THE BOERS

Have Decided to Fight it Out.

LORD ROBERTS OFFERED THEM
FIVE DAYS TO CONSIDER A SURRENDER—ARE NOW
RETIRING.

London, June 19. — Lord Roberts, according to a Boer despatch from Machadodorp, sent a message to Commandant-General Louis Botha on June 13, suggested disarmament, and complimenting the bravery of the burghers. It was pointed out that the surrender would be without dishonor to the burghers and would prevent much suffering. Gen. Botha asked for a six days' armistice in order to confer and consider. Lord Roberts consented to five days. Finally Gen. Botha declined to accept the proposal and hostilities were renewed.

The Boer commandos are retiring on Middleburg, followed by the British cavalry and artillery, occasionally shells reaching the rear guards. The Boers are destroying the bridges and burning the veldt behind them, carrying off provisions and cattle and leaving the country barren.

Other advices from Machadodorp say that the Boers have an abundance of arms and ammunition, with dynamite and oxen, and that they are preparing heavy wagon trains for a retreat to the Lydenburg district, where the chiefs, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, are determined to make a stand.

BOERS HAVE CASH.

The Boers continue to work the Barberton mines, says a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, and there are eight carloads of bar gold, valued at £5,000,000, with President Kruger.

Mr. Steyn, in his proclamation declaring the Free State still free and independent, says that the fact that the army is yet in the field renders Lord Roberts' annexation contrary to international law.

In a despatch to the war office from Pretoria, dated yesterday, Lord Roberts says that Gen. Baden-Powell has just arrived there.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times, under yesterday's date, says:

"Judge Van Leeuwen, who left Pretoria with a permit from the military governor, is understood to have received the bearer of a verbal message from the British authorities to President Kruger to the effect that if he would surrender now he would not be sent out of the country. Van Leeuwen was unable to see Mr. Kruger, but when passing through Machadodorp he told State Secretary Reitz. The latter scouted the idea of surrender."

"R. J. H. Fortuin, head of the Transvaal secret service, is taking to Europe very important secret documents."

A HARD FIGHT.

London, June 18. — A belated despatch from Roberts, from Pretoria, dated June 16, gives an official version of an attack on a British post at Zand river, June 16, by 800 Boers, with three guns. It says Gen. Knox, with three mixed force, drove off the Boers, who left four dead and four prisoners on the field. The British loss was Maj. Seymour and two men killed and nine wounded. A rumor comes from Cape Town that Roberts is about to seize the Delagoa Bay railroad at a strong strategic point.

Mrs. Reitz, wife of the Transvaal state secretary, sailed for Europe today, accompanied by her family.

A despatch from Cape Town says it is reported there that President Kruger is in a feeble condition.

The new cabinet has been officially announced. Sir J. Gordon Spragg is premier and treasurer; J. J. Graham is colonial secretary; Ross Innes, attorney-general; Smuts, department of public works; Sir Peter Faure, agriculture, and Frost, without portfolio.

HE KILLED GOEBEL.

An Unknown so Writes to Culton.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19. — Wm. Culton, who is in jail under indictment as an accessory to the murder of Wm. Goebel, has received an anonymous letter postmarked, Fort Worth, Tex., in which the writer says:

"I am sorry you are in trouble. I killed Goebel. He knew I would do it. Ten minutes after the shooting I watched the crowd in the state house yard from the fort hill. I went to Georgetown and took a train, landing in Cincinnati the next day. At Kansas City I got scared and went to Oklahoma before coming here. I am on a ranch and those who have known me in Kentucky would not know me in Texas." Culton says ordinarily he would regard it as the work of a crank, but the style of the letter, the good penmanship, etc., make it a mystery. He has turned the letter over to his counsel.

The Annual Lawn Social of St. Joseph's Church will be held on the Church Grounds on Thursday, June 21st, from 4 to 10 p. m. Admission to grounds and supper only 15c. City Band in attendance.

MINISTRY OUT.

The Italian Cabinet Has Resigned Owing to a Deadlock.

Rome, June 19. — In the chamber of deputies yesterday, the premier, Gen. Pelloux, announced that the cabinet had resigned owing to the deadlock arising from the opposition's uncompromising attitude on the question of the rules of procedure. The house adjourned pending the formation of a new ministry.

SEVEN YEARS IN PRISON.

Toronto, June 19. — Magistrate Kingsford, at the police court yesterday, passed sentence upon George McC. Wilson, the defaulting teller of the Merchant's Bank. The magistrate stated that in regard to the charge of stealing the missing package of $10,000, he must find the prisoner guilty. The money had been left in Wilson's care, and his evidence that he did not know what had become of it must be disbelieved. Wilson was sentenced to seven years in Kingston.

IT IS WAR Between China and the Great Powers.

THE EMPRESS DOWAGER OF CHINA ORDERED THE TAKU TO FIRE ON THE ALLIED FLEET.

London, Tuesday, June 19, 3.30 a. m.

China declared war against the world when the Taku forts opened fire upon the international fleet. The accounts of what took place are still unsatisfactory. The best semi-official being the despatch received from Chefoo, via Berlin, as follows:—"Later a semi-official despatch from Chefoo announced that the Taku forts had been captured after a combined attack by the foreign warships. Three men on the German warship Illia were killed and seven were wounded."

The despatch added that the foreign settlements at Tien Tsin were being fired into by the Chinese. When the despatch left nothing had been heard from the German detachment sent to Pekin, or from the German legation there. The unofficial narratives, coming by way of Shanghai, vary widely, and bear internal evidence of supplementing the main facts with guess work.

One despatch says that the Yorktown participated in the bombardment. Another asserts that American marines formed part of the attacking force of 2,000. A press despatch from Chefoo, dated yesterday afternoon, says the forts on both sides of the Taku are now occupied. The Chinese opened fire unexpectedly. The casualties to the mixed forces were as follows:—Killed—British, 1; German, 3; Russian, 16; and French, 1. Wounded—British, 4; German, 7; Russian, 45; and French, 1. The Chinese torpedo boats were seized.

ORDERED FROM PEKIN.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing yesterday, says:—"The forts began firing in obedience to orders from Pekin, conveyed in a personal edict of the Empress Dowager, by advice of Kang Yi (President of the ministry of war). Several ships were struck by shells from the twelve-inch guns of the forts. The heavy Russian losses were due to the blowing up of the magazine at Nandshur. Four hundred Chinese are reported to have been killed. The Chinese, when retreating, fell into the hands of the Russian land force."

The Daily News has the following from Chefoo:—"Two of the forts were blown up. The thirty-two warships at Taku aggregated two hundred thousand tons and carried more than 300 guns."

HERIL OF THE LEGATIONS.

The failure of Admiral Seymour's column and its retreat to Tien Tsin increases, it is presumed, the peril of the legations in Pekin, which is still isolated although Shanghai forwards Chinese rumors that the legations were attacked by mobs, who were mowed down by machine guns, and also that the members of the legations were massacred. The situation at Hui Chwang is reported critical. The British consul at Kiu Kiang has ordered all foreigners to leave Ku Ling and Nap King Chang. The powers are taking prompt action. Four thousand German troops have been ordered to China, 10,000 French troops are awaiting to embark at the capital, and from three to five thousand more Russians have been ordered from Port Arthur to Taku.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, under yesterday's date, gives the following description, said to be taken from official sources, of the action at Taku:—"On the afternoon of June 16, in view of the large bodies of Chinese troops assembling at the forts and of the fact that the torpedo boats had been laid in the river and that all communications were interrupted, the naval commanders held a council and decided on an ultimatum, calling for the disbandment of the troops, and announcing that if this demand were not complied with before 2 a. m. of the following day the united squadron would destroy the forts. Shortly after midnight the forts opened fire. The British, French, German, Russian and Japanese warships replied. Two of the forts were blown up, and the rest were carried by assault. Two British, one American, and five Chinese warships are in Chefoo harbor."

The morning papers consider that a state of war practically exists and that the issue is between western and eastern civilization. The Times says that the latest news indefinitely raises a situation already sufficiently serious.

CRUEL RED-TAPEISM.

Even in the matter of hospital arrangements England has suffered from the same incompetency and red tapeism that prevailed during the American war with Spain. In a little book, "Sidelights on the War," Lady Jessica Sykes makes some startling assertions.

During her stay at Eastcourt, before and after the battle of Colenso, she found "neither system, order, nor regularity" in the hospital arrangements. Red-tapeism reigned supreme, and strict rules were established only to thwart, not to assist, charity. Army doctors she found feverishly anxious to prevent any person entering the hospital. They objected to private civilian charity or assistance, even when most urgently required.

It was even frequently said in my presence by many who were suffering or had suffered from snubs inflicted on their well-meant and charitable efforts," says Lady Sykes, "that army doctors, and particularly army nurses, would really almost imperil the lives of their patients rather than allow their wants to be relieved in an irregular and non-official manner."

Wounded Tommies were not only dependent on the "amateur nurses" for their little delicacies and comforts, but often for pure necessities also. Men from the front were frequently left for an entire day without food or attendance, she says, and when these were supplied by the charitable "an offensive little Jack-in-office" in the shape of a doctor would remark:

"Now, you good people doubtless mean well, but I object entirely to this kind of thing. It is quite unnecessary; besides, it is against discipline that the men should receive anything not actually provided by government."

The dietary scale for sick and wounded as arranged by the doctors was similar to that provided for men in full health—i. e. black tea (no milk), dry bread, and fat bacon for breakfast; bully beef and potatoes (without bread) for dinner; and tea and dry bread for supper. To sick men delicacies in the form of milk, butter and fruit were more essential than this rough food, but these were discouraged by the doctors. All the luxuries sent from home seemed to have gone astray, and the soldiers complained bitterly.

"Tell them all when you get home," said a healthy trooper, "that we never have anything given us; if we want a comfort we must buy it ourselves. On Christmas day some of us got a pint of beer; none of us got a dinner, and we were out all day scouting."

The bombardment of the Taku forts was the prelude of the concert of the powers in China.

Sir Richard will be himself again after next election. Power doesn't suit his temperament. He is better in opposition.

Any man who would supply soldiers with bad food for the sake of making a little money out of the government ought to be hanged as the most contemptible kind of a traitor.

It is just as well not to get excited over all these rumors from Peking. Now that the South African war has petered out the news agencies have to seek elsewhere for sensations and China is as good a field as any other place.

Saratoga is purchasing forest tree caterpillars at twenty cents a quart, and the supply is so abundant that $200 was paid to the collectors. The destruction of the insectivorous birds comes high. They formerly attended to the caterpillars themselves and asked no bounty.

The London County Council has passed a resolution giving it power to pull down every illuminated sign shown in the streets. Over half the brilliant devices which now make London gay at night will probably be condemned, on the ground that the flashing lights frighten horses and endanger lives. Several firms have $5,000 to $50,000 invested in these devices. The London streets are being torn up by the laying of the wires of the new telephone system, to be run by the Government. Continual complaints of over-charging and inefficiency of the monopoly led the post office to take this important step. Preparations are making for 40,000 subscribers. It is hoped to begin to operate in a year. The cost will be over $5,000,000, and the rates will be so low that the smallest store will be able to have a telephone.

THE CONSERVATIVE WAY.

Montreal Gazette.
The new Manitoba government bill abolishes the special enrolling machinery of the province's franchise law and entrusts the making of the lists to the municipal officers. The manipulation of the electoral lists was one of the late Liberal government's great sources of strength when what were called elections were held. It was only when jobbery and trickery had been carried to the extent that the whole people revolted that the gang's work failed. Mr. Macdonald is making a record for decency in administration and honorable observance of his pledges that will help his party throughout the country.

SIDE VIEWS OF LIFE.

Don't cry over spilt milk; hustle around and get some more milk tickets.

Wisdom is one of the things that don't come to the man who sits down and waits.

Next to knowing when to grasp an opportunity the most important thing is to know when to let go of it.

There is one good thing about the man with trouble on his mind. He never breaks into your office humming selections from a rag-time opera.

Cheek wins in this world—especially if the cheek is plump and rosy.

Troubles are like babies: they grow larger by nursing.

Procrastination is the thief of time—and the plunder can never be recovered.

It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all—better for the jeweller, the florist, the messenger boy, and sometimes for the lawyer.

WORTH KNOWING.

If the fat begins to froth when you are frying fish or croquettes the temperature is too low. Finish cooking what is already in the pan, and reheat the fat till a blue smoke rises from it before putting in any more.

If when making a fruit tart you make a little opening in the centre of the crust and insert either a straw or a little paper funnel, the steam will escape through it as through a chimney, and all the juice will be retained in the pie.

When mixing batter for Yorkshire puddings or pancakes add a little water to the milk. This makes them much lighter than if all milk is used. Always remember that the batter for puddings should be mixed quite two hours before it is needed for frying.

If when you are baking anything in an oven you get too hot, put in a basin of cold water instead of leaving the door open. This cools the oven, and the food coming from the water prevents the door from burning.

No. 1 and No. 2 sold in Chatham at Central Drug Store, C. H. Gunn & Co.

President Eliot of Harvard told this story at the Cornell Club dinner the other evening:
"A friend of mine, a college professor, went into a crowded restaurant in New York city for luncheon one hot day last summer. The negro in charge of the big corridor where the hat shelves stood was an intelligent-looking fellow, and his bow and smile were not of the obsequious, stupid kind often affected by colored waiters and doormen in hotels. He took my friend's hat and gave no check for it in return. An hour later when the professor came out of the dining room, the negro glanced at him in a comprehensive way, turned to the shelves and handed him his hat."
"My friend is a man who prides himself on his powers of observation, and the negro's ability to remember to whom each article of clothing belonged struck him as being something very wonderful."

"How did you know this was my hat?" he asked.
"I didn't know it, sah," was the reply.
Then why did you give it to me?" the professor persisted.
"Because you gave it to me, sah."

Precious Metals in the Arts.
It is easy to ascertain how much gold and silver are absorbed in the coinage of the various nations, but the most careful estimates as to the quantities of these metals used in the arts and industries are only approximate. Statisticians in the Treasury Department of the French government recently undertook the considerable task of compiling the best information on this subject, and the figures they have reached are probably as accurate as any that have yet been published.

Most of the gold used in the arts is for ornamentation, though it is also employed to a large extent for the most practical purposes, as in cinematography. It is doubtful if even jewelry consumes a larger quantity of gold than some other ways in which it is used. The consumption for gilding alone is very large. The films of gold leaf are very thin, but enormous numbers of them are applied to a considerable variety of manufactures, such as signs, jewelry, books, frames, furniture, pottery and other articles, and the aggregate value of the gold thus used is very large. The consumption of gold for gilding has considerably increased since electro-gilding came into vogue, both because more gilding is done, and because the new process wastes a considerable quantity of the metal. According to the French figures the United States consumes in the arts about thirty-one thousand pounds of gold in a year, which amounts in value to $10,000,000 in round numbers. France, however, with her pre-eminent manufactures of jewelry and other articles of luxury, heads the list with an annual consumption of about thirty-five thousand two hundred pounds a year. Great Britain also surpasses the United States with 34,300 pounds, Switzerland 18,900, Italy 11,000, Russia 9,000, Austria-Hungary 6,515 and Belgium and Holland 6,802.

Perhaps one reason why the United States consumes in the arts a good deal more silver than any other country is because photography here, with its amateur branch, is far more extensively in use than in any other land. The chief industrial uses of silver are for solid silver plate and silver plating, mountings for harnesses and other ornaments, and photography.

I doubt whether there is any one little thing on earth that affords an elderly person so much pleasure as to find a glass that will give them good vision after their eyes "make them see as they used to." Those on the shady side of life are always and eternally "trying" glasses to see if they can find a combination that will restore lost vision. Let us but get a pair of my glasses on any one, and I invite you to "try" others to their hearts' content, such comparisons only bring out the superiority of my glasses and the excellence of my work.—E. J. Mac-Intyre, leading optician, opposite Grand Opera House, Chatham.

=Perfect Vision=

is just as necessary as perfect teeth, or healthy bodies.
A mis-shapen eye when a properly fitted lens covers it is just as good as a perfect eye. So if you have an error of refraction in the eye you should at all times have a lens over it.

Consult us freely as to the condition of your eyesight. If you do not need glasses we will tell you so.
If you do need them we can fit them as they should be fitted and the charge will be reasonable.

GREAT MASSACRE

One Believed to Have Taken Place in Pekin.

The British Government Evidently Fears the Worst—The U. S.
May Declare War Against China.

New York, June 19.—A despatch from London says: The Express correspondent says it is felt certain that the real explanation of the failure of Admiral Seymour's Pekin relief expedition was divided counsel among his motley force, only the American troops honestly co-operating with the British Admiral. A former resident of Pekin says: "If the legations have been taken everyone has been massacred. Murder would be the object and motive of the attack. Nobody would be spared if the embassies were captured."

Lord Salisbury's and Mr. Broderick's statement in parliament left a painful impression that the worst has not been told, and that there had been a massacre of foreigners in Pekin. The only source of consolation for members of parliament was the information that Indian troops had been ordered to Hong Kong, and that the British, French and Japanese troops would land at Taku on Thursday. With additional reserves on the way from Manila and British port these belated reinforcements implied, according to the alarmists, that a catastrophe had already occurred and that the relief force had retired because the legations had been massacred. There were also suspicions that the Taku forts had been bombarded when it was too late to do anything to save the legations.

SIX HUNDRED VICTIMS.
London, June 19.—Judging from German official dispatches American ships took no part in the bombardment of Taku forts Sunday morning. No news has yet been received of the legations at Pekin, and Europe's attention is centered on the fate of the diplomatic staff and 600 consular residents guarded by a handful of international marines within the legation compounds.

U. S. TO DECLARE WAR.
Chicago, June 19.—A special from Washington says: Persistent rumors are about President McKinley's decision to call an extra session of congress to deal with the Chinese situation.

There are two possible causes for war in the situation. One is the murdering of the American legation and the other is the action of the commander of Taku, who ordered his men to fire on the international fleet.
If his action is sanctioned by the Pekin government a state of war exists, but if he acted without authority and his hostile acts disavowed there may be a peaceful solution of the incident.
If war exists in China, then it will be necessary to call an extra session of congress to deal with the situation.
The glacial and unglazed brick question was one that we spent a good deal of time over. The Nelsonville brick glazed and the Massillon brick unglazed were both highly recommended and one appeared to be about as good as the other, but the Massillon brick was $1.00 per 1,000 cheaper than the Nelsonville brick. This meant a difference of over $500 on the contract. The Massillon brick, the unglazed, was used in St. Thomas, Cleveland and Toronto. The glazed brick was much used in Detroit, but had not been used in Canada. From experiments the board of works had learned that the Massillon brick wouldn't absorb more than 2 per cent. of water, and it had been decided upon.

FOR A CONVENTION.

The Conservatives of the City and County make Preliminary Arrangements.

There was a well attended meeting of Conservatives in Northwood's Hall last night to discuss the advisability of calling a convention at an early date for the nomination of candidates.
Among the county visitors present were, Dr. Storey, of Bechtel; Henry Linley, of Raleigh; and Caleb Coateworth and Percy Graham, of Romney.
Mayne Smith, the President of the Conservative Association, occupied the chair. There was a good deal of speaking, the majority favoring an early but representative convention, and the nomination of candidates.
Different views were expressed concerning the probability of an election.
Some speakers believed it would come on this fall, while Mr. Linley did not think the Dominion Government would go to the country until "the last dog was hung, because they knew they had no chance of getting back again." He expressed the opinion that there would be no election until next year, and then that the Dominion and Ontario contests would be brought on together.
However, all present agreed on the necessity for being ready whenever the contest came on, and with this end in view an early convention was deemed desirable. The various polling sub-divisions will be invited to appoint representative delegates, and when this work is completed the executive will arrange for a convention.

REV. MR. LARKIN

His Formal Induction Into the Seaford Pastorate.

Very Warmly Welcomed by the Presbyterians of That Thriving Town.

Huron Expositor.

At a meeting of the Huron Presbytery, held in the Presbyterian Church, Seaford, on Wednesday last, Rev. F.
H. Larkin, B. A., Ph. D., was formally inducted into the pastoral charge of this church. There was a large congregation present to witness the impressive service. Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Clinton, presided, and after a most eloquent, practical and instructive discourse by Rev. Mr. Savers, of Bruce-field, the new pastor was duly obligated by Rev. Mr. Stewart. Rev. Mr.
Musgrave, of McKillop, afterwards addressed the pastor in appropriate words, which contained much useful admonition for both pastor and people. He was followed by Rev. Mr.
Fletcher, of Thames road, USborne, who delivered an admirable address concerning the duties of a pastor. The pastor was then conducted to the door of the church by Rev. Mr. Martin, of Exeter, and induced into the pulpit by the members of the congregation. The congregation were then invited to the basement, where the ladies had prepared refreshments, and where a couple of hours were very agreeably and socially spent. The physical and social needs of the congregation having been thus provided for, all again assembled in the audience room, where Mr. Stewart once more presided, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Musgrave, Savers, Goldsmith and Larkin.
The addresses were interspersed by most pleasing musical selections from the choir, including an excellent rendering solo by Mrs. Somerville and a duet by Mrs. Somerville and Mr. Scott. As the close of the program, the services of Mr. Stewart, moderator, of the session, during the vacancy, were verbally and tangibly acknowledged in a fitting manner on behalf of the congregation, the session and the managing committee. The proceedings throughout were of the most interesting character, and such as will be long remembered by all present.
Rev. Mr. Larkin enters upon his new charge under the most favorable circumstances, and we trust the relationship which has been formed will be for the good of all concerned.

Since the above was written a copy of the Chatham Planet has come to hand, in which we notice a lengthy report of a farewell social at which Mr. and Mrs. Larkin were entertained by their former congregation before leaving Chatham. This shows more fully than anything else can, the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Larkin were held by the congregation in Chatham, to which he had ministered for half of that congregation. On behalf of the congregation, Mr. Larkin was presented with an address, accompanied by a gold watch and chain.
The ladies of the congregation presented an address to Mrs. Larkin, accompanied by a purse containing seventy dollars in gold. The Christian Endeavor Society also presented a union address to Mr. and Mrs. Larkin, and which was accompanied by a case of silver spoons, each of which was engraved personally by a member of the pastor's home circle. Such tokens of good will to a retiring pastor are, to say the least, unusual, and testify to the credit of both pastor and people. We are sorry that this week we are unable to give space to this report in full, but shall do so next week.

SUBSTITUTION IS THE FRAUD OF THE DAY.

Home Druggists Will not Try to Substitute Anything for Dr.
Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Because they Know About the Local Testimony of People in Chatham Cured by the Medicine.

F. Allen, corner Head and Van Allen avenues, Chatham, says: "For years my back and kidneys have been trouble me and nothing that I could get seemed to give me anything more than temporary relief. It was told of Dr.
Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and I got a bottle at A. I. McCall & Co.'s drug store and I am most happy to say that they gave me the relief I had so long looked for. I used only about one-half the bottle, and was in comfort, and since that time I have had no trouble whatever. This in the face of so much trouble is remarkable and stamps the tablet as the right thing in the right place. I gave them to a friend of mine with equally good results; as far as I am concerned I am very glad to recommend them, as I consider my kidneys sound again."

Mrs. N. Barnes, Thames St., Chatham, says: "For six years or more I have had a kidney trouble with pain in the back that was severe, and make it hard to get about. Some one told me of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and I got a bottle at A. I.
McCall & Co.'s drug store, and can say truthfully that I think them a good medicine. They acted well with me and also with my husband. I like them because they are quick and gentle in effect, and effect the bowels easily as well as the kidneys. I can recommend them to others."

If you have the slightest symptom of kidney or bladder trouble you can test this great medicine free. Arrangements have been made whereby every reader of this paper can obtain a trial package of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets absolutely free by enclosing two cent stamp for postage to The Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto, Ont.
When giving address mention this paper.

If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can obtain regular size bottle for 50c per bottle.
If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

LOVE'S TRIUMPH.

A STORY OF LOVE AND WAR.

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

Author of "Lena Rivers," "Edna Browning," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc., Etc.

It was a strange journey that night box contained for every member of Company R was remembered, thanks to the indefatigable Rose, who procured a list of the names, and when she found any without friends in that immediate vicinity, she supplied the deficiency from her own store of luxuries. Of course Will and Tom fared the best, while next to them came Lieutenant Simmons and Isaac Simms. Rose writing a tiny note to the latter, telling him how much she liked him for speaking so of Tom, and sending him a pair of her fine linen sheets, because she couldn't think of anything else, and thought these would be cool to sleep on in hot summer nights. Dear little Rose! how fast she grew in popularity, the people wondering they had never seen before how good she was, and im-puting some portion of her present interest to the presence of her mother, who had made arrangements to remain for an indefinite length of time in Rockland, and who, far less demonstrative than her active daughter, did much by her sensible advice to keep the wheel in motion, and Rose from overdoing the matter so zealously taken in hand.

The box was packed at last. Everything chink and crevice was full, Mrs. Baker's Dutch cheese, and dried apple pies were there, wrapped by Rose Mather in innumerable folds of paper, tied around with yards of the strongest twine she could find, and safely stored away where they could not be harmed; Widow Simms's ointment, too, and the candy she had made, occupied a corner, together with her daguerrotype, sent to Isaac, and a letter to Captain Carleton. That letter was a remarkable undertaking, but the widow felt it her duty to write it, groaning and sweating, and consulting Perry's old leather-bound dictionary for every word of which she felt at all uncertain, and driving poor Annie nearly distracted with asking if this were grammar, and if that were too loving. Not a little amused, Annie gave the required advice, smiling in spite of herself, as she read the note the widow handed her, and which ran as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Captain Carleton,—I can't help putting dear before your name, you seem so much to me. Isaac told me how kind you was to him. I'm nothin' but a shrivelled, dried-up widdow, fifty odd years old, but I've got a mother's heart big enough to take you in with my other boys. I know you are a nice clever man, whether you're a good one or I call 'good, I don't know, though bein' you come from Boston I'm afraid you're a Unitarian, and I'll never quit praying for you till I know. That's about all I can do, for I'm poor 'most as folks say, but if there's any shirts or trousers, or the like of 'em that wants makin', let me know, for I don't believe your mother or sister is great at sewin'. Mrs. Mather's ain't, I know, though she's a nice little body as ever drawed the bread. Your wife's dear too, they say, and that comes hard again.
I know just how that feels, for my man died eighteen years ago last October, a few weeks before Isaac was born."

"I send you some intimate for your feet, and some bits of linen rags, to bind round your toes; also, some red pepper candy, and my likeness to Isaac.
He'll let you see it if you want to. It don't 'pear to me that my eyes is as dull as that, or my lips so puckered up, but we can't see as others see us, and I ain't an atom proud. Heaven bless you for being kind to Isaac, and if an old woman's prayers and blessing is of any use you may be sure you have mine. If you come to battle, be as good as to oversee him, won't you, and git him put 'way back, if you can. Excuse haste and a bad pen."

"Yours with regret,
"MRS. BELINDA SIMMS."

This was the widow's letter, sent with Tom's parcel to Washington, where the box was greeted by the company with exclamations of joy, and could those who sent it have seen the eager, happy faces of each one as he found he was remembered, they would have felt doubly repaid for all the trouble and annoyance it had cost them. Only one growing of dissatisfaction was heard, and that from Harry Baker, who, with a muttered oath, exclaimed, as he audited his paper parcel:

"Apple turnovers, by jing! Sourer than swill, and moulder than the rot.
Haltos, Bill, get some to, I see. What in fury is this? Dutch cheese, as I'm alive. Make good bullets for Secesh, so here goes!" and the next moment there whizzed through the air the cheese poor old Mrs. Baker had found it so hard to smuggle in. The apple pies followed next, and then the rockies Harry amused himself with seeing at Bill, who, after carefully stowing away in his pocket the large, strong twine Rose Mather had bound around the paper parcel, seated himself upon the ground and was gawking away at his pie, not because he liked it, but because his mother had sent it, and Billy's mother was dearer to him now than when he was at home.

Meanwhile, in another part of the camp, Tom Carleton was opening his parcel, while around him stood a group of officers, some his personal friends whom he had known in Boston.
"There must be some mistake," he said, as he dabbed his white fingers with the sticky candy. But Rose had packed his things in a separate box, and directed it herself. There could be no mistake, and he continued his investigations, coming next upon the widow's picture, which Rose had carelessly placed in his parcel.
It would be impossible to describe the grave of our hero's hero, about concourse of people was gathered together; their Sunday bell the cannon's rear; their Sunday hymn the battle-cry.

Long before the earliest robin had trilled his matin song, they had been on the move, their brilliant bayonets glittering in the brilliant moonlight like the December frost, as with regular, even tread they kept on their winding way, knowing not if the pale stars watching their course so pityingly, as it were, would ever shine on them again.
Onward—onward—onward still they pressed, over the hills, through the ravines, down the valleys, across the fields, till the same sun which shone so softly on their distant homes rose over the Federal flag, as it has been aptly termed, moving onward to the Web which lay beyond, so well concealed and so devoid of sound that none could guess that the treacherous woods, wearing so cool, so inviting a look, were shrouding a mighty, expectant host, watching as eagerly for the advancing foe as ever spider waited for its delinquent prey. Backward—backward, stretched the Confederate army, line after line, rank after rank, battalion after battalion, until in numbers it more than qudrupled that handful of men steadily moving on. From out of their lofty covert the enemy peered, exulting that the fortunes of the great Republic, their whilom mother, were so surely within their power and pausing for a thine in sheer wantonness, just as a thief, with the mouse she has already captured and knows can't escape.
Onward—onward—onward swept the Federal troops; their polished arms and glittering uniforms flashing in the morning sunlight just as the flag for which they fought waved in the morning breeze. They were weary and worn, and their lips were parched with feverish thirst, for hours had passed since they had tasted food or water. But not for this did they tarry; there was no faltering in their ranks, no fainting heating heart, no wild yearning to be away, no timid shrinking from what the roads, now just before them, might hold in store, and when the whisper ran along the lines that the enemy was in view, there was naught felt save joy, that the long suspense was ended and the fray about to commence.

