

Let London Help To Care For Families of the Sailors!

The men who died in the lake storms of one week ago were almost all Western Ontario men—"our ain folk." They died as bravely as Captain Scott in the quest of the Antarctic. The peninsula of which London is the centre breeds this sturdy race of men who daily face the unconquerable inland seas. It is London's duty and Western Ontario's duty to give a share of the aid that is needed for the wives and old mothers and old fathers and children of those who perished. The Advertiser is authorized to receive subscriptions in London to the fund being collected in Canada.

SAILOR'S MOTHER SENDS HER MITE TO HELP THE SUFFERERS BY STORM

Pathetic Letter Received From Mother of Sailor Lad Who Perished Years Ago
While Sailing the Great Lakes.

HEARTY RESPONSE TO APPEAL

To The London Advertiser:

I am not able to do much to help the families of the men who were drowned, but I enclose $1 as the mother of a boy who was drowned many years ago. I know a great many who will suffer because of the storms. It will be a dreary Christmas for a good many little children, because when the storms are over people forget those who are gone, and what it means to those who are left. I am glad The Advertiser is taking up a subscription. I am sure it will be the means of helping many needy.

Only a mite in memory of my boy, enclosed find $1.

Response Is Hearty.

The response to the appeal, on behalf of the widows and orphans of the brave Canadian sailors who lost their lives in the terrific storms on the Great Lakes a week ago, has already started. At 2 o'clock this afternoon private subscriptions in London had reached the total of $176.50, the money being turned in at the offices of the London Advertiser and of Mayor Graham.

Pathetic in the extreme was the letter received by The Advertiser this morning from the "Sailor's Mother," who contributed her "mite" for the relief of those whose Christmas will be a weary and sorrowful one this year. It was in memory of her boy who perished in the Great Lakes years ago.

Tonight the appeal will be brought before the council, and it is expected that a municipal offering to swell London's total will be made. Subscriptions to the fund will be received at the newspaper offices and at the offices of the mayor in the city hall and at his store.

BODIES OF DEAD
PASSING THROUGH TO BURIAL PLACE

Remains of Three of the Argus
Crew Brought to the City
Today.

ONE WAS STEWARDESS

Goderich and Kincardine Full of Relatives of Men Who Are Still Missing.

The bodies of Van, B. Young, of Marine City, Mich., first mate of the ill-fated freighter Argus; George Hays, Crosswell, Mich., handyman on the Argus, and Mrs. Walker, stewardess of the Argus, arrived in London this morning from Kincardine. They were accompanied by W. J. Williams, brother-in-law of First Mate Young, William Bower, undertaker, both of Marine City, Michigan, and William Hays, brother of George Hays. All three bodies were taken west on No. 3 at noon that of Young going to Marine City, Hays to Port Huron, and the body of Mrs. Walker to Cleveland.

The identification of these members of the Argus crew were made on Saturday at Kincardine. The bodies were among those cast up on shore near Kincardine Friday. All wore Argus life-preservers. To The Advertiser today, Mr. Williams stated that he had no difficulty in identifying his brother-in-law, First Mate Young. "I recognized him as soon as I entered the room where the bodies lay," he said. "He looks just as natural in death as he did in life, and his features give no indication of the suffering he must have undergone from the cold and exposure while in the water."

Although Mr. Hays states he is positive the body he is taking to Port Huron is that of his brother, there is a little uncertainty about the identification. "The last time I saw him," he told The Advertiser, "was in March last. However, he has not changed since then, and he looked the same to me when I identified him at Kincardine as he did last March. The only doubt in the matter is caused by the two marks on his arm. I always believed, and his registration with the Lake Carriers' Association, bears it out, that he was tattooed 'G. Hays,' but the tattoo marks on the body I am taking to Port Huron are simply 'M. A.' In all other identifications, however, he lies with my brother, however, and I am sure it is he. He was on the Port Huron police force last year, and a year ago last winter, and I believe the uncertainty about the tattoo marks will be cleared up there." Hays was 32 years of age, and had been on the Argus since June.

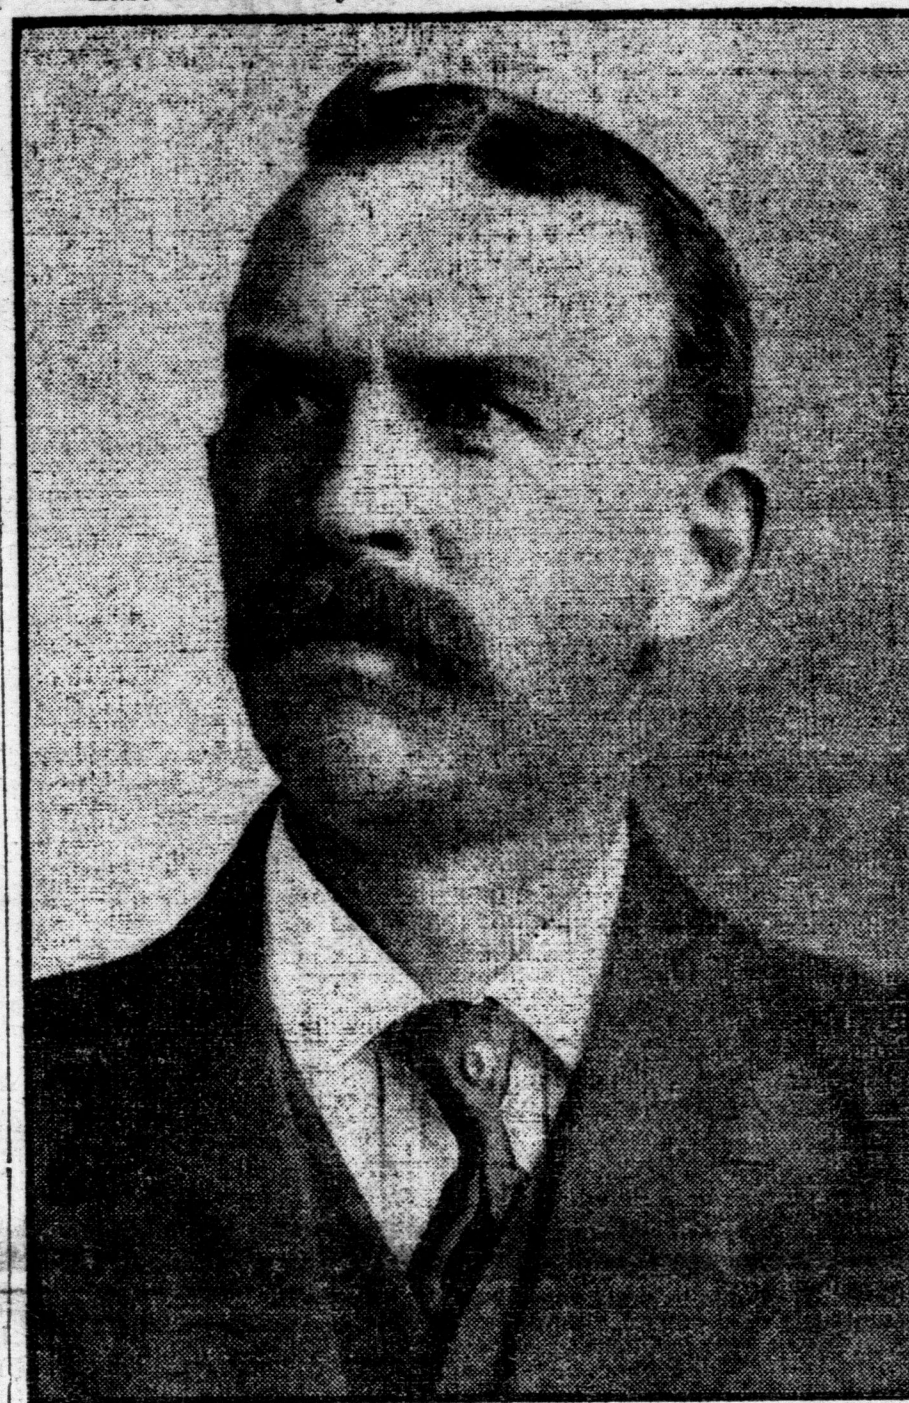

Three Unidentified.
The men state that Goderich and Kincardine are full of relatives and friends of sailors who are still missing, but the greater number of bodies cast ashore have been identified. There are still three unidentified bodies at Kincardine. E. LeMere, of Port Huron, is conducting an indefatigable search for his son, who was an officer on the Argus. The body of Mrs. Walker when found was wrapped in LeMere's coat.

Systematic searches of the shore for many miles in either direction are being made. When the men left Goderich this morning tugs were making ready to search the lake for more bodies, and a strong breeze is blowing shoreward off the lake. It is expected that many more will be recovered today. Hundreds of people are walking up and down the beaches looking for wreckage and dead. Many people are of the opinion that a number of the sailors were drowned when their ships sank and their bodies would not rise to the surface of the lake until the ninth day. It is expected that many of these bodies will be washed ashore Tuesday and Wednesday. So far all the bodies that have come ashore have worn life-preservers.

VAN. B. YOUNG, first mate of the Argus, whose body was brought to London this morning from Kincardine on its way to Marine City, Mich., where his funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon.

Widows and Orphans
Suffer From Policy of
Whitney Government

Liberal Leader Points Out That Failure To Keep Promises in Regard to Workmen's Compensation
Act Means Hardship For Those Left by Storm Victims.

The culpability of the Whitney Government in the lack of provision for the widows and orphans of the Ontario sailors who lost their lives in the recent storm on Lake Huron and Lake Superior was scathingly arraigned by Newton W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, at the East Middlesex Liberal convention in Hyman Hall on Saturday afternoon.

The leader was dealing with the failure of the Whitney Government to carry out its promises in respect to the workmen's compensation act. After outlining the "do nothingness" policy of procrastination that the Government had pursued since 1907 in regard to this act, he said:

Whitney Responsible.

"Through the press today I see that they are expressing a general message of sympathy for the brave sailors who lost their lives in the waters of Lakes Huron and Superior. They are asking for contributions. If the widows and orphans of those brave sailors have nothing to provide them with support and keep them in life, why is it?"

"IT IS BECAUSE THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO PUT THROUGH THE WORKINGMEN'S COMPENSATION BILL. IF IT HAD CARRIED OUT ITS PROMISES EVERY WIDOW OF AN ONTARIO SAILOR ON THE GREAT LAKES, WHO LOST HIS LIFE DURING THE TERRIBLE STORMS OF THIS WEEK WOULD HAVE HAD PROTECTION FOR THEMSELVES IN THIS PRESENT DISASTER."

FINDING OF A PILOT HOUSE
MAY REVEAL NEW WRECK

Fears That an Unknown Wooden Steamer
Has Gone Down Aroused by Find On Canadian Shore Near Sarnia---Forty Bodies On Way From Kincardine.

