AN INCIDENT IN THE EAST PRUSSIAN FIGHTING BETWEEN GERMAN DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS AND RUSSIAN COSSACKS.

FROM THE SPHERE

COSSACKS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY CHARGING THE GERMAN DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS BETWEEN KORSCHEN AND BARTENSTEIN IN EAST PRUSSIA

DRAWN BY F. MATANIA
 © BY THE N. Y. HERALD

Mr. R. M. Ames, who was the English manager of a large estate in East Prussia, personally described the incident depicted in the picture to F. Matania, special artist for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, upon his return to England. "On the evening of August 26," he says, "I saw the flames of burning villages round me, and at Schwansfelds, between Korschen and Bartenstein, I saw through my glasses a battle taking place between about ten thousand Germans and fifteen thousand Russians. On the German left were the Death's Head Hussars. I saw the Cossack cavalry charge them full tilt. There was a tremendous impact and hand to hand fighting, and then all of a sudden the whole German line began with one accord to retreat. This quickened and when the hussars disappeared from my sight toward Bartenstein they were in a rout, with Cossacks pursuing and killing them in large numbers."

ANTWERP CANNOT BE USED AS NAVAL BASE IN PRESENT WAR

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Times' military expert, in commenting on the situation at Antwerp, says:

"Permanent forts in an exposed situation stand no chance against modern artillery. If the German force hold Antwerp later and we attack it, the result will be the same.

"The capture of Antwerp by the Germans will have an effect which cannot be denied upon opinion. But the city, even if converted into a German first-class fortress, will bring the Germans little advantage, for the Scheldt cannot be used for naval purposes. Germany clearly hopes to retain Antwerp when peace comes, but there is no chance that this dream will be realized."

ANTWERP'S FALL NOW CONFIRMED

German Guns Raised Havoc Within the Great City.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Oct. 10.—The British war office announces that Antwerp was evacuated by the Belgians yesterday.

The siege of Antwerp which culminated in its fall on Friday, October 9, according to the official announcement by the German general headquarters began on September 29, so that the Germans took just ten days to reduce the formidable fortifications which surround the temporary capital of the Belgians. The Germans had, however, for a long time previous prepared the way for the attack on Antwerp by taking a number of towns in its vicinity.

The first direct attack on the Antwerp fortifications was that against the forts at Waelhem and Wavre-St. Catherine's. These were reduced in a couple of days by the aid of the big siege guns. Mean-

OFFICIAL FRENCH NOTICE

[By Special Wire to the Courier] PARIS, Oct. 10, 3:11 p.m.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris this afternoon:

"The fighting continues under satisfactory conditions. Our entire battle front has been maintained in spite of violent attacks of the enemy at several points. "On our left wing, in the region included between Labasse, Armentiers and Cassel, there has been fighting forces of cavalry, which has been confused because of the nature of the terrain.

"To the north of the Oise our troops have attained real advantages at several places in their zone of action. In the region of St. Mihiel we have made material progress.

"As to Belgium, it is announced that Antwerp was taken yesterday. The conditions under which this place was occupied by the enemy are, however, not yet known.

"In Russia very spirited fighting continues on the frontier of East Prussia, where Russians troops have had partial successes. They have occupied the town of Lyck (in East Prussia).

"The siege of Przemysl continues under conditions favorable for the Russians, who have taken by assault one of the forts of the main line of defence."

HON. ROGERS MAKES DENIAL OF STORY

Says That He Did Not Inspire an Election Story.

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Accusations by the Liberal press coming in from various parts of Canada, that the Hon. Robert Rogers was responsible for the recent article on Canadian elections that appeared in the Wall Street Journal a few days ago, were brought to his attention yesterday, and received an emphatic denial from him.

"My first knowledge of the article he said, "was when I saw it in print. It is very evident however, that the article in question has been received with great alarm in the Laurier camp. The suggested prospect of their being called upon to make good their 200 and more challenges during the past 18 months for an appeal to the people apparently frightened them into the belief that an opportunity for such an expression would be nothing short of a national disgrace. They would much prefer the continuation

LONDON FIGURES ON EFFECT

Antwerp's Fall is a Matter of Speculation in the Press.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Oct. 10, 9:30 a.m.—Antwerp, the last and the strongest citadel of Belgium has fallen before the rain of huge shells, which the Germans began throwing into the city at midnight of last Wednesday. The civilian population of the city has in the large part fled, the seat of the Belgian government has been moved to Ostend, and the Germans are in occupation.

