MURDER TRIAL IN VICTORIA COUNTY

Almon Crombie of Crombie Settlement Charged With Killing His
Twelve-Year-Old Son

INSANITY WAS PROVED

Andover, Mar. 5.—(Special to The Observer)—In the Crombie murder case the jury has returned a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity at the time of the act. Crombie was remanded to jail to await the pleasure of the Lieut. Governor.

Andover, March 7.—The supreme court opened here this morning. Chief Justice McKeown presiding. The court first considered the case of the King vs. Almon Crombie, charged with the murder of his twelve-year-old son in October last. The scene of the alleged crime is in the Bluebell district, near Plaster Rock, at the northern end of the county. It is understood the defence of temporary insanity will be raised.

Crombie is subject to epileptic fits and it is the theory of the defence that while in one of these fits he shot his son. Peter J. Hughes, of Fredericton, is appointed for the prosecution and Wm. W. P. Jones, K. C., on behalf of the accused. The crown called as its first witness William McKee, who lived near Crombie at Crombie Settlement. The witness told of the wife of the accused and a Mr. Donovan going to his home late at night on Oct. 1 last. The witness went to the house of Crombie that same night and found him behind the wood door. Crombie asked the witness if he was a friend or foe. McKee testified that at that time Crombie had a barrel of a gun over his shoulder but the stock of the gun was missing. Crombie said he had been in a big fight and there had been people shooting at him through the window. He also said there were some men under the bed and that they had killed his boy. Witness looked under the bed but there was no one there. McKee asked Crombie to go out of the house with him, but Crombie would not go until he had shot out his window.

On going out of doors the accused appeared to be very much excited and expected an attack from all quarters. He looked behind every stump near the house. On the way down the road they met Arthur Donovan and Crombie asked, "who is that?" Donovan said, "Arthur Donovan from Chicago." Crombie then said, "That is one of them," and ran down the road. On arriving at the witness' home Crombie asked for a pen and paper and wrote, "Arthur Donovan killed me for my wife." Crombie said he was going to die and asked witness to take him to the doctor. They hitched up and started for a doctor at Plaster Rock. After going about two miles Crombie jumped out of the wagon and ran into the woods. He was not seen until next day. Witness then went back to the home of the accused and found the boy on the floor with his skull crushed in. The next morning he went to look for Crombie and found him in the woods, only partly dressed, and running around a small tree and singing. He was in his bare feet and snow on the ground.

The evidence of Arthur Donovan, of Chicago, who was visiting at the home of Crombie the day of the tragedy, taken at the preliminary examination, was read to the jury. He testified that he was reading a newspaper on the night in question when Crombie charged him with putting poison in his medicine. Crombie went in a bedroom and coming out pointed a rifle at the witness. Donovan ran out of the house. He saw a light broken and heard Crombie smashing the stove.

Dr. Joseph Coffin, told of treating Crombie as far back as 1916 for fits and said he had epilepsy. The doctor said that he considered all epileptics potentially dangerous and that an epileptic patient is liable at certain intervals. The witness said that from his knowledge of the accused if he struck his boy and killed him he was insane at the time.

Hon. Mr. Jones then opened the case on behalf of the defence. The first witness called was Mrs. Annie Crombie, wife of the defendant.

She said that about seven years ago a tree fell on her husband's head and injured him. After being hurt he seemed stupid and lazy. In May, 1917, he had his first epileptic fit. It was during the night and he was unconscious for some time. The next fit was three months later. During the last two years Crombie had a fit almost every other week. The week of the tragedy Crombie did not sleep well and talked foolishly and was very nervous. After supper on the night of the tragedy he played the mouth organ and then accused Mr. Donovan of "monkeying" with his medicine. He then pointed a gun at Mr. Donovan. Witness ran out of the house and looked in the window and saw Crombie hit the lamp with the gun and then all was darkness. From the time the accused was hurt on the head by the tree until his first fit he complained of headaches.

Almon Crombie then took the stand in his own behalf and said that during the week before the tragedy he had been feeling sick and was worse on Saturday. On Saturday he remembered after supper helping the children with their lessons—playing on the harmonica. That was all he remembered until he was in jail at Andover two or three days after the tragedy. This ended the case for the defence. Counsel will address the jury to-morrow morning.

