IF You Use Envelopes

It will pay you—and pay you well—to buy a full year's supply now, for though Envelopes are higher than they were a month ago, they are not near so high in price as they will be two months from now. One firm in the city for whom we used to print two thousand at a time, recently placed an order for twenty thousand; another firm for whom we used to print two thousand at a time just ordered ten thousand. They anticipated the rising market and saved almost a dollar a thousand. If you buy NOW, instead of three or four months later, you will make about an equal saving.

Yesterday we received a price list from our paper dealers and in it we find that the three grades of flat Papers, of which we purchased most, have gone up in price 40 per cent. within the last 30 days. This makes a total increase in price of about 100 per cent. within three months, and prices will still go higher.

Buy your Letter Heads and Envelopes NOW. If you are in business you must use Letter Heads—and you must use Envelopes. If you don't need them now you will need them before the prices go down, so buy NOW. The saving in price will be the best proportionate investment you can possibly make.

A New Novel by a New Writer.

The Honey Pot by Countess Barcynska. It is a story of the stage, and never perhaps have the expectations and disappointments of the aspirant for a successful stage career been more naturally described. Two girls, Maggie and Lexie, hold the interest throughout. They are excellently contrasted. Maggie, the daughter of an actress, having been associated with the stage from her earliest childhood and influenced by its freedom, while Lexie has been brought up in refinement and wants a career for the use of her talent. It is not too much to say that Maggie, the lovable and loving girl who, with all her worldly wisdom, falls a prey to the man who captures her fancy, is a triumph of characterization. Natural and human she is the heart of the book; but hardly less interesting is Lexie's stubborn fight with its happy ending and the many intimate pictures of the life of the chorus girl. The whole story rings true. Paper, 65c.; Cloth, 90c.

ELECTRICITY and NERVE FORCE

Nerve Force is so much like Electricity, and the latter is so much better understood, that we have used this vivid telephone picture to illustrate what takes place in the human system when the connecting nerve fibres are deranged or something goes wrong at Central.

In the nervous system the brain is the Central where the Nerve Force is created, and whence are issued the orders which control the whole human body. Here is consumed one-fifth of the blood in the human body, and when the blood supply is deficient in quality or quantity, the brain and the nervous system are first to feel the effects.

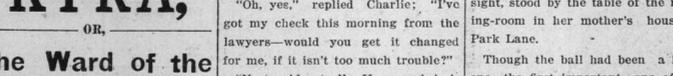

Neuralgic pains and headaches, inability to rest or sleep or concentrate the mind, dizziness and noises in the ears, are some of the symptoms of a starved nervous system.

Just as machinery lags when the current of electricity fails, so the bodily organs weaken when the supply of nerve force runs low. Digestion is impaired and you lose appetite, the liver, kidneys and bowels are slow in performing their functions, the heart's action weakens, circulation is slow, hands and feet are cold, you are easily tired, lose ambition and grow downhearted and discouraged.

This describes the condition under which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can prove of greatest assistance to you. Forming new, rich blood it feeds the starved, exhausted nerve and brain cells back to health and vigor. The new vital, nerve force flows out through the intricate system of nerve fibres to every member and every organ of the body, carrying new vigor, energy and strength and driving out pain, weakness and disease.

50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations disappoint.

"KYRA,"

OR
The Ward of the Earl of Vering.

CHAPTER I.

"I am glad you enjoyed yourself, Charlie, and as you like that sort of thing I'll see you get a pastebord for most of the dinners worth going to; but Charlie, dear boy, I think if I were you—I merely mention my opinion—I wouldn't see too much of the count—and, no, I certainly wouldn't eat any grilled bones at his rooms."

CHAPTER II.

"I am going to send down to the bank—is there anything I can do for you, dear boy?"

"Oh, yes," replied Charlie, "I've got my check this morning from the lawyers—would you get it changed for me, if it isn't too much trouble?"

"There it is," said the boy; and with the same businesslike, innocent expression, the donor examined it carefully, and counted out its equivalent in gold.

"Thanks," said the boy. "Awfully nice to have a regular income, isn't it? Makes me feel so free—"

"Yes, that is just it, if it be large enough. I have never heard you complain, Charlie; but if you should be short at any time, of course—"

How to Save Your Eyes

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy. You work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally their eye troubles threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest widest drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one tablet in 1/2 glass of water and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it. It is absolutely harmless. Many who are blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvellously effective in multitudes of cases. Note that you have been warned not to delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription. The Valman Drug Co. of Toronto will fill the above prescription by mail, if your druggist cannot.

A prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constant application will insure the most eminent eye specialist and good druggist and it can be seen from any of the above testimonials to keep on hand for regular use in almost every family."

sharp, with an occasional troubled, restless, hunted look in her eyes, and an air of forced repose which told more plainly than the most natural restlessness how ill at ease was the heart that beat beneath the calm exterior. Lady Devigne was considered a most disinterested, simple-minded lady; at home the air of high bred simplicity yielded, perhaps insensibly, to a sharper, more capricious, and imperial tone.

Who, for instance, of the brilliant friends at the duchess's ball would have recognized the soft, placid voice of Lady Devigne in the sharp, querulous tone in which she now addressed her daughter.

"What are you doing, Lillian? What a fearful mess all over the table! If there is anything I do hate it is stale flowers about a room."

"These are not stale, mamma," was the calm, cool reply, "and they are too beautiful to throw away."

"I see no beauty in them—common things that could be bought at any shop in Covent Garden, or he would not have sent them. Do let them be thrown away."

FOR Indigestion and Biliousness

Indigestion, biliousness, headaches, flatulence, pains after eating, constipation, are all common symptoms of stomach and liver troubles. And the more you neglect them the more you suffer. Take Mother Seigel's Syrup if your stomach, liver, or bowels are slightly deranged or have lost tone. Mother Seigel's Syrup is made from the curative extracts of certain roots, barks, and leaves, which have a remarkable tonic and strengthening effect on all the organs of digestion. The distressing symptoms of indigestion or liver troubles soon disappear under its beneficial action. Buy a bottle to-day, but be sure you get the genuine Mother Seigel's Syrup. There are many imitations, but not one that gives the same health benefits.

BRITISH BOMBARD EL ARISH.
 LONDON, May 19.
 British warships and aeroplanes have bombarded the town of Palestine, and are believed to have destroyed the fort there. It was announced officially to-day. El Arish is on the Turkish line of communication from Syria to Egypt.

ALLIES DETERMINED TO HOLD OUT.

NEW YORK, May 19.
 A News Agency despatch from Petrograd to-day says that the Allies stand solid for a fight to a finish. They intend to break Germany's heavy sword; they owe this to the unborn generation. This answer to the peace talk made in Berlin was made to-day by Rene Viviani, former French Prime Minister, now Minister of Justice in the French Cabinet. He has been making extensive visits to England and Russia. At the French Embassy he gave the second interview he has granted since the war began. I am not qualified to speak on Germany's intentions, continued the French Cabinet official, but our alliance is more compact than at any time since the war began and is growing stronger. The Allies continue to grow stronger in ammunition and men. They will force her to make full reparation for what she has done. There will be no separate peace. The Allies are as one. They have devised an economic entente, and after peace the world will find that the Allies are equally unified. He expressed the greatest pleasure at the results of his visit to England and Russia.

ITALIANS EVACUATE ZEGNATOR- TA.

ROME, May 19.
 The Italian official communication issued here to-day admits the evacuation by the Italians of Zegnatoro and also of the line from Monte Maggio to Sagliodaspio between Tarranolo Valley and Upper Astico, south-east of Trent, following several days of violent artillery bombardment.

WILL NOT RELAX PRESSURE.

LONDON, May 19.
 Re the German suggestion that Britain respond to a change of the German submarine campaign, should modify their food blockade, Lord Robert Cecil informed the Associated Press to-day that there was not the remotest possibility that British economic pressure on the Central Powers would be relaxed. He said, we maintain the blockade fully legal under the international law and its reprisal character is merely incidental called forth by the German use of submarines, but by rigid enforcement of the blockade and merely the extension of our rights which we had hitherto found it expedient to use.

NO ONE SAYED.

MARSEILLES, May 19.
 None of the passengers or crew of the French coasting steamer Mira was saved when the ship was sunk as the result of torpedo attack in the Mediterranean on May 16th. Sinking of the steamer Mira was announced by Lloyd's in London on Thursday, but no details of the disaster were given. She was a vessel of 3,000 tons, and owned at Marseilles.

