The death took place recently at Columbia, Mo., of Professor Norman Maclaren Trenholme, chairman of the department of history in the University of Missouri, who in 1900 and 1901 was professor of history in Western university. There are many in London who will remember the young teacher who came here from Harvard, though of the present faculty of the university Dr. N. C James is the only one who was or the staff at that time.

Dr. Trenholme was born in Montreal in 1874, his father being a judge of the court of king's bench in the province of Quebec. He was educated at McGill and Harvard, receiving the degree of Ph.D. from the latter institution in 1899, after which he spent two years in graduate work and travel in Europe.

After leaving Western university, Dr Trenholme was for a year on the staff of Pennsylvania state college and then went to the University of Missouri, where in 1905 he became chairman of the department of history. In 1919 he was appointed chairman of the junior college committee. He was the author of several books in the field of history and a frequent contributor to the his-torical magazines. He was a memtorical magazines. He was a member of the American Historical association, the Mississippi Valley Historical association, and the Royal Historical society of Great Britain. Driver Held Blameless For Death of Albert Root On Saturday.

Freeing the driver of all blame in connection with the death of Albert E. Root, Argyle Park, a coroner's jury last night recommended that the crown attorney notify the attorneygeneral that it was of the opinion that bicycles should be made to carry a horn or some other warning signal as it believed that bicycles are the cause of most fatalities on the public highways.

The full verdict of the coroner's jury is as follows: "That Albert E. Root came to his death instantly on Saturday morning, July 18, 1925, from internal injuries sustained struck by a car driven by John B. Woodward of Mendenhall, Pennsylvania. Fly Doors

Three months ago I scoffed at him who had a word to offer me, but now flies dance upon my bread and take high dives into my tea.

Three months ago the hardware man when I was in his store one day, he said the fly doors should be on before it come the first of May. For if you don't start early like and battle with the flies this year, they'll crawl upon your butter dish and four will squat upon your ear.

Of course I paid no heed to him, just thinkin' as I left his store, it was his business when in there to load me with a nettin' door. I'd only got some tacks and nails, it made me just a trifle sore, to have him urgin' on to me how I should squander three

I mind I read about that time where some professor gave a talk, and illustrated what he said by drawin' with a piece of chalk.

He said how we must swat the fly and do it when the year was young, and win the fight for health and ease before the battle was begun. He recommended fly doors too, that makin' me feel sort of rough, for like as not that hardware man was hirin' him to boost his stuff.

No fly doors decorate my shack, and flies are swarmin' in there too, there's flies upon the kitchen range, there's flies upon the table

And when I eat my victuals now there's flies upon the butter dish, more flies are walkin' on the bread than Pharaoh's folks could ever wish. And when I saucer out my tea to quench my long and naggin thirst, I have to battle with the flies to see who gets their innings first,

When I am done at dinnertime and rest a bit to whirl my thumbs, the flies they gather in a row and fat their ribs upon the

At nighttime when the clock strikes ten and it has come the time to rest, there's flies that walk upon my dome, while others slumber on my chest.

I have a swatter in my hand and heave a wicked blow at them, but they come back and gaze at me to see if I will smite again. And when I land upon a fly that has been camping on my head, there's more of them come in to see if that one's hurt or really

Most foolish of all men I was to scoff at wisdom three months back, I should have got the fly doors then and spiked them firmly

I'd go and do the thing today but I don't think they'd work just now, and I'm just puzzled in the head to know the when, the why and how. For if I put on fly doors now, it's this that I am stuck about, how could I take the flies what's in and cause them to be flyin' out .- ARK.

BIG STILL FOUND

Defendant Becomes Hysterical While On Witness Stand.

FINE IS IMPOSED

Special to The Advertiser. Simcoe, July 20. - Consternation eigned in Magistrate Gunton's court nere this afternoon when John A ong, North Walsingham farmer accused of keeping liquor for sale contrary to the O. T. A., went into hysterics as he was about to undergo examination by the crown attorney. He was removed from the courtroon and counsel consented to proceed without his testimony. He was fined $500 and costs and one month in jail, with an additional three months in case the fine is not paid.

The still which Long operated at his farm in Walsingham was declared by provincial police to be the largest they had ever seen. It was a double still, with twin boilers and twin copper worms, and had a capacity of one gallon of moonshine an hour.