Because of the chaotic conditions during the past few days in the beleaguered city, and the interruption of telegraphic communication, there has been much delay in the transmission of news from Antwerp to England. Nevertheless, less England has been expecting and discounting the fall of the Belgian position and newspapers are speculating on what strategic use the Germans will make of it now it is in their hands.

The battle line in France is now so long, forming as it does a rough curve, 350 miles long, from Lorraine to the Belgian frontier, that the battle of the Aisne and the operations before Antwerp had become so closely knit as to be, from the military point of view inseparable. The hope of the allies to deliver a crushing blow against the German army in France before the occupation of Antwerp by the enemy is now,

GERMANY'S NEXT BLOW AIMED AT ENGLAND ACROSS CHANNEL

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Express in Paris telegraphs the following: "The immediate objective of the German army is now no longer Paris, but the Channel ports. To sum up the German plan—the first blow on Paris having failed—the second blow must be aimed at England.

"The new line-up of the opposing forces means that northern France is destined to suffer a desolation similar to that already visited on Belgium. All of France's rich cities in the north have been marked for certain destruction and ruin.

"The French general staff is still confident of success, but it is recognized that there can be no decisive victory while the masses engaged are so enormous. It is possible to hope for the defeat of the enemy's plan only if there can be a constant stream of reinforcements."

THE BETTING STILL FAVORS THE ATHLETICS

Although the Odds Are Reduced—Boston Confident.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—With one victory safely tucked away, the Boston Braves met the Philadelphia Athletics in the second game of the world's series to-day with added confidence and a grim determination to make it two straight. The Athletics, although defeated in the initial struggle were equally determined to even the series and they were not a whit discouraged.

"There will be a different tale after to-day's game," was the common expression of the Mackmen and this seemed to be the feeling generally among the supporters of the present world's champions. Many of the fans backed their expressions of confidence by making moderate sized wagers at odds of 10 to 8 that the Athletics would take the series. Before yesterday's game the prevailing odds were much higher,

Were Repulsed By the French Around Arras

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail in France under date of Thursday at noon, in describing the battle at Lille, which has reached its fifth day, says:

Yesterday the French forces firing over Lens at the German position near the village of Loison wrought immense destruction and the German advance from the northeast here received an effective check, the Germans, according to the latest information, retiring about eight miles. The battle began Sunday when the Germans made a desperate attempt to escape the encircling movement of the allies' left wing. A violent series of engagements occurred Sunday afternoon between 10,000 Germans and the French infantry occupying the town of Lille and its surroundings. Savage fighting was continual in the streets and suburbs until Monday morning, when the enemy was finally repulsed.

"On Tuesday a fight occurred between the French and a big army stretched along the whole eastern northern and northwestern suburbs of Lille. The battle raged all day long and well into the night and the French guns wrought terrible havoc. The German infantry fire was defective and the battle ended with the complete rout of the enemy and

Big Army Has Again Entered Kingdom of Prussia.

AT THE FRONT AT WIR-

BALLEN, Russian Poland, Oct. 7, via The Hague and London, Oct. 10, 7 a.m.—The Russians finally have decided to take the offensive. The Germans, heretofore, have often complained that the enemy, though twice stronger numerically, refused to leave their trenches, but for the last three nights, the Russians have attacked along the entire front, extending 60 miles from Wilkowszki, north of Augustowo, to a point below Lyck, East Prussia. The attacks were repulsed, however, the Russians losing heavily while the German losses were light. No wounded were seen from Stalluponen, east Prussia, to the firing line which your correspondent reached in the afternoon (date not given). The Russians had just begun an however, many bets being placed at 8 to 5 and 2 to 1.

The weather this morning was very cloudy and damp with indications that light rain might fall during the second world's series baseball game this afternoon between the Boston Nationals and Philadelphia.

Boston supporters were in a happy mood last night. While they were greatly in the minority around the hotels and cafes, their enthusiasm made up for what they lacked in numbers.