TENSION SLACKENS.

LONDON, May 19.
 It is learned from the Foreign Office that the tension between Sweden and the Entente Allies had been ended, although no official statement is forthcoming at this time. Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, told the Associated Press that an agreement had been reached to-day, but would give no details. He indicated that the controversy between Sweden and Russia over the Aland Islands was fictitious, saying that Russia never intended to fortify the islands.

FISHING BOAT SUNK.

LONDON, May 19.
 A despatch from Hull to Lloyd's says that the motor fishing boat Osprey had been sunk by gunfire from a German submarine. The crew were picked up.

EARTHQUAKE.

RIMINI, Italy, May 19.
 Serious damage was done here by the earthquake which shook Central Italy during the night of May 16-17. Houses collapsed, and about 1,000 dwellings in all were damaged; many of these so badly that the safety of those in them is endangered. The municipal theatre under the Prefecture School buildings, cracked to an alarming extent, and part of the church at Colonnella has fallen.

STEAMER TRAVE SUNK.

STOCKHOLM, May 19.
 The fourth vessel sunk in the new submarine campaign against German shipping was the steamer Trave. The crew landed. The Trave was formerly the Shamrock, was 763 tons, and owned in Lubek.

Grass.

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Grass is a growth of green whiskers on the fact of nature, but it doesn't look as funny as the same whiskers do on an Irish comedian. It is used for stuffing cattle and sheep and for upholstering the landscape that mankind can sit down on it with comfort. It grows luxuriantly in the quiet country lanes and bosky dells, but it is shy and easily discouraged when it moves to the city. If properly assisted and subsidized, however, it can be persuaded to grow in a city yard and to make a beautiful lawn. There is nothing finer to look upon than a velvet lawn of emerald green, fresh and dewy and smooth and cool. Like the man who fills his home with fine paintings and throws it open to the people, the man who persuades two blades of grass to move in on his premises, go to housekeeping and raise an extensive and well-manicured lawn for all the world to look at and enjoy, is a philanthropist. The Bible itself says so. But generally it is cheaper to buy the pictures.

To prepare a good lawn, one should remove all the common, low-grade earth from his property to a depth of two miles. The cavity should then be cleaned, fumigated, disinfected, and provided with drainage tubes. It should then be filled with claders, sand, rich clay, compost, fertilizer and loam of the full black variety. A large field of blue-grass should then be rented and an experienced dermatologist should be hired to skin the field and graft the sod onto the new, prepared ground. When this is done, the grass should be watered, massaged with a roller, barbered with a mower, manicured with a pair of clippers, and an experienced lawn surgeon should be retained by the year to remove from it water grass, plantain, dandelions, chick weed, rag weed, wild morning glories, thistles, burdock, milk-weed, dogs, bones, children, and other intruders.

This will naturally leave bald spots on the lawn. Fresh sod should be grafted on these spots and all the Growth of Membership Cited to Refute Heresy Charges—Benevolences Exceed $2,000,000.

Three thousand, nine hundred and fifty-eight new members were added to the rolls of the sixty-one churches of the New York Presbytery during the twelve months which ended on April 30, according to statistics compiled by the Rev. Hesse P. Forbes, clerk of the Presbytery, and made public last night by the Rev. Charles W. Welch, Pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church. Mr. Welch said the report refuted the statement that heresy was rife among New York City Presbyterians.

The report says that the total church membership of the sixty-one churches of the Presbytery is 36,691, the largest in its history. The benevolences of the Presbytery for the year amounted to more than $2,000,000 the report said.—N. Y. Herald, May 10.

BOMBARDING ENEMY LINES.

LONDON, May 19.
 An official statement, says the general officer Commanding in Chief in Egypt, reports that our ships, aeroplanes and seaplanes have successfully bombarded El Arish, an important post of the enemy line communications from Smyrna to Egypt on the morning of May 18. Ships bombarded the fort southwest of the town and are believed to have reduced it to ruins. Aeroplane attacks were divided into two phases. Seaplanes opened the bombardment being followed later by aeroplanes. Later we were given orders to engage any hostile machines and devote special attention to enemy troops and camp. El Arish is a fortified town near Egypt in the Mediterranean, about 7 miles from the coast of Quatia at which point fighting occurred recently between Turkish and British forces. Censors permitted comparatively little information regarding the military situation on this front to become known, but so far as can be obtained from infrequent official bulletins fighting have been confined to comparatively small forces. There has been nothing to indicate an invasion of Egypt on a large scale being attempted, although reference in to-day's official announcement of a Turkish line of communications implied an organized military effort.

The season's vogue of soft materials that cling to the figure, portraying every defect, makes a careful study of the corset a necessity.

The semi-fitting frocks, for instance, are really more dependent upon the lines made by the corset than one imagines at first glance.

Our study has been to stock only such corsets as we know, through a thorough fitting test, to not only meet every style requirement but to fit, while adequately supporting comfortably.

Therefore we have selected WARNER'S RUST-PROOF CORSETS because they Shape Fashionably—Fit Comfortably—Will Not Rust, Break or Tear.

A conductor held the car for me the other day. As usual, I had over-calculated my time (I am one of those hopeless optimists who always think up to the very last minute that they have plenty of time) and was only half-way down my street when the trolley hove in sight. The conductor saw me, however, and held the car until I could reach it. Naturally, I was grateful. If I had missed the car I should have been outrageously late. As it was, I was ordinarily late. "What a nice conductor!" I thought to myself.

It was the busy time of the day, and it seemed to me that the car stopped at every corner. I consulted my watch constantly. Finally I made an unusually long stop and I turned around, saying irritably to myself, "What are we waiting for now?"

From Another Point Of View. We were waiting for a woman who had signalled the car from half way up her street. Presumably, that was the way the other people in the car had felt when the conductor waited for me. It's all in the point of view, isn't it?

A woman was telling me one day that she thought it was outrageous that the delivery autos should be allowed to run at such a high rate of speed. "Some of those men ought to be arrested," she said. A day or two later I was shopping with her and she asked the salesgirl to be sure and have a certain garment which she had just bought reach her home that evening.

"I don't know as we can," said the salesgirl with a harassed air. What Makes The Wheels Go Round So Fast?

"But I must have it to-night," said the customer. "Tell them I must." "All right," said the girl. Why do delivery trucks rush about the streets at high pressure? Because the customers who must have things to-night are exerting that pressure. It's all in the point of view, isn't it? "What a nuisance a telephone is!" one of my housemaids said to me yesterday, after she had traveled from the kitchen to answer a call. "There's no use talking, they certainly eat up a lot of time."

Twenty Round Trips Saved. A few minutes later she discovered that she had forgotten to order eggs when the order man called, and rushed to the telephone to ask the grocer to add a dozen eggs to her order. Now if she hadn't a telephone she would have had to walk a half mile, or a distance equivalent to twenty round trips from the kitchen to the telephone. Is the telephone a time-waster or not?

It's all in the point of view, isn't it? And so are many things about which we permit ourselves to become censorious or impatient without looking at both sides of the matter.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When I am introducing my sister, should I mention her last name?" asked Mary. "Yes, it will avoid confusion. Sometime's one sister is married or not a blood relative and the omission of the last name causes a great many mistakes," was the reply.

UNHAPPY FATHER.

WALY MASON

It makes poor Father's spirit sad when he comes home at night, to hear the kitchen stove's so hot, the fire won't stay alight. To hear of forty thousand traps he really ought to buy, although he's so in debt, perhaps, the knowledge makes him cry. His daughters say it's a disgrace, the duds they have to wear; "ashamed to travel any place, we surely are," they swear. The housewife says the parlor rugs aren't worth as many durns; she needs new vases and new jugs, in which to keep her ferns. New chairs, new dishes and new spoons are all in great demand; the cook is running out of prunes, and has no lard on hand. What wonder Father's tired and pale? He can't sit down to read, for he must hear the endless tale of "things we really need." What wonder if he feels relief, when age comes on apace, and knows that from this world of grief he pretty soon will chase? He sighs, when o'er the sunless sea he's ready to take wing, "Oh, grave, where is thy victory, oh, death, where is thy sting?"

Out of school, children should spend as much time as possible in the open air. They should also go to bed early in rooms provided with all the fresh air available and have refreshing baths followed by a vigorous rubbing down with a coarse towel.

