CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 19.—A despatch to the Record-Herald from Butte

Two weeks ago the 20-year-old wife of George Melville, a miner, told her husband she was going out to attend the wedding of a friend. Yesterday it was discovered that she was the bride and had married Harry Northey.

young man living less than half a mile from her home.

Mrs. Melville had told Northey that Melville was her uncle, and she did not want him to know of her marriage for a while, as she feared he would cable the news to her mother, who, she said, is an invalid in London.

She went back and lived with Mel-

She went back and lived with Melville for a week, then returned to her younger husband and remained with him until yesterday, when Melville succeeded in finding her. She denied him and declared he was her uncle and not her husband. Northey believed her notwithstanding the records of the court at Great Falls which show that she married him in 1881.

The girl four years ago was married to a man named Walbridge, who abused her, and was killed by her father for which crime the father, Mr. Hunter is serving a sentence in the state penitentiary. The young woman was arrested on a charge of bigamy.

ST. JOHN STAR, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1905.

SOVEREIGN LODGE OF ODDFELLOWS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Under weather conditions that were somewhat disappointing, the annual communication of the Sovereign Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was formally opened here today. There is an unusually large attendance of delegates and visitors, and the adverse weather conditions did not in the least dampen their ardor.

The central part of the city is decorated in honor of the order, and City Hall is handsomely illuminated with incandescent electric lights.

The formal opening of the convocation took place in the forenoon, when the exercises were held in Linn's Temple, at which Mayor Weaver welcomed the visitors to the city. Later the Sovereign Lodge held a session, at which the reports of officers were read. The reports showed that the order had a most prosperous year. The remainder of the day was taken up in prize drills by the militant branch of the order, exemplification of degree work by visiting lodges and receptions to prominent members of the organization.

After the public ceremonies the Sovereign Lodge went into secret session at the Oddfellows' Temple, Grand Sire Wright presiding.

Annual reports of the grand sire, Grand Secretary John B. Goodwin, Grand Treasurer M. Richards, and General M. A. Raney, commanding the Patriarchs' Militant, were the feature of the session.

The statistical information for the year in the report of Grand Secretary John B. Goodwin included the following: 18,410 candidates initiated, 84,325 members suspended and 18,025 died.

The question of forbidding the admission of retail dealers in liquor to membership and of affiliation with the Manchester Unity, of England and Canada, will probably not receive the consideration of the representatives until Thursday.

Exemplification of the Patriarchs' Militant degree work took place to-night at the second regiment armory, after which receptions were tendered at the Oddfellows' Temple to General M. A. Raney, commander of the Patriarchs' Militant, and Major J. B. Blair Andrews, department commander of Pennsylvania.

G. S. MAYES CONTRACT IS CONFIRMED.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—At a meeting of the cabinet today the contract for dredging St. John harbor was awarded to G. S. Mayes of that city. The contract will amount to over $100,000. Schedule prices are to be paid.

The great seal of the Northwest Territories has been forwarded to Commissioner White for safe keeping.

Mr. Hyman leaves tomorrow on Wednesday on a visit to the western provinces on departmental business.

SUSSEX, N. B., Sept. 18.—Dr. McArthur of this place, assisted by Doctors Pearson and Murray, on Saturday performed an operation for appendicitis on Thomas Alexander of Hammonds. The case is a serious one and very slight hopes are entertained of Mr. Alexander's recovery.

CZAR CALLS SECOND PEACE CONFERENCE.

Steps in Ahead of Roosevelt and Asks Powers to Send Delegates to the Hague.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 18.—Emperor Nicholas today again appears before the world as a promoter of universal peace. No sooner is the Russo-Japanese war over, and even before the peace treaty has been ratified, than His Majesty issues invitations to a second peace conference at The Hague.

That the Emperor has done so was learned today from a source which leaves no shadow of doubt as to its authenticity.

It is officially announced that "the Russian government proposes to address the foreign powers with a view to the holding of a second peace conference at The Hague," but it is known that negotiations preceding the announcement that "the government proposed to address the powers" were entered into, especially with the United States, and were conducted with the greatest secrecy, there being not the slightest inkling that Russia contemplated anything of the kind.

The announcement created the greatest surprise here, and that Russia should plan a second conference despite the steps already taken by President Roosevelt. It is clear that the step could not be taken by Russia without first reaching a complete understanding with President Roosevelt.