[Canadian Press.]
Port Huron, Nov. 17.—No further details were available today in connection with the discovery yesterday of a pilot house and Texas, supposed to be from a wooden steamer, which were found on the Canadian shore a few miles above here.

All of the vessels heretofore reported lost are said to have been of steel construction, and if a wooden steamer went down in Lake Huron her identity is a mystery.

Information was received here this afternoon that forty bodies of sailors who lost their lives in last week's storm disaster on Lake Huron were on their way to Sarnia from Kincardine, where they had been washed ashore. Many of the bodies are still unidentified.

The steamer Wyoming and barge probably foundered in the gale a week ago Sunday on Lake Huron. The Wyoming passed this port up-bound at 6:30 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 7. It is thought she was near Sarnia Bay when the storm struck. The Wyoming and barge had a crew of 22. She was a wooden steamer.

The overturned freighter Charles S. Price, a derrick for more than a week, sank in Lake Huron shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. The report was received by wireless.

WYOMING IS AFE.

[Canadian Press.]

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The Wyoming Steamship Company, owners of the steamer Wyoming, reported lost in Lake Huron, stated today that their vessel was safe in shelter at Lily Pond, Lake Superior. The Wyoming passed the Soo at 3 o'clock Friday morning. Word was received from her captain yesterday.

ESCAPED BEING INJURED

Fellow-Countrymen of City Turn
Out En Masse to Welcome Him Back.

Grecian citizens of London turned out en masse at 1 o'clock Sunday morning to welcome back to London Nicholas Katelanes, a hero of the Balkan and Turkish-Grecian wars, and his young Grecian bride, whom he married a few weeks ago. Mr. Katelanes, left London about a year ago, and was under fire in many of the principal battles of both the war with Turkey and the war with Bulgaria. By birth a Spartan, he spent two months in his native state of Lacedaemon, following the close of hostilities before embarking on his return voyage to Canada. A hero of his country, he married one of the fair daughters of Sparta, and with her decided to return to Canada, which country he prefers despite his love for his native land.

"Canada is best," he declared on Sunday, while his compatriots were showering him with congratulations. He was fortunate in going through both wars without any very serious injury, but believes that at least two Turkish soldiers bit the dust at his hands. They were fighting at close range, and he saw them fall immediately after he fired at them.

Mr. Katelanes before leaving London for the wars was employed in the National bowling alleys on Dundas street.

INQUEST AT WATFORD

Conductor Declares That, in His Opinion, Freight Was

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Watford, Nov. 17.—The evidence into the recent crash on the G. T. R. at Watford went to the jury at 2:05 this afternoon, and at 3 o'clock the jury was still out.

A sensation was sprung when Crown Attorney Buck, of Sarnia, who conducted the examination, announced that Brakeman Breckell, who, on the night of the accident was supposed to be protecting the rear end of the train, was missing. The crown attorney stated that Breckell may have left the country.

Conductor Havers stated in the box that in his opinion the rear end of the train had been left entirely unprotected.

Couldn't Stop.
Engineer Burwell, whose train crashed into the one which was standing, said that while running about 12 miles an hour he struck a torpedo on the track, but he was then so close that it was absolutely impossible for him to stop before he struck the standing train. He said he applied the emergency, but nothing could be done in such a short space.

Mr. W. Mellor, of Burnham, a weather expert for 32 years, declared the storm was the worst of which he had any record. At the time of the accident he said a phenomenon was observed in the shape of "ice dust."

These small particles of ice, driven with tremendous velocity, would prevent anyone seeing 15 feet in any direction.

"CHARLES S. PRICE" IS NAME OF OVERTURNED STEAMER

Diver Establishes Identity of the Boat Floating Near Point Edward—Found No Vessel Under and Does Not Believe Any Collision Occurred.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Sarnia, Ont., Nov. 16.—The mystery surrounding the overturned hull in Lake Huron was solved yesterday by Submarine Diver Wm. H. Baker, of 289 Rippelle street, Detroit, who went out with Captain Robert Thompson, of the Thompson Towing Company, Port Huron, on the tug Sport.
The investigation proved that the opinion that the boat was the Charles S. Price is correct. The result of the finding is that there is no boat under the wreck, as the anchor of the Sport was purposely dragged all around the wreck to locate any other possible hull.
Diver's Story.
This is the story of William H. Baker, the diver, as told to reporters an hour after leaving the scene of the wreck with the secret of the boat's name finally secured from the water:
"We lay near the wreck all night on the tug Sport, waiting for the dawn of morning, and had everything arranged to make the descent at the earliest possible moment.
"I was ready at 5:30 and at 6 o'clock I had started down. The tug was anchored with her bow pointing about northwest, parallel with the wreck, and the stern of the tug was about abreast of the bluff at the steamer's bow. We threw a line to which was attached about 100 pounds of scrap-iron over the wreck to keep the stern as close as possible to the wreck. We were on the starboard side of the wreck. As I started down I felt her slides all the way down for 20 feet.
Lost It Again.
"Then I lost it again, but kept on going down, expecting to run into it. When I discovered that I was too far down I started to come up again, and found the wreck again coming up. I ran into the pipe-rail around her Texas work. I hung on there until I found out where I was. Then I went down that pipe-rail until I ran into the bulwarks of the wreck. The bulwarks were painted white. There was a sound railing on the edge of the bulwarks, and I went around that railing until I ran across her name.
Read Her Name Twice.
"There I stopped and took my time. I read her name twice and the letters spelled out for me 'Charles S. Price'—her full name is there. I read the name over twice to be absolutely positive. The name is painted in black letters on white bulwarks.

formation for which we had been looking. We pulled up anchor and made for port. Had we been two hours later we would have been driven away from the wreck.
The United States Government has ordered the revenue cutter Morrill back to guard the floating wreck in Lake Huron. A gas buoy was placed near the wreck tonight. The wreck was reported by passing steamers today to be still sinking slowly.

AMUSEMENTS

Marks Bros. For Three Nights.
For first half of this week, beginning tonight, with matinee Wednesday, the Marks Brothers' Company will afford amusement to the theatre-going public at popular prices at the Grand Opera House. The Marks Company is easily one of the best repertoire companies on the road, and the strong list of plays advertised show that they are able to give the public as good if not better than any other. Besides the regular performance some specialties will be presented, and there is absolutely no waits between the acts, there being something doing all the time. The Marks Company carry no less than five distinct specialties. The plays: tonight, "The Convict's Sweetheart"; tomorrow, "Wife in Name Only"; Wednesday matinee, "Lone Riders"; Wednesday night, "Dora Thorne".

Two of the World's Famous Stars.
Mme. Polaire, the daring French artist, who is at present starring with Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, will present a vivid dramatic document, in one act, entitled "Le Visiteur," which was written for her by Georges Bard, director of the Vaudeville Theatre, Paris. Mme. Polaire had the piece prepared especially for this tour, and aside from the weeks at the Vaudeville Theatre, Paris, has never been seen on any stage. Polaire brings her own company of French players, and her own musical director from Paris, for the all-star event. The drama calls for all the passionate talent possessed by Paris' most virile actress, and when it was presented by Polaire for a short run in the French capital, it proved to be the most sensational offering she has ever made. The date for the two-star aggregation here at the Grand is Friday evening for one performance. Seat sale opens Wednesday.

Mammoth Musical Success.
"The Dream Maiden," which comes to the Grand Saturday, matinee and night, is said to be a novelty in more ways than one. The idea of the opera is wholly novel, being a humorous satire on heredity and reincarnation, and the music, interpreted by an orchestra of seventeen musicians, is said to be by far the best of many seasons. The play is called "A story, a song, a merry rhyme, a dance, as in olden, golden time." The book and lyrics are by Allen Lowe, among whose successes on the American stages are: "Isle of Spices," "The Defender," "Golden Wedding," "Prince Potemkin," "Belle of Newport," and in all eighteen musical plays or operettas. The music is by the acknowledged waltz king, Bela Laszky, the Hungarian composer, who wrote "The Sly Countess" and "Eccentricity," and who has given to Europe most of its light musical successes. He is the husband of Mela Mars, whose wonderful reputation as a singer of comedy songs is wholly due to the clever material he has written for her.

Went Back Aft.
Then I started and went back aft. I was putting myself along on this rail all the time. I went to the after side of the forward house. I found nothing there that showed any signs of a collision, and at that time the sea was coming up. I was under the water in all about an hour, and the length of the wreck that I investigated was about 48 feet of the starboard bow. I did not have a chance to go any further on the wreck and did not get in side of her, as the sea began to toss me about and I had to give it up. I had secured her name and also the west. With the assistance of Peter Battichs, one of the most expert diver attendants on the lakes, who was on board to take care of Mr. Baker, we lowered him over the stern of the boat. It took some time to get our tug in position, as she dragged her anchor several times. The diver was down about an hour, and when he came to the surface we had taken off his helmet, he told me that he had the information for which we had been looking. We pulled up anchor and made for port. Had we been two hours later we would have been driven away from the wreck.

Captain's View.
Captain Robert P. Thompson, owner of the tug Sport, stated that he had been over the name of the mystery ship that I decided that if it was possible to get it, now was the time. We laid near the wreck all night and had everything in readiness for the attempt to lower the diver at 5:30 o'clock this morning. At 6 o'clock Mr. Baker went over the stern of the tug Sport in an effort to get the name of the west. Crown Claims That Owen Sound Man Was Thrown Overboard.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Owen Sound, Nov. 16.—News has been received of the finding of the body of Charles Jones of Cape Croker, Bruce Peninsula. Jones, an Owen Sound fisherman, was drowned about six weeks ago in Colpo's Bay, having fallen overboard in the night from his gasoline launch. Investigation followed, and Emerson Darragh, one of the three other men who had been in the boat on the night of the mishap, was placed under arrest at Warton. At the preliminary hearing it was established that all but Jones had been drinking that evening, and an attempt was made to prove that Darragh had pushed Jones over the side. Darragh is to face trial at the assizes here on a charge of manslaughter. Interment will take place at Owen Sound.

British Minister Warns All English People Now in Mexico.

Maxtoo City, Nov. 16.—Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, yesterday again reflected the support given by Great Britain to the policy of the administration at Washington by causing a notification to be sent to all British subjects through the consuls in all parts of the republic, advising them of the notice served by John Lind on President Huerta, and ordering that they be ready at a moment's warning to leave for places of safety. Those in outlying places were advised to gather in the large centres, where escape from the country can be more easily accomplished. He stated that his instructions were not in the nature of an order.

