FREELTON MAGISTRATE'S COURT. - The case of Larson vs. Clark, lately tried before three Justices of the Peace at Freelton, and reported by us in a late issue of the "Mercury" has been dismissed with costs. This is an important decision determining as it does the question as to whether a toll keeper has a right to exact toll on Sunday, from persons going to or returning from Divine Worship, not being their usual place of worship. The forcible objections raised by Mr. J. P. MacMillan, counsel for the defendant, prevailed, and the Magistrate had no other alternative than to dismiss the case with costs, thus showing that toll cannot be collected from a person going to, or returning from, service on Sunday.

POLICE COURT. (Before His Worship the Mayor.) Sept. 3. Michael Mullaly charged by P. O. Dooley with vagrancy was fined $10 and costs or in default, two months in gaol, with hard labor. He was committed.

The fall of King Coffee seems to have been greater than was at first imagined. He has now had to appeal to the British for protection. Two of his former subject Kings refuse him their allegiance, and threaten to attack him if they are interfered with. The Ashantee power is completely broken, and thus the expedition of Sir Garnet Wolsley was more successful than Cavallas gave it credit for.

Topeka, Kansas, Sept. 1. - A party of six surveyors from Lawrence, Kansas, were massacred by Indians on Wednesday last, near Lone Tree, 40 miles southwest of Fort Dodge.

New Orleans, Sept. 1. - Despatches received by State Senator Twitchell, brother of one of the persons killed in Coshatt, state explicitly that the only cause of the occurrence was the white league movement to run out of the State or kill all white Republican leaders in the parish of Red River, which by returns were largely Republican at last election, and thus to prevent organization of the Republican voters of that parish for the coming campaign. At the Executive Department it is asserted that it is the intention of the White League of Caddo parish to take possession of Red River parish, and was known to parish officers for days previous to the actual occurrence and this was the only reason of the parish officers for organizing to resist their displacement from offices, to which they were fairly elected.

New York, Sept. 2. - It is reported that a large combination of capitalists including bankers, grain dealers and railroad men, has recently been formed for the transportation of grain from the West, and for protecting sales of wheat in London on commission. Iceland's Great Anniversary.

A THOUSAND YEARS JUBILEE.

Bayard Taylor has been writing to the Y. Tribune a most interesting account of the ceremonies connected with the thousandth anniversary of the settlement of the far-off kingdom of Iceland. This land is now a part of Denmark, and as fitting commemoration of its existence a Government for a thousand years, great popular demonstration was held on the island, at which the King of Denmark was present, and a new constitution was granted to the people. Mr. Taylor describes the landing of the King on the island.

The formal reception by the authorities of Iceland and the delegates of the people was almost private in its character. The royal pier sloped down to a platform, between a double row of Danish flags hung with green garlands. The gentlemen stood on this platform, and none of their addresses or the replies thereto were audible at a distance of thirty feet. A small crowd of people, gathered on the sand at the edge of the water, cheered with some heartiness, but the main body of the people, about 2,000 in number, kept silent, as they heard nothing. In ten minutes all was over. The Governor came up the pier, followed by the King and Prince, both walking rapidly and looking very cheerful and amiable. They were received with a cheer which was evidently genuine, if not loud and universal. The people seemed unused to such a demonstration; in fact, I noticed several who opened their mouths as they took off their hats, made the beginning of a shout, and then timidly gave it up. After the King's suite came the chief officials, the bishop in velvet and satin, a snowy Elizabethan ruff, and a high hat, the clergyman and the members of the native committee—the latter strong, ruddy, farmer-looking men, whose white gloves did not harmonize with their heavy brown coats. There were about forty persons in all, and the whole crowd fell in behind them as they advanced toward the Governor's residence.

Here follows an account of the rejoicings: The King and his cortege had just entered the cathedral as we reached it, and the foreign naval officers who had been invited to the ceremony were crowding with the natives into the low northern portal. The choir was singing one of the ten new anthems composed for the occasion; lights were burning in the chandeliers, on the altar, and between the gallery-pillars; wreaths of the heather decorated the walls, ceiling and galleries, and there was a glow of flowers around Thorvaldson's baptismal font. The dull red of the walls and dark panels of the wooden ceiling harmonized well with these simple ornaments; the building wore an aspect of cheerful solemnity, becoming the occasion. The seats filled rapidly during the chant, men and women sitting together as they could find places. Then the service commenced, after the Ancient Lutheran fashion. In fact it was nearly an exact repetition of that we had seen in Thorshavn, except that the Icelandic language was used. The hymns were very simple and grandly sung; and the Psalm of Praise written by Matthias Jochumson, and composed by Sveinbjornsson—the first musical work by a native Icelander, I am told—produced a powerful effect. In whichever direction I looked, I saw eyes filled with tears. The repetition of the refrain: "Iceland's thousand years— Iceland's thousand years," rang through the Cathedral in tones which were solemn rather than proud, and gave expression to the earnest, religious spirit in which the people have come together.