The general opinion was that Manager Stallings would send Taylor, the Boston "southpaw" pitcher, to the mound to-day, while it was believed that Connie Mack's choice, would be veteran of several world's championship series.

Philadelphia took the chaffing flung at them by the Boston contingent, good naturedly and pointed to the fact that two years ago the Athletics lost the first game to the New York Giants and afterwards won the championship easily. Bender's defeat was especially disappointing to local fans as they had counted on him as a sure winner.

It was generally admitted, however, that even if the Indian pitcher had been at his best, that it would have been a difficult proposition to beat the Braves with Rudolph working as he did and the other members of the team backing him up at every stage of the game.

There seemed to be little doubt in the minds of the Athletics' followers that if Manager Mack saw fit to use Plank to-day that he would win the series tied at one game each.

The ticket speculating fraternity won a legal victory when having commenced proceedings for voiding admission tickets yesterday. Few tickets for today's game, however, were in the hands of the speculators, as they would be unable to use the high-priced, pasteboard tickets.

The builders of miniature grandstands on house-tops overlooking the grounds also scored in a legal fit with the police and building inspectors, when it was discovered that they could not be forced to tear down their stands.

Interest in the series seemed accentuated, if that were possible, by the victory of the Braves. Before yesterday's game was ended a new line had been started outside the bleacher entrance in anticipation of to-day's game. At nightfall scores of determined fans were in the line, which increased by leaps and bounds until early to-day thousands were in the vicinity of Shibe Park, anxiously awaiting the opening of the gates and an opportunity to purchase bleacher seats.

The probable line-up for to-day's game follows:

Boston: Mann, r. f.; Evers, 2b.; Cather, lf.; Whitted, cf.; Schmidt, 1b.; Gowdy, c.; Maranville, ss.; Deal, 3b.; Tyler, p.

Philadelphia: Murphy, r. f.; Oldring, lf.; Collins, 2b.; Baker, 3b.; McInnis, 1b.; Strunk, cf.; Barry, ss.; Schang, c.; Plank, p.

THE SITUATION.

Antwerp has fallen, and thus another chapter has been added to the damnable and unwarranted atrocities in Belgium perpetrated by the Kaiser and his war lords.

The news from the front in France is still largely inconclusive, but it would seem as though the Allies are making fair headway.

The statement that Portugal is likely to get into the fray will not occasion much surprise. In any event, she has an arrangement with Great Britain under which the latter can call upon her services if deemed desirable.

THE WESTERN HEART.

They had a lively time at a recent meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade. A member named T. A. Fee had opposed Canadian action in the war, and incidentally advocated annexation to the United States.

That this Board of Trade regrets that one of its members, Mr. T. A. Fee, has given expression to sentiments in the public press against the giving of assistance to the British Empire during the present war, and also in favor of the annexation of Canada to the United States, and this Board believes that the giving of publicity to those views by Mr. Fee at the present time will result in harm being done to this city and country.

The meeting would not listen to the amendment. Then Mr. Fee tried to read a statement. His opening bars were heard amid interruptions. They proclaimed that Mr. Fee thought a man should not be condemned for saying he believed the country would be better off were it a part of the United States.

At this point the noise in the room, which was constantly growing louder, amounted to almost a roar, and a voice in the rear of the room was heard above the din.

Thanksgiving Day

How curiously the call comes this year to give thanks for the blessings of the harvest! The awful battlefields of Europe, their carnage and destructiveness, with their entail of suffering and sorrow, rather call for prayer that the great Lord of Hosts would once again still these dreadful storm waves with His potent "Peace be still!"

The moans of pain, the wail of the widowed, the cry of mutilated and orphaned babies from across the sea, would impel us to drop all other prayers to concentrate all our strength into that petition of the ancient world, "Give peace, O Lord, give peace again!"

It gives sympathetic thoughtful ones almost a wrench to turn from war's sorrows to the consideration of our blessings, and especially of our harvest blessings. But it is necessary, lest we incur the black guilt of ingratitude, that we should be recalled to our duty to "Give thanks unto the God of all gods, for His mercy endureth forever."

