CANADIANS MAKE PROGRESS TO THE NORTH OF CAMBRAI

Germans Put in a Pocket By French in Champagne

Only One Avenue of Escape, and This Is Threatened by Gen. Gouraud's and American Troops.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—General Gouraud's troops in Champagne this afternoon were only a thousand yards south of Monthois, from where they command a view of the valley of the Aire eastward toward Grand Pre.

Ten Thousand Turks Surrender In a Body

Including Elements Composing Turkish Garrison on Hedjaz Railway Between Amman and Maan.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—A Turkish force of 10,000 men has surrendered to the British in Palestine, according to an official statement made this evening.

FRENCH TROOPS MAKE PROGRESS

Advance on Front of Seven Miles Between Aisne and Vesle.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Between the Aisne and the Vesle rivers, French troops made important progress on a front about seven and a half miles, the air-office announces tonight.

The statement says: "In spite of enemy resistance we have captured Reillon, Roman and Contigny-sur-Vesle."

"We have taken Aure, and also the plateau and woods north of the village. We captured Marvaux, and our troops have been extended beyond Monthois."

"Italian units operating north of the Aisne have carried Soupir. Between the Aisne and Vesle our troops are making decided progress on a front of 12 kilometers."

SUBSTITUTES SOON TWENTY PER CENT.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Speaking to 60 Montreal bakers tonight in Auditorium Hall, Hugh Convery, provincial supervisor for Quebec for the Canada Food board, said that the board had a list of 11 Montreal bakers who had not conformed to the order of March 15 last to use 10 per cent. substitutes with wheat flour in making their bread.

SIX BATTLEFRONTS REPORT PROGRESS

Belgians Continue Gains Along Shore of North Sea.

BULGARIA GETS OUT Allies Fling Open Back Door to Invasion of Hungary.

New York, Sept. 30.—The Associated Press tonight issued the following: "Belgium is definitely out of the war, and Turkey, virtually cut off from communication with her allies and almost annihilated in Palestine, likely soon will be forced to sue for a cessation of hostilities against her."

Meanwhile the entire allied forces from Belgium to Verdun, on six battlefronts, are registering victory after victory over the Teutonic arms, and the enemy front almost everywhere is crumbling, notwithstanding the desperate resistance that is being offered on various sectors.

Seeing eventual defeat staring her in the face, the swift progress of the Serbian, Italian, British, Greek and French troops, in the reclaiming of Serbia and the invasion of Bulgaria territory, the Bulgars begged for an armistice reserving to themselves no conditions. All the territory held by King Ferdinand's men is to be evacuated. The Bulgarian army is to be immediately disbanded, and all means of transport inside the kingdom, even the Danube, is to be given over into allied hands."

Thus, in addition to the isolation of Turkey, the back door to a direct invasion of Austria-Hungary is being wide open to the allies, and doubtless the time is not far distant when advantage will be taken of the new avenue thru which the enemy can be reached. With the debacle in Serbia and the disintegration of the Hunarians in Albania soon will be put to the test, and when their evacuation to their own borders is accomplished, the allies will have an iron semi-circle across the central powers from the Black Sea to the Persian Gulf.

Viewing the situation in all its aspects, the success of the great offensive by the British, the cutting off of the German and Austria-Hungary, except by the long route thru the Caucasus mountains, and the steady gains being made by the allies in making Russia once more a factor in the European war, the Austro-Germans are in a desperate straits.

On all the sectors under attack from Flanders to the region of Verdun, the German line is gradually being broken under the violence of the attacks of the British, Americans, French and Belgians. In Belgium the advance of the troops of King Albert and of Field Marshal Haig, the fiercest and deepest, has been captured and the allied guns dominate the plains beyond, both Menin and Roulers. Important railroad junction points for the supply of the German armies north and south, are virtually in the hands of the British and Belgians and seemingly soon will fall.

More Hard Struggles From Cambrai to St. Quentin the British and Americans again have delivered successful blows against the German strong points all along the front, including the remaining portions of the old Hindenburg line. The Germans here are offering most strenuous resistance, and in counter-attacks compelled the British on one or two sectors to withdraw for slight distances. The British are in the process of cleaning up the Town of Cambrai, having penetrated its suburbs from the northwest and southwest. In the region of St. Quentin, where the Americans are fighting with the British, the old Hindenburg line has been cut and penetrated to a depth of three miles over a front of eight miles.

In conjunction with the operations of the French northeast of Soissons the Germans have begun the evacuation of the Chemin des Dames, and the French have declared war on the flight of the position. Likewise there is an inkling that the remaining positions held by him along the Vesle to Rheims.

In the Argonne forest everywhere are moving northward in unison. Already the British have gradually outflanked and apparently will soon be made a part of the main offensive. The heavy St. Mihiel sector the Americans are heavily bombarding enemy troop trains which are being hurried to the front.

TURKS TO OFFER PEACE. London, Sept. 30.—Strong belief exists here this afternoon that a peace offer from Turkey is imminent.

BULGARIA HAS CEASED TO BE A BELLIGERENT

Terms Imposed by Allies Mean Complete Military Surrender, Demobilization of Bulgarian Army and Surrender of All Means of Transportation.

LONDON, September 30.—The armistice concluded with Bulgaria by the entente allies is a purely military convention and contains no provisions of a political character.

Bulgaria agrees to evacuate all the territory she now occupies in Greece and Serbia, to demobilize her army immediately and surrender all means of transport to the allies.

Bulgaria also will surrender her boats and control of navigation on the Danube and concede to the allies free passage thru Bulgaria for the development of military operations.

All Bulgarian arms and ammunition are to be stored under the control of the allies, to whom is conceded the right to occupy all important strategic points.

The Associated Press learns that the military occupation of Bulgaria will be entrusted to British, French and Italian forces and the evacuated portions of Greece and Serbia respectively to Greek and Serbian troops.

The armistice means a complete military surrender and Bulgaria ceases to be a belligerent.

All questions of territorial rearrangement in the Balkans were purposely omitted from the convention.

The allies made no stipulation concerning King Ferdinand, his position being considered an internal matter—one for the Bulgarians themselves to deal with.