Long is a married man with seven children.

A. E. Luce and Ray Millard of Straffordville, Ont., were charged with transporting liquor in vehicles along the highway. Luce was fined $200 and costs. The case against Millard was dismissed.

Why Not Be Health-Happy?

OFTEN you see people listless, uninterested. And growing boys and girls-dull and lazy, we sometimes think. Yet sparkling eyes, glowing cheeks and smiling lips are their rightful heritage. They ought to be health-happy. But if systems are clogged with health-destroying body poisons, how can they be?

What about you? Don't neglect the importance of regular habits. Post's Bran Flakes, eaten regularly, is an efficient aid to good digestion because it supplies necessary rough age, promotes regularity and sweeps out waste. Post's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat prevents constipation. There's food value, too, because other nourishing parts of wheat are retained in Post's Bran Flakes. There's delicious flavor in each thin, crisp-toasted flake. And it's ready to serve right from the package.

Woodstock, July 20 .- Mrs. R. E. Butler, wife of a prominent Woodstock lumber dealer, suffered severe cuts on the arms and face and bruises when the car in which she was seated near the entrance to the Methodist cemetery ran backward down an incline and turned over on its side in the roadway. Mrs. Butler was pinned under the auto for some minutes be-fore she could be extricated by her husband, who had gone into the cemetery to place flowers on a family grave.

During the car's swift journey down the hill it appeared to strike a stone, swerve, and, mounting the embankment, struck a tombstone from its base. About a car's length from the broken stone it fell over

You will notice a film on your child's teeth. That's a frequent danger sign - an invitation for tooth troubles. The same stubborn film that you can feel by running your tongue across your own teeth. You must combat it. Ordinary dentifrices don't fight it successfully. Harsh, gritty substances are injurious to enamel.

Film is the greatest enemy of tooth health. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. The acid that leads to early decay forms. Old type methods failed to combat it. Men of science engaged themselves in

Now in Pepsodent, two new combatants are embodied-combatants approved by highest dental authority. It curdles the film, then gently removes it. It keeps the teeth whiter, cleaner, more sparkling. For years now, in France, England and America, the standard of looks for a woman demanded a slim figure. I use the word slim because I think many acknowledge that thinness is not beautiful, and that many women have overdone the reducing act to a point where they really have no figure at all, which is surely not attractive.

There is an old French expression for describing the perfect figure — fausse-maigre — which, translated fausse-maigre — which, translated literally, means false thin. In other words, one should give the impression of being slim, but one's bones should be well covered. Now comes the news from Paris that the slim figure is going out of fashion, and that curves and plumpness are returning. This is interesting, but I will believe it when I see it. Undoubtedly, dressmakers are trying to bring this change about by sending lump managening to the races and plump mannequins to the races and tashionable seaside resorts, but it is a question in my mind whether they will succeed.

Dressmakers have for some time Dressmakers have for some time been upset by the difficulty in making any very marked change in the styles, owing to the limited possibilities for different lines set by the modern figure. Shall the Maiden Aunt Adopt a Child? Advice to the Man With a High-Tempered Wife.

Dear Dorothy Dix-Should an unmarried woman adopt a child? Will she be happier in voluntarily assum-MAIDEN AUNT.

There is no reason why an unmarried woman should not adopt a child; and very many reasons why she should if she finds her life empty has the maternal hunger that many women have.

I do not think that there is any finer and nobler thing that a woman can possibly do than to take a little homeless and friendless child and give it a real home and a mother's love and tenderness. It is the saving of a life from something far worse than physical death, and the good one does in rearing up a man or woman, with high and noble ideals and good principles, does not end with that individual. It stretches on and on to their children and their children's children into eternity.

I think that you will get far more happiness out of adopting a child of your own for keeps than you will out of the borrowed babies of your friends and relatives. It is the same difference there is between owning your own automobile and getting a lift now and then from

Following last night's All Comers vs. London match and lawn concert, Nate K. Cornwall, of Walkerville, a W. O. B. A. veteran, was unanimously elected president, succeeding Dick Seldon, of Exeter. It was a popular choice. The meeting brought to an end one of the best "first days" the has ever experienced, and left no room for doubt of the permanency of the old classic in the bowling of the province. Only one default was registered when the bowlers got away yesterday for the 30th renewal of the W. O. B. A. The start was a bit late owing to the fact that the Canadian bowlers who toured the British Isles, bowling as a unit, and not representing any individual club, were guests of the London Rotarians at luncheon, but their arrival only served to dissipate the rain clouds which had threatened all morning.

