up! Play up! and play the game!"

This is the word that year by year,
While in her place the School is set,
Every one of her sons must hear,
And none that hears it dare forget.
This they all with a joyful mind
Bear through life like a torch in flame,
And falling fling to the host behind —

Dear Mr.Macrae:

Of the many kind notes which some of my friends have sent me during the last few days, none has brought me more pleasure than yours,just received,recalling,as it does,my meetings with you in Hamilton,and the more recent word or two which we had while you were in Ottawa not long ago.

I am deeply grateful for your kind congratulations and generous wishes. They are the more welcome,coming as they do,so unexpectedly,and from one for whom I have so high a personal regard. This is only one more of the many kindnesses for

I am desirous of getting an illustrated article on Rideau Hall,treated in a somewhat reminiscent or picturesque way,and I have thought that you would be particularly well qualified to write it. Would you care to ? If you would I should be glad to hear from you, and to receive any suggestion that you might care to make. There is no great hurry.

Dear Sir,

May I venture to ask you to accept a copy of a little biography of Arnold Toynbee? It is a tribute to his memory from one who not having seen him was yet inspired by him.

I enclose some papers at Miss Toynbee's request, stating briefly the aims of an Association which, working hopefully, owes much to his teaching. If you will kindly send Canadian address, I will get a photo of the grave.

Dear Mr. King.

I know you have done many useful things while I was busy writing one big tedious books — One feels always obliged to apologize for such a waste of time. Anyhow, the book is there — a history of the beginnings of the factory system in England — and I send it to you with my best regards. I hope you will help it to work its way into Canada, and perhaps into the States, where I know you have numerous friends. Believe me with kind regards

Ottawa, May 31. 1906.

My dear Mantoux:

I am sorry that the nature of our Labour Gazette is not such that it is not possible for me to do more than, as mentioned in my letter to you, give a very brief notice of your splendid book, in its pages. Such as it is, it will have this much in its favour, that it is the only book, other than a purely official report, which has received any notice in our Labour Gazette. You will quite understand why, unless we should undertake to review books generally, it is a wise policy not to review any. The Gazette will be out in about two weeks and I will send you a copy.

The more I look into your book, the more I am impressed with the fact that it certainly should be published in England and in English, and I can think of no better publishers than the Mac-Millans. Why do you not translate the book yourself, and make an arrangement with them for publishing it? Perhaps you feel that in writing the book and publishing it in your own country, you have already done all that you care to do. Of course I know nothing of what your intentions or desires or present arrangements may be, and therefore hesitate to make any suggestion. On the other hand I feel that the book is of a kind that some person is apt, sooner or later,to undertake the work of translation,if you do not do it yourself,and possibly do it without consulting with you,or what is worse,will go along and take out chapters or the substance of it and embody the material in a production of his own. I think, therefore,that the book ought to be translated and copyrighted at an early date. It may be that until the book gets well on the market you would feel that an English translation might prejudice the sale of your own edition,and for this reason prefer not to have an English translation made. If this is not so,however,and you think it would be a good thing to have the volume translated,I would like to know whether you know of anyone who is doing the work at present,or whether you have made arrangements with anyone toward this end. If nothing has yet been done,what would you think of my undertaking the translation,provided I could make an arrangement with some first-class publishing house such as the MacMillans in England for the publication of the book,when translated,on such a basis as would be satisfactory to you?

I have before me a translation by S.Morley Wickett,Ph.D., lecturer on Political Economy and Statistics at the University of Toronto,of the volume, "Industrial Evolution" by Carl Bucher, Professor of Political Economy,University of Leipsic. I find,on reading through the prefatory note which Mr.Wickett has written, that the volume has had in Germany an unusually large circulation, and has recently been translated into French,Russian and Bohemian. I predict the same for your book,substituting German for French and English for Bohemian,and if this is to be the case I would indeed be pleased to have the honour of sharing in the work.

I am fairly familiar with English economic history,and particularly with modern industrial questions,so that I feel I could do justice to the task,so far as the economic phraseology is concerned. I might require,in the work of translating,the assistance of one or two French and English scholars,but as I have among my friends at Ottawa,many who are such,and on whose co-operation I think I could count in any undertaking of the kind,I would feel pretty sure than any translation I might undertake to make would be to your entire satisfaction.

Please do not think me presumptuous in making this sort of suggestion to you. I know that my name might never occur to you in this regard. On the other hand,it may be that my connection with the Government of Canada as Deputy Minister of Labour,and my being a graduate of both English and United States universities would,for your purposes,make me a more suitable person to undertake the work of translation than some other who might undertake the work.

I should add that were you to think it desirable to have the book translated I would feel that it is most desirable that the best publishing house possible should be obtained,and the Macmillans because of their having three publishing houses,in England,the United States and Canada,as well as because of their high rank as a publishing house in connection with economic works. would be the best. Of course I do not know whether they would be willing to undertake the publication. I would have to see what could be done in that way,but I know rather intimately one or two of the men who are a strong influence in the company,and I think I could secure their support. Wickett's volume,which is entitled on its back "Bucher's Industrial Evolution" has been published by Henry Holt & Company of New York.

I would be glad to have your views on this matter,and please do not hesitate to speak quite frankly. My main purpose in writing you now is that you may know how I feel,and not be tempted to make any arrangement or allow anything to be done which might be less satisfactory.

With very kind regards,believe me,as always,

Mais il faudrait faire prendre à ce projet une forme pratique, c'est à dire trouver un éditeur. Voulez-vous demander à Macmillan, puisque vous êtes en rapports avec la maison, d'examiner le livre? peut être seront-ils d'un autre avis que les représentants de la maison à Londres, qui ont traité cette affaire prima facie, et sans lui accorder réellement aucune attention. Vous pourriez voir à quelles conditions se ferait l'entreprise, et m'en écrire aussitôt.

Je n'ai actuellement aucun engagement vis-à-vis de personne, traducteur ni éditeur, et je n'en prendrai aucun sans vous avertir. Si nous pouvions faire ce que vous me proposez, ce serait, je crois, une chose excellente, pour laquelle je vous devrais beaucoup de remerciments, et qui établirait entre nous, j'espère de nouveaux liens amicaux. Mon cher Mackenzie King.

Vos deux lettres m'ont fait le plus grand plaisir car rien n'est plus agréable, lorsqu'on a fini un ouvrage, que de l'entendre louer par un lecteur vraiment compétent. Et je suis presque confus des éloges que vous m'adressez. — A vrai dire pendant que j'écrivais ce livre, j'étais plein de doute sur le résultat de mon travail: je craignais d'avoir tenté une entreprise trop difficile, et de rester finalement écrasé sous la masse que j'avais soulevée. Ce sont des approbations comme les vôtres qui m'ont rassuré et m'ont donné plus de confiance en moi-même. A certains moments je me disais que ce livre pourrait me valoir mon grade de docteur ce serait peut-être le seul service qu'il pourrait rendre; mais à présent j'ai meilleur espoir sur son avenir.

L'idée de le faire traduire en anglais m'est

vendre tout de suite. Et lorsque j'ai reçu votre lettre, j'étais revenu depuis quelques jours à peine d'un petit voyage à Londres, entrepris tout exprès pour trouver un éditeur. Plusieurs maisons ont reçu ma visite : Macmillan d'abord, auquel j'avais pensé comme vous ; John Murray, Longmans, Green and Co., et Methuen. Enfin, j'ai reçu depuis mon retour, une lettre de Heinemann, qui demande à examiner le livre en vue d'une traduction.

Macmillan et Murray ont répondu négativement. Et c'est ici que je regrette de n'avoir pas eu les recommandations personnelles que vous m'offrez si aimablement : Macmillan m'a fait rendre le livre sans le lire. J'aurai certainement une réponse prochaine des autres, mais je l'attends encore. Je ne sais pas d'ailleurs si leurs propositions me plairont.

Votre proposition d'être mon traducteur est un honneur pour moi, et je ne saurais trop vous en remercier : en entreprenant cette tâche longue et ingrate, vous me donneriez une preuve extraordinaire de l'intérêt que le livre vous inspire. Je serais impardonnable de refuser, mais je ne puis, pour les raisons que je vais vous dire, accepter immédiatement. — J'avais pensé, non à traduire le livre moi-même, mais à le faire traduire sous ma surveillance directe, par une personne que je connais : l'ouvrage contient d'ailleurs un grand nombre de citations anglaises que j'ai traduites, et dont je puis seul fournir le texte original. Sans cela, il faudrait rechercher ces textes dans les livres d'où ils ont été tirés, ce qui serait très long. — J'ai parlé de cette combinaison aux éditeurs de Londres que j'ai vus, en leur demandant de faire les frais de cette traduction, plus un pourcentage sur la vente. L'avantage d'avoir un traducteur tel que vous, et le plaisir de collaborer en quelque sorte malgré la distance, sont des motifs très suffisants pour me faire renoncer à cet arrangement — qui du reste n'a pris aucune forme définitive. Et votre titre actuel, vos

Fiens prêt à vous écrire si la réponse d'un des éditeurs de Londres est de nature à changer mes dispositions ou les vôtres.

Je n'ai pas à présent de projet de voyage en Amérique, mais je trouverai certainement, un jour ou l'autre, le temps de vous rendre visite si j'en ai l'occasion. Il faudrait que je fasse ce que ont fait plusieurs de mes compatriotes : quelques mois de conférences dans les universités. Je ne sais pas, d'ailleurs, si on me choisira jamais pour cette ambassade, mais cela n'a rien d'impossible. — Je serais heureux de pouvoir vous voir chez vous, et de connaître votre beau pays autrement que par les yeux des autres.

Nous autres Français sommes très casaniers, vous savez. Mais vous, il est probable en tout cas que nous vous reverrons ici. En attendant l'occasion de vous revoir, merci encore — particulièrement pour la mention de mon livre dans la Labour Gazette —

My dear Mackenzie King

The more I think of your kind proposal, the more I believe it would be a great mistake not to avail myself of it.

The London publishers are showing themselves very reluctant to undertake a piece of business which is their opinion would not sufficiently pay. But I feel rather confident, as you do, in the future of the book. It would be well worth the while to try Americ as publishers: your help, of course, would be very valuable to me if you can undertake to persuade them.

I send you by to-day's post an article in the Literary Supplement of the Times (p. 230) which is very satisfactory, and may impress those who can't much appreciate the book by themselves. Believe me

July 1st 1906.

"My dear Sir

"I have been reading with great interest and profit your able and suggestive book on La Révolution Industrielle. and have felt that this first complete and adequate treatment of this important phase of industrial hist ory should be made available to English readers through a translation.

"I am therefore writing you at the suggestion of the publishers Henry Holt and Co. to inquire whether, in case you have not already made arrangements, you would care to authorize a translation which would be published for American and English readers. It might be necessary to abridge the work somewhat, leaving out a goodly portion of the footnotes, and perhaps a chapter or two. If this were done, I think it would have a large sale in the United States for use in University classes. But I hardly think it would be of use in its present extended form.

"May I inquire whether you would be willing to have an abridged translation made, and on what terms?

Very sincerely yours
Frank Haigh Dixon
Professor of Economics, Dartmouth College.

What could I do but inform Mr. Dixon ~~but to inform him~~ of your kind proposal of undertaking yourself the translation of my book, and to ask him to communicate with you about it? Perhaps there is something to do in that direction, if you are not sure to find a publisher yet.

But I must know before all what you do think of the proposal? Would an abridged translation do? I suppose it would make the publishing of a complete translation impossible? On all these points I must have your advice, and I hope you will be my translator: Prof. Dixon does not say he wishes to translate the book himself. He seems to act merely as Messrs. Holt and Co's adviser.

Anyhow, I am very glad to have received his letter, which strengthens my belief that an English translation of the book has a fair chance to be successful. Believe me

My dear Mackenzie King,

I am glad to send you my best congratulations for the honour bestowed upon you by the British government: I am sure nobody deserves it better than you do; the reading of the Labour Gazette enables me to appreciate the excellent work you are doing for your country, and to foresee the brilliant career which is just beginning for you.

Thank you very much for the article, the value of which is much increased by its exceptional character in a publication like yours. I would have thanked you already, if I had not been far from home when it was received here: I had to go to the army for one of our regular periods of 28 days - the last one in my case. I am now in a country house near Paris, enjoying some rest, which seems to me delightful indeed.

What about our translation? The American professor, who had written to me about it some time ago, writes again, that it is all right if you can undertake the work, and that his only wish is to see the book translated into English. Have you tried Henry Holt and Co.? As soon as you see your way to a practical solution of the problem, I shall on my side set myself to work, in order to provide you with the quotations etc. I hope I shall be able to secure the collaboration which you were so kind as to offer to me: a translator like you is not to be found easily. Mantoux, Paul

Ottawa, Sept. 6, 1906.

My dear Mantoux:

I fear you will think that I have deserted you entirely. The truth is I have been expecting for a month past to hear, almost daily whether or not I would be sent to England this fall, in which event I had hoped that I might be able to perhaps have a personal interview with you. I have just learned that the Government has decided to send me to interview the British authorities in regard to certain legislation which it is hoped the Imperial parliament will pass in the interests of this country. I am leaving for London in about three weeks time, and will be glad if you would send me a line addressed in care of the High Commissioner for Canada, 17 Victoria street, London, S.W., telling me whether you are likely to be in England or whether, by taking a run over to Paris for a day or two I could count on seeing you there. If time will permit it, that is what I would like to do.

I might say that although having failed to correspond, I have not been neglecting your interests in the matter of the translation. I have had a letter from Henry Holt & Company, New York, asking me if I would be willing to undertake the translation. I wrote them on receipt of [illegible] letter saying that you and I were corresponding at the present time,and that I would probably receive from you the sole right to make a translation,but that I would be pleased to hear from them as soon as possible as to what proposition they were prepared to make,so that I could submit it to you,and learn from you whether or not it was acceptable. I have not,up to the present time,received a reply to this letter.

On the other hand,I have been in correspondence with the Macmillans through their Canadian representative,whom I know very well,and the president of the company here,to whom the Canadian representative has referred my letter. The president has written me that he has corresponded with the New York house of Macmillans, who state that they would be much interested in a translation of your book,but that until they see the kind of book it would make,it would be difficult for them to state what terms they would be prepared to offer,but that as soon as I am in a position to take up the matter with them by sending manuscript they will deal promptly with it. The president goes on to say that if the New York house publishes it,it will also be published in London by the Macmillans and in Canada,and will appear in the catalogue of the Australian branch of the English house in Melbourne.

I am writing to-day to the president of Macmillans,informing him of my intention of going to London in a few weeks,and asking for letters to the head of the company there. Before seeing them,I will have had the opportunity of a talk or further communications with you across the Channel,and I think we could probably effect a satisfactory arrangement. Even if I am unable to undertake the translation myself,I have strong hopes of being able to secure the Macmillans for you. They,of course,would be in every way the very best house, controlling,as they do,the market in the English-speaking world.

I might say in regard to undertaking the translation,that my time during the coming winter is,I think,going to be less my own than I had at first expected. A good deal depends,therefore,on what you have in the way of translated extracts on hand,as to whether or not I would be able to undertake the work with the promise of carrying it through to your satisfaction. I would have to arrange with a stenographer to do the typewriting,and also,perhaps,with a translator in the Government who is a personal friend of mine,to give me the kind of assistance which I would need to push through the work rapidly. Something will,therefore,depend,of necessity,on the kind of proposition which the Macmillans or the Holts may make. However,I can discuss all these things with you in person much better than by letter.

Having written you as to undertaking the translation,I feel a kind of obligation to go on with it,and my very strong desire is to do so,if at all possible. I will be able to explain to you, however,wherein my time has become less my own than I had anticipated

when writing you,and why it will be necessary in the event of my undertaking the work to resort to the expedients which I mention in this letter. I do so for another reason,which is that you may not rely exclusively on me,but see,in the interval,if there is any other arrangement which would be possible for you to make toyour satisfaction.

I have received your kind letter extending your congratulations on the honour which I have recently received. Believe me,that I appreciate very sincerely your kind words in reference thereto.

With very kind regards and hoping to see you in the course of a month,I am,

My dear Mackenzie King.

Many thanks for all the trouble you are taking on account of my book. If we could get it published by the Macmillan Co., it would be even better than I was entitled to expect. I am sure your name will help on the book a great deal: if you can't find time to undertake the whole thing yourself. which I perfectly understand. I'll be never-theless indebted to you for taking the responsibility of it.

