

Heaviest Losses In Battalions From West

Ottawa, April 26—The casualty list continues to come into the militia department, where extra staff is engaged in notifying relatives and next of kin. Many lessons are drawn from the battle, but what is more generally commiserated here is the splendid impression of Canada and of the character of its men created throughout the empire.

The Terrific Fight At Hill No. 60 Described By British Eye-Witness

London, April 25—"Trenches, parapets and sandbags disappeared," says the British official "eye-witness," in describing the effect of the explosion of the British mines which preceded the attack and capture by the British of Hill No. 60, to the southeast of Ypres, recently.

"The whole surface of the ground," the narrative continues, "assumed strange shapes. Here it was torn into huge craters; there large mounds of fallen debris were to be seen.

"As the reports of the explosions died away, and while dense columns of smoke and dust still hung in the air, our men led by their officers, sprang from the trenches and rushed across the intervening space of some forty to a hundred yards lying between our line and the gaping craters before them, the front covered by the attack being only some 250 yards in length.

"Where the mines had actually exploded nothing was left of the occupants of the hostile line, but in the neighboring trenches our assaulting infantry witnessed an extraordinary scene. Many German soldiers, possibly owing to the fact that they were working, were surprised while in their shirt sleeves and without equipment. Stunned by the violence of the explosion, bewildered and suddenly subjected to a rain of hand-grenades thrown by our bombing parties, they gave way to panic.

"From many points along our line to the north and south of Hill No. 60, could be seen the flashes from the shells, while the flashes from the guns were nearly continuous as they resembled the effect of a machine gun. Under this fire our men had to work, throwing up parapets toward the enemy, blocking their communications and generally rendering the position defensible.

"Not was the enemy's infantry idle. Advancing up the communication trenches they threw hand-grenades over the barbed wire, and also into the mine craters, causing the British to suffer. Our men were clearing, in an endeavor to obtain a foothold.

"Throughout the night the fighting continued, culminating early in the morning of the 18th in two massed attacks by the enemy. These were beaten off, principally by the fire of our machine guns, some of which had been rushed to the front.

"Nevertheless, in spite of the heavy losses, which left the hillside piled with dead, the enemy continued his pressure during the day, and, until we were gradually driven from the southern edge of the hill. At 6 p. m. help reached our front line in the form of reinforcements, who swept the Germans from the foothold they had gained.

"Prior to this the close proximity of the contending sides had led to a shelling in the bombardment; but it then broke into a more intense and more great intensity as on the preceding evening. Our position, however, now was more secure, and, although the shelling and bombing never ceased altogether, the night may be said to have passed in comparative quiet.

"The narrative says the bombardment was maintained Monday, April 19, and that the Germans extended their shelling to the entire Ypres area, including the town itself, in which, it is asserted, fifteen children were killed. Toward evening the Germans made another attack on Hill No. 60, but the "Eye-Witness" asserts, "again did our machine guns do tremendous execution, and the attack was beaten off."

"Another attack at 8 o'clock in the evening," the narrative continues, "suffered the same fate as the one which would not admit defeat, and all night long parties armed with hand-grenades made repeated efforts to drive us off the hill, their attacks alternating with bombardments from artillery of all kinds and also trench mortars.

"By Wednesday, the 'Eye-Witness' says, the British had firmly established themselves on the hill.

"The attack upon and the defense of Hill No. 60," the narrative declares, "will go down in history as one of the finest exploits of the British troops during the war. Officers who experienced the bombardment prior to the attack of the Prussian Guard, on the 11th of April, and also underwent that directed against Hill No. 60, say that the latter, by far, was the worse of the two.

"Fought Four Days in 50 Yards Space," in some degree, be realized if it is remembered that the space fought over during four and one-half days was only fifty yards.

"Upon that small area the enemy for hours hurled tons of metal and high explosive, and at times the hill top was wreathed in clouds of poisonous fumes, and yet our gallant infantry did not give way. They stood firm under a fire which swept away whole sections at a time, filled the trenches with dead bodies and so cumbersome the approach to the front line that reinforcements could not reach it without having to slither over the prostrate forms of their fallen comrades.