The fact that President Roosevelt is reported as being entirely in sympathy with the proposal, and that he is said to believe that to the initiator of the first Hague conference should belong the honor of convoking the second, and readily and even gladly acceded to the Russian proposal, in clear proof that the conference has already been called, and that President Roosevelt relinquished his part in it to the Emperor.

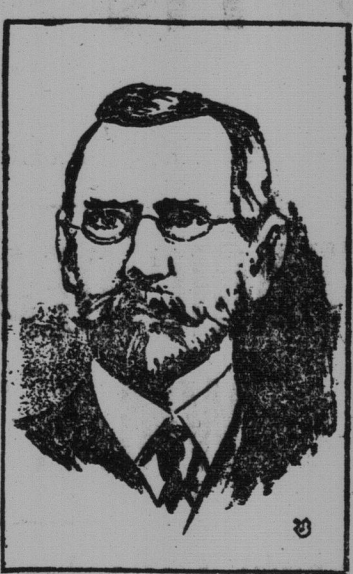

There is strong reason to believe that the news even of the intention of the Russian government would not be given out unless invitations had already been sent to the powers and possibly, that their answers had been received.

The increase in pay which has been granted to the motormen and conductors of the St. John Railway Company will start from last Saturday, Sept. 18th. The new schedule will be as follows: For the first year, 15¢ an hour; for the second year, 16¢ an hour; for the third year, 17¢ an hour; after five years, 17½¢ an hour; for work on the snow-sweeper, 19¢ an hour, up to 12 P. M., and 20¢ an hour from 12 to 6 P. M. Formerly the men were paid 15¢ an hour for the first two years and 16¢ cents after that time; the same rates applied to work on the sweepers. The increase, therefore, applies only to those men who have been in the company for over three years or work on the sweepers.

AUTUMN CARNIVAL, OCTOBER 16th to 21st.

Horse Races, Regatta, Fair of Nations and Irish Guards Band Will be Chief Attractions.

At the meeting of the merchants' week committee of the Board of Trade yesterday it was decided to hold an autumn carnival on the week commencing October 16th, and running until Saturday, Oct. 21st.

Those present were: J. M. McRobbie, F. A. Dykeman, H. B. Schofield, W. G. Scott, John Edgcombe, Geo. F. Barnes, R. T. Hayes, B. R. Macaulay and R. B. Emerson.

Mr. Macaulay was elected chairman, and a committee of ten was appointed to act with him in providing the features of the week.

A committee of three was also appointed to look after railway and steamboat rates.

Three members were also appointed to wait on the executive of the Fair of Nations to arrange dates for the coincident holding of fair and carnival.

The Irish Guards band will be here for that week, and it is hoped to have the Fair of Nations start on October 16th.

Attractions from the Fredrickton and Sussex exhibitions will also be brought to the city. Horse races will be arranged at Moospath and a regatta on the harbor.

The Neptune Rowing Club offered to place a single and a four-oared crew in any regatta brought into the regatta. The St. Mary's crew of Halifax will be asked to compete against Carleton; football games will be arranged, together with aquatic attractions.

POLITE MONITOR BURGULAR

A family newly arrived in the city and recently moved into an up-town house were absent yesterday visiting friends in the country. On their arrival home today they found their residence had been entered and a note in lay spelling and poorer penmanship lay on the dining table, as follows:

"Gentle, September 17.

"Dear Madam, As I was going by your house this morning I thought you might be away so I thought I would call on you and get something to eat. I got a good meal and plenty of it but was sorry I could find nothing of value to take. I had my key on me that let me in. I had good rest I thank you for your kindness."

The house gave evidence of being rummaged, but apparently nothing had been taken, but the party did certainly put himself to a good square meal.

The family are at a loss to know whether they are victims of a practical joke or not—Moncton Transcript.

BEAUTIFUL ELECTRICAL EFFECTS IN "FAUST."