I am delighted to think I shall see you soon. I can't go to London now: my Teaching occupations must be resumed - after the long vacation. which is about to end - on Tuesday next. Oct. 2. But if you can spare a few days and pay us a visit, you are more than welcome. It is a pity our Paris flats are so short of room: otherwise you would have been my guest. But of course you will take your meals with us, and give us as much your time as you will find convenient. If you can come in the second half of the week, you will find me nearly free. My most busy day is Tuesday: between Thursday at noon. and Monday morning, my time every week is almost entirely mine - and will be yours.

I have no doubt we'll find it very easy to agree in a definite way about the undertaking which you kindly offered to pursue. I have many texts and notes in Paris which will make the work easier for you. Believe me with kind regards

Oct. 25th. 1906.

My dear Mantoux,

I owe you a thousand apologies for not having written to you long before this to tell you of my arrival in London, and to thank you for your kind letters. The explanation is that as I spent one or two weeks in Scotland before coming to London this time, I did not receive your last letter until arriving here a day or two ago. Your first letter, through a mistake at the High Commissioner's Office, was sent to Canada and has only just come back to me.

Though I have not written, owing to the great pressure I have been under since coming to London to further the special mission on which I have been sent over, before the business of the present Parliament got too much under-way, I have not been unmindful or neglectful of your interests. I wrote to Macmillan's telling them I was coming here and asking for an appointment, which I had at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. I had a long talk with Mr. George Macmillan of the firm, who had the previous correspondence in hand. The substance of what he said was this:- He would like you to forward to him a copy of your book. He will look it over himself and refer it to one or two persons at the London School of Economics, and will endeavour to let us know (if he receives the book promptly, before the end of next week) whether the firm would be willing to undertake the risks of publication. He said he was rather doubtful as to whether they would be able to make the venture, but if the prospect appeared at all favourable they would be willing to stretch a point in your favour. Should the firm undertake to publish the book they would incur all the risks of publication which would include a small allowance to meet expenses of typewriting, etc. in the preparation of the translation. After the risks of publication have been met, they would be willing to divide the profits equally, whatever they might be.

I might tell you, in strict confidence, that the reason I have hesitated, since first writing you, about undertaking the translation, and why so much depends upon what you may have in translated form, is that there is a possibility of my becoming a candidate for Parliament almost at any day, and on very short notice. If I were in the thick of a first campaign, I fear the translation might suffer. However, if you have much English material, or have any parts translated yourself, I would probably be able, with the assistance of which I wrote you from Ottawa, to see that the English translation was in good form, etc.

I am almost afraid that I shall not be able to get over to Paris after all, as, from cables which I have received since crossing over, I find it will be necessary for me to sail a week from this Saturday. I wish, however, very much that I could have accepted your invitation to spend a day or two with you. Nothing would have given me more pleasure.

Let me hear from you as soon as you receive this letter, and send over your book at once to Macmillan's. Address the firm, Macmillan Publishing Co., St. Martin's Street, London.

We have at least made this much advance, that the Macmillan's are prepared to consider anew the publication of the book, and, in the event of undertaking it, to meet all risks.

Do please forgive me for not having written you more promptly and believe me, as always,

Your sincere friend,

My dear Mackenzie King.

I am sorry to lose the pleasant prospect of seeing you here. I am especially sorry not to be able to thank you viva voce for the trouble you have been taking about my book. I'll send to-day — copy to Mr. George Macmillan and advienne que pourra. Did I tell you that the English Historical Review in its July number published a very favourable account of the book? I have met with no harsh criticism yet, and I really hope the work is strong enough to force its way on.

I wish you success as a candidate for Parliament. I have no doubt a great career opens before you. I am the more grateful to you for the time you manage to spend on my account, and I hope, if you undertake the translation, to spare as much work as possible by sending over to you all the English texts of my quotations.

The terms offered by Macmillan are fair enough. The only question would be this: what does exactly mean "to divide the profits"? Would the firm keep the whole produce of the sale till a sum equal to the cost of printing etc. has been recovered and then give us 50% on the price of each volume sold? Or would they prefer any other system[x]?

The main point at present is, whether they will publish the translation at all. But if they do, I'll be much indebted to you indeed. Believe me

yours very sincerely

Personal
Mentioned

My dear Mackenzie King.

Mr. George Macmillan sends me a letter which contains very kind expressions concerning my book, but ends by a definite refusal to undertake the publication. I think I ought now, since there is nothing to hope from that side, to revert to Holt and Co.'s proposal.

You may remember that I received in July last a letter from Prof. Frank Haigh Dixon, of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H., who offered in the name of Holt and Co to publish an abridged translation of my book, for the use of University classes. I answered then that you had been so kind as to offer to be my translator. Will you now try and write to Holt, from whom (you must take this into account) the proposal came without any request from me? I am sure they will be as ready to undertake the publication as they were four months ago.

If you felt that you have taken too much trouble already about this, and if you were not sure to find the necessary time among your many and important occupations, don't be afraid of my being in the least angry with you. Tell me only if you care to write to Holt: otherwise I'll write myself.

I am so sorry that you have not been able to come over here, even for a few days. Now I feel it is a duty for me to go to Canada. But you know America seems to us much further off than Europe is to you. Believe me

yours very sincerely

My dear Mantoux:

I fear that I am destined to begin everyletter to you with an apology. I assure you, however, that the circumstances which render this necessary are of a nature which I am unable to control. No sooner had I returned to Canada from England than I was immediately sent by the Government out to the vicinity of the Rocky Mountains near British Columbia, a distance from Ottawa of some 3,000 miles, to endeavour to settle a serious coal strike, the continuance of which was producing a fuel famine throughout the West. It is only a few days since I returned, and every moment of the time since then has been occupied in getting ready a report for Parliament, a copy of which I am enclosing. Your letter was here on my return, but this is the first moment I have had to acknowledge its receipt.

I fear it is going to be, after all, quite impossible for me to undertake the translation. Only to-day I have been asked to draft an act for the settlement of disputes in coal mines on the lines recommendation contained in my report, which measure will be brought before Parliament during the present winter session. It will take me, I fear, most of the winter months to handle this, along with other work in the Department, which I find is piling up even more rapidly than I anticipated it ever would. I would be glad, however,if it would be of any assistance to you,to look over the translation which you yourself might make,making suggestions in regard to revisions which might appear desirable,though I feel that with the splendid command of English which you have,even this would be hardly necessary. However,I would like in some way to assist you,especially as I feel that perhaps I am already responsible for having delayed the work some time.

As I wrote you some months ago,I corresponded with Hold and Company about your book. Though I wrote once or twice I did not receive a reply. I think,however,it would be best for you to write yourself. In any event the arrangement would have to be submitted to you for approval,and it would be better,I think,therefore,to have direct control. I shall be anxious to know what they do in the matter.

Again let me express my regret that I was unable to cross over to France during the short stay I had in England. I do hope you will carry out your intention of coming to Canada,and in any event,that we may meet some time in the near future.

With kind regards and best wishes for the approaching Christmas season,believe me.

My dear Mr Mackenzie-King

I was delighted to receive your kind letter & book & have read the latter with the deepest interest & you must let me add admiration. Lord Grey had sent me a copy of the same volume only a few days previously & I am glad to be able to pass his gift on to a friend who I know will appreciate somehow I must assure you of my sympathy in that loss though four years must have softened its keenest edge to you. I think I can understand what you went through at that time.

Your book has broken in opportunely as regards some misgivings I have felt of late about the spread of materialism in young countries.

I am rather impressed with the absence of the means of discipline in the

I cannot tell you how much interested I have been in the life & character of Henry Harper as you have revealed them to the world. The admirable tact & delicacy with which you have fulfilled your task fill me envy from the literary standpoint. But as I read your books I was more & more filled with sympathy as I realized with growing appreciation what the death of such a friend must have meant to you.

The blank in your life must have been grievous - one of those sorrows which darken the light of the sun for many a day. But it is something to have had such a friendship in one's life, such an affection & such an example must dignify & sweeten every word & deed. I feel

I so often think of our delightful talks in Ottawa & how you helped & cheered me on my way. I look forward very much to picking up the threads of our too brief friendship in the future for it is a new worlds. We in the old world had to fight & struggle & agonize for our liberties civil & religious & the struggle evolved great nations & great men. Young countries succeed to these liberties (won after centuries of effort) by inheritance, not by personal effort. The field is so to speak cleared for them.

And at times I fear this may lead (as in the Lord Grey does not like this view of mine at all, & he says justly such a character as that of Henry Harper refutes any argument. I do feel it is a very fine thing idealism showed her such a living force in Canada as Harper proved it. Dear Madam:

I am very sorry that when your letter of the 3rd inst., was received at the Department I was absent in Boston and that I have been absent almost continously from the Department ever since, so that I have not had an opportunity of ascertaining for you the information which you desire as to the sailing of the Canadian marine steamers.

I have today seen Commander Spain of the Marine and Fisheries Department and asked him about the sailing of the Government vessels. He informs me that the first government steamer which will be sailing in the direction of Harrington will not leave until about the beginning of October. It sails from Quebec to take the winter supplies to the light houses and stations along the St. Lawrence coast. The vessel calls at Whittle Rocks which is 30 miles at this side of Harrington, at which place there is a wireless station. Commander Spain informs me that the Department will be pleased to take any baggage you may have including sewing machine, bed, bedding, clothing, &c.,from Quebec to that point free of charge. The articles should be sent in the first instance, addressed in care of J.U. Gregory, care of Department of Marine and Fisheries, Quebec, Que., and marked for Doctor Grenfell's Hospital to be put off at Whittle Rocks, Labrador Coast.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries is to let me know the exact time the steamer is to sail. It will probably be well on into September when this time is fixed, so that,if you are leaving before that time, it might be well to have your articles sent to Quebec to be kept at the Marine and Fisheries Department there until the vessel is about to leave. Doctor Grenfell is sure to have a small launch in connection with the Harrington Hospital, and it could bring to Harrington anything which might be left off at Whittle Rocks. Should it appear that he has not this launch, perhaps we shall be able to persuade the Marine and Fisheries Department to have the vessel call in at Harrington itself.

Again let me say how much I regret the delay in replying to your letter. I am informed by the Department of Marine and Fisheries that no government vessel has left for the Canadian Labrador since early in July, so that there is the satisfaction at least of knowing that the delay in writing can not in any way effect a delay in sending any goods by the government steamer.

I hope if there is any way in which I can assist you by further inquiry or the like,you will not hestitate to write me,and I shall endeavour to be more prompt in sending future replies.

Dear Madam:

I was very sorry to learn from your communication just received that, owing to my delay in replying to your previous letter, you had already forwarded your baggage, etc., to reach Harrington via Halifax. Perhaps on the whole it may be more satisfactory to you to have the goods reach Harrington about the time you arrive there, and possibly the difference in expense, seeing that they would have to have been shipped in the first instance to Quebec, would not be very great. Nevertheless I cannot but deeply regret that I was so late in replying to your letter and hope that you will accept again my sincere apologies.

I trust that you will enjoy the work at Harrington. From what I know of Doctor Grenfell's work and of the work of the Victorian Order, I am sure it would be difficult to find an opportunity of higher or better service.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King,

Dear Sir:

I regret greatly that illness prevented my meeting you while you were in this city. I take this occasion to write you expressing my high appreciation of the efforts you made to negotiate an agreement between the striking miners of Lethbridge and their former employers. You will, I am sure, be glad to know that, all circumstances considered, I feel that the interests of our members were as well protected as it was possible to expect.

I have written the secretary of our local union at Lethbridge expressing my approval of the contract, and I am confidently hopeful that the time is not far distant when an agreement will be negotiated directly between the United Mine Workers of America and the operators at Lethbridge.

I feel that it is only justice to you and to myself that I should say that any unfavorable impressions formerly made upon my mind concerning you have been dispelled entirely.

Assuring you of my high personal regard, I am,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your very kind letter of the 7th inst., in reference to the settlement of the strike of employees of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company at Lethbridge. Your letter would have received an immediate acknowledgment, were it not that since I returned to Ottawa I have been so busily engaged in matters connected with the present session of Parliament that I have been obliged to hold over all correspondence for a day or two.

I am indeed much gratified to know that all circumstances considered, you feel that the interests of the members of your organization have been well protected as it was possible to expect, and that you have written the secretary of the local union at Lethbridge expressing your approval of the settlement reached.

It is scarcely necessary for me to say that the kind words which your letter contains in reference to myself, and especially the assurance of your personal regard, have given me unqualified pleasure. I have always had a very sincere regard for yourself, and for the work which you are doing on behalf of so many of your fellow countrymen and in the cause of humanity. It is a matter of satisfaction,therefore,to me to know that any unfavourable impressions made upon your mind concerning myself have been dispelled,and that you believe me to be worthy of your confidence and regard. I hope I may at all times prove worthy of both,and that the future may afford us both opportunities of mutual service in a field of common endeavour.

I regret very much that on account of your illness,I was so unfortunate as not to have had the pleasure of seeing you while in Indianapolis. I judge from your letter that you have quite recovered,which I sincerely hope is so.

With renewed thanks for your letter,and assuring you again of my high personal regard for yourself,believe me,

Yours sincerely,

My dear King:-

I have just returned from spending the summer in Europe. Hence my tardiness in offering you my hearty congratulations in connection with the bestowal upon you by His Majesty of the Companionship of St. Michael and St. George. Your friends fully appreciate this very signal testimony to your hard and successful work at Ottawa, and we all trust that more honors will come your way in due course. If you ever come down this way try to stay off a few days: I will see that you are made comfortable at the Colonial Club.

The proposals of which we talked last Spring came to grief in the President's aversion to supplying the additional funds needed. I still hope, however, that the matter will be revived in a more attractive shape than we could have hoped for at that time.

My dear Munroe,

Your very kind letter of the 25th. September extending your congratulations on the honour I have received, has been forward to me from Ottawa, and I hasten to thank you most sincerely for your generous words. I need scarcely say that this further expression of your goodwill toward me is very greatly valued, and that I appreciate more than I can say your kindness in writing me as you have.

I am in London at present, having been sent here by the Canadian Government to interview the Colonial Office in regard to some legislation which we are hopeful of having the Imperial Parliament pass in the interests of our immigration and labour policy. I find it an exceptional and delightful experience.

It is most kind of you to feel the interest you do in my being at Harvard. I appreciate perhaps more than an offer from the President the generous interest which Professor Taussig and yourself have taken in this matter. I have always in my heart a longing for a return to the quiet of an academic life, but every day seems to add strength to the forces which are driving me more and more out into the active world. One never knows, however, how the wheel of fortune may turn, and it is therefore not a little comforting to feel that if stranded on one shore there is another to which one may be able to swim.

While I was in New York I met Dr. Coleman one night at dinner. I was sorry it was not his cousin Dr. James - but he seemed to know you - or at least know about you and he wanted to have an message to Dr. James.

I hope to see him next time I am there and then I shall recall events.

I have wondered if you had pleasant visits after you left Peterboro - and was sorry not to hear any word about you before I left there.

I met Mrs Cheney in New York occasionally and we have joyful times.

She wrote me yesterday of having spent the holidays at Peterboro and I wish we too might have been there for the fun.

It has been my good fortune ~~to~~ to spend the Christmas holidays up here with Mrs Cheney and the children so you can imagine what joyous days they have been.

I have been reading part of "The Secret of Heaven" and it has recalled you so vividly to my mind that I sometimes feel that I should like to send you a word of admiration for what you have done in memory of your friend. Perhaps you remember telling me about him - and the plans you had for a memoir and I have been so glad to see you what you accomplished. Mr Cheney tells me you have been receiving honors over in England and I am sure you deserve them. I have always been looking for that longer letter you promised but it never came and I imagine by this time you have forgotten me -

My dear Mr. Mackenzie King:-

The pleasant, appreciative notice of your memoir of your friend Harper in the "Literary Supplement to the Times" reminds me that I ought long since to have thanked you for sending to me a copy of the volume, and to have told you of the interest and goes on well bears satisfactory fruit. I wish you would kindly send to me any late report of your work as conciliator, or which deals with any of the difficult labor-problems. You and for the U.S. as well as for Canada are working for the future.

My daughters desire me to send to you their kind remembrances & regards.