FIRST BIG THAW BRINGS A FLOOD

The first thaw of the winter followed a few days spring-like weather and culminated in a heavy easterly rainstorm during Tuesday night. The portion of the town on the easterly side of the railway tracks awoke yesterday morning to find itself pretty completely inundated. The flood was caused by the suddenly melting snow on the highland back of the town and is a phenomenon not at all uncommon. On Feb. 24, 1916, an exactly similar disaster occurred.

Yesterday the store of J. T. O. Carr, the Windsor hotel, the bank building and several other places were flooded with water to a depth of several inches, and the street for a time was impassable.

The sewerage down Burt's hill was insufficient to carry the water, indeed so great was its volume that no practical system of sewerage could have saved the situation. The southern portion of the flat, which suffered heavily six years ago, got off very well this time as the new sewer there afforded drainage that relieved the flood to an appreciable extent.

There was a washout in the main street near Harry Lipssett's house, but it was repaired before nightfall. There was no other damage to the streets.

The C. P. R. had its troubles with numerous washouts, the principle ones being at Pool and Beechwood. The morning train from Aroostook was several hours late but the express trains were not detained.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES

At the regular monthly meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening Mayor Kelley presided and all the aldermen were in their places.

Ald. Hagerman for the finance committee reported that the warrant for 1922 taxes had been placed in the assessor's hands. The sum asked for is $1000 less than last year.

The question of lighting the streets was quite fully discussed. Frank Sopley, owner of the electric plant, said that he could at the present time supply current for 10 lights. A committee was appointed to deal with the matter of not only lights for the streets but for the bridge as well. The latter question will be taken up with the Minister of Public Works and an attempt made to bring about a division of the expense between the town and the government.

PRODUCE PRICES

There is no improvement in the potato market and a survey of the whole situation indicates that the supply of potatoes in the country is far greater than any possible demand for them. The price today is 75c to $1.00. Unfortunately there is little market for starch and the factory here is not likely to be operated.

Hay is still firm at $24 and $25, and oats at 55 cents are very good prices indeed. Butter is today 50 cents and eggs 40 cents.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" GAVE IT

Great Constipation or Indigestion acts as the basis of many of the greatest diseases. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected.
This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YAMMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time.
If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-lives," which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting.
As up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-lives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit."

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

What Happens to Old Railroad Ties

The railway passenger who sees piles of worn-out cross ties piled up and set on fire by repair gangs along the right of way sometimes wonders why this is done and asks why people are not allowed to use them for fuel. The Pennsylvania Railroad has issued an information paraphrase dealing with this subject which states:

"In the first place, it is far from
true that all the old ties are burned.
A considerable number are constantly being sold to persons living on or near the right of way, who buy them at nominal prices, usually ten or fifteen cents apiece, and use them for firewood.

"That is about as far as the railroad company has been able to go, thus far, in finding an outlet for disposing of the ties. Such a method of disposal is practicable only in those cases where the ties can be delivered at a public crossing, or other point where they can be obtained safely by the users, and where the cost of transporting them is not greater than the nominal price obtainable.

"The Company cannot sanction
the public going promiscuously over tracks and through yards to gather up old ties. To do so would be practically letting down the bars against trespassing in the tracks, an evil which has been the cause of about half of all the fatal accidents on railroads in the United States.

"Efforts have been made to interest dealers in firewood in buying the old ties, but not thus far with much success. The causes appear to be that the old ties are often dirty;
that they contain more or less stone,
grit and slag wedged in the cracks,
which might injure the stoves used in burning them; that in many cases they are partly decayed; that they are dried out, and that their fibre is more or less crushed, so that they burn out too quickly. These are among the reasons assigned by dealers who have not been willing to pay the railroad company enough to cover the cost of collecting the ties and delivering them to a point at which they could be removed.

"Efforts have also been made to dispose of old ties in a number of other ways, including sale for wood-pulp purposes, for the extraction of chemicals, for burning and sale of the ashes for fertilizer, and for manufacture into charcoal, but without success in interesting parties engaged in these occupations.

"The Company will be glad to continue, and wherever feasible to extend, the present practice of selling old ties to individual consumers for use as fuel at points where they can be delivered without danger to the purchasers and without costing for collection and transportation.
The management will welcome any other suggestions by which more of the old ties can be usefully disposed of or made available for commercial or industrial purposes."

