$60,000 WORTH OF WORK DONE AT MONCTON AND THERE WAS NO CONTRACT

E. A. Wallberg, Montreal Contractor Makes Some Startling Statements in Reference to I. C. R. Contract—A Peculiar Way to Transact Public Business.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special)—Mr. E. A. Wallberg, of Montreal, who has frequently appeared before the public accounts committee during the past or three sessions, was again on the stand yesterday (this time to give an explanation of the sewerage and water works which he is putting in at Moncton in connection with the car repair shops of the I. C. R. The sewer is 2,800 feet long, and is constructed of concrete, 31.2 in diameter at a depth of 23 feet. The arrangement for carrying out the work was made by Mr. Mackenzie, engineer at Moncton, with Mr. Wallberg, and according to Mr. Mackenzie's admission at a former meeting, without the knowledge of Mr. Butler, the chief engineer. The conditions, which were entirely verbal were that Mr. Wallberg is to receive 15 per cent. over the actual cost of the work.

Mail, including several registered letters, was strewn about the floor but none taken. The cash till belonging to the store was broken open and a small quantity of money taken. FIRE IN FAMOUS BUILDING

Berlin, July 3.—Fire broke out in the Royal Opera House this afternoon, having caught from a plumber furnace being used in the fourth gallery. The roof of the building was soon blazing, but the firemen extinguished the flames before more than a part of the roof had been destroyed. While the damage was amounting to but a few thousand dollars, it is probable that the opera season, set for August 16, will be delayed. Immense crowds gathered in the evening express entrance in the night and is believed to be the burglar.

AN ARMED POSSE SCOURING WOODS OF VICTORIA COUNTY FOR NEW DENMARK MURDERER

countryman near New Denmark. He also wired J. J. Gallagher of Grand Falls, to attend the inquest on behalf of the crown. It is likely that the solicitor general will go to Grand Falls to attend the preliminary examination of the accused.

Up to noon today no word has been received here of the arrest of the murderer. (From the Daily Telegraph.) One man was shot to death last night and another was seriously wounded in a row, among Italians engaged on Grand Trunk Pacific construction work at New Denmark, Victoria County. Full particulars were not available last night but it is known the trouble arose about a woman.

A special message from Hartland (N.B.) to the Telegraph states: "Tonight about 11 o'clock a brutal murder took place near New Denmark when one Italian shot and killed another. The names of both the victim and the assassin are unknown, but they belong to the crew of Contractor McDonald of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The murder took place on the highway and was disclosed by the ringing shots of a revolver. The murdered man was found beside the road with a bullet hole in his head and another in his body. The assassin escaped and there is at present no knowledge of the direction in which he went."

Hon. L. P. Ferris, commissioner of the G.T.P. police, and Chief of Police Albin R. Foster, were at Edmundston tonight in connection with the murder of the contractor here. They said they were to start at once for the scene of the crime which is forty miles from Edmundston. Meanwhile, James Tibbitts, sheriff of Victoria County, was notified and organized a posse of constables to start from Grand Falls, which is eight miles from New Denmark, in an effort to run down the murderer. The officers feel confident that they will capture him.

"There was blood between the murderer and his victim over a young woman who belongs in the New Denmark region." A telephone message from Grand Falls to the Telegraph soon after the shooting told that one Italian had been killed and a second one seriously injured in the trouble and that there was a woman at the bottom of the affair which has ended so tragically. Few particulars reached Grand Falls, however. Coroner George Ryan, the deputy sheriff and a constable started from there on receipt of the news, to go to New Denmark. Communication with Attorney-General Hazen or Solicitor-General McLeod was also being sought.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

Washington, July 3.—(Special)—Tomorrow, July Fourth, is Killing Day in the United States. The ambulance corps has its annual parade. There is a general agitation in favor of postponing Decoration Day until after this celebration, on the ground that then there would be more graves to decorate. Patriotism comes high, but we must have it.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special)—Great satisfaction is expressed in Liberal circles at the triumph of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth over the opposition in the matter of the elections bill. The manner in which the minister bore himself while the opposition surgeons separated him from various parts of his political anatomy was heroic in its extreme. What was left of him was greeted with loud acclaim. The correspondents of the government papers rushed to the telegraph office to flash the news over the world that the government had once more won a great victory by giving the opposition what it wanted. When it wants more there will be another great government victory. Mr. Aylesworth remarked this morning that it was great fun to astonish a boxer by thrusting your face forcibly against his fist a few times.