Believe me, with true regard,

Sincerely Yours

sympathy with which I read it.
You have succeeded in presenting a vivid and delightful image of your friend. I was often reminded in reading your pages of the words of Cicero, - words of unusual tenderness for him. - "Solem e mundo tollere videntur qui amicitiam e vita tollunt, qua nihil a diis immortalibus melius habemus, nihil jucundius". For I felt that the death of your friend must have seemed for a time at least to have taken the sun from your life. But to have loved & been loved by such a friend affords a light which death cannot extinguish

The moral genius of Harper, - moral enthusiasm regulated by the reason, - makes him one of that long train of her children by whom England has been nobly served, to whom she owes her precedence in teaching nations how to live. — I hope that your own work

Dear Mr. Mackenzie-King: —

It gives me much pleasure to learn of the well-deserved honor bestowed on you on the King's birthday, and I congratulate you heartily on it. I thank you for sending me the report of it, for it pleases me that you should rely on my sympathy in the important concerns of your life whether they be of sorrow as last year, or of joy. I wish you all good, and augur it for you so far as it depends on yourself.

perhaps Lady Tilley would have excused the informality & brought you down herself for the day. It's such a lovely sail. I can quite see how you can't get away during your Ministers absence. You must be quite thrilled at the thought of being sent to England; & I am wondering if it is your first visit? I think you can scarcely seriously regret an academic life when you think of how successful you are in the profession you have chosen, although I can quite understand how then, at rare intervals, you return to Harvard you might be homesick for what it represents. But I am so little "up to date" as to still believe there is a Higher Power shapes our end for us so I should have faith in the path you have chosen.

came so naturally into my life that-I accepted such friendship all too casually - as one does so much of life.
And it's only now that I am suddenly waking up to realize that the ranks are being ravaged, & that I must make an effort to hold on to friends amongst my own contemporaries. I am rather shy of asking a favour of a man whose life is so full & busy as yours, but it would be a great pleasure if you were to write to me occasionally & told me how you were getting on.
I should specially like to hear about your visit to England, for you are sure to have an interesting time & see interesting people. I wonder if you will go alone? That's rather perhaps I always think, for if one has a congenial friend such companionship is very stimulating - I've had some of the happiest & best-experiences of my life in that way.

Well, I hope you'll have a mod-delightful time in any case, & I shall even be so mean as to hope that some day you'll feel sufficiently lonely to like to write & tell me what you are doing! That's a horrid way in which to reiterate the pleasure it would be to know all was going well with you. even if you don't get sent to England.
I'm sure in September 3rd & very loathe am I to turn back. But I've had five weeks of purely

My dear Mr. King:-

Your private letter of the 5th reached me next day. Apart from its tenor in other respects, I am quite in accord with you that the Dominion Department of Labour has been assailed from many sides and by adverse forces that are by no means impotent. I am aware of this to a much greater degree than you may imagine, and my knowledge is not of yesterday or to-day in this particular.

I will be pleased in seeing you when next you are in Toronto. In the meantime I may say that I believe my strength is steadily, even if slowly, increasing; but the cough continues to give me much trouble - it shakes my whole frame at times and tends to keep me weaker than would be the case were I rid of it. The doctor advises that I go out and spend some time in the country on a farm where I would have plenty of fresh cream, fresh butter, fresh eggs, fresh meat and pure air and sunshine, etc. I have not yet decided what to do as to [illegible], although inclining to the belief that it is the very best thing I could do towards regaining my full health and strength — slow and inconvenient though that course may be. At present I think the doctor's advise worth a trial, but will do nothing in the matter until my son, John G., returns from Ottawa when the session is over. He is a good adviser.

My motive will plead my excuse for writing you along another line and hogarding a suggestion, which if acted upon, I believe, would be tactical as well as appropriate. At the same time I conceive that it is quite possible that you have anticipated and already given effect to what I have in mind. In that event so much the better.

As you may be aware already, the Childs - Drexel House for old printers is located at Colorado Springs, Col, and is controlled and managed by a Board whose membership is chosen yearly through a plebiscite vote of the whole membership of the International Typographical Union. The home has 140 inmates at the present time, and "the craft" is making a big effort, (by reason of the fact that the annual convention of the International Typographical Union is to be held next month at Colorado Springs,) to furnish the institution with a large library, through voluntary contributions of literature of proper character from whomsoever will. I notice through the Typographical Journal that ex-President Cleveland, President Roosevelt, ex Governors and Governors of several States of the neighboring Republic, writers of distinction others of all classes of people in

in the United States and elsewhere have already made donations to this library according to their respective ideas of appropriateness and usefulness.

In this connection it is very pleasing to the printers of Canada to observe among the public men and authors of the United States, Canada and Hawaii whose names appear in the June number of our Official Journal as recent contributors of "Books for the Home Library" are to be found those of several very well known Canadians. "For instance, the Journal says" Sir Wilfred Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada, sends to the Home Library autographed copies of Archibald Lampman's poetical works and Wilfrid Campbell's lyrics and other poems; Goldwin Smith's, Essays on 'Questions of the Day', with autograph, and Ralph Connor (Rev. Chas. W. Gordon,) 'The Prospector', with greetings, autograph etc. etc."

Would it not be well, on your part, to forward a full bound set of the Labour Gazette, addressed "Library Printers' Home, Colorado Springs, Col.," as a contribution from the Department of Labour, Canada, and thus showing that Canadians are alive to every good work going on either in their own country or in that of their neighbors - and the Printers' Home is a good work of International character. Besides this, if you, yourself, had a good book or two that you could conveniently spare and could donate to this library I am very certain such a gift would be highly appreciated not only at the "Home" but by the Internationals

W. L. Mackenzie King, Esq. C.M.G., Deputy Minister of Labour,
Ottawa, Ont.

My dear Mr. King,

I am forwarding you, under cover and by concurrent mail, my travelling expense account for August ult.

Earlier in the week I contemplated, by rushing, sailing from Owen Sound (where I have to prepare a schedule for a public work at that point) to-day for Port William on my way westward. I could not secure a sleeping berth on the steamer leaving Owen Sound to-day however, and on the advice of my doctor, I reluctantly postponed leaving here until next Monday (3rd inst.) and will take the steamer leaving Owen Sound in the afternoon of the next day - these steamers leave only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. So far my general health is at least as good as when I left Ottawa, but the cough is still keeping its grip upon me.

I observe by this morning's Globe that you are going to England to seek legislation re deception of emigrants from the Mother country to Canada. Legislation in this direction, on the part of Great Britain, is very much needed and I sincerely trust you will be successful in your mission. I hope, also that you will have a good time of it otherwise while over there.

Yours respectfully

D. J. O'Donoghue.

P.S. — I believe that Hon. Edward Blake, M.P. for Westmeath, is in Canada at the present time. Nevertheless you may meet him in England during your stay there, and in that event will you be good enough to mention my name to him. He will remember me, I think. Tell him also that, with all due respect to those who followed in that office, all the "old-timers" in the Labour Movement in Canada still revere his name as that of the best and truest sincere friend the working-people of this country ever had as Minister of Justice (any, or as Member of Parliament either) in the Dominion. Noble, able and honest Edward Blake! Your withdrawal from public life in Canada was an irreparable loss to the country, but it was Ireland's great gain. May his days be long and pleasant in the land of the living I honestly believe (and for which I have good grounds) that, should he be when my retired land secures Home Rule Hon. Edward Blake will be the Premier of its first government. In that event I would like to die and be buried with my Kith and Kin in the old cemetery of Aghadoe, near the Lakes of Killarney, in the county of Kerry. But as to this you have no interest and so I will stop.

Yours of yesterday with enclosed check is just to hand and for which please accept my sincere thanks.

Yes I was very ill on your return and which might not have been the case had I listened to your advise and better judgement against going out to the coast, on that 2nd trip at the end of last August. However there is no use in crying over spilled milk. I certainly reached Toronto at the end of that 2nd trip in a fearfully bad condition. Although not able to sit up and write as yet, nevertheless the doctor and those around me, buoy me with the assertion that I am improving. I need hardly say that I hope they are right. I will say too that, independently of the cough which came along with me from the first illness and which causes me considerable trouble occasionally, I feel as if I was getting stronger, myself.

I cannot close without congratulating you on your phenominal success in connection with your mission to England. Your star was certainly at its zenith. I see by the papers that since your departure from England a very stringent amendment by Mr. Lloyd George to the law which you sought and succeeding in securing, has been passed by the House of Commons and it is not likely it will be interfered with by the Lords.

With every wish for your continued success in all your official actions, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

Dear Mr. O'Donoghue:

I received this morning your kind letter of the 25th inst., enclosing copy of letter which Mr. Draper is to forward to the Honourable Mr. Lemieux. It is very kind of you to have written as you have in reference to myself. I need hardly say that I am most grateful to you for your kindness in so doing. Should the Minister approve of your suggestion and send me to England, you may depend that I will spare no exertion to accomplish the mission to your satisfaction.

I quite agree with you in what you say as to your father taking another trip to the West. So strongly did I feel that it was not wise for him to take this trip that I had arranges with Mr. Plant to prepare the schedules and given him instructions as to what to do in this connection. I thought when I spoke to your father about it he seemed somwhat disappointed and, remembering on some previous occasion he seemed to be of the opinion that either the Minister or I had an objection to his attending a meeting of the Congress and had assigned him duties in another part of the province on this account, I feared that he might think that possibly I had some such intention in mind in depriving him of a trip to the coast on official business at this time. I pointed out to him that I thought it was very unwise for him to take the trip and that I could easily arrange matters so as to enable him to remain here, and finally suggested to leave it for you to decide as I knew you would give a wise decision. However, he assurred me that he was not running any risk in travelling and he thought that the trip would do him good, so I very reluctantly consented to his going. Had it not been the time of the year that it is, I would not have allowed him to go on any account, but it is quite probable that at this season the change might not do him any harm.

I will have a talk with Mr. Lemieux as to the transfer which you suggest and, as I have already told you, will be glad to assist in any way in furthering your wishes in this matter.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sirs,

I have been absent from Ottawa for some time, and have only just received the notice sent out by your Bureau to the effect that additional clippings relating to my little book, "The Secret of Heroism" are on hand. It is quite probable that I already have one of the clippings included in this number, but if you care to send me such clippings as you have, I would be pleased to pay you for any that I may have already, and will return the balance. If this is agreeable to you, kindly forward the same.

Yours very truly,

Deputy Minister of Labour.

Dear Sir:

I have read,with feelings of very deep gratitude,the kindly review of my little book entitled "The Secret of Heroism" contained in the March number of "The Ontario Churchman," and write to express to you my sincere thanks for the generous review. I know that the New York publisher,Mr.Revell,will be pleased to have a copy of this review,and I think possibly Mr.Gundy of Toronto would also like to have a copy. I would be greatly obliged,therefore,if you would send me two copies of "The Ontario Churchman" to forward to these gentlemen. I enclose 6 cents in stamps in payment of the same. Communications adressed to me at the Department come,as you are doubtless aware,free of postage.

Ottawa, August 27, 1906.

Dear Mr. MacDonald Oxley:

I have been in correspondence for some months past with a friend of mine, Mr. Paul Mantoux of Paris, France, who has just brought out a five hundred page publication on the industrial revolution in England, "La Révolution Industrielle au XVIIIe Siècle," in reference to a translation of this work. It is to my mind quite the best thing which has appeared in connection with that extremely interesting period of industrial history, a knowledge of which lies at the basis of a proper understanding of all our present day industrial problems. It is virtually understood that I am to undertake a translation of the work, provided that I can obtain from publishers terms that are satisfactory. The firm of Henry Holt and Company of New York have written me, saying that they are desirous of publishing a translation and would like to negotiate as to terms. Before giving them any definite reply, however, I have thought I would like to ascertain whether or not there was a possibility of The Macmillan Company accepting a translation of the work. It is almost certain to have a large sale in England, United States and

Canada, in England espedially, as it deals with the industrial changes in that country. I believe from what Mr. Mantoux tells me that some one has spoken to some representative of your firm in London, but without receiving a favourable reply. It is quite possible that the firm may not have been aware of the worth of the book or they may have had some objection to the person who approached them, thinking that he was desirous of undertaking the translation.

My purpose in writing to you is to ask whether in the event of a translation being made by myself, you think that The Macmillan Company would care to publish the book. My experience as Deputy Minister of the Department of Labour, as well as my academic training (having degrees from both Toronto and Harvard) should give me a somewhat exceptional qualification as a translator of a work of this kind, and might in some way help to give some authority to the translation. As you know me personally you would be in a position to write your Company pretty fully, or perhaps you might be able to let me know their views without writing. In any event, I would be much obliged to you if you would favour me with your own views and let me know how you think the proposition could be viewed by your Company. I might add that it is just possible that I may go to England next month, in which event I would call and see the representatives of the Company there. As I am not sure whether or not I may be able to get away and as the matter should be decided very soon, I thought it best to write you at once.

Will you pardon me if I enclose a copy of some views of my little memoir of Harper, which the Revell Company has sent to me this morning.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

My dear Percy:

I have received your kind letter of the 30th ult., enclosing clipping from Saturday night of March 3,containing review of my book.

I am indeed greatly pleased with the review which Miss Graham has written,and which,to my mind,is one of the most discerning that has appeared. I need hardly say how grateful I am to you for the interest which you have taken in the little volume. I am glad to say that it is having a good sale,and that the English,as well as the Canadian and American papers have given it good reviews. Dear Mr.Patterson:

I have received from Wilfrid T.Grenfell,the Superintendent of the Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen a letter,in which he states that he intends erecting a hospital on the Canadian Labrador coast at Harrington,the hospital to be erected for the benefit of Canadian fishermen along that coast. Dr.Grenfell established, in connection with his mission work, a small saw-mill at St.Anthony Newfoundland,where he gives workto some of the unemployed fishermen duri ng the winter. He is at the present time having them cut the wood with which he intends to build the small hospital on the Canadian Labrador,and he has written to ask me whether I would see you,and ascertain from you if it would not be possible for you to allow this wood to be used for the hospital building at Harrington to enter free of duty,seeing that the whole work is charitable work,and intended for the benefit of Canadian fishermen. Grenfell also mentions that the Mission is known as the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen,the whole work being entirely British. Dr.Grenfell states that the doctor who will be in charge of the building at Harrington is a Canadian,and would,in future,get all his supplies from Canada,that it means a very great deal to a number of fishermen at St.Anthony to have the work of preparing the hospital,and that the trifling amount it could possibly mean to the Halifax merchants would never be missed by them,while it would be a very great consideration in connection with the work of his mission.

I will be very grateful if you will kindly let me know what I may say to Dr.Grenfell in reply. I do not remember whether,when he was here last winter,he had the pleasure of meeting you,but I know that he saw a number of the Ministers,the Prime Minister included, and that they all expressed the greatest sympathy with his work,and gave him assurances that where it was possible to do so,the Government would do what it could towards helping him in any workwhich he might undertake in Canada.

My dear Pedley:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter which I have received this morning from some of the Indians on the Muscowpetung Reserve. Ihave had it copied as written, and though it is difficult to make out, the general purport of it is apparently that someone has been advocating the sale of the Muscowpetung Reserve, and that some of the Indians on it do not wish the reserve sold. I would be glad if you would let me know what reply to send.

I notice the letter also makes mention of the ownership of cattle and the round dance. If you will let me know what to say in reply to these matters I would also be obliged.

Dear Mr. King,

I have yours of the 6th instant, enclosing copy of letter from Mr. Echeyace, with reference to the Muscowpetung Reserve, and beg to say that so far as the sale of the Reserve is concerned this cannot take place without the consent of the Indians and , if at all, it will be after due notice is given under the provisions of the Indian Act.

So far as the cattle are concerned the Department is not aware that the Indians have any ground of complaint.

Regarding the round dance, whatever that may be, the Department has had a good deal of trouble with these Indians in preventing them from going to extremes in the matter of dances and other forms of amusement and, while the meaning of the writer is not quite clear I presume he is speaking on behalf of those who wish to continue the old practice which the Department has discouraged and in some cases prevented, chiefly for the benefit of the Indians.

My dear Miss Redpath:

I hope you will excuse my sending you a dictated letter in reference to Dr.Grenfell's hospital at Harrington,but as I am desirous of keeping a copy to forward to Dr.Grenfell,if need be, I have thought it best to write you in this way.

I am not sure whether you have been told that the Victorian Order of Nurses has granted $1,000 towards the construction of the hospital at Harrington on condition that nurses belonging to the Victorian Order are engaged; also,that it is possible to secure from the Victorian Order a grant of an addition $1,000 provided this condition as to the employment of Victorian Order nurses is secured. I understand some fund towards the maintenance of the hospital has been raised in both Toronto and Montreal. What I am now anxious to know is whether or not the Montreal committee knows of the condition attached to the grant of the Victorian Order,and whether in any arrangements it may make about nurses if such arrangement should be left in its hands,it will be willing to see that nurses belonging to the Victorian Order are engaged.

I might mention that Mrs.Daly of Ottawa,who has been

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume 6

acting as secretary for the purpose of raising a little fund here has an amount about sufficient to pay for the sending of a Victorian Order nurse to Harrington for one year,and I think is prepared to promise that a sufficient amount will be raised for that purpose.

