

ALL FOR RICHES.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Last Hour.

Mrs. Grant stood looking in upon this scene for a half hour. During that time all the early years of her life passed through her mind. She saw herself a child again at her mother's side, and bounding over the fields with her little hand clasped closely in the toiled-stained one of her father.

His hand was thin and powerless now, and she—oh, how changed! She remembered with a thrill her first dream of love, and a blush mantled her cheek as she remembered its bitter ending. She grew proud and cold, shutting out from her heart all tenderness as she looked upon Mrs. Whitney, and thought how bitterly she had been wronged by her, and of the sweet little boy who needed a mother's love and guidance, and yet received only abuse from the woman who took her place. She was thinking of these things when Mrs. Whitney spoke.

"It is growing late," she said. "We can do no good here. Father is insensible to all around him. Let us all retire excepting the one who is to sit up with him through the night."

Christopher offered to remain with his father until morning, but May would not listen to it.

"Father might awake, and if he should see any other than me with him he would be perfectly wild. Go you all to bed, and if there comes a change I will arouse you. Poor father, I have been your stay so long I will not leave you now." Turning to the others, she said: "It is a mournful consolation to me that I am able to attend him to the end. He has depended so entirely upon me for every comfort that I should feel wronged if any other hand should minister to him at this hour."

Seeing how late it was they all arose and left the room, going to their chambers above to sleep, leaving May to watch beside her dying father.

Stealing around to the back door, Mrs. Grant entered in the darkness. The great watch dog bounded forward with a low, moaning growl. Mrs. Grant whispered, "Poor Bruno," and he fell to licking her face and hands. Fearing lest the noise should arouse those in the chamber, Mrs. Grant whispered sternly:

"Go and lie down, Bruno!"

The dog obeyed, and guided by the faint light streaming through the door of the keeping room, which was not quite closed, she silently entered the well-remembered room and crossing it, stood where she could look into the west room.

A low sigh escaped her as she saw how careworn and pale was the sweet face of May. The sound, low as it was, attracted the attention of May, who arose softly and came and stood in the doorway between the west room and the keeping room, holding the candle above her head.

Its rays upon Mrs. Grant's face, and she held up a warning finger.

The taste is pleasant—children take it willingly. Stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative—both excellent features. Splendid for croup, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, and a highly successful remedy for incipient lung troubles.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway White Pine extract, rich in ginseng and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix with sugar syrup or strained honey, in a 16-oz. bottle, and it is ready for use.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give complete satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will gladly get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

May came toward her, and without speaking set the candle upon the little old-fashioned light stand.

Then she stepped lightly across the carpet and put both arms around Mrs. Grant, and the silent tears fell from her eyes upon her sister's costly robes.

Presently she whispered: "You have heard? You know about father?"

Mrs. Grant bowed, and in a whisper asked if she might look upon him.

They went softly into the room, where their father lay. There had been no sudden cry of surprise, no outburst of feeling when May had met her sister. She had ever held in her heart aught but tenderness and pity for Goldie, and only tenderness and pity filled her heart now as she led her to the side of the dear parent who had felt Goldie's loss so deeply; that his powerful frame had grown feeble and weak under the shock.

Goldie knelt beside her father, and putting up soft cheeks against his withered one, whispered:

"Father!"

"Father Mellen's eyes slowly unclosed. He looked upon the face held a few inches above his own. His voice was low and natural as he said:

"So you have come for me, Goldie. I have waited a long time, but I waited patiently. I will go with you now, little one."

"Do you know me, father?" Goldie asked.

"Know you child? Of course I know you: 'tis Goldie."

"And you forgive me for all the wrong I have done; you forgive me, father?" she said, the tears falling.

"You have never wronged me, Goldie; but if you had, I would forgive you freely. You had better run out to the barn and tell Tim to harness the horse. We must be going soon," he replied.

It was evident that he knew Goldie, but he had so long ago forgotten all the incidents of his life that he could not recall them now.

Goldie kissed his cold lips and withered cheeks; she smoothed the gray hair from his brow and rested her cheeks against his own.

"It has been a long time since you and I were together, little Goldie, I had a long run for you one morning and we thought we should never find you; but I found your shawl beside the pool, and we feared—we'll never mind what we feared. You've got back now."

It was all coming back to him that he was dying.

Mrs. Grant sobbed.

"You forgive me, father, for all that?"

