Mr. David V. Sinclair, dry-goods merchant of this city was on Friday afternoon made the unanimous choice of the temperance workers of the riding of West Hastings who met in Belleville at the call of the president of the Citizens' Temperance League.

Mr. R. J. Graham, accordingly Mr. Sinclair will contest the riding against the Conservative nominee, Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P. The meeting was representative of the workers, including ministers, business men, and agriculturists, in Belleville, Trenton, and Sidney.

LETTER TO MR. J. W. JOHNSON

Belleville, Ont., June 12, '14

Dear Mr. Johnson, At a meeting of the executive committee of the Citizens' Temperance League held on Tuesday evening, June 2nd, we were appointed a committee to wait upon the Hon. Mr. Johnson, and ascertain if in the event of said nominee being elected to Parliament, he would pledge himself to support any and all legislation presented to the legislature, the object of which is the suppression of the liquor traffic.

(Signed) R. J. Graham D. V. Sinclair

In reply Mr. Johnson stated in so many words that he was not in favor of "Abolish the Bar" movement as proposed by the Liberal party.

MR. JOHNSON'S REPLY

Belleville, Ont., June 12, '14. Messrs. R. J. Graham and D. V. Sinclair, Belleville, Ont., Gentlemen.—In the letter presented to me this morning on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Temperance League you ask for a pledge which I cannot conscientiously give; you ask me, if elected to Parliament, to pledge myself to support ANY AND ALL LEGISLATION presented to the local legislature, the object of which is the suppression of the liquor traffic.

Permit me to remind you that I had a bill before Parliament last session to give married women the right to vote in municipal elections. It was defeated, but that defeat makes me only the more determined for future action on behalf of the object I have in view. With great respect, I am, Yours faithfully, J. W. Johnson.

Mr. Sinclair arising stated that the letter of the Citizens' Temperance League had been carefully worded so as not to introduce any phraseology which would offend by its political association. It had been hoped that Mr. W. R. Smith gave the details of the meetings up to the present gathering.

Mr. Rowell has made a clear outline to abolish the bar. He believed that people would now drop partisanship and be concerned with the settlement of the liquor traffic. The time has come when we must take a stand on the abolition of the bar. While Mr. Johnson is sincere, the speaker regretted that he did not see eye to eye with the league.

MINISTERS FAVOR ABOLITION

Rev. Mr. Osborne of Bridge Street Methodist church read the following resolution which had been adopted by the Believing Ministerial Association: "That whereas such progress has been made in the temperance cause throughout the province as to make it the dominant issue before the citizens of Ontario and whereas the question of strong drink is essentially a moral issue. Therefore it is resolved that we the Belleville Ministerial Association endorse the principle of the abolition of the bar."

DECIDE TO WAGE CAMPAIGN

Mr. C. S. Clapp moved, seconded by Mr. B. B. Morden, that a temperance candidate be placed in the field by the convention. Mr. Wm. Thompson of this city said temperance people had been defeated by strong partisanship in the past.

LIQUOR INTERESTS ALWAYS SEE DANGER

Mr. Bird of Sidney said the attitude of the liquor interest is always seeing danger in the advanced legislation that the temperance people are asking for. The abolition bar principle is not all we want, but it is the best offered. We have been making some rapid progress by local option.

Editor, The Ontario: Dear Sir.—Permit me in a brief letter to express my disapproval of certain things which have come before my eyes in Monday's "Intelligencer."

I must admit that I have been brought up in Conservative ranks and have, as I believe now, been taught to think that everything Conservative was right, and I have voted for Conservative men. But that day is past.

VERSIONS DISAGREE
Storstad Changed Course in Fog Says Captain Kendall. COLLIER'S MATE SAYS NOT

White Master of Empress Declares That He Could Not Have Drifted Into Way of Storstad, Latter Ship's First Mate Says Coast Steamer Kept on Course -Court is International.

QUEBEC, June 17.-Evidence amplifying the known contentions in regard to the cause of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland at Father Point in the St. Lawrence, on May 28, was brought out at yesterday's opening session of the investigating Dominion commission, of which Lord Mersey is chairman.

So far the main arguments of Captain Kendall of the Empress that he was stationary when rammed by the collier Storstad and of the owners of the collier that the Empress placed herself in front of her vessel, which indisputably had the right of way, were only emphasized. Captain Kendall was on the stand for several hours, and gave a straightforward account of the events of the terrible morning along the lines of his testimony at the Elmhurst inquest.

Questioned by Lord Mersey as to why he stopped his ship when he had turned his green light to that of the Storstad in conformity with navigation rules, he claimed he took the step as a safeguarding measure against the fog. He could not be got by the lawyer for the Storstad, C. S. Haight of New York, to admit that his boat could have drifted in front of the Storstad unless the collier had changed her course after the fog cleared. He could not be got by the lawyer for the Storstad, C. S. Haight of New York, to admit that his boat could have drifted in front of the Storstad unless the collier had changed her course after the fog cleared.