That children are listless and not hungry does not mean that they should go without food, the important point being the selection and attractive form of offering suitable foods. Observations recorded from hundreds of school children show the bad effects of poor food, while the same children properly fed, have made bodily advances fully four times greater than in their previous condition in a given time.

Against International Law

(The "Times," London.)

The arrangements for the exchange of incapacitated military prisoners are working badly. Difficulties of transport are partly the reason, but we owe most of the trouble to the stipulations of the Germans, who insist on an exchange of man for man and recklessness by their military rank. This, of course, is sheer violation of international law. The Geneva Convention of 1864 expressly lays it down that prisoners who are recognized, after their wounds are healed, as incapable of serving shall be sent back to their country. The Hague Conference of 1899, to which both Great Britain and Germany were signatories provided in its 21st Article that the obligations of belligerents with regard to the sick and wounded are governed by the Geneva Convention of the 22nd August, 1864. It is typical of the Germans that they insist on treating as the subject of a bargain an obligation imposed on belligerents by the barest dictates of humanity.

The Sinn Fein in America

(The "Times," New York.)

The story of the Dublin revolt is pathetic, because it is a recital of the acts of men who behave like forward children, causing untold annoyance to others, but themselves suffering the heavier penalties of misbehavior. The leaders of the movement cannot be acquitted of responsibility, but a sterner censure even may justly be visited upon those in this country who have encouraged them and now commend their acts of incredible folly and rashness, for when any man of the Irish race in America speaks in praise of the deplorable Sinn Fein escapade it is hard to shut out the belief that a seeking for popularity here and a political motive purely domestic rather than sincere sympathy with the Irish 'cause' or hope for its success, have been the real prompting to such aid and comfort as has been given.

The surrender of the leaders of the Irish rebels comes almost a week after their organized revolt and right there is the melancholy end of the futile and foolhardy uprising. The ultimate political efforts of this chapter of the war cannot now be estimated but undoubtedly they will be notable in some way for years to come. The feeling among the more conservative Irish, that is, among the mass who have followed Mr. Redmond so loyally is for the time being tragic in its despair, for they fear the bitter resentment of the sister kingdoms when the war in Europe is ended and normal political life in the United Kingdom is resumed. But this feeling is probably too strong. Mr. Redmond's splendid loyalty in the present crisis will be of incalculable value to Ireland in the future. Had he wavered, Ireland's loss would have been beyond measure.

"KNOCKED DOWN" TO MRS. BELMONT.

She "Buys" Him for a Bride Partner at a Sum Said to be Very Large.—Tournament at the Ritz-Carlton is Held for the Benefit of the Polish Sufferers in the War.

A group of women, last night, gathered around a dais on which Mr. Ignace Paderewski stood at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel and bid for him as a partner in a bride tournament given for the benefit of the Polish Fund of which Mr. Paderewski is head. The bidding opened at $100 and grew rapidly to a figure which is said to have reached or exceeded $1,000, when Mr. Paderewski was "knocked down" to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who outdistanced the others in her generosity.

Just what the sum was that Mr. Paderewski brought no one would tell, but it was a generous one, it is understood, quite approaching the amount of money he is sometimes paid for a concert.—N. Y. Herald, May 11.

Murdered Seven Women

Budapest, May 11.—The work of a modern Blue Beard has been discovered by the police in the village of Ginkota. While searching the home of a missing soldier they found seven lead cases each containing the body of a woman. The bodies could not be identified, but are presumed to have been those of servant girls enticed to the village from Vienna. The former occupant of the house, who is reported to have died of typhoid fever in Serbia, cautioned the proprietor when he was leaving for the front under no circumstances to enter the building, where machinery which could not be replaced, was stored.

"The All-Highest"

Twenty-Four years ago the temporary Review published an article entitled "William," which described the German Emperor's pressed misgivings as to the world and the future of it. It was, says Mr. Sidney Webb, the current number of the Review; a clear reading of which has been justified in particular by the course since that date, and in an article he passes in review of experience the reign of the less, obstinate, ill-balanced, possible individual. After unkindly reminding Wilhelm was for many years indeed, until the bubble burst in 1914—the idol of the crowd throughout the world, ing doubt on the united which the German people supposed to feel towards the ous Kaiser," the writer recoversation which he had with Herbert Bismark a quarter tury ago, when the Count sorrow than in anger, drew tion to the change which was over German thought and the German position in owing to the definite met allaries of the Emperor:—

"The All-Highest"

Twenty-Four years ago The Contemporary Review published an article entitled "William," which described the German Emperor and expressed misgivings as to the danger he portended to the peace of the world and the future of Germany. It was, says Mr. Sidney Whitman in the current number of the Contemporary, a clear reading of character which has been justified in nearly all particulars by the course of events since that date, and in an interesting article he passes in review in the light of experience the reign of that "restless, obstinate, ill-balanced and irresponsible individual" the Kaiser. After unkindly reminding us that Wilhelm was for many years—almost indeed, until the bubble burst in August 1914—the idol of the unthinking crowd throughout the world, and casting doubt on the united devotion which the German people are still supposed to feel towards their "glorious Kaiser," the writer records a conversation which he had with Count Herbert Bismark a quarter of a century ago, when the Count, more in sorrow than in anger, drew his attention to the change which was coming over German thought and affecting the German position in the world owing to the definite mental peculiarities of the Emperor:—

According to Herbert Bismarck, the two greatest dangers awaiting the German Emperor, and with him the future of the German Empire sprang from his irrefragable, restless, nervous, impressionable temperament, which, while it enabled him to seize quickly the surface aspect of every imaginable subject which came before him at the same time constituted an effectual bar against his ever penetrating into the soul of anything. A further handicap, almost as ominous was that, although the Emperor was endowed with an exceptional amount of cunning, he was never a reader of character. He possessed little or no insight into the depths of the human heart, and thus was more than likely to bestow his confidence on people utterly unworthy of it.

Yet another prophecy which proved only too true.

War Gifts From the Native Races.

Native tribes and rulers have expressed their patriotism and generosity in an avalanche of gifts. Sacrifice involved, as we can gather from the article by John H. Harris in the Windsor Magazine for March, must in many cases be enormous. From the Calicos Isles, an area less than that of the Isle of Man, where the inhabitants number less than 5,000 and live by raking salt and dry sponges, £1,000 has been sent. The same story is repeated from all over the globe; the natives gladly embrace the opportunity of displaying their loyalty to King George and of showing their gratitude for the benefits of British rule:—

Thirty bullocks came from Massi Moran, and, not to be outdone, Chiefs Seadeu and Ole Kashu drove thirty-two to the nearest Government official, whilst seven other chiefs sent fifty bullocks. Thus the Massi nomads of British East Africa responded to Britain's needs. The Kavirandi chiefs unable to give bullocks, collected and drove forward, as a single gift, a huge herd of 3,000 goats. The total gift in kind from the tribes of East Africa to date are 323 fat beasts and 3,750 goats and sheep.

The Fanti farmer has contributed, his shilling, the rice-growing coolie his few cents, the thrifty Egba his half-sovereign, the Kikuyu his milk-gout, the wandering Masai his fattened ox, and the half-savage Polyresian his treasured six-penny bit. Every letter is a spontaneous testimony to the work of British administrators. A typical communication is that from Sarkin Sudan, of Nigeria, accompanying £200. "In the name of God the Merciful and Compassionate," he writes, "to help you in your war with the Germans."

We are informed that the scouts are bringing in favourable reports, and to those who are inclined to believe that the class of play will not come up to the standard, we would venture to state that for them a big surprise is in store. We would strongly advise the fans not to miss the opening game, the proceeds of which, and all future games, goes to the Ladies' Patriotic Committee.

Another Train Fatality.

Yesterday we recorded the fact that a man named George Rex had been killed at Port Baxton by a train, though not outright, as information is to hand that he lived a few hours and succumbed to the effects. During the day another similar railway accident occurred on the Heart's Content Branch. This time the victim is John Northover, belonging to New Perlican. Messages received last evening by the Department of Justice and the Reid Newfoundland Company stated that the deceased man Northover had been working on a ballast car and fell off, the wheels passing over his body. It is supposed that death was instantaneous. Further particulars are now awaited.

John Redmond Horrified By "Insane" Irish Uprising.