"Yes, yes, little one! I forgive you; you were sick; your mother said you were sick the night before; I always blamed Belle; where are Belle and the others?"

"I am here, dear father! You know me, don't you?" said May, coming forward.

"I guess I do know you, my sweet angel! Your face has been close to me all through this lonesome journey. All the others went away, but you stayed by. May, God bless you by and by. It is growing cold here; we must go soon, Goldie."

"Kiss me before you go, father," sighed May, bending over him.

The old man kissed the lips placed to his own, and murmured:

"Good-by, May; God bless you!"

He closed his eyes and seemed to be sleeping.

By and by Mrs. Grant said:

"He is asleep; I must go now."

"You will not go and leave him until after he has passed to the other world?" asked May.

"I cannot stay, May. I have married a wealthy man, and if he should know the story of my life, he would hate me. I am as much alone in the world as though I had no sisters or brother. This is a sad, weary life, May, but there must be an ending sometime."

The old man had opened his eyes, and lay gazing wistfully at his children.

"Do you want anything, father?" asked May.

He shook his head.

"Let us all three go together," he said faintly.

May clasped one of his hands in her own, and Goldie clung to the one she held.

"If there is any change I must call them," said May. Even while she spoke, the breath came gaspingly, then stopped. The kind father was dead. Mrs. Grant bent over the still form, kissed the cold lips, and murmured:

"Father, dear father, take me with you! Do not go and leave Goldie."

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The Return of Frank Whitney.

The sleepers in the chamber at the old farmhouse were aroused by the sound of a heavy fall. Hastening down the stairs, one after another, each one saw the form of May lying upon the floor and Farmer Mellen lying dead upon his bed.

Christopher was the first to reach the spot while he was bending over his father, to find if the breath had left the body, the others came in.

Mrs. Whitney made a great show of grief. She wrung her hands and cried:

"My poor, dear father, speak to me once more!"

Minnie was bending over May, who gave signs of returning animation upon being removed.

Two of the neighbors, who had slept in the house for several night past, were now aroused, and came forward to perform the last sad offices of kindness. May was carried into an adjoining room, and was attended to by Mrs. Whitney and Christopher's wife.

Seven hours later May was asleep, with her brother sitting in the keeping room, ready to go into the room where she lay should she awake. He was leaning back in the leather-covered armchair when May spoke.

"Come here a moment, Christopher," she said.

Her brother was beside her in a moment.

"Close the door, please. I have something to tell."

He closed the door, and she continued:

"Goldie has been here to-night. She was with father when he died."

"Impossible!" responded her brother.

"Nevertheless, it is true. He died holding one of her hands and one of mine. I arose to call you, but remembering nothing afterwards excepting a faintness and a fall. I must have fainted. She must have left the house before you came down, if you saw nothing of her."

"Let me collect my thoughts. I caught a glimpse of a shadow dying between me and the light as I entered the room. But I did not think of it being anything but a shadow. Now I think of it, there was no object to cast a shadow there. When did she come?" he asked.

"She came directly after you had left the room. She says she is married to a wealthy man."

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.H.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals in my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am strong, my digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

"I know all about that," replied the brother; and he gave May a full account of all that had happened at Laurel Glade during his stay there. Exchanging promises of secrecy, the brother and sister congratulated each other that their lost sister was comfortably situated. Instead of being the wanderer May had feared she was.

"How glad I am that time has proved to you the truth of what I told you after I was sick with brain fever," said May.

"I could not believe anything so marvellous could be true," he answered.

"Will Goldie visit us, Christopher?"

"There is no Goldie for us, Sister May. She is just as truly dead to us as though her body lay beneath the dark waters of the pool," he replied.

We will pass rapidly over the funeral and the leaving of the old farmhouse for a while. May needed rest, and Christopher insisted upon her accompanying Minnie and himself to their home in New York.

Mrs. Whitney had returned to her home immediately after the funeral. She only passed for an hour at Christopher's house while waiting for the carriage to come for her.

Mrs. Grant had found no difficulty in entering the house unperceived, thanks to the management of Jane, who now assumed airs of importance and familiarity since she considered herself possessed of some of the secrets of her mistress.

In all that Mrs. Grant had done requiring the assistance of Jane to keep her secret, there had been no real evil. But this wily Frenchwoman would not easily have been persuaded that this was the case.