The exquisite effects obtained by the skillful use of electricity to add effect to scenery and make impressive many scenes in modern plays can be exemplified and proven in the forthcoming elaborate production of Lewis Morrison's new "Faust," in which Lewis Morrison himself appears as Mephisto in this part, at the Opera House on Friday next. Fire, lightning, clouds and gorgeous sunset effects are manipulated throughout the play by electrical agency through stereopticons, calcium, kaleidoscopes, olivettes or open box lights, shaded and varied by skilled electricians. The peaceful atmosphere of Marguerite's home and Nuremberg's Cathedral athwart the garden as the sky grows radiant with the setting sun, and the luminous after glow of the twilight is a fine example of the electrician's skill. The dramatic work of Faust, Marguerite and Mephisto gains added value and effect from the ever changing lights, as the curtain descends Mephisto stands silhouetted against a starlit firmament in the soft moonlight. The broken scene, and the beautiful apotheosis are all subjected to various light and shade effects of equal beauty. The scenery for the whole production is fresh from the New York studio, and at no time has "Faust" been so elaborately produced. The chief interest however will be centered in the appearance of Lewis Morrison in the part of Mephisto, which he will positively play next Friday night.

Some curious beliefs still linger in country parts. For instance, in Hertfordshire when ancient houses are destroyed the chimney stacks are left intact, the popular theory being that the houses are still in existence while these remain standing. This may be a survival of some ancient but now almost forgotten legal right.

SCHOONER SUNK OFF CANO.

HALIFAX, Sept. 18.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Puritan was wrecked today on Shaag Rock Ledges, near the entrance to Canoe, Captain Harding arrived on Friday from the banks with a small fare of fish, and after making repairs cleared today for home. After the Puritan was under way thick fog shut down and the wind dropped to a flat calm. In working off the coast the vessel mistook and struck on Shaag Rock Ledges. Almost immediately she listed and began to sink. The crew took to their boats and not a moment too soon, for she went down to the masts, the crew escaping only with the clothing they stood in. The shipwrecked men rowed into Canoe. The Puritan was owned by Cunningham and Thompson of Gloucester, Mass., and was insured for $4,900.

Street Car Advertising Consolidated

We beg to announce to the Merchants and Manufacturers of Canada that we have consolidated the Street Car Advertising business of the Dominion, having purchased the business of the Ambrose Petry Company, and now have the exclusive control of the advertising rights and privileges on practically every street car system from the Atlantic to the Pacific. This means

BETTER SERVICE! BETTER RESULTS! BETTER SATISFACTION!

It also means that we have facilitated the use of street car publicity. With one contract an advertiser can effectively reach the purchasing public throughout Canada. Formerly the business men desirous of covering the various centres of population in the Dominion with their advertisements, found it necessary to negotiate with Tom, Dick and Harry who held leases from the individual companies.

Today one plan, one interview, one contract, one advertisement, one check does it all.

We will place your advertisement in any or all street cars in Canada, giving you the maximum circulation at the minimum cost,

WHAT STREET CAR ADVERTISING DOES

Leonard M. Frailey, Secretary of the Joseph Campbell Co. of Camden, N. J., the largest manufacturers of condensed soups in the world, in an interview in Printers' Ink of September 6th, 1905, said:

"Our first advertising appropriation was $5,000, and before a dollar of it was spent we investigated all the recognized media—print, bill boards, street cars, magazines and newspapers. How much would it cost? That was what we wanted to know, and finally our choice fell upon street cars, which seemed to be cheaper than all others. Our first contract called for one-third of the street cars in New York city, and after six months' advertising we had evidence that led us to increase the number of cars to one-half, and at the end of the year we were glad to contract for every car in New York city. What sort of evidence did we have? Sales! Increased sales, increased demand, and the fact that we were doing only one kind of advertising."

"At the end of the first year's campaign our sales in New York city had increased 100 per cent, and since then we have never been out of the New York cars, and our sales in New York city have never ceased to multiply year after year."

"After New York, the territory was taken on steadily until today we are using street cars in 37 cities and towns."

"When the Joseph Campbell Co. first began to make condensed soups, the weekly output was ten cases; today it is over twenty million cans yearly, and the demand grows steadily."

"This business, aggregating two million dollars annually, has been built up almost wholly through the street cars."

"You can get 100,000 a day of the same kind of circulation as produced the above results by using the Canadian cars."

The pie social held in Bayswater hall last Thursday evening proved a grand success, the sum of $46.00 being realized. Much credit is due Fred Hawkhurst, of St. John, who brought about fifty of his friends from the city on his new steam launch, the "Ida M." and the practical way in which he and his party assisted in the social is very much appreciated by the people of Bayswater.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 19, 1905.