Sir Lionel Carden is said to have given Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge, personal assurance on instruction from his Government of British support of President Wilson's attitude toward Mexico.
President Huerta was unable to bring his new congress fully to duty yesterday. The chamber of deputies met and effected temporary organization, but the senate proved reactionary, and the lack of a quorum prevented organization.

Hamilton, Nov. 16.—In Knox Church this evening, Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, in the course of a reference to the recent tragedy on the Great Lakes, ventured the opinion that the horror might have been due in part to steam having driven real sailors off the lakes.
Speaking of the Titanic and Voltorno disasters on the sea, he asked if it were possible that the same causes contributed to the recent horror which claimed three hundred lives.
The Titanic, he said, was the victim of commercial greed, but he hoped the same spirit had not seized the lake as it has the Atlantic trade, and that these great iron freighters were equipped with sufficient

Must Prepare to Fly at Moment's Notice
British Minister Warns All English People Now in Mexico.

Maxtoo City, Nov. 16.—Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, yesterday again reflected the support given by Great Britain to the policy of the administration at Washington by causing a notification to be sent to all British subjects through the consuls in all parts of the republic, advising them of the notice served by John Lind on President Huerta, and ordering that they be ready at a moment's warning to leave for places of safety. Those in outlying places were advised to gather in the large centres, where escape from the country can be more easily accomplished. He stated that his instructions were not in the nature of an order.

Sir Lionel Carden is said to have given Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge, personal assurance on instruction from his Government of British support of President Wilson's attitude toward Mexico.
President Huerta was unable to bring his new congress fully to duty yesterday. The chamber of deputies met and effected temporary organization, but the senate proved reactionary, and the lack of a quorum prevented organization.

Hamilton, Nov. 16.—In Knox Church this evening, Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, in the course of a reference to the recent tragedy on the Great Lakes, ventured the opinion that the horror might have been due in part to steam having driven real sailors off the lakes.
Speaking of the Titanic and Voltorno disasters on the sea, he asked if it were possible that the same causes contributed to the recent horror which claimed three hundred lives.
The Titanic, he said, was the victim of commercial greed, but he hoped the same spirit had not seized the lake as it has the Atlantic trade, and that these great iron freighters were equipped with sufficient freely from the hands of their servants without giving them in return what was due them.

A collection was taken during the service for those widowed and orphaned by the storm.

THE REVELATION

A MYSTERY STORY OF NEW YORK

By WILL IRWIN

CHAPTER XIX.

When Rosalie Le Grange named the hotel, Dordich to the taxi cab chauffeur, her object—she followed here but an old instinct—was to cover her tracks in case of many contingencies. She dismissed the cab, however, at the north door of the hotel, walked through the lobby to the west entrance, walked out on Broadway, walked a block south. There, spying another taxicab whose meter displayed the red sign "vacant," she commanded it and announced her real objective.

The Delicacy of Baby's Skin

Cold Air, Rough Winds, Strong Soaps Often Bring on Chronic Eczema.

More beautiful than the rose is baby's skin when in health, and so delicate that it is susceptible to anything which irritates. For this reason baby's skin troubles are many, and frequently chronic itching eczema is developed.

Nothing can be better for baby's skin, when irritated, than Dr. Chase's Ointment, and when eczema is developed you can apply this preparation with the knowledge that its wonderful record as a healer of the skin is due to the success it has proven in the cure of eczema.

The intense itching of eczema of the face and scalp is very hard for the little one to bear, and is a source of worry and anxiety to the mother. The itching parts are scratched, and nasty and colored scars are formed. Eczema, naturally, becomes chronic, and spreads over the body. You can positively control eczema and cure it by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

What is better than this to use this ointment for all chafing and irritation of the skin and prevent eczema from getting started.

PARISIAN SAGE

The Scalp-Cleanser Sold in Canada on Money-Back Plan.

Tried them all and failed, thousands of people will say.

Try the real Parisian Sage and succeed as thousands have done.

In Paris Dr. Sangerbon discovered the dandruff microbe and the way to kill it.

In Paris women have most abundant, beautiful, lustrous and fascinating hair.

They know about hair and its diseases in Paris, far more than we do. They have institutions where the study of the hair is made a specialty.

Parisian Sage is the only certain destroyer of the dandruff microbe which is the cause of 87 per cent. of hair troubles.

Parisian Sage is such an extraordinary and quick acting rejuvenator that all druggists, who are the agents in London, guarantee it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. It makes women's hair lustrous and luxuriant and drives away foul odors in summer.

You can obtain a full bottle of Parisian Sage at all leading druggists all over Canada. The Girl with the 'Auburn Hair' is on every package.

Polish Your Furniture with 3-in-One oil.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

You came here to follow Captain Han-

sal. "Where did you hear this?" inquired Estrilla, with a stilted attempt to put sarcasm into his voice.

"I have been listening to her confession," replied Rosalie calmly. "She told the police—after she signed that paper—how you went into Captain Hansal's room at night to get your family jewels, how that trick alarm on his strong-box woke him up, and how you killed him."

But Juan Estrilla had leaped up now, as though his nerves would be denied no longer.

"You are here to betray me—I know it now!" he said. Somewhere, somehow, the naïve cunning of him kept his voice low. To one passing, his action would have seemed but the gesture of heated argument.

"You are a spy!" She did not tell you that—she knows I did not kill him!" He stood shaking. "But what are you?"

"Have the police sent you?" asked Rosalie, in her most soothing tone. "I'm going to answer a lot that's in your mind before we sit right down and get to cases of law."

"You are a young man and I'm an old woman. If you wanted to, you could get away from me right now—easiest thing you know to do—into that shrubbery and run. If I was a female policeman coming to get you, I should then place you, do you suppose I'd go at it this way? Do you suppose I'd begin by breaking the news to you that you are a spy?"

"How did you know where to find me if you aren't a spy?" he asked.

"I suspected this trouble was coming," replied Rosalie Le Grange. "I sent Miss Lane to deliver you here a few weeks ago because it's an out-of-the-way place and quiet. Sit down."

Estrilla shook as he resumed his seat. "Does she know?" he asked.

"Not yet," said Rosalie. "To Be Continued."

DEVELOPMENTS SHORTLY IN IRISH SITUATION

Present Week Will See Important Moves on Part of Government.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 17.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: The present week will unquestionably see an important development in the Irish crisis. After a long period of skirmishing by means of public speeches, a point has been reached at which Premier Asquith, on behalf of the Government, is ready to offer terms for the purpose of ending the law, representing the Opposition, is ready to consider them.

It may be taken for granted that within the next few days the Government will be in full possession of the Government of Ireland for the purpose of the refusal of Ulster to tolerate the home rule bill.

The Times says it has good ground for stating that Premier Asquith's plan is to satisfy the Nationalist ideal by carrying the measure, which is applicable to Ireland as a whole, and to the Ulstermen with a considerable but limited period of grace.

It may be predicted further that the ministry contemplates the imposition of an additional burden on the taxpayers of Great Britain for the purpose of compensating Nationalist Ireland for the temporary loss of the wealth which Ulster would in normal circumstances contribute.

HOLDS THAT HUNTING IS NOT UNCHRISTIAN

Archbishop of York Says It Depends on How It Is Done.

[Canadian Press.] New York, N. Y., Nov. 17.—A London cable to the Tribune says: The Archbishop of York declared yesterday that hunting was not antagonistic to Christianity, in a sermon, preached at Moor Monkton Church, near York, where he dedicated a memorial window, erected in memory of the late Rev. Charles Slingsby, of Craven Park, who was killed a year ago, while hunting with the local pack.

The archbishop said he would be very bold man indeed who set forth to argue that hunting was so cruel that it was absolutely wrong.

If not absolutely wrong, he said, then it was like other things, good or evil, it depended precisely upon the manner in which it was done. He thought it possible to contend that a very great balance of happiness to God's creature was due to hunting.

GIRL GOT LICENSE BY CLEVER RUSE

Says She Was Over Eighteen When She Stood on Figures.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—When Martha J. Mayers, 16, applied for a marriage license she told the clerk that she was over 18. She insisted in court the next day that she was telling the truth.

She explained to County Judge Fred W. Stover that before going for the license she had placed a piece of paper with the figures 18 written on it in her shoes so that she could truthfully say she was over 18.

The girl declared that her grandmother had told her of the scheme. Bert B. Cain, who was arrested for perjury, following the marriage to the 16-year-old girl, is now held under bond.

Saturday Night Shopping Is Wiped Out Automatically by New Measure.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 17.—Unless the supreme court of Oregon renders a decision during the coming week invalidating the minimum wage law it will take effect next Sunday. Thereafter every adult woman clerk not an apprentice must be paid a minimum wage of $9.25 a week, may work only 8 hours and 20 minutes a day and only 50 hours a week, and may not work after 7 p. m. in any day of the year in any mercantile establishment.

COMPLETELY CURED OF DYSPEPSIA

(By Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets)

We are continually hearing from grateful people who have had experiences like that of Miss Alice E. Cooper, of Niagara Falls, Ont., who writes:

"I wish to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I received from your most wonderful Dyspepsia Tablets. Having taken other medicines without having received the slightest relief, I heard of your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets and thought I would give them a trial. I have been completely cured of dyspepsia. I will be only too pleased to advise any one troubled with dyspepsia to give them a fair trial."

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets not only give the immediate relief from heartburn, flatulence, acidity of the stomach and biliousness, which so much needed, but if taken regularly for a few days or weeks they completely cure the most aggravated cases of stomach trouble.

DUKE OF SUTHERLAND HAS HUGE HOLDINGS

Land He Proposes to Sell Lloyd George a Mere Fleabite.

London, Nov. 15.—Even if Lloyd-George should accept the offer of the Duke of Sutherland to sell 200,000 acres of his deer forests at $5 an acre, the duke will not be landless. George Granville Sutherland-Leveson-Gower is both the youngest duke and the biggest landowner in Great Britain. He attained his 21st birthday last August, two months after succeeding to the vast family estates on the death of his father, the fourth Duke of Sutherland.

He is a lieutenant in Prince Arthur of Connaught's regiment, the Scots Greys. In 1910 he contested Sutherland as a Liberal Unionist, but was defeated by Mr. A. C. Morton, with a majority of 187. Like his father, he is a zealous tariff reformer.

Last year, as Marquis of Stafford, he married Lady Eileen Butler, the beautiful daughter of the seventh Earl of Lanesborough.

The Duke of Sutherland owns 1,176,450 acres in Scotland. Some of this vast domain is very poor land.

MODERN ROMEO WAS FORCED TO SUICIDE

[Canadian Press.] Reading, Nov. 17.—Waiting in vain for his sweetheart to elude her parents and meet and marry him, Carl Murdock went into the woods opposite her home, folded his arms, and by an ingenious arrangement, pulled the trigger of a pistol which sent a bullet through his brain.

