REVENUE FROM RACING. New York, Nov. 28.—Uncle Sam has collected thousands of dollars from the Maryland and Kentucky race tracks in the form of excess profit taxes. It is said that Laurel and Pimlico each handed over nearly $85,000 to the government this year, while the other Maryland tracks have de Grace and Bowie each yielded about $50,000. The Louisiana, Louisville and Lexington tracks in Kentucky had to pay a total of $80,000 in taxes on the spring and fall meetings. The government netted $350,000 from these seven race courses, all of which the Pari-mutuel betting system was in vogue. The Maryland tracks will go before the next legislature with a licensing proposition calculated to prevent the wiping out of the sport in that state.

The government intends to buy young sows of the Wapiteg or other stock yards and ship them to central distributing points in Saskatchewan.

BORDEN SOUNDED NOTE OF UNION AT SIMCOE YESTERDAY

Three Thousand People Heard Premier's Ringing Pronouncement

ARMORIES THROGGED N. W. Rowell and Ex-Mayor Oliver of Toronto, Also Speakers

MILITARY SITUATION Men Necessary to Country Will Not be Taken, the Premier Promises

Simcoe, Nov. 29.—From our own correspondent.—The best political meeting of decades is the verdict of party stalwarts concerning yesterday's launching of Hon. W. A. Charleton's political campaign in Norfolk. Two thousand people occupied the seating capacity of the Armories, possibly another thousand found standing room and some five hundred did not gain admission. The meeting was packed to the rafters. The day was Sir Robert Borden N. W. Rowell, K.C., Ex-Mayor Joseph Oliver of Toronto, and the candidate, and they spoke in the reverse of the order named. Mr. Rowell came in from the east at 11 o'clock. Mr. Borden and Mr. Church arrived at 12.30 from Woodstock by the Premier's private car. The C. P. R. telegraph company sent a special operator, and Inspector E. G. Galbraith was over from London to see to it that the bunch of reporters who are following the Premier's tour got good service. To finish it off properly, a small gang of pickpockets got in their work about the main entrance to the hall, and as usual, got off with it.

On arrival, the Premier was escorted from luncheon to the residence of H. P. Innes, K.C., who had at the last moment, most manfully stepped aside to prevent a split in the Unionist ranks. Mr. Rowell, Mr. Oliver and Mr. Charleton were entertained by H. B. Donohy. Meanwhile the following returned soldiers assembled at the Armories with the gathering crowd, and constituted a guard of honour to the distinguished visitors on their entrance to the hall. 7072 Pte. A. Pendergast, 1st Batt.; 10978 Sgt. Robt. Rawling, 4th Batt.; 11131 Sgt. Guy Winters, 4th Batt.; 47889 Pte. W. Gurr, 15th Batt.; 408776 Corp. H. W. French, 24th Batt.; 402,303 Pte. A. Foote, 24th Batt.; 408768 Pte. G. Desalor, 37th Batt.; 408769 Pte. Bertinger, 37th Batt.; 453902 Pte. Robt. E. Cook, 58th Batt.; 453049 Pte. Hy. Howarth, 58th Batt.; 453117 Pte. S. Richardson, 58th Batt.; 796118 Pte. J. Cronk, 133rd Batt.; 796175 Corp. H. Prentice, 133rd Batt.; 796743 Pte. A. T. Pinchin, 133rd Batt.; 796134 Pte. B. Albinar, 133rd Batt.; L. W. P. Richardson, 199th Regt. The Federal party arrived at 2.30. Pursell's orchestra played God Save the King, Rev. Dr. W. J. Dey offered a short prayer for guidance, and support of the Allied cause, and mixed audience, old and young, men and women, Grit and Tory, sat up to attention.