"The desperate efforts of the Germans to recapture the hill," the "Eye-Witness" says, "probably were due not only to the intrinsic value of the position, but the fear of personal consequences to the generals concerned if they failed to hold it."

"He adds that the Bavarian general who was responsible for the unsuccessful action at St. Elloi was placed on the retired list.

"The troops who opposed the British on Hill No. 60, the 'Eye-Witness' says, were composed of Saxons and men recruited from all parts of Germany.

"From our line the hill is a salient which is exposed to fire from three sides, and it was only a few minutes before the German guns took advantage of this fact and opened fire. Soon the whole position became obscured by smoke of bursting shells, in an endeavor to support the attack, and a terrific artillery fire was maintained far into the night.

What Does Diamond "Quality" Mean? It refers only to presence or absence of flaws. A flawless stone is perfect even, though "off" in color.

The trade term describing quality, "degree of imperfection" to be good grammar, but the salesman finds it more impressive to speak of "perfection" than of "imperfection."

Color, weight and cutting are the other main points in determining diamond value. To judge these and quality accurately requires much study and long practice in handling many Diamonds.

Sharp's have been dealing in Diamonds for many years. Each stone we sell is guaranteed as to quality, color, weight and cutting, and prices represent the grandest possible value in this instance. You find our Diamond booklet interesting. Ask for a copy.

ST. JOHN MAN WHO HAS PERFORMED WHAT WAS DECLARED IMPOSSIBLE

John A. Cowan's Determination and Ability Bring Results and PRAISE FROM KANSAS CITY

Establishes Rival of New England Conservatory of Music Despite Pessimism of All About Him—His Plucky Progress to Success

The following from the Kansas City Star relates to a St. John man, J. A. Star, son of J. E. Cowan, well known Main street grocer.

A dozen years ago there came to Kansas City a young man with a purpose. He hadn't much else, except a straight smile, a college education and a dogged determination.

He was from Boston, but there he would have been counted an exception, as anywhere else. For, even in Boston, the average man knows better than to attempt the impossible.

At least everybody said it was impossible, this all-pervading purpose. But they couldn't help thinking, afterward, of the cut of the young man's jib, and wondering a little if anything was impossible to a smile so very straight and a jaw so well defined.

The young man stated his purpose to a few men of wealth.

"It is my object," he said, just as if he were not talking about the impossible, "to give the people of Kansas City an institution similar to the New England Conservatory of Boston."

The young man had a sense of humor as well as a purpose, and he could not help smiling to himself when he spoke of "giving" all this to the people of Kansas City, for he had just $15 in his pocket and he was healthy and had to eat. But he knew at the same time that he was going to give the people of Kansas City just what he said.

The men who had been thinking perhaps as much about building up fortunes as institutions, laughed.

"Impossible," said one whose daughter was a student at the New England Conservatory. "Why, man, nobody but a fool would think of starting a conservatory in Kansas City."

"I'm the fool," replied the young man.

the meantime we are maintaining a high standard in the departments—Mr. and Mrs. Cranston in the vocal, Mr. Boguslawski in the piano, Mr. Doucher in violin and in my own department of dramatic art.

"Although Kansas City was not an easy place in which to start such an institution as ours, it is a city with just such possibilities of a musical future as a conservatory can help to produce. And it is no vague promise, either. It is good business for a city in this section to have such a conservatory as ours. Chicago, which has a conservatory, used to get $15,000,000 from this part of the country every year. Investigation a few years ago showed that there are 27,000 young people in this territory, west of the Mississippi, who are away from home studying music—that is, in the almost immediate neighborhood of Kansas City. A conservative calculation from this figure showed that annually four or five million dollars was going to Chicago and Cincinnati. Not all that money was going into the music schools, but it was being paid out for board, clothes, concerts and all the other items of a music student's expense account.

"It is true that our conservatory is making Kansas City $100,000 richer this year than it would be if our home students were taking their $50,000 to some other city."