Murdock carried a marriage license which he had secured two days previously, to marry Miss Cora Tucker, who resides near Economy. There was parental objection and close watch was kept upon Miss Tucker.

All one night the youth watched the window of Miss Tucker's room, and occasionally a light appeared to let him know that she was alert and awaiting a chance to steal away. Every time the light appeared Mr. Tucker displayed a remarkable bit of alertness for an old man and the beacon was soon extinguished.

The next night Murdock again took up his vigil. No light appeared, and in the early hours of morning the pistol shot was heard.

SLASHES CUSTOMER.

[Canadian Press.] York, Pa., Nov. 17.—George L. Pitt, aged 56 years, a Democratic worker and while hunting with the local pack, while shaving Joseph Fuller in his shop. In his fall he threw up his hand and gashed Fuller widely across the face with the razor.

LONDON, MONDAY, NOV. 17.

THE EAST MIDDLESEX CON- VENTION

The convention of Liberals on Saturday was one of the best-attended and most enthusiastic that ever represented East Middlesex. The inspiring presence of the leader of the party had doubtless something to do with it. Also there has been a growing feeling of confidence in the party in the riding that it had adopted a policy which must prevail, and that the tide in Ontario had turned.

Very soon after the constituency was opened by the death of the late Mr. Neely, opinion, not only among the leaders, but among the rank and file of the party, seemed to point to Mr. John Laidlaw, of Westminster, as the candidate. A prominent man in municipal affairs, a life-long and consistent Liberal, and a strong advocate of the temperance policy of Mr. Rowell, he seemed to meet all conditions, as an ideal candidate. The only question of late was as to how far matters were modified by Mr. Laidlaw's selection as the candidate of the temperance organizations. Some were disposed to think that it would be sufficient for the convention simply to endorse him, and adjourn without selecting a candidate of its own. But the opinion of the majority, which the speech of Mr. Rowell made unanimous, was that he should be formally chosen as the candidate of the party. He was the logical choice, for he met all the requirements of the party platform. The fact of his being the choice of an organization supporting only one of the Liberal proposals did not alter the situation so far as the party was concerned.

There can now be no question as to where the Liberal party stands, nor as to the views of its candidate. No one can honestly say that Mr. Laidlaw is giving a half-hearted support to Mr. Rowell's policy for election purposes. Nor can anyone honestly say that the party has selected a candidate only for the purpose of catching stray votes. The party and the candidate are in full accord, and can support each other consistently and enthusiastically.

There will be in this election a straight issue—"abolish the bar." Conservative voters have in other elections been urged by their leaders and their organs to support the Government because the temperance plank of the Liberal party was but an election dodge. It was, of course, a false claim, but the fact that the Liberal candidate in some of the by-elections had not previously been an active temperance man was gladly seized on by Tory campaigners as proof of their charge. There is no such excuse in East Middlesex today. Every Conservative who claims to be a friend of temperance will have to show whether he is for party first, or for principles all the time. This election will test men and will show what they are.

It only remains for the supporters of Mr. Laidlaw to be active and zealous in the coming campaign. They have a good policy, and a good candidate. He will be elected, if those who profess to believe in him, and the policy he advocates, will work for his election.

In this country the party in Opposition is usually indifferent in a by-election. Its members feel that the result will not affect the position of the Government, and they are not disposed to go into the contest hopefully and enthusiastically. This is a mistake, which, we are sure, will not be made in East Middlesex. If the principles of the party are worth anything they should be fought for on every occasion, with all the vigor possible, no matter what the results may be. Their advocates can give a proof to political friends and enemies that they are in earnest; their activity and enthusiasm encourages their friends and depresses their opponents. And, not least, their earnest struggle in a by-election strengthens and consolidates their organization, and places them in a better fighting condition for the general election that will follow in due course.

The contest in East Middlesex will doubtless be a spirited one. We may expect cabinet ministers and their camp followers alike to be in evidence. We know that the Opposition leader will not be absent from his post. His strong indictment of the Government for its dilatoriness in regard to a workmen's compensation act, which leaves the families of the drowned sailors of the lakes dependent upon charity; for its wobbling incompetence in school matters, for its antagonism to temperance reform, for its fossilized policy in regard to municipal government and taxation; this indictment, so forcefully and eloquently delivered at the convention, will echo throughout the constituency, and be heard in every township. The leader will do his part; the candidate will not be idle. Let the Liberals work, and the friends of temperance exert themselves, and Mr. Rowell will have a worthy colleague when the assembly meets, and the prospects for the abolition of the bar will be so much the brighter.

A FORGOTTEN PLANK.

Where is that Halifax platform on which Mr. Borden made once his appeal to the electors of Canada? Where are the snows of yester year?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier complained of that platform that it was composed of India rubber planks that could be stretched to meet any contingency. It was doubtless very elastic, but now instead of being a convenience to Mr. Borden himself, Liberals are willing to stretch it to meet the case of Macdonald, Manitoba. The very planks spring up, now that he is in power, to belabor him.

Take the third clause of the Halifax pronouncement, that relating to electoral corruption:

"More effective provisions to punish bribery and fraud at elections, to insure thorough publicity as to expenditures by political organizations, to prevent the accumulation of campaign funds for corrupt purposes, and to prohibit contributions thereto by corporations, contractors and promoters, to expedite hearing of election petitions and to prevent collusive arrangements for the withdrawal or compromise thereof, to provide for a thorough investigation of corrupt practices and if necessary to appoint an independent prosecuting officer to enforce the laws so amended."

Mr. Borden has taken not a single step in his two years of office to fulfill the promises here made. On the contrary, he has allowed, in the case of Macdonald, his political partners to commit the most shameful and unheard-of rascalties without a word or deed of protest. The seat has been thrown up in order that these practices should not come to light. Why did not Mr. Borden stretch his electoral corruption plank to meet this case?

It is quite evident that he has no desire to stand on his rubber planks, let alone to stretch or twist them. It is just the same with his talk of electoral reform as with the parade of good intentions in regard to the civil service. Mr. Borden's dreams go by contraries. He has done his share towards the paving of a certain floor.

THE ILLNESS OF MR. BORDEN.

The Prime Minister of Canada has been compelled to take a holiday at one of the health resorts of the United States. It can be readily understood that he has found the burdens of his position unusually heavy and wearying, possibly heavier than some others might find it. If we are to accept reports, it may well be that in addition to those whose opposition he must expect, he has to contend with foes in his own household.

Some Conservative papers, in referring to Mr. Borden's condition, accuse the Liberals of "gloating" over it. We see about all of the Liberal papers in the Dominion, but we fail to note anything but the kindest sentiments expressed towards Mr. Borden personally. We may have no praise for him from a political point of view, for we consider the advent of his party to power has been injurious to the Dominion. But while a Conservative Government remains in office, we have no desire for a change in premiers. Mr. Borden is preferable to Mr. Rogers—to put it mildly.

Liberals will join with the Premier's friends in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Our local contemporary is scornful of the Dominion Alliance. The pretence that temperance is not an issue in East Middlesex has been candidly dropped.

In ancient Athens wealthy men personally contributed trimmings to the fleet. Some of our modern millionaires wave the flag and call for Rule Britannia, but would tax the poor man's food to buy more Dreadnoughts.

Many of the widows and orphans of the drowned lake sailors are left penniless because Ontario has no modern workmen's compensation act. Its absence has been a scandal for years, and the Government must bear the reproach.

A large majority of the electors of London Township have voted twice within three years to abolish the bars, and the bars remain. The friends of the bar have good reason to vote for Mr. McFarlane and the Government he supports.

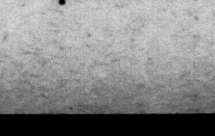

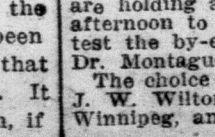

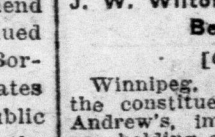

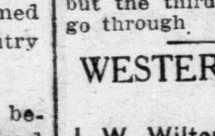

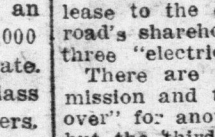

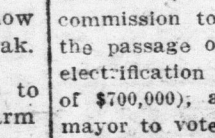

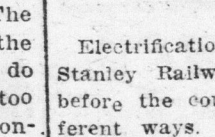

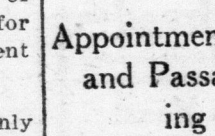

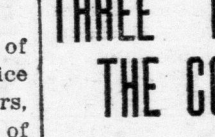

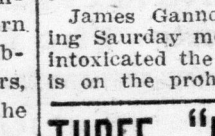

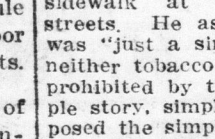

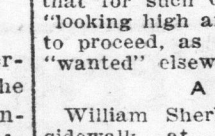

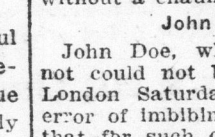

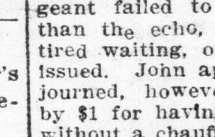

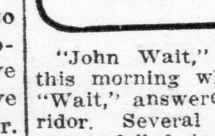

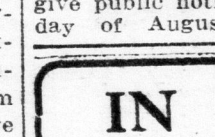

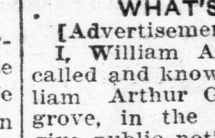

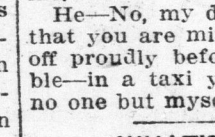

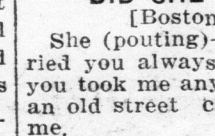

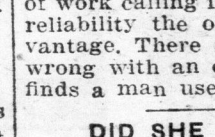

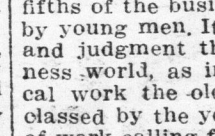

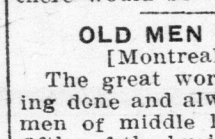

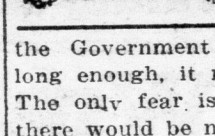

Conservative papers have suddenly stopped eulogizing New Zealand. The little dominion has gone back on the contribution policy, and is going to do what Mr. Borden says Canada is too feeble to do. Our centralizing contemporaries have no idols left now but Borden and the Sultan of Perak.

The British Government intends to build at once 10,000 cottages for farm laborers, each with a quarter of an acre of ground. Eventually 120,000 cottages will be built by the state. This will check emigration of a class which Canada needs above all others. But Britons can scarcely be blamed for trying to colonize their country in preference to another.

There was a great deal of talk because the Government sold to a friend of Mr. Rogers for $10 property valued at some $300,000. Evidently Mr. Borden has been warning his associates to be less generous with public lands. The Conservative mayor of the town of Gimli, in Manitoba, has been compelled to pay $752 for land that was not worth more than $15,000. It may be, at this rate of progression, if

BRALEY'S POEM TODAY

THE VOICE OF THE ENGLISH SPARROW.