Canada has plowed and sown, and also reaped the precious increase merciful Providence has blessed the country with. The yearly miracle of increasing the grain has been performed, our wants have been ministered to lovingly, fully, if not lavishly. While death, war's twin brother, has been thrusting in its sharp sickle and gathering the rich clusters of the earth at will elsewhere, in our land the peaceful husbandman reaped his fields around his quiet home, and garnered the grains and the other fruits of the earth in unbroken contentment.

Highly favored has Canada been! Blessing and bounty has been our lot. More valuable than usual is our crop, more eager than ever the market for it, and all unmolested by the miseries of actual warfare has been our territory.

We Canadians did so little to secure these blessings. We threw some seeds into the soil we opened, which had been packed with fertility for us, and then we shut the gate of our fields, and waited all helplessly for some One else to send rain, sun, wind, to make it grow and mature.

We did nothing to ensure to our loved ones the comforts of peace!

And still all has been given to us, peace and plenty, plenty and peace—what earthly blessings can rank higher? We praise our stalwart agriculturists for their grand co-operating part, we bless our Empire's strength for preserving peace to us, but above and through it all has shone the splendid might and loving providence of the God of all goodness, who has worked out all to our benefit.

Could Canada do less than bless and praise "Him Who only doeth great wonders, for His mercy endureth forever."

For years that all sorts of catastrophes for British connection and Canadian national life were accumulating in our far west. Alien European immigrants were flooding in, or Americans were getting the upper hand, or the grain-growers were frantic for the United States market, and so on.

Of course a thing of the past. The German right wing under Gen. Von Kluck apparently is still intact and the official communication given out in Paris last reported no change in the situation merely emphasizing that there was sharp fighting in the region of Roye, nearly 100 miles south of the northern extremity of the fighting line, where opposing bodies of cavalry were clashing almost within sight of the North Sea.

Commenting on the situation in Belgium before it was known officially that Antwerp actually had fallen, English newspapers issued this morning with optimism what the conquerors were going to do with Antwerp now they had it particularly in view of the fact that it is conceded that no fort could stand against artillery such as is used in modern warfare.

Despite attempts to analyze the German plan of campaign with Antwerp in their hands, declare that the German purpose is to sweep over northern France with the object of taking possession of the channel ports and thus bring the warfare nearer England. It is said here that German newspapers are predicting the use of this northern Belgian position as a base for operations against England.

Of one thing there is no doubt Antwerp suffered terribly from the bombardment, and the losses among the civilian population are over 30,000 persons, but with other thousands who had sought refuge there on account of the German invasion. All stories coincide in relating the terrible suffering and mental torture of these unfortunates struggling to leave the danger zone.

On Wednesday, October 7 came reports that the Belgian Government was moving to Ostend and that day also brought reports that the population was fleeing in terror and panic toward the Holland frontier. Zeppelin bomb attacks which did much damage and killed scores of people added to the terror of the inhabitants.

General De Guise was in command of the Belgian defenders. King Albert aided them by his personal direction caused by the last having quit Antwerp, according to reports only yesterday morning, probably when the end was seen.

THE LITERARY DIGEST. LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Rotterdam correspondent of The Times in a despatch dated Thursday, gives a description of the fighting in Antwerp and the surrounding territory on that day from Grootemeer, near Antwerp.

From Grootemeer we saw Capellen village (just outside Antwerp) ablaze with the people endeavoring to subdue the flames. In Antwerp fires were burning fiercely on both sides of the church of Liebre, Trouwenwerk. There were several small fires on the left of the church. On the right four great columns of smoke, believed to have been caused by the ignition of petroleum tanks showed that a fierce conflagration was in progress at that point.

Part of the church tower on the right of this smoke, columns had been shot off. Further on in the direction of St. Nicholas other villages were seen to be smoking, while on the right was the Scheidt River and a Dutch cruiser and submarines keeping watch.

LONDON, Oct. 11, 11.47 a.m.—An official Berlin despatch, via Marconi wireless confirms the report that Antwerp has been occupied.

The official announcement of the fall of Antwerp, given out at German general headquarters late last night and transmitted here via Marconi wireless says: "This forenoon forts of the inner line of the fortifications of Antwerp have fallen. The town since midday has been in our possession."

The commander and the garrison evacuated the fortifications. Only a few forts are still occupied by the enemy and this is without influence on our position in Antwerp.