A Backbone of Steel

From the beginning the Kansas City Conservatory has developed on a sound business basis. Cowan grit is rather a slogan among men who have watched it take hold of something that looked perilously like a foregone failure and make it a success. There is a tradition among the business men who have found it paid to promote the conservatory that, instead of an ordinary backbone, President Cowan is equipped with a special spinal column made of tempered steel.

This tradition had its origin at the time of the building of the conservatory at Oak and Eleventh streets. Mr. Cowan wanted a home for his school—wanted it badly. So he went to someone he thought might build it with the understanding that the school lease one floor for a term of years. But he was told that the other owners of the rooms in the building must be leased before the ground was broken or a real plan made. The young man with the special backbone made a tentative plan and visited possible tenants. As a result, every one in the building was rented and the building went up in short order.

This year the conservatory is in a new home—the beautiful old home of Judge Waldo at 1815 Linwood Boulevard. The change from the downtown district was to enable younger children to take advantage of the conservatory classes. President Cowan believes that the more advanced pupils would go wherever they special teachers were to be found, and so it has proven, while the children's classes have maturely increased. Special culture classes for children will be inaugurated the coming summer—the six weeks included in June 16 to July 30.

The new classes are an innovation, resulting from the new location. Five subjects are included and the tuition is not greater than for one. The new building and grounds afford room for rest and play, tennis and bag while children wait between classes.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Cranston left the vocal department of Mr. Cowan's school they have given Kansas City an annual season of grand opera in English. The performances have been of the highest class. This year the week of opera opens May 8 and concludes with two performances on Saturday, May 8, Monday, Wednesday of the Covent Garden Grand Opera Company and the Century Company and Henri Barrow of the Century Company. New York will be the visiting tenor. Mrs. Laura Callier Cranston will sing the chief soprano roles, while Otley Cranston will sing the principal baritone parts. The opera to be performed:

Tuesday, May 9.....Martha
Wednesday, May 10.....Carmen
Thursday, May 11.....Carmen
Friday, May 12.....Martha
Saturday night, May 13.....Carmen

THE WAR NEWS

The gallantry of the Canadian troops in a desperate encounter with the Germans on Friday and Saturday is the subject of congratulatory messages from Sir John French and from the king himself, and the sad proof of their courage and devotion is found in the long list of casualties among the officers. Probably a hundred officers are listed among the killed and wounded, and we have yet to learn the number of casualties among the men under their command.

"If I don't get rid of this cold soon," said the youngster, "I'll be a dead one."

Mr. Barrington has a good anecdote about Sir W. S. Gilbert which shows the latter's fine gift of repartee. Gilbert was once introduced to a gushing American lady who professed to take a great interest in music.

"No, madam," said Gilbert, "he is decomposing."

"See what I've got!" cried Johnnie, a Cockney boy, as he came running from a chicken-coop holding in his hand a china egg.

"Oh, so and put it back!" cried his six-year-old sister. "That's the egg the hen measures by!"

STOLE WAGON, BROKE IT UP, SOLD IRON FOR 20 CENTS

A new method of stealing and a novel way of disposing of the stolen property was discovered by the police of Division 3, Boston, after Samuel Kaplan reported that his horse and wagon had disappeared from Albany street. Kaplan went into a house to do some business and left the outfit in the street in front of the house. When he came out his wagon was gone. His horse had been hitched to a hydrant and the harness was still on the animal.

Falling to find the wagon after a long search Kaplan reported his loss to the police. Reserve Officer Jeremiah Kelly, sent out to watch the junkers, soon found a clue. Going inside a shop he saw a pile of wagon junk painted in the colors of the missing wagon. He found Kelly, aged 44, of 283 Dover street in the place. Kelly told Policeman Kelly that he stole the wagon and took it to a dump where he broke it up with an axe. He took the junk and sold it for twenty cents. He had chopped the wood off the wagon into small pieces which he sold he was going to sell for kindling wood to the people of the vicinity.

Kelly was locked up charged with the larceny and destruction of the wagon.