MR. EMMERSON'S MOTIVE.

If it is Mr. Emerson's intention to create public sentiment in this province, unfavorable to the government of railways he is going a good way about it.

There is good reason to believe that the government has a deal on foot, one feature of which is the handing over of the I. C. R. to a private company.

For the past couple of years there have been goings on that are explicable upon no other theory than that the government has deliberately set out to disgust the people with the present system of I. C. R. management so that the conclusion of the deal, when it does come, will find them in a measure so quiescent.

Look at the enormous and unwarrantable and growing deficits of late; note the tone of Liberal campaign in parliament and in the press and watch Mr. Emerson.

When the last deficit was announced in parliament there arose from the government organs all over the country, as if by a preconcerted arrangement, a howl of indignation, a demand that the country be freed from this great burden. Liberal speakers in parliament delivered themselves of grave hints in the same direction. In the upper chamber several Liberal senators were outspoken and openly advocated selling or leasing the road to a private company, obviously indicating
the Grand Trunk Pacific.

And now comes Mr. Emerson with the apparent purpose of convincing the people along the line of the I. C. R.
that a railroad run by a government is, except at election times, an instrument of public inconvenience.

He put a new time table into force yesterday which practically reduces a traveller who wants to reach or leave small stations along the road to one train a day and that one train which leaves St. John about daylight. The so-called C. P. R. which leaves here at noon for Halifax and arrives from Halifax between five and six o'clock in the afternoon only stops at the larger places and the only other alternatives are the midnight trains to and from Halifax. It is reported on good authority that the service is to be still further curtailed by the removal of these night trains which while of little use to those who are going to or coming from country stations, on account of the inconvenient time of arrival and departure, are almost a necessity for through travel between St. John and Halifax.

A policy of this kind is easiest explainable on the theory that the minister has been instructed to make sick of government owned railways.
And it is also as well calculated to do the work as any he could devise. But, unfortunately for him and the government, the people down this way have a pretty clear idea of what is the matter with the I. C. R. and know that it is not public ownership but party machine management that makes these awful deficits which are his excuse for this wretched service. And they remember that the government of the day is a party which is pledged to free the road
from partisan control, to try the experiment of having it managed honestly and sensibly by an independent commission.

OPEN CONFESSION IS GOOD.
In an article in newspaper circulation published Saturday last the Star spoke of the dishonest tricks used by some papers to make the public believe their circulation is much larger than it really is. No paper was named in this connection.

But The Times, an evening paper,
printed on the Telegraph press, commenting on that article last evening said frankly: "The 'some papers' to which the Star referred is, of course,
The Times."

We had our suspicions that The Times might have been occasionally guilty of some trivial deception of this nature but forebore to say so, both from lack of direct evidence and out of regard for our contemporary's feelings.

Under the circumstances the candid confession quoted above is creditable indeed. It indicates that the conscience of that journal is not yet wholly seared and, in we trust, evidence that it is not yet too late for it to return to the path
of journalistic probity and truthfulness.

Roosevelt's fame is threatened with eclipse. Emperor William, a few weeks ago, announced his intention of taking the shine off the strenuous one's recent submarine feat, and now the Czar has cleverly anticipated Roosevelt's intention to pose as the conquer of the second peace conference at The Hague.
It's up to Teddy to think up something new or the spot-light will be switched elsewhere.

THE NOVA SCOTIA VACANCY.
It seems not unlikely that the death of Senator Black may cause another reorganization of the Murray administration in Nova Scotia. It is well known that Hon. W. T. Pipes was a competitor with Mr. Black for the seat in the senate to which the latter was appointed early this year. After that matter was settled Attorney General Longley was appointed to the bench, and in the rearrangement of provincial portfolios Mr. Pipes became chief commissioner of works and mines. It is altogether probable that Mr. Pipes may prefer the dignified and undistur-bing life of a senator, whose position is permanent, to the worry and toil of a provincial office, with an uncertain tenure. Should this be the preference of Mr. Pipes he would probably be conceded the right to claim the appointment in preference to any other aspirant in Cumberland. But there are nine other counties in Nova Scotia which are not represented in the senate.—Sun.

