—R. Morningstar.

The annual congregational meeting and supper of the Methodist church was held in the school room on Wednesday evening of last week and was very largely attended.

The reports of the various organizations and departments were very encouraging and the greetings conveyed in speeches by representatives from Zion congregation and other visitors were much enjoyed. The supper was one of the most appetizing and both young and old enjoyed the whole evening to the full. The pastor, Rev. A. C. Tiffin, presided. The affairs of the congregation were reported to be in a most encouraging state. This church reduced its debt during the year by $500.00, besides paying just about $2200.00 to the Methodist National Campaign in the same period. All this together with the maintenance of the local church and the current connexional expenses give evidence of a united and enthusiastic congregation.

Get your papering done now! At P. Dodds & Son and a man to hang them if you wish.

She was born in 1843 and married to Mr. McKay in 1869.

When they moved to Warwick they lived on the Main road for ten years and afterwards moved to the farm where she died. She had been in poor health for sometime but her death was unexpected. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her departure five sons, John and William of Sarnia township; Thomas, Joseph and Ben of Warwick.

OBITUARY OF JOHN MAW, SR.

On April 4th another pioneer resident of this district was called to his reward in the person of Mr. John Maw, Wyoming, in his 88th year.

Mr. Maw was born in Sept., 1833 in Yorkshire, Eng. When but a young man he and his brother, Isaac, came to this country and settled near Toronto.

In 1859 he married Miss Rachel Rogers, who predeceased him about two years ago.

About fifty years ago they, with his brother and other families, moved to farms, then all bush, on the town-line south of the village. About twenty years ago he and his wife retired to Wyoming. During his residence on the farm Mr. Maw was a faithful adherent of the Methodist church, in politics a conservative.

He was a gentleman of the old school, courteous and considerate of the opinions of others and anxious to help along anything for the good of mankind in general. He loved a good joke. His outstanding characteristics were sincerity, sympathy and kindness. Thus did he exemplify the Good Shepherd.

During his life he made many friends by his kind deeds and genial disposition.

He leaves a grown up family. Mrs. Rawson, London, John, Harry and Mrs. Stonehouse, Wyoming; Mrs. Williams, Jas., of Petrolia; Newton of Sarnia.

On April 7th the impressive funeral service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Jewitt, assisted by Rev. Mr. Fry.

The casket, covered with floral tributes, followed by a large number of relatives and friends was born to its last resting place in Wyoming cemetery.

Among those from a distance were Mrs. Place, Mrs. Stevens, Detroit; Miss Maw, Mrs. Stewart, St. Clair; Mrs. Milton, Chatham; Mr. and Mrs. J. Maw, Mr. and Mrs. Stonehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Hendy, Sarnia, Mrs. Rawson and Mrs. Tye, London.

CHOP STUFF

Forest Bowlers have reorganized with R. Fred Douglas president and W. J. F. Ross secretary.

Sufficient stock has been subscribed for the Glencoe rink to warrant the directors proceeding with the erection.

Oscar Saunders, son of Albert Saunders, 10th line west, Enniskillen fractured an arm on Tuesday when he fell from a derrick.

An old safe in the office at the old Englehart farm was broken open on Thursday night but nothing of value was in it at the time.

Hannah Kemp, relict of the late James Kemp, of Theford, died on Wednesday last aged 76 years. Interment at Pinehill cemetery.

Woodstock doctors accuse prohibition advocates and workers of soliciting whiskey prescriptions, thus asking the doctors to break the law.

Port Lambton reports an unprecedented building activity along the St. Clair on the Canadian side. Summer cottagers are becoming numerous this year and new cottages are being erected.

Rev. Mr. Shepherd was inducted into the pastorate of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Parkhill, on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Wyoming, moderator of Sarnia Presbytery, conducted the services, in which Rev. Fintoul of Nairn, Rev. Aitkin of Center road, and Rev. Hatcliffe of Arkona, took part. A congregational supper was served in the schoolroom at the close of the service.

The development of the last three years have brought the sunflower to the front as one of the most satisfactory crops that can be grown for silo purposes. It has been proven by experiments and extensive private feeding trials that the sunflower yields well, the silage is palatable, and is at least equal, if not superior, pound for pound, to corn silage. Many comparisons made between corn silage of the best quality and sunflower silage have shown the balance of economy of gain in beef cattle and yield of milk in dairy cattle in favor of the sunflower. Russian Giant out-yields any other strain.

On Wednesday evening, April 13, the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Logan met at their home at Perch, the occasion being a farewell to their old friends and neighbors, who are going to make their home with their son, Joseph, at Blackwell. After order being called a well worded address was read by Samuel Bailey, while Robert Brown presented them with a beautiful leather upholstered rocker. Mr. Logan replied in a few well chosen words. The evening was spent in music and dancing. One of the main features of the evening was a clog dance by the host, who is nearly 80 years of age. After singing of Auld Lang Syne and many hearty cheers all dispersed to their homes.

URGED NOT TO DISBAND

Teumseh Chapter I.O.D.E. some months ago decided to disband and returned its Charter to the Provincial Chapter as required by Constitution.

Following is a copy of the letter which has been received by the chapter:—

"We have received at the National Head Office your Charter, through the Ontario Provincial Chapter, and they have asked us to hold it and not cancel it in the hope that Teumseh Chapter may reorganize.