The Canadian Pacific Railway
goes further than the Pennsylvania Railroad and gives away ties to any one who will take them, such giving being surrounded with the necessary safeguards as to trespassing. The experience of the Canadian Pacific is that ties are taken only where there is no standing timber in the vicinity, and that in many cases the farmers taking the ties do not use them for firewood but for general purposes around the farm, indicating that the value of old ties as fuel in this country is extremely small.

REVENGE IS SWEET

She was sitting out at a village
dance in the parish hall, when a well-meaning but rather rustic youth saw a spider running over her lace collar.

"Permit me," he murmured, as he bent
to remove it.

"How dare you speak to me without an introduction, sir?" she blurted out.

Here the spider touched her neck,
and cried out: "Oh, take it off! Oh, please do take it off!"

"I couldn't think of it, miss; I haven't been introduced to the spider."

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone,
the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodhead P.T.O.
Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which usually used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch all my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also buy a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

PRODUCT OF CANADA

The Harp in Canada

From time immemorial nature has been a source of inspiration to the poet. The majesty of the mountains, the serene beauty of the forests, the charm of rivers—all seem to have the effect of moving poetic souls. Canada, with its wealth of glorious scenery, is therefore naturally the home of poets, and indeed, it has been said that one cannot throw a snowball without hitting one.

The Canadian school of poetry is essentially a nature school. Bliss Carman, Charles G. D. Roberts and Archibald Lampman have set the standard, and a very high standard it is. Probably nothing in Canadian literature has been more quoted than Bliss Carman's "Low Tide on Grand Pre," a poem which breathes the spirit of nature as felt on the lovely shores of Nova Scotia. The modern Canadian poets are following in the footsteps of these writers, but going further afield as the facilities for travel throughout the great Dominion are extended. Thus, for instance, in a recent volume of poems by a young Irish-Canadian poet, M. A. Hargadon, the scene changes from Ireland to Nova Scotia, Quebec, and the Canadian Rockies. Here is a charming verse from a poem about Lake Louise:

"This lake is God's best picture; that is why He hung it on the mountains at the sky And set it in so beautiful a frame: Art galleries of heaven have none the same."

This is the closing verse of a poem inspired by the majestic beauty of Banff:

"There is no lovelier place to live And when at last I die I think my soul will go to Banff Instead of to the sky; For here there is no sorrowing, No suffering nor care, And, up so near to paradise, It seems enfolded there."

The French-Canadians are described as:

"Branch of a splendid race transplanted here Illuming life through all this lovely land; In Nova Scotia Mr. Hargadon is inspired to write lines that are particularly happy:—

"God writes His poetry to day: I see the flashes of His hand On distant hills, along the bay. All through the fair Acadia land."

"His book is every scene about, There are a million happy lines: The sweetest I have chosen out Beneath the steeples of the pines."

Many of the poems are about Ireland, a country which has given Canada many good settlers, and no doubt, will give many more. Here is a verse from one:

"Young April is in Ireland now I wish that I were with her there, For she is far the loveliest Of all the Aprils anywhere: She has the sweetest voice and face; She has the brightest gowns to wear."

Irish and Canadian poems are illustrated with attractive photographs of scenes in Canada and Ireland. With St. Patrick's day approaching, and with Ireland now taking her place amongst the nations, the book is likely to create a wide interest at the present time, as it appears at a particularly opportune moment. It is prefaced by a sympathetic introduction by Colonel George H. Ham.

Irish and Canadian Poems are issued by The Modern Printing Company, 39 Dowd Street, Montreal. Price, one dollar.

LIQUID ACCIDENT

Secretary Elmer Thompson of the Automobile Club of America said in New York the other day:

"The automobile gets the blame for everything. A man lay in the middle of the road one evening, surrounded by a large crowd. An old lady pushed her way into the crowd and said:

"Poor fellow! Poor young fellow! I suppose an automobile run into him."

"No, ma'am," said a policeman. "It wasn't an automobile that ran into him this time."

"What was it, then," said the old lady.

"It was a keg, or maybe a keg and a half of beer," said the policeman."

HARTLAND, N. B., MAR. 9, 1922.