There does not appear to be an central committee or single individual charged with the duty of keeping the committees in different cities informed of what the others are doing. Do you not think it would be well if say the Montreal or Toronto Committee were to assume a duty of this kind. It might prevent some grants being lost through the conditions attached to them not being carried out,and it might also prevent double contributions being made for the same purpose. I think,too,that such a committee,by furnishing a statement to each locality of what had already been done,and what it was still necessary to do would be a means of assisting materially in raising the funds necessary for the erection and maintenance of the Harrington hospital. I have written Grenfell making a suggestion of this kind to him,but [illegible]thought it best, pending hearing from him to let you know how the present arrangement appeared to be.

I fear I have never yet thanked you for the letter which you sent to Mrs.Bronson of St.Andrew's Church,or told you that your letter and a similar one from Miss Greenshields of Toronto were the means of securing $200 from Mrs.Bronson's society. Had I not known that Mrs.Bronson had written you herself I should probably have written more promptly. However,as she may not have mentioned to you that your letter and Miss Greenshields' were the means of securing the grant I think it well to let you know.this fact,for I fear you were put to some considerable trouble in the matter.

I was so unfortunate as to miss you when in Montreal a month or two ago. I telephoned to your residence to see whether you were at home,but found that you were out for the afternoon. When in Montreal again I shall hope to be more fortunate,as I would like to have the pleasure of talking over Dr.Grenfell's work with you.

I am very grateful to you for your kind letter of April 30th,and for all it contains in reference to Grenfell's work. I had a splendid talk with Mrs.Chaplin on Saturday,and was quite delighted to find that,as expressed in your letter,the Montreal committee would be willing to act as a central organization in regard to the Herrington hospital. This,I know,will be a great satisfaction to Mrs.Daly in Ottawa,who is acting as a sort of secretary for the work here,and also,from what she has told me,to Miss Greenshields in Toronto. Mrs. Chaplin,I think,has everything well in hand,so that it is not necessary for me to do more than thank you for your letter,at the same time expressing my appreciation of the kind way in which you have received the suggestions I took the liberty of making in my last letter.

Dear Miss Redpath:

Enc-- I enclose a copy of a letter which I have just received from Mr. Francis H. Wood, secretary of the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen. It speaks for itself, and will be sufficient to show that there will be no danger of conflict in the uses to which the money given by Miss Dow and the Minto Hospital Fund trustees may be put.

I should have replied to your letter of May 12 in reference to this subject before. The truth is I was expecting some word, either from Grenfell or another source, which would give a little more light in the matter. I think you are quite right in suggesting to Miss Dow that the money she had kindly granted should be used in no other way than as she had desired. On the other hand, I had spoken to certain of the trustees of the Minto Fund and from them learned that it might be possible to arrange that the grant which they had given could be used for the maintenance if it were not required for construction.

Seeing that the amount required is so much higher, I have to-day ventured to put in another application to the Lady Minto Enc-- Hospital Board for an additional $1,000 or more. I enclose a copy of the letter written in this connection,and would suggest that it might be well for the Montreal committee to also communicate with the Lady Minto Hospital Board,making a similar application. It could be made quite independently of mine,and would certainly strengthen the application which I have sent in. I believe from the talks I have had with members of the Board that we will get an additional $1,000,but if you were to write as well,we would make sure of this,and might get even more.

I am very glad your committee has expressed its willingness to undertake the duties of a central committee for the hospital. By duplicates of communications being forwarded to you in all these matters,it should be possible for you to be kept informed of everything,and of those at outside points receiving from you such additional information as they may require. One reason that I think it would be well for your committee to petition the Lady Minto Hospital Board is that when the grant comes to be paid over,it should,in my opinion,be paid over direct to your committee,and forwarded by you to Dr.Grenfell. By petitioning at the outset the proper sort of connection would be formed.

I hope sometime to have the chance of seeing you in Montreal and talking further over these matters.

Yours sincerely.

By duplicates of communications being forwarded to you in all these matters,it should be possible for you to be kept informed of everything,and of those at outside points receiving from you such additional information as they may require. One reason that I think it would be well for your committee to petition the Lady Minto Hospital Board is that when the grant comes to be paid over,it should,in my opinion,be paid over direct to your committee,and forwarded by you to Dr.Grenfell. By petitioning at the outset the proper sort of connection would be formed.

I hope sometime to have the chance of seeing you in Montreal and talking further over these matters.

Yours sincerely.

My dear Mr. King:-

I trust you will pardon me for not acknowledging the receipt of the splendid portrait which reached me just after Christmas day. Your generous favor will, I am sure, be the more readily accorded when I explain that I was suddenly called from New York to Toronto by telegram, that fire had destroyed our premises in that City, and after settling with the insurance companies I went on to Chicago for ten days. When returning to New York I was confronted by the very direct reminder of my neglect, in the face that looked out at me from the wall by my desk.

I regret to find that the little volume did not get through the press as promptly as I anticipated would be the case. However, inasmuch as it could not be ready before the new year, the question of date of issue is not now as important. I understand that advance copies without the illustrations were posted to you on Monday. The new plates were delivered yesterday and will be printed at once, so that in a few days we anticipate sending you complete copies.

Thanking you again for the portrait which will have its permanent place in our gallery of authors, believe me

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. King:-

Certainly, send any suggestions that may occur to you, either to this office or to Mr. Gundy at Toronto, or both. We are always glad of hints and helps that will enable us better to exploit any of our publications. Give us names of papers or individuals that would be specially interested.

We should say the best clipping agency is Henry Romeike, 33 Union Square, this City, although the Boston party you speak of would no doubt also do you good service. But really, you do not absolutely need to subscribe to such agency, as we can readily send you for examination, all our reviews: we usually get about everything issued. However, if you wish duplicates to retain, it might be wise to subscribe.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I have received your kind letter of the 23rd inst.,and thank you for your kindness in allowing me to make suggestions,either to yourself or Mr.Cundy of Toronto,or both,which may possibly be the means of furthering the sale of my little book. I am taking advantage of this to send Mr.Cundy the names of one or two newspaper editors in Canada,who,I know,will give the book a good review; also the names of a few individuals who,I think,would help to further its sale.

It seems to me that both in the United States and Canada the book should find a place in every school library,whether Sunday school,high or public school; also,in the public libraries of colleges and the like. A notice sent to clergymen of the several denominations,and also to members of Congress and some of the State Legislatures might also,I think,bear fruit. I will hope to get from Sir Wilfrid Laurier,Earl Grey and others,expressions of opinion which you may be ableto use,and which might be of service in forwarding the notices to such persons as members of the legislatures in the United States. Dr.J.Harper,Carbondale,Pa.,and Mr.W.Harper,6 West 83rd st.,New York,each brothers of Henry A.Harper,will be much interested. I intend sending each of them a complimentary copy myself,but I think a letter sent to them by your firm might also have good results.

I note what you say as to your willingness to let me have for examination,reviews received at your office. I will take advantage of this,instead of subscribing to any clipping agency.

The invoice for the I00 copies of The Secret of Heroism, which you have sent by freight has been received,and I expect will be followed by the books in a few days. The copy sent by post has not yet come to hand,but will probably be received to-day.

I note,with pleasure,your desire to pay duty,and shall,as requested,deductthe amount which I am obliged to pay to the customs from your account. For this I thank you.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter which I received yesterday from His Excellency the Governor General,in reference to my little book,"The Secret of Heroism." The letter is marked "private",and I would,therefore,ask you to kindly regard it strictly as such. I thought,however,that you would be interested in seeing it,and am,therefore,sending a copy. The letter was followed by an invitation to lunch with His Excellency yesterday to talk over ways of furthering the sale of the book. Earl Grey was so kind as to say that he regards it as one of the best books that has been published in the present generation,and that he would be pleased to do all in his power to further its circulation. He told me that if I would send him copies he would forward them with a letter to the editors of the Spectator,the Times,the Outlook, and one or two other papers in England,with the request that the book be favourably and strongly reviewed. He also said that he would send a copy to Mr.Andrew Carnegie,with a letter suggesting that Mr.Carnegie get out a Carnegie edition just as he did in the case of Wilfred Campbell's poems. Mr.Carnegie is coming to Ottawa to stay with His Excellency in the course of a few weeks,but His Excellency hopes to have him get out the proposed edition before then.

I have run completely out of copies,and so am writing to ask if you would kindly send by express on receipt of this letter,addressed "His Excellency.Earl Grey,Governor General of Canada,Ottawa,Canada," 6 copies of my book. Please send me a wire collect,on receipt of this letter,stating whether these copies have been sent by express,so that I can forward your wire to Earl Grey. As the copies are requested for the purpose which I have mentioned in my letter,of securing reviews in English publications, possibly your company will be prepared to meet the expense of same,if not,I should be obliged to have you add the cost of the same to my account.

I would be glad,also,if you would let me know what steps you are taking to have the book put on the market in England and Scotland. I believe that it will have a good sale in these countries,as I know I can get a number of influential people to speak well of it there. I promised Earl Grey I would find out for him what you were doing inthis direction,as His Excellency intends also to write some of his friends in regard to procuring copies of the book in England. Earl Grey thinks,in connection with Eton College and some of the boys' schools in England,that the book may be introduced to advantage.

States to England,has been a guest at Government House for the past three or four days,having come to Toronto to address the Canadian Club,of which I was president last year. Earl Grey presented Mr.Choate with a copy of my book and told him that he was quite sure Mr.Choate would be pleased to say a word which might be helpful in furthering the sale of it in the United States. I would like to suggest that you would have someone call on Mr.Choate if you approve of so doing,on his return to New York,and ask him if he would give an expression of opinion which might be used in regard to the book. This,I have reason to know,he will be pleased to do,and his word would,I think,be helpful in furthering its sale in the United States. I think,also,if a copy were given to Mr.Choate,with a request to have it forwarded to President Roosevelt,Mr.Choate would be pleased to see that this was done. Earl Grey has kindly promised to make some public statement in regard to the book on an early occasion,and I think it quite possible that Sir Wilfrid Laurier,the Prime Minister,will also make a reference in a speech he may deliver before the students of the University of Toronto in a few weeks. I will look out for any of these references in Canada,and will see that you are made aware of them.

I have not time for more before the mail closes,so would only again request that you kindly have the volumes forwarded to Earl Grey as soon as possible,sending me a wire as requested.

Yours sincerely.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I have had the pleasure of another interview or two with Earl Grey in regard to my book,and he has added the Athenaeum,the Academy and one or two other publications in England to the number he so kindly offered to send my book to. I have supplied His Excellency altogether with 8 copies for review purposes,and I think it probable that there may be other copies which I will like to have for the same purpose.

I think I could place a number of copies to advantage through personal friends,so as to secure good reviews in different publications,but the expense in this connection is apt to run up considerably if I am obliged to supply these copies myself. I am,therefore,wrting to ask if you would be willing to supply me with a number of copies to be used for the purpose of obtaining first-class reviews, giving me credit for such number of copies as I might be able to place to advantage,i.e. securing a favourable review in return,and charging to my account any copies for which no return of this kind may be forthcoming. Unless there is some business principle or arrangement precludes this arrangement you will doubtless feel that it is one of advantage to your company,and a fair business proposition. If you approve of it, perhaps you would send me by freight an additional 25 or 30 copies of the book.

You will be interested in hearing that I received from Mr. Goldwin Smith,whose name will be well known to you, a letter in which he kindly stated that he hoped to call attention to my book shortly in some article which he would write in reference to the same.

With the friends I have,I feel quite sure that I can secure a good deal in the way of favourable comment which would help in the sale of the book. Unfortunately,however,I am obliged to consider the matter of expense,and as this is something of mutual interest and concern,I have thought that possibly your house would be prepared to share the same.

Earl Grey,in my last conversation with him,again requested me to let him know fully what arrangements were being made for the sale of the book in England Scotland. He wishes to write some of his friends as to this matter. I hope,therefore,if you have not already done so,you will kindly let me have a letter on this point which I can quote to him.

Your telegram was received just in time to change the address of the parcel of books being sent according to your request in letter of Feb. 6th. These copies, which I understand are for review purposes in British papers, we gladly supply without charge, but I was a little at a loss to know whether to send you copies in the style of your special lot (of which we have an extra supply) or of the regular trade edition. On the whole, it seemed rather better we should send the latter for review purposes, but you will know that we have both styles should you desire additional copies. If Earl Grey will bring the little book to the attention of Mr. Carnegie it will undoubtedly be very effective.

If there were some way of getting a word from Mr. Choate, as also suggesting his forwarding a copy to President Roosevelt, other than such suggestion coming from the publisher, it would certainly be desirable, as a publisher is supposed to have only commercial aims in such matters,- so that before taking any steps in this direction perhaps it would be well to see whether you could in any way follow up the matter from your end. As soon as we can get a few personal commendations, we will prepare an attractive little circular which I am sure can be used to advantage in Britain and Canada as well as in this country. If Earl Grey makes any public statement regarding the book, I presume we would be quite free to use it.

Regarding the book in Britain. We are forwarding a first small lot. Our representative, responding to our advance notice, seemed to hesitate as regards ordering any quantity, evidently deeming the little volume one of local interest, but of course he had then nothing to see other than the bare announcement of title, etc. We shall use a good number for reviews in the British press, and I presume you will have no objection to my sending a copy of Earl Grey's letter both to our British representative and also to our Mr. Gundy at Toronto, accompanied of course by express instructions that no publicity whatever is to be given to the letter or any part of it.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I should have acknowledged before this the receipt of your communication of the 8th inst.,and the six copies of the Secret of Heroism,which you kindly supplied for review purposes. I have been absent in Montreal during the past two or three days or your letter would have received more prompt attention.

Earl Grey has kindly sent altogether eight copies with personal letters to the editors of the leading English publications, also copy to Mr.Carnegie,all of which I supplied to him for this purpose. He has also purchased,through one of the local dealers a number of copies to send to his own friends. The Canadian correspondent for the Tribune,the new English Liberal paper,published in London,is send a one-column review of the book to that paper. I am also arranging for a number of other reviews.

I will try to arrange myself as to getting a copy into the hands of President Roosevelt,and a word from Mr.Choate. I expect also to be able to get a word from President Elliott of Harvard,Charles Elliott Norton,Hamilton Wright Mabie,and one or two other prominent literary men in the United States.

In your letter of the 9th inst., you do not say who your representative is in London. I think Earl Grey has written to someone making a suggestion as to securing copies for distribution in some schools in England. He seems very anxious to know all about the arrangements that will be made for distributing the book in England,so I will be pleased if,when you can give me definite particulars on this point,you will do so. You are quite at liberty to send a copy of his letter to your British representative,accompanied,of course,as you say,by express instructions that no publicity is to be given to any part of the letter. I have already forwarded a copy to Mr.Gundy,which he has doubtless received ere this.

We should be very pleased to supply a certain number of copies of your book for special review purposes, as intimated in yours of the 9th. We should however be careful to avoid duplicating. Our British office will be sending copies to the British press, and our Toronto office are supposed to supply Canadian papers: we have furnished them a special lot of books for this purpose. Would it not therefore be wise to first send a list of the special mediums for which the books would be desired, to save such duplication? Supply of books has been sent both to Edinburgh and London, although they cannot much more than have arrived by this time. We shall await your response as to the best method of dealing with these special review copies before sending the books. Dear Mr. Revell:

I received this morning your kind letter of the 14th inst., saying that you would supply a number of copies of my book for special review purposes as intimated in mine of the 9th inst. I have already been corresponding with Mr. Cundy as to the use he is making of the copies sent to him for review purposes. I will take care to see that no copies supplied to him are duplicated in any copies that he may send out.

I think the copies that Earl Grey has sent to England, and the copy which I gave yesterday to the Canadian representative of the Tribune, the new Liberal paper in England will likely cover all that will be sent through me to English papers. I think, however, that through Earl Grey and possibly one or two others, I may be able to get an expression of opinion which may be of use for publication from possibly Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour, or other prominent men in England. Any copies that you send to me will be used judiciously in this way. I shall be careful to give you a full account of the use made of such copies as you send and will be quite prepared to leave to your approval the copies which you decide to

To save time,I have already purchased through one of the local booksellers a number of copies of the book for this purpose. If,however,from these favourable reviews or opinions of value are received,perhaps you would let me replace these out of the copies which you sent for this purpose.

Perhaps,then,you will be so kind as to have shipped to me some copies direct from New York. It is immaterial which binding you send. Perhaps it would be well to make one-half the trade edition and the other the special.

With many thanks for meeting my suggestion in so generous a way.I am,

We will have sent you at once, a little lot of books for use as review copies or otherwise exploiting the volume.