I cannot tell you how sorry we are to receive your charter, as yours is one of the oldest chapters in the whole order, and we shall indeed be delighted if your members do reorganize and send for your charter again."

Conditions at the present time are such that our Order is needed to exert its influence in every part of the Empire.

An old Chapter such as yours is doubly important through having been so long established, and we ask you to urge your members to reconsider their decision and to stay in the Order so that a faithful and useful unit will not be lost.

With best wishes, and hoping we may be able to return your charter to you soon."

Yours sincerely,
MARGARET WISE,
National Secretary.

The Chapter has not decided to reorganize but plans are being made to hold an anniversary meeting in June, to which all former members will be invited.

VETERANS ATTEND CHURCH ON YPRES ANNIVERSARY

In honor of the day six years ago when the Canadian Corps won imperishable fame for Canada by an exhibition of prowess and courage on the field of battle equalling the best traditions of the British army, the veterans of Watford and vicinity celebrated the sixth anniversary of the second battle of Ypres by parading to Trinity Church on Sunday evening to thank God and take part in the service of prayer and praise arranged to mark the occasion.

There were two dozen Veterans present, among them men who took part and some who were wounded in the St. Julien engagement. The officers present were Major R. H. Stapleford, Capt. R. D. Swift and Sergt. Major Owens. All joined lustily in the service and listened attentively to the address given by the rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin, who took for his text the words "Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid." (St. Mark 6:50).

The speaker referred to the action of the Canadian troops at the front during that celebrated battle on April 23rd, 1915, when the soldiers of Canada filled in the breach and saved the day for the Allies. He showed that without God nothing can be accomplished. Science, education and money combined with self will bring disaster to any cause while God instead of self would conquer the world. Col. Kenward read the 108th Psalm, Mr. W. G. Connolly sang an appropriate solo "Let us praise the day for the Allies." He showed that without God nothing can be accomplished. THE FATEFUL YEARS FOR EVERY WOMAN

How to Overcome Troubles That Afflict Women Only.

So far as a woman's health is concerned, probably the most fateful years in her life are those between 45 and 50. Many women enter this period under depressing conditions, through overstrain in household cares, or a neglected condition of the blood, and so they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms at this time are headaches, pains in the back and sides, fever flushes, palpitation, dizziness and depression. It is well to know that these variations of health can be relieved by home treatment. What women stand in need of all their life, but never more so than in middle age, is rich, red blood. As a tonic for the blood and nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are always useful, but especially will they help women at this time. Among those who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. J. A. McDougall, Rhodena, N. S., who says: "I was greatly troubled with nervousness, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, and a generally run down condition. It was only with difficulty that I could do my work, and although I had been taking medicine for some time I did not improve. Finally a friend advised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a supply and began taking them. The result more than met my expectations, and I am feeling better than I have done for years, sleep well, eat well, and do my house work much more easily. In my case the pills certainly did what you claim for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

COMMUNITY CANNING AND LAUNDRY

"The advantages of a community canning centre" were explained recently by Mrs. M. C. Dawson of Parkhill, when she spoke before a union meeting of the various U. F. W. O. clubs of Oxford county, held in the Y.W.C.A., Woodstock. This meeting was largely attended.

Mrs. Dawson, who by the way, is editor and proprietor of the Parkhill Gazette, gave a most enthusiastic account of the manner in which the community canning centre at Parkhill is flourishing under the auspices of the Women's Institute. She reviewed its beginning in 1916, when it was started for Red Cross purposes. For the first two years all the products from this centre were sent overseas. Included in the last were fruit, vegetables and chicken, etc., all of which were donated. With the close of the war it was decided to use the equipment for the benefit of the home community, and so the canning centre was established. All the articles, said Mrs. Dawson, are cooked in steam jacketed retorts and ten pounds pressure of steam may be used. Enamel lined tin cans, which are automatically capped by a capping machine, are used. The cost is placed at 10 cents a can plus 3 cents a can for cooking, with the customer supplying her own goods. All the work in connection with the preparation of the goods is done at the centre and thus the work in the home is considerably lessened.

To give an estimate of the business done last year, Mrs. Dawson said the expenses were $3,000, but there was a net profit of $600. Four hundred families availed themselves of the privileges of the centre, and in every way, she pointed out, the utmost satisfaction had been experienced. By having a common centre where the women could get together and do their work, a spirit of co-operation existed, which was most delightful. By having their canning done out of the home the mothers had more time to be with their children and to give more attention to other details which were crowded out by reason of the many duties she had to attend to.

The next step to be undertaken by the Parkhill women is the establishment of a community laundry, and Mrs. Dawson enlarged on the work that would be eliminated in the home if such were the case. As to establishing a community canning centre, Mrs. Dawson suggested to the women that they utilize the steam in any of the nearby butter and cheese factories. Mrs. Dawson predicted that in the near future other women would appreciate the necessity of one, and she hoped they would assert themselves to gain something which would help conserve their energy by eliminating unnecessary drudgery in the home.

COMPETITION OPEN TO YOUNG FARMERS

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is conducting the following competitions this year: Acre profit in oats and corn and feeding hogs for profit. The prize given to the winner in each competition is a two weeks' short course at Guelph. They may take two weeks' of any course held during January and February, 1922.

In the acre profit the prize is given to the contestant showing the highest net profit per acre. In the feeding hogs for profit, 50 points will be given for highest net profit per cwt of gain, 20 points for the best kept records, 20 points for highest gain in weight, except that for light and heavyhogs, two points will be deducted for every five pounds, or fraction of five pounds under 180 or over 230 pounds.