More news regarding the semi-finals will be on hand this morning, President Langford stated.

Local Rinks Defeat Visitors To W. O. B. A. Tourney by 170 to 124.

The All-Comers vs. London match, part of the W. O. B. A. tourney, last night and concert on the lawn combined for a thoroughly enjoyable even bined for a thoroughly enjoyable evening, enjoyed not only by the bowlers themselves, but by their families.

London won the match by a score of 170 to 124. The concert was given during the progress of the match. The Schubert Quartet, composed of Messrs. Mapletoft, Henderson, Adams and McCulloch, gave trio and solo numbers as well, which were greatly enjoyed. Sweetzer's orchestra and Pipe Major Jimmie Hamilton provided a splendid program. Miss Udy acted as accompanist throughout the evening.

The sacrifice play first became a part of the box score in 1908. That goes not The sacrifice play first became a part of the box score in 1908. That goes not seem so many years ago, and yet baseball was still experimenting, as it is today, with various offences and defences. Way back in 1891, however, the record for sacrifice hits was produced by Harding Richardson, then playing with Boston of the American Association. His record of 68 still stands. The modern record was established in 1917 by Ray Chapman of Cleveland who died from a fractured skull, the result of being hit in the head by Carl Mays, then of the Yankees, in 1920. Chapman rang up 67. In 1919, Chapman made 50, to lead his league. He first became a sacrifice bunt artist in 1913, when he led the American loop with 48. Donie Bush, playing with Detroit in 1920, made the same number.

It will be seen that for a long space of years the sacrifice hit was not believed worth mentioning as naving any vital part in baseball. From 1891, when of years the sacrifice hit was not believed worth mentioning as naving any vital part in baseball. From 1891, when the record was set, until 1908, a stretch of 17 seasons, it was not included in the box scores. Unless it is set forth now, however, ball players and managers wail loud and long. And yet even today there is talk against this practice. We have failed to find one good reason for obsoleting the play. It has as much to do with baseball as good pitching or the hit-and-run. This latter style has in a way replaced the bunt sacrifice on some clubs. It is more successful than the hunt when it was not below the fifth. St. Peters rapped out a total of 11 safeties, while the champions were held to 5 bingles by Nopper, but the St. Marys hits, which included two lusty triples, came when they were needed most.

This latter style has in a way replaced the bunt sacrifice on some clubs. It is more successful than the bunt when it works but if it fails it will cause more double plays than the sacrifice. Records easily prove this fact. So whatever the talk of doing away with it, the sacrifice undoubtedly will be as much used as the hit and run for many years to come, and especially if the pitching ever reaches the standard of former years.

THE SPIRIT OF THE W. O. B. A. I stand against this age of hurry, This mad, hurly-burly flurry; Breath (4.4) of a going day When there was lots of time for play.

A day that lacked all this fuss and bustle, When all had time for a five-day tussle, And sught just as hard for championships, But prized much more the he-friendships.

Maybe I'm old and have had my day, Still, "you're just as young as you feel," they say; So this upstart one-day tournament, Don't bother me-I'm permanent.

I'm here to stay 'till the last end's played, Poor, yet rich in the friends I've made.

Wrigley spent millions in gum advertising attacks on New York City, so no wonder he's willing to gamble on Maranville, the former rebel, as a manager.

The deaths within a week of Pancho Villa and Pepper Martin, from illnesses which are not as a rule fatal, shows that moderation in all things applies even to condition.

The fact that a man who was once a left-handed pitcher on the San Antonio Club has but recently bought it from the proceeds of success in a lumber business, is proof that southpaws are growing more like other people every day.

* * * * STILL GOING STRONG.

The W. O. B. A. started out on its 30th year yesterday. Despite the inroads of one-day tournaments, and of golf, there was much of the old-time air about this bowling classic. If there are differences of opinion about running shots and other matters of play, it wasn't evident yesterday, neither in the way the bowlers started off, nor the number of rinks which entered.