The armistice will remain in operation until a final general peace is concluded.

FLANDERS ADVANCE GOES ON STEADILY

Belgians and British Continue to Make Splendid Progress.

British Headquarters in France, Sept. 30.—The Belgians and British in Flanders continued to make splendid progress. German reinforcements, in the shape of two tired divisions, caused the progress to be a little slower, but it was not sufficient to arrest the general advance.

A heavy wet rain raged throughout the night, making communication with the battlefront rather difficult.

RETREAT FROM LADIES' WALK BY GERMANS IS EXTENDING

Mangin's Troops Continue to Advance, While Berthelot Attacks Another Place, Taking Hameau.

With the French Armies in Champagne, Sept. 30.—General Mangin's troops continued their advance this morning on the Chemin des Dames, while on the right General Berthelot attacked, crossing the Vesle River at Goulot farm. He took the Village of Le Grand Hameau and advanced nearly two miles north of Les Ventesux and reached the southern edge of the Village of Montigny. Berthelot's attack appears likely to derange the German plans and hasten the retreat of the enemy.

South of St. Quentin the enemy delivered fierce counter-attacks in a vain attempt to recapture Hill 85. The reaction on the front of General Gouraud's army was also very violent in the neighborhood of Sainte Marie-aux-Mines.

The diminished resistance in front of General Mangin's troops confirms the fact that the enemy is making a systematic retreat. This retreat, to which the Germans are endeavoring to give essential elasticity by vigorous intermittent defenses here and there, seems likely to extend. The rapid succession of heavy blows the allies have dealt from the sea to the Meuse have not only greatly shaken the Hindenburg line, but have brought the fighting at some points close enough to the secondary line of defense to make them look precarious.

Threatened at Cambrai and Le Cateau, this line may furnish a temporary solid support from the region of Sissonne to the valley of the Aire; but north of the Argonne, where it joins the Hindenburg line, the advance of General Gouraud's men, in liaison with the Americans, has given the Germans such worry that they are hurrying up reserves and counter-attacking with the greatest energy.

It is there that they may be expected to make their most desperate stand, to protect the eventual retreat of the forces to the west, and defend the Briey basin and the Meuse Gap, which is a vital route of communication for them. If they are unable to hold the line of the Meuse from their present position in the north, there seems likely to extend.

American Advance Delayed Till Forest is Cleared Out

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Sept. 30.—The Germans on the extreme left of the Argonne forest yesterday evening infiltrated thru the American lines in some places with machine guns and attempted to attack Perchings men from behind. The advance of the Americans consequently was delayed by the necessity of clearing out that portion of the forest.

British Take Crevecoeur, Cross the Scheldt Canal

London, Sept. 30.—British troops have crossed the Scheldt canal and captured Crevecoeur, south of Cambrai.

THE AUTOCRATIC KINGS ARE DEPARTING

Poor old Nicholas, the Czar of all the Russias, and his son, have gone, victims of German intrigues.

King Constantine of Greece abdicated his throne some months ago and took refuge in Germany.

Czar Ferdinand is ready to get away from Bulgaria and join his wife and daughters at Vienna.

The Sultan is likely to be next. The Kaiser and his sons, Karl of Austria and the Hapsburgs have yet to book reservations. But they're all on the toboggan.

The Unspeakable Turk.

The Turks are ready to throw Germany and Austria in order to save their miserable hides and stave off getting out of Europe, bag and baggage. But the Turk is next to the Kaiser in certainty of being tried as a bloody assassin. He will not be allowed to make a refuge in Asia Minor.

Is a Naval Fight Near?

The German fleet must come out and fight and take a very bare chance of some kind of momentary victory, or remain in their treat and be surrendered later. It looks as if they may come out. In any event, the submarine campaign is about to collapse. Events are moving forward toward a climax of surprising magnitude.

How Long Can Germany Fight Alone?

The Kaiser has lost Bulgaria as an ally and Turkey is likely to go next; then Austria. In that event can the Germans fight on? Yes, for a time; perhaps all the more desperately. But she's got to withdraw out of Belgium and France, and sooner or later withdraw from Russia, by reason of the advance of Japan and the allies toward Moscow by way of the Pacific. But the longer she fights the more certain will be the sweeping character of the internal revolution that is coming within her own proper borders. Let alone steady choking that the British, French, Americans and Italians will effect. In any case it's a certain drawing of the noose.

The Revolution in Germany.

As a matter of fact, the revolution has started in Germany. Von Hertling has resigned and the command of the navy is being shaken up. Her allies in the near east are deserting. There are all signs of a great internal flare up. The Kaiser is making a frantic appeal to his people to hold together when they see the pillars of the edifice crumbling.

CO-OPERATE WITH BRITISH, WHO CAPTURE THREE VILLAGES AND TAKE MANY PRISONERS.

London, Sept. 30.—British troops in the St. Quentin-Cambrai sector continued to advance today, despite heavy resistance, according to Field Marshal Haig in his report from British headquarters tonight. Among other villages they captured Thourgnay, Le Trounoy and Gonnelleux, taking many prisoners. The statement says:

"In spite of the unfavorable weather and strong hostile resistance, important progress has been made today on the St. Quentin-Cambrai battlefront."

"The first division south of Bellefleur resumed the attack this morning and gained the high ground about Thourgnay, capturing the village and the east end of the canal tunnel of Le Trounoy, taking many prisoners. Haig's joined the troops of the second division, who during the night carried the defence of the tunnel on the eastern side and captured Le Trounoy Village."

"Continuing its advance today, this latter division made progress on the high ground northeast of Trounoy and east of Nauroy."

High Ground Captured.

"On the left English and Australian troops attacked northward along the spur leading from Nauroy to Gouy, pressing their advance with great determination. The high ground about Gouy, they overcame the resistance of enemy forces and captured the high ground south of Gouy with many prisoners."

"Further north, English troops retook the village of Houdain, and far to the south of that village, before midday also they had taken Gonnelleux and reached the Scheldt, capturing the village from Vendhuile northward."

"The New Zealanders also cleared the west bank of the canal, far north as Crevecoeur. English troops have had hard fighting about Rumilly and north of the village, but have progressed and established themselves along the Rumilly-Cambrai road."