John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, in the following statement, given out April 23, expresses horror at the "insane" uprising in Ireland. He says: "My first feeling on hearing of this insane movement was one of horror and discouragement, almost of despair. I asked myself whether Ireland, as so often before in her tragic history, was to dash the cup of liberty from her lips. Was the insanity of a small section of her people once again to turn all her marvellous victories of the last few years into irreparable defeat and send her back on the very eve of her final recognition as a free nation into another long night of slavery, incalculable suffering and weary, uncertain struggle. "For, look at the Irish position today. In the short space of forty years she by constitutional movement has made almost unbrokenly a triumph.

What has Ireland suffered in the past which Poland, Alsace, Belgium and Serbia, have not suffered at the hands of Germany, and I may say also that portion of the soil of France, her old friend and ally, which is in the hands of Germany? What has been the record of Germany, but one of suppression of nationality, of freedom, of language—in short the suppression of all the things for which for centuries Ireland has struggled, a struggle in which she has achieved victory. "Take the case of Belgium. Has there not been there the same ruthless shedding of blood of priests and people that is part of Ireland's own history?

"Leave the question of principle out and consider the question only of the mere interests of Ireland herself. What did the situation demand? Neutrality? That was impossible. Hostility to the just cause of the Allies? Is there a sane man in Ireland who does not see that this meant the crowning of the newly won liberties of Ireland in Irish blood? "This was the opinion of an overwhelming majority of the Irish people. It is the opinion which thousands of Irish soldiers have sealed with their blood in dying for the cause of liberty in Ireland, and the world. But any how it was the opinion of Ireland, and surely I need not argue the principle, especially with anybody who professes himself to be a home ruler. "That the policy of Ireland must be decided by Ireland herself—that is the principle which has been accepted by the Irish race everywhere. The millions of our people in the United States and elsewhere whose generous devotion has helped us so largely to win our victories for the motherland of the race have always accepted it. However bounteous their help, never have they denied the right of Ireland to choose her policy for herself. That doctrine has been contested only by the very same men who to-day have tried to make Ireland a catspaw of Germany. "In all our long and successful struggle to obtain home rule we have been thwarted and opposed by that same section. We won home rule, not through them, but in spite of them. This wicked move of theirs was their last blow at home rule. It was not half as much treason to the cause of the Allies as treason to the cause of home rule. "This attempted deadly blow at home rule carried on through this section is made more wicked, more insolent, by this fact: that Germany plotted it, Germany organized it, Germany paid for it. So far as Germany's share in it is concerned it is a German invasion of Ireland, as brutal, as selfish and as cynical as Germany's invasion of Belgium, and if Ireland has not been reduced to the same horrors as Belgium with her starving people, her massacred priests, her violated convents, it is not the fault of Germany. "And the final aggravation of the movement is this: The misguided, insane young men who have taken part in this movement in Ireland have risked and some of them lost their lives. But what am I to say to those men, who have sent them into this 'insane, anti-patriotic movement while they remained safe in the remoteness of American cities? "I might add that this movement has been set in motion by this same class of men at the very moment when America is demanding reparation for the blood of innocent American men, women, and children shed by Germany, and thus are guilty of double treason—to the generous land that received them as well as to the land which gave them birth. "Is it not a national horror that on the very day when we hear that Dublin Fusiliers have been killed by British men in the streets of Dublin we receive the news how the men of the sixteenth division of our own Irish Brigade and of the same Dublin Fusiliers had dashed forward and by their unconquerable bravery had retaken the trenches that the Germans had won at Hulluch? "Was there ever such a picture of the tragedy which a small section of an Irish faction had so often inflicted on the fairest hopes and the bravest deeds of Ireland? "As to the final result, I do not believe that this wicked and insane movement will achieve its ends. The German plot has failed. The majority of the people of Ireland retain their calmness, their fortitude and their unity. They abhor this attack on their interests, on rights, hopes and principles. Home rule has not been destroyed. It remains indestructible." Short coats show some very alluring frilly chemisettes.

All Keen to Write Home

We learn that very satisfactory work is being done in the classes started under Mr. Barnes among the volunteers. So far about 120 men have joined the classes. Of these about 50 were absolutely unable to read or write, the remainder had been to school for short periods and had not kept up reading and writing and had fallen back almost to the illiterate stage. The fifty were divided into five classes, and Mr. Barnes had his pupil teachers at his training school prepare large sheets of words preparatory to a first reader. These sheets were placed before the classes and gone through, over and over again, until the pupil soldiers could recognize each individual word at sight. The pupils who started on Thursday week have passed this stage and many of them have advanced to the first reader and read twenty-five to thirty pages. The remaining seventy were graded according to their ability to read, and these are fast recovering the degree of ability to read they once possessed. The pupils are however keenest on writing. They all desire to be able to write. They want to write letters. They are anxious to write home. One soldier is proud of the fact that he has written his first letter to his mother. A notable feat after a week of schooling. The experiment of putting ladies in charge of classes has proved a marked success. They are exercising a really wonderful influence over their soldier pupils, and the progress being made is noteworthy. There is one curious case of soldier pupil who is able to read writing and to write a letter, but he is unable to read print. Mr. Barnes' curiosity as an educationalist was aroused by the case and he asked the soldier to tell him the story of his accomplishment. He said that when he left home some years ago he could not read or write anything. His mother used to write to him and he got his companions to read the letters over to him until he could recognize the words. He used to draw the words and keep on copying them until he could identify them and reproduce them at will. This story goes to the heart of the situation and explains the keenness of the soldier pupils.

Army and Navy Club

Yesterday afternoon at Government House the meeting of those interested in the formation of a Club for our sailors and soldiers was presided over by His Excellency the Governor. In addition to the large number of ladies there were present Commander MacDermott, R.N., and representatives of the Officers, N. C. O.'s and men of the Regiment. His Excellency read a letter from Mr. A. Sheard, the Secretary of the International Grenfell Association, offering the use of the Institute and the use of all facilities therein for the formation of the Club. The term of the offer are the exclusive use of the Grenfell Hall, the reading and writing rooms on the first floor, of the gymnasium (in the basement) and the general use of the Institute library; reduced rates for the use of billiard tables, bowling alley and baths. For the first four exclusive privileges mentioned there will be no charge but an allowance approximately $100 a month should be made to meet the cost of cleaning, light and heat. The public use of the Institute will be generally available. This offer was accepted. A committee of ladies was nominated to meet representatives of the Regiment and the Directors of the Grenfell Institute to work out the details necessary for the formation of the Club. The ladies nominated were as follows: Mrs. MacDermott, Mrs. Montgomerie, Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. Edens, Mrs. Herder, Mrs. C. Ayre, Miss Dickison. The furniture and games will be largely dependent upon individual gifts.

It was further decided that Lady Davidson be asked to be President of the Committee. The Governor was asked to act as President during the absence of Lady Davidson. The committee will be considered as a branch committee of the W. P. A.
Mr. Sheard representing the Board of Managers of the Institute was tendered a cordial vote of thanks at the close of the meeting. Mr. Sheard made a very fitting reply.
We might say that similar clubs in the chief cities of the Dominion of Canada have been in use since the outbreak of hostilities and are known as "The Army and Navy Club."

Customs' Officials Seeking Increase.

Owing to the high cost of living brought about by increased taxation, surtax, etc., the Lockers and Tidewalkers of H.M. Customs are complaining bitterly that they are unable to make ends meet out of their present monthly salaries. They contend that they are only able to eke out a miserable existence on the paltry stipend they get, to say nothing of providing themselves and their families with the ordinary necessities of life and educate their children, etc. It is pointed out that their pay has been in "active service" the past thirty years and more that their pay has remained stationary during all that period, despite the all-round increases in the cost of living. We understand that the officials in question intend making a joint kick shortly for an increase.

Our Fighting Men.
Stories of the signal feats of the Irish regiments in France, Flanders, and the Dardanelles, partly fill up an unaccountable hiatus in the story of the greatest armed struggle that the world has ever seen. They are based on letters of officers and men and interviews with wounded soldiers and invalids. Mr. Rodmond says in his preface that his business here is to talk about the Irish soldiers, and that his doing so must not imply neglect of the renown of the other British and Colonial fighters. The tale is a moving one, of magnificent courage, merry and dauntless. How the Munsters at Chapeau Rouge were left alone to keep their position—because the despatch riders sent to tell them to fall back were lost or killed or made prisoners—and out of a whole battalion only four officers and 101 men were left to surrender; they had been engaged against seven German battalions! Or take the message of the Earl of Cavan after Ypres:—
I want you to convey to every man in the battalion that I consider that the safety of the right flank of the British section depended entirely on their staunchness after the disastrous day, November 1st. Those of them that were left have made history, and I can never thank them enough for way in which they recovered themselves, and showed to the enemy that Irish Guards must be reckoned with, however hard hit.
Again, at the landing on the V beach of Gallipoli, the Irish soldiers were the talk of the whole army. There Father Finn was amongst the killed; it was in the act of blessing one of his men, though himself badly wounded, that the piece of shrapnel entered his skull. But there is no need to speak of Irish courage as if it were unexpected, do we not all know of it?—but the individual facts recorded here, press it home most forcibly.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.30 A.M.