Mr. T. J. Agar, president of the local Unionist executive, was chairman. With him and the speakers there were on the platform, Senator McCall and the local clergymen. Hon. W. A. Charleton. Mr. Charleton made a strong appeal for a united effort along all lines, to back up the boys overseas and meet the demands upon every citizen at home. He held that the Union Government was in reality a Union Government in spite of the claim of some to the contrary. He reiterated his nomination-day defence, and his superiority over the former law of compulsion. Will Not Rob the Farms. He quoted Major-General Mewburn as saying that he would not rob the farms, even if the tribunals did refuse merit exemption, and concluded with an appeal to the women voters to weigh well the great question before passing judgment. Ex-Mayor Oliver. Mr. Joseph Oliver, of Toronto, appeared as a personal friend of the candidate, and as a Liberal, who could do nothing other than support Union Government. The main issue, he said, resolves itself into a simple question: Are we going to support the men at the front or are we going to let them shift for themselves? He believed Sir Robert would be returned to Ottawa with the greatest following ever. "All but one province in Canada," he proclaimed, "is backing the Union Government, Grit and Tory side by side, and it's up to Ontario to get in line." N. W. Rowell, as on his last mission to Simcoe, said he was here again to stimulate effort to the end of lasting peace which can only come after the overthrow of Prussianism. Mr. Charleton, by character and disposition, belief and aim, as a lover of peace pre-eminently among public men in Canada, sees that the only way to reaching the goal is through the path of suffering and sacrifice. He challenged any man with any knowledge of recruiting conditions to deny that voluntary conscription has spent its force. To oppose conscription is clearly then to oppose any further prosecution of the war. Continuing he drew a parallel between the Opposition in Canada and the Government in Australia. The other Anglo-Saxon allies have conscription. Australia with less than five millions has a national registration. We did not adopt it, for one Province was not willing. Australia has to date sent pro rata 296,700 more men than Canada. The referendum in Australia has served only to stifle the colony's effort while party division is rife. The same has been the case in Canada. The referendum has split the Reform party in Canada. He urged his Reform friends to stand by the Government and the pledge made to the men who have gone across the sea before they left our shores. Keep the pledge, redeem it, perform it, back the second up. Applause. The need of reserves on the western front will be pressing before men of the present draft can be prepared for the trenches. A Howling Foe. Russia tried the referendum. What has been the result? The referendum is a howling foe which intelligent people can hardly take seriously. Why He Left Laurier. Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave no assurance to his party that he would give any form of compulsory service near or remote and we felt that our duty to Canada was greater than our loyalty to him. The basis upon which the Government is formed is ten to eight in the administrative departments. The disparity is due to the fact that a Liberal of Quebec will not come in to make it a fifty-fifty. Sir Robert Borden began at four o'clock. He asked any who had doubts, who they had suggestions instead of Union Government, he considered those whom he met from day to day on his tour, as men of the maddest to recognize politics and amongst the men on the line, and we, facing the most formidable opposition, cannot afford to be other than united. Party lines are strong and the speaker recognized that nothing but the highest sense of duty and the keenest appreciation of the national need enabled leading Liberals to come into the Union. He claimed that the Union Government has justified itself in the past five or six weeks. It might not be amiss for critics to consider what an administrative job has to accomplish in war time. The international questions, the administration of the war and on the top of it all this election with the enormous honor and responsibilities connected therewith. Union Government Legislation. Union Government has abolished the patronage list, and improved the civil service legislation, has made permanent the purchasing committee for all Government supplies, has accepted of Government profits, has enacted legislation for a graded taxation of income. The regulation of packing house profits has been effected; one of the most progressive steps that could be taken by any government. He stated that the raising of cost due to the drawing of so many men from the country, was beyond the control of any government. The far-reaching effect of such sudden removal of so many men were beyond the control of any legislation to a great extent. Nothing possible of accomplishment had been left undone in the war.