"North of Cambrai the enemy again resisted our advance, strongly employing considerable forces and counter-attacking frequently and violently. Canadians Make Progress."

"In spite of his efforts the Canadian troops again progressed in this neighborhood, capturing prisoners and inflicting heavy losses on the enemy."

Successful minor operations were carried out this morning. English troops advanced their line to the west bank of the Layes River between Neuve Chapelle and Plaincamps. At the same time progress was made by our troops southwest of Fleurbaix. Over fifty prisoners were captured in these enterprises."

URGES CONFISCATION OF GERMAN INDUSTRIES

A. Mitchell Palmer Would Root Enemy Capital Out of U. S. After War.

Baltimore, Sept. 30.—A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, in a Liberty Loan address here tonight, said that a law should be enacted by congress to confiscate the German-owned industrial plants in this country at the termination of the war, as well as the profits made by them.

"It would divorce utterly and forever all German capital from American industry," said Palmer. "I have watched these great enemy corporations under my management earn enormous profits owing out of the very war conditions for which their owners and their owners' friends in Germany are directly responsible, and I face the possibility of piling up these inordinate profits for distribution after the war to the very persons to whom under the circumstances it would be immoral and unconscionable for them to go. The government finds itself in a large organization at its own expense preserving property which was placed here originally as a hostile act, looking to the conquest of America."

PARLIAMENTARY RULE PLANNED IN GERMANY.

Amsterdam, Sept. 30.—The three majority parties in the Reichstag, at a meeting here arrived at an agreement looking to the formation of a parliamentary government with a responsible ministry, according to Berlin advices. This is to be accomplished in part by the abolition of article 9 in the constitution. Autonomy will be granted to Alsace-Lorraine.

GERMANS PUT IN A POCKET BY FRENCH IN CHAMPAGNE

Only One Avenue of Escape, and This Is Threatened by Gen. Gouraud's and American Troops.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—General Gouraud's troops in Champagne this afternoon were only a thousand yards south of Monthois, from where they command a view of the valley of the Aire eastward toward Grand Pre.

The advance of the French and Americans on both sides of the Argonne forest, therefore, appeared to have put the Germans into another pocket, from which the valley of the Aire is the only avenue of escape. Grand Pre and Vouziers each is distant only about seven miles from Monthois.

The Germans are accumulating obstacles on the ridge north of the River Fy, where the struggle is intense. The French troops have conquered some positions around the Village of Aure, which gives them a stronger hold on the western approaches to the defile of the Argonne in the valley of the Aire by way of Grand Pre.

TEN THOUSAND TURKS SURRENDER IN A BODY

Including Elements Composing Turkish Garrison on Hedjaz Railway Between Amman and Maan.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—A Turkish force of 10,000 men has surrendered to the British in Palestine, according to an official statement made this evening.

The text of the statement follows: "This force is said by its commander to number 10,000 men and to be a part of the second army corps of the fourth Turkish army."

"A large Turkish force, including elements composing the Turkish garrison on the Hedjaz railway between Amman and Maan, surrendered at Ziza station."

"The force is said by its commander to number 10,000 men and to be a part of the second army corps of the fourth Turkish army."

A MESSAGE TO FRANCE

Bids Representative Take Back Assurance That Canada Stands Strong.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—"Today may be a memorable day in the history of the world," declared the Duke of Devonshire, the governor-general of Canada, speaking at the Canadian Club luncheon today in reference to the news respecting Bulgaria.

Seven hundred members present endorsed his remark with hearty cheers. "Today we see for the first time the official announcement of, so far as one can gather, the unconditional surrender of one of the enemy powers. We have been waiting for it for a long time, but we have been waiting in the sure and certain hope that, with concentration and with the sole unity of purpose which has characterized the allies through the war, that that day was bound to come. (Cheers). We have never been depressed, even in the darkest days of adversity, but just as much as we have never been depressed so must we now at this moment be proud and thankful, as we are, for what has and what is being done from day to day. We must not be unduly elated at the primary success. We will all hope that what has taken place may be considered to be the beginning of the end. But we have got to realize that it is almost more for us at home than it is for those in the fighting line who realize in the fullest possible degree that far effort there must be still more determination and still more work thrown in until that permanent victory is assured."

A Message to France. The guest of the club today was Col. Reguin, at present attached to the French military mission at Washington. Referring to his presence, His Excellency said: "As the representative of His Majesty the King, I am voicing the true and genuine opinion of Canada as a whole when I ask Col. Reguin to take back with him to France the full assurance that Canada stands as strong, as true, as she did at the beginning of the war. (Cheers). Let me assure him that our promise that we would concentrate ourselves and should give everything that we possess in that great cause stands as true today as ever it did."

Concluding the Duke said: "It would only be presumptuous for me if I were to make anything like a forecast. It is dangerous to prophesy, but I can only hope that before the year comes to a conclusion we shall be able to look back with ever increasing pride and gratitude on the work which the year is going to give."

Pushing the Germans hard on the front north of the Aisne, the French have reached the Oise-Aisne canal, reports from the battle front show. They have progressed along the Chemin des Dames toward the east, and the enemy is retreating behind the Ailette.

The fall of Cambrai is imminent, but this place already is virtually useless to the enemy. The same statement applies to St. Quentin. With the fall of these two towns the enemy will be compelled to effect a complete readjustment of his entire line between the Scarpe and the Oise.

MUST DEAL STERNLY WITH KING FERDINAND

London, Sept. 30.—Sir Valentine Chirol, former foreign editor of The London Times, and a well-known publicist, in an article in The Times, warns the allies of the necessity of dealing sternly with King Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

"So long as we remember that our first duty is to our allies in the Balkan Peninsula," says Sir Valentine, "we can treat the Bulgarian people leniently; but in the interest of the Bulgarians themselves we cannot deal too sternly with the ruler whose sinister influence and example have blighted the fair promises Bulgaria held forth during the early years of her emancipation from the Turkish yoke."

"If ever there has been a ruler personally and directly responsible for having plunged his country into disaster it is Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and if it is one of the chief war aims of the allies to make the world safe against militarism and autocracy, Ferdinand, who is the living embodiment in the Balkan Peninsula of all that is worst in them, cannot be allowed to retain his throne."