OLD 67TH HAS ANNUAL DINNER

Hardwicke. Major Lockary made a strong appeal for the formation and maintenance of a strong militia organization in Canada, his watch word being "Be prepared." Revs. Franchetti and Hardwicke spoke eloquently of the sacrifice made by those who fought in the great war for the safety of humanity, and pointed out the great service which the officers who had proven themselves leaders of men, could further render humanity in the arts of peace and in being prepared in case of necessity. Our Provincial Government, was responded to by Hon. J. E. Michaud, M. P. P., in a forceful speech in which he pointed out that, although New Brunswick's balance sheet showed a deficit for 1921, the heartbeat of the province was vigorous. Sources of revenue during the past two years had dried up more or less as an outcome of the business depression, which particularly affected the farming, lumbering and fishing industries, but despite this fact a certain class of citizens were demanding the more public money be expended on the improvement of highways and bridges, while others wanted improved educational facilities, but none of these people could suggest whereby the money could be raised. A business man would curtail expenditures to a minimum until the business and financial conditions warranted further expenditures, but the people would not stand for a government taking that course. The speaker called upon the officers who were the representatives of law and order and were leaders among men, to consider deeply the conditions existing in the province and as an organized body and as individuals to give their assistance to the government in solving the perplexing question of meeting the ever increasing demands of the people with a revenue which has proven inadequate.

Captain Aaron Lawson responded to the toast to the Reserve in a very pleasing manner, dwelling for some time on his happy experiences while an officer drilling the Madawaska company at Camp Sussex. He supported Major Lockary's appeal for a stronger Canadian military organization which would command respect such as the Canadian army had demanded of a certain gentleman now an exile from his fatherland.

The Edmundston Board of Trade was responded to by J. W. Hall, president, and W. R. Belyea, secretary. The president pointed out what had been accomplished for Edmundston several years ago by the old Madawaska county Board of Trade, of which he was an officer, and he believed that the future held many good things for Edmundston if the business men would co-operate with a "boosting" spirit. He mentioned the various public buildings and civic improvements which the board was striving to get, and trusted that when the officers of the Carleton Light Infantry held its next annual dinner in Edmundston the town would have several public buildings in keeping with the town's importance and of which the citizens would be justly proud.

The secretary, W. R. Belyea, for the benefit of those who were paying their first visit to Edmundston, pointed out some of the many features of the town which went toward making it one of the most important in the province, including its splendid railway facilities and great industry. The speaker regretted the utter lack of knowledge of Edmundston on behalf of the people in the southern part of the province, and suggested that greater co-operation among the boards of trade would materially assist in acquainting the people with the natural resources of the country.

The toastmaster then announced that the officers would parade to the "Palms" where the Woodstock G. W. V. A. was holding a dance, after having given a performance of the play "Col. Egey" in the Star Theatre. The singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King brought the dinner to a close. All who partook of the sumptuous repast voted that Miss Hebert the manager of the Windsor was a past mistress in the art of catering to men's tastes.

Major Rideout conveyed the regrets of Pitts Michaud, M. P., at not being present, as he had been to Memramcook on account of the death of his sister.

PERTH NOTES

W. H. Budd, M. D., of Aroostook Jct., was calling on friends in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. Lovely went to Wapke on Thursday to see her sister, Mrs. John McNair. Mrs. McNair was obliged to enter the Fisher Memorial Hospital on Friday for treatment. She was accompanied by Mr. McNair and her daughter, Mrs. Harold Green. It is the sincere wish of all that she may be quickly restored to health.

Mrs. George Clark took her little daughter, Nida, to Woodstock last week, where she underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. A. D. Campbell of Arthurville was in town on Friday.

On Friday evening a hockey game took place on the rink here, between the Bank boys, and town team. The score was 2-0, in favor of the latter. Dr. McIntosh, of Andover, who played with the Bank boys, had the misfortune to cut one of his legs quite badly and had to be taken home. We sincerely hope it may not be of a serious nature. At the conclusion of the game, T. Hatchford of the Bank of Montreal staff, was tendered a banquet by a number of his friends at Millin's Cafe. A very enjoyable time was spent. Mr. Hatchford, who has been transferred to Shediac, left the following day to enter on his new duties.

The Women's Institute met with Mrs. O. C. Johnston. There was quite a large attendance, and a very pleasing program carried out. Roll call was answered to by a quotation from some favorite author. Mrs. M. L. Jamer, who recently had the misfortune of losing her home by fire was given a kitchen shower, which added much to the pleasure of those present.

The U. B. Quarterly meetings will take place here this week, beginning on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Larlee's many friends, will be sorry to learn that she is very ill. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

Miss Fannie Larlee, R. N., who has been on a case at Fort Fairfield is now enjoying a few days rest at her home here.