A FAIRVILLE SOLDIER DIES FOR HIS KING

Rudolph F. McKiel Dies Of His Wounds

WAR VERY NEAR TO US

Capt. J. H. Parks Wounded, Also Capt. Paul R. Hanson—Lieut. C. F. Inches in Major Magee's Battery—Canadian Casualties Heavy

Private Rudolph F. McKiel, of Fairville, died as a result of injuries received at the front. Although it is not announced in the reports from the militia department, it is believed that he received the injuries at Neuve Chapelle. He died on April 14. At 10.30 yesterday morning his brother, Cecil McKiel, Prospect street, Fairville, received the following telegram from Ottawa: "Deeply regret Private No. 27764 died from wounds April 14. Officially announced."

He was the son of the late Rev. LeBaron McKiel, who was for years pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Fairville. He was educated in the local schools, and was of a bright and amiable disposition which made for him many friends in Fairville and the city, and caused him to be very popular in his battalion. He would have been thirty-two years of age next August. He leaves to mourn, two brothers—Cecil and Medley, both of Fairville, and three sisters: Mrs. Norman Zyczer and Mrs. Andrew Rudolf, of Lunenburg (N. S.), and Miss Cory who is now a Red Cross nurse at the front.

Private McKiel served for eight years in the militia previous to his enlistment in the volunteers. He was first with the 1st Regiment, at Fredericton, and later with 60th at St. John. He was the first to enlist with the first contingent here and when his people first learned of it, and asked him, he replied: "There never was a McKiel yet who refused the call of king and country." His name has been recognized as soon as he enlisted, and at Salisbury Plain. Twice he was offered promotion but refused. He was the first man to be taken from his regiment when a draft was made to fill in the ranks of the Patriots, and in writing home he spoke of the fact and said: "I regard this as more than an advancement." Not more than a month ago he was mentioned in a lengthy and most interesting letter from him appeared in The Telegraph, and at that time he was in Fredericton.

Through generations McKiel's people have been soldiers. There is at present in possession of the family a sword which was presented to McKiel's grandfather by King George IV, for distinguished military services.

McKiel was very popular about the city, and his many friends will learn the news with sincere regret. While those bereaved may be afflicted with sorrow, his courage and gallantry, and the knowledge that his name is a credit to his country, will give them some consolation.

Captain Parks Wounded.

Captain J. H. Parks, son of Mrs. J. H. Parks, of Park street, brother of Dr. Margaret and Miss Louise Parks and Mrs. J. U. Thomas, of this city, has been wounded in an engagement on the front. His name appears in the casualty list issued yesterday at Ottawa, and the official notice was sent to Mrs. Parks, his mother, here. Captain Parks is well known and had many friends. He has not been a resident of St. John for some time, but about two years ago he spent about six months in the city.

He served in the South African war, but previous to that time he had left here and gone west, and worked at engineering with the C. P. R. at Crow's Nest Pass (B. C.). He took a course of military training at Kingston, and went through the entire Great War. Following that he remained in Africa for about three years engineering on railroads there. There he returned to Canada and went back with the C. P. R. at Vancouver. He enlisted at the first of the war with the Highlanders at Vancouver, but he left Canada last fall with the first contingent as a member of the 9th battalion.

Dr. Margaret Parks, who is a sister of Captain Parks, was recently reported to have been on the staff of the Canadian Hospital near Boulogne, where she was in charge of one of the wards. Owing to the field regulations of the British army she was unable to go as a doctor, and she therefore took up the work as a nurse.

Captain Paul R. Hanson, also wounded, was formerly manager of the Dunlop Tyre & Rubber Company, Canterbury street. He volunteered for service at the outbreak of war and was one of the first of the Canadian officers to leave these shores and to be taken to France. His wife's address is given in St. Lambert's, Quebec.

In none of these cases is the nature of the wounds indicated nor indeed is it stated whether they are dangerous or otherwise.

SPRING MEDICINE

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Great Blood Purifier, is the Best

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate. It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, de-stabilized blood. It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

It is the best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old reliable family medicine purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-year-round alternative and tonic, and is absolutely the best Spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist on having it, for nothing else can take its place.