An official message from Berlin states that Antwerp has fallen according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam.

will come to England, where other thousands already are being cared for.

Just how much damage has been done, Antwerp, particularly to the edifices of historic interest, it will take some time to determine. Some of the refugees say that the Cathedral of Notre Dame has been badly damaged, while others say this is not so.

All reports agree that the Germans entered the city by way of the suburb of Berchem.

With Antwerp taken the Germans will now be able to detach the considerable force used during the siege of the city and transfer these men to their right wing, near the French-Belgian frontier, which has been so sorely pressed. It is estimated here that there are no fewer than 40,000 Germans in Belgium to-day.

of that truly national disgrace so often practiced by the majority of this non-representative Chamber under the direction of Laurierism to thwart the will of the people, as expressed by their elected representatives in parliament. Who will say that the action of the majority of that non-representative Chamber in 1913, following instructions of Laurierism in refusing without first submitting the same to the people, to allow the passage of measures designed to provide, in part, our share for the common defence of the Empire, was not a national disgrace? Was not the action of that same body in June last an even greater national disgrace when they refused to allow to the Western provinces of Canada that increased representation to which they were entitled under the British North America act, and especially so when such refusal was made at the price of bad faith, at the price of the breaking of sacred word and pledge for the sole purpose of continuing further abuses in the thwarting of the will of the Canadian people.

"Who under the Wall Street Journal, in common with the rest of the civilized world who have been sufficiently interested to study and understand our form of Government, should be watching for the day when Canada will free herself from that power, that has indicted this national dishonor from which we have been made to suffer. There should be no doubt, there must be no doubt, that above all under the present unfortunate conditions, the will of the free people, as expressed by their elected representatives, must, shall and will control. We are facing terrible conditions. The best informed say we must expect these conditions to last for years. It is not the part of wisdom that, as true Canadians, we should prepare for the worst? How can this be better done than by making sure that the views of the Canadian people are to be free and unfettered in the great responsibilities incident to our present position? We recognized our duty to the Empire and to Canada in 1913. We will faithfully perform it. Our responsibilities are great, not alone to the Empire but especially great to our thirty thousand gallant soldiers who have gone to the front, and to the many thousands more that are to follow, all prepared for the solemn moment when they are to answer the call of Britain's bugle to do battle for the common defence of the Empire and for human liberty."

THE SITUATION.

Antwerp has fallen, and thus another chapter has been added to the damnable and unwarranted atrocities in Belgium perpetrated by the Kaiser and his war lords.

The news from the front in France is still largely inconclusive, but it would seem as though the Allies are making fair headway.

The statement that Portugal is likely to get into the fray will not occasion much surprise. In any event, she has an arrangement with Great Britain under which the latter can call upon her services if deemed desirable.

Italy with her million and a half of men would only also come in, the end of hostilities would be made all the quicker.

THE WESTERN HEART.

They had a lively time at a recent meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade. A member named T. A. Fee had opposed Canadian action in the war, and incidentally advocated annexation to the United States.

"That this Board of Trade regrets that one of its members, Mr. T. A. Fee, has given expression to sentiments in the public press against the giving of assistance to the British Empire during the present war, and also in favor of the annexation of Canada to the United States, and this Board believes that the giving of publicity to those views by Mr. Fee at the present time will result in harm being done to this city and country."

The meeting would not listen to the amendment. Then Mr. Fee tried to read a statement. His opening bars were heard amid interruptions. They proclaimed that Mr. Fee thought a man should not be condemned for saying he believed the country would be better off were it a part of the United States.

"The west is a long, long way from the little British Isles, but its heart—like our own in the east—is still there."

Thanksgiving Day

How curiously the call comes this year to give thanks for the blessings of the harvest! The awful battlefields of Europe, their carnage and destructiveness, with their entail of suffering and sorrow, rather call for prayer that the great Lord of Hosts would once again still these dreadful storm waves with His potent "Peace be still!"

The moans of pain, the wail of the widowed, the cry of mutilated and orphaned babies from across the sea, would impel us to drop all other prayers to concentrate all our strength into that petition of the ancient world, "Give peace, O Lord, give peace again!"