The Evening Chit-Chat
 By MUTE CAMERON

We received the news the other day that one of the prettiest and most charming girls of our acquaintance was about to announce her engagement. "I must say I'm disappointed in Gertrude," said the one who brought the news.

"Why?" we asked. "Why, to think she's going to marry him."
 "What's the matter with him? I thought he seemed like a nice, clean chap when I met him and he certainly is good looking, and they say he has good prospects."
 "Oh, yes," conceded the one who brought us to the news, "I know all that, but what I mean is that he's been born and brought up right there in that little town and she's known him all her life."
 "With all her education and her opportunities for meeting people, I thought Gertrude would marry some one from a distance, some one more out of the ordinary."
 "What a queer point of view. And yet what a common one! And incidentally not inherently modern. Listen to this from Middlemarch:

"Ever since that important new arrival in Middlemarch Rosamond had woven a little future of which something like this scene was the necessary beginning. Strangers whether wrecked and clinging to a raft, or duly escorted and accompanied by portmanteaus, have always had a circumstantial fascination for the virgin mind against which native merit has urged itself in vain. And a stranger was necessary to Rosamond's social phone stations, 2,110 show cases, 1,050 arc lamps, 12,100 incandescent lamps, 115 departments, 5,000 employees, 16 acres of shopping space, 4 acres of storage space.

 The heads of the firm have travelled through Europe, through America, and in Asia in order to obtain the best ideas for the new arrangements. For instance, the scheme of soft, shaded electric light comes from Paris; and an Italian roof garden is to be established. A playground for children will also be found on the roof.
 Another feature of the new premises will be an information bureau where customers will be able to obtain answers to practically any question connected with modern life.

Fight With a Lion.

Major Powell-Cotton, the well-known English explorer, has had many exciting adventures, but his narrow escape was from a lion on the banks of the Lassa River, near Lake Albert Edward. The country was infested by lions, who played round the camp every night, and always disappeared before daybreak, but one morning the explorer saw a very large solitary male making his way back to the jungle, and cutting him off, fired, wounding the beast badly.
 The animal managed to get into the brushwood where it was almost hidden, and an hour and a half later Major Powell-Cotton, thinking the lion too badly wounded to move, approached, accompanied by some of his men, who threw mud at the beast. Suddenly the lion gave a loud roar, and charged, open-mouthed, at Major Powell-Cotton, who was only a few yards distant. The latter instantly fired both barrels, but failed to stop the lion, and turning to his bearer for another gun found that he had bolted. There was no time to reload, so Major Powell-Cotton hurled the gun into the lion's face and turned to run.
 As he did so the wounded animal sprang, and digging its claws into Major Powell-Cotton's back and legs, tore him to the ground.
 While the explorer lay almost crushed under the animal, one of the porters rushed at the lion and hit him on the head with a stick, the Vaganda headman slashing the animal across the eyes with a whip. This diverted the beast's attention, and at that moment an Askari shot him dead. It was then found that Major Powell-Cotton had received seven wounds.

Why Not be Well and Strong

When weak and run down DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will help you back to health.
 This letter tells of two women who have proven this.
 Mrs. D. Stolt, Cobourg, Ont., writes: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health. I was weak, nervous and not fit to do any work. A friend of mine, C. M. Brown, had used Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD and told me that it benefited her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of the medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in health and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
 Life is too short to spend weeks or months dragging out a miserable existence of weakness and suffering. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by forming new rich blood and building up the system. You can depend on it to benefit you, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanco, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making material condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering, obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.
 If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better, but you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

Silver-gray is one of the most talked-of colors at present in Paris, having representation in millinery, dress accessories and suit and dress fabrics. Afternoon tailormades will be confined to velvets alone, as velour de laine, corduroy, peau de soies and whiptords are also modish and luxurious.
 Black velour will probably be the most important fabric of the season in coats, because it will be used not only for street coats, but for evening wear.
 Velvet coats, or overcoats, as they are called by the smart modistes, are made in both the severe style and elaborated with braid and other trimmings.
 The loop sleeve and the gauntlet cuff are striking features at the present time and doubtless will become even more pronounced as the season advances.
 Large collars in round, pointed or hood effects are much in evidence. These are usually finished off with long, narrow revers, ending below the waist line.
 Fine handkerchief linen and batiste frills are shown with trimmings of Valenciennes. Very attractive effects are brought out in fine net, with point d'esprit ruffles. Accessories of this sort can be worn on both dressy and plain garments.
 Undersleeves with one, two or even three sleeve ruffles are somewhat a feature. An attractive arrangement is to attach three frills of lace or net to a sleeve, two to hang down and one to extend upward, frequently with a ribbon band and bow between to keep it upright.
 Brocades make the most luxurious evening coats of the hour.
 Topcoats for motoring, travel and street wear are mostly of the double-faced fabrics that look so woolly and yet are so light weight that they tailor most successfully into the new and graceful modes.

ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

And find out if you have kidney disorders—Also make this test.
 Have you pains in the back over the kidneys?
 Have you urinary disorders?
 Do you suffer from severe headaches, dizziness or defective eyesight?
 Is the skin dry and harsh?
 Are you failing in health and strength and suffering from rheumatic pains or swelling of the limbs?
 These are a few of the symptoms of kidney disease, and here is the test. If the urine after standing for twenty-four hours is cloudy, milky or has particles floating about in it, or if there is a sediment in the bottom of the vessel, your kidneys are diseased.
 There is no time to lose in beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will help you more quickly than any treatment you can obtain, and that is one reason why they are so successful and popular.

What Will Be the Cost?

The Daily News this morning treats us to an article on the financial side of the Branch Railway building, but strangely fails to tell the people what they want to know. There is not a word about the actual amount of money which has been paid over to the Contractor to date. There is nothing given as to the amount of money which has actually been paid to date for the building of the Bonavista branch. There is nothing said about how much more will have to be spent in the way of wharves, piers, stations, &c. These items would prove much more interesting to an inquiring public than the generalities in which the Daily News is indulging. People want an itemized financial statement. Of course they can make their own estimate of the cost of the mileage, but they have no means of knowing the very considerable amount spent on works, &c., not included in what is done for $15,000 a mile. They want to know how much of the Morris loan will be left at the end of the year. They want to know whether it is a fact that the cost of completing everything called for under the Bonavista and Trepassay lines will eat up all the loan; and, if so, where the money is to come from for the other branch lines, not to speak of the Burin extension, the St. Mary's loop, the Bay de Verde line and the Port au Port branch, the building of which was not contemplated at the time the present contract was made.

Hazy as the Daily News writer is, he admits that the Government was far astray in its estimate of the mileage and the cost contemplated at the time the contract was made. At that time the mileage was reckoned at 250, now it is put up to 300 under the survey, and the cost put up to $5,000,000, whereas the loan realized, if we mistake not, somewhere about $3,750,000, showing that the Government was out in its calculations $1,250,000.

But this makes no provision for the long Burin line, the line along the north side of Conception Bay to Bay de Verde, the loop line from Trepassay through St. Mary's, and the Port au Port branch.

Puts an End to Stomach Misery

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia vanish in five minutes. Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night. This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion. Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors. Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery at any drug store, waiting for you. These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble, world.

Not at Bowring's.

In referring to a cook who stole a suit of clothes from a case consigned to I. F. Perlin we yesterday averred that the goods were stolen from the case on Bowring Bros. premises. This is incorrect. The package immediately it was landed on Bowring's premises was put in the hold of the Prospero as recorded by the men supervising the work and the checkers, and it must have been opened after being landed on some other wharf. Bowring's people are always very careful of goods for shipment and their watches of men kept strict surveillance of such,

Klark-Urban Co.

Last night the Klark-Urban Company scored another success at the T. A. Theatre before a big house. The story tells of Western life before the advent of railways and is replete with incident, pathos and humor. Harden Klark took the role of Jimmie Hearn from the Bowery and Frank Urban that of Baxter, a man of colour, and made hits. Maizie Cecil took the part of Madge with much grace. The other artists played well up to what was expected of them. The specialties were also up to the standard made by the company and proved most enjoyable. The play is staged again to-night.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

Methinks that wrestling might be made our finest sport, already, stiff, if athletes working at the trade relied alone on strength and skill. There's nothing finer than to see two mighty men in stern embrace, each striving for the victory, their movements fraught with THE WRESTLERS tiger's grace. There's nothing finer than this game when it is played by sportsmen true, when neither tries his foe-to-lame, or push a fist his features through. I watched two gladiators sweat, upon the mat, while sportsmen raved, and alas, my friends, I shudder yet, when thinking how those men behaved! One gave the other's leg a twist until he threw a fit and screamed. Each tried to gouge the other's eyes and jolt him rudely in the neck; it seemed to think it good and wise to make the other man a wreck. The game would certainly be grand, a game for herosa brave and bold, if all the other butcher plays were canned, and wrestlers wrestled as of old.