The acre profit competitions must be confined to a field of any size, but not less than one acre, except in the case of the oats, when the area under crop must be at least five acres. The agricultural representative will inspect the field and see that it is measured correctly.

Accurate account must be kept of all labor, cost of seed, fertilizer, etc. We will supply forms to all contestants on which to keep records.

Two witnesses should be on hand when the crops or pigs are weighed.

These competitions are open to young men under 30 years of age. Winners in previous competitions are not eligible to enter the same contest again.

Each contestant in the hog feeding must feed a pen of hogs containing no fewer than four. They must notify the local agricultural representative in advance when the hogs attain the age of six weeks. Hogs are to be weaned and weighed at six weeks of age and fed and cared for by the contestant. An accurate account should be kept of the kinds and amount of feed consumed during the feeding period. Garbage or refuse from the house must not be fed. The form supplied for recording details of the competition must be filled out to the satisfaction of the representative. Contestant must notify the representative three days before the hogs are to be finally weighed. Hogs may be finished any time within 26 weeks of age.

All reports must reach the office of the local agricultural representative not later than November 12.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through Change of Life and suffered for two years with headache, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results, and I also find it a very helpful Spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends, and am willing you should publish this."—Mrs. MANTHA W. LINDBAY, 810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

If you have warning symptoms such as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backache, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin taking the medicine at once. We know it will help you as it did Mrs. Lindsay.

What's a Guarantee?

Our idea of a guarantee is that the manufacturer who gives one—which hasn't any tags and loopholes—believes in his product.

So much so that he stands ready to make good any loss suffered by the purchaser through defective material or workmanship.

It's mainly because of the guarantee that goes with them that we are selling and recommending Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes."

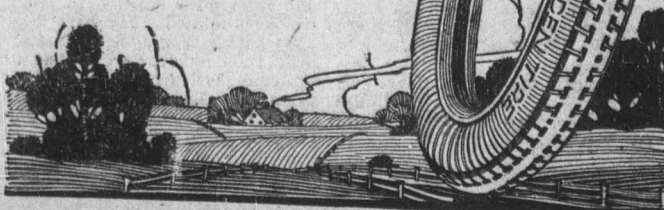

Of course, we know they give the cheapest mileage too—that they are dependable tires for any make of car, anywhere. But it's the guarantee that we talk about most. It's the straight and clean-cut, without time or mileage limits. It shifts our responsibility on to the manufacturer and he lives up to every letter of it. Come in and let us tell you about the guarantee that goes with

The Greatest Improvement In Riding Comfort Since the Introduction of Pneumatic Tires

HERE is a brand new type of car, built in Canada by Canadians, for Canadians. It solves the problem which has baffled automotive engineers—how to combine riding comfort with light weight and economy.

Our new Three-Point Cantilever Springs make this possible.

These are the first springs of their kind and they are made of chrome vanadium steel. They are exclusive with Overland.

Because of these springs, Overland 4 combines the riding qualities of large, heavy, expensive, long wheelbase cars, together with the advantages and economy of small, light cars.

With 100-inch wheelbase, Overland 4 has the luxurious riding ease of 130-inch Springbase.

The exclusive, Three-Point Cantilever Springs cushion the car so that it rides well on all roads: they reduce choppy rebounds and side swaying, protect the car from road shocks and prolong its life, minimize twisting or racking of frame and body, enable the car to hold the road better.

The car and passengers ride smoothly as though floating, free from road shocks.

But this new riding comfort, possible only with these Three-Point Cantilever Springs, is but one of the advantages of Overland 4.

Its light weight makes possible great economy of gasoline and tires.

High quality materials insure durability. All vital parts of the front axle and steering gear and all highly stressed driving gears and shafts are made of alloy steel.