Our business in London and Edinburgh is conducted under the same name as in our American houses, so that communications should be simply addressed to the Company. The book is being included in our British list of new books for this Spring, and probably already has been offered to the dealers in the larger cities or at least will be by our British travelers very shortly, so that any bookseller can procre the book at once if he has not already purchased stock. As a rule, British bookselling is done in much smaller shops than in this country, and until a volume begins to be known through reviews and otherwise, it is much more difficult than here to induce booksellers to lay in a stock. Of course, we cannot supply them except upon definite orders.

I should have acknowledged before this the receipt of the twelve copies of my book,the Secret of Heroism,which you so kindly sent on to me,to be used by way of obtaining reviews and expressions of opinion which are likely to prove helpful in the sale of the book.

I was absent in Chicago when they were received,and have had hardly a moment to take up semi-personal correspondence since my return. Please accept my thanks for your kindness in forwarding these copies.

I sent you a copy of one of the Toronto papers containing a reference to Harper,which Sir Wilfrid Laurier made in a speech to the students of the University,which reference Sir Wilfrid made with a view to assist the distribution of the book. I am sending you to-day a copy of the Toronto News of Saturday,containing a review,and also a copy of the Ottawa Journal of a week ago,containing an editorial; also a copy of The Message, a paper published by St.Andrew's Church,of which Harper was a member,and which contains a good notice. You have doubtless seen the review in this month's The Westminster,published at Toronto. I called at the office of the Westminster when in Toronto,and Mr.

Macgregor who wrote the review told me he thought the book was one of the best and most inspiring he had ever read,and would do what he could towards furthering the sale.

I was much disappointed to find,both in Chicago and Toronto, that apparently very little effort had been made to put the book on the market. Mr.McConnell in Chicago,appeared to have only half a dozen copies of the book in stock. He assured me,however,that more would likely be sent along in the course of time,and that possibly you were waiting to see the nature of the reviews before forwarding any number of copies. I was in Chicago as the guest of the City Club,giving an address on Capital and Labour,and while there,spoke to a number of persons in reference to the book. They all told me they would be glad to purchase copies as soon as any were on sale in the shops.

Mr.Cundy in Toronto,has had so many things to attend to since the fire that I presume he has not had an opportunity of doing much in the way of handling the book as yet I was surprised to find that,when there a week ago Friday,he had not at that time any copies on sale in any of the stores or atthe university. On Monday,at my suggestion,he sent a few copies to the University bookstore,and also to one or two of the bookstores in the city. I was informed,in a letter received on Wednesday,that all the books placed in Tyrell's,the leading bookstore, on Monday,only one copy was left by Wednesday. Mr.Hope,the leading bookseller in this city,told me on Saturday last,that he had ordered an additional 75 copies from Mr.Cundy,and that Cundy had been able to supply him with only 25. Hope also mentioned that he had received from two booksellers in Montreal,letters asking him if he could supply them with the book,or where it was to be obtained. All this is rather disappointing,as it would seem to indicate that no special effort was being made,now that the press is giving considerable notice to the book,to have copies on sale in the shops. From what Mr.Gundy said to me I imagined that he had not take more than two hundred copies from you at the outset because he thought that subsequently you would quote him a more favourable price. I hope,now that he has more orders than he is able to fill,he will not hesitate to make some special effort to have the book placed on the Canadian market. I have had about a dozen letters from different people within the past ten days,saying that they have seen notices of the book in the press,and asking where copies could be obtained,as they were unable to secure any in the local bookstores.

Would you please send to President Elliot,of Harvard University, a copy of my book,charging the same to my account,at the same time writing him that the book is being sent at my request. I sent him a copy from Ottawa,along with a letter,and he replied to me that he had received the letter,and would like to get the book,but that owing to an automatic arrangement in his office,whereby books on which duty is to be paid are not to be accepted unless specially ordered,my book having been received prior to the letter I sent him,did not come into his hands. I am writing to-day to say that I have asked you to forward him a copy from New York.

In connection with the little pamphlet which you will be preparing,would you like me to get expressions of opinion from a few prominent men,whose opinions would,perhaps,be more valuable than certain of the reviews,for example,the General Manager of the Bank of Commerce, Principal of Toronto University,the Chief Justice of the Exchequer Divisionof the High Court of Justice,and others? If so,I will secure these opinions and forward them to you. If I hear from you a week or ten days before the little pamphlet is prepared,it would give me time to forward anything additional which might seem of service.

As I am most desirous of not having any differences with Mr. Gundy,for I am pleased to look upon him as a personal friend,as well as one mutually interested inthis book,I would be very grateful to you if you would keep in confidence what I have said in regard to the sale of the book in Canada. I do so only to let you understand why I think it is that more copies have not been sold than you might have reason to expect would have been in the time that he book has been already out.

Yours sincerely,

NEW YORK March 6th, 1908.

My dear Mr. King:-

A publisher's difficulty is always that of getting booksellers to present actual orders for a new book. Naturally they are skeptical until reviews and other methods of publicity create something of a demand. In exceptional cases books may be sent to special dealers "On Sale" but this is wise only in exceptional cases, for a bookseller, as a rule, takes very little interest in stock on which he has no risk. We had sent Mr. Gundy 200 copies immediately the book was ready, naturally leaving it to him to indicate what additional lots would be required. I am glad to say we have had another order for 200 and trust this may be followed by additional orders.

I am sure our Mr. McConnell at Chicago, will do everything possible to extend the sale, although you can understand the hesitancy on the part of booksellers to buy any stock until author and subject of the work are in some way brought to their attention by other methods than publishers' announcement lists.

I am very pleased to know that you were able to visit both cities, for this surely will prove most helpful.

I send a copy of the book to President Elliot, as you suggest. By all means send us any extracts of opinions you may be able to secure from prominent men. Just as soon as a few good reviews are received

I note that Earl Grey is to be in New York March 31st and have understood several Canadian friends are to accompany him. We are rather hoping you may be of the circle that thus we may have an opportunity for personal meeting. If you have anything to suggest in connection with Earl Grey's visit to New York which will be of advantage in giving prominence to THE SECRET OF HEROISM, I am sure you will give it. Ottawa,March I2.I906.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I have your kind note of the I0th inst.,mentioning Earl Grey's visit to New York on the 3Ist March. As Parliament will be in session at that time.it may not be possible for me to get away,though I would like very much to have the opportunity of being in New York while Earl Grey is in your city.

His Excellency mentioned to me that I was quite at liberty to tell you that he had sent the copies of my book to the leading newspaper men in England,and also to Mr.Andrew Carnegie. He told me a day or two ago,that he had received a letter from Mr.Carnegie,in which he spoke very highly of the book,and said he hoped to be able to further its circulation in some way. As Mr.Carnegie is coming to Ottawa to open a library here,it is probable that "the way" will be determined then. His Excellency also showed me a letter from Mr. St.Ives Strachey,of the Spectator,in which he expressed his delight at having received the little volume with Earl Grey's recommendation of it,and states that he placed it in the hands of one of his best reviewers,who is thoroughly sympathetic,and will see that it receives a review,and,if he can manage it, a long one. His Excellency has also forwarded copies of Wilfred Campbell's poems to some of the leading

I think,under these circumstances,His Excellency would greatly appreciate a call from you when he is in New York,and,should you be prevented from calling,some written word. I think,did he receive this,he would be sure to make some reference in his speeches to the co-operation of the American publishing houses with Canadian writers,and give a reference both to Campbell's book and mine,which would be most helpful. I think it needs only to be suggested to His Excellency to make a reference to these books in his speech at the Pilgrims' dinner,for him to do it,and I will see if I cannot have this suggestion made.

I am sending you a paper which contains a very good reference to my book,by Professor Goldwin Smith. The reference appeared in the Weekly Sun,which is Mr.Smith's organ. The following sentence seems to me a particularly good one: "Harper,like Sir Gallahad,had made it the object of his life to win that which is the one source of happiness,as well as honour---a character truly noble,with pure affection and hearty love of our kind. Heaven send us more Sir Galahads! In this era of party machines,salary grabs and plumbers' combines we sorely need them."

I am sending you,also, a copy of The Toronto Globe,the leading Liberal paper in Canada,which contains in its Saturday issue a review of the book,the last sentence of which will,I think,be particularly useful for the little pamphlet you are preparing. I think I omitted to send you the Ottawa Journal of February 26,which contains an editorial on the book. I am sending you these by to-day's mail.

Yours sincerely.

Ottawa,March 15,1906.

Dear Mr.Revell:

His Excellency Earl Grey has just sent me one or two clippings,and allowed me to look at one or two letters which he has received from England in reference to my book.

Enc--- I am enclosing herewith a copy of parts of these. The Review in the "Standard" is about a column in length,but I am quoting for you only the parts that might be useful in connection with the pamphlet of which you spoke. The review mentions the contents of the book,the incident,the speeches of Sir Wilfrid Laurier,His Excellency Earl Grey and Mr.Ross,but I omit these features.

Enc--- I am also sending you part of a review from the Saturday Westminster Gazette of March 3,1906,and which,I am sure you will agree, is also a very complimentary and good one. In a personal letter from Mr.Spender,the editor of the Westminster Gazette,to Earl Grey,the former speaks in the highest terms of the book.

In a letter from Miss Markham,a prominent literary woman of England,to Earl Grey,she says: "I have been greatly struck by Mackenzie King's little volume. Harper was evidently what the French call "une âme d'élite",and it is tragic to think of one so full of promise and moved by such lofty ideals should have been cut short so prematurely. I was reminded curiously through the book of Arnold Toynbee. The two men must have been much of a mould. I am asking Sidney Goldman if he will let me review Harper's life and Campbell's poems for the Outlook."

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

In a letter from Mr.Andrew Carnegie to Earl Grey the former says: "I have read Mr.King's book with interest. It seems to me just the kind needed. Harper was my type of a hero,not one who maimed or killed his fellows,but served or saved them. I will confer with you in regard to the circulation of the life,and quite agree with you as to its value."

I shall be very glad if,before you make up the little pamphlet of which you speak,opportunity were given me to look over what you intend to quote from the several reviews so far at least as this country and England is concerned. I would,perhaps,be in a position to make a suggestion or two.if necessary.

His Excellency expects other reviews shortly from the Old Country,and as soon as received I will duly forward them to you. I am sure that you will agree with me that the one from the Standard is particularly good for advertising purposes.

Yours sincerely,

Many thanks for yours of the 15th. Our British office had just sent us copies of the Westminster and the Standard, so that we had noted these splendid reviews. Dear Mr.Revell:

Would you kindly send me ten more copies of my book,"The Secret of Heroism",five in green and five in grey binding,charging the same to my account.

I am sending you,under separate cover a copy of the Toronto Sunday World of March 25,which contains a very good review of the book; a copy of the Montreal Daily Witness of March 31,which contains an excellent review,--the best,I think,I have seen--; and a copy of the Ontario Churchman for the month of March,also containing a very good review. I am enclosing herewith a review from the London Times literary supplement which I think you will agree with me ought to be worth a great deal for advertising purposes. If you already have a copy of this review I would be obliged if you would return the enclosed clipping.

Enc--

The Literary Digest of March 31 has,also, an exceptionally good reference to the book,in which it is stated,among other things: "The publisher's description of his (Harper's) life is an inspiration to manhood,cannot be bettered. On Mr.King's part,it may be added,that the work discloses not only genuine sympathy for the twentieth century Sir Galahad of whom he writes,but clear insight into many fundamental facts of life and experience."

I have been so busy of late that I have really had little time to look at any publications which are likely to have reviews,and the papers which I am sending have come to my notice only because I sent the books myself for review purposes to persons whom I knew on these papers. If you have any reviews from the American papers,or any reviews other than those which I have mentioned in my letters to you,I would be pleased if,at your convenience you would let me see them,or could refer me to the name and date of the publication containing them,as I would like to look them over.

You will be pleased to know that His Excellency Earl Grey,has promised to give me a paragraph which you can use in the pamphlet you are getting out. He says he will say that no better book could be given as a Christmas gift to a young man,or something to that effect. The Rev.C.W.Gordon (Ralph Connor) has also promised to send me a good paragraph to use. I had a talk with him over the phone while in Winnipeg a week or two ago.

In a letter received from Toronto this morning I am told that an article from the pen of Lally Bernard,English correspondent to the Toronto Globe,will appear a week from Saturday next,containing a notice which I think will be of interest. It seems that some busts of celebrated men,Matthew Arnold,Charles Dickens,et al.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

were being unveiled at the Pasmore Edward settlement at Tavistock Place in London,England. Mrs.Humphrey Ward,who is the niece of Matthew Arnold (and to whom I sent a copy of the book,having the pleasure of knowing her well,and of having lived for a time at the Pasmore Edward settlement) in speaking for Arnold,referred to my former connection with the settlement and to my book,and the influence of Arnold's poems on Harper and myself. Lally Bernard's letter refers to the latter and what was said and done,and I am told that the references are very good. This should not only help the sale of the book in England,but also in this country.

I have been successful in getting some English reviews reprinted in our Canadian papers.

I think from the nature of the reviews which we are getting,we should be able to prepare a pretty useful circular or pamphlet. With your permission I will put together extracts and references from Canadian and English pources,which I think will be of greatest service here,for you to make what use of them you may think best. As I believe a great deal can be done through this pamphlet,particularly with persons whom I know or to whom I am known,one way or other in this country,I think it would be as valuable an advertisement as it would be possible to get.

I hope that such a number of copies have been sold and the nature of the reviews such that you will be beginning to feel justified in getting out a second edition of the book,as I understand the first edition was limited to I,000 copies. With the number of copies which Mr.Gundy tells me he has purchased,and the number I myself have ordered,as well as those which may have been placed on the English and American market,I presume the first edition must be pretty nearly exhausted. It would be splendid if the pamphlet which you are preparing of the reviews could be gotten out in connection with a second edition. This of itself would be an excellent advertisement.

My dear Mr. King:-

We shall be very glad if you can get together material for the proposed circular. One of the more important reviews might be included at length, but it would be much better if the others could be quite brief. Such a compilation would prove much more effective, as the casual reader will not give the time to go through long reviews. It is surprising how few periodicals, out of the large number to whom copies of the book were sent, have thus far given attention to the book. By this post I am sending our file of review material thus far received. We had not before had any intimation of the splendid review in the London TIMES, which you will note has been returned with the others. No doubt our British office has seen the review, but we are calling their attention to it in our letter of today.

The first edition of your book is nearly exhausted, and we shall be going to press very shortly on the second edition. Kindly let us know whether there are any corrections which should be made in the plates before printing.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I should have acknowledged before this the receipt of the ten additional copies of my book which were mailed last week, and also the reviews which you kindly forwarded. I will return the latter in a day or two. Having been in Toronto for the Easter vacation my correspondence has got a little behind.

I wonder if you have seen the splendid reviews of my book in the London Spectator of March 3I and in the London Outlook of the same date? I left the only copies of these papers which I could secure with Mr.Cundy in Toronto. He was having the reviews transcribed and promised to forward copies to you. The Spectator review is most exceptional,and I have received no end of congratulations upon it.

I am sending you,under separate cover, a copy of the illustrated supplement of the Saturday Globe of last week,which contains,at page I0 a reference to myself and my book in an article from the pen of "Lally Bernard" the London correspondent to the Globe. It contains the mention made by Mrs.Humphrey Ward to which I referred in my last letter to you. I intend writing to-day to

Volume 6

Mrs.Ward to find out just what she said on that occasion,as it may be that from her words we could secure a reference to the book which would be useful for advertising purposes. You will notice on page 5 of the same supplement,under "Books and Authors" a very kind reference to the editorial of the London Times on the book. The Globe,I understand,intends also,in future numbers to note the reviews of the Spectator and the Outlook. Other Canadian papers will do the same. I am sending you,under the same cover,copy of the Toronto Star of Saturday last,which contains an editorial on the Spectator review. All these references should,I think,help to make the book pretty well known in Canada,and I believe that with the proper kind of advertising here and energy on the part of your representative, a very large sale could be worked up in this country.

I will let you have during the course of this week the extracts which I think will be well to use in the circular which you are getting out. I will also write you tomorrow in regard to any changes for the second edition. I do not intend to suggest any change other than possibly the addition of a few words in one part, which you may agree with me it would be wise to make,and the possible change of one word in another. If,however,you are in a hurry to run off the edition,do not wait until you hear from me in regard to these changes. I am quite pleased to hear that you expect soon to get out a second edition.

I must acknowledge,also,with many thanks the receipt of the "Special Advance Information" of April 10th from your publishing department. It has a most kindly reference to myself in connection with the work of this Department. It may,perhaps,interest you to know,in this connection,that since the Department has been created I have had to act as conciliator in about 35 strikes,including most of the largest strikes which have taken place in the Dominion. The strike at Nanaimo,which is mentioned in your information sheet. was one of the most interesting of the strikes dealt with. I like particularly the words you use in describing me as a "practical Idealist." While I feel they are quite unmerited,there is,perhaps, nothing that I could as much desire to be.