Will Make Hair Grow

Every up-to-date woman should have radiant hair. There are thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair, who do not try to improve it.

In England and Paris women take pride in having beautiful hair. Every Canadian woman can have lustrous and luxuriant hair by using SALVIA, the Great American Sage Hair Tonic. McMurdo & Co. sells a large bottle for 50 cents, and guarantees it to banish Dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in ten days, or money back.

Supreme Court.

(Present: Full Bench.)
James A. W. McNelly vs. Sydney D. Blandford, Minister of Agriculture, et al.

This is a proceeding by petition under a section of the Jurisdiction Act, referring to Crown Grants. The defendant, C. R. Thompson, became the licensee of a certain mining location, situate in Parsons' Pond and including an island known as Thompson Island and other islands with the submarine area between them. This location was assigned by the license to the defendant, the Nhd. Oil Development Co., who in their turn assigned their rights to the Nhd. Oil Fields. The present plaintiff contends that the said defendant, C. R. Thompson, had no right under his application to the area for the islands, but only the submarine area. He claims (1) that the licensee should be set aside, as far as it applies to Thompson Island, and that a mandamus be issued directing the Minister of Agriculture to grant

An Enjoyable Time.

At Smithville last night an enjoyable supper was held when Mr. Geo. Davy invited there about 50 guests. There were his colleagues and co-workers in the Church of England Cathedral, including the choir men, side men and collectors. It was given in honor of Miss Kinsman, who was married recently to Rev. Mr. Fletcher. Mr. Davy proved to be a kindly host. Speeches both fluent and witty were made after the good things were discussed, and all voted the affair a most enjoyable one. The following is the programme:—

THE STAR BOARDER.

The star boarder is a hall way station between poverty and affluence. After a man has been fed on boarding house hash and stewed prunes for a few melancholy years he won't be able to tell a table d'hotel dinner from a bean mash. The star boarder is distinguished from the rest of the species by a hopeless look and a penchant for the neck of the chicken. He always pays in advance and occupies a seat next to the landlady, who is thus enabled to see how many lumps of sugar he consumes in his coffee. The star boarder never asks for a second helping without a voiceless prayer and an apologetic look. He is lost in admiration when a nevy nevwoneer passes up his plate for the third trip with the abandon of a light-headed tinner on a slate roof and gets away with it. The star boarder is usually given a reduced rate because of his ability to founder himself at the Sunday dinner on a plate of pale soup and an Early Rose potato that was stunted in early childhood, thus setting a good example to the other boarders and encouraging abstinence in the use of kiln-dried coffee and tinsse-paper bacon. No one ever heard of a star boarder who had to let one's belt as the result of feverish contact with the mid-day feast. He may be as agile as an Alpine goat when pursuing a triple-plated knife and fork through a thimbleful of corned beef and cabbage, but he never overdoes the matter. The star boarder is rarely appreciated at his true worth.

"Starboarder's libiment is the best. Never trouble the one comes next." Oct 16, 11

In Dangerous Position.

Last night a resident of Mobile, while overcome from alcohol, was found lying on the wharf of James Baird, Ltd., quite near the edge, and had been left there must have gone overboard and been drowned. He was aroused and went upon Water Street where the police met him, and fearing that he might wander down of some other premises and go overboard, Const. Stamp took him to the police station.

Opening of the Branch Railway BY THE GOVERNOR.

Special to Evening Telegram. SEAL Cove, via Clarendville. Yesterday.

The special train with His Excellency the Governor, Lady Williams and the other guests of W. D. Reid, Esq., President of the Reid Nfld. Co., arrived at Seal Cove, B.B., at 1 p.m. The running on the new line was easy and splendid, the road bed being in excellent condition. An enthusiastic reception was given to the Governor by the people of George's Brook, Brooklyn and Seal Cove, men, women and children cheering. The players of the Highlanders turned out here and played stirring tunes, when the inhabitants received the Governor. The St. John's visitors were delighted with the scenery of Goose Bay and Southwest Bay and say it is the most beautiful of any yet opened by the railway. The special is scheduled to reach Bonavista by 3.15 p.m.