Mr. Roy, president of the ill-fated institution in an even more serious position than he now occupies. In the so-called "black list," which had been presented to the finance department at Ottawa, as containing guarantee values were noted alleged to have been those of C. S. Roy, brother of Hon. It is now stated by the liquidators that the investigation has shown that some of these notes were the president's own, and that his brother's name had been substituted when they were presented to the Ottawa department.

The Midnight Guest by FRED M. WHITE

(Continued.) She could not hear a sound in the house. Doubtless Silva had retired long ago. Perhaps he was asleep by this time. As to the servants, they were probably not returning till an early hour in the morning. Vera calculated that the house was sufficiently far from London to make a return after the theatre impossible. She was not going to risk it. If Silva caught her attempting to escape she could only return to her room again. She changed her dress rapidly. In the pocket of her skirt she placed a box of matches and a night-light, which she found on the dresser. To get through the trap door was a matter of a moment. With the aid of a match she found the top of the iron ladder, and when she had let herself down she came at length, as she had expected, to the top of the servants' staircase. The house was absolutely quiet, and plunged in darkness. Vera crept down the stairs, and then she slid off the chain; the links clicked together with a noise that sounded in the girl's ears almost like a pistol shot. She turned the handle hurriedly. One moment more and she would be in the garden. The disappointment was swift and cruel. The door was locked, and the key was not there. Evidently this was no way of escape. After the first feeling of despair Vera shot the bolts back, and put up the chain once more. It was no use trying the back door, for that would probably be locked, and the key gone. The only possible exit was by way of one of the windows on the ground floor. But here again Vera was doomed to disappointment, for every door was fastened and every key had vanished. Vera blew out her night-light, and crept softly up the stairs again. She wondered if it were possible to open one of the bedroom windows and leap to the ground. Trembling in every limb she groped her way into one of the rooms, the door of which was open. Once more she ventured to strike a light. Here was a large table with paper and pens and ink. A strong current of air came in from somewhere; then Vera realized that one of the windows was open. There was a balcony beyond, and on to this she stepped, trying to measure with her eye the distance to the ground. But it was too dark for that. The risk was too great to take. It was like standing on the edge of a precipice. Vera drew back with a shudder. She really had not the courage for such a desperate venture. It would be far better for her to remain where she was until her friends came to her assistance. With this thought uppermost in her mind Vera turned back to the room again. A sudden gust of air from the open window extinguished the night-light. It was just as well, for almost at the same instant another door opened on the landing, and a shaft of brilliant light shot out. In its rays Vera could see Silva and another man who was a stranger to her. Silva appeared to be in high spirits. He was chatting gaily to his companion. "Now you know exactly what I want," he said. "You are to wait by the gate till two o'clock if necessary, and when those people come along, you are to give me the signal. If they don't come by two o'clock, then we can conclude that something has interfered with their plans, and the thing has been postponed." "Oh, I'll do what you want," the other man said hoarsely. "I'll see that you do." Silva went on. "I suppose those fools thought they were to come here, they will be pretty sure of a welcome. And now I will just come and let you out, and fasten the door behind you. It will be fun to sit

Senator Perley thinks the outlook for the Conservative party all over Canada is bright. In the west, he says, many who have voted the Liberal ticket all their lives are becoming disgusted and will go over to the Conservatives. He found the same thing to be true in both the provinces he has just visited. The people, he added, are getting tired of the rule of the present government and disgusted with the flagrant immorality of some of the ministers and are preparing for a great change.