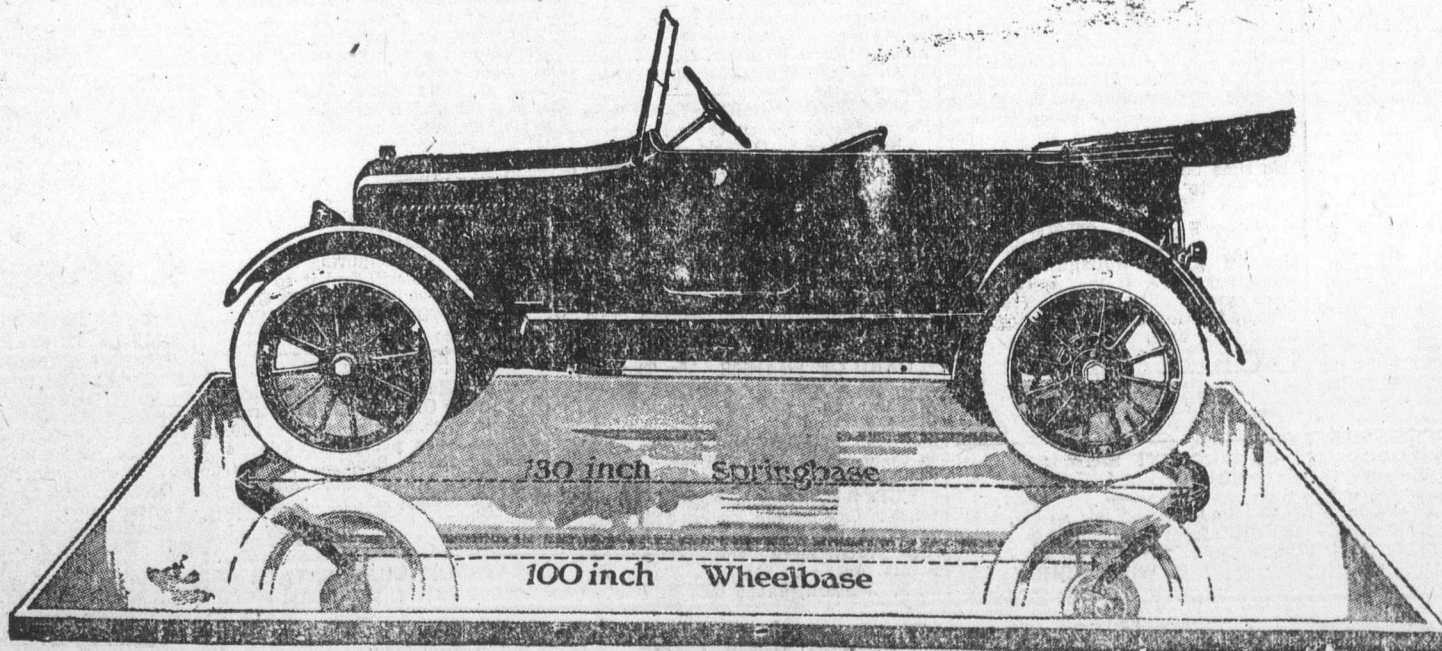

The equipment list of Overland 4 is like that of expensive cars: Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System, Electric Horn—Specially Resilient Upholstery Springs—Demountable Rims—Three Speed Transmission—Slanting Rain Vision Windshield—Tillotson Carburetor, and many other high quality conveniences.

In every respect Overland 4 is a quality car. The body is all steel, all enamel, the brightest, hardest, most lasting finish.

Overland 4 has been tested for two years and more than 250,000 miles over the Rocky Mountains, prairies, through deep mud and scorching deserts—through quick, sharp climatic changes. As a result of these tests we were able to judge the car's performance under every condition and to perfect it before offering it to the public.

There is no previous car of any size or price to adequately compare with the character of service Overland 4 introduces.

The farther you ride in it the more you will appreciate it. Come in and get a Booklet. The demand for Overland 4 will be greater than the supply for some time.

FAR AND NEAR

In the last seven years the number of civil servants at Ottawa has been increased by fifty per cent., or from 30,988 to 46,605.

Canada's first postage stamps were issued April 23rd, 1851, and bore the picture of the Beaver. The first issue comprised, a three-penny, a six-penny and a twelve-penny.

In London, Ont., four members of the Royal Mounted Police guard the offices of the Tax Collectors. The same precaution is being observed in other cities.

Stumbling into a vat of boiling dripping at her father's butcher shop London on Saturday evening, Phyllis Lankin suffered injuries that resulted in her death some hours later. The child was the three-year-old daughter of Lester Lankin.

In Brantford City Officials are reported to be planning for a move to close up all places where men and women gather, at 11 o'clock each night. This, they state, would not be confined to dances only, but to all social gatherings of a public nature where the two sexes meet.

John Bowman, 13-year-old Peachland boy, in trying to discover whether a shotgun cartridge would explode if hit with a stone, nearly lost his life. John is carrying shot in various part of his body as a result of his experiment, though fortunately none in a vital place.

In the millions of dollars being spent on Good Roads the Inspectors should see for a certainty that good roads are secured. It is a easy matter to squander good coin, at a lively rate and have nothing to show for it in the end. Permanency should characterize public expenditure and "stop" work should be cut short with emphasis.

The Bureau of Municipal Affairs has issued a bulletin of municipal statistics for 1919 and population for 1920. There are 555 townships 148 villages, 139 towns, 24 cities, and 38 counties in the province, making a total of 940, being an increase of five per cent. in ten years. The assessed value of the Province is $2,131,666,300. The total taxes imposed for municipal purposes is 1919 was $43,607,652, and for schools $18,361,838.

At the annual convention of the Canada Conference and Evangelical Association held at Stratford last week the following resolutions were passed:—"That we regard with alarm the ever-increasing use of tobacco, especially by the young, on account of the waste and its evil effects physically, and spiritually, and we urge the importance of an educational campaign based on scientific facts regarding tobacco, together with pledge-signing against its use."

How a 13-year-old boy made $211 clear profit per acre on potato growing was told in the annual report of a growing contest for boys in Carleton and Russell counties, presented at a meeting at Ottawa on Saturday of last week. Last year Willie Meredith, the boy in question, took away second prize. This year he came back with an average of 490 bushels of tubers to the acre, and his clear profit was the amount named. The second prize winner this year averaged 448 bushels to the acre, and the third boy grew 150 bushels to the acre.

Insurance agents who until recently paid a license fee of $3.00 to the Government for the privilege of writing up insurance policies are now compelled to pay a separate license of $3 for the different kinds of insurance. An agent handling fire, life, automobile and casualty insurance will now pay $12.00 for the license which heretofore he paid only $3 for the lot. Where the agency is under a firm name each member of the firm is required to take out a separate license, while previous to this recent provincial enactment one license would suffice.