Otherwise. No news is forthcoming either of where the fighting took place in which they were so bravely engaged, but it may be assumed that it was in the neighborhood of the now famous Hill 60. King's Congratulations.

Ottawa, April 25—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, has received a message from His Majesty King George, expressing his admiration of the gallant stand made by the Canadians at Langemark, and sympathizing with Canadians in the heavy casualties sustained.

Sir John French Pleased.

Ottawa, April 25—Many messages of congratulation have been received in connection with the splendid work of the Canadians.

Col. J. J. Cartick, M.P., on the staff of General Alderson, tonight cabled the minister of militia.

"Sir John French (telegraphed) General Alderson today as follows:

"I wish to express to you and Canadian troops my admiration of gallant fight and stand they have made. They have performed most brilliant and valuable service. Last night, and again this morning, I reported their splendid behaviour to the secretary of state for war, and I have a reply from him saying how highly their gallantry and determination in the presence of the enemy is appreciated in England."

Lord Brooke, of General French's staff, cabled General Alderson as follows: "Heartiest congratulations on magnificent behaviour of Canadians."

General Hughes replied: "Sincere thanks for message. Please convey to Sir John and the Canadians the pride and joy of their countrymen in Canada for the part they have so nobly played. The Canadians have justly proved that there was no surrender, and that by whatever fault the guns were lost, they were not allowed to remain in possession of the enemy."

To a congratulatory cable from Earl Grey, former governor-general of Canada, Premier Borden replied: "Deeply appreciate your message. Canada is very proud that her sons have upheld so worthily the splendid traditions of our great pioneer races."

The General Alderson, commander of the Canadian division, the Premier of the following:

"Steps of the splendid gallantry and efficiency of the division under your command has thrilled all Canada with pride. Warmest congratulations."

Casualties Very Heavy.

Ottawa, April 25—Over eighty officers of the First Canadian Expeditionary Force are now included in the list of killed and wounded a result of the titanic struggle at Langemark, and there are fears that this number may be increased. So far the list of losses among the men has not been called, and it is not expected for several days. This morning the list among officers came to hand, with one killed and thirty wounded. It was hoped that this was the last of the losses, but during the afternoon and evening the total steadily mounted.

Letters from Lieut. Cyrus F. Inches, dated April 8, who is with Major F. C. Magee, gives the officers of the Battery Mess as follows: "The personnel at present being: Major Magee, O.C.; Capt. Hall, Capt. Reifstein, Capt. Chown (paymaster), Capt. Grignon (ret.), Capt. Mackay, Lieut. Ryan, Garland, Leach and myself. I should have included the Capt. Reifstein mentioned by Lieut. Inches in the six-man Capt. Mackay's from P. E. Island and was in Fredericton during the winter.

In a previous letter he wrote that Lieut. Kelly, whom he had not seen for nearly two months, called to see him and was at that time in command. Lieut. Hayes had also ridden in a few days previously.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY AT ANNUAL SERVICE

St. George's Society for the annual church parade to Trinity church last evening had one of the largest attendances on record. The members of the society marched from their rooms with the junior members leading and they lined up at the entrance to form an aisle up which the seniors passed. Frank A. Kin-ear was the marshal in charge. At Trinity a bright service was conducted with the singing of special hymns, including Uprise Ye Christian People Who Hoist St. George Today, Unfold the Empire's Standard and Oh, Faith of England. Taught of Old. The banner was during the sermon placed in the nave at the foot of the pulpit.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Le Ralph Sherman, curate of Trinity. Taking Hebrews 12, part of the first verse as the text, Mr. Sherman preached on the lessons of the patron saint's life in the light of the present crisis.

After the singing of the national anthem the procession reformed outside the church and marched back to the rooms where resolutions were passed thanking the churchwardens, the preacher and the choir for their assistance to the society; and to Walter Golding for the use of the Imperial Theatre for the social, while a resolution of sympathy and regret was passed to Alexander Macaulay, president of St. Andrew's Society, in the recent death of his son.