the matter of maintaining economic stability. Regarding Military Service. All tribute to Mr. Rowell for all that he has done under the voluntary system. No one believed that the war would last more than four or six months at first; then a year, and now over three years; and only now are we beginning to realize what is the magnitude of the enemy and of his original power. Compulsory enlistment has become compulsory for the first time by a certain law class in our country as rejoicing in sending out our young men to the battlefield. I want to tell you that it was no pleasant task. But you that I had seen at the front in France? Could you stand up and face them on their return with the conviction that the Canada that sent them failed to back them up. The compulsory service law has been passed by statute books for 49 years. It is no new thing in Canada. The war is new. The battle line in France and Flanders and the British navy (apart from the air) are as active as in peace, comfort and prosperity. He continued in a description of the ravages of war as he saw it in France. Returned soldiers had seen it, and could verify his statements. He appealed to the men who had seen that Canada did her part in avenging these ravages, or at least preventing their repetition. The Exemption Tribunals. Sir Robert promised in fact that the tribunals were only in part of government appointment, that among some 27,000 men there was bound to be differences of judgment and doubtless mistakes were being made. Men engaged in productive activities in Canada and whose work is necessary for the maintenance of production, will not be taken. It is our duty to the national interest would not be best served by sending such men to the front. General Mewburn may be relied upon to see that all such want of conformity is levelled up. Quebec Must Produce. But every province from the Atlantic to the Pacific, must supply men. That was the unwavering determination of the Government. Concluding Sir Robert voiced unstinted praise upon the valour and achievements of the Canadian soldiers, who had been fighting in glorious history. Canadians stopped the drive to Calais, even when the line broke beside them. They held Festubert and St. Julien and they captured Vimy Ridge. They fought glorious battles at the Somme. They have spirit. They are not willing to get home. They are calling for men to fill the gaps in the line. They are facing a self-confident foe. The delay of a useless referendum the fear of lack of support might snuff Canadian spirit at the front. He urged that the spirit which in time past won for us the liberties we now enjoy will be evident in the people of Canada at the present crisis. I hope that the spirit which I know possesses the men at the front will animate you. There is only one spirit with an army. God help them, they will do their part to bring this world-weary war to a successful conclusion. What does the political future of any man or party in Canada, amount to compared with the great cause. I hope that on December 1st you will send this message to the boys holding the line. "Canada stands by you." I do not wish to be premier of a Canada with any other spirit than this. Notes. There was not a single note of political bitterness struck throughout the entire program. Every speaker's appeal was for unity of effort. Fully two thirds of the audience have yet to be convinced that the empire is being strained to hold her own against the foe. During the morning there was a county organization meeting held in the Town Hall, when the following executive was chosen. The vice-presidents are Presidents in their various municipalities, and where not yet effected local organization will be proceeded with at once. Pres.—Wm. Sutton, Simcoe. Vice Presidents: T. J. Agar, Simcoe; Peter Quance, Delhi; F. M. Bond, Port Dover; Dr. Meek, Port Rowan; G. W. Bauldwin, Waterford; R. G. Bowley, Woodhouse; Harry Lawrence, Charlottetown; A. E. Culver, Windham. Sec.—Treas.—Frank Reid. It is expected that Mr. Rowell will speak in Waterford and Port Dover in the near future. James Peck, wanted for desertion, was lodged in jail yesterday on a remand as the officials of the court were too busy for the moment to attend to his case. T. J. Ajar has been retained as Crown Prosecutor at the spring Assizes in Welland in a manslaughter case. The Kitchener Puzzle. There was no semblance of disorder at yesterday's meeting here. Local Laurierites disapproved thoroughly and those interested in the development of the county party in the north so heartily entered into the movement as to go on. Kitchener must get right with the premier or drop out. The movement would be of no weight anywhere at present. A young South Ward resident was before Mr. Justice Gunton last evening endeavoring for more than an hour to explain what happened to the contents of a two-gallon jug of Walker's rye whiskey, purchased by him from John Sutton's Buffalo office and received by express last Friday, part of which was the means of landing the young fellow in Constable Pepper's net before midnight. The case was adjourned for one week. Cheques for $174 were issued at the last meeting of the Windham Council in favor of the owners of sheep, killed or worried by dogs. DISBANDING CAMP FOR RETURNED MEN

For Returned Men Solve After-War Employment Problem.

It is conceded by all concerned that before the close of the war, and the question of taking care of and finding employment for a large number of returned soldiers, who are in various stages of physical condition, from total disability to a questionable physical condition for ordinary employment, has been a subject of great concern to the government.

It is quite evident from the number of returned soldiers that have already arrived in British Columbia that owing to the mildness of the climate a much larger proportion of the men who have enlisted in British Columbia will elect to come to the coast in preference to other parts of Canada, which condition will increase the responsibility of assimilating these returned soldiers into ordinary vocations of business life.

There are thousands of acres of logged-off land available on Vancouver Island, as well as on the mainland, where a healthy and congenial employment can be provided for returned soldiers.