That the collier had not changed her course after first sighting the Empress, though the witnesses had made it plain that she had been slowed down and that the Empress was using her bows, was the principal point arising out of the testimony of Alfred Tutuene, the first officer of the Storstad, who was examined during the afternoon. This witness also repeated the story that Empress sailors refused to go back in boats to carry on rescue work after once reaching the Storstad. Mr. Haight supplemented the evidence of Tutuene at the request of Lord Mersey by giving as his explanation of the disaster a belief that the big liner thought she could cross the bow of the slow-going collier, that her helm was ordered ported by one officer and starboarded by another, a suggestion of confusion of orders that Captain Kendall indignantly repudiated.

New chapters illustrating the horror of the disaster were added by Captain Kendall in his testimony, the most startling being his description of how a sheet of flame burst from the Empress after she was rammed, the prow of the collier evidently penetrating clear through to her boilers. The first authentic account was also given of a distressing scene acted when Captain Kendall, on the verge of a collapse, met Captain Andersen of the collier when the former reached the Storstad. Apparently, until Captain Kendall was taken away insensible, he vehemently argued that the collier had rammed him at full speed, while Captain Andersen contended that the liner was at fault.

No agreement could be secured from the testimony of the two witnesses heard yesterday as to what was blown by the vessels, though Lord Mersey discovered when examining the Storstad's first officer that he had blown a signal indicating that the collier was stopped and had immediately afterwards given an order to go slow ahead. Captain Kendall also acknowledged that though he knew a collision to be inevitable when the Storstad came in them in the fog, it was not till after it had occurred that the order to close the watertight bulkheads was given, by which three compartments had been exposed to the sea.

The speed which Lord Mersey directed the morning proceedings was continued during the afternoon, the lordship summarizing a number of examinations that seemed to be superfluous.

The enquiry is remarkable for the fact that probably for the first time a British judge is chairman of a Canadian commission. An Butler Aspinwall, Esq., an English lawyer, is leading one section of the interests involved, while an American lawyer, Mr. Haight, is conducting the case for other parties affected.

GREEKS ARE MASSACRED.
Refugees Say One Hundred Have Been Slain By Turks. ATHENS, Greece, June 17.-Greek refugees from Asia Minor yesterday brought reports of the massacre by Turks of 100 Greeks, including priests, old men and children, in the town of Phocaea, 25 miles northwest of Smyrna. The town, according to the official report, was invaded by a horde of armed men, who looted and then set fire to all the buildings. They are said to have been assisted by the Turkish police. After the inhabitants, most of whom were Greeks, fled, leaving their property behind them, 2,000 of them have reached Salonika. They declare that the bodies of the massacred people were thrown into wells. The refugees, many of whom were suffering from wounds, were in a state of starvation on their arrival at Salonika.

TEMPERANCE NUTS TO CRACK.

1 If intemperance is an evil and it cannot be denied, how can anyone justify himself in working and voting for its license?

2 If men become intemperate under local prohibition, as antis are always affirming, how many more would become so under license and how much more debauched would they become with restriction removed?

3 Since theft is still practiced, in spite of all legislation against it, why not license people to steal, just as the advocates of the open bar would license that which steals reputation, means and privilege?

4 Supposing the license system still continues in Belleville and it should continue to be necessary to furnish patrons for the bar what family is ready to furnish a regular customer—say the father or one of the boys over 15 years of age?

5 Granted that it is a duty to inculcate self-control in ourselves and others, then who can justify setting a trap for those in whom such control is still imperfect?

6 "What would Jesus do?" This is always a Christian's concern. Would He vote for the open bar? Don't be deceived. "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit," any more than a good voter.

"When it comes to the vote most men will rise above their prejudices of party and will be true to the dictates of conscience and to the known right rather than to the ill-advised impulses of a moment." —Rev. E. C. Currie.

Think upon the menace of the open bar. What interest in the public weal, it implies! What a reflection upon the sanity and moral force and judgment of the electorate!

—Con.

The bar is an economic loss and has forfeited long ago its right to live.—A business man from Owen Sound, where the struggle for temperance has been keen, was doing business recently with a firm in Toronto, and in their general talk said to the manager of the firm, "I didn't vote for local option," and he was thereupon treated to a rebuke which ran thus—"I am surprised that you, and employer of labor, should have had so little interest in your town as to seek to maintain an institution that reflects discredit upon citizenship, that will separate a man from his money and leave no equivalent, that will jeopardize the well-being and comfort of his family, and annihilate the possibility of their rising to better circumstances." To this the man replied, "as many another might," "I did not think of it," that was "Then you should have," was the quick retort of the business manager. He well expresses the business man's point of view.