Dear Mr. King:

Yours of the 17th has been forwarded from New York.

I am much interested in the splendid reviews you enclose. There should be a fine response to these throughout Canada as also in England. I had seen the London Standard but not the Outlook. Had called attention of our British office to these but naturally found they had seen them and find they are doing their best to circulate the little volume.

Could a commendation be had from Mrs. Humphrey Ward, it would perhaps be the most effective of all for use. I think you will understand I am not compiling material for the circular, delaying this until I have the selections you had proposed our including.

Our list of reviews was sent you from New York. These I judge you are holding.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I fear that you will have thought I had entirely forgotten my undertaking to compile from the reviews of my little book some extracts which I have thought would be of service in the circular or Enc-- pamphlet which you have kindly undertaken to prepare. I am enclosing herewith these extracts,which I will leave with you,of course,to insert in the order and manner you think best. Some of the reviews, particularly those of the English papers,for example,the Spectator, Outlook,Times,etc. have been of considerable length. I have taken only a little from them,but I think,perhaps,as much as you would care to use.

I wish I had more reviews from American papers and magazines. It is possible that some may have appeared which you will have and can add,but the truth probably is that the book has not interested the reviewers to whom it has been sent. I think,however,that the reviews from the British papers should help to make up this loss. Certainly in this country they will carry great weight. I think,too, that the reviews from our own Canadian papers (I have quoted only from the leading ones in the Dominion) will also be of very great service here. Taken together I think you will agree that they are a splendid lot of reviews and that it is somewhat remarkable that the criticisms should be not only so extremely favourable but also very general in this regard.

I have been told of reviews in the British Weekly,the Dial of Chicago,and one or two other publications which I have not seen,but which may have come your way. If you have anything worth while from any of these or other sources I would be glad if you would let me know.

When Mr.Carnegie was here about two weeks ago,he told me at dinner at Government House one evening that he would like to do something in the way of assisting in the circulation of the book, and asked me if I would make a suggestion as to what he might do. I thanked him for his kindness in speaking of the matter,but said that while appreciating his offer,I would much prefer to leave anything he might desire to do entirely to himself. To this he replied that personally he himself did not wish to undertake the distribution but that if I would suggest the persons to whom I would like the book sent and would see to the distribution myself he would secure a number of copies. I said again that I would much prefer not to make any suggestion. Before he left that evening he asked me if I would write him,making a suggestion as to what I would like him to do,for which I thanked him. On the following day Mr.Carnegie's secretary. Mr.Bertram,told me that Mr.Carnegie had told him that he it was his desire to do something for the book,and had left it with Mr.Bertram to arrange. On the same day I mentioned to Mr.J.McCook of New York.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume 6

CANADA

who was here with Mr.Carnegie,what Mr.Carnegie had said in conversation with me,but repeated to him that I did not desire to make a suggestion. I have,since Mr.McCook's return to New York,received a letter from him,in which he says that Bertram informed him that as soon as he heard from me he would write,telling me that Mr.Carnegie would take an edition of 500 copies,to be given to me to be distributed in accordance with a plan I might suggest,and of which Mr.Carnegie might approve.

From the way Mr.Carnegie spoke to me I felt that he was prepared to do something on a larger scale than Mr.Bertram's statement implies,but I presume that in these matters Mr.Bertram acts as manager and has the virtual determining of the amount to be paid,etc.

I have not yet written Mr.Carnegie making any suggestion for the simple reason that I have not been able to satisfy myself that it is a desirable thing to do. I have no doubt,for example, that 500 copies distributed say in the schools as prizes to be awarded for essays on heroism or given to the libraries of English-speaking universities by Mr.Carnegie would be a good advertisement and might help in the circulation of the book,and of course the little amount which might come in through the purchase of this number of volumes would be most acceptable. Before I write him,however,I would be pleased to have your views in the matter. You could,perhaps,make a suggestion which would overcome the prejudice which exists in my own mind against what has the appearance of accepting,if not asking, a favour from Mr.Carnegie and which would at the same time prove helpful in the circulation of the book and be acceptable to Mr.Carnegie. I presume in the event of my writing Mr.Carnegie and securing this order from you,you would be agreeable to letting me have the books at the cost per copy to which the author is entitled--namely,the best trade rates. It may be that Mr.Bertram will expect this rate himself,but I think,if only an edition of 500 copies is ordered he should not object to giving the retail price.

I enclose a review from the Hamilton of Monday,April 30th which I think one of the very best that has appeared. I presume you have seen the reviews in the English Spectator and Outlook. They certainly were fine. I have been quite surprised at the number of people who have spoken to me in regard to them.

I would be delighted if this little book could have a good run. I believe that the reviews which we have,and the other opportunities,there is every reason why it should. The Christmas season is, of course,the time that most is to be looked for but I certainly think that we ought to have a large number of copies sold before then. I believe if you will get up in the tasteful form in which your circulars appear,the little pamphlet with the several and any other reviews which you may have,I could,from addresses which I might furnish to Cundy in Toronto,as well as to yourself,secure the sale of a very large number of copies from many people who I know would be interested from one reason or another.

I have written to Mrs.Humphrey Ward for an expression of opinion and will forward it to you as soon as received. Would you have any objection to leeting me see the proof of the circular? I am returning under separate cover,the reviews kindly forwarded from your office.

Thanks for yours of the 12th, with the condensed reviews. We shall put the matter in hand at once, and hope to have ready shortly a very attractive little circular, the plates of which we shall send to our British office for use there. We hope to add one or two additional reviews from this side of the border. We have not seen anything in THE BRITISH WEEKLY nor in THE DIAL. If you find the dates of these, will you kindly advise us. Both would be very helpful.

Regarding Mr. Carnegie's suggested interest, I feel sure from our experience regarding Mr. Campbell's POEMS that Mr. Carnegie shrinks from going into all matters of detail, so that if you will simply intimate to his secretary, Mr. Bertram, the libraries (or the individuals) to which you would suggest copies of the book being sent, you would at once receive the order to send them. Would it not be rather a slow process to distribute books as prizes to be awarded for essays as you suggest? Then, too, it would be difficult to estimate the number of copies desired or in any way limit them. Mr. Carnegie would probably be inclined to have included in any list, the libraries of this country that have benefitted by his munificence. Possibly he would further wish to include the same British libraries. Both these were included in the list to which we sent Campbell's POEMS, and this list we still have. The English speaking colleges and universities of this country number some 450. This would form an admirable list. Then, too, if I might venture to suggest, the book would be eminently helpful if it could be sent to the various libraries of the Young Men's Christian Associations of this country. If you have been familiar with the development of this Institution during the past decade, I think you cannot but have noticed the growth of the manly spirit. In earlier years there was a good deal of deserved criticism regarding the make-up of the Associations: this is greatly changed. There is a different tone quite observable in the national and state gatherings,- quite along the line of the lesson of your little book. Of such libraries there are on this Continent, 728. It would seem to me you need not have any hesitation in responding frankly to Mr. Carnegie's

Many thanks for yours of the 6th enclosing additional excerpts from the reviews.

I was very much interested in THE OUTLOOK article. We lunch at the same Club with the editors, nearly every day— I shall t ake occasion to ascertain the author of the article: it is certainly most kindly appreciative, and presents what is a large need on this side of the line. It was only recently that our Mr. Briggs was urging upon the editor of THE AMERICAN MONTHLY, formerly LESLIE'S, the opportunity presented in your specific work for an exceptionally good magazine article.

Enclosed find royalty statement. You will note we have sold about a third of the second thousand, crediting the royalty to your account. This you will understand includes American sales only: as yet we have had no reports from the British market.

Very sincerely,

Dear Mr.Revell:

I have only just returned from Calgary and find awaiting me your communication of the 8th inst.,with which is enclosed royalty statement,and I am certainly pleased to know from it that you thought at the time of writing,you had sold about a third of the second thousand of my little book,not counting what may have been done in the British market.

I notice in crediting the royalty to my account you give me credit only for a third of the second thousand. The contract which you made with me entitles me to royalty on all copies after the first 500 until three thousand copies are sold,in which event I would be entitled to royalty on all copies. As my contract differed a little in this particular from some of the contracts which your firm is accustomed to make.I presume that this has been possibly overlooked. Would you kindly let me know if I am not right in this particular.

I notice that on the books sent April 6,of which there were two lots, 5 gray and 5 green, $7.00 and one sent by post,72 c. I am charged $7.72. If I understood you rightly in one of your communications I was to be allowed the amount which I was obliged to pay as customs duty on any copies sent from New York. The customs duty paid by me on the two sets amounted to 65 cents. If I am to be allowed customs duties on these books will you kindly have this amount placed to my credit.

Would you kindly send me 6 additional copies of my book, bound in gray, if you have any of the gray binding still in stock, charging me with the same, less customs duty if that is agreeable to you.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. King:-

Yours of the 21st received. It is quite true our report of sales does not as yet cover the British market, but the report does cover all sales in this country and royalty that was paid on all such sales beyond the first 500. All copies sent to Britain are considered as still on hand. The following will no doubt make this all clear:

Bound to date - - - - - - - - - -		1 374
Free U. S. A. - -	500
Reviews - - - - -	173
On hand - - - - -	368	1 041
Sales subject to royalty -		333

We credit your account 65¢ custom charges on last lot. We are sending six additional copies today, bound in gray, but as it is quite difficult to prepay the customs, will ask you to kindly settle for these, advising us as to the amount, which will be placed to your credit.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I wish to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of one or two copies of leaflet containing cuttings from newspapers on my book "The Secret of Heroism" which evidently is being used in the Old Country.

I notice,on looking over the quotations that nothing is taken from the very excellent review which appeared in the Spectator,and which,perhaps,was the most valuable of the English reviews. Possibly the enclosures which you have sent were prepared before the Spectator review was brought to the attention of your house. I thought I would mentioned this to you,in case it may have escaped your own notice.

I am very greatly obliged to you for your kindness in sending me this leaflet.

Dear Mr.Revell:

I am obliged to leave to-night for the Rocky Mountains,to endeavour to settle a strike which has been on at Lethbridge for some months past. The Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta are facing a coal famine at the beginning of winter,and unless the strike can be settled by amicable means,it may be necessary for one of the governments to send in men to work the mines in order to save its people from great suffering. There has been so much to consider in connection with this and other matters since my return that I have not had a single moment to think of my book, and must leave it now in your hands.

Will you please get out the poster,making such references as you think best. I enclose one of the little pamphlets which you sent and have underlined sentences which it seemed to me might be well to quote. I am quite sure if a good poster is made,and distributed to the booksellers through Canada,it will have a first-rate effect for the Christmas sale. Do not forget the third edition. Please do not wait for me to send you any changes in the printing of the third edition. If I get time on the train before I reach Lethbridge I will send you a line suggesting one or two changes,but pray do not either expect or wait for this,as I fear I will have all I can do in getting ready to handle this difficulty. I wish Ralph Connor or Norman Duncan were going to be with me. The situation promises to be one of the most interesting the Department has yet had to deal with.

I will be very grateful if you will impress on Mr.Gundy the desirability of making a special effort to push my book for the Christmas sale in Canada. I think it ought to prove a good investment for him so to do.

It was a very great pleasure to me to meet you in New York,and I shall always look back with the happiest of recollections on the short conversation we had together,and your kindness to me.

With best regards to Mr.Briggs and yourself,believe me, as always,

Dear Mr. King:--

I have recently seen in the Outlook an interesting account of your very successful work as conciliator in a strike in the mines in British Columbia. I want to add my congratulations to those of many others on your success. I hope if you should be in New York this coming winter you will let me see you again.

I have been abroad for the past two years until last October. Since then I have served as special adviser to the President in municipal affairs of the District of Columbia, and, as perhaps you have seen, special commissioner in the investigation of the stock yards of Chicago. The latter work has resulted in the passage of an excellent bill and in attracting public attention to care in the preparation of food products. I do not think our country has been any more careless than any other, and the general indifference which has existed in the past on that subject is really astounding. At the present time there must be a disposition to clean house in Europe as well as in America in this particular, and I hope the public health generally will benefit.

Very cordially yours,

James B. Reynolds.

Dear Mr. Reynolds:

I was indeed delighted to receive in this morning's mail a letter from yourself, and to know that after all the travelling and hard work you have been doing you have still time and inclination to extend a word of encouragement to your friends.

It is most kind of you to have noticed the article in The Outlook, and particularly to have written to me in reference to it. I thank you sincerely for your congratulations on the settlement of the Nanaimo strike. When I again have the pleasure of talking with you, I would like to tell you something of it, as it was, perhaps the most interesting of between thirty and forty strikes with which I have had

The stockyards investigation has been watched with interest the world over, and I could not help feeling, when I saw your name as commissioner, that the United States government was in earnest in what it was doing. You deserve not only the congratulations but the deepest gratitude of the public of this continent, as well as of other parts of the world, for the services you have rendered in this connection. I believe the exposures of the investigation and the legislation will all have a purifying effect not only in the United States, but wherever the industries are being carried on. I know our own government have not failed to interest themselves actively in regard to Canadian conditions, and the measures that are being taken now are, I believe, only forerunners of those, more extensive and thorough, which we may

May I ask if the Administration of the Chinese Immigration Law of Canada is in charge of your Bureau, and would questions relating to the smuggling of Chinese into Canada, or from Canada into America, come under your jurisdiction? I am interested in this subject as Chairman of a Special Commission authorized by the President to investigate Chinese immigration into this country, and Chairman of a committee in the National Civic Federation investigating the same subject, and shall probably find it necessary to go to Canada in September or October to learn something of the methods and results of administration of the Chinese Immigration Law in Canada. I am much better since coming home. I get out almost every day "on a cot" and yesterday sat up for a few minutes, my first for a month. I have not yet had on any clothes but a dressing-gown but I find the author of Sartor Sartor was quite wrong in the importance attached to outer garments. Deprived of them we do not become socially impudent; witness the lovees of Louis XIV and the numerous inquiries as to my health and contributions to my welfare. My receptions however as yet include only the family, the clergy and the doctor.

I am very comfortable ~~and~~ happy and am of course very well looked after between my Jeffie and the man and the nurse that I brought with me from Ottawa and the doctor here talks of keeping the machine running for some little time barring accidents which is not at all what I expected when I left Ottawa

One matter I omitted to speak to you about. You know of course of Israel Zangwill, and have probably read something of his schemes for settling the Jews in Palestine. Well, a prominent and wealthy member of the Community in London — Mr. Joseph Fels (of Fels-Naptha Soap fame — doubtless you recognize the name!) has offered Mr. Zangwill to assist substantially in any Colonizing scheme — not on the "Palestine" idea or "separate State" idea, which he thinks absurd — but by enabling Jews to settle on land in any of the British Colonies or the U.S.A. and on the lines laid down by Henry George. I understand from Mr. Fels that Zangwill has agreed to this, and Mr. Fels asks me if I can help him to find somewhere a suitable spot where land can be got for the Colony.

Dear Mackenzie King,

Unfortunately Mr. Coates could not come at 7 o'cl. so he hopes now just to see you next time he is over in Canada.

I saw Mr. Kellyer today, and unless you let me know to the contrary he will call on you at 9.30 a.m. Thursday regarding Prof Ledden.

It occurs to me you may be able to advise me as to the suitability of Canada for this, and also as to the possibilities of getting land, & what would be the best way to set about it -

I dont understand that there is any desperate hurry over the matter, so dont as you will be busy until you leave dont trouble to reply at any length just now - If you tell me that you think the thing feasible, I can await your return to Canada for any further detail.

I enclose some of Mr. Fells 'literature' which he gave me regarding certain schemes he is already interested in. These will help give you an idea of what he is driving at.

Forgive this long letter!

Yours very truly.

My dear Ryan:

I am getting together a few facts in regard to trade between Canada and the Orient,and in this connection would be very grateful if you could give me any information which will go to show the advantages that the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is likely to afford in this connection. Of course I know that these are innumerable. Unless,therefore,you have the information in pamphlet form,perhaps you could let me have something as to--

(1) The extent to which the distance by water from Canada to Yokohama in Japan,will be shortened,compared with the present route from Vancouver to Yokohama.

(2) What would be the actual distance in nautical miles from the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Yokohama.

(3) What would be the distance from the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific to some Russian port which is likely to be used as a commercial centre.

If you can give me any facts that will throw light on consider if it is possible to call a few of the passages and arrange them in pamphlet form to be sold at one penny – in a similar manner to that now issued of Arnold Toynbee by Albert Mansbridge.