TUESDAY MORNING, OCT. 1.

A New Fire Alarm.

For many years the firemen of Toronto have rendered extraordinary service to the city. They have done so under conditions surviving out of the dark ages of municipal history. They work six days a week for 24 hours a day, and the seventh day for 21 hours. Their pay is not equal to that of the police force.

It only needs to state these facts to a reasonable man to have him demand a reform. For four years of the war the firemen have contributed to the ranks about 100 of their comrades, and they have carried on with heavier labors and less assistance. They are now asking that they be given a little of the blessings of civilization and that they be not asked to work for more than 12 hours a day except in emergency.

To accomplish this it is proposed that the system now in use in 57 cities in the United States be adopted—what is known as the two-platoon system, a double shift-in fact, which will give the men an opportunity to cultivate a home life and develop a more human conception of civilization. Vancouver is adopting the system today. Hamilton will fall in line on the first of January, '20 should we.

It will require about 100 extra men to provide the extra staff required. Many of the experienced men who have left in recent years can be tempted back under the improved conditions, and the efficiency of the whole force will undoubtedly be enhanced. Had the two-platoon system been in force in the big fire, a fresh force could have been thrown into the fight and much of the destruction undoubtedly prevented.

The question of cost is not one that should be raised. If the reform is right it must be secured, and with the same determination that we have faced the cost of the war. It must not be said that we are willing to pay for better conditions in Europe, but not in Toronto. We do not think that the Hun spirit will make itself manifest in the city council to obstruct this necessary step forward.

The firemen have made their request in a reasonable and neighborly spirit, and it should be met. The war has shown us that we can change wrong ways into right ways if we have the will. This is an opportunity for improvement right at our own doors, and it must not be neglected.

Tonight at Massey Hall.

Unique and beyond all precedent in Toronto is the meeting to be held in Massey Hall tonight in support of the appeal being made for funds for the Catholic army huts at the front. It is not merely the erection of the huts or the contribution of money that is important, or that renders the occasion memorable, but the opportunity for fraternalization between the great sections of the Christian community which have too frequently stood on less cordial terms. The appeal thus made discloses the confidence which the Catholic hierarchy reposes in the breadth of view, the wide sympathies and the ample generosity of their Protestant brethren and the response should establish the sentiment that questions not a man's creed, but his need when help is required.

The Protestant community has not failed to respond to the confidence of appeal at the lists of the vice-presidents of the campaign committee, of the chairmen of sub-committees, and of the team captains sufficiently indicate. The governor-general, the lieutenant-governor and the premier of the province are patrons of the movement.

The object of tonight's meeting is to inaugurate the campaign which opens at six o'clock tomorrow morning, when the sum of $150,000 will be attacked and captured, it is expected, in much under the three days given to reach the objective.

Among the speakers will be Bishop Fallon, almost fresh from the front, Mr. Warburton of the Y.M.C.A., Mr. Sommerville and other orators. Col. Dinnick is putting his best efforts into the work of organization and Toronto an unusual opportunity to show Christian and charitable spirit by aiding the meeting a notable success.

Nobody is Going to Freeze if Everybody Saves Coal.

There is not a great deal of coal in Toronto, and there never has been on October first of any year. The movement of coal toward Toronto does not begin until after the close of navigation in mid-November. Heretofore no one worried over this phenomenon because not a great deal of coal was needed by the ordinary household until well into November. The householder who needed some coal in October ordered a ton and got it, satisfied that he could order more as he needed it later on. But just now everyone is anxious to lay in his entire winter's supply and there is not enough coal in the city to meet any such demand. The present acute situation will be relieved when the coal commences to come in by rail. Naturally, as long as navigation is open the bulk of the coal shipments in the middle west will be by water.

We will have for our use in Ontario just as much anthracite coal as the United States fuel controller allows us. He has made the allotment in a way which places Canada on an equality with the states of the American Union. We can ask nothing more. That allotment for the year is smaller than our allotment for last year. We will, therefore, have to skimp in order to make it hold out, but we can at least hope that the coming winter will not be as severe as the last.

There is probably not enough anthracite coal to go round, and we must put up with the comparative hardship of using some soft coal. The people of Ohio have to use soft coal together; the U. S. fuel controller will not allow them a single pound of anthracite. If they can get along without hard coal at all we should not be above using a little soft coal.

The government has sweeping powers of regulation and may exercise them should the coal hog become too aggressive, but it prefers to have the people save the situation by economy and co-operation. The ordinary household will have to get along with less coal than formerly. He will have to make the fuel he uses reach further. This, according to the fuel controller, can be done to some extent by increasing the humidity of the atmosphere in his home. A quart of water placed over the steam radiator daily will evaporate so as to add to the humidity of the atmosphere and make a room heated to 64 degrees as warm as a perfectly dry room heated to 72 degrees would be.

The provincial fuel administrators before long will begin a campaign of publicity and education. They will teach the people how to save coal and conserve heat so as to make our limited coal supply see us thru the coming winter. If the people co-operate we will have enough to avoid any severe privations or distress. Only by rigid economy can we get thru at all. We cannot by thinking, arguing or talking increase the supply of anthracite coal by one pound, and even using soft coal with the hard will produce no surplus. We will get thru the winter, but it is going to be a tight fit. Meanwhile the people want a square deal. They want the available coal equitably distributed. They do not want the powers that be to play favorites or let people suffer for want of coal merely because they happen to be humble and obscure. If the authorities give the people a fair deal and the people give authorities loyal support we will get thru.

Give Mr. Hanna a Chance.

The Winnipeg Tribune has little to say in praise of the new directorate of the National Railway system. It cannot see in F. P. Jones, the president of the Canada Cement Company, a friend of public ownership. E. R. Wood, it says, is a respectable man personally, but is associated in the public mind with the "Toronto Electric Ring." Mr. Riley escapes with faint praise, and Mr. Hamilton, the other western member, is credited with being the only advocate of public ownership. The Toronto Globe has criticized the personnel of the board, and other papers have given the new directorate only cold commendation.