CHAPTER VII.

Brightly, beautifully the Sabbath morning broke over all the hills of the Northland, covering them with floods of rosy light, burrushing the forest trees with shams of gold, and cresting each tall spire with colors which seemed born of Paradise, so radiantly bright they looked, flashing from their lofty resting-places, and glancing off across the valleys where the fields of waving corn and summer wheat were growing.
To the westward, too, where prairie on prairie stretched on into almost interminable space, the same July sun was shining, as quietly, as peacefully, as if in the hearts of men there burned no bitter feeling of fierce and vindictive hate—no thirst for each other's blood.
Oh, how calm, how still it was that Sunday morning both east, and north, and west, and as the sun rose higher in the heavens, how soothingly the bells rang out their musical hymns.
From New England's temple hills to the far-off shores of Oregon, the echoes rose and fell, ceasing only when ceased the tramp of the many feet hastening up to worship God in His appointed way. Old and young, rich and poor, father, mother, brother and brother, husband and wife, assembled together to keep the holy day, the best day of the seven, praying not so much for their own sins forgiven as for the loved ones gone to war,—the dear ones far away, land and life, their praying as they prayed, how the same sun, stealing so softly up the church's side, and shining on the church's wall, was even then looking down on a far different scene, —a scene of carnage, blood and death.
For, off to the southward, near where the waters of the Potomac ripple past

His wife has been notified and is expected in Essex (this evening) to take charge of the body.

STILL AT DE AAR.

Corporal Dick Skirving Writes Home From There.

May Not be Moved Again Until the End of the War—is Feeling the Cold.

De Aar, 16 May, 1900.

Dear Parents,—You see by this letter that up to date we have not left here, and we are likely to be stationed at this place until the campaign is ended. Things are quite dead, and we are having quite a snap at present.

We go out in the morning to exercise our horses, carry our rifles with us, and chase spring hok, come in and frizzle in camp till night, then freeze till next day, for it is just coming on winter, and is terrible at night. We never take our clothes off and will not until the war is over, or unless they drop off.

Forty cases of Red Cross comforts from Canada have just arrived, and they are to be issued out this afternoon. They will be very acceptable.

There are big sports coming off this week, and Sergeant-Major Long has entered me in every event and will show the English Tommies that we are well posted in athletics. Will write later and let you know how I get along.

Have not received money telegraphed by Mr. Rankin, or boxes, as yet. Your affectionate son, DICK.

A SECOND LETTER.

De Aar, May 9, 1900.

Dear Parents, since I wrote you a week ago nothing new has transpired, only the everyday routine.

I have been on a scouting expedition with a sergeant and five other men as far as Orange River, which is sixty miles from this place, but did not brush with the enemy, although we would have liked it very well.

Our Battery is scattered all over now. The right section at Orange River, the centre at Victoria West, and we are at De Aar. Troop trains are constantly on the move to either Bloemfontein or Kimberley. E. Battery is leaving here to-day for unknown parts, likely Bloemfontein or Orange River. It would surprise you to see the English people walking past their own regiments and come over to us with all sorts of comforts, to their own Tommies' disgust; but we pull together grand.

I received a bundle of papers from the Banner and was awfully pleased with them, and wish you would call at the Banner office and thank Mr. Ford for his kindness. I keep sending you South African papers and trust they reach you safely.

I mailed you a box of curios yesterday but they are not up to much but as soon as we get time to look around I will send you some better ones. I am sending a couple of photos by mail but the photographers are not up to much in this country so do not be frightened.

I had a chance the other day to join a rough riding troupe to tour the country, 15 sovereigns a month, but declined.

Trusting we may see one another inside of six months, I am, your affectionate son, DICK.

You can bank on anything we print. You can bank on our clothing for style. You can bank on it for quality. As to the making—we have been years at that and give it to you in every garment.

All the masterful power we can and do exercise in buying; all the experience of the years we have been in the business and bring here to Chatham for your benefit and profit; all the advantages of capital and buying as manufacturers we turn over and give to you that you may know that for years you have been charged too much.