The Pons-Wennecke comet which is to make its re-appearance soon may be discovered by the astronomers next month, and be generally observable in June. It is named after the men who first located and made observations of it. This is the comet that some ways have said may collide with the earth and a good deal of fun has been made out of the possibilities of future happenings. That humor of this kind sometimes works in queer directions is illustrated by the seriousness with which many people have regarded the statements of these practical jokers. There are a number of people who are willing to believe that only by a miracle of nature can the earth avoid a disastrous bump.

The state of Michigan is in the position of having a valuable stock of confiscated liquor on hand for which it can find no sale. In other places confiscated liquor is sold to druggists who have licenses to handle it for medicinal purposes; but in Detroit the druggists say it does not pay. A member of the liquor committee of the state legislature is authority for the statement that of more than 500 druggists in Detroit, only four have taken out licenses. They claim that liquor is so easily obtained in the city that there is little demand upon the druggists. Even when doctors do prescribe liquor the patients prefer going where they can get it by the quart instead of by the ounce. It is estimated that the Michigan state authorities have 100,000 quarts of good liquor on hand, which they are unable to dispose of. Of course, good liquor will improve with age.

New York Times.—The 1st of May is drawing near. Germany's past record leads to the fear that there will be a new German proposal late in the afternoon of April 30, intended only for discussion and delay. The French are not in a mood to wait much longer. Whatever counter-proposals Germany has in mind must this time be made in good time, if they are to be seriously considered in Paris. The Germans have had opportunity after opportunity to settle the indemnity question by showing a real willingness to pay what they owe. If they suffer from the French application of force next month, the fault will be almost entirely their own.

Query 1—Why does a cup of tea loosen up a woman's tongue?

Query 2—When listening to a roomful of women talking (all at once) would you recognize the English language?

The social event of the month in Kerwood was the Women's Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Pollock, Wednesday afternoon, April 20th. The house was tastefully decorated with tulips. There was an unusually large attendance of members and their friends, and many spring frocks were in evidence. We were pleased to have with us on this occasion our District President, Mrs. Douglas, of Strathroy, also Mrs. Dunn and Miss Thompson, of Strathroy. We had hoped to have Miss Morton with us for a talk on Hospital work but her duties interfered, so we had to forego that pleasure. The business part of the meeting was soon disposed of and Mrs. Douglas was called on for an address and her earnest helpful talk thoroughly enjoyed, and note was made of some good hints from other Institutes for our own work. We feel much indebted to Mrs. Douglas for this visit in Miss Morton's absence. Mrs. Douglas spoke of the hospital needs both for the present and future. Mrs. Frank Mills was then called to listen to an address given by Mrs. Brunt conveying to her our regret that she was leaving our midst. Mrs. Mills was one of the organizers of the Kerwood Institute and has always been a most faithful member ever ready with both time and talent. As a slight token of our esteem and goodwill we asked her to accept a serving tray, not that we were suggesting an invitation to come and be served, but that we wished her to have something tangible to often bring to her remembrance the many friends in Kerwood who appreciated her work. In response Mrs. Mills left no doubt in our minds about not being forgotten and wherever her home might be she would always welcome her Kerwood friends. The lunch committee then served Special tea, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Mills' tray was passed around to receive the offering for the Strathroy Hospital and we now have seventeen dollars and thirty cents to devote to some hospital need.

Durnig a severe electrical storm recently, our Strathroy shop was struck, setting fire to the shingle roof. Some of our shop employees living in the neighborhood discovered the fire as it was gaining alarming headway and by climbing up through the attic and out on the roof with chemical fire extinguishers, which we always keep handy in our shops, were able to check the flames before the town fire department arrived. One of the boys ruined a suit of clothes while fighting the blaze but the owners of the property jeopardized by the fire will gladly make good his loss and are very thankful it was no worse.

A few visitors from Strathroy called at our office the other day having motored from their town here. On inquiring how the roads were we received this answer. "The roads were fine until we hit your Front street and I guess we would have been coming yet if we hadn't been pulled through it."

I never was much of a hand to tell stories interestingly but when I heard one of the girls say, "This will be in the Guide next week." I says to myself, says I, Yes, Sir, and I myself will see that it gets there if I can't get anyone but Jermima to help me write it down,—so here it is, here's the whole story:—Once upon a time,—No, 'twas a rainy day in April, the rain was falling fast, the boys and girls were going home for it was twelve past. The office staff they lingered still, they knew the rain might easily kill, no umbrellas had they nor rubbers on, and some of course had their very best gown. They waited there till ten minutes past and had quite decided they would fast, when one bright chap suggested a car for really to walk it was too far. So he went up to the telephone and called a bus in an undertone. "As soon as you can please, Thank you, man, for here we are, not one bite on hand." They waited patiently about until at last they heard a shout. They looked around, behold! their man, but where was his Ford (his new Tin Can). He shouted hard "Hey boys, come here I cannot come to you I fear, my car is sinking in the mud, I cannot budge it with any thud. Walk up that far and we shall see when our forces all combined be if we can move it from that clay, we'll then go rejoicing on our way." So out the office staff were forced to go, walk down that lane, 'twas a worth while show. They went to the corner and looked at the car and there it was sunk in the mire. The girls stood aghast, the boys looked perplexed. They all watched the driver who seemed sorely vexed. Clean shoes were forgotten, the boys took a hold. They pushed and worked like warriors bold. Time passed on, terra firma was found, one more gentle push and "Lizzie" turned round. All aboard, cried the driver, "we're all ready now," so in they hurried and got seated somehow. Their shoes were well laden, their clothes dripping wet. Their brows deeply furrowed and showed signs of sweat. They ended home safely at twelve thirty-three and thus ended the fun for Jermima and me.