LOVE TRIUMPHANT.
Helen's lips are drifting dust,
Helen is consumed with rust;
All the gallions of Greece
Drink the ocean's dreamless peace;
Lost was Solomon's purple show;
Restless centuries ago,
Stately empires wax and wane—
Babylon, Barbary, and Spain—
Only one thing undecayed,
Least, though all the world lie waste
And the heavens are overturned:
—Dear, how long ago we learned!

There's a sigh that blinds the sun,
Sound that lives when sounds are done,
Music that rebukes the birds,
Language lovelier than words,
Hue and scent that shame the rose,
Wine no mortal palate knows,
Silence stiller than the shore
Swept by Charon's stealthy oar
Ocean more divinely free
Than Pacific's boundless sea—
Ye who love have learned it true:
—Dear, how long ago we knew!
—Frederick Lawrence Knowles.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT HOME.
SEATTLE Sept. 18.—Despatches received in Seattle tell of a disastrous fire that swept the heart of the business section of Nomes on the night of Sept. 12. From the meagre information given it is believed that from 20 to 25 buildings were destroyed and that the fire area covered two or three blocks.
No details are given and no loss of life is reported.

If the fire burned in both directions
from Lane's Way, it is estimated by Seattle persons familiar with the class of business houses in that vicinity that the loss will reach $500,000 and may exceed that figure, although any estimate made at present would be a mere guess.

Cable and telegraphic communication was re-established with Nome last evening after an interruption of five days.

ELECTRIC SHOCKS FROM FALSE TEETH.
(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)
"False teeth" have been known to generate electricity in the mouth and shock their wearer painfully," said a physician at a gentleman came to me and said he feared he was getting a cancer on his tongue.
Such severe cases have been known
he said, "that often I utter loud oaths
in the most unseemly places—at tea, before the poor man's false teeth. These metals, combining with the saliva, had formed a small battery. Continually shock after shock was administered to the tongue. I painted the metals with an insulating varnish.
Thereafter the man had no more trouble."

Empress Haruko of Japan is 55 years band. She is one of the most beautiful women in Japan. As she is older than the Mikado, she has been able to give her motherly care to the Mikado

during all these years of Meiji.
The couple love each other dearly, although they do not usually go together when they go out. It is publicly denied that she is jealous of her rival, although it is a fact that the Crown Prince Haru-nomya is not her majesty's son, but his majesty's.

which is under government control, and the states which conduct lotteries will,

STREET CAR ADVERTISING.
Montreal Company Secures Rights
on Canadian Systems.
(Montreal Gazette.)

There is considerable stir in street car advertising circles at the present time, and prominent business men of this city, in common with those of all the leading cities of America, are hearing much about this medium of advertising, and he set about organizing the Canadian lines in such a manner as to make a concrete proposition to lay before the national advertiser. He saw at once that the only feasible way of conducting street car advertising in Canada successfully was to get all the systems under the control of one company. Once convinced of the necessity of this, he set no time in putting his plans into execution, and leave after leave for long periods was granted him by all the big companies, until his firm controlled every line west of Montreal,
and had a lease from the Montreal Street Railway to go into effect on the expiration of the existing lease next year. The Ambrose Petry Company, operating in New York, Cleveland, Detroit, San Francisco and other American cities, were also operating under the existing lease in Montreal and cities east, but they decided to dispose of all their Canadian interests to Mr.
Carrique. The transfer of all the Petry interests in Canada to the Canadian Street Car Advertising Company, was made on September 1st, thus bringing about the consolidation previously planned.

Associated with Mr. Carrique in this enterprise is Mr. D. M. Coughlin, founder and formerly editor of Events,
the well-known political weekly.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

Or, The Love Story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, the King's Sister, and Happening in the Reign of His August Majesty King Henry the Eighth
By EDWIN CASKODEN [CHARLES MAJOR]

She was not afraid now that the danger was over, and feared no new danger with Brandon at hand to protect her, for in her heart she felt that to overcome a few fiery dragons and a company or so of giants would be a mere pastime to him. Yet she saw how she treated him. The girl had stopped when Jane called Brandon, and he was at once by their side with uncovered head, hoping for and of course expecting a warm welcome. But even Brandon, with his fund of worldly philosophy, had not learned not to put his trust in princesses, and his surprise was numbing when Mary turned angrily upon him.