After the service in the Cathedral, there was a procession, and the traveller thus describes a portion of the route: The road thither led past the prison, which is altogether the finest building in Reikiavik. But, alas for the wisdom of those who decreed its erection! It waits in vain for an inmate. The smooth-walled walls of gray lava-stone, the cheerful cells, the spacious prison-yard invite some one to be culprit and enjoy their idle luxuries; but the people are too ignorant to accept the call. On the summit of the hill above there is a rather graceful square tower, built by the students during their play-hours as a place of shelter when the weather was stormy; but now it serves as a beacon for vessels at sea and weary travellers approaching from the north.

The road, which was so broad and smooth that it must have been specially made for the festival, now crossed a long hollow in the stony soil and climbed a hill opposite, nearly a mile away, where flags, tents, and a moving multitude announced the location of Astarvelli. The broad, rounded summit of the hill had been laboriously cleared of stones, and furnished a space where four or five thousand could have been accommodated; but not more than two thousand were present. There were a rostrum for speeches, a tent for the King, another tent which suggested a possibility of refreshments—and that was all. But the elevation, slight as it was, commanded a singularly bleak and sublime panoramic view. On all sides the eye overlooked great spaces of sailless sea or barren shore, until, fifty miles away, ranges of dark volcanic hills inclosed the horizon. The level evening sunshine fell coldly across the vast view, the wind blew sharp and keen from the north, and with every allowance for the tough constitutions of the Icelandic people, I could not see how much festivity was to be extracted from the place, time and temperature.

A PUBLIC POPULAR LECTURE WILL BE DELIVERED BY PROFESSOR EDWARD S. FRANKS,
Consulting Optician, Oculist and Aurist of the Royal Eye and Ear Infirmary of Manchester, Lancashire, England.

Inventor and Patentee of the Important Improvements in Spectacles.
Will Lecture on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Human Eye; and on the

USE AND ABUSE OF SPECTACLES.
The Lecture will be illustrated by large colored Diagrams, Models, Natural and Artificial Eyes, etc.

Dr. Franks lectures to disseminate useful knowledge, to introduce himself, and his uniform focus Spectacle Lenses to the inhabitants of this Town, knowing how wide a field there is in Ontario for the professional services of a well skilled optician, in this much abused and neglected branch of science (the correct adaptation of spectacles to defective vision). The dealers in spectacles, generally being merely merchants, entirely unacquainted with the formation, and functions of the Human Eye, its diseases, the peculiar construction of different Lenses, or their individual relation to the needs of optically impaired Spectacles, or their individual relation to the Nerves of Sight, therefore are unable to advise in the selection of Spectacles, and are equally ignorant of the principles governing their scientific adjustment, points most required by the patient.

THE SOUTHERN EXTENSION.—A deputation of prominent men, representing the people along the line of the Southern extension of the Wellington, Grey, and Bruce section arrived at Hamilton on Tuesday night on business connected with that road. Among the deputation were Messrs. H. Baird, Warden of Bruce; W. T. Lett, of Wingham; John Misaner, of Bluevale; Thos. Strachan, Reeve of Gray; John Leckie, Brussels; E. C. Davies, and D. Campbell, Lindsay. These gentlemen first interviewed the Board of Trade, and desired to know why the southern extension of the line was not yet opened. The promoters of the scheme were living in a hot bed of indignation from the people on account of the non-opening of that part of the line by the directors. The deputation talked in very severe terms. A resolution was passed to the effect that the Board of Trade would co-operate with the W. G. and B. Board and secure an early opening of the extension, and would send a cable despatch to the old country in regard to the matter. The deputation will meet the W. G. and B. Board this (Wednesday) afternoon.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London. See article in Cassell's Household Guide.

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is the favorite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.—Christian Press.

Special Notices.

THE RECENT CASE OF DEATH by strychnine poisoning from taking STRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, readers great caution necessary not to confound Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of PHOSPHATES and Calceya with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are capable of injurious results at any period from infancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and no more harm can result from taking more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner.