Empire Rings With Praise of Canadians

London, April 25, 11.15 p.m.—The great attack in Flanders, originally levelled at the French, has been transferred to the British lines held by the Canadians, on the immediate right of the French, and here, for two days, the men from the dominion have been engaged in a deadly contest with the Germans. The latter state, in their official report, that they have made further progress toward Ypres and that the British counter-attacks have been repulsed.

The French account, on the other hand, declares that the Allies' counter-attacks continue with success and that the British hold all their positions, and repeated the charge that the Germans are using bombs containing asphyxiating gases.

Ottawa, April 24—"They would never leave these guns in the hands of the Germans," said Major General Sam Hughes, minister of militia, regarding the Canadian victory, when shown the British war office statement. "They have done what was expected of them, what we all knew they could do and that was their duty. Yes, this despatch makes us prouder than ever of them. I am sorry that the despatch says there were many casualties, but we must be prepared for this, however many of them."

CANADA LOOMS UP LARGE

London, April 25—Canada loomed up prominently on the bulletin boards of the Saturday evening newspapers in London. "Canadian Saved the Situation," "Wall Down Canadian," and "Bless Canada." These were some of the headlines which appeared. In reference to this evening's statement from the war office, the Evening News says:

"The war office gives us, in this message, the kind of prompt news we want. Today's glorious bulletin will live always in the military chronicles of the empire. The despatch reveals that the left of our line which was unavoidably left uncovered by the French retirement, was held by the Canadians, who were in the first battle line and eager for the dash. The Germans did not capture their guns. They fell into them when the Canadians were swept back. Later, and with what impetuosity and grim resolution was left to imagine, the Canadians made a counter-attack, and re-took the four guns they had left behind, and also made German prisoners. Unhappily their casualties were heavy, but all around the empire will re-echo the praise of the war office for their conduct."

A Day With The Soldiers In Amherst

(Sackville Post)

A visit to Amherst just now is of special interest. One never ceases to watch the various detachments going through their military drill. It is interesting too, to study the faces of the men. Some have a gay, debonaire air, while others seem to realize fully why they are shouldering the musket. One is impressed with the generally fine appearance of the men. Not alone the university boys, but all the men, have the appearance of coming from homes of refinement. As yet there is no sign of that hard weather-beaten look that so often characterizes military men. We may well be proud to have such boys represent us on the battlefield.

The German Prisoners

Two Germans escaped, but were soon captured. We understand they are to have a piano in their quarters. I was informed our men will have real khaki suits before they go into action. The hats will be more of the Baden-Powell type. All brass buttons and the maple leaf badges will be removed to avoid contact with flying bullets.

Beer and Temperance

IF TEMPERANCE reformers would only advocate the use of pure beer, like FRONTENAC BLUE LABEL, they would do real lasting good to the cause. While mildly exhilarating, FRONTENAC BEER is a splendid tonic, a body builder and great aid to digestion. It is recommended by family physicians and is used in the best Canadian homes.

Frontenac Beer Helps Temperance

This beer is called the "aristocrat of Canadian Beers" because it is the most exquisite beverage in the Dominion. It is made in the "Star" brewery of Canada by the highest paid brewery workers, under the supervision of a master brewer of international reputation, who has also superintended the making of the highest grade American beers. Why drink beers from Milwaukee and St. Louis when you can get beer of the same quality in FRONTENAC BLUE LABEL? Order from your dealer today.

The Election--A Lesson From England

(Montreal Journal of Commerce)

Notwithstanding the inspired reports from Ottawa which indicate an early general election, we hold to the opinion that such a deplorable conflict is not to take place.

Although the ministers who favor a dissolution have evidently set the political machine in motion for such a contest and the ministers who are believed to be less favorable seem to have consented to the preparatory steps, the arguments against the bringing on of the election are so strong and conclusive that we feel they will in the end prevail, and that the conspiracy—the word is not too strong—against the interests of the country will fail.

Apart from purely party reasons, the soundness of which is more than doubtful, not a single argument can be advanced to support a dissolution at this time, or in the early future.