I trust you will pardon my presumption – I do not know whether it is even practical – but if it is and the pamphlet is scattered throughout the English speaking nations I believe it will be an memorial even more splendid than the statue now erected.

Dear Sir

Miss Toynbee lent me your book "The Secret of Heroism" to read and on returning it to her I mentioned how much I enjoyed it. She told me you were at present in London + would probably like to hear from an English working man trade unionist the joy experienced in reading it. I am not sure I should have troubled you with any unworthy observation of mine but that a thought occurred to me that I might offer a suggestion whereby other working men might come under the influence of the Spirit of that noble Hero. For I am sure the spirit of Harper lives. I was deeply affected whilst reading his description of the death of his parents and his lament that he should have lost them at a period when he was beginning to be able to render their old age more comfortable after the stress, devotion, & self sacrifice entailed in the upbringing of their children. I have read this & other extracts to my wife and friends who would appreciate his sublime character. His letter to his brother in New York and his comments on the whirl, glitter & pleasure of the wealthy; the joy he obtained at the concert his advice to his brother in his profession, and the keeping of his end up during troublous times. His conviction of the power of his friend to accomplish his mission to the West to settle a difficult trade dispute. His struggles to obtain a suitable vocation his keen insight into the economic needs of the work people and his earnest desire to grapple with the problem. These and other thoughts occur to me as I write and I am induced to suggest that you would

My dear Mr. Salter,

Your very kind letter of the 28th ultimo has touched me deeply, at the same time bringing with it a great joy. It is a matter of peculiar delight to me that the little memoir which I have written of my friend, Harper, should have appealed so strongly to you. Your appreciative words in regard to Harper's character and particularly your commendation of his views on labour and social questions are peculiarly gratifying to me. I thank you sincerely for the suggestion which you make of having some of his thoughts and writings grouped in pamphlet form to be sold for a penny. I will have a talk with the publishers of the little memoir about this and will see what can be done. It would give me very true pleasure to have Harper's name become in any way known to the working men of this country. I am glad to be able to say that among the working men of Canada his is a name much revered.

Would you accept from me a copy of the little book as a poor expression of the gratitude I feel for your kind letter. I regret very much that the copy which I am sending is slightly damaged, a blank page having been removed from inside the cover. It is however the only copy of the book which I brought with me from Canada and if you will accept it, it will be a pleasure to me to think, after returning , that it is in your home.

I must ask you to excuse me for sending you a type-written letter. Unhappily I am so pressed with the multitude of things to do before sailing for Canada on Saturday, that I have been obliged to resort to dictation in order to begin to meet some of the correspondence I have.

I will be much pleased if you would write to me some time and if there is ever any way in which I could be of assistance to you, giving information as to conditions in Canada, or in other ways, I hope you will not hesitate to command my services. My address in Canada is:-

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

My Dear Mackenzie:-

I got away from Chicago Sunday evening and on arrival here yesterday I found an answer from Sir. Wilfrid which should have been delivered to us last Thursday night. The message was the following:

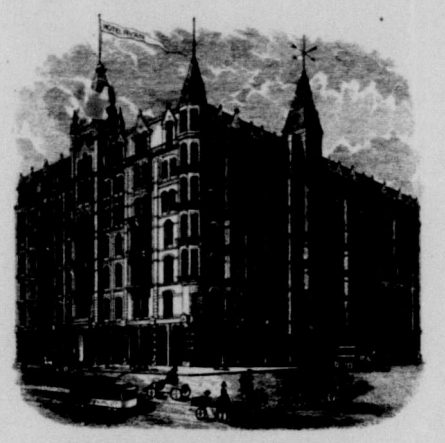

" Manton has already gone as far as he can. Condition now depends upon the mens union. We hope for a satisfactory answer, but nothing certain yet. You say that this government must take and operate Lethbridge Mine. It is far more easy for you than for us. We will back you with all our power. (Signed) Wilfrid Laurier)."

Without any question the chief must have been vastly relieved on Saturday by the intelligence of the strike settlement. I received word yesterday to effect that the men at Lethbridge held a meeting Sunday night and finally declared the strike off. They returned to work yesterday. It is devoutly to be hoped that no further trouble will arise, ~~that~~ Even at the best I fear there is still going to be no little difficulty found in meeting the fuel requirements. Yesterday I asked Mr. Whyte to let me know the immediate situation.

This morning I have word from him which states in part that Mr. Naismith wired yesterday that they will not be able to increase their output much for a week, but hope to get up to 600 tons daily before Christmas. Naismith advises that points in ~~the~~ immediate need of coal should not depend upon his company being able to supply all at once.

D.E.Adams, the dealer at Winnipeg, about whom I was telling you, wires me that he has obtained 7000 tons to be shipped from Cleveland to Ft.William and has also obtained a smaller quantity at Duluth.

I wired the Minister of Customs from Chicago Sunday night, with further reference to the matter of granting a remission of the coal duty. His answer, which reached me here yesterday is to the effect that the department does not possess power to remit the duty. I do not know that it is worth while to bother more about the matter. Apparently we will not in any case get much more coal from the American side, and as far as Duluth coal is concerned, what I have learned here about the railway situation leads me to doubt whether the Soo Line would be able to handle it for us. North Dakota points are complaining greviously against a car shortage which is leaving them short of fuel.

I am really beginning to doubt whether I shall ever reach home again. I went to the station here this morning to take the train for Moose Jaw and discovered at the gate that my ticket was made out up

My dear Mackenzie,-

I arrived home yesterday morning by way of Winnipeg. Attached herewith pàease find Express Money Orders for $80.00 with which you so kindly furnished me and which enabled me to get home.

We are having pretty cold and stormy weather but the complaints coming in with regard to the coal situation are not so grievous as was the case two or three weeks ago. All the smaller mines in the country are being worked over-time and their output has been very considerably increased. D.E. Adams of Winnipeg has obtained a special cargo of 6500 tons of soft coal from Cleveland which will come to Ft. William. The C.P.R. has stopped handling wheat for the time being and is devoting its whole energies to coal.

I wired Mr. Motherwell from St. Paul and his Department is sending you a continuation of the abstract of the reports from individual places which they are receiving.

Believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Scott:

I must ask you to pardon my not having acknowledged sooner your kind letter from Minneapolis of some days ago. The truth is,I have,since returning to Ottawa,been so busily engaged in preparing my report for the Government on the Lethbridge strike,and in dealing with one or two other matters of considerable urgency, that I have had no time for any communications.

I received this morning,your letter of the 7th inst., with its enclosure of $30. Please accept my sincere thanks for the same. I expected you to "make good,not just now,but soon"! However,the immediate settlement will probably relieve the two Governments of serious embarrassment!

I am glad that you have at last got back to Regina. I saw by dispatches in the press that you had been giving me far too much credit for the Lethbridge settlement. I think you should take credit to yourself,for certainly,without the prompt and full attention of your Government in dealing with the matter,and your own kindness in coming along to Indianapolis,it is difficult to say whether or not the matter would have been settled even yet.

I am glad to know that the situation is becoming better in your Province. As soon as my report is ready, I will send you a copy. I think it quite probable that our Government will introduce some legislation which will prevent further occurrences of a kind similar to the Lethbridge dispute. You are right in believing that Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues were mightily relieved in the announcement that the strike had been settled.

Let me repeat again what a pleasure it was to me to have the opportunity of seeing so much of yourself during the days we were together. I trust the friendship between us will grow to a closer and more helpful intimacy as the years go by. I shall certainly always be very greatly interested in your life and work, and will, indeed, be glad of any opportunities or occasions which may bring me into touch with either.

Ottawa, July 21, 1906

My dear Mr. Scully,

I was very pleased to learn by your letter that you decided to take apost graduate course and to go, if possible, to Harvard. If I am not greatly mistaken you will never have reason to regret your decision in this regard, for I think you have a splendid future before you and one which will be vastly improved by the opportunity of careful study for two or three additional years.

I have written to-day to Professor Taussig, who is Chairman of Professors of Economics and who is all powerful in the matter of appointments there. I know him well, and have the greatest pleasure in speaking in the highest terms of you.

I shall be very pleased to write to the professors at Chicago, all of whom I know well, should you make up you mind definitely to go to Chicago rather than Harvard.

A year or two ago, I recommended a student of Toronto for a fellowship at Chicago and Prof. Loudon wrote that he had given the fellowship on my recommendation. The young man subsequently abandoned the Chicago fellowship and went elsewhere, which called forth a communication from Prof. Loudon to the effect that he hoped the students at Toronto University would not apply for further fellowships unless it was their intention to take it. Please therefore let me know what you ultimately decide to do and I shall write to My only feeling is that if you could get into Harvard,it would be the better institution of the two. I will be in Cambridge next week and will look up the professors there. If any are there I shall not fail to say a strong word on your behalf. My only fear is that the scholarships and fellowships are already awarded and that your application is a little late this year.

I have forwarded your essays under separate cover, and would ask you to kindly let me know if they are duly received. I am sorry to have kept them so long and must apologise for having so done.

With best wishes for your success and, if you will allow me at this late date, heartiest congratulations upon the brilliant termination of your course at Toronto, I am,

We were all so sorry you were unable to come down to Folkestone before you left England, but quite understood how busy you were, tho' we were very sorry not to see you.

My dear Sharp:

I hope you will not think that I have forgotten my promise to send you a copy of my little book,"The Secret of Heroism." It is being mailed to-day,and would have gone forward sooner,had it not been that since returning to Ottawa I have scarcely had a moment to myself in which to send a line to any of my friends. I hope you will like it,and that when you glance over its pages it may recall some of the happy and interesting hours which we spent together.

It is an old saying that 'there is no cloud without a silver lining.' So far,at least, as we are concerned,the Lethbridge strike,with all that it may have occasioned of unhappiness to some,has at least brought to us a friendship which I hope may extend to our mutual advantage over many years.

I am still too busy to write you a long letter,but some of these days I hope to have time to do so. For the present,however,let me wish you a very happy Christmas and much happiness and prosperity in the year and years to come.

With kindest regards,believe me.

Dear Sir

I have today received a telegram from Lethbridge to the effect that the men had called off the strike & would sign on for work today.

So ends the first strike, that you have the preveledge of bringing to a close in our Dist during my connection With the Coal Miners of Canada. I do not hope it will be the last. Because of your actions;- but I sincerely hope in the near future. with the help of men like yourself, that we will be able to devise a plan whereby we shall not have to call upon you to assit us in settling strikes. Accept my most sincere thanks for your services & advice.

Dear Mr.Cherman:

I trust you will pardon my not having acknowledged at an earlier date the receipt of your kind letter of the 3rd inst., informing me that you had received a telegram from Lethbridge to the effect that the men had called off the strike,and would sign on for work immediately. I have been so busily engaged since returning to Ottawa,in attending to pressing duties in connection with the present session of Parliament and other matters which accumulated during my absence,as well as in the preparation of my report for the Government on the Lethbridge strike,that I have been obliged to put to one side all correspondence for a few days.

I need hardly say that I sincerely appreciate the kind references to myself contained in your letter,and that I value not a little the evidence of your friendship which it reveals. I am glad that we have been brought into touch with each other,and I hope that as the years go by the regard which we have for each other may be increased through the disinterested services which we each may have opportunity of rendering to a common cause.

I sincerely hope with you that we may be able to devise

some plan whereby strikes and lockouts may become a thing of the past. You will notice in the report which I have prepared for the Government, a copy of which I will send you as soon as it is published, that I dwell pretty strongly upon the necessity for legislation which will compel an arbitration. This feeling was left uppermost in my mind as a result of the Lethbridge strike. From our conversations together, I feel it will be shared by you, and that you will think the recommendation I have made is a movement, at least, in the right direction. I do not know whether Parliament will take up the suggestion or not, but I think it probably will, and in the interests of all parties I hope it may.

I am sending you under separate cover, the little memoir of my friend Harper which I promised to send you. Please accept it with my best wishes for the approaching season, and as a slight token of my regard and friendship for you.

With renewed good wishes, believe me always,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 19th inst..stating that Mr. Goldwin Smith is desirous of getting a quotation from a speech by Sir Frederick Borden to the effect that if Canada were threatened by a foreign attack the United States would enforce the Monroe doctrine,etc. etc.,and requesting the date of this speech.I have just wired you as follows:

> "Sir Frederick Borden's remarks were made during discussion after lecture by Dr.Leacock before May Court Club, Ottawa,Feb.23."

I am enclosing herewith the only reference to Sir Frederick Borden's remarks which appeared in the Ottawa papers. I think one of the Toronto papers quoted from his remarks at greater length. You will observe that the Ottawa paper makes no mention of what he said in reference to the Monroe doctrine. It was during the course of an open discussion which followed a lecture delivered by Professor Leacock of McGill University before the May Court Club at Ottawa---one of [redacted] series of six lectures delivered by him during the winter on the British empire---that Sir Frederick Borden spoke. I was not present at the lecture,but I gathered at the time,from what I heard others remark in reference to it that Dr.Leacock had stated something to the effect

Volume 6

CANADA

that the Munroe doctrine was of little consequence to Canada,in so far as this country's relations to foreign powers were concerned,and that this had called forth from Sir Frederick the reply that the Munroe doctrine,if it meant anything,had of necessity a bearing upon this country,inasmuch as according to its tenets,the United States could not allow a foreign nation to gain by conquest a foothold on this continent. I don't think that Sir Frederick Borden was arguing that because of the Munroe doctrine,Canada should be indifferent to her foreign obligations. He was simply,as I understand it,answering a point in debate.

If Mr.Goldwin Smith intends to make any use of Sir Frederick Borden's remarks,it would,I think,be well for you to write Sir Frederick himself as to the substance of them,for I have heard him say,on one or two occasions,that he was incorrectly reported in the press.

Yours faithfully,

Ottawa, Aug. I, 1906.

AUG. 1, 1906

Dear Mr. Smith:

The enclosed item appeared in this morning's Citizen, and I have thought you would be interested in seeing it. Is there any truth in the rumour? Not having discussed this particular matter with you, I do not know how you may feel in regard to it. If I recollect rightly you said to me one time, speaking in an off-hand way, that you wished the Government would give you Preston's position. I do not think at the time that you were considering the matter at all, but now that Preston has been removed from England it may be that the position is one which you might find very much to your liking. There is no doubt that your appointment to the position would be a most popular one among the labour men, and would do the Government much good, and I imagine it is an appointment which the Government would be willing to put in your way, should you desire to have it. I have thought it best, therefore, to write you at once, so as to know your views, and also to learn from you how you think it might affect the matter we discussed together. The appointment would have to be made within the next month or two. Would that give time to secure matters in your constituency?

I have not written you since you left as I have been absent from Ottawa most of the time and have been very much crowded with some work in the Department. I did not wish to write until I had the Japanese material and the Earl Grey memorandum in shape, for I was heartily ashamed for not having had them ready when you left. I will do the best I can to have them within the next fortnight,but at present it has simply been almost next to impossible.

I received a copy of the Vancouver paper which Mrs.Smith so kindly sent me. Will you please give her my best thanks for it. I was glad indeed to have it,and especially,also,to ~~think~~ have this evidence that I was not completely absent from her mind after she had left Ottawa.

I hope you are well,also Mrs.Smith and the boys. Please give them all my kindest remembrances and with best regards to yourself,believe me,as ever,

My dear Mr. King

I have your letter with an enclosed item published in the Ottawa Citizen . In conection with the same I desire to say that I never spoke to any of the Ministers about the matter except yourself. The whole thing is guess work on the part of the Press for I am prepared to state to you defitinely that if the position was offered to me I would not take it; for as you are aware I have a definite arrangement with Sir Wilfred and with yourself also , which are my definite plans for the future, and since I left Ottawa I have been doing everything to work this plan out, which I have no doubt can be accomplished so far as your part of it is concerned. My part with Sir Wilfred having been settled, So you can rely upon these things being carried out even if the tempting offer of Preston's position is made to me. If you have a chance you might convey my intention on this matter to Sir Wilfred so that he will not be affected with regard to the original p plan. I am expecting to have the papers from you that we arranged for any day. I knew you were busy and was not surprised at the delay.

Dear Mr.Smith:

I am enclosing some 16 pages of an article on trans-Pacific trade which has to do with the trade with Japan. You will see that I have worked over the material carefully,and in such a way that it can readily be used for a speech. It has taken me much longer than I thought it would. In fact,it is work which one cannot do hurriedly and I have tried to prepare the material in a way which I thought would be satisfactory.

I will have to get time to add a few pages on what the development of trade with Japan would mean to Canada. The development of our resources and the additional employment to large numbers of men in industries of one kind and another,and a consequent increase in wealth are,of course,the obvious effects. Some attention might also be paid to the cheaper price of goods from Japan,such as teas, silks,etc.which would result. Japanese trade would not lead to Japanese emigration to Canada,as the Canadian demand,stimulating industry in Japan would have the effect of keeping the Japanese employed in their own country. (This,I think,is the point you wished to make in B.C.)

I have the material so far as Chinese trade is concerned, almost ready to send,but owing to many interruptions which I am daily experiencing,and the fact that we have in the Department only the one stenographer (Mr.Giddens having returned from his holidays and Miss Chearman being now away) I may not get it to you before another week or ten days,so I have thought it best to send on this part at once.

As to trade with Australia,I think it would be advisable to leave this alone for the present. You will probably have noticed that the Australian Commonwealth has,in its tariff legislation,hit this country rather hard,so that the talk of further preferences in Australia for Canadian goods would not be very opportune just now.

You will probably have noticed by the press that Mr.Lemieux is sending me to England with a view to pressing on the authorities there the importance of enacting legislation re false representations in Great Britain. I hope to be able to leave by the 21st of the month,so that there will be time for you to receive this and for me to hear from you before I leave if there is anything you wish to communicate to me. I tried to arrange with Mr.Lemieux to have us both go over together,and in fact,told him that I thought it might be preferable,if the both of us could not go,for you to go instead of me,as you had introduced the resolution. He said he would liked to have arranged for us to go together,but he feared that as you were a member of parliament,representing only one side in the House,some objection might be made on this score,and that it was,therefore. better to have the representations made purely officially. However, as that is not to be,I will do the best I can to secure the end to which I am being sent. Certainly the Government's action in following up this matter as they have,should be very helpful,and the fact of your having brought up the matter in the House of Commons and secured the passing of the resolution should help you not only with the labour men,but all classes. I do not know whether I mentioned in a former letter that I saw Sir Wilfrid before the close of the session about the resolution,and that he put it through the last day.

I must again apologise for my delay in sending you this material. When I tell you,however,that I have not yet been able to write one line of the annual report owing to the pressure of other work,and that I have not taken,with the exception of the trip to Boston and a day or two in Berlin, a few days holidays since you left,you will understand how hard pressed I have been. The annual report will,of course,have to be completed before I get away.

With kindest regards to Mrs.Smith and yourself,believe me,as always,

Yours very sincerely,

Dear Mr.Smith:

Mr.King left for England yesterday. Before leaving he instructed me to write you a line to say that he was very sorry not to have been able to send along something further with regard to Chinese trade. He has been so busy, however,with the annual report and getting things in shape in connection with his mission to England,that he has had no time whatever for anything else.

I regret that we were unable to send you this further material,but think you will understand how busy we have been,and how difficult it is to handle a rush of work at the last minute. It may be that the material already supplied will meet your requirements.

Dear Mr. Smith:

I am just in receipt of your letter from Nanaimo, dated the 29th ult., in which you ask me to kindly forward papers re Japanese matters.

I presume you have received my letter of the 21st ult., in which I stated that Mr. King had left for the Old Country and had been unable, through press of work before his departure, to get you anything further re Oriental trade than was forwarded to you with his letter of the 6th September. I presume you received the letter of the 6th, enclosing some 16 pages of material re Japanese trade.

As stated in my letter of the 21st ult., I regret that I have no further material, beyond what was included in the memorandum sent by Mr. King on the 6th. I hope that you received this material all right; if not, please let me know and I will have a copy forwarded.

OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY MINISTER.

Labour - Fair Wages Resolution ✓

Ottawa, June 30, 1906.

Dear Sir:

The Department of Labour has been considering the rates of wages set forth in the schedules attached to the various tenders for material for letter carrier's uniforms, which you have referred to this Department. I find that with the exception of two schedules which have been submitted, the rates are satisfactory. In the case, however, of the schedule attached to the tender of J.A.Humphrey & Son, Limited, of Moncton, N.B. the rate is set forth for female finishers at 60 cents, and in the rates attached to the tender of the Dominion Woollen Mills, Limited, at Beauharnois the rate is specified for ordinary apprentices at 50 cents per day.

In the opinion of the Fair Wages officer of this Department, 75 cents per day of 10 hours is the lowest minimum rate which should be allowed to be paid by any contractor to any of his employees engaged upon government work. This is a low minimum, and you will readily understand that where some contractors have agreed to pay this or a higher rate, they would be put at a disadvantage in the matter of their tender, if other contractors were, through the scantiness of the wages which they are paying to their employees be placed in a position to tender at a lower rate.

Volume 6

I agree entirely with the view of the Fair Wages officers and I might add that it is one which this Department has maintained since its establishment.

It is possible that the classes of labour specified in the schedules referred to as being paid at the rate of 60 and 50 cents respectively per day, are not classes likely to be employed on work which is being done for the Government, and the schedule, of course, are intended to relate only to work performed for the Government. I think, therefore, it would be well to inform the tenderers of the views of this Department in the matter, so that when the circumstances are set forth, they may be given an opportunity of explaining the schedule, and if necessary, of agreeing to pay the minimum rate. Unless they do so, however, it will be impossible for me to certify as to any rate less than 75 cents per day of ten hours being satisfactory as a minimum.

Yours truly,

W. L. Mackenzie King.

Dear Sir:-

Mr. Frank W. Sherman, of Fernie, B.C. who is District President of the United Mine Workers of America in the Crows Nest District has recently been here and has openly advocated the breaking of the Agreement existing between the Company and its Employees, and has stated that if the men would break the Agreement, that the U.M.W. would stand by them this time to the bitter end, even if it took a year or more to bring the Company to terms.

In view of the repeated statements made by the higher officers of the U.M.W. one can scarcely credit that the National Officers would sanction such action on the part of a subordinate officer.

I may say that I do not believe that many of our Employees endorse this radical suggestion, but intend to carry out in good faith, as do also the Company and its Officers, the Joint Agreement of September 30th, last, and with which you are perfectly familiar.

I had a talk with Mr. Ralph Smith just before he left for Ottawa. He is conversant with the circumstances. I suggest you see him for such further facts as may be of interest to yourself or the Department.

Dear Mr.Stockett:

I have received this morning your communication of the 9th inst.,marked "private" in which you state that Mr.Frank W.Sherman. of Fernie,B.C.,District President of the United Mine Workers of America in the Crows Nest District,has recently been there,and has openly advocated the breaking of the agreement between the Company and its employees.

I had a talk yesterday with Mr.Ralph Smith,in which he spoke of Sherman's visit to Nanaimo,and of what he was attempting to do Mr.Smith seemed to be of the opinion that he would not succeed in influencing your employees,though he greatly deprecated the trouble Sherman was making.

Since I left Nanaimo I have been in correspondence with Mitchell about the conduct of their man Gibson,who was in Nanaimo when I was present,and also in regard to some statements which I learned that Mitchell himself had made in regard to myself in a communication to the local union at Nanaimo. Were it not that I have not,as yet, finished with the United Mine Workers Union in this matter,I would take up with Mitchell the matter of the interference of their man

Dear Mr. Taussig;

Your kind note of congratulations has brought me the greatest pleasure and I thank you sincerely for its generous words. Much as I dislike that kind of thing,I could not resist sending you a copy of the paper which called forth your kind letter. Feeling as I always do that much if any of the success I may have had is due in large measure to your own teaching and example.

Mr. Hugh D. Scully, gold medallist of Toronto University, writes me that he has made application for a fellowship at Harvard. I imagine it is partly on my advice that he has done this, for I have had one or two talks with him about his future and I have urged him very strongly to take a post graduate course in Economics, and,if he can at all arrange to do so, to take it at Harvard. He is one of the most promising young men I have ever met and one of the most brilliant graduates of Toronto University. I am sure if awarded a scholarship

Dear Professor Taussig:

I have been hoping for some time past that I might have an opportunity of talking with you in reference to my completing the work required to obtain the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard. I have not written only because I trusted in some way I would have a chance of talking over the matter. I had looked forward to taking a run down to your summer residence when in Boston a week or two ago and discussing the matter with you, but unfortunately my stay was unexpectedly shortened and I missed that chance. I think, therefore, it is better to write you now rather than wait for the opportunity of a personal interview.

I am most desirous of obtaining the degree of Dictor of Philosophy from Harvard. Having passed the general examination, I feel that the one really formidable part of the work has been accomplished, the thesis and special examination alone remaining. As to the special examination, I feel that my six years' experience in the management of this Department would enable

Volume 6

me to pass a pretty searching examination on certain phases at least of the labour problem.

As you know too, I have had to prepare a number of important reports on labour matters since I have been connected with the Government, as well as editing and writing a good part of the Labour Gazette each month. I have planned much of the work in the Gazette with a view to having the material collected and published of such a kind and gathered in such a way that might be made the basis of an economic study on industrial conditions in Canada and a history of labour in particular. As I have planned the work myself, prepared the schedules and done, with the exception of certain articles, most of what was other than purely clerical work, I feel that I could conscientiously claim as the fruits of my own research any results that may have thus far been obtained. I presume that Harvard University would scarcely accept my work in the Department of Labour in connection with the editing of the Labour Gazette, the administration of the Department, preparation of special articles, settlement

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume 6

of strikes, etc., as meeting the further requirements for the doctor's degree, though it may be possible that, viewing the subject in a broad way, it might count for something towards this end.

I have striven each year to do a little of something on the thesis which I commenced in Harvard and for which I have gathered a vast amount of material and indeed done a great deal of work. The pressure has been so continuous, however, that I have, when a spare moment came, scarcely felt equal to the task of making much headway, and I regret to say that I fear the future promises even less in the way of relief.

I have before me in the near future the prospect of even greater opportunity of public service. I would be prepared to delay this a little did I feel assured that I could obtain the Harvard degree in the interval by so doing, though even here there is a possibility of my being more a creature of circumstances than the master of them. Would you do me the great kindness of letting me know just what the University would expect.

One other thing, a friend of mine, Mr. Paul Mantoux, with whom I lived for a time while abroad on the Harvard fellowship, has recently published in French, as you are no doubt aware, a volume of some five hundred pages on The Industrial Revolution of the 18th Century. To my mind, it is a most valuable contribution to industrial history. Mr. Mantoux has been corresponding with me as to my undertaking the work of translating this volume, and yesterday I received from Henry Holt & Company, New York, a letter stating that they are prepared to publish a translation and would like to make some arrangement with me should I undertake the work. I have been considering what amount of labour and time would be involved in making a satisfactory and careful translation. To do it properly, even with the help of a stenographer, would, I think, take me the greater part of the fall and winter and perhaps on into spring, giving practically five nights a week and Saturday afternoons for work. I was wondering if a translation of this book with a carefully prepared preface would, in connection with the work which I have done in this Department, be accepted by the Harvard authorities as filling the thesis requirements. If it would, I would undertake the translation and put my best efforts into it. As the book has to do with industrial changes which have produced our present day labour problem, it would be of special advantage to me to spend my time on this rather than on some other work.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume 6

Please pardon the length of this letter and its suggestions as well, should they appear to be out of place. I would be very grateful to have your views in the matter. As I have said, I am most anxious to be on the Harvard list of Doctors of Philosophy, as I know of no distinction which I would value more highly. My one regret has always been that the work in which I am now engaged came just a year too soon to enable me to round off at least the student part of my academic life. I never cease to feel that some day I will again form some new association with the University. For much as I enjoy my present work and interesting as are the prospects for the future, I have still in my heart a very warm feeling for academic life.

Allow me before I conclude to thank you for your kind note of congratulation on the honour which I recently received. Your generous words brought me the greatest pleasure.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

P.S. Mr. H.D.Scully,of Toronto University, who has applied for a scholarship at Harvard, is, I think, one of the most promising and brilliant of the students who have passed through the Toronto University. It was on my advise that he made application at Harvard, and I am sure should he be successful enough to take a post graduate course at Harvard, he will reflect credit on both himself and the University.

My dear Mr. King:-

I have your letter of Aug, 17th. and am sorry to have missed the opportunity of seeing you during your visit to Boston.

We should be very glad to have you present yourself as a candidate for the degree of Ph. D. You are doubtless right in thinking that the main thing you still need to do for the attainment of that degree, is the preparation of a satisfactory thesis. I should suppose that in the special field of labor problems, your reading and experience have given you ample equipment.

I doubt, however, whether the translation of a French book such as you mention on the Industrial Revolution of the 18th. Century, will be accepted as a sufficient thesis. Nor would your work on the Labor Gazette fulfil our formal requirements. Very probably you could construct, from your experience ~~an~~ a investigation, ~~and~~ a thesis that would be acceptable; but it would have to be put together as a single consistent piece of work.

I note what you say of H. D. Scully of Toronto, and hope he will come to Cambridge and that I shall see something of him .

Very sincerely yours,

F. W. Taussig

I am glad to learn from your letter of 18th inst. that you have had a satisfactory visit in Scotland. I am looking forward to seeing you, and hope you will not fail to look me up at an early date. I shall be most pleased if you will come down and lunch with me some day next week at one o'clock. The Editor of the "Standard" newspaper - Mr. Gwynne - is anxious to meet you and discuss a Canadian Immigration Scheme which he has in view. Perhaps if you cannot come to luncheon, you would be good enough to let me know when it would be convenient for you to have me arrange a meeting with Mr. Gwynne, whom you will find unusually interesting and well-informed.

Dear Mr. King

Just a few lines this morning to tell you how glad I am that you can come, and how I must ask a few questions—
Will you let me know what day to expect you, and by what train—if you can get down in the morning. You arrive at 11.30

Many as yet at present a large party from St. John have been speaking & look like me. They are leaving on Monday, and others come on Saturday, for a few days. Then I shall be looking forward to you coming, and if you like I will ask me to ask some people for you here, rather than for quiet time - just Sunday to, and gladly do so. Now I must say good bye and hope you will come either Saturday or Monday and that you will like here & Happy visit—

My dear Mr King.

Your letter was very welcome. I was wanting to hear from you & so long since we wrote to each other. I often think of you & your pleasant little evening they brought us into real touch with each other so that I feel it's easy to resume our correspondence at any time. I am very pleased to hear of Earl Grey's appreciation of my Brother Arnold & am so glad he has been able to increase your knowledge of him. Your book I have read with deep interest & enjoyment. It is an inspiring & beautiful life & character & I feel it will help all who come across it. Especially young men the unemployed. Life is very very sad when one realises these grim facts. Russia is too terrible to think of. One has to cling to one's faith in a Loving God & to acquiesce in the Existence of an insoluble Mystery of Suffering & Sin. Each one can only do a little to bring about reforms. But be must all help & so we hope for a better day. I am very glad we have so many Labour members in our new Parliament. They realise keenly the social evils affecting their class & mean to effect some reforms

I shall read my copy a great deal. I suppose I can buy copies in England? The statue as far as I can see it in the print looks very beautiful. You must have felt it comforting to write this Life for in doing it your dear friend must have seemed very close to you. I like the way you have done it. There is such knowledge & reticence & you have selected the extracts well they are all worth having. Often in biographies far too much is put in, unimportant & trivial things which detract from the vital matter. I feel much richer for the knowledge of such a strong beautiful Spirit. I shall feel my friendship for you deepened by this possession. Your loss has been a very great one & life can never be the same after it but I know you are helped & comforted by seeking to live as he is? Your work must be very interesting & very important. My dear Mr King
I did not expect to be so soon again but I have just learnt that a young friend of mine is going out to Canada at the end of this month to work at farming & as he goes to Eastern Canada I think he may perhaps be within reach of you. I shall give him an introduction to you in case he is able to present it. He is the son of a very dear old friend of mine whom I knew before her marriage. It is a great blow to her & I

but it was his own wish to try farming it is too expensive in England. He has been at St Paul's School &
he was a short while at Cambridge but he has a real will & a mind of his

to take him away & he has since been at home working for the medical profession but after he had been a short while at the hospital he found he did not make any with the work & got discouraged so it is felt best to let him follow his bent. He has always had to farming.
He is a very good & loveable fellow manly sensible & affectionate & pleasant in manner & appearance. But he has not a strong will & his mother feels there is a risk of him being led away by those stronger in character than himself Any one can help him in any way by introducing him to people whose influence to the life of Harper & he was delighted with it. I have not taken them your newspaper.

I have been reading Ruskin impressive utterances. Think I have not had much reading

last Sunday had to waste

This is the only way to keep

My dear King

I was very glad to get the paper you sent me announcing the C. M. G. that has been conferred on you. Curiously enough I had overlooked it in the Honours list when it appeared. Accept my hearty congratulations - for I am sure that in your case the distinction is the reward of able & effective work.

It is very long since we met. When we separated I hardly expected that you would remain so many years away from England. I should be interested to hear how you are getting on generally. Your book on your friend's death was admirably reviewed in the English papers as you no doubt know.