"Master Brandon, your impudence in following us shall cost you dearly. We do not desire your company, and will thank you to leave us to our own affairs, as we wish you to attend exclusively to yours."

"This from the girl who had given him so much within called him a weakling?"

Jane, who had called him up and was the cause of his following them, began to weep.

"Sir," said she, "forgive me. It was not my fault. She had just said—'Slap came Mary's hand on Jane's mouth, and Jane was marched off, weeping bitterly.'"

The girls had started up toward East Cheap when they left Grouche's, intending to go home by an upper route, and now they walked rapidly in that direction. Brandon continued to follow them, notwithstanding what Mary had said, and she thanked him and her God ever after that he did.

They had been walking not more than five minutes when, just as the girls turned a corner into a secluded little street, winding its way among the fish warehouses, four horsemen passed Brandon in evident pursuit of them.

Brandon hurried forward, but before he reached the corner he was seized from behind by a pair of strong arms, and he found himself being dragged into a narrow alleyway.

row often a word spoken or unspoken may have the very device in it either way!

The girls were nearly dead from fright, and in order to make any sort of progress Brandon had to carry the princess and help Jane until he thought they were out of danger. Jane soon recovered, but Mary did not seem anxious to walk and lay with her head upon Brandon's shoulder, apparently contented enough.

In a few minutes Jane said: "If you can walk now, my lady, I think you had better. We shall not be near Fishmonger's hall, where some one is sure to be standing at this hour."

Mary said nothing in reply to Jane, but as Brandon fell a step or two behind at a narrow crossing whispered: "Forgive me, forgive me. I will do any penance you ask. I am unworthy to speak your name. I owe you my life and more—and more a thousand times!"

At this she lifted her arm and placed her hand upon his cheek and neck. She then learned for the first time that he was wounded, and the tears came softly as she slipped from his arms to the ground. She walked beside him quietly for a little time, then, taking his hand in both of hers, gently lifted it to her lips and laid it upon her breast. Half an hour afterward Brandon left the girls at Bridewell House and went over to a bridge where he had left his horse at a hostelry, and rode down to Greenwich.

So Mary had made her trip to Greenwich, but it was labor worse than lost. Grouche had told her nothing she wanted to know, though much that he supposed she would like to learn. He had told her that she had many lovers, a fact which her face and form would make easy enough to discover. He informed her also that she had a lowborn lover, and in order to put a little evil in with the good fortune and give what he said an air of truth he added to Mary's state of unrest more than he thought by telling her that her lowborn lover was a knight of the realm, a nobleman, the indications being in favor of the former, and in place of this making her happy she wished the wretched soothsayer in the bottomless pit and all his prophecies, herself, too, for going to him. His guesses were pretty ahead—that is, admitting he did not know who Mary was, which she at least supposed was the case; so Mary went that night and moaned and moaned because she had gone to Grouche's. It had added infinitely to the pain of which her heart was ready to burst, and made her thoroughly wretched and unhappy.

CHAPTER IX.
PUT NOT YOUR TRUST IN PRINCESSES.

THOUGHT the king's dance that night would never end, so fond were the Frenchmen of our fair ladies, and I was more than anxious to see Brandon and learn the issue of the girls' escape, as I well knew the danger attending it.

All things, however, must end, so early in the morning I hastened to our rooms, where I found Brandon lying in his clothes, everlastingly saturated with blood from a dozen sword cuts. He was very weak, and I at once had a barber, who took off his shirt of mail and dressed his wounds. He then dropped into a deep sleep, while I watched the night out. Upon awakening Brandon told me all that had happened, but asked me to say nothing of his illness, as he wished to keep the fact of his wounds secret in order that he might better conceal the cause of them. But, as I told you, he did not speak of Buckingham's part in the affair.

I saw the princess that afternoon and expected, of course, she would inquire for her defender. One who had given such timely help and who was suffering so much on her account was surely worth a little solicitude, but not a word did she ask. She did not come near me, but made a point of avoiding me, as I could plainly see. The next morning she, with Jane, went over to Scotland palace without so much as a breath of inquiry from either of them.

This heartless conduct enraged me, but I was glad to learn afterward that Jane's silence was at Mary's command, that bundle of selfishness fearing that any solicitude, however carefully shown, upon her part might reveal her secret.