[W. J. Lampton.]
It makes me rather weary
To hear good people tell
Of dogs and cats and horses
That in the city dwell,
And how they have to suffer
For lack of food and care,
With sometimes cruel treatment
That they can scarcely bear.
Of course these same good people
Have tender hearts, and they
No doubt should be assisted
Upon their kindly way,
And yet while they are caring
So very tenderly
For dogs and cats and horses
Nobody cares for me.
Nobody cares for me,
And I am so much smaller
Than any dog or cat
Or horse it seems they oughtn't
To treat me quite like that.
But I don't ask attention,
And I can tell you what,
These dogs and cats and horses
Should have the spunk I've got.
You never hear me crying
For shelter, food or care,
But I get out and hustle
To find them anywhere.
I'm always fat and sassy,
And if I do not get
My share of things aplenty,
I fight for it, you bet.
That's me, the English sparrow,
And though some people think
I'm something of a nuisance
To them, the blabber,
That's why when I consider
That I am not admired
Like dogs and cats and horses
It almost makes me tired.
See?
—BERTON BRALEY.

the Government remained in power long enough, it might become honest. The only fear is that by that time there would be nothing left to steal.

OLD MEN THE LEADERS.
[Montreal Daily Mail.]
The great work of the world is being done and always has been done by men of middle life and more. Four-fifths of the business failures are made by young men. It is ripened experience and judgment that count in business world, as in any work. In physical work the older man may be out-classed by the young ones, but in lines of work calling for skill, steadiness and reliability the older man had the advantage. There is something seriously wrong with an economic system that finds a man useless at 50.

DID SHE SWALLOW IT?
[Boston Transcript.]
She (pouting)—Before we were married you always engaged a taxi when you took me anywhere. Now you think an old street car is good enough for me.
He—No, my dear, I do not. But now that you are mine I want to show you off proudly before as many as possible—in a taxi you would be seen by no one but myself.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
[Advertisement in British Paper.]
I, William Arthur Idle, heretofore called and known by the name of William Arthur Good, of 18, Trafford-grove, in the city of Leeds, hereby give public notice that on the twelfth day of August, 1913, I formally and absolutely renounced, relinquished, and abandoned the use of my said surname of Good, and then assumed and adopted, and determined thenceforth to use and subscribe the name of William Arthur Idle.

AFTER MANY YEARS.
[Christian Register.]
The self-made man stalked into the office of a great financier with whom he had an appointment.
"You probably don't remember me," he began, "but twenty years ago, when I was a poor messenger boy you gave me a message to carry."
"Yes, yes!" cried the financier, "Where's the answer?"

THE LONELY GIRL'S DANGER.
[St. Thomas Journal.]
Making a living in a wilderness amid prowling wolves is an unpleasant business, for one must be continually on one's guard. It is not so perilous, however, as is the career of an unattached young woman in a great city who lacks friends on whom she can safely rely, particularly if she has no assured income, and must frequently trust herself among men or women unknown to her in the hope of earning money for her support.

ANXIOUS.
[Puck.]
Effie's Brother—Do you love my sister Effie?
Effie's Steady Company—Why, Willie, that is a queer question. Why do you want to know?
Effie's Brother—She said last night she would give a dollar to know, and I'd like to scoop it in.

EMBRO.
Embro, Nov. 17.—Miss Mabel McKinnon, of Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinnon. Still another local man has been struck with the fancy chicken craze. Mr. Wm. Kern intends erecting a substantial building for his poultry.

Local merchants report business booming since the cold weather set in. The young people of the Congregational Church have organized a Young People's Society. It was decided that the meetings should not exceed one hour and a quarter in length, except on special occasions.

Mrs. D. M. Sutherland and Miss Merle Creighton were in Woodstock yesterday. Miss Tena Rutherford was in Woodstock recently.

Miss Isabel Youngs, of Brookside, spent this week with her aunt, Mrs. Ed. Collins.

The farmers these days are busy drawing in apples to the evaporator, and quite a number of loads have come in.

THREE "ELECTRICS" FOR THE COUNCIL MEETING

Appointment of the Commission and Passage of Third Reading of the Bylaw.

Electrification of the London and Port Stanley Railway is scheduled to come before the council tonight in three different ways. The appointment of the commission to take charge of the road, the passage of the third reading of the electrification bylaw (for the expenditure of $700,000), and the instruction of the mayor to vote for the ratification of the lease to the city at the meeting of the three "electrics" to come up.

There are possibilities that the commission and the instructions may "hang over" for another meeting of the council, but the third reading of the bylaw will go through.

WESTERN BY-ELECTION
J. W. Wilton or Dr. Ross Will Likely Be Liberal Choice.

[Canadian Press.]
Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—The Liberals of the constituency of Kildonan and St. Andrew's, immediately north of here, are holding a convention at Selkirk this afternoon to choose a candidate to contest the by-election, Nov. 29, with Hon. Dr. Montague.
The choice is understood to be between J. W. Wilton, a rising young lawyer of Winnipeg, and Dr. Ross, of Selkirk.

Dr. A. W. Chase's 25c. CATARRH POWDER 25c. is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcer, clears the air passages, stops drops, cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Use a box; blow free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edman, Rates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

STRIKE IS SETTLED.
[Canadian Press.]
Houston, Texas, Nov. 17.—It was reported here today that the Southern Pacific strike has been settled at least temporarily through the federal board of mediation, and that the striking engineers, trainmen and conductors soon will be ordered back to work.

A charge of disorderly conduct against another young man was dismissed after the evidence had been heard. He had been accused, he said, on York street between Talbot and Dundas by two other men, one of whom attempted to pull out his tin pin. An altercation ensued, in which some bad language was used, but he proved that he was not responsible for any of it and was acquitted. One of the other young men pleaded guilty and was fined $3.

He had nothing to say this morning, but asked for leniency. The court told him that a man of his education should have known better than to attempt to perpetrate fraud, and a sentence of six months was imposed.

Two local men, convicted of stealing coal from one of the railroads, got off with a fine of $5 and costs each.

SIX MONTHS' SENTENCE FOR A TORONTO MAN

Secured $200 by False Pretences From a Local Bank.

A young man of Toronto received a sentence of six months in Central Prison at this morning's session of police court for obtaining $200 under false pretences from the Imperial Bank here. He was convicted of the offence a week ago, when it was proven to the satisfaction of the court that he drew a check on the Cobalt branch of the bank, knowing that he had no funds there. He served fourteen days in Toronto recently for participating in a similar fraud.

He had nothing to say this morning, but asked for leniency. The court told him that a man of his education should have known better than to attempt to perpetrate fraud, and a sentence of six months was imposed.

SOME SANDWICH FILLINGS

Sandwich fillings may be roughly classified as sweet, meat and fancy. Here are a few nice fillings of each grade:

Spread slices of brown bread with grapefruit marmalade, through which is chopped candied ginger. Another good sweet mixture is pineapple preserves mixed with candied cherries, delicious if bar-le-due and cream cheese, or grated maple sugar and chopped black walnuts.

Never use slices of meat in a dainty sandwich. Put the meat through a fine chopper until it is almost a paste. Cold chicken, lamb, duck and game make a delicious and simple filling by seasoning highly with salt, pepper and a pinch of cayenne, then moistening with rich cream or whipped cream. Minced ham or tongue is better when moistened with mayonnaise. Cold fish mixtures can be treated in the same way, but are improved by chopping olives through the dressing.

A good fancy filling is made from cream cheese mixed to a paste with French dressing and seasoned with chopped green peppers and slices of olives. Another good mixture is made from the outer leaves of head lettuce—the hearts can be used for salad—cut up fine, mixed with mayonnaise and sprinkled thickly with crisp bacon cut into small pieces.

Artistic and Good.

Red pepper sandwiches are artistic and appetizing. Use the canned sweet red peppers, chop fine and mix to a smooth paste with mayonnaise. For a summer sandwich nothing is nicer than watercress, chopped and mixed with French dressing. Put a thick layer of the cress on the bread and cover with thin slices of small red radishes.

A nourishing sandwich filling is made from the yolks of hard-boiled eggs run through a sieve and mixed with chopped sweet pickle and shredded bacon. Another variety has grated Parmesan or English cheese incorporated with the egg and a few olives sprinkled over the top. Both mixtures are dressed with mayonnaise.

PARISIAN FASHION NOTES

Editor's Note.—Mme. Dillon is one of America's dress-makers. She visits Paris every year, and has just returned from her trip to the great houses on the other side.

Most of my patrons are of the generous figure type—the type that Paul Poiret says should go to a doctor and not to him—but when I have dressed them in the proper modification of perhaps a Poiret design they look more charming than any woman of fashion that I saw in Paris.

The new skirts will have much room about the hips and be very narrow about the bottom. When a gown is cut properly in this style it will be found that a deep slit at the bottom is not needed.

Almost all gowns will have some kind of a tunic or oversleeve and fur will be worn more than any other season that I have known.

Personally, I think the tendency is toward hook-skirts, although many of the Paris designers are showing Oriental trousers. Many of the tunics are already worn about the hips and it is logical to think that this sufficing will drop toward the feet.

All fabrics are of the softest possible description. The new material called duvetine is like a piece of chamois skin. Plush and velvet will be much worn.

When velvet gowns and wraps being perhaps the most fashionable mode of the winter.

Very few trains are seen even on evening dresses and in Paris one house is trying to introduce a train on the front of the dress which lays between the feet and out behind. I do not think this will become popular on this side.

This is to be a color season. The brightest of colors will be worn even on the street. Brick-red, flame-yellow, emerald-green, yellow-brown, king's-blue and all the "sharp" tints will be worn.

at her in helpless dismay while she implores him to take her home to "mother" until a new servant is installed in her kitchen. Above all things she will know the purchasing value of her husband's salary, because she has learned it as she should—at her mother's expense.

"Last night, when she turned over the bank and account books, she said to Robert:

"You'll never know, dear, what Mumsey has saved you. No, not just in money, but in temper and tears. I have watered many of her coat collars that yours might be dry."

"I smiled at them both, but said nothing. Why should I tell Robert the truth—that I had been trying to make good as a mother-in-law for him, in order that my precious daughter might be happy with him?"

TO REMEMBER IN BUYING MEAT.

The most economical rib roast of beef is the sixth rib; the juiciest, tenderest and highest-priced roast is the eleventh and twelfth ribs.

A standing rib roast is better than a rolled rib roast.

Porterhouse is the most expensive steak.

Hip-bone sirloin is the best cut of sirloin; it costs no more than the poorest cut.

A rump roast is delicious and costs much less than a rib.

The chuck makes excellent pot roasts and is cheaper than the round.

Steaks and beef leaves from the neck and chuck are cheaper than from the plate and flank.

The brisket, plate and naval are the best for corning and boiling.

The most expensive meats are not necessarily the most nutritious.—Country Gentleman.

A.—The formula is cheerfully repeated. Dissolve one pound of saleratus in one pint of soft water; then mix four ounces of fresh chloride of lime in one pint of water, stirring it to remove all lumps. It may not all dissolve. Pour the two mixtures together, stir and shake thoroughly; set aside, and when settled pour off the clear liquid and bottle for use. Use glass or earthen vessels in preparing it.

Has Large Knuckles.
Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly answer the following questions for me?
1. Is there any cure for enlarged knuckles?
2. How may flat, brown moles be removed?
3. What is the cause and also the remedy for swollen eyelids?
4. What do you think of my penmanship?

Thanking you, we are,
DILAPIDATED US.

A.—1. Not that I know of.
2. Electricity is the only safe and sure method. As the mole is wisest to leave the moles alone.
3. The inflammation is probably due to eyestrain. You doubtless read or work in a poor light. You should consult an oculist.

Making an Introduction.

Dear Miss Grey:—When introducing a man to my sister, who is married, whose name should be mentioned first and should I call her by her married name?

A.—Your sister's name may be mentioned first. The proper form to use in such a case is to say, "Margaret, this is Mr. Brown; Mr. Brown, this is my sister, Mrs. Jones."

Answering an Invitation.

Dear Miss Grey—Will you please tell me what should be the form of a reply written after the receipt of an invitation in the form of a visiting card?

A.—The reply should be written in the third person and on note paper.

Sir Wilfrid's Address.

Dear Miss Grey—Will you please answer the following questions:

1. What is the address of Sir Wilfrid Laurier; also that of Hon. Mr. Borden?

2. Some time ago I saw in your helpful column a recipe for coloring black, with logwood and blue vitriol. I then forgot the amount of each required. Will you please repeat it?

3. In painting on white satin, is it not necessary to have a pad of some sort of powder beneath the satin, so that the color will not be a ring around the paint after it is dry? If it is necessary, can you please tell me what kind of powder to use. Thanking you in advance, I am,
"INQUISITIVE."

A.—1. A letter addressed to Sir Wilfrid at Arthabaskaville, Que., will reach him. Address Premier Borden, care of Parliament Buildings, Ottawa.
2. To color woolen black: for five pounds of goods allow sufficient water to cover well; blue vitriol, 6 ounces; boil it a few minutes, then dip in the goods for three-quarters of an hour, stirring often. Take out the goods and make a dye with logwood, 3 pounds. Boil half an hour, dip the material three-quarters of an hour, and air. Then rinse thoroughly.

3. I am sorry that my knowledge of painting on satin is limited. Can some artistic reader of the column come to the rescue and give us a hint on the subject?

Caroline Coe's Letter to a Young Housewife

My Dear Eunice.—So you are going to settle down in a wee apartment "just for two." Well, dear, in many ways your troubles are just begun. Do you know, most kitchens are loaded with things one never uses. I have seen one once or twice a year, and the small articles used daily are lacking. So dear, get your store—ten kettles, skillets, iron or aluminum kettles (I prefer iron as it heats more evenly and one can brown anything in it), a few knives, forks and kitchen spoons.

Then begin your first lesson—for indeed the old subject of housekeeping is a study long and arduous. In fact, I have been taking my lessons every day for thirty years, and find I am only in the middle of the book.

"Cooking for two" sounds great—doesn't it? In some ways it is a greater problem than for a larger family, and needs more personal attention. I always advocate going to market, and even more necessary is it for the girl "who cooks for two" to go.

If I were in your place I'd find some perfectly reliable grocery—not necessarily the most exclusive or fancy one—just a good, clean, wholesome-looking place. If possible I'd rather buy my meat at one place, as it saves time and shoe leather, and of course with Bill's twenty-five hundred a year you are going to do your own work.

Find a clerk who will listen to your problem and help you often in buying what is freshest and best.

Explain to him you are just beginning the long course of housekeeping lessons, and he will soon be interested.

He will soon learn just the required amount of food you desire.

Meat marketing will be the hardest thing. For to tell you the truth, it is most guesswork and faith in your butcher. If you buy a steak, purchase one large enough for "the dear man and yourself," without using the small end. This will give you the best part to broil. For the next day's dinner, steak, put it through the meat grinder, with the small end of the steak, season with four or five drops of onion juice, salt, a little green pepper minced, and one egg beaten with half a cup of milk, and two heaping teaspoons of bread crumbs. (I can hear you say: "Ain't got no crumbs.") Well, make some cruller roll you have later.

Put this meat mixture into an empty baking powder can and on the top lay a slice or two of ripe tomatoes. Boil or steam for thirty minutes, and the meat loaf will be ready to serve hot for dinner. In this way you will find a few cents added to the first cost of the meat, and also find that a steamer is necessary in your kitchen. Cook your meat loaf when getting your steak dinner and put the four or six potatoes into the steamer and save one fire, for dear, all through life one has to learn to save one fire when one can.

I know you think I've forgotten about the bread crumbs. When you cut the crust off the toast (and all dainty housekeepers do), put these crusts and any tiny bits of bread in a pan and set in the warm oven. Do not have a fire under it nor shut the oven door. They must dry, not brown. When they will crumble, put them through the meat grinder. Put in a glass can. These crumbs are splendid for many things. In a little while I shall tell you some other ways to use them.

I envy your happiness, dear, and if there are any tumbling blocks I can help you over—don't hesitate to write. CAROLINE COE.

The Home Realm

New Ideas For the House.

If simplicity were chosen as the watchword in furnishing the average home, its occupants would be better pleased with its aspect than they often are with many a room known so well to everybody, overburdened with "things," and a hodgepodge of colorings. Fancy a lovely pink evening gown with a background of red wall, and a floor covering that sends not less than half a dozen color expressions at once to the eye.

Some big American department stores have suites of rooms set apart with furnishings, wall coverings, etc., that suggest artistic and practical ways or remodeling rooms in one's own home. The cost of such an improvement can be made commensurate with one's pocketbook, while the idea is what one is looking for.

Brown a Favorite.

Decorative brown is well worth a fundamental color note until brown rooms are very general, but nevertheless inviting. A living-room in a simple country home carries out a scheme of decoration in browns well worth reproducing. The wallpaper is a plain one in a warm tan that verges on a coffee color. The ceiling is not white, but perceptibly cream in tint, and the color is brought down eighteen inches on the walls, where a small cream enameled picture molding separates it from the paper.

Curtains for the windows are made of wide scrim hemstitched and hanging only three or four inches below the sills from a small rod over which they are shirred at the top. The floor is covered with plain brown woolen "flier," costing 75 cents per yard. Rugs having some old blue and dark

Canadian Women

Miss L. M. Montgomery, whose books "Anne of Green Gables" and "Anne of Avonlea," have made her famous in two hemispheres, was born in Cavendish, Prince Edward Island. Her elementary education was obtained at the "old red schoolhouse" in Cavendish, and afterwards she attended the Prince of Wales College at Charlottetown. Later, she entered the office of the Halifax Chronicle, and amidst many duties found time to contribute articles to several of the leading publications of the day.

The editor of the Youth's Companion, recognizing her rare ability, offered her a position upon the writing staff of that publication. A capacity was launched upon the sea of literature in 1900, and few books have attained a greater popularity than Miss Montgomery's first volume. It is now in its 36th edition.

Her Private Life.
Miss Montgomery in private life is Mrs. Ewan Macdonald, wife of the Presbyterian minister at Leaskdale, Ont. Her marriage took place three years ago, and it was while minding her small son in sleeping hours that the gifted authoress and busy mistress of the manse found time to write her last story, "The Golden Road." This, though a narrative for boys and girls, can also be read with profit and pleasure by those of mature years. Miss Montgomery's charming stories the scene is placed in Prince Edward Island.

COLOR IN PETTICOATS.
There is variety in color in the petticoats brought out for fall and winter, but the tones are much softer than those featured during the spring and summer, says the Drygoods Economist.

Crepe de Chine petticoats are much in demand, especially in the light pastel shades and white. The trimmings used follow along the ideas of last season, although more underlays of net or of silk are seen in the practical patterns.

There is a tendency towards a revival of fringing as a trimming, particularly in garments retailing for $5 and under. The fringe is about 2½ inches wide and exactly matches the color of the skirt.

The colors most favored in petticoats made of messaline, jersey, chambray and imitation silk materials are olive and myrtle green, mahogany, navy, Nutmeg and Copenhagen blues, taupe, tobacco brown, wisteria, purple, sulphur and black, also plaid and striped patterns.

Cotton petticoats have a very soft finish and are cut along lines which follow the silk styles as closely as possible. The flounces are scant and show trimming effects worked out by the use of narrow bands of contrasting color fabric.

CANADIAN TEACHERS AT QUEEN'S GARDEN PARTY.

An English correspondent writes: "It would have been little short of a tragedy if the heavy rain had persisted to spoil the teachers' garden party at Buckingham Palace recently, for never was a party more eagerly anticipated. Fortunately, the elements relented soon after noon, and it was only damp underfoot and dull overhead, relatively small drawbacks. The thousands of guests were delighted with the hospitality and graciousness of their host and hostess, and the arrangements were on precisely the same scale as have obtained at other garden parties of the reign, which is to say they were perfect. The Queen wore a pretty blue dress and feathered hat to match, and Princess Mary, the Duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur, the Duchess of Battenberg and the Princess of Albany were included in the royal group."

These Canadian teachers have been in England for the past two months in Inspector James L. Hughes' party.

YOUNG LORD CLIVE.

King George has just bestowed a commission in the army upon young Viscount Clive, who has lately graduated from the Royal Military College of Sandhurst, and who will attain his majority at the beginning of next December. He is the eldest son of the Earl of Powis, and the fifth in direct descent from the celebrated Lord Clive, the victor of the Battle of Plassey, and to whom more than anyone else Great Britain is indebted for the possession of her huge empire of India. Young Lord Clive was born at 45 Berkeley Square, in London, the town mansion of his famous ancestor, and which remains the metropolitan residence of Lord Powis to this day.

The victor of Plassey—a battle in which, with 3,000 men, he defeated the ruler of Bengal at the head of an army of 70,000 men, and thus avenged the atrocities of the Black Hole of Calcutta—made his country seat at Claremont, which he built for himself at the cost of $500,000. It has long since passed into the possession of the reigning family, was used by Queen Victoria for her honeymoon, was afterwards lent by her to King Louis Philippe and Queen Marie Amelie, after they had been driven out of France by the Paris revolution of 1848, and is now the home of the widowed Duchess of Albany, who, Lord Clive's arms still appear on the pediment of the Corinthian columns which constitute a feature of the facade of Claremont.