LONDON, To-day.
A column of troops about one thousand strong, was seen south of the town of El Arish in March. Three bombs exploded among them, and all camps were effectively bombarded. All ships and machines returned safely. Weather conditions during the past week have been abnormal, intense heat being experienced day and night. Under these conditions the health of the troops remains good. Lieut. General Mahon has assumed command of the western front in Egypt, and Lieut. Milne is now commanding the British troops at Salonika.

THE SETTLED DISPUTE.

LONDON, To-day.
Britain and Sweden became involved in a dispute several months ago, the result was the detention of Swedish shipping by the British and particularly interference with mails. As a reprisal Sweden held up thousands of parcels in transit by mail from Russia to England.

GALLANTRY OF LANCASHIRE COTTON OPERATIVES.

FRANCE.
It develops that the action of a battalion of Royal North Lancashires and the Lancashire Fusiliers, on the 15th was a singular brilliant attack, and gained a strategic point on the crest of the redoubtable Vimy Ridge, the possession of which means the command of the plain of Lens. Since the British took over this section from the French early in the stage of the battle of Verdun, the Germans have been holding stubbornly the vantage of higher ground and inflicting heavy casualties on the British. After a successful explosion of mines just after dark, the Lancashires who are made up largely of cotton operatives from Manchester, rushed from their trenches to the lips of the craters. Every detail of the programme of operation from putting machine guns out of action, bringing up sandbags with which to build new breastworks, defending the position by means of bombs was carried out successfully. Morning found the Lancashires thoroughly entrenched against the retaliatory German bombardment, and had connected their old line by communicating trenches six feet deep. Slight casualties were the cost of the night's success. The value of ground gained is not to be judged by the 360 yards of front taken, but by the fact that the Lancashires are no longer on the downside of the slope with the Germans above them.

BUDGET OF WAR NEWS.

LONDON, To-day.
Under a heavy pounding of Austrian artillery the Italian forces have been compelled to withdraw from portions of their lines in the region of Trent, which had been bombarded for three days. The official communication from Rome admits the evacuation of Zegnatoria position in the Logorina Valley, south of Trent, and also the line between Terragnola Valley and Upper Astico from Monte Maggio to Sagliodasio. The Italians, however, have occupied further Austrian positions in the Adamello zone, capturing prisoners, material and provisions. During the day the Germans made no infantry attacks from their newly won positions on the left bank of the Meuse in the Verdun region, according to Paris. The artillery struggle, however continues most violent on the front of Avocourt Wood, Hill 304 and Le Mort Homme. The artillery action has not been so great on the right bank of the Meuse and Woivre. Aero-plane bombing expeditions continue on both sides.

The Russian advance in the Caucasus theatre is meeting with more active opposition from the Turkish forces. Constantinople claims attacks by Russians in the regions of Bitlis and Baluart were repulsed. Petrograd reports only insignificant encounters along this entire front.

Lord Robert Cecil, British Minister of War Trade, informs the Associated Press that an agreement has been reached between Great Britain and Sweden, and that the tension between the two countries over the shipping question and the seizure of mails has lessened.

The Entente Allied submarine campaign against German shipping in the Baltic Sea continues. The sinking of the German steamer Trave by an underwater boat being announced from Stockholm.

All passengers and crew of the French coasting steamer Mirv were lost when that vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean on May 16th, according to a Marseilles despatch.

GERMAN STEAMERS HELD UP

CHRISTIANIA, To-day.
The activity of British submarines in the Baltic Sea is likely to accentuate the coal famine in Sweden. All German steamers in Swedish ports have been instructed to remain where they are, pending further orders.

A BETTER UNDERSTANDING.

LONDON, To-day.
All apprehension of the Swedish Government, concerning the Aland Islands, has been removed through the good offices of Britain. France asked Russia for particulars on behalf of Sweden, and Russia readily gave a complete and unqualified assurance that any defences of Aland Islands would be purely for the emergencies of the present war, that any such military works would be removed at the end of hostilities. The good feeling has arisen between Sweden and Britain as a result. These discussions brought about an understanding regarding the trade between England and Sweden, in accordance with which it is expected Sweden will make large concessions with regard to pulp exports. Britain will yield in a similar manner in her coal export.

ACTIVITY ON BRITISH FRONT.

LONDON, To-day.
An official statement of the campaign in Belgium and France issued by the British War Office last night follows: There was artillery activity between the Somme and Ancre. In the Arras section the enemy captured a small post of a crater at the north end of Vimy Ridge last (Thursday) night. There was grenade fighting south of Neuville, St. Veast. Our guns to-day (Friday) silenced the enemy's artillery in the Wallis section. The enemy exploded a mine south east of Hallincourt. We hold near the lip of the crater in the Lens sector and we fired a mine near Calonne and made an effective bombardment of the enemy positions. To-day there was considerable artillery activity near Souchez, Loos and Hulluch. Last night we successfully bombarded the enemy's positions north of Ypres. To-day the enemy shelled Potijze. There was considerable aerial activity and one hostile machine was driven down behind the German lines.

DAYLIGHT ACT IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, To-day.
The hands of all the clocks on British railroads, post offices, newspaper offices, police stations, and other places where business is conducted throughout will be pushed forward at two o'clock to-morrow to three o'clock in accordance with the daylight saving act.

SHORTAGE OF FOOD IN CENTRAL EMPIRES.

ROME, To-day.
The Vatican has received confidential information of the shortage of food in the Central Empires who are verging on a famine, especially in Austria where conditions are declared as worse than in Germany. It is said that Emperor Francis Joseph will protest to the Pope against the inhuman attempt of the Allies to starve non-combatants.

Particulars of Railway Accident

Our representative called on Mr. H. D. Reid, President of the Reid Nfd. Co., this morning, and learned the following facts in relation to the railway accident on the Heart's Content line, as referred to elsewhere in today's issue. The train which was chiefly made up of flat cars, loaded with railway ties, was proceeding towards Whitbourne, and when near the Broad Cove junction, the crank pin of engine 21 broke, thus necessitating the dropping of four cars which were shunted back on the old Broad Cove main line, it was in doing this that the unfortunate man, whose name is John Northover, a native of New Perleau, lost his life. It appears that Northover with others were taking a ride on the cars, when the deceased lost his balance and falling beneath the wheels was killed instantly, the weight of the heavy load cutting the body completely in half. The train hands rushed to his assistance, but of no avail. The Company were immediately informed of the matter, and had the remains brought on to the city where it was placed in a coffin. The minister of the church he was a member of was informed of the accident and broke the sad news to the man's relatives. The officials of the Company express deep regret at the untimely death of one of their employees. The authorities have the case in hand and the usual investigation will be made. The unfortunate man was about 50 years of age. To his sorrowing relatives the Telegram extends deepest sympathy.

Young Soldier Dies at General Hospital.

Yesterday morning at the General Hospital Private Maxwell Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reeves, St. Lawrence, answered the final "call." The deceased who was suffering from meningitis entered the hospital a few days ago and despite the best of medical treatment and kind attention of the nursing staff, death claimed its victim. Private Maxwell although he never saw active service laid down his life for King and Country. At the battalion headquarters yesterday the Union Jack was flown at half mast as a tribute to his memory, and his comrades, members of A Co., contributed towards the purchase of an elaborate wreath to adorn his coffin. The young soldier was only 18 years of age and his sudden demise has cast a gloom over the prosperous settlement of St. Lawrence. To the sorrowing parents general sympathy is expressed in which the Telegram joins. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon from the residence of Mr. W. J. Clouston, Queen's Road, to the Railway Station.

Slight Fire.

At 6.20 last evening an alarm was sent in from Box 228, bringing the Central and East End Companies to Freshwater Road where a slight fire was in progress in the roof of a house caused by sparks from the chimney igniting the shingles. The application of one stream of water quickly extinguished the fire. The damage done was insignificant.

SOURCE OF KRUPP FORTUNE.