In Memoriam

SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF MY COMRADES WHO FELL IN THE GREAT WAR

Chapter 1

"Carry the word to my sisters—
To the Queens of the East and the South.
I have proven faith in the Heritage
By more than word of mouth.
They that are wise may follow
Ere the World's war trumpet blows
But I—I am first in the battle;
Said our Lady of the Snows."

Yes, I shall never forget, that day in August, 1914, when we marched to the station at Watford to entrain for Valcartier Camp—the assembly camp of Canada's first contingent of men destined to take part in the world war, and there were others came after, and—Glory be to God for those others as well.
They were happy days we spent at Valcartier before we started on the rest of our journey, and it was while at this camp that the first incident in the story which I have to tell took place.

It was the second night I think after we had got settled in our tent; and the bed time hour, but there seemed to be a feeling of uneasiness prevailing among the lads. Suddenly something that one of them was fingering caught my eye, in an instant the reason of the uneasiness dawned upon me. The lad was playing nervously with a pocket Bible and there was something in his eyes that looked like an appeal for help.

I did not ignore this appeal for help, but instantly rapped out the words:
"Read it, man, and read it aloud if you like; I am going to read too."
And so by this came a story perhaps an old story; but ever new. He had promised his poor old father, (his mother had long since passed away) that he would read a little from the Word of God at night ere he slept.

And come to find out he was not the only one, and those who had not made any promise agreed that it was good.
The matter did not rest there but every night while at that camp before we retired for the night they would sing a hymn or two; and would take it in turns to read from the Scriptures and then altogether would say:
"Our Father, who art in heaven;... Amen."

Chapter 2

"Hope and be undismayed."
Then the time came to sail away on the second part of our journey; and for a time the party got separated. I happened to be sharing a cabin on the ship with a young man whom I learned in the course of conversation with him, regarded his life as having been an absolute failure, and he seemed to be convinced that there was nothing worth while for him to live for, and he thought that by going to the front he would be helping out a little and anyway would not be missed if he were killed which he thought he would be. He seemed to have lost all hope and hard and long was the task of convincing him that he was not a hopeless case, and when he at last realized there was still hope and life began to look brighter, he went at the job in hand as if he meant it and was a fine soldier.

After a rather long sea voyage we arrived at our camp in the Old Country, where we stayed a short while before going to the trenches; and once again the party was able to gather in the tent for the evensongs and readings as before, and what satisfaction must have come to the party when one night just at the close of the evening, a head was thrust through the tent door and some one of our comrades from another part of the camp said:

"Well lads, that was good and it did me good and I am glad I had the chance to listen." Surely those evenings were worth while if only for that.

Reach out to your brother
A strong, loving hand;
In life's weary battle
Twill help him to stand.
A balm for a heartache,
A smile for a tear;
Reach out to your Brother
A hand full of cheer.

Chapter III

"Beneath the camp fires gleaming, Lies a little boy called 'Taps.'"

The time seemed to move rather slowly, as that was a very bad fall and winter in England and it rained almost incessantly which made it very uncomfortable. However, the day came when we crossed the channel and came to the place we started out for, the front line, and I will remember how that our first trip in the line we went in with other regiments who had been in for some time and had experience, and it was on this, our first trip in, that we lost our Bugler, a little fellow and whom I believe our neighbors across the border call Taps. We buried him where he fell.

After a couple of days in the line with Old Country regiments we moved further on to a place where we were to take over the line ourselves and I remember the night we marched up to occupy the trenches, as we drew near to the trenches a cloud moved over the exact shape of a Maple Leaf, and as we moved up the cloud moved with us, this was looked upon as a good omen by all who saw it.

It was while occupying these trenches that something of the beauty of nature was revealed. There stood in No Man's Land what was left of a tree, a long stump with an arm sticking out, it of course having been wrecked by shell fire, and yet amidst all the carnage and the noise of war, every morning a thrush would come and perch on that stump and warble forth his song of thanks to Him who marks the fall even of the little bird and we much enjoyed the visit of the thrush I can assure you. It was here that we lost our first officer, he was shot dead instantly, and I believe was the first officer killed in the Canadian Forces.

A mighty good fellow, too. Well, having spent some time here, including a big battle period, we were ordered to move to another part of the line and I remember as we approached this new part of the line the scene was already full of signs of human distress, there were women crying and men whose pale faces betokened misery, passing by and some went by in wagons and all carrying what was left of their possessions with them. They were fleeing from the homesteads which were being obliterated by enemy shell fire, and from the wrath to come.

And as the troops marched along they sang, yes, the old songs and the new, but as they neared the little village, close by which they would halt, there rang out this song:
"The Son of God goes forth to war,
A kingly crown to gain;
His blood red Banner streams afar,
Who follows in his train."
A glorious band the chosen few,
On whom the spirit came,
Twelve valiant sons there hope they knew.

And mocked the cross and shame.
They braved the tyrants brandished spear,
The lions gory mane;
They bowed their necks the death to feel.
Who follows in their train."

Chapter IV

"Come read to me some poem,
Some simple and heartfelt lay,
That shall sooth this restless feeling,
And banish the thoughts of day.
And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day,
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."