Cooling Breezes at the Golf Links of St. Andrew's

While the continent as a whole has been sweltering under a pitiless sun that has kept the mercury round the hundred mark, St. Andrew's-by-the-Sea, known as the Newport of Canada, has been blessed with delightful days. The temperature of this popular resort on Passamaquoddy Bay in New Brunswick, has averaged 70 degrees F. On July first the mercury stood at 62. This fact has drawn many visitors to St. Andrew's and the hotel are thronged with a gay crowd which, added to the Canadian smart set whose palatial cottages overlook the Bay, makes the Canadian Newport a lively place. Like its namesake in old Scotland, St. Andrew's is noted for its excellent golf links. These are laid out on a spit of land known as Joe's Point which projects into the blue bay and is swept by sea breezes at every hour. Golfers are to be found enjoying the course at all hours and many of the four-some include world famous players. Bowling on the green is another attraction at St. Andrew's. This is a sport little known south of the border, but so popular at St. Andrew's that the green is lighted by electricity at night and keenly contested matches vie with the fine dancing floor of the Casino as an evening pleasure. Bathing in Katy's Cove affords safe delight to young and old, while the waters of the Bay lure sailors of all water craft to join in the weekly sailing and motor boat races. The motor roads in the vicinity are in fine condition and an afternoon run from the old town of St. Andrew's out over the hard packed road to the wooded heights above St. Croix and then on to St. Stephen is a joy that never palls.

AN ALPINE GUIDE OF THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

"It is mountain climbing is dangerous, then trying in bed is far more dangerous, since more people die in bed than on the mountains." That is the answer of Rudolf Aemmer, the famous Swiss guide of Edelweiss, British Columbia, in Montreal recently, when asked if mountain climbing is a dangerous sport.

Rudolf Aemmer is well known to mountain climbers and tourists to Lake Louise, Banff, Field, and all the most favored of the holiday resorts in the Canadian Rocky Mountains. He has led many a party of old climbers over the peaks of the Rockies, and initiated many novices in the sport.

In the summer months when most climbing is done, Rudolf, with four other Swiss guides, makes his headquarters at Lake Louise.

Rudolf has been in Switzerland since the beginning of the winter. He went over to see the old folks in Interlaken, where he was born, and also to indulge in the Swiss winter sports. He expects a record climbing season in the Canadian Rockies in 1922, and he has been keeping himself fit to meet it. He will be back from Switzerland in May.

Though he loves his native Switzerland Rudolf would rather live in Canada. He has been here since 1909.

Asked how he learned to climb, Rudolf said he learned in the Swiss mountains when he was a child. When a young man he got his climbing diploma. He then exhibited this in the shape of a medal which he wore on the inside of his coat. One has to qualify in Switzerland before becoming a guide.

June, July and August are the best months for Canadian climbing, Rudolf says. He told of different climbing parties he accompanied. The longest climbing trip he had was around Lake Louise and he and his party were out thirty-six days; on this trip there were thirteen people, and twenty-five horses were employed to carry the food. Indian tents in which the party slept, and other requisites.

For climbing, Rudolf went on.

RUDOLF AEMMER
 "You need strong waterproof boots, with heavy nailed soles. The guides help in every way they can so that beginners starting out on a climb are properly equipped."

"Do climbers ever get nervous or dizzy?" was a question put to Rudolf.

"Yes," he answered, "but they very soon get over that. In an exceptional case of dizziness we bring the person down again."

Proceeding, Rudolf said that the guide led the climbing parties, and climbers held on to a rope, keeping about twenty-five feet apart. The guide used his axe to sound snow bridges. By the sound made when hit the guides know if it is safe to cross the snow bridge. It is easier to climb up than to climb down.

Rudolf has climbed with many famous Alpinists, both men and women. Records of climbs are kept at Lake Louise. It was he who carried Mrs. Stone on his back to safety after her eight day exposure on the ledge of Mount Eon last summer. The Swiss guides of the Canadian Rockies reside at a village called Edelweiss built for them in Swiss Chalet styles of architecture by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It may be seen from the transcontinental trains about a mile west of Golden, B.C. There they bring up their families, and the youngsters are taught to climb from their infancy. So Canada is assured of a hardy race of mountaineers.