(The Chronicle, London.)
Everyone knows the part which Krupp's plays in equipping Germany and her Allies with munitions, but how many are aware that the money with which the great firm was placed on a sure foundation, if not actually founded, came from Birmingham? Alfred Krupp came to Birmingham about 1840 with an introduction from Dr. Siemens to Messrs. Elkington and Mason, electro-platers, the predecessors of the present firm of Elkington and Co. He offered to them a machinery, which he had invented, for rolling metal "blanks" from which spoons and forks are made. Eventually he sold this to the firm for £10,000. With the money thus acquired Krupp proceeded to Essen and laid the foundation of the great fortune he afterwards acquired.

Newfoundlander Made Supreme Sacrifice.

The names of two Newfoundlanders—Aaron Baron Bailey, as killed in action, and Augustus Farrell, as wounded, are mentioned in a late casualty list issued at Ottawa. The young hero who has made the supreme sacrifice claims Trinity as his birthplace, and Mr. Garrett Bailey is his next-of-kin. Ernest Bailey, a cousin of the deceased, was in the same regiment. Aaron Bailey enlisted as far back as November, 1914, and had been over a year in the fighting line. Augustus, son of Mr. Thomas Farrell, of St. Lawrence, though he was born at St. Jacques, belonged to the same regiment and enlisted at Halifax.

Wounded Soldier.

Has Good Word for Hospital.
Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir—As one of the 1st Nfd. Regiment, I wish to say a few words about some of those whom I have seen in the hospital. I saw Capt. Carly, Lieut. Ross, Lieut. Carter, also Sgt. Bennett, Corporal Marrs, Neal Christopher and Privates Butler and Evans, also a good many others. They are all well looked after. They have given the hospital a great name as regards the treatment and kindness given to them by the doctors and sisters, not forgetting the nurses.
Ladies and gentlemen come around every day, taking them out to tea and also for motor drives which are very nice, as they go around London, and there are some sights to be seen. As for friends visiting, they are allowed twice a week, but I am sure that some of our boys have visitors every day. The ladies and gentlemen of the Nfd. Association come nearly every day visiting, also enquiring if any of us are in need of anything. If so they send it along immediately. They always bring cigarettes and papers with them for the boys, so I can assure you they have some people looking after them.

I am in No. 5 Ward. The Sisters in charge are Sister Park, Sister Mair and Sister Bishopley. Anything which I require I have only to ask for it. In fact they cannot do enough for their patients. They do look after them well, and I am sure that the other wards are the same. I shall feel sorry when I leave. Of course it cannot be helped at these times. If I am spared I shall pay a visit to No. 5 after the war. The commanding officer, Col. Bruce Porter, of the hospital, is what we all call a proper sport, as he greets the boys with a smile and good-morning wherever he meets them. He arranges for concerts and entertainments every night to amuse us, and I may say that the hall is packed every night, also the C. O. attends them all.

As regards the mail we receive it every day. As the postman is away doing his bit, we have got a post-woman instead, and she is very smart in giving you any letters or parcels which she may have for you—very smart at the business.

As for the doctors, they are what one would call a proper staff of officers. They are all very good and attentive to their duties and when any of them is required he is there on the minute. The matron is very nice towards the boys and always bids them the time of day when she meets them.

The sisters, in fact no one could say enough for them as regards their kindness, not forgetting the nurses. I may say that they are fairly doing their bit as well as the troops, as they are at it from morning till night when they are relieved by the night sisters and nurses, which looks after us while we sleep, so I reckon that we are never short of anything or attendance.

There are a good many of the boys gone to the Convalescent Home, who are very anxious to get back with their regiment. When they come back to the hospital they are granted furlough by Capt. Gosse, of the hospital. Hoping that we all shall return to St. John's, and trusting you will find space in your valuable paper.

I remain, yours etc.,

Poor Fishery.
A late report received by the Board of Trade states that the catch of cod fish between Eagle Point and Mall Bay was 2,350 qtls. Several codnets were out, but fish was scarce, and nothing had yet been done. There was a little herring for bait in the vicinity. The lobster fishery was very good and still improving.

HEALTH OF KING'S SECOND SON.
The health of the second son of the King and Queen, Prince Albert, is arousing some anxiety. This very attractive and clever boy is so ill that any return to the navy is out of the question for a considerable time, and it is on his account that the Court is to make so long a sojourn at Windsor, to begin April 19th or 20th. Quite a number of physicians have been called in to see the lad, who is in a sadly debilitated state, which is aggravated by his worrying at not being allowed to take a prematurely active share in the war. The King and Queen are so much before the public in their charitable work and have such multifarious duties thrust on their responsible shoulders by the war that people are apt to forget that they have the ordinary vicissitudes of family life like their subjects. It is to be hoped that the anxiety which is casting a shadow over the whole Court may soon be lifted.

LLOYD'S UNDERWRITERS AND PEACE.
Opinion at Lloyd's (London's central institution for the effecting of everything in the way of insurance from the original marine business down to the latest freak piece of underwriting) is, I hear, rapidly coming round to the view that the prospects of peace are not quite so remote as some pessimists think. Rates are, in fact, hardening against the cessation of hostilities this year. Two months ago the quotation covering the risk was 15 guineas per cent, but now it is not believed that much business of the kind could be done under 35 guineas, while as regards June 30 of next year a higher figure is asked. The odds on peace being made by that date are, indeed, according to underwriters, about six to four.

LIQUID FIRE.
An officer from the front tells me that the liquid fire which the Germans are using so freely against the French at Verdun is really a very moderate weapon of attack. He admitted it was alarming the first time anyone saw it, but within five minutes it ceased to exercise terrifying power; "in fact, it is a spectacular sort of thing, chiefly calculated to impress civilians reading about it. I should

Rub On Magic "Nerviline."

Nothing on earth can beat good old "Nerviline" when it comes to curing rheumatism.

The blessed relief you get from Nerviline comes mighty quick, and you don't have to wait a month for some sign of improvement.

You see Nerviline is a direct application; it is rubbed right into the sore joint, thoroughly rubbed over the twitching muscle that perhaps for years has kept you on the jump. In this way you get to the real source of the trouble. After you have used Nerviline just once you'll say it's amazing, a marvel, a perfect wonder of bill small; trial size, 25c.; all dealers.

certain other expressions such as "feloniously," "traitorously," "feloniously and burglariously," "unlawfully," and so on are prescribed. Under the new Act the accused will be simply charged with "murder," or whatever the crime is, and particulars of the offence will follow. The wrong-doer's refuge in technicalities is gone. Nowadays we wonder at the worship which past generations bestowed on these things. Take the Cardigan case in 1841, for instance. The prosecution failed to prove the full name, as set out in the indictment, of the person who had been shot at in a duel. "Not guilty, legally, upon my honor," said the Duke of Cleveland, qualifying the customary formula of the Peers when they sit in judgment on one of their number. An acquittal followed. The Indictments Act does not apply to Scotland, where the machinery for the prosecution of crime differs entirely from that of England.

DECIMAL COINAGE.

Plans for a scheme of decimal coinage adapted to the present currency in this country have just been drawn up by the Decimal Association. The Committee propose to make the florin, which is a tenth part of a sovereign, the unit coin. The florin is a satisfactory unit in that its adoption would cause little change in the gold and silver coinage of the country. There are at present 96 farthings in a florin, and under the new system there would be 100 cents. The new coins necessary would be made of nickel or bronze, there being 10 and 5 cent nickel pieces of the approximate value of 2½d. and 1½d. respectively, and 4 cent pieces corresponding to the present penny, 2 cents and 1 cent pieces of bronze. The sovereign and half-sovereign would be retained as 10-florin and 5-florin pieces. The florin would be the unit or 100-cent piece, the shilling the ½-florin, and the sixpence the ¼-florin. Such a system of currency, the Decimal Association argue, would not disturb our present coinage, and would be in accordance with the standard adopted in most of the European countries, as well as in America and Canada.

A RUSSIAN ON KUT.