BIG TIME AT BONAIVSTA.

Special to Evening Telegram. CLARENVILLE, To-day. The returning special is leaving here at 10.40 this morning. A big time was held at Bonavista last night in the Fisherman's Hall. The Governor and Premier addressed the people. At 9.45 His Excellency dispatched the first train for St. John's amidst great enthusiasm. The streets were crowded and fireworks sent up. The visitors were entertained by the Bonavista ladies in the Orange Hall.

Balfour's Retirement.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day.

Impaired health, increasing age, and the desirability of the leadership passing into younger hands are the reasons given for the retirement of Mr. A. Balfour from the leadership of the Unionist party. No one doubts that the increasing attacks against him by the ambitious younger Conservatives, particularly of the Tariff Reformers, were the principal factors in inspiring his decision. Mr. Balfour will remain in the House of Commons, although he would be elevated to the peerage if he desired. While he, as ex-Premier, was the recognized leader of the whole party, now the leadership will be divided, his successor sharing it with Lord Lansdowne. The successor doubtless will be Mr. Walter Hume, who represents the Strand in the House of Commons. A caucus has been called for Monday for the purpose of choosing a new leader. Mr. Long commands the confidence of the older and the younger elements of the party. The advanced Tariff Reformers favour Mr. Austin Chamberlain. Sir Edward Carson, Dublin University, and Mr. F. E. Smith cherish ambitions for Balfour's shoes. Mr. Balfour was received in audience by the King and informed His Majesty of his decision.

Plugged Coins.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—It is remarkable what a number of "plugged" and mutilated silver coins are now in circulation in this community. They are practically valueless, as the Banks and many of the stores decline to receive them. It is evident that those coins have been hoarded or collected for some purpose, and are now being distributed amongst the unsuspecting public, and the unsuspecting ones are generally those who can least afford to lose the money. The writer has had three of those coins worked off on him (though not doing much shopping) the last few days. It may be a coincidence, but if it be an average of those in circulation, they must be very plentiful. It is time that some warning should be given in this matter, and as the Telegram reaches "all sorts and conditions of men" I bring it to your notice.

Yours truly,
WATER STREET.
St. John's, November 9th, 1911.

What About the Alcoholic Medicines?

Special to Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—While on the subject of "compounds" "Alcohol and Medicines," all should be dealt with according to law. What is required is to keep the machinery already in motion going, and enforce the law, to allow it to be inoperative is just the same as having no statue at all. As the object is the enforcement of temperance, the liquor dealers are not the only ones who should be called on to do a little house cleaning. The adulterated stuff called medicine that is sold here now provides convincing testimony of the truth of this statement. The drunkenness caused by those notorious concoctions is ten thousand times worse on body and mind than that produced by good spirits. The temperance sentiment is growing, Mr. Editor, but the conduct of the campaign must be thorough and honest to secure general approval.

Yours etc.
Nov. 9th, 1911. CONSISTENCY.

OBITUARY.

H. T. TAPPER.

It is with feelings of sincere regret we record the death of Mr. Hy. T. Tapper, grocer, of New Gower Street, which sad event occurred at his residence, New Gower Street, yesterday morning. Mr. Tapper was not alone widely known and highly esteemed in St. John's, but had hosts of friends all over the island, all of whom will be deeply grieved to learn of his demise. Mr. Tapper, who was in his 51st year at the time of his death, for many years occupied a position with the firm of J. & W. Stewart, and when that firm went out of business associated himself with Mr. W. H. Davidson in the grocery business. In 1895 he went into business for himself, and up to last year conducted an excellent grocery and provision trade on New Gower Street. Mr. Tapper was a man whom to know was to respect and esteem. Warm-hearted, generous and unselfish, he made many friends and possessed few if any enemies. All his days he was a stalwart and true Liberal. A kind husband and indulgent father, he left his wife and family plunged into the depths of grief at his demise. Mr. Tapper had been suffering from the fell disease which caused his death—cancer—for about a year, and at Montreal underwent two operations, losing his left arm. Though suffering intense agony for months past he bore up hopefully, and when the end was near surrendered his soul with confidence into the keeping of his Creator. To the sorrowing widow and children, the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy.

Newfoundlanders Making Good.