It seems that Mary had recent intelligence of the forward state of affairs in the marriage negotiations and felt that a discovery by her brother of what she had done, especially in view of the disastrous results, would send her to France despite all the coaxing she could do from then till doomsday.

It was a terrible fate hanging over her, doubly so in view of the fact that she loved another man, and looking back at it all from the vantage point of time I cannot wonder that it drove other things out of her head and made her seem selfish in her frightened desire to save herself.

About 12 o'clock of the following night I was awakened by a knock at my door, and upon opening I walked a sergeant of the sheriff of London, with four yeomen at his heels.

The sergeant asked if one Charles Brandon was present, and upon my affirmative answer demanded that he be forthcoming. I told the sergeant that Brandon was confined to his bed with illness, whereupon he asked to be shown to his room.

It was useless to resist or to evade, so I awakened Brandon and took the sergeant in. Here he read his warrant to arrest Charles Brandon, Esq., for the murder of two citizens of London, perpetrated, done and committed upon BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Sept. 18.—For half an hour tonight two of the pursuers of Minot St. Clair Francis of Digby, N. S., a half-breed, who with Frank R. HE HAS DONE WELL IN PHILIPPINES.

W. F. Hamilton, a St. John boy who has seen a good deal of the world, and who for some years has resided at Cebu, on the island of the same name, which is one of the Philippine group, is here to visit relatives and friends, having arrived yesterday. Mr. Hamilton has lived in the Philippines since the Spanish-American war, and has prospered there. Mr. Hamilton became a resident of that part of the world rather unexpectedly. He was engaged in the sea, and landed at Manila during the progress of the war, being then at the head of a small fleet of the Spanish fleet. IMPURE MILK

Is the kind most frequently gotten from grocery stores—milk that is old, tainted and poor.

We now have an up-to-date system of treating and delivering milk. We have fresh morning's milk from Jersey cows delivered to us early every morning, and it is at once put into sterilized bottles and into our new iced milk cans, where it quickly cools. We can thus deliver ice cold milk which is pure, and a few hours old—and you can always be sure it is sweet, pure and wholesome. A small item, perhaps, but an important one to our customers.

ST. JOHN MAN MADE IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Constable Ryan, of the Mounted Police, Well Known Here, Landed a Noted Horse Thief.

The following from The Alberta Star, published at Cardston, Alberta, will be read with much interest by the many friends of Constable Ryan, of the Northwest Mounted Police, who has numerous friends in this city. Mr. Ryan is a son of Patrick Ryan, of the firm of the James Ryan wholesale liquor establishment, and was one of the St. John boys that fought the flag in South Africa. After his return he was for a time employed as a driver on the fire department, and for a time drove Chief Kerr's team to the fire.

"Teddy" Keg, arrested in Cardston a few days ago by Constable Ryan, of the R. N. W. M. P., was a rather important capture. He is now committed for trial to the Supreme Court at Lethbridge on two charges of horse stealing, and also on a charge of stealing a saddle and bridle at Lethbridge.

"In addition to this he is wanted in Calgary and Macleod on two additional charges of horse stealing. Had it not been for Constable Ryan's prompt and vigorous action Teddy Keg would almost certainly have escaped to Montana."

"Teddy" was known as a pugilist and crack sprinter, as he tussled with a stout member of the R. N. W. M. P. in the River bottom near Lethbridge, both going over a cut bank, and Teddy slipping off the handrails and escaped, making his way under cover of night to Cardston, where he made the acquaintance of Constable Ryan."

GOOD VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

A large audience assembled last evening at the York Theatre the occasion being the opening night of Lucier's vaudeville combination. Prof. Hayes won hearty applause for his box trick, as did also Phil. Morton, a singer of comic Irish songs. Miss Marguerite was hardly successful in her rendering of the exquisite little song Violets, but showed to much advantage in her comic efforts. A brilliant turn was that of the Brobst trio, introducing a precocious youngster called Skates, their roller skate dance was a novelty that pleased everyone. Perhaps the most popular item on the programme was the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lucier. The former's clever work on the violin was greatly enjoyed.

Mohala is a lady who excels in thought reading, and last night she gave a marvellous exhibition of this art. The last item on the programme is supplied by Ward and Wardie, who give a clever revolving ladder act.