It gives sympathetic thoughts and our blessings, and especially of our harvest blessings. But it is necessary, lest we incur the black guilt of ingratitude, that we should be recalled to our duty to "Give thanks unto the God of all gods, for His mercy endureth forever."

Canada has plowed and sown, and also reaped the precious increase merciful Providence has blessed the country with. The yearly miracle of increasing the grain has been performed, our wants have been ministered to lovingly, fully, if not lavishly. While death, war's twin brother, has been thrusting in its swartt sickle and gathering the rich clusters of the earth at will elsewhere, in our land the peaceful husbandman reaped his fields around his quiet home, and garnered the grains and the other fruits of the earth in unbroken contentment.

Highly favored has Canada been! Blessing and bounty has been our lot. More valuable than usual is our crop, more eager than ever the market for it, and all unmolested by the miseries of actual warfare has been our territory.

We Canadians did so little to secure these blessings. We threw some seeds into the soil we opened, which had been packed with fertility for us, and then we shut the gate of our fields, and waited all helplessly for some One else to send rain, sun, wind, to make it grow and mature.

We did nothing to ensure to our loved ones the comforts of peace!

And still all has been given to us, peace and plenty, plenty and peace—what earthly blessings can rank higher? We praise our stalwart agriculturists for their grand co-operating part, we bless our Empire's strength for preserving peace to us, but above and through it all has shone the splendid might and loving providence of the God of all goodness, who has worked out all to our benefit.

Could Canada do less than bless and praise "Him Who only doeth great wonders, for His mercy endureth forever."

ing for years that all sorts of catastrophes for British connection and Canadian national life were accumulating in our far west.

WOUNDED VISCOUNT AMONG CASUALTIES

Three Officers Announced Dead in the Latest Official List.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Viscount Acheson, a lieutenant in the Coldstream Guards, is among those named in the list of wounded made public last night. The list of killed and wounded includes—Second Lieut. E. R. H. K. MacDonald, Highland Light Infantry; Capt. G. C. Briggs, Scots Fusiliers; Capt. R. W. Pypys, Worcestershire Regiment.

LONDON FIGURES

All reports agree that the Germans meted the city by way of the suburb of Berchem. With Antwerp taken the Germans will now be able to detach the considerable force used during the siege of the city and transfer these men to their right wing, near the French-Belgian frontier, which has been so sorely pressed.

Commenting on the situation in Belgium before it was known officially that Antwerp actually had fallen, English newspapers asked this morning with optimism what the conquerors were going to do with Antwerp now they had it, particularly in view of the fact that it is conceded that no fort could stand against artillery, such as is used in modern warfare.

Of one thing there is no doubt Antwerp suffered terribly from the bombardment, and the losses among the civilian population of over 300,000 persons, but with other thousands who had sought refuge there on account of the German invasion. All stories coincide in relating the terrible suffering and mental torture of those unfortunate, struggling to leave the danger zone. Many are said to have been marooned by the destruction of a pontoon bridge over the River Scheldt. While the vast bulk of the refugees are now burdening Holland, thousands later

Will you will say that the action of the majority of this non-representative Chamber in 1913, following instructions of Laurier in refusing without first submitting the same to the people, to allow the passage of measures designed to provide, in part, our share for the common defence of the Empire, was not a national disgrace?

It is estimated here that there are no fewer than 400,000 Germans in Belgium to-day.

Equal Franchise

The first meeting of the Equal Franchise Club for this season was held on Thursday evening in the Public Library Committee Room, and was a very enthusiastic one, a good attendance being recorded. A large budget of business was disposed of, the President, Mrs. S. W. Secord, presiding very acceptably. It was decided to put on a Mock Parliament early in 1915, half the proceeds to be given to the Patriotic League. This was followed by a lively discussion on the first message to the people of the province from the new Premier.

Mrs. Hammond gave a very clear and concise paper on the new Naturalization Bill as it affects married women. This Bill has already passed its second reading in the House of Commons, and should it become law, will deprive a woman who marries a foreigner, or whose husband for any reason becomes an alien, of all her rights as a British subject. There are some pipes leaking in the basement of the building and it is thought they are doing serious damage to a wing of the building. The matter will be looked into at once and remedial steps effected. It is said that the moisture is adversely affecting the foundations.