An Associated Press despatch from London in last evening's papers, dealing with the political situation in England, must furnish food for serious thought to all in Canada who have given any degree of approval to the idea of an early dissolution. It shows clearly that no mother country nobody in any position of responsibility would for a moment consider such a proposition as inadvisable as the holding of a general election, even though so far as time limits are concerned, there would be many more excuses for such an appeal there than there is in Canada.

The Canadian parliament has more than a year and a half of its life to run. In England the life of parliament is near its end. But so general is the feeling against a dissolution in war time that it is quite probable that by general consent the term will be extended by special act to authorize the postponement of the election. On this point the London correspondent cables:

"Though the act passed by parliament during the year 1914, it is accepted as proper in all party circles that the term of the present members be extended and there will be no considerable opposition to any extension that the Cabinet may recommend, whether it be 'till the end of the war' or a set term of one or even two years. There is no desire manifested in any quarter for an election during the war."

In this view of the question the British people display at once patriotism and common sense. We are reluctant to believe that those in authority in Canada, where no such time pressure exists, will commit the country to a course which the London correspondent shows would be regarded as inadvisable in England, even though the parliamentary term there is close to its end.

Berrie, standing on a small platform at the rear. The orchestra played softly as the two pairs walked from the wings to the centre of the stage, and the milder came forward. The members of the cast were attired in evening costume and were lined up on each side of the stage. It was a pretty setting indeed.

The ceremony took about twenty minutes. Following the wedding the cast of the company entertained and a happy time was spent. All kinds of congratulations were showered upon the happy brides and bridegrooms.

If we were running the assignment book we should send the financial editor to report Bill Sunday's meetings.—Chicago Tribune.

TUNEUP ARTILLERISTS

St. John, N. B.

Sir—Would you kindly publish this little parody on Tipperary composed by two of our artillery boys who left here on March 16 for Halifax? It is sang to the tune of Tipperary:

Down from mighty St. John, came the boys of the 9th N. B.

Down to defend Halifax, as happy as could be.

Singing songs about their sweatearts, wives, and loved ones dear,

Until one boy got excited, and he shouted everywhere—

It's a long way to St. John city,

It's a long way to go,

It's a long way to St. John City, to Good Bye Partridge Island, farewell, park and square.

It's a long way to St. John City, but my heart's right there.

Dr. J. L. Duval Is Wounded
Only Slightly, Says Cable to Wife—St. John Ambulance Boys Likely in First Aid Work in Great Battle

A cable received this morning by Mrs. Duval, of 116 Ludlow street, West St. John, from her husband, Major J. L. Duval, M.D., with No. 1 Field Ambulance at the front, told of his having been slightly wounded. It was dated "Hazebrouck, April 26, Slightly wounded. Writing."
Major Duval was one of the first physicians from St. John to offer his services and left here with the earliest contingent. He has been in France for several weeks, and has with him a complete ambulance detachment composed of St. John boys, with many from Fairville and West St. John. The announcement of his having been wounded would indicate that his unit was probably in the thick of the recent heavy fighting rendering first aid to the fallen in battle.
FROM DOCTOR CORREY
In a letter from Major G. G. Corbett, M.D., received this morning by his wife, he says that his base hospital at Rouen, France, was filled with wounded Canadian soldiers as a result of the recent severe fighting. He, himself, is still quite well, although working almost night and day.

"JONES IS MISSING" HE GAVE UP ALL FOR THE RIGHT
That Line in Letter From Front May Mean That Soldier Who Enlisted Here is Dead