Chapter V

"Lead kindly light, Amid the encircling gloom, Lead thou me on;
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent till
The night is gone."
There is no doubt that a feeling of loneliness must come to one who is passing away on a comfortable bed surrounded by loved ones, but I fancy it would be as nothing compared with that of one lying on the field of battle and his life blood oozing fast away. All around him nothing but death and destruction, pools of blood and an awful stench and covered by an absolute loneliness and the knowledge that he is far away from all he loved so dear. Oh how slow must seem the moments to one who lays waiting for the life blood to flow away.

I shall never forget one night as we moved up to the trenches, we were passing through a communication trench, and laying on one side was the body of a young lad terribly injured, and it looked as if just before he died he had managed to crawl there in a last desire for protection. He was young, it was clear, and I fancy must have raised his age in order to serve his country, but you will forgive him for that. It gave one a sad feeling at heart, as they thought of some one far away who must be thinking of their boy, yet not knowing that he lay there cold in death, and the picture came to me of what his last moments must have learned to love this big rough fellow, his mother for one, she was his emblem of purity, his guardian angel and guiding star, and even as I watched the tears come to his eyes as he talked of her, I knew that he fought many a hard battle within himself as to whether it was worth the sacrifice of leaving her he loved so dearly to join in the struggle against the would-be oppressor. I remember well his final words as he spoke of her.

"Siddy," he said, "It's got to be done. Pray God that we gain the victory."
Shortly after he fell mortally wounded. He was hit by shrapnel as he stood hurling defiance in all the language he knew at the whole lot of them.

Chapter V
"Lead kindly light, Amid the encircling gloom, Lead thou me on;
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent till
The night is gone."

There is no doubt that a feeling of loneliness must come to one who is passing away on a comfortable bed surrounded by loved ones, but I fancy it would be as nothing compared with that of one lying on the field of battle and his life blood oozing fast away. All around him nothing but death and destruction, pools of blood and an awful stench and covered by an absolute loneliness and the knowledge that he is far away from all he loved so dear. Oh how slow must seem the moments to one who lays waiting for the life blood to flow away.

I shall never forget one night as we moved up to the trenches, we were passing through a communication trench, and laying on one side was the body of a young lad terribly injured, and it looked as if just before he died he had managed to crawl there in a last desire for protection. He was young, it was clear, and I fancy must have raised his age in order to serve his country, but you will forgive him for that. It gave one a sad feeling at heart, as they thought of some one far away who must be thinking of their boy, yet not knowing that he lay there cold in death, and the picture came to me of what his last moments must have been. The cry of anguish as his soul cried out to the Master.

"Jesus Savior, I have given all for them, no I have not been all I should have been in my short life, but I have given all for them even as you did for me."
And I fancy then I hear the Master say,
"Yes, Laddie, I died for you and behold me now alive forever more. Come and I will give thee the Crown of Life, and thou shalt live forever more."

"And with the morn, those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since and lost awhile,
Lead thou me on."

Help Save the Home!

TO PRINCIPALS AND TEACHERS, SCHOLARS AND PARENTS:—

We will send "Home Inspection Blanks" to the teaching staff throughout Ontario for distribution among their pupils.

As patriotic Canadians your sympathetic co-operation is sought in the important work of conserving the lives and property of our people from destruction by fire.

The inspection is planned to take place throughout the Province during the week of May 2nd. The primary object of this inspection is to draw attention to hazardous conditions in the homes and have the fire menace removed or corrected by the house holders.

The housing problem makes the protection of dwellings of paramount importance.

CLEAN UP.

Prevent fires by removing the cause.

DEATH OF MRS. GEO. BERRY

The late Sarah Nickles, beloved wife of George Berry, who passed away at Camlachie on March 31st, was born in 1839, in the parish of Bishop's Nympton, Devonshire, Eng., where with her husband, they raised a family of twelve children, seven of whom are still living. Two sons died in infancy; one in 1897, in India, serving Queen and Country, and two daughters, who remained in England after their parents left their native land. Mr. and Mrs. Berry came to Canada to a home provided for them by their eldest sons and lived at Ravenswood, for six years, and then they moved to the 6th line of Plym-pton. After living there until three years ago, they moved to Camlachie to spend the rest of their days in peace and quietness. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, three daughters and four sons, Mrs. Richard Hosegard, of East Jordan, Mich., Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mary and Ernest, of London; Henry of the 6th line of Plympton; John of Sarnia township and Edwin at home. She was laid to rest in Wyoming cemetery on April 4th.

Some Sarnia physicians announce that they will not give liquor prescriptions to any patient not in bed sick.
Some people will now take to their bed on very slight provocation.