CAN NOT CHOOSE HER MAIDS.

There has been a hitch over the question of bridesmaids for the Duchess of Fife at her marriage to Prince Arthur of Connaught, with some lively outbursts of temper in the royal family as a consequence. The bridesmaids are selected by the Duchess of Fife; are her sister, Princess Maud of Fife; Princess Mary, Princess Patricia of Connaught and Princess Mary, of Teck, who, the Duchess not unnaturally wanted her sister, the Princess Maud, to be chief bridesmaid, while the queen refused to allow the Princess Mary to play second fiddle to anybody. As the queen likes to have her own way and the Duchess of Fife considers that it is her wedding, and no one else's, things are now at a deadlock, despite the tears of the Princess Mary, who had set her heart upon following her cousin on the latter's wedding day, and the endeavor of Queen Alexandra, who went from Sandringham to Balmoral, especially in the interests of peace to effect a compromise.

KING'S SON AS PORTER.

A well-known Paris cafe has for its porter the son of a king. He is Oubero Behonzin, the son of King Gle, and brother of that dusky monarch.

THEN HE SHUT UP.

He—the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Don't forget that. She—Then you come in and rule the world a while. I'm tired.

Capitals Beat Sarnia
In Junior Semi-FinalsBorder Town Team Was Hampered by Sloppy
Field and Did Not Play Its Usual Game—
Toronto Juniors Got All the Breaks.

Tecumseh Park, that has witnessed many Rugby defeats, had another added to its already numerous list, when the Sarnia Juniors went down before the Toronto Capitals Saturday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2. The defeat of the Tunnel boys might be laid to the fact that for some reason they did not play up to their usual form. The heavy field, too, added materially to their disadvantage. Often a player, with the ball safely tucked under his arm, slipped on a patch of snow and lost a golden advantage to score.

Some Good Kickers.
As in every game there were features, McCart, for Sarnia, Knowles and Price, for the Capitals, featured in the kicking. The starter of the contest, however, was the Capitals' touchdown. McCart tried to catch one of Price's spiral punts, but juggled it for a moment. Dopp, the Capitals' speedy half, followed up fast, and before McCart could get away he was on him. McCart tried a fake kick, then made an effort to get around Dopp. The latter tackled him, and as McCart went to kick the ball he was thrown back, the pigskin falling to the ground, Dopp pounced on it and carried it over the Sarnia goal line for a touchdown.

The Toronto lads scored a first point in the opening quarter by Knowles' rouge on McCart. Sarnia followed through the quarter with the bucking game, but to no avail, as far as points were concerned.

In the second stanza Loomis featured with a couple of nice runs for the Border boys. The play shifted up and down quite a bit, each team playing an even game. The Caps, however, came back with two rouges by Knowles on Loomis and Lesueur, which placed them "in right" just before half-time.

Score, 2 to 0.
Lesueur started things with the fancy run of the game in the second half, when Knowles punted and Sarnia effected a plunge. Things were evened somewhat when Lesueur crowded Knowles for a safety touch. This placed the Sarnians within one point of the leaders. The period ended with the score 3 to 2, however, as the Capitals secured a try, which Knowles could not convert.

The "grand finale" was noticeable for the aggressiveness of the players, and many accidents. Price, who had been playing a consistent game, was forced to retire with a broken shoulder-bone. The Capitals' spares were all given a chance to show their merits before the game ended.

The teams lined up as follows:
Sarnia — Stokes, full-back; Loomis, McCart, Sinclair, halves; Lesueur, quarter; Sandford, Newhouse, Hubbard, scrum; Armstrong, Tinning inside wing; Richards, McBurney, middle wing; Grimshaw, Holden, outside wing.
Capitals — McCormick, full-back; Knowles, Price, Dopp, halves; Adams, quarter; Glass, Mainers, McDonald, scrum; Armstrong, Tinning inside wing; Richards, McBurney, middle wing; Grimshaw, Holden, outside wing.
Referee—A. Anglin, of Toronto.
Umpire—W. Richardson, of London.

FIVE NEW CLUBS ARE ADMITTED TO O. H. A.

Woodstock College Is One of Them—
Lucknow Refused Application
Owing to Poor Rink.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—At Saturday's meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association executive, the new clubs admitted to the association were Woodstock College, Coldwater, Centennial Hockey Club of Hamilton, Osgoode Hall of Toronto, and Union Jack A. C. of Berlin.

The application of Lucknow was refused because the rink accommodation is not up to the requirements.

The Trenton club were given permission to play their games in Belleville, because of the recent destruction by fire of the Trenton rink.

The reports of the executive committee and the treasurer for the season were adopted, and the resignation of the treasurer, Dr. Wood, tendered some time ago, was formally accepted.

The executive discussed the proposal to organize a national body for amateur hockey in Canada, and the matter will be brought up at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in Montreal next Saturday. Delegates interested in the game will be in attendance there from all parts of the country, prepared for an interchange of views which can be reported to the annual convention of the Ontario Hockey Association, to be held in Toronto at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6.

Wednesday's meeting had President H. E. Wettlauffer of Berlin, in the chair, and the following members present: J. Ross Robertson, Toronto; Dwight J. Turner, Toronto; Charles Parquharson, Stratford; R. M. Glover, Peterborough; Sheriff J. F. Paxton, of Whitby; J. R. Beaton, Chatham; James T. Sutherland, of Kingston; A. E. Copeland, of Midland; Francis Nelson, Toronto, and W. A. Hewitt, Toronto.

"SHAG'S" TRACKS
COOLED VARSITY

McGill Again Won the Intercollegiate Title as Result of Saturday's Game.

Varsity WAS OUTCLASSED

Red and White Proved To Be a Much Superior Organization in Every Way.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Hall to McGill, Intercollegiate champions for 1913, and also winners in 1912. The red and white maintained their honor, triumphantly led by Coach Shaughnessy, for another season, and Varsity as the last victim of the rampage succumbed to the tuns 23 to 14, at the Stadium Saturday.

The dual championship title captured by the McGill aggregation forces the public to admit that they are in a class by themselves as far as intercollegiate football goes. They have a well-balanced team, and they certainly deserved their victory, as they were heads and shoulders over their rivals.

It was a great game, and the nine thousand or so fans that attended the struggle were well satisfied with the culture of football exhibited, and, although most of them were Varsity supporters, they felt that the better team had won.

McGill's half line was strong, and the red and white were so strong on the half line that they forced even McKenzie to stop in his tracks. Dwyer, Falsley and Lamb are a great combination of runners and kickers, and they were the nucleus of the scoring machine. Paisley and Draper kicked well and ran back punts for gains that the blue and white wings were unable to prevent.

On the line Lemay, Donnelly and Waterous plowed and surged their way around for great gains, and the heavier blue and white line was sent crashing back before their onslaughts. The feature man on the line was Red McLean, and the finger-headed boy certainly gave the Varsity wing men all they could handle. He is a regular horse for work.

Jimmy Lee was given a rough passage. Shaq's trick plays, which he has christened the X formations, certainly were a puzzle for the blue and white to try and solve. McGill lines up in the American style, with three distinct lines, and the last man who holds the ball, two of these formations start for the line, come to a full stop in front of their opponents, while the third formation makes a fake back. The man with the ball then starts on the tear for whatever hole or crease he can see, and the Varsity wing men are so bewildered that they are tackling every man but the right one.

Batteries of the first couple of times it looked like the Carlisle Indians and Jim Thorpe at work.

Varsity deserve a lot of credit for their uphill fight, though, and their perseverance. In the third quarter found many a cheer forthcoming from the fans for their work. They threw average mass chances, and by also taking the morning game at Oakland 12 to 3, the series for the world's tour now stands 14 to 14, with one game tied.

Mathewson and Meyers left the Giants after today's game. Both wanted to make a trip, but Matty didn't like the water journey, while the "chief" has some business affairs to settle up. Score by innings:

M'Gill Will Not Play
For Canadian Title

Team Disbanded After Saturday's Match and Will Play No More Rugby This Season—Same Policy as Last Season.

Again will the title "Champions of Canada" have an empty ring. The McGill University team, Intercollegiate champions, and unquestionably one of the greatest teams ever developed in Canada, disbanded after Saturday's defeat of the University of Toronto. The secretary of the McGill Club officially notified the Canadian Rugby Football Union on Saturday that the Intercollegiate champions would not compete in the Canadian finals.

"Old McGill did the same thing last season with the unanimous approval of athletic directorate, student body and faculty."

It is regrettable that the Red and White have arrived at this decision, especially as Hamilton has so good a team. There will be a question as to the relative strength of the teams which cannot be answered without a meeting on the field. Football men who have played and watched and studied the development of the game for years.

and who have seen both Hamilton and McGill in action this season, do not hesitate to say that a Tiger-McGill game would be a great struggle, with odds in favor of the great Canadian-American machine perfected by Coach Shaughnessy. Undoubtedly both teams have been seen at their best in Toronto, the Tigers in their sensational defeat of Argos at Rosedale a week ago, and McGill in their defeat of University of Toronto at Varsity Stadium on Saturday.

As matters now stand the national honors lie between Hamilton Tigers and the winners of the O. R. P. U. senior play-off next Saturday, between Parkdale and T. R. and A. A. The Ontario Union champions decisively defeated the Interprovincial champions last season, and may be depended upon to give Tigers a hard battle. T. R. and A. A. played Hamilton to a 12 to 9 game at Hamilton this season, and were afterwards beaten by Parkdale, 26 to 17. But "dope" is only "dope."

Argos' Great Win Over Ottawa Combines Due to His Clever Work.

THE SCORE WAS 30 TO 12

Combines Were Confident of Victory, and Result Came as a Big Surprise to Ottawa Fans.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The 3,000 people who attended the Argo-Ottawa fixture were treated to a fair brand of Rugby at Rosedale on Saturday afternoon, when the Double Blue surprised the natives and fairly smothered the Combines. It was a complete surprise to the Ottawa team, for so assured of victory were they that they had already begun to talk of the play-off with the Tigers, which they figured would be in Montreal on Saturday.

No visions of a championship were entertained even by the most enthusiastic of the Ottawa fans after that eventful third quarter, when Argos ran wild and piled up a total of 15 points. The Combines were clearly off their mettle when the fourth quarter commenced, and although they worked hard they could not attempt to hold the fast-flying Oarsmen.

To the great Smirlie the palm must again be handed, for it was the plunging halfback who started the fireworks in the third period and put the game on ice for the Double Blue. His booting was generally able to make a substantial gain, and three or four times he looked after half-time. His booting was far ahead of that of Gerard or Becker, and a punting of the variety resulted in a gain for the Double Blue.