The school teachers are not all in favor of attending the convention to be held on Thursday and Friday next and they approached the Board with a view to exemption from compulsory attendance. They were informed that they forfeit the two days pay if they do not attend the gathering.

Those present were: Christiana Lakey, Messrs. Sweet, Ryerson, Pickles, Seace, Dr. Hart and Principal Burt.

PRISONERS LIBERATED.
LONDON Oct. 10, 5.22 a.m.—A despatch from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Company, dated Friday night, says: "During yesterday's bombardment of Antwerp some shells exploded on the roof of the prison. The wardens immediately liberated the prisoners."

From Maestricht comes the news that 20,000 Germans are approaching Antwerp from Liege. A fugitive member of the Red Cross states that the inner line of forts near Liege are in German hands and that fierce fighting will continue.

COLLEGIATE BOARD WERE REPULSED

Minor Matters Were Disposed of at a Meeting Last Night.

The Collegiate School Board which met last night in the School building decided upon several important moves in the affairs of the school.

Sergeant Major Oxtoby was appointed as drill instructor for the complete school day, instead of half-day as previously and in respect of his increased work, extra remuneration will be given him.

With regard to the evening classes, principally the Commercial, committee reported the exchange of one type writer and the purchase of three other typewriter machines. New books of instruction are also secured, thus putting a new business course at the Collegiate upon an efficient basis. A monthly inspection of the machines has been arranged.

The appointment of teachers and classes for the evening school was reported to the Board by the Industrial committee. It was to the satisfaction of the Board.

Accounts were passed for payment amounting to $319 for the month.

There are some pipes leaking in the basement of the building and it is thought they are doing serious damage to a wing of the building. The matter will be looked into at once and remedial steps effected. It is said that the moisture is adversely affecting the foundations.

NO RECRUITING YET FOR ACTIVE SERVICE HERE

Despite assertions which have been previously published, the commanding officer of the 25th Brant Dragoons has as yet received no order to recruit active service volunteers. This is borne out by the fact that a number of men are ready to sign up for active service and cannot yet do so.

The only intimation of mobilization that any regiment in the Dominion has yet received is contained in a circular asking all commanding officers to hold their men in readiness. This procedure is exactly similar to that which preceded the ordering up of the first contingent. There is little likelihood of the Dragoons being taken as a regiment, because there are two well-trained and efficient cavalry corps now at Toronto who will probably represent Ontario if any call comes.

JEW IN ARMY.
ROME, Oct. 10, via Paris, 9.45 a.m.—Heretofore, although there is no law prohibiting Jews from entering, no Israelite officer existed in the German army. Since this war began, according to news received here, more than 180 Jewish officers have been joined to the German army.

communicating the panic to two German companies. French artillerymen who had been watching the proceedings then opened fire and exterminated the Germans.

That same night the two corporals were promoted to be second lieutenants, and the soldier was made a sergeant-major as a reward for their daring work.

A GOOD WRITER.
LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Express to-day announces that the press bureau's official descriptions of the fighting at the front are written by Colonel Swinton of the intelligence department of the general staff. There has been a good deal of favorable comment on the interesting manner in which the official reports from the front have been written. It had been generally believed that Field Marshal Sir John French, the British commander-in-chief, was the author.

The Belgian Government issued a vehement protest against the Germans monopolizing the foodstuffs in Brussels and reducing the native population almost to famine.

American Comment On the War

Bewitched with Militarism. (Rochester Herald.) Militarism has wrought havoc with German perception. After we fear very much that Germans are so bewitched at present that they are going to act like barbarians until their power to work mischief is crushed by the success to the armies of the allies. When that has happened the true German spirit will, we predict, again assert itself and be restored to its rightful place not only in Germany, but in Europe and the world.

Anti-Vandalistic. (Erie Dispatch.) There is a movement on foot in Great Britain to restore the Louvain library immediately after the war. It is a fine thought, and as an indication that Germany also is not vandalistic and does not wish the destruction of the homes of science and art in the world, the co-operation of some Germans in the work after the war would be very inspiring.

Barbarism. (New York Herald.) Of course it may be a sign of lack of "kith" on our part, but, some way we Americans cannot help feeling that this business of German levies upon the helpless little cities and towns of Belgium smacks mightily of the days of Genghis Khan.