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION

Nothing is more common in childhood than indigestion. Nothing is more dangerous to proper growth, more weakening to the constitution or more likely to pave the way to dangerous disease. Fully nine-tenths of all the minor ills of childhood have their root in indigestion. There is no medicine for the little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets in relieving this trouble. They have proved of benefit in thousands of homes.
Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Lunette, Immaculee Conception, Que, writes:
"My baby was a great sufferer from indigestion, but the Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them."—Baby's Own Tablets

AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTION IN ONTARIO

From the grant of $1,000,000 made annually by the Dominion for agricultural instruction, the Province of Ontario receives $336,303 for the purposes contemplated. Of the latter amount, $115,000 was devoted in 1919-20 to the agricultural college and to the agricultural school and farm at Kemptonville, $126,000 to the agricultural representatives, and $40,000 to elementary agricultural education including household science and manual training as applied to work on the farm. The remaining $55,303 is used in various ways, such as demonstrations and instruction in vegetables growing, the encouragement of co-operation and instruction in marketing, the development of Women's Institute work, the extension of short courses, demonstrations with vegetables and hardy fruits in New Ontario, and in other ways, all tending to the advanc-ment of agriculture and improvements in rural life. How the progressive work coming within the province of the Act has been fostered is illustrated by the fact that while five years ago there were no live stock shipping clubs in the province, there are now three or four hundred; by the creation of egg circles and the extension of co-operation in the marketing, not only of eggs and poultry, but of many other farm products; by the extension of the agricultural representative system to practically every country in province; by the increase of agricultural co-operative associations, from 102 with a membership of 2,850 and a business turnover of $281,355 in 1914, to 329 associations with a membership of 15,123 and a business turnover of $5,278,106 in 1918; by the expenditure in five years from the grant of $691,313 on the Ontario Agricultural College and the Agricultural School Kemptonville; by the extension of short course teaching; by the development of school and home gardening; and by the greatly increased number of school fairs. In 1914, only 264 schools with 208 school and 56 home gardens qualified for grants, but five years later, 1,020 schools with 588 school and 432 home gardens qualified, while 1,500 public and separate schools conducted classes in agriculture and qualified for grants.
Also in 1919, 33 high schools had adopted agriculture as an optional subject as against only 11 in 1914.
In 1914, the number of schools in the province engaged in garden work was but 208. In 1918 it was 588, and in 1919, close upon 700. In 1909 there were only three school fairs held in the province; in 1919 there were 357, with 11,823 entries. It is estimated that only 250 people saw the first school fair with 58 children taking part, whereas in 1919, no fewer than 92,600 children and 107-590 adults attended the fairs.

UP-TO-DATE DISPLAYS OF MODISTE AND MILLINER ARE A DELIGHT TO THE EYE OF EVERY WOMAN

Outside of its unusual love story and the interest in its up-to-date problems of life, "The Inferior Sex" carries an especial appeal to women in the exquisite gowns displayed, its marvelous millinery creations, the beautiful settings and wonderful scenery. This picture, starring Mildred Harris Chaplin, the star charming, will be shown at the Lyceum, on Friday (tonight), April 29th.

Mildred Harris Chaplin appears in different scenes in more than a dozen different gowns, all of them the latest word in fashionable artistry. There are Paris creations as well as the finest work of the highest priced New York modistes.

Beautiful Scenery
Outdoor settings are taken along the western coast on the sea shore where the surf breaks at the foot of the lawns of the wonderful country estates. This scenery is unusually attractive and a delight to the eye.

Kind You Dream Of
Every one of them is of the texture and make that women dream of, and will be extremely anxious to see. Hats, gloves, hose, shoes and every article of women's apparel are matched in harmony and of the very latest mode.

Women in the supporting cast also are stunningly gowned, for this picture deals with the women of wealth and fashion and all are gowned according to the station in life they represent.

The settings are rich and of unusual beauty, the interior scenes being largely in the drawing rooms of the wealthy, ball rooms, beautiful conservatories, fashionable hotels and cafes and private yachts. Scenes were taken actually in homes of the wealthy and in the larger hotels, so that it is an exact representation rather than a simulated appearance, giving everyone an insight into the mode of life and homes of the exclusive set.

The ensemble forms a picture of a gorgeousness seldom seen on the screen.

"The Inferior Sex," is a story of a young society girl, who having married the man of her heart's desire, believes that the rest of her life will be one long honeymoon, but who wakes up after a few weeks of married life to find that her husband is more engrossed in business than he is in her charming self.

What she does to remedy this condition brings out with startling emphasis which is the inferior sex.

Water Supply Then and Now
From the ancient Egyptian water wheel to the modern automatic electric pump is a long stretch, but both of these pieces of machinery illustrate an institution which has had its existence throughout history wherever there has been any degree of civilization. The Egyptian along the Nile used the clumsy water wheel to lift water over the bank of the river and irrigate his fields. In small towns and cities the water supply consisted of a system of carriers who used pack animals bearing water bags made of skin. The Romans solved the matter of water supply by conducting the water for miles across the country in aqueducts.
Throughout history wherever men have established anything like a civilized community they have made an effort to organize and improve the matter of water supply.
On the Ontario farms this question of water supply has always been of great importance. The needs of live stock, of the household and frequently of irrigation have made it imperative to have a well developed water supply on the farm. Usually, of course, it comes from wells, and in the old days these wells were served by buckets placed on the end of long sweeps which constituted a very clumsy and inefficient method of drawing water from the well. Later came the old wooden hand pump which wasn't much better, and later still the iron pump and the wind mill. This last was the first application of power other than human to the pumping of water. On a great many Ontario farms all of these older methods have been supplanted by the automatic electric pump which works silently and efficiently twenty-four hours in the day. It draws water from the well and stores it under pressure in a tank from which it runs to faucets all over the house and barn. When a certain amount of water is drawn out of the tank the pump starts automatically and pumps in more water until the rising pressure stops it. Thus finally the whole matter of water supply has been taken off of the farmer's mind and turned over to that best of modern services, electricity.
And of course the same electricity which does the pumping, lights the house, does the milking, the sweeping, the washing, the churning, the separating and a hundred other farm tasks.
