Notes and News. The Khedive will convert the tops of the Pyramids into light-houses. Could not the Sphinx's eyes be made to beam kindly on the Nile navigators as well?

John Strong, of Westchester, Pa., was hanged the other day, and smoked his cigar to the foot of the gallows. After he had finished the Sheriff sold the "stump" for $5.

The Louisville Ledger gnashes its teeth and says: "The Radical papers of Pennsylvania are determined to kick Forney out of their ranks, and will probably succeed."

The New York chaps want to know what will stop runaway oxen. They have tried full-sized mirrors and plate-glass windows until confident that they are inefficient.

The Erie Railroad has brought suit against Daniel Drew to recover $2,000,000, alleged to have been embezzled by him while treasurer of the company, by the sale of 50,000 shares of water stock.

One English and two American vessels are at Aden, and are going to Zanzibar to aid in suppressing the slave trade. The Khedive will also send a fleet to Zanzibar, to anticipate the English expedition in the seizure of the lake regions of the Nile.

A Radical politician at Whitewater, Wis., wrote two letters after election. One was to his son containing the single word "Haystack." The other full of consolation to a wealthy friend who had just lost his wife.

There is one election bet that has not been paid. A Kentucky farmer, who was elected, provided a grant man would do the same if Greeley was elected. It is a pity, so far as these two idiots are concerned, that both candidates could not have been executed.

Painting on tin-foil has reached so high a degree of perfection as to constitute a new and beautiful decorative art. The tin-foil is stretched on a moistened plate of glass and carefully smoothed. The result is a perfectly dry, flat, and shining surface.

The latest New Orleans confidence game consists in disguising a man's face with a position someone in a crowd, and after groping around on the ground to exclaim, "I have found a gold ring." Of course the bystanders are anxious to see the man who pretends to be a judge, and so pronounce it to be genuine "and worth $15." The finder "being a poor man will, however, sell it for $3."

A despatch from Havana says a severe engagement between the Spaniards and insurgents took place at Retiro, in the Eastern Pinar del Rio, in which the Spaniards were killed and wounded in great numbers. The official report states that five Spaniards were killed and twenty wounded. Puerto Rico is in a few days. The English bark E. B. Hawes was lost on the Colorado.

A session has been caused in San Francisco by the publication of an alleged plot between Laura B. Fair and a restaurateur named Frank, to poison Judge Dwinelle and Alexander Campbell, prosecuting attorneys during the trial of Mrs. Fair for murder. The water, Frank, who reveals the plot, says that it was turned before Mrs. Fair's room trial. He states that the lady tried to induce him to put poison in a decanter in Dwinelle's house or into the milk can at the door.

At the same time this was intended to be done a woman went to the lady's room and told her that she had been investigated by Chief of Police Couper, Judge Dwinelle and all the counsel in the case. Some thought the writer meant that he had a plan of Dwinelle's house in his possession. Mrs. Fair remains in the city. People are much interested at her proposition to give public lectures.

Divorced in Blood. The shooting of George Martine by her husband, a terrible struggle between husband and wife. New York, Nov. 25. A high-stooped heavy stone mansion at 317 West Fifty-first street was on Saturday the scene of a domestic tragedy in which a husband shot his wife, causing wounds which will doubtless result in her death.

George Martine, a Cuban, aged 50, and his wife Josephine, aged 40, accompanied by their family, consisting of three grown-up sons and a young daughter, left Havana, where George Martine had been engaged as a cigar merchant, and settled in this city. Shortly after their arrival their daughter married a Senator Monlova, a well-to-do Cuban, resident of this city.

Senator Martine and the other members of his family went to bank, and he received notification to accomplish it in the regular method. The Nancroth News, one number of which has been received from a friend now resident in Jerusalem, half rejoices and half laments because a railway has been projected from the Mediterranean to Bagdad, and that pilgrimages to the tomb of the Saviour will become fashionable pleasure tours.

A special from Newport, R. I., says that Oliver Reed, a wealthy broker of that city, was shot and killed in the city on Saturday. Reed was a stranger, $17,000 in Central Pacific income bonds, which he disposed of through Plak & Hatch, of New York. It is proved that he was counterfeited. These bonds, which the commission, has been paid over to the supposed swindler, but will be made good by Mr. Reed, who will use every means to bring the supposed swindler to justice.

The dramatic profession has a singular charm for many young ladies, and young gentlemen, too, for that matter. An advertisement in the X. Herald a few weeks ago for a belle girl brought many applications to the managers in the city, most of them coming from young girls who had never appeared in public.

Among the various uses to which the modern means of rapid travel we put, it is that of facilitating the escape of a man from a bad situation. The man who is in a bad situation, and who is likely to be overhauled by a more rapid pace, and the necessity of a stop somewhere for the night, is a very common occurrence.

Meeting of Creditors. The creditors of Messrs. Oudlip & Sailer met at their office next Wednesday, December 4th. The claims maturing before the meeting amount to $125,000. There are seventy creditors claiming over $10 each, and the largest claim is $15,800.