W. P. Archibald in St. John on a Tour of Inspection.

W. P. Archibald, of Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday in connection with his work as dominion parole officer. He reports the system as working most satisfactorily. The men who are on parole in St. John are all doing well. Speaking to a Telegraph reporter last evening, Mr. Archibald said during the nine years the parole system had been in operation, 1,645 men and women had been released under its provisions and out of that total only thirty-three had been sent into a life of crime. He regarded these figures as most satisfactory evidence of the good results achieved. Canada, he added, had very few women in the penitentiaries. At the present time, there were not more than thirty.

DOMINION PAROLE OFFICER HERE

Referring to the prisoners who had been released on parole, Mr. Archibald mentioned that more than 1,000 had earned their full liberty and some 500 were now reporting with prospects of liberty by good conduct. A system of receiving criminal records from the chiefs of police, Mr. Archibald said, had recently been introduced for the purpose of distinguishing between the habitual criminal and the man who had made his first false step. The record of every man sentenced in Canada was now sent to him and placed on file. By this course, a prisoner's antecedents were, in the majority of cases, known, and this prevented any abuse of the parole system which might be taken advantage of by a notorious criminal. The system was intended to help those who were anxious to reform and to prevent crime from temptation or weakness. While there was no desire to crush anyone it was the desire to reform and to prevent crime. These, by good conduct, could reduce their sentences under the remission system.

After all, an occasionally obstructive opposition may have its uses. It may now and then compel a government to abandon an iniquitous measure or the more objectionable features of that measure.

The city council has adopted the draft of the harbor commission scheme, with the addition of one or two necessary sections, and has put itself on record as favoring a commission for the whole harbor whenever the federal government is ready to take up that proposition.

outlay, and to avoid any serious conflict of authority between officials of the city and the commission. Some fear has been expressed that the interests of the city would not be sufficiently safeguarded, but we have obviously arrived at a time when the action taken must be taken with the consent and the aid of the government, and the scheme endorsed by the council ought to work out satisfactorily.

HAS BEEN OVERLOOKED

Amid the multitudinous duties of a postmaster-general, so small a matter as the appointment of a postmaster for St. John West might easily, no doubt, be overlooked. A LIBERAL CRITICISM

The civil service bill is not to the liking of that good Liberal journal, the Montreal Witness, which makes this comment on the measure: "The quaint William Cobbett, among other popular services, printed a grammar, one rule of which he illustrated by two phrases whose casual juxtaposition caught the public fancy—'House of Commons; den of thieves.' That was in the old patronage days when legislators regarded a seat in parliament, itself generally a matter of patronage, as a place for obtaining all sorts of benefits for self and friends.

THE INGLE NOOK

PHILOSOPHER OF KENNEBECASIS BAY. During a recent visit to St. John I met a friend whose years considerably exceeded four score, and in a brief interview he informed me that he was getting his rods, reels, flies and other paraphernalia in order for an expedition to Newfoundland and a few days' salmon fishing. I observe by a paragraph in the Times that he has "got there" and has also got his salmon, several of them. My friend is to be congratulated on his physical ability to go a salmon fishing and his mental ability to enjoy the sport, yet the question will arise in our minds, despite our efforts to choke it down, "Why this great disparity in the fortunes of mankind? One dies in infancy, one in youth, one in early manhood, and one becomes an imbecile before his hair turns gray! In a majority of instances neither of these is responsible for the misfortune (if misfortune it is) that overtakes him. It seems to me that we are very near some of the tree, the shrub, the grass. One grows sturdy and strong, and outlives the century; another is prostrated by a stroke of lightning or uprooted by a hurricane; one dies without apparent cause, just as men die, at the top, at the foot, or at both at once. We do not often ask questions in such matters and it would avail little if we did. There are few to whom nothing that we have read in books or heard proclaimed from the platform is evidence. That which is known is but a trifle in comparison with that which is unknown and is probably unknowable. Of the young there are many to die; of the elderly beyond and behind him; he has known so little in comparison with the unknown and the unknowable. Whitehead, K. Co., June 29th.

DELAYED THE GAME FOR FUN That Was What It Looked Like When St. John the Baptist Purposely Made Errors Last Evening--Score St. Peter's 14, St. John the Baptist 1.