Mr. George M. Reid, of This City, Entertained His Son's Friends in Toronto.

Among the Londoners who witnessed the "Varsity-McGill match in Toronto on Saturday, was Mr. George M. Reid, father of Manager Eric Reid, of the McGill team. It was a proud moment for Mr. Reid when his son's team won, as he fully expected it would. He has been a strong McGill enthusiast for the last two years, and last season he tendered the team a supper after the victory at Ottawa.

Mr. Reid promised to banquet the team on Saturday night if it again beat Varsity, and it is said he carried out his promise to the letter, and gave the boys one of the best "feeds" they ever had the pleasure of sitting down to.

OAK HALL
THE BOYS' STORE.HACKNEYS PROMINENT AT NEW YORK SHOW

They Appear in Far Greater Numbers Than at Show of Twenty Years Ago.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 17.—After the winning season on Saturday the National Horse Show got under way today for six days and nights of real business. Hackneys had their innings today, and they appeared in greater numbers than were seen in the National Horse Show of twenty years ago. Where nearly every other breed has lost ground these descendants of the ancient English training horse have made headway until they now dominate the heavy harness classes.

In the early days of the horse show docked trotters were winning everything and a hackney in harness was so rare as to be almost a curiosity.

NEWARK CLUB MAY
ELECT EBBETS' SON

International League Pennant Winner Will Elect Officers.

[Canadian Press.]
Newark, N. J., Nov. 17.—The Newark Baseball Club, winner of the International League pennant last summer, met today for the election of a president and the selection of spring training grounds. It was reported that there was a strong sentiment among the club members for the election of Charles H. Ebbets, jun., son of the president of the Brooklyn National League Club, to head the Newark club next year, although Geo. L. Solomon was up for re-election as president.

COMMUNION MAY PROBE CAUSE OF LAKE WRECKS

Word Has Been Received That Investigation Will Be Made by Dominion Govt.

WERE BOATS OVERLOADED

A Common Practice To Carry Heavy Cargo On the Deck, It Is Charged.

Word has been received in this city to the effect that a Dominion commission will be appointed to inquire into the causes of the shipwrecks on the great lakes.

The statement has been made that one of the ships that went down was loaded heavily on the foredeck with iron pipe, and that as a consequence the ship was top heavy.

By sailors with whom The Advertiser has had conversations in the last week, it is said that it is a common practice to carry a heavy cargo on the foredeck, and that this practice has been carried out even late in the season, when heavy storms were met.

The commission is likely to be appointed within a few days, and it is said that sessions for the taking of evidence will be held in London, Goderich, Sarnia, Collingwood and other points. Survivors of the storm will be called, together with officials in charge of weather stations.

Some of the freighters are equipped with wireless, but it is doubtful if wireless could have been of assistance in a gale such as swept the lakes Sunday. There is a wireless station at Point Edward, but it did not receive distress messages on the night of the storm.

GOVT. SUSTAINED BY LARGE MAJORITIES

[Canadian Press.]

Lisbon, Nov. 17.—Parliamentary elections were held yesterday in a number of constituencies. Twenty-four of the 38 seats contested were carried by the Government by large majorities. The result in the other fourteen contests was not known at a late hour, but the Opposition expected to win four of them.

GOT AWAY WITH $20,000.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Nov. 17.—International thieves succeeded in extracting ingots of gold valued at $20,000 from a consignment of $1,000,000, while it was on the way from Constantinople to Paris, where it arrived on Thursday last week.

BODIES OF TWO YOUNG MEN FOUND NEAR PORT ALBERT

Both Had On Life Preservers of the Steamer Caruthers—Lifeboat Came Ashore at Kincardine and Another Body Was Found.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Dungannon, Nov. 15.—Lake Huron still continues to give up her dead. About 11 o'clock this morning a young man of Port Albert, north of Goderich, discovered two bodies on the beach, side by side. They had Caruthers life preservers on. One was clad in overalls and a pair of heavy shoes. His weight would be about 200 pounds, height about 5 feet 10 inches, hair dark red, face clean shaven, but slightly swollen, and skull badly bruised. There was nothing to reveal his identity. His age would be about 30.

The other was a young man about 20, fine-looking, fair, brown hair, clean shaven. His face was calm, with a slight smile about his mouth. He was about 5 feet 4 inches in height, and weighed about 140 pounds. Like his companion, he was roughly clad. Undertaker Brophy of Goderich, removed the bodies to Goderich this evening.

ANOTHER AT KINCARDINE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kincardine, Nov. 15.—A lifeboat came ashore this forenoon. On its right bow is "No. 1, H. M. No. 1, Hydrex," on left side, "Hydrex, 20 pers.," label of makers, "Patent, Thos. Hunt & Son, headed galvanized steel lifeboat builders, No. 8224, Imp. 1863, Whittington, Delaware, No. 18, B gauge. On first seat, 20 persons, on second seat 2000 cubic feet." The boat is in fairly good condition and has water-tight bulkheads on both ends, rope with floats around the gunwale.

Another body was recovered late last night, making ten bodies now found.

FOREIGNERS FLEE FROM MEXICO

FEARING AN OUTBREAK SHORTLY

Many Firms Cable Their Representatives To Send All Women and Children to Places of Safety Before Hostilities Start—Situation Has Reached a Most Acute Stage.

[Canadian Press.]

Mexico, Nov. 17.—The exodus of foreigners, especially Americans, continues today. The trains to Vera Cruz were jammed. It was asserted at the United States embassy that no new instructions had been received.

Many American citizens who have reached here from smaller towns in the interior of Mexico possess the deep-seated feeling that the situation has reached a most acute stage and large numbers of them have joined in the rush to Vera Cruz.

Send Women Out.

A number of business concerns here whose headquarters are abroad have received cabled instructions to send the women and children of their employees out of the federal capital.

While from Vera Cruz today a man arrived who claimed to be a messenger from John Lind, with what authority is not known, and urged the immediate departure of all American women and children and advised the men to do likewise.

All the ministers of foreign countries are still here, and it is not anticipated that any of them will leave their posts even in case of intervention as the diplomats consider it part of their duty to continue to safeguard the interests of their respective countries.

In this connection Admiral Von Huerta, the German minister, is optimistic, saying he believes there is no reason for anxiety, and that a plan is being considered by which armed intervention will most surely be avoided.

HUERTA IS THROUGH.

[Canadian Press.]

Mexico City, Nov. 17.—Gen. Huerta regards his part in the recent exchange of communications with the United States as finished. He expects to find no difficulty in consummating his plan to bring his new congress to the full organization tomorrow, and he continues planning his military campaign and carrying out his policies of pacification.

When a further move may be taken at Washington is a question which neither the Mexicans nor the foreigners here find an easy one to answer, but there was noticeable today an increasing expression of opinion that the United States would continue her "hands off" policy.

This was not a predominant belief, but those who expressed it pointed out that there was an element at Washington which would be contented to see the federal and constitutionalists play their own game to the finish, the taking of Juarez by the rebels being cited as perhaps an encouragement of such a disposition at Washington.

Not Confirmed.

It was reported unofficially today that Chihuahua had been captured. The war department, however, has little information regarding the military situation.

THREE COLLINGWOOD VICTIMS HAD AN IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL

Streets Were Lined With Hundreds of Sympathizers For Men Who Were Lost With Steamer Wexford—Soldiers Turned Out For Alan Dodson.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Collingwood, Nov. 16.—No more impressive sight has been witnessed in Collingwood than the funeral ceremonies Saturday of the first three of the victims of the foundering of the steamer Wexford. While no public funeral was held, the streets of the town were lined with row upon row of silent sympathizers, who, with bare heads, watched each cortege go by while every store in the town was closed during the funeral hours.

The first funeral, that of Archie Brooks, left his late home at 2 o'clock, and the large number of carriages following the hearse wended their way to the Presbyterian cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Urquhart performed the funeral rites.

The funeral of the chief engineer of the Wexford, the late Mr. James Scott, was held at 4 o'clock, when a number of the Oddfellows turned out to show a last token of respect to a highly-esteemed citizen and brother.

This ceremony was held at the Presbyterian cemetery. Beautiful wreaths sent by the many friends of the deceased covered the casket.

The funeral of Alan Dodson was of a military character. The deceased was formerly a member of the Thirty-fifth Regiment Bugle Band, and not only did all the members of the band turn out, under the leadership of Sgt. Major Chisholm, but two companies of the Thirty-fifth Regiment also paraded, as did the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps, to which Dodson also belonged some years ago.

BLAMES GREED FOR DISASTER ON LAKE

Rev. J. A. Cranston Says Ship Owners Force Captains Out.

[Canadian Press.]

Fort William, Nov. 17.—A statement that the loss of life in the recent storm on Lake Superior was due to orders given by officials that captains take out their vessels in spite of rough weather, was made by Rev. J. A. Cranston, in a sermon yesterday.

He said that it was the greed of shipowners who wished their boats to make as many trips as possible that had resulted in so much loss of life.

Had it been only vessels and cargoes that had gone down, he would have said that it served the owners right for their avarice, but the lives of hundreds of men had been sacrificed as well.

WOMEN WERE JAILED FOR HURLING HAMMERS

[Canadian Press.]

London, Nov. 17.—Two bands of what Arthur Hopkins, the police magistrate, described as "raving women," appeared in the police courts of London today in connection with Saturday's outrage at the Old Bailey court, when hammers were thrown at Justice Lawrence, and with yesterday's disorders near Premier Asquith's official residence in Downing street.

The four women charged with assaulting the justice were sentenced to terms varying from one month to two months at hard labor.

In the second case Miss Morison and Mrs. Kerr were bound over to keep the peace, while the proceedings against the Misses Murray and Boyle were adjourned.

It was noticeable that the police took the precaution of depriving all women of their baskets or parcels as they entered the police court, evidently fearing they might carry concealed weapons.

BAD BLOOD IS THE DIRECT CAUSE OF Pimples.

Pimples break out on the face and body, and it is impossible to get rid of them, unless you cleanse the blood of all its impurities.

Burdock Blood Bitters is without a doubt, the very best medicine for this purpose.

This old, and reliable medicine has been in use for nearly forty years, and has a reputation unequalled by any other preparation for removing all the impurities from the blood and banishing the pimples.

Mr. Edward Paquette, Navan Centre, Ont., writes:—"One month ago my face was covered with pimples and a rash. I had tried a number of these so-called blood purifiers with no avail. Seeing an almanac of yours in which you strongly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters, I decided to try a bottle, and after I had taken it I could see a decided change, and after using three bottles more all the pimples had completely disappeared."