Newspaper Progress. Says the St. John correspondent of the Bangor Commercial: "The first newspaper folder imported into this province has been purchased in Boston by Wm. Elder, Esq., proprietor of the Telegraph and Yearbook. The rapidly increasing circulation of the daily and weekly issues of this paper necessitated this movement. Mr. Elder is about to make extensive alterations in the building now occupied by him, and purpose starting a job office next year."

The Loch Lomond Arson Case. The preliminary examination in the case of George and Joshua Sherwood, London Steves and Jacob Brown, charged with pulling down and setting fire to the house of Robert Stackhouse at Loch Lomond, was commenced at the police office yesterday afternoon. Mr. John Kerr appeared for the prosecution, and in the absence of Mr. Palmer, Judge Skinner acted for the defendant. The witnesses examined were the prosecutor and his wife, whose evidence was in accordance with the circumstances already published. From the statements of Mr. Stackhouse it appears that on Monday morning George Sherwood came to the house with an axe and being told he was about to break in the door with the axe and nearly struck one of the children. The four men, two having axes, then went into the house and attempted to get Mrs. Stackhouse by hitting both her. She managed to escape with a torn dress. After another attempt to put her out they tore off the boards of the roof and split them in pieces. They then procured a quantity of birch bark from the woods and set fire to the premises. The house was soon in a blaze and Mrs. Stackhouse still inside. James Stackhouse came up the road and attempted to rescue the woman, but George Sherwood threatened to split his head open. Mrs. Stackhouse's eldest son was also kept away, being chased by Sherwood with a knife and axe. Mrs. Stackhouse remained until the heat compelled her to leave. At one time a blow was made at her with an axe. She had been aware of the parties having a claim to the house.

The examination was then adjourned until 11 this morning. Mr. Skinner applied for bail for the prisoners, but this was refused by the Magistrate, who stated that the offense was punishable by imprisonment for life.

The examination was resumed at 11 this morning and ended at 1 o'clock. The witnesses examined were James Benjamin and Robert Stackhouse, and their evidence was corroborative of that previously given. The question of the title of Stackhouse to the premises was not taken up, nor were any witnesses examined for the defense. After hearing the evidence and receiving the usual caution from the Court, the prisoners severally pleaded not guilty and were committed, without bail, to take their trial at the present Supreme Court. The trial is expected to be held in not in any apprehension as to its trial.

Shipping News. There were 53 steamers, 33 ships, 199 barks, 77 briggs, and 138 schooners, or a total of 423 vessels, at the port of New York on the 23rd inst.

The steamer New Brunswick at Eastport, from Boston, reports a long passage last after a passage of 9 days. The steamer was launched from the Marine Railway at Pictou yesterday, having been hauled from Cape Ann.

The steamer Excalibur which went ashore near Georgetown, P. E. I., some 10 days ago, was hauled from the Marine Railway at Pictou yesterday, having been hauled from Cape Ann.

The missing mail steamer Pictou arrived at Pictou from Newfoundland on Monday last after a passage of 9 days. The steamer had a leakage in one of her boilers which compelled her to work her way under sail.

The brigantine Elsie of Halifax, Lovegrove, commander, made the round voyage Halifax to Mayaguez, P. R., and returns in 20 days, one of the quickest on record. The brig Harmony of this port, Beck, commander, on her passage from Sydney, O. B., to Matanzas with coal, 17 days, put into New York in distress on the 23rd, having on the 7th, in lat. 45 30, 50, had a heavy gale from the southwest lasting three days, in which she lost fore-topmast, foremast, and all her sails excepting the foremast head, store her bulwarks and received other damage.

The brig Laura B., of this port, Merriam, at New Bedford from Liverpool, E., had heavy north-west gales and was driven in, lat. 37, 30, and, and that from that point to New Bedford had light variable winds, with 14 days sail.

A Doctor's Office Burglared. At an early hour on Sunday morning a bold attempt was made to gain entrance into the office of Dr. J. Andrews, on the corner of Palmer Street and Water Street. The office has large glass windows of the sash style, but has no shutters, and the burglar, assuming, probably, that the place was not occupied at night, cut a large hole in one of the panes. Dr. Andrews, who slept in the rear of the office, heard the noise of falling glass and rushed out just in time to see the burglar become alarmed and disappear. It is singular that all places a doctor's office should be selected for the purpose of robbery.

The course of study at this institution is comprehensive, and adapted not only to such as have enjoyed the best educational advantages, but also to those whose education is deficient, from want or neglect of early opportunities or other causes. Those who desire to engage in mercantile pursuits will receive that which is invaluable to them in the safety and despatch with which they will be able to conduct their own business or that of others. It gives the mechanic an opportunity to take a front rank, by reason of superior ability to transact with correctness the business of his calling. To those engaging in agriculture it gives a practical knowledge and experience in business, which will enable them to meet the shrewd business man with confidence. And to that large number who are uncertain what course to pursue, it is not only the best stepping stone to lucrative and permanent business of their own, but also a ready means of commanding regular employment. The circulation of the DAILY TRIBUNE is rapidly increasing.