Mr. Frederick Hart, brother of Messrs. George and Walter Hart, of R. Templeton's, who recently left here for England on business, and who has been over twenty years in British Columbia, is a man who has made good since going to that country. He lives in New Westminster, is in the real estate business and has offices at New Westminster, Vancouver and other parts of the Province with 56 clerks engaged at the work. He, as well as several other Newfoundlanders, has made big money in the real estate business, and land which was bought up for 55 cents an acre when first these people settled in British Columbia has since sold for as high as $2,500 per acre, showing what a profitable investment in that country land is. Some others of the Newfoundlanders who went into this business are now wealthy men, possess fine dwellings and ride in autos.

The new wool factory on Alexander Street is nearing completion, and should be finished in another month or so. The big boiler recently brought there has been placed in position, and yesterday Messrs. Edney Bros. finished bricking it in.

Big Business Doing

Some of the business people on Water Street say that the present fall has been the best, from a business standpoint, for 20 years past. Owing to the increased value of codfish large sums of money are in circulation and all the stores are doing a fine trade. In no department is this more noticeable than in that of clothing. The city tailors never had such a busy period. Heretofore the average fisherman after being paid off, in most cases, when requiring clothing invested in readymades, but not so now. He is so well provided in money that readymades do not suit him any more, and he "leaves his measure" to some first class tailor for a stylish and good suit, as a result there is a remarkable falling off in the sale of readymade clothing in most stores and a corresponding flip given to tailors, many of whom have to employ extra help to keep up with the trade. In some cases tailors who a few years ago thought they did good work if in the fall they took in $40 per day are now taking over their counters from $400 to $500 daily. Business is also better distributed throughout the year, and every month there is something doing and no absolutely slack season is now in evidence.

STRENGTH Without Overloading the Stomach.

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach, but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish his work on hand.

He can't be alert, with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A C.P.E. business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.

He writes: "For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had sufficient energy to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments.

"Being a very busy man and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape-Nuts.

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and steady."

"I find four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk is delicious for the cereal part of the morning meal, which invigorates me for the day's business."

The Bazaar Continues.

The Bazaar in aid of St. Mary's Church which is being held in the British Hall was continued yesterday afternoon and night and a throng of people were present, especially after the stores closed, so that the ladies in charge had all the business they could attend to in disposing of the various useful and pretty articles which the stalls held. The C. L. B. Band was present and enhanced the proceedings by discoursing a splendid programme of music in capital style. One of the principal attractions was the Punch and Judy Show, and the youngsters who thronged about it were delighted. Teas and suppers were served and those in charge of this department were liberally patronized. To-night the Bazaar comes to a conclusion and all who can do so should attend as they will spend both a pleasurable and profitable hour there.

To-night the Bazaar comes to a conclusion and all who can do so should attend as they will spend both a pleasurable and profitable hour there.

Their Last Week.

Next week will be the last one of the Klark-Urban Co.'s engagement here, and it is safe to say that no company appearing in this city has achieved such success or gained more popularity than this aggregation, so that whenever they return to St. John's in the future a warm welcome will await them. Next week the now famed Robetta, the aerial artist, will perform new and surprising feats in his line on the tight rope and trapeze.

A Difficult Proposition.

Plain clothes officers are still on the search for the parties who stole $100 from the cabin of a schooner, Saturday night. Not the slightest clue was left and it is a difficult problem for the police to solve.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, Etc.

St. Joseph's Concert.

The concert given Tuesday night at St. Joseph's Parish Hall, Holytown, was very largely attended and a substantial sum was netted for church purposes. The programme was as follows:—
Instrumental selection (piano), Miss Maggie Brown; song, Miss Gertrude Malone; song, Master Jack Savin; chorus, Girls of St. Joseph's School; song, Miss Rosie Brophy; recitation, Miss Mary Doyle; chorus, Boys of St. Joseph's School; song, Miss Annie Murphy; song, Mr. Cyril Fox; song, Miss Kitty Murphy; recitation, Miss Bessie Poole; song, Mr. John F. Fox; song, Mr. Harold Foster. Miss Mary Doyle's recitation was especially pleasing, and she had to respond to several encores.

A Bridge Drive.

A Bridge Drive in the O'Donel Wing which was held last night was attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen and proved to be most entertaining and very successful. Besides handling the past boards a large number engaged in dancing and thoroughly enjoyed the pastime. The proceeds are to go to the funds of the C. C. C., and to-night the Misses Furlong give a dance at Smithville for the same worthy object. Miss L. Higgins and other ladies who conducted the affair deserve congratulations on its success.