Up to the fourth inning the game on the Shamrock grounds last evening between the league leaders, St. Peter's and St. John the Baptist, was a good one. The score stood at the first of the fifth inning, 5 to 1 in the North Enders' favor. After that, however, it was a very poor exhibition of ball, the final result being 14 to 1. St. Peter's, however, was not doing anything but trying to get out, as the contest would soon be called. The St. John the Baptist team, knowing that nothing but a long innings would constitute a game, apparently deliberately delayed matters. This whole affair was disgusting to the large number present.

JULY "ROD AND GUN."

The eyes, not only of Canada, but of the world will be fixed during the present month upon Quebec and the Tercentenary of its establishment. The life story of Samuel de Champlain, the founder, is told in the opening article of the July number of "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor, at Woodstock, Ont., and the narrative of the great explorer's life will be found entrancing reading. Of equal interest are the articles on the "Trail of the Kawingwaga" by Harry O. Auer, author of "The North Country," and "Aurora" by Mrs. J. W. Taylor. The trip he took into the north country with his father and mother and tells of the joys experienced in canoeing and fishing far from civilization. This story is fully illustrated from photographs taken by Mr. Auer. "The Next West" lets one glimpse upon the new country to be opened by the Grand Trunk Pacific and shows that new wonders await the development of some of our most easterly regions. "A Schoolboy's Search for an Ideal Vacation" is a most interesting paper, the reader including a trip to the Old Country, life in the big city of Quebec, a jaunt to a reasonable starting place and the finding of the ideal vacation spot. "The Fresh Water Trout of Canada" will interest all fishermen. There are many other papers of interest to sportsmen.

The playgrounds committee arranged yesterday should be flower day for the children enjoying the use of the Every Day Club grounds and at noon some eighty bunches of flowers were distributed by Miss Ketchum, Mrs. H. A. Powell and the teachers. The committee have to thank an unknown donor for a plentiful supply of blooms which arrived by train. The flowers were eagerly sought for by the children and the distribution was quite an attractive feature.

A new sensation. A real pleasure. The big black plug.

A SINGER BRITANNIA BEATEN. Port Perry, Ont., July 3 (Special).--It is believed that the assailants of F. Lodge, who on Tuesday night best, gagged and bound him, and who may yet have to answer to a charge of murder, are safe under guard in the hands of the police. Mr. Lodge, the young singer who was so brutally beaten, is in a decidedly serious condition.

JOE GANS IS FAVORITE OVER NELSON FOR TOMORROW'S "GO"

Apparently the Battling One Is in for the Worst Beating He Has Ever Received.

San Francisco, July 3.--On the eve of the battle between Joe Gans and Betting Nelson for the world's lightweight championship honors, the negro is a decided favorite. Bookmakers predict that many heavy wagers will be made before the fight, but this opinion is shared by only a small proportion of the sporting experts congregated in San Francisco today to witness the mill.

According to the articles of agreement, the bout will take place tomorrow afternoon at Croft's Mission street arena and is scheduled to go forty rounds. The winner will receive 60 per cent, and the loser 40 per cent, of the 70 per cent of the gross proceeds which will go to the fighters. The men will weigh in at 133 pounds at the ring-side strapping.

Jack Walsh has been agreed upon as referee. A clause in the articles is to the effect that the referee must not put his hands on the men if they should be in a clinch. They must step back at his command. This clause was inserted at the request of Nelson's representative. The Dane never clinches, and this condition is thought to favor him. It is considered of so much importance by Ben Selig that he had a special conference with Gans before he agreed that it be made part of the articles. Nelson does his most effective work at infighting, hence this is expected to be in his favor.

There is every indication that a record-breaking crowd will witness the encounter anxious to see settled the dispute which Nelson and his supporters have tried to keep up ever since that memorable battle at Goldfield on September 3, 1906.

There has never been any doubt in the minds of the fair ones as to the outcome of the struggle, for only the prejudiced gave any consideration to the ridiculous claims of Nelson that he had been robbed in 1906. The average for the two heats is a list of the entries for the Sackville races (July 7 and 8) received so far--