If there was one thing more than another that Sam Jones liked to do it was fight, not the ordinary pugilistic ambition of an amateur "wilder boy," though it has been known that he could hold his own pretty well in that regard also, but fight in the uniform of a soldier, with shot and shell whistling about him. Sam had been a soldier of fortune, South African veteran, and general roustabout, hailing from Fredericton, before he signed with the king's recruiting sergeant in arms against the Kaiser. He had had a lively career into which had been crammed no end of adventure.
Now he is reported as "missing." Following the war in Africa, where Jones covered himself with glory he listed in the United States army and wore the American uniform for some years prior to his return to Fredericton. But the stillness of the capital began to weary him, and when he read that the States were organizing a force to march against the Mexicans, Sam boarded his special train, a fast freight, one dark black night and was soon across the border to Maine. But then the European bubble burst, and hearing that a contingent was being raised in Canada, the blind baggage could not carry him fast enough to St. John, where he signed the muster roll of the first contingent, and was among the other brave lads who marched from here in the lines of the first last fall. Then he was heard from again at Salisbury Plain where he was in the fore rank of those who volunteered when the call came to the 12th Infantry Battalion from this province for men to fill the gaps in other units on the firing line.

This is a picture of Pte. Rudolf F. McKiel, of Fairville, who died of wounds received while fighting as a member of the Princess Patricia's. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Norman Zwicker

He went with the 12th Battalion to the front and has been in the thick of the fighting in Northern France, and while no official notice has yet come to hand, a letter by a Montreal soldier to his mother tells of the way Jones reported missing after wandering into a German barbed wire entanglement, and it is believed to be the same Sam who enlisted in St. John.
The letter, written by Drummer Joe Dunge of the Royal Mounted, tells of the disappearance of Sam Jones in the following way:
"The last time we were in the trenches we lost eleven men wounded and killed. Sergt. Smith of the 'Vics' and a man named Sam Jones were out on a listening patrol one night, when they wandered into a German barbed wire. The Germans turned the machine gun on them. Sergt. Smith managed to get back, although with a wound in his side. Jones is missing."

ST. JOHN NOW HAS A CHIEF OF DETECTIVES
Charles Worrall, a recent acquisition to the police force this morning, assumed command of the detective force at central station. He supplants detective Fred Luce, who was placed in charge of that department after the resignation of Patrick Killen had been accepted. Detective Worrall joined the local police department about ten days ago. He was instrumental in the Sherfield street raid a few days ago, and also active in a card playing case in Dock street.
He is to control the activities of the plain clothes men, and also to act as prosecutor in the cases brought by them before the police court.

POLICE COURT
James Hargie, arrested on Saturday night on a charge of stealing a suit of clothes, two shirts and a raincoat from Simon King, of the steamer St. George, and on suspicion of stealing one silver spoon, two knives and two blankets from the steamer, the property of the C. E. B., was remanded until tomorrow morning.
Michael Kelly was fined $10 or four months in jail on a drunkenness charge, and also for using profane language.
One man, who was arrested for drunkenness, was remanded.

PROBATE COURT
In the probate court today in the matter of the estate of Michael T. Cavanaugh, shoemaker, Jane Cavanaugh, the widow administratrix, filed her accounts as such and asked for passing of them. A citation was issued returnable on May 25, at 11 a.m. Robert G. Murray is proctor.
In the matter of the estate of Charles Yeates of Lancaster, retired from dealer Jack H. A. L. Fairweather, barrister-at-law, the executor, filed his accounts as such and asked for passing of them. A citation was issued returnable on May 31 next at 11 a.m. J. Roy Campbell, K.C., is proctor.

TOMORROW
The final test of the new motor fire engine has been postponed until tomorrow. When the test is made it will be a thorough one. The commissioner of safety plans to start the engine at Lily Lake, pumping from the lake at nine o'clock tomorrow morning for a six hour continuous run. If the machine stands up under this test it will show a high degree of efficiency.

Men's Spring Suits
Made-to-Measure
$20.00
$25, $28 and $30 Fabrics

Scores of men are taking advantage of this opportunity, and no wonder, when they can get a new Spring or Summer Suit, tailored to their individual requirements, from their choice of a special lot of the season's bright new fabrics, at this price. The suits are in the newest patterns—new checks, plaids and mixtures—and if it were not for a fortunate trade circumstance you could secure them only in suits costing $25 to $30. Of course, our usual high-class tailoring and finishing is assured. Every garment is made in our own workroom. We do not take your measure and have the suit made by some clothing manufacturer, palming it off on you as a custom-made suit.