One-day tournaments are a product of the gasoline age, as much as they are of any one set of circumstances. The W. O. B. A. is a relic of the time when a bowling tournament was an event, partly answering for holidays, and it seems likely to go as strong as ever, for as the veterans of the veterans drop out, new friends are made.

Freddie Welsh has started a fox farm in Michigan. He was once known as Foxy Freddie.

GATE ATTRACTIONS.

The individual powers of gate attraction of players are as much considered these days by sport magnates as their potentialities. It is very doubtful if the huge figures supposed to have been paid for some of the coast stars were ever actually counted out in cold cash, but these players took on an added glamor for the fans even if it wasn't very pleasant for the individuals themselves.

Last winter a certain pro-hockey club made huge offers to an amateur player. The player in question had been deliberately pressagented for some months, and then circumstances combined to give him still more publicity. The pro-owners privately admitted later, that they were not paying for what they thought was known playing ability, but for known quantity in the way of gate attraction. This player had been played up in such a way that his acquisition by this particular club would have been repaid in two games. Such is the credulity of the hockey fan and baseball fan that they will give an idol stuffed with newspapers the benefit of many doubts before finally relying on their own good judgment.

Owen Carroll, the young pitcher acquired by the Tigers from Holy Cross, has already repaid the investment. Carroll, because of his college record, and the resulting publicity, made all the more intriguing when contradictory reports came out over which the club owned him was a fine gate attraction. The Tigers get his pitching possibilities

Special to The Advertiser. City, July 20.—The difference be-Lefty Thomas and Coopan as Bay City, July 20.—The difference between Lefty Thomas and Coogan as pitchers decided the ball game at Clarkson park Monday. Thomas was effective, had worlds of stuff on his curves and pitched good ball. The London selection was in poor form, and therein lies the reason for the Pack's triumph over Baker's hired help, with figures of 8 to 4. The victory for the locals and that of Saginaw over Kitchener keeps the two valley teams in a rie for the the two valley teams in a tie for the league leadership.

at bat, Cozington, Tomer, Brown and Rawlins, singled in rapid succession. Cozington scored on a volley, and Brown did likewise on Thomas' long sacrifice fly. Then came a luli until the sixth, when there was a veritable stampede. Hughes opened with a double, Prysock was hit in the head and Cozington singled. So it went, hits and runs, all down the line until every man in the batting order had visited the firing line. Following the third retirement a check-up showed five safe blows ment a check-up showed five safe blows and as many scores.

milyea walked and Coogan laid down a grounder to Rawlins. The shortstop, instead of playing to first, shot one to second, which went away wild and allowed London to score two men.

That misfortune for the Breenmen upset Thomas. In the eighth he allowed Baker to lead off with a single, let Cross do likewise, and hit Kernan before the side was retired. This inning brought a real threat from the visitors for there were three on base and only one out when Klein came to bat. He lined to Tomer, who took the ball one-handed after a jump, and raced back to first to cut off Harris, who was running for Brower.

TO PROCEED WITH MERGER OF ASBESTOS CORPORATIONS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 20.—Dillon. Read & Co., New York bankers, will proceed with the proposed Asbestos merger, excluding the properties of the Asbestos Corporatino, D. R. Goldthwaite of New York representing the bankers, announced here today. He said the banking interests had heard with surprise that the directors of the Asbestos Corporation had refused to submit the merger proposal to their shareholders, "in view of the stage to which negotiations had progressed."

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Ont., July 20 .- First in the history of mankind will be the International Congress on Child Welfare to be held in Geneva from Aug. 24 to 28, plans for which are now almost completed. This great undertaking, organized by the Save the Children Fund International Union, will see a remarkable gathering when representatives of more than 40 nations will convene for the purpose of considering and making practicable plans for the benefit of the children of the world; who will then be studied as the people's first preference in all cases where the welfare of the child is concerned. The keystone of the discussion and debates will be what is known as the "Declaration of Geneva," or "The Children's Charter," which Canada has adopted by the League of Nations in September, 1924. The Charter states that "By the present Declaramonly known as the "Declaration of Geneva", men and women of all nations, recognizing that mankind owes to the child the best that it has the given and company of Canada, Limited, and his new duties become effective immediately.

Conciliatory Answer in Security Problem Creates Favorable Impression.