Yet the Tribune has the sagacity to observe that:

The success of the National Railways will be determined mainly by the attitude and the energy of the executive head of the system, and of the officials who will collaborate with him in its actual operation.

The fact is we are coming more and more in this country to the American plan of placing great power in the hands of one man and holding him responsible. Congress and the people are giving Mr. Wilson a free hand in the war, and he must accept, as he has accepted, with that great power, a tremendous responsibility. Director-General McAdoo as the representative of the president is held responsible for the success or failure of the National Railway administration. He can hide behind no subordinate, can divide no responsibility. The people, thru their president, have given him a free hand and he must carry the burden of responsibility unaided.

In Canada we have placed Mr. Hanna at the head of the National Railway system. The people look to him to make good. Few of them could name one-third of the directorate of the Canadian Northern Railway system, but they know that Mr. Hanna is on the job and it is Mr. Hanna they will hold responsible. Let us therefore give Mr. Hanna a free hand and power commensurate with his great responsibility. Let him organize and run the railway system; let him truly nationalize the telegraph lines and the Canadian Northern express service; let him so aggressively compete with the Grand Trunk for business that the Grand Trunk will be glad to join the National system. If Mr. Hanna fails to make good, get another man in his place. We have every confidence, however, that he will be worthy of the great trust reposed in him. But at any rate we will not criticize or condemn him until he has had a fair chance. Instead of carping criticism about this or that member of the board of directors let us have constructive support for the president of the National Railway system.

In striking contrast with The Globe and Tribune is the attitude of The Kingston Whig, which says:

Anyone who knows D. B. Hanna, the president of the government-owned Canadian Northern Railway, and who will have greater mileage given his board at an early date, will highly congratulate the cabinet on its choice. He is a born railway manager, and Canada will have the benefit of the services of a man who will throw himself unreservedly into making the lines paying propositions.

Because of what The Whig has said and because of what we have already said, The World intends to give Mr. Hanna a chance.

Ida Writes About Street Car Service

BY IDA L. WEBSTER.

For the last couple of weeks we have been hearing about a lot of trouble for street car men and their troubles, but just what it was all about was over our head. There has been some of stuff printed which was supposed to have explained the entire matter, but as it was like trying to read Chinese without a guide, yesterday we discovered the whole thing, or rather, what we did.

In the first place, there are now about three-quarters of what used to be the regular street railway staff doing the work. The Toronto Street Railway Co. gets over that one stumbling block by having the men who do the work for them. We believe it, and particularly when one takes a slant at the wage scale.

Males of all ages and sizes who desire to become employees of the company must give two weeks of their time for leave, that is, it is supposed to take 14 days to learn the job, and while a man is enjoying that pastime he is not eligible for salary. Of course, when you come to think of it, that is a lot of time for a job, but then, there are some of us who do not find much pleasure in traveling around on a street car.

After the preliminary center has been gone thru the person in question is a full-fledged honest-to-goodness street conductor, and besides being allowed to carry a transfer punch, he gets the magnificent salary of 50 cents per hour. He does not, however, get the best of the job, and while a man is enjoying that pastime he is not eligible for salary. Of course, when you come to think of it, that is a lot of time for a job, but then, there are some of us who do not find much pleasure in traveling around on a street car.

All this time, or rather most of it, the man has been working on the night shift. Now you know that riding around on a night car is not the best of jobs, but they are kept at it just so long as their immediate "boss" considers it advisable. He works about ten hours a day; he gets a lot when he gets it, but he gets it just the same. He gets it just the same, he gets it just the same, he gets it just the same.

After all that the Toronto Street Railway Co. cannot understand why they should get men to work for them, and they do seem to be able to imagine why the men are dissatisfied. Yet they are willing to admit that they have carried more passengers this year than ever before in the history of the company. Unfortunately for the men, and most fortunately for the company, the men are under contract until spring to work for the present scale, so that so far as striking there is very little likelihood of that.

This rule was made by the war commission board, and it is exactly what should be done in this country. If the company itself cannot see their way clear to get men to work for them, the government should appoint a board and let them arrange the salaries, according to the dividends and the amount of food. It is to be hoped that a satisfactory arrangement will be reached when the company meet the city council, and the other high mugs in a couple of weeks' time.

THE WIFE

By JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER I.

Suddenly Ruth stood still. How did Arthur Mandel know Brian? She was sure they never had met, because she had asked Brian to call at the shop for her and so meet her employer, and he had refused, saying he didn't want to know him, not even to know what he looked like. How could she herself have told Mandel, as plainly as if she had spoken, that it was her husband who saw the day in Washington square, she had no idea. And that Mandel had taken pains to verify his suspicions, she would scarcely have believed. Why should he?

Ruth had no slightest idea that Arthur Mandel was becoming intensely interested in her. Community of interest, fondness for the same things, are good groundwork for closer relations. This she did not realize. And when added is the idea that the husband is enamored of another woman, that more natural than to try to make an impression. If one cares enough—and Arthur Mandel was beginning to care a great deal for Ruth Hackett.

From the day he had seen Brian Hackett and Mollie King together, a feeling that some time he might win Ruth for himself had possessed Arthur Mandel. But he was wise enough to realize Ruth's innate purity, a feeling that some time he might lose her altogether—even from the shop—if he gave his feeling for her expression.

That Mollie, artist and bohemian, had offered to help Brian pass the time because she pitied him for having married Ruth, was something that Mandel could, of course, know nothing of, or even conceive. Neither did he know that Mollie was something of a gossip, and that she was telling most people what she thought of Brian—that they would mostly say:

"What can anyone expect? His life goes on, and he leaves him alone. Why shouldn't he enjoy himself with another woman?"

A man's conscience is subtle. It is very elastic, especially as regards his love affairs. Brian's conscience was much like that of the majority of men. He was not a hypocrite. Ruth, while Mandel did not attempt to intrigue himself that he was not going to do all he could to win Ruth, he also blamed Brian for neglecting her.

Ruth thought often of Mandel's kindness to her. There was a sense of comfort when she thought of him. He had given her congenial work to do, and she had been doing for him. It—she had been doing for him. He had let her feel her worth to him in a business way, so that she felt she earned not what he paid her, but more. He had accurately appraised her abilities; and then had trusted her to do the work.

Naturally, Ruth was flattered when she thought of these things. How happy she would have been could she have met him. Brian had been doing for her. But as yet, he had shown no slightest interest in her work—as work. Perhaps it was because he was so busy that he could not find time to view it. It was a pity that she was in which she did—as a profession and an artistic one of which she was proud.

But now his relations with Mollie King, his extravagance in going to the most expensive places, were uppermost in her mind. Ruth was a strange contradiction. Nothing was so strange as that she had a man who had been held up to her as an example. One of her aunt's neighbors had such a husband, and they had lost their home, everything they owned, and the wife had died—people said of a broken heart, because of it.

Now that she would ever die of a broken heart, from the man she had married, she could take care of herself. But people had talked so terribly about old Mr. Lovelace. He had called him such awful names. And she remembered, with a shudder, that she had read a list of his creditors, and how much he owed them, in the county paper.

Perhaps Brian had made some extra money. That would explain it all. She would ask him, the very first thing, when he got home. The afternoon wore away. Ruth was very busy and she thought Brian for the time. But as soon as she reached home it all returned to her. Mollie—the restaurant—everything. She waited until they had finished dinner, then said:

"Now tell me where you dined while I was away. Did you discover any new places?"

"Yes, Mollie guided me to a little restaurant downtown. A sixty-cent dinner."

"Cheap enough. Where else did you go?"

"Oh, I ran around. I didn't go twice to the same place. It doesn't cost any more, and is more interesting."

"Did you take Miss King to these other places?" It was out. Ruth avoided looking at him when she asked the question, but glanced up when he hesitated to answer, and caught the flush that swept his face.

"Yes, I told you I wouldn't eat alone!"

Tomorrow—Brian Claims the Right to Take Mollie Out in Ruth's Absence.

NEW TAXATION BY AUSTRALIA

Treasurer, in Budget Statement, Says He Expects It to Produce $5,356,000.

INCREASE INCOME TAX

Penalty for Those Who Refuse to Contribute to War Loans.

Melbourne, Australia, (via London), Sept. 30.—Hon. William Alexander Watt, federal treasurer, in the course of his budget statement today, announced that new taxation would produce $5,356,000 sterling. The income tax would be increased 30 per cent; the land tax 20 per cent, and postage one half penny. Customs duties would be increased on the following items: Ales and spirits by five shillings a gallon; tobacco, by eight pence a pound.

The excise duties would be increased as follows: Beer five pence a gallon; spirits, seven shillings a gallon; tobacco, eight pence a pound.

It is expected that the additional customs and excise duties will yield $1,818,500, income tax $2,200,000, land tax $280,000, entertainments tax $275,000, postage $250,000.

Mr. Watt congratulated Australia on the generally healthy condition of its finance, production, trade and manufactures.

To the representatives in parliament Mr. Watt, in introducing the budget, said the receipts for the past year were $28,000,000; expenditure, $25,000,000; the total war expenditure to June 30, $184,000,000, of which $159,000,000 had been paid out of war loans.

Mr. Watt added that the federal war profits tax will remain in operation, but that a bill will be introduced to relieve new businesses. Persons refusing to contribute to the war loans will be liable to a penalty equal to twice the income tax. The penalty will not absolve the delinquent from contributing.

The government has passed a regulation prohibiting the use of the red flag except as a danger signal.

GREAT EXECUTION BY ALLIED GUNNERS

French and American Artillery Obtain Scores by Excellent Aim.

With the American Army North-west of Verdun, Sept. 30.—Reports of the excellent aim of the Franco-American artillerymen in the Meuse-Arnonne drive are coming in. Upon a hill used by the Germans as an observation post, which became a target for the American gunners, American reconnoitering parties found two German officers dead in a sitting position near a machine gun. Both had been killed by the concussion of a shell which struck close by. Their observation glasses were unsmudged. It was apparent the men had been killed instantly. Nearby a direct hit was scored on a .77 gun of which virtually nothing was left but the barrel.

American infantrymen also found three machine gun nests where heavy projectiles struck, demolishing the guns and killing five Germans.

At various places in the vicinity of German troops, Germans were found who had been killed while endeavoring to reach dugouts. Their comrades who succeeded in reaching the dugouts remained there until the Americans came up, and then surrendered.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

"Eyes of Youth" is an ingenious application of the episodic method by which the possible vicissitudes of experience are placed before the audience as they pass before the mind of the principal in the plot. In the present instance the authors, Max Sheridan and Charles Guerin, utilize the modern interest in occultism, and the medium of a Hindu with a crystal ball, to bring the audience to a point where the action of the play is held in suspense. The play was well put on at the Royal Alexandra last night and held the audience with its novelty, its dramatic intensity and its humor. There is nothing very subtle about the characters, and they merely serve as framework for the action of the piece. In the introduction Gina, played with the greatest effect by some real force in the second and third acts, demonstrates her ability as a budding cantatrice to an Italian opera. It is of her nature to become a training in Paris if she sign a contract for seven years. Her father is dead against it, her sister won't hear of it, but she tries to force her fate. In this dilemma a Hindu, described as a Yogi, comes into the house on the plea of selling jewelry. He stagers his exhibition in a manner entirely foreign to Yogi, who can go for a week without food and never notices the difference. In other respects the Yogi delivers the goods, expounds the law of karma with perfect accuracy, and offers Gina the opportunity to study her future in a crystal if her aspirations are pure. "Eyes of Youth" is a play that is ready to marry her. The stage exposition which follows is a school teacher and wait five years till he is ready to marry her. SHAKSPEAREAN DRAMA SEEN AT THE PRINCESS

John E. Kellard last night opened a week of Shakespearean repertoire at the Princess Theatre with a satisfying performance of "The Merchant of Venice." Mr. Kellard has made other visits to this city and has established for himself a reputation as a thoroughly conscientious actor, possessing a large measure of dramatic power and a sympathetic insight into the Shakespearean person role he assumes. His Shylock is a dignified figure at all times, and commands the respect and much of the sympathy of his audience through the play. Mr. Kellard's voice has the fine command of modulation and enunciation that is the mark of a distinguished actor, and his excellent elocution is one of the delights of the performance. In the scene where Jessica's loss is first discovered, his performance is particularly noteworthy. The Merchant of Venice is always interesting, no matter who plays it, and Mr. Kellard's acting gives his performance a special interest. He is particularly good in the scene where he is taken all in all by the Duke. "THEY DIED FOR US"

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." —Matt. 25:40.