Speaking of Kut, a Russian informant says that in Russian military quarters very little importance has been attached to the operations. Their view is that General Townshend's task was to attract and keep immobilised as many Turkish troops as possible. This they have done very effectively for not only was the Sixth Turkish Army nailed to the Bagdad front, but even the Fourth Army, quartered in Syria, could not move either against Egypt or towards Armenia, being compelled to watch and protect the communications of the Bagdad army, and especially the short railway line, not quite completed, from Aleppo to the Euphrates, by which all the supplies of the Sixth Army had to be sent. Kut, in their opinion, does not present any strategical importance, especially after the Turkish forces which opposed the Russians in the direction of Bitlis were routed a few days ago. The advance of the Russian army on Bagdad is now only a matter of marching capacity. In the view of this authority, even if the Turks capture Townshend's force it would certainly be released soon by the advancing Russian army, which is already nearing Mosul. The Bagdad railway would be so threatened from that place that it is doubtful if the Sixth Army would really become free by the fall of Kut, and it could not link up with the army of Syria without being exposed to a deadly flank attack.

EASTER FLOWERS.

The floral hall at Covent Garden, London's fruit and vegetable market, will be a hower of bloom this week. St. George's day on April 23rd happening to fall within the period of the Easter flower demand, which is always very great. Usually the daffodils or Lent lilies come from the Channel Islands and the sunny Scilly Isles, but Easter being late these supplies are practically over, and the growers in the Home Counties and in Lincolnshire will chiefly benefit. Inquiries made at Covent Garden indicate that supplies will be plentiful and prices more reasonable than usual, despite the large demand. The sunshine of the last few days has brought the flowers under glass well forward. Lilies of the valley, which are always in request at this time, are very scarce; and arum and longiflorum lilies are certain to rise in price. But roses are plentiful for St. George's Day, and good supplies of carnations and Malmalsons, Darwin tulips, iris, white lilac, narcissus, and daffodils will be available.

Syracuse, N.Y., May 12.—Sam Langford, the Boston star baby, scored a knockout over Joe Jeanette, of New York, in a scheduled 10-round bout here to-night. The battling had been about even up to the seventh round, when Langford landed a left hook to the jaw that defeated his rival. These men have met about 15 times since 1905, but this is the first knockout by either of them.

To the Others.

(By Katharine Tynan, in the "Tablet," London.)

This was the gleam then that lured from far
Your son and my son to the Holy War;
Your son and my son for the accolade
With the banner of Christ over them,
In steel arrayed.

All quiet roads of life ran on to this;
When they were little for their mother's kiss.
Little feet hastening, so soft, unworn,
To the vows and the vigil and the road of thorn.

Your son and my son, the dowry things,
Sheltered in mother's breast, by mother's wings,
Should they be broken in the Lord's wars—Peace!
He who has given them—are they not His?

Dream of knight's armor and the battle-shout,
Fighting and falling at the last resort,
Dream of long dying on the field of slain;
This was the dream that lured, nor lured in vain.

These were the Voices they heard from far,
Bugles and trumpets of the Holy War.
Your son and my son have heard the call,
Your son and my son have stormed the wall.

Your son and my son, clean as new swords;
Your man and my man and now the Lord's!
Your son and my son for the Great Crusade,
With the banner of Christ over them—our knights new-made.

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

SAVE BEFORE YOU SPEND.

The proposition to make the Insurance rates pay for the new water service is one which ought to commend itself to the city. The Mayor has stated that the new service ought to mean a reduction in Insurance rates of at least 25 per cent, which would amount to about $56,000.00 each year. My suggestion is that we pay the same rates as heretofore and that a further tax of 25 per cent on their Insurance premiums be levied on the Insurance Companies. This tax to be used exclusively to repay the loan which was raised to pay for the construction of the new water service. This loan is about $150,000.00 so that in 25 years this tax will have repaid it in full. After that the tax will be removed and the Insurance Companies will reduce their premiums by a like amount of 25 per cent.

The Commissioners in their Charter expect a workman to save up and build a house for himself and I cannot see why Councils cannot do the same. The custom of Debt should be as bad for one as the other. At any rate we have now an opportunity, which may never come again, to liquidate the indebtedness caused by this new water service. It will not mean deprivation to anyone—we have been paying these Insurance rates for twenty-four years so that we can as well pay them for another three years. By doing so we can rid ourselves of a portion of that insidious leech called interest, which drains so much the resources of the borrower; $56,000.00 for three years equals $168,000.00, which is sufficient to pay off the loan of $150,000.00 and interest during the period. If this is not done it is probable that the loan may never be repaid, so that interest on $150,000.00 at say 4 per cent, which is $6,000.00 will be a yearly charge on the City. In 25 years we shall have paid in interest the whole amount of the principal $150,000.00 and still owe the principal $150,000.00. In 20 years we shall have paid $300,000.00 in interest and still owe for the principal $150,000.00. Now those of us who carry insurance, large mercantile as well as small household, are we willing, have we civic interest enough, to pay the regular insurance rates for three years more, so that the city may be saved this huge amount of interest, may more, that it shall own this part of the water service? I put it to the Commissioners, to the Board of Trade, are we patriotic enough to do it?

THE DAYLIGHT SCHEME.

I am in favour of the Daylight Scheme because it will not seriously interfere with my rising and I shall share in the extra-hour at the end of the day. So far, so good. But there are others. The man who will have to rise at four o'clock is going to feel some less of sleep. His body is bound to feel the change.

Of course such a law should not come in force unless by consent of those whom it will affect most. Most of us are at the mercy of employers in this respect and if the hours of business are set we have to obey. Therefore I would think that employers will consider their employees' side of the question well before deciding. What I think would be a gracious concession on the part of employers and one which would save all this bother of changing the clocks is the stopping of work in these three summer months at five o'clock in the afternoon. This would give the extra hour of daylight that we are all working for and in my estimation would not mean any appreciable loss to the employer. Of course I mean that the day will still be counted a ten-hour day for those who work by the hour, and in this connection I do not think that we shall lose anything by this. The man who works from seven in the morning till six at night year in and year out at the same occupation has not an enviable lot. He will work better I think if he was given this extra hour in the summer months.

I throw this suggestion out to the employers. They may imagine that it means sacrifice on their part but I do not think it will mean anything else but happier employees, work done with a better spirit, and possibly more work, for men work faster when they are happier. With more time for hobbies, home repairs, and outdoor exercise I am in full accord, so that as the employers see one way to obtain it by putting the clocks ahead which only gives more daylight but not more time, let this suggestion on behalf of the workers be heard.

THE CITY HALL.

When the Citizens' Committee appointed at the public meeting to consider the City Charter, applied to the Premier to appoint some place of meeting, the Civic Government were approached in the matter, as it was felt that such matters would properly be debated as near such papers and documents and evidence relating to the Charter as possible. The Commissioners, however, replied that there was no room available for such a large Committee of thirty in the City Hall. Again, recently, the Commissioners were asked about rooms where any sub-committees of the Citizens' Committee might meet. Again they replied saying that their rooms were engaged most nights and could not be used by the Citizens' Committee. Now, the City has purchased this City Hall for civic purposes. It is the Old Seamen's Home, a four story building with many rooms. Why some of these rooms should not be available for the use of this Citizens' Committee is not quite clear. To say the least, it seems an ungracious attitude on the part of the Commissioners. The cost of hiring rooms will have to be borne out of the finances of the City so that the Commissioners should have at least considered this and endeavoured to save as much expense as possible. The City Hall belongs to the City and is the proper place for all business of the City to be conducted. Why was it purchased if this is not to be done?

The first refusal of the Commissioners was solely because they had not a large room. The second refusal was because the rooms were occupied nearly every night.

If the rooms were not available for this second reason then it should have been stated when the first application was made, for it makes no difference whether the room is large or small if it is in use and not available.

Britain and France.

(The 'Petit Journal,' Paris.)
Little by little the old-time misunderstandings which have caused so much pain between Great Britain and France are completely disappearing. Little by little the alliance between the two countries is being firmly established. It is a military necessity in wartime and a social necessity in time of peace. The more obvious this necessity becomes the more forcibly is felt the need of immediate concerted action with all the sacrifices it involves. This will soon become an obligation, a duty, a law, and its consequences in the future will make it one of the most important results of the war which Germany provoked, with quite a different object.

Book Learning is Not All.

(The 'Outlook,' New York.)
It's a curious commentary on the quality of human understanding that so many writers should have laid so much emphasis upon the fact that Shakespeare's only 'education' was secured within the walls of the Stratford grammar school. What a world of nonsense there is in the superstition that a knowledge of books means a knowledge of nature and mankind! How much more nonsense there is in the superstition that knowledge of nature and mankind cannot be secured except through the perusal of many books!

Nothing Better for My Case.

THAT'S WHAT JAMES WHITE SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. He Had All the Symptoms of Diabetes and Could Not Sleep at Night. Now He Can Do a Good Day's Work.