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, July 21.-Germany has replied in a conciliatory manner to the allied observations concerning her suggestion for a security pact guaranteeing her western frontiers and it is agreed, with but few exceptions, that the German communication, while far from removing all the obstacles to a settlement of the security problem, opens the way for negotiations from which an understanding may emerge.

Meanwhile the evacuation of the Ruhr region by the French and Belgian forces of occupation is going on apace, the belief being expressed that by July 31, virtually all of the allied troops will have left the Ruhr men, women and children.

They will give you a certificate in consideration of a fill-up with Havoline Oil, entitling you to two tests on the Wasson Motor Check.

WHERE TO SECURE THIS WONDERFUL TEST.

The Wasson Motor Check is located at the Lumsden Oil Company, corner Waterloo and Dundas streets. Large display signs will guide you at a glance.

WHY YOU SHOULD HAVE YOUR CAR TESTED ON THIS REMARKABLE NEW INVENTION.

We will cut your cost of upkeep and show you real POWER in oil, cutting out all sales bunk and actually measuring the increased power of good oil like Havoline.

We will measure the performance of your carthe power it actually delivers and the condition your engine is in.

We will test your car free on the Wasson Motor Check, with your car running just as it does on the road. Dials register horsepower delivered at rear wheels from slow speed up to the limit—even up to 45 or 50 miles an hour. Waste gasoline vapors slipping past your pistons are caught and measured, giving almost an X-ray analysis of your ring and oil seal.

The Wasson Motor Check has been demonstrating to thousands of motorists in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Moosejaw and Vancouver, and throughout the United States.

DEALERS: Every good dealer who is anxious to sell his customers good oil should stock Havoline. It is the Power Oil. There is no substitute.

Oil Is More Than "Oil" It Is Power!

Refill your crank case with Havoline, the rest bes with it, free. Drive around now, buy your oil from the dealers already listed and be sure to get a free test certificate. Bring it to the Motor Check with you, and see in your own car what Havoline has shown to others. OIL WHICH GIVES MOST POWER IS THE RIGHT OIL FOR YOUR CAR many's offer of a security pact, which was handed to M. Briand, the French foreign minister by the German ambassador, Herr Von Hoesch, this evening has created a favorable impression in official circles. It permits of nope that negotiations for the guarantee of the frontiers of France and Belgium will proceed with chances of success.

The note dissipates the fear based on intornation from Berlin that the Reich government would make the negotiations for a pact dependent upon the early evacuation of Cologne. The only reservation which Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, makes concerns the entry of Germany into the league of nations, and the consequent obligation on the part of the reich to participate in league action to protect the frontiers, under Article 16 of the covenant. This reservation is supposed to apply particularly to an eventual demand for the right of way for French forces to cross German territory to go to the aid of Poland or other countries of eastern Europe or other coun

Ferguson Declares English Loan Houses All Friendly To Canada.

Associated Press Despatch London, July 20 .- "I have been in touch with many big financial houses here, and without exception, I have found them all entirely friendly towards Canada, particularly Ontario," said Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, premier of Ontario, to the Canadian Press, today.

"We can of course borrow money cheaper just now in New York than in London," Premier Ferguson continued, "but they tell me here that the currency is likely to be stabilized in the course of six or eight months, after which there should be every opportunity for sound industrial propositions in Ontario getting capital readily from London." Legislation Appreciated.

Premier Ferguson said he had found considerable appreciation here of recent Ontario legislation whereby English financial and commercial in-English financial and commercial in-terests could nominate Canadians to represent them on the spot with practically full powers of directors. This perhaps, in the course of time, would lead to a change in the method usually followed by British romoters who did not always realize the necessity for having expert Can-adian brains and energy to work

Canadian propositions.

Another matter to which Premier Ferguson has given some attention is the migration of youths of a superior class for training as farmers. "We working in his garden or taking a want a good grade of boy," he said, "who, after a few years' training here and there for a friendly chat will be able to take up a holding on his own account, with, perhaps, some help from his parents at home. The overseas settlement committee is helping towards boy emigration of a general class on a 50-50 basis, but at the present time this scheme fails to reach the class of youths that we are most anxious to get in touch with.

New Scheme Likely. that some new scheme may develop which will prove attractive to lads who, if they make good, will com-mand a little capital."

With reference to alleged un-friendly criticism of Canada in the British press, Premier Ferguson said:
