ADDRESS :

To His Honor, the Lieutenant Governo A. A. Macdonald :

Sin,—The Commissioners appointed by your Honor in Council, to manage the general Exhibition of the current year, de-tire to offer their congratulations, on the recurrence of this Provincial Festival.

Twenty-one years ago, in this Hall, then cently constructed, for the necessary and Twenty-one years ago, in this Hall, then recently constructed, for the necessary and commendable object of training the Colonial Volunteer force- to the use of Arms, was held the first Exhibition, on a larger and more extended scale than had previously been attempted ; and year after year, during that long period, with more or less acceptance, the familiar drill shed has served the same peacoful purpose for which it is used to day. It is near to constitute the the theory of the same less the same peacoful purpose for which it is used to-day. It is not surprising, therefore, that the Commissioners have found the space at their disposal within and without this Hall, too comined for the proper display of the Live Stock and other Exhibits entered for Live Stock and other Exhibits entered for competition, and inconveniently small for the confort of visitors. The sum of $1000 appropriated by the Legislature, though ex-pended with eareful economy, is insufficient to provide such a prize list as the enter-prize and industrial progress of the Pro-vince demands, leaving the necessary ex-penses and contingencies of the Exhibition to be provided for by entrance fees, and from uncertain sources. Nevertheless the Commissioners have used all diligence in the performance of the important duties assigned them, and the result of their labors collected from all parts of this fair and fortile Province are now arranged for public inspection, waiting only your Honors' decharation that the General Ex-hibition for the year 1888 is now open.

JOSEPH HENSLEY. R. P. HAYTHORNE. Committee for Self and Co-Commission

Charlottetown, Oct. 3, 1888. REPLY.

REPLY. I thank you, Mr. Chairman, and your brother commissioners for your excellent address. It opens a wide field for thought and action, and shows the attention you have given to the various subjects referred to. I recommend it to the careful consid-eration of all interested in the progress and advancement of the Province, and trust many will benefit by its suggestions. It has been evident for a long time now, that "the space within and without the Hall is too confined for the proper display of live stock and other exhibits, and incon-veniently small for the comfort of visitors." This want has been frequently referred to the non-phasized in my reply. The sum appro-test, but if concentrated in one general exhibition, would encourage general com-petition and ensure attendance of all who had any exhibits worth showing. I ob-serve in the report of the commissioners who conducted the first general exhibition in 1867, that they recommend a triennial general exhibition should be hold in Char-lottetown open to competition from abroad in various classes. I find, also, that many varieties which attracted much attention were the Duchess of Oldenburg, Astracan, and many different kinds of