No apology is needed for appealing to all creeds to support this work, which, while open to all, meets special needs of Catholic soldiers. To support it is not Charity—it is a duty.

But if it were Charity, shall Charity be judged either on earth or when a man stands before his Maker, by the race or color or creed of those to whom it is extended?

While the Huts are open to every soldier, we not only admit, but we urge, as one of the reasons for supporting them, that they give to Catholic soldiers help that no other source can provide to face the Hour of Trial—the "zero" hour.

Few soldiers are so calloused that at such moments they do not think of Life—and the Life after Death. And their valor is none the less because they realize that they may be called upon to pass through the Valley of the Shadow.

At such a time, and because each man wants to prepare for His Sacrificial Hour, in his own way, how can we deny to them (whatever their creed) the last rites of their faith—or refuse to contribute our money to their needs?

We owe it to the memory of those who have DIED for us to lighten the path of all those who LIVE and FIGHT for us.

When Canada calls its young manhood to service it makes no distinction of creed. And when we have the privilege of giving we should not let a prejudice, or a difference of religious opinion, blind us to the Greater Need.

Inasmuch as Catholics have always generously supported the Y.M.C.A.—a representative Protestant organization—in its work for our soldiers, we feel that it is reasonable that Protestant citizens, as well as Catholics, should give generously in support of the work carried on by the Catholic Army Huts in the service of soldiers.

While there are differences of opinion between Catholics and Protestants, there can be no difference of opinion in regard to supporting most enthusiastically any cause that will make easier the life of our soldiers, or minister to their spiritual needs.

Remember this, therefore, and give generously when you are asked to contribute.

Catholic Army Huts Campaign

The Work of the Catholic Army Huts Association is Under the Direction and Control of the British Imperial Military Authorities.

Facts About the Huts:

The Catholic Army Huts Association erect, equip and conduct Army Huts for Canadian soldiers, which serve the two-fold purpose of recreation huts for all soldiers, and chapels for Catholic soldiers. The work is under the direction and control of the British Imperial Military authorities.

The chapel huts are gathering centres where Catholic soldiers may receive the fortifying influence of their own faith. Welcome hostels are maintained in the City of London, where large numbers of Canadians are constantly on leave. Entertainments are held for the soldiers, at which refreshments and comforts are provided. Athletic supplies, graphophones, pianos and moving picture outfits are part of the equipment of every hut. There is a regular distribution of chocolates and other confections and magazines free of charge at the sing-songs and parties held in the Canadian Camp Hospitals. Special efforts are made to keep the boys in touch with their homes. Hot tea and coffee are distributed free to men coming from the trenches. Letterheads and envelopes are provided free to soldiers. Good, clean literature, newspapers, magazines and prayer books are furnished regularly without charge. A Central Information Bureau is maintained, and all possible statistics are there recorded, for the service of loved ones at home.

TANK BATTALION TO BE CARED FOR

Women's Canadian Club Decides to Take Them Under the Wing.

A large turn-out of the members of the Women's Canadian Club at the new Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, spoke of the enthusiasm for the interests of the Tank Battalion, which embraced an address by Professor Coleman of Toronto University, a collection of Canadian pictures or postcards to send to the men in hospitals overseas, and the distribution of Christmas stockings to be filled for the men of the Tank Battalion.

In her opening remarks, Helen MacMurchy, who presided, referred to the glorious war news of the month of September. She also explained that as the "Tank" were recruited from many points, and had no auxiliary, their cause had been taken up by the club. Seven hundred and fifty stockings will be filled for the men. Introducing the speaker, the chairman referred to the place the University of Toronto has in leadership, four of its professors having been members of the Royal Society, and in these four Professor Coleman has place.

"The Heart of Gaspé" was the subject of the address given by the professor, who had spent the summer in eastern Canada, where he had pursued his search along geological lines. The speaker explained how the mountains of Canada had arisen out of the sea by the joint action of the water and pressure from the land. The attention of the audience was directed to the Shick-Shocks of Gaspé, of which little had been recently heard, but which the professor had discovered to be rated on the geological map as 3798 feet high.

The trip in search of this range involved a "pole" voyage of 35 miles, which took two and a half days, and a two days' climb a la Alpine style on the back of the professor. When discovered that the mountains had been underrated, and are over 4000 feet in height.

The people of Gaspé, who are from the Channel Islands, English, Scotch and French-Canadian were then described. Fishing and farming on a small scale is their principal occupation. They were found to be very hospitable and courteous, and in most cases their French, when they spoke it, was much better than their English, according to the modest acknowledgment of the speaker. A fine white birch, which is one of the trees of the vicinity, is prepared and sent to Halifax, Scotland, from which the bark is wound the cotton used by the women of Canada. A vote of thanks on behalf of the meeting was offered by the chairman.

KIRBY RODEN OF Y.M.C.A. DIES FROM EXPOSURE

By the death on Monday of Kirby Roden, Central Y.M.C.A. has lost its newly appointed associate boys' work secretary. Mr. Roden's life was given for his country just as surely as if he had fallen in battle, as his death followed an operation brought on directly from exposure while engaged in the work of mine-sweeping. Before engaging in this perilous service Mr. Roden had spent a year at the Y.M.C.A. training college, Springfield, and proposed to spend his life in association work. His death has cut short a life with great promise of usefulness in the service. Mr. Roden's body goes to St. Catharines, his home town, for interment, where his death makes the first break in a family circle of twelve.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE AND STALYBRIDGE.

An association of former residents of the above districts is now being organized in Toronto, with the object of bringing joint action to bear on present-day problems, such as coal and industrial housing. Also to hold picnics, dances, soirees and other social intercourse in connection with Red Cross and general patriotic movements. It is estimated that upwards of 500 persons now resident in Toronto hail from the above districts, most of whom have many interests in common, and it is felt that much good may be accomplished for the public well, while the association would be a source of pleasure to those concerned. All interested should write at once for particulars to the provisional secretary, 91 Spruce Hill road.