Expanding a Fallacy. (Pittsburg Gazette-Times.) One good result of the present war may be the elimination of the "dead line at 50," which some shortsighted employers are said to have adopted in Great Britain, at least many of the alleged old fellows are responding in a manner that ought to make even Dr. Oiler sit up and take notice.

Portents. (New York World.) "When the British Parliament adjourns with Irish Home-rulers, Scotch and Welsh Liberals and English Radicals embracing fine old crusty Tories, an even weeping in the excess of their emotion, the demonstration has a meaning which soon or late will be revealed on the battlefields of the continent."

Watchful Waiting. (Philadelphia Public Ledger.) The situation in the North Sea imposes exceedingly onerous conditions upon the British fleet, for the German vessels are under the shelter of their land fortifications and they possess every advantage of position and opportunity for the successful sorties.

REALISM OF KHAKI

(By Robert Lynd.) While I was standing near the tents at the back of the Horse Guards' "Well," he said, "this is about the first just war this country has ever fought." It is, I imagine, the popular belief in the justice of the war which explains why London is comprising herself just now in the spirit of a workshop rather than of public meeting. There are, of course, other reasons. There is no public departure of troops to bring the crowds into the streets and the rail way stations. Regiments disappear as secretly as the wind. There never was a less advertised war. It is a serious affair, not an orgy.

To be in London now is more like being behind the scenes in the theatre than like watching a gaudy drama from a seat in the house. Here is nothing theatrical in the ordinary sense, but just the naked machinery of the thing. One walks across St. James' Park to the Horse Guards, where all the day long, among the tents, a hoarse sergeant shouts out a list of names. A number of young men eager to enlist pack themselves near him to hear if their turn for medical examination has come.

Giants at Lessons. One passes into Birdcage Walk, where the Guardsmen, those modern relatives of the giants, are drilling outside their stucco-fronted barracks. They are all in khaki, and it is a sight that wails around them. New recruits are being drilled in handfuls, each of which seems to attain a new personality, to become something half-way between a machine and a strange animal, as it marches this way and that. It is all done to an interruption of blowing bugles, of officers coming and going, exchanging fierce salutes, as unreal as the gestures waiting some distance off.

Leased the Farm—Unreserved AUCTION SALE. Of Farm Stock and Implements. W. Almas has received instructions from Mr. Duncan McLellan, to sell by public auction at his farm, situated, 3 miles from Brantford, on the Mt. Pleasant Road, on Wednesday, October 14th.

The Realism of Khaki. Not that the appeal of soldiering depends entirely on charming follies of dress. When one reaches Hyde Park and sees a company of horsemen in khaki riding in order under the trees in Roten Row one finds a crowd gaping at them as inquisitively as though every man alone in a helmet and cuirass. As inquisitively, but not as excitedly. This is the realism, as compared with the rhetoric, of soldiering.

Opposite Knightsbridge Barracks a line of horse show is in progress. They are selecting horses for the army, and animal after animal is trotted up and down, its flanks shining in the sun, while a little group of officers and civilian assistants decides on its merits. One passes into Kensington Gardens, and here, too, is a field of tents. Roped in from the public, the men in khaki sit late in the open air at long tables drinking tea from mugs and keeping a man in his shirt sleeves busy cutting and but-

The pavement in Margueretta street, Toronto, opened, and a team of horses, wagon and driver dropped into an excavation. Over $1,800,000 of estimated civic improvement expenditure has been abandoned in Toronto, owing to the stress of financing.

Mrs. Gordon of West Toronto was instantly killed at Caledon Station by being knocked under the wheels of a train. Lieut.-Col. J. H. Burland, head of the Canadian Red Cross organization at the front, died suddenly in England of angina pectoris.

LAST EDITION. FORTY-FOURTH. FORMING OF THE WILL. New York Herald for Long W Two Armies Concisely.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. Herald's military critic gives the following review of war situation in Europe: "Under conditions which in warfare to-day, the chance of a Napoleonic improvisation being out of such an impudently as a modern staff are small indeed. It is doubtful if the master mind Napoleon could have chosen conditions of stalemate now appear to be inevitable western theatre of operations."