Good Fishing Still.

At Renewa the people are surprised at the great quantity of cod to be found in the waters despite the lateness of the season. Boats out daily with from three to four hands on board get an average of 5 qts. the fish being of large size. The same applies all along the Southern Shore and verifies the assertion made recently by people on the Point that there is no reason why a winter fishery could not be carried on along the coast yearly from Lamaline down to Cape St. Francis.

With Salt Bulk.

Messrs. Job Bros. & Co. yesterday had a message that the Hispanola had arrived at Gloucester, Tuesday, with a load of salt bulk codfish, shipped at Harbor Breton. She made the run up in 7 days.

Medical Returns of St. Anthony Hospital.

The following are the returns for the patients treated at the St. Anthony Hospital during 1910 and 1911: Surgeon in charge, J. M. Little, M.D. Physicians in charge, A. W. Wakefield, M.D., and W. S. Armstrong, M.D.

Pathologist, S. J. Coker, M.D.
There were treated at the hospital from Oct. 1st to Oct. 1st, 1,491 medical cases; 1,410 surgical cases. Total 2,901.

Of these, 81 were from St. John's district, 191 Conception Bay, 237 Bonavista district, 139 Trinity Bay, 236 Green Bay, 1,225 French Shore, West Coast and South Coast, 32 Labrador, 4 Canadians and 57 foreigners.

Calls made at the dispensary by the old patients, calls made outside the dispensary are not included in this summary. 906 calls were paid by motor boats and dog teams.

Dr. Catheron, of Harvard University, treated 355 dental cases. Dr. James Andrews, of Pasadena, California, an eye specialist, spent two months at the hospital doing special eye work. His work met with singular success, without exception his cataract cases were successful.

The large number of tubercular patients still seeking aid at the hospital are a pitiable commentary on the need there exists to arouse still more attention to the prevention of this curse of Newfoundland. The numbers of knees, hips and other joints excised every year from comparatively young men and women, leaving crippled Newfoundlanders, all of whom have gone through much suffering, all of whom are a burden to the community, and all of whom, if allowed to return to their homes before actually healed, are sources of infection, are sufficient by themselves without the lung and brain and abdominal affections to stir the imagination and efforts for prevention in the Island. Dr. A. W. Wakefield, of Cambridge University, England, has volunteered his expert services for twelve months with the anti-tubercular work, which is centred in St. John's, and will direct his attention to incorporating those methods which are universally adopted in other countries for the prevention of this cruel and subtle disease. From the viewpoint of us travelling surgeons in the North the work of the anti-tubercular society so efficiently inaugurated and so perseveringly prosecuted by the Hon. John Harvey is doing demonstrably excellent work. But there is yet very much to do before the extraordinary large percentage of patients will be eliminated. The inauguration of a bacteriological laboratory at St. Anthony Hospital, and the large addition to the female ward wing with the new sunning parlors, together with the laying on of a permanent hot and cold water supply and improved drainage, have added very seriously to the expenses of that centre for the year, but are amply justifying themselves in the facilities they give for better work. The number of major operations under anaesthesia this year at this hospital has been 166; those out of a total of 258 in-patients shows that the larger proportion of these sought surgical help. Out of these only three died after operation. Two of these were incurable cancer, giving the excellent proportion of 75 per cent., this death being due to an infective disease of the bones, known as osteomyelitis. It is little use in the public newspapers endeavoring to convey an intelligible idea of the amount of work that this hospital accomplishes, but the above will serve to show the serious effort that is being made to offer in a region like St. Barbe a really efficient medical and surgical clinic of a kind that is creditable to the Colony.

Marie Corelli Talks "Right Up"
To the Rev. R. J. Campbell of "The New Theology" fame, in what she considers an unfair attack on her new book, "The Life Everlasting," Miss Corelli says, "That while preaching in the City Temple, London, he deliberately slanders both myself and my work without compassion. He says there is a certain strain of hard, bitter and intolerant depravity running all the way through it, and I challenged him to prove it. Far from any hard or unsympathetic feeling towards human depravity, I endeavour to show how it may be lessened and finally overcome by one's own noble effort when once we realize the eternal law—that evil is always repaid by evil and good by good."
Every person interested in good fiction and in the social conditions of the people should read "The Life Everlasting." Paper, 50c.; cloth,