Victoria Beach, Annapolis Co., N.S., May 19th. (Special).—Mr. James White, a well known resident here, is among the many in this country who are always ready to state their belief that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies. "I can do a good day's work now," Mr. White says. "But that I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I started using them I was very far gone. I could not sleep at night and I had to get up five or six times every night. I had every symptom of Diabetes so you may know I was a very sick man."

Mr. White's was a very bad case of kidney trouble and it took a long treatment. In all he took twenty-four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. In fact he is still taking them lest there should be any return of his trouble. But the cheerfulness with which he recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to his friends bears out his assertion "there is nothing better for my case." Dodd's Kidney Pills taken regularly are a sure preventative of the multitude of dread diseases that spring from sick kidneys.

Muddling But Determined

(The 'Globe,' New York.)
The disregard of the favorite military precept of Napoleon has brought the usual results. Gallipoli was a ghastly failure, and the surrender at Kut-el-Amara adds another to the few cases of British capitulation. But if Great Britain is true to form in one respect she is also true in others. John Bull is muddling, but shows no indication of willingness to quit. The disaster on the Tigris is likely to lead to still further effort to the voting of universal conscription.

Captain Tells of Explosion at Sea

The Tennyson Arrives After Month in Dry Dock Following Damage by German Bomb.

The story of the bomb explosion which shattered the mainmast of the Tennyson, of the Holt & Lamport line, on February 18th last, was told yesterday when that vessel arrived here from Buenos Ayres. The Tennyson is still without a mast, although most of the damage done to the ship, both by the explosion and the fire which followed it, was repaired in a dry dock at Bahia, where the vessel was laid up for a month.

"The bomb was smuggled aboard the Tennyson by two Germans when we put into port at Bahia to take on freight," said Captain Butler. "The explosion did not occur until we were at sea, 250 miles northeast of Maranhao, Brazil.

"So powerful was the bomb that the mainmast was actually splintered and the ship's stern nearly blown away. Three men of the crew were killed outright and a fourth was so badly injured that he died. "The explosion occurred in the afterhold. The rudder post was destroyed, but the engines escaped damage, and this enabled us to limp into Maranhao, although the ship was, practically, in a sinking condition.

"In addition to the horror of the explosion fire followed, and the crew had its hands full fighting the flames all the way into port. Nearly all the cargo, consisting of hides and dyestuffs, was destroyed. "The Tennyson left New York last December and steamed from Buenos Ayres on her return voyage on January 31.—N. Y. Herald, May 10.

Lad Crushed by Elevator Directs His Rescuers.

Caught Between Car Floor and Ceiling, for an Hour and Half He Stolidly Watches Efforts to Release Him—Loses Both Legs but May Recover—Sends for Police, Firemen and a Priest.

Hundreds of stenographers and clerks were leaving the offices in the fourteen story building at Nos. 82 to 92 Beaver Street, at 5 o'clock last evening when Joseph Dinsgebacher, fifteen, the only passenger in an ascending elevator, started to leave the car at the fifth floor, where he was employed to run errands. One foot was out of the elevator, when it suddenly shot upward. The other dropped out, and as the car passed upward the small of his back hit the sill of the car and his body went backward into it.

Both legs were dragged along between the grill steel work of the shaft and the cage until the ceiling of the sixth story was reached, and there the elevator stopped, crushing the upper parts of his legs between the floor of the cage and the ceiling. Joseph did not scream, but the shouts of Joseph Raddigan, the elevator attendant, quickly caused a commotion in the building. The fifth and sixth floors about the row of elevator shafts soon were packed, and many young women screamed and became hysterical because it seemed nothing could be done to relieve the boy.

First Calls the Police.

"Get a cop! Get a cop!" cried Joseph, when he had calmly surveyed his predicament. Closely following Policeman Ehrhardt came the police rescuers from the Old Slip station. "Better get the firemen, I guess," said Joseph to Ehrhardt. "You can't lower the cage without crumpling up my pins and you can't raise it without cutting 'em off."

A telephone message called Hook and Ladder Truck Company No. 15 to the scene, but the firemen could do nothing. Then a special call was sent for Rescue Squad No. 1, and five minutes after those men versed in expediency arrived they had an acetylene torch rigged and were burning away the steel work of the elevator shaft, the cage floor and the ceiling girder.

"Say, I'm a Catholic and I guess I'm in for life," spoke up Joseph, as the flaming steel sparks dropped about him. "I want to confession last Saturday, but I guess you better send for a priest. I punched another kid in the nose yesterday and I better get that off'n my conscience."

Policeman Hotter used the telephone and soon the Rev. Joseph Plunkett, of the Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary, No. 7 State Street, arrived and while the firemen burned away at the steel he administered the last rites of the Church to Joseph who said he felt somewhat better afterward.

Sparks from the acetylene torch dropped to the bottom of the shaft and set fire to oily waste there. The smoke was stifling when firemen ran a hose into the basement and extinguished the flames. Then a stream of water was kept running in the shaft to prevent other fires starting.

Hot Beam Adds to Danger.

"Gee, that's hot!" cried Joseph, when the acetylene torch had highly heated a steel beam it was cutting through and against which the lad's legs were crushed. Firemen then had to keep water playing on the beam. "Say, father, do I have to go to confession again for saying 'Gee'?"

"No, son, you meant no wrong."

"Well, I'm sorry for anything wrong I did, and maybe I shouldn't have punched that kid in the nose yesterday."

For an hour and a half a small army of men were ministering to the boy in one way and another. The police reserves were holding in order a great crowd that had gathered in Beaver Street, other policemen were guiding the stenographers and clerks out of the building by other elevators; Dr. Patitsky, of Volunteer Hospital, was holding his hand and occasionally rubbing a cocaine solution on the boy's legs to deaden the pain, and all that time Joseph never uttered a cry of pain or a word of complaint.

It was half-past six o'clock when half a ton of steel had been cut away and he was lifted out and carried, on a stretcher, to the ambulance in the street. The waiting crowd, that had heard of his stolidism, cheered him as he started for the Volunteer Hospital. There it was said that one leg would have to be amputated at the hip and the other was broken in several places. He may recover. Joseph lives at No. 882 Forest Avenue, Ridgewood, Queens.—N. Y. Herald, May 11.

Chambers's Journal.

This old-established journal—it was founded in 1832—has achieved a reputation for providing sound reading matter, and manages to maintain its popularity without the aid of illustrations. The issue for April is exceptionally well edited, and, apart from serial fiction and short stories, there are several articles of considerable value. Joseph Mede furnishes the story of "A Builder of Empire: Samuel Marsden," who was a Methodist and also a priest of the Church of England, and over a hundred years ago held the first Christian service and delivered the first Christian message to the then heathen of New Zealand. D. W. O. Fagan, in an article on "Plagues of Fleas," relates his experience of a flea-plague forty years ago at a little coastal town not far from Dunedin, in the South Island, when the fleas were upon us—millions of them! You could hear them patter, patter, as they hopped by in armies. The ground seemed covered by a brown spray as they passed. . . . Dogs rolled in the dust and howled. Cats took to the bush, and were seen no more. The fleas invaded the houses. Floors and wall literally swarmed with them. They got into the food and every utensil. You ate fleas, willynilly, at your meals. Sleep was quite impossible. The town came within an ace of madness from protracted insomnia. But Providence intervened. The visitation lasted only three weeks. Night fell on the twenty-first day, and the town was one huge dolorous scratch. In the morning not a single flea remained. They had departed as suddenly as they had come.

That it is not always safe to ask questions of children while delivering the now customary address to boys and girls at the Sunday morning service is obvious from an experience which a friend of mine once had. He was speaking to them of the incident which relates how Joseph and Mary, having been warned, took the young child and fled into Egypt for fear of Herod. "I wonder," said the priest, "if any of you boys or girls can tell me why Joseph and Mary fled into Egypt?" "Because," said a thin, shrill voice, to the amazement of the people, "because they hadn't paid their rent!"—A Parson, in 'The Strand Magazine.'

A certain famous Admiral of the fleet, on being complimented on his superb health, smiled and said: "I attribute my good condition to plenty of exercise and no banquets. One-third of what we eat, you know, enables us to live." "In that case," said his friend jestingly, "what becomes of the other two-thirds?" "Oh," said the Admiral, "they enable the doctor to live."—The Windsor Magazine.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying: "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X-Lamp and GASTEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.