INQUEST ADJOURNS.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

MOTHER'S DUTY

By DOROTHY DIX The World's Highest Paid Woman Writer.

I know a family in which there are four splendid young daughters. These girls are handsome, intelligent and attractive—the kind of girls who have hosts of friends and admirers if they were not afflicted with a soft, flabby, fat, mother who, figuratively speaking, stands in the doorway of their home and drives away all who would approach.

The mother doesn't care to be bothered with company. She dislikes the trouble of getting up an extra little dinner or supper for a guest. She is annoyed by the chatter and the noise of young folks, and she doesn't want the rigid little routine of her days disturbed.

Whenever the girls dare to bring friends home with them she makes things so unpleasant that the intruders never come again, and when her own daughter, figuratively speaking, stands in the doorway of their home and drives away all who would approach.

WAR VETERANS GETS BADGE OF HONOR.

W. H. Buckler, a former member of the 4th Queen's Own Hussars, who was in France in November, 1914, has received word from the British war office, thru Geo. H. Gustaf, secretary of the West Toronto G.W.V.A., that he is eligible for the 1914 star and has been listed as one of the recipients. The star and a nine-inch ribbon are being sent on.

WOMEN WITH CHILDREN ARE IN NEED OF WORK.

Conditions at the Government Employment Bureau show that women with children are in need of work. It is difficult to obtain employment, but desire non-resident high wages, and the elderly women desire light housework. The unveiling of a statue of Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Oct. 5, were among the other passengers.

WOOD AT TOO HIGH PRICE.

"Nothing doing" was the general reply of the Toronto secretaries of the G.W.V.A. yesterday relative to the purchase of large quantities of wood for fuel. The secretaries had met at the offices at the Carlton street club-house to consider an offer at practically $1.85 a cord to the consumer at his door. It was pointed out that the same case of wood (soft) was procurable by order from almost any dealer in Toronto. However, it was decided to refer the matter back to the various branches.

COAL CARDS FOR VETERANS.

Members of Riverdale G. W. V. A. have all received a "coal" card, asking for detailed information as to the amount of coal, size, color and quality on hand. It is hoped by this means to reach every needy one among the 1200 members. A "house" card is also being sent along the same lines.

TWO-CENT INCREASE IN CHEESE PRICES.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—The dairy produce commission announces that all cheese purchased from the factories after Monday, September 30, will be paid for at twenty-five cents per pound for No. 1 grade F. A. S. Montreal, being an advance of two cents per pound over the price paid since the beginning of the present season. When twenty-three cents was agreed upon in the spring it was understood that it was to cover the whole season, but in view of the general advance in the value of dairy products the commission felt justified in asking the British Ministry of Food to authorize a two-cent increase.

USE OF PLATINUM CUT.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Use of platinum in the manufacture of jewelry or for other non-essential purposes is prohibited after tomorrow by regulations issued tonight by the war industries board. No person, unless a manufacturer or dealer licensed by the board, may purchase or sell platinum, iridium or palladium or their compounds, or have in their possession more than 90 days after Oct. 1, more than one ounce of these metals.

SPANISH FLU RIFE AMONG SOLDIERS.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Reports received by Major-Gen. E. W. Wilson, G.O.C., today showed that the Spanish influenza epidemic at St. John's, Que., is still rife with a serious increase in the number of cases and three more deaths reported, while the epidemic among soldiers here has also shown a decided increase in regard to the number of cases. The situation at St. John's, the facts of which are stated to be mild, here has also shown a decided increase in regard to the number of cases. Today 150 cases are reported, with nine deaths and the three additional deaths being due to pneumonia.

Sunshine Furnace Efficiency

The test of furnace efficiency is the volume of heat it conserves for actual use, from the heat generated in burning your fuel.

There is a fixed volume of heat in every kind of fuel, whether it is wood, soft coal or anthracite.

The business of your furnace is to extract all the heat, which all furnaces do—and to conserve the maximum of it for use—which the Sunshine furnace does.

The Sunshine semi-steel firepot is built with airtight walls—not sloping to form and hold a non-conducting deposit of ashes. A very important point in furnace efficiency.

The grates of the Sunshine furnace are equal in area to the firepot, so that fresh oxygen—without which proper combustion is impossible—flows to every part of the fire all the time.

All air passages are exactly proportioned so that neither too much nor too little air passes over the radiators. There can be no superheated air, nor any under heated air, sent to the rooms above.

The doors, drafts and dampers are machined to fit snugly and to exclude heat-wasting air currents from the outside.

Engineering Service Free. McClary's own heating engineers are at your service when you buy a Sunshine Furnace, to give you free expert advice on your home-heating requirements. Write to the nearest McClary Branch and ask for particulars about this service. A booklet, "Comfort in the Home," makes clear all the things you want to know about furnaces and it is sent free on request.

CREAMERY BUTTER IS COMMANDEERED

Manufactures in Prairie and Central Provinces to Go to England. PROVISIONS OF ORDER Canadian Households Limited to Two Pounds Per Person Per Month.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—All creamery butter made in the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, between 30th day of September and the 31st day of November, 1915, both days inclusive, will be commandeered under the authority of an order-in-council passed Monday, the 30th September, 1915.

One half pound of butter or oleomargarine per month, per person, is the allowance in Great Britain. The order-in-council puts Canadian consumers on a creamery butter allowance of two pounds of butter per person per month, as compared with the half pound allowance in Great Britain.

For months Great Britain has been short of butter and her allies in the west have had to import from the United States. Food stuffs in Canada for export must be assembled at ocean wharves or at the ports of departure.

The principle of the common table for all forces fighting the Hun is the basis of the order-in-council limiting the consumption of creamery butter. Canadians will not have to go without butter, but they are now asked to eat less.

The provisions of the order-in-council are as follows: Manufacturers of creamery butter shall deliver all such butter made in the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec between the 30th September and 31st November, 1915, both days inclusive, to the designated warehouse at Montreal for the purpose of being distributed at the following prices: Grade No. 1, 45c per pound;