Ritual of Olden Days.
Very quaint was the custom revived in the Channel Islands by Mr. Daniel Sebire, whose election as member of the Royal Court of Justice at Guernsey for the island of Alderney was annulled because he had been sentenced to a term of imprisonment some years ago. Mr. Sebire knelt bareheaded at the entrance of the court house and raised a "clameur de Haro" against a fresh election being held. This cry of Haro is an old Norman cry for help which is still legally respected in the Channel Islands. Recourse to the custom, however, is exceedingly rare, the last occasion being two centuries ago. The cry runs, "Haro! Haro! Haro! me a l'aidie, mon prince, on me fait tort" (Haro! Haro! Haro! To my aid, my prince, a wrong is being done me), and when it has been made all proceedings against the orier must be stopped until the matter has been thrashed out by the courts. It acts as a kind of Interim injunction, and is strictly observed by the inhabitants of the islands. The word "Haro" is popularly derived as coming from "Hui Rollo" a direct appeal to Rollo, the first Duke of Normandy, but it is probably simply an exclamation to call attention, like "Here!"

Except the Mayor.
Foots, the English comedian, one day dined at a country inn and the landlord asked how he liked his fare. "I have dined as well as any man in England," said Foots. "Except the mayor," cried the landlord. "I except nobody," said he. "But you must!" screamed the host. "I won't!" "You must!" At length a petty magistrate took Foots before the mayor, who observed that it had been customary in that town for a great number of years always to "except the mayor," and accordingly fined him a shilling for not conforming to ancient custom. Upon this decision, Foots paid the shilling, at the same time observing that he thought the landlord the greatest fool in Christendom—except the mayor.

JOHN A. HOLGATE TO REPRESENT EAST HASTINGS

Was Unanimous Choice at the Liberal Convention Held at Roslin Yesterday—Great Enthusiasm Prevailed—Final Addresses.

By the unanimous vote of the Provincial riding of East Hastings held at Roslin on Wednesday, June 10th, Mr. John A. Holgate, of Foxboro, was chosen to be standard bearer in behalf of the Rowell policy.

The Liberal nominee is prominent in temperance circles. He is president of the Foxboro cheese factory, superintendent of the Sunday school, proprietor of the evaporator at Foxboro and produce merchant.

Dr. J. Albert Faulkner, Foxboro, and the Rev. A. L. Brown were the first speakers. His message was unique, showing the trend of public opinion in voicing Mr. Holgate's candidature.

Mr. George Denvers, son of Mr. H. K. Denvers, whose nomination was put before the Conservative Convention at Roslin on Monday, in a ringing and by no means doubtful voice affirmed that Rowell is sincere.

Mr. Pouchet said he liked the tone of the meeting. It looked hopeful. Mr. James Clark of Hungerford said he could only account for the present enthusiasm of the Liberals and temperance people because of their honesty.

Mr. Peter McLaren of Tyndinaga declined in a few words in favor of Mr. Holgate. Mr. Nathaniel Vermilyea of Thurlow said he was not at all discouraged by the outlook and endorsed Mr. Rowell as being a sincere and thorough reformer.

Dr. J. Albert Faulkner of Foxboro was the next speaker. "Abolish the Bar" is the first step towards Dominion Prohibition. The liquor business is an economic failure as 25% of our tax goes for the maintenance of jails, police, departments and asylums.

Rev. J. E. Molines, Foxboro charged the government with playing with the bilingual school question. In these schools the English student has to pay all charges, but the government paid the railway fare and $2 per week for the French pupils.

Mr. Holgate spoke on "Business Points for the Family," telling legal points with regard to mortgages, deeds and the descent of property which every family ought to know.

After these addresses the meeting was opened to questions from the audience. The speakers answering any questions on the subjects very promptly showing great knowledge and careful study of these subjects.

Police Notes: William Rogers accused of drunkenness was allowed to go this morning.

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Tortured Four Years Until He Took "Fruit-a-Lives"

RIDGEMONT, ONT., May 21st, 1913. "Your 'Fruit-a-Lives' cured me of Rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism. I was laid up for four winters with Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism, and was a cripple completely, not being able to do anything. I doctored with four different physicians, but they did not help.

Some neighbor of mine told me that "Fruit-a-Lives" helped him, and I took them faithfully every day and the result was marvellous. For over two years now, I have been free from any Rheumatic pains whatever, and give "Fruit-a-Lives" the full credit for making a remarkable cure."

W. T. RACHER: If you are subject to Rheumatic Attacks, Sciatica, Lumbago or Neuralgia, take "Fruit-a-Lives" right now and start the permanent cure which "Fruit-a-Lives" will complete if taken faithfully.