It is suggested that either the Dominion or the Provincial Government should secure control of areas in different localities of say, five hundred to two or three thousand acres, accessible by railroads or highways, which land it is understood can be secured at a low valuation, and what might be termed "disbanding camps," capable of accommodating one or two thousand men each, should be established under military control, which might be termed "modified military camps" under the conditions, and that these disbanding camps should be used for the purpose of keeping returned soldiers employed in clearing land at their regular military pay, or an additional wage if desired, to be determined by government, until such time as the individual soldiers could secure employment in the various lines of work which they had been accustomed to or in new lines as might suit their tastes or aspirations.

This method would give care and comfort, and a line of out-door employment to which the men have long been accustomed since their enlistment, and the government, under the proper guidance and tuition of a resident agriculturalist at each camp, doubtless be a large percentage of the returned soldiers who would secure portions of this land from the government and start active agricultural work.

As there is so much land to be cleared, and the expense is so great, and in view of the fact that a duty will devolve on the government to take proper care of returned soldiers, this field will not only prevent large numbers of returned soldiers being spread throughout the country without employment, but will also give them a means of subsistence, and out-of-door employment, and the results of the expenditure to carry out such a plan will be the minimum to the government and the maximum amount of good will result by rendering available for cultivation thousands of acres of arable land that would otherwise lie dormant for a number of years at any rate, but which in this way will give a great productive value in each district.

where camps may be established. The above scheme appeals to the writer for the following chief reasons:—

(1) The absolute necessity of the government having control of the large numbers of men out of employment who have been accustomed to military life in the open.

(2) The absolute necessity of returned soldiers being properly housed and fed, if they cannot secure employment.

(3) The almost sure necessity of creating employment for a certain number of returned soldiers for a certain period.

(4) The nature of the employment can be made suitable to all classes, as the work varies from light to heavy.

(5) The occupation will illustrate in a practical manner a method of making a living to those who desire a chance to try agriculture.

(6) The expenditure will give the greatest ultimate return to the country by preparing land for cultivation.

THE COURIER

Published by The Brantford Courier Limited, every afternoon, at Dalhousie Street, Brantford, Canada. Subscription rates: By carrier, $4 a year; by mail in British possessions and the United States, $5 per annum.

THURSDAY, NOV. 29th, 1917.

THE SITUATION.

From time to time Major-General Maurice, chief director of military operations at the British War Office, gives out interviews to the press.

In addition to the exceptional inside information which comes to him, he has also demonstrated himself to be the possessor of sane and cool judgment, and his deliverance upon the Italian situation has a most welcome sound as follows:

"It is now time to say definitely that the crisis in Italy has passed."

He added that the result was "due entirely to the efforts of the Italian army," adding that Anglo-French troops were now available in sufficient numbers to make matters secure.

Very different is the word from Russia. Announcement comes from Petrograd that German emissaries will confer with Lenin and his associates on Sunday with regard to an armistice, together with the further statement that the better elements of the people are against such dickering, but it is not very clear what they can do about it.

On top of that there is the information that with the foe in front and hunger in the rear Russian soldiers are fraternizing with enemy forces to a greater extent than ever. They are also said to be pressing the Teuton soldiers to revolt with them, but such an outcome does not seem at all likely.

Loss to British shipping by submarines has again become more marked. The official report for last week shows fourteen ships of over 1,600 tons and seven under that figure. It is becoming more clear that any radical solution must be the destruction of sub-bases.

Canada's Victory Loan continues to grow apace. Yesterday the total reached was $225,514,000.

Word comes from East Africa of the unconditional surrender of a Teuton force composed of twelve German officers, one hundred Germans and 3,400 natives.

THE MESSAGE OF SAMUEL GOMPERS.

Mr. Gompers, the grand old labor leader of the United States, and recently re-elected as President of the American Federation of Labor, was in Toronto yesterday lending his powerful influence on behalf of the Victory Loan campaign in that city.

During the course of a notable address, he said:

"I hold it to be the first duty of every Canadian, by birth or citizenship, to do everything within his power to unite the people in the winning of this war. Regarding politics and religion I say that all the people should stand united to bring victory to Canada and all the nations participating in the war. Men of Canada, all who can go, volunteer and don't wait to be drafted. Go and fight! In appealing to you to purchase Victory bonds, it is the duty of the men and women at home to make it sure that the brave Canadians at the front will not suffer or be forced to go wanting, while there is a dollar left in Canada. Be generous."

During his subsequent remarks, he said that he had opposed conscription, but once the Administration decided that this was the only course, he had not hesitated to do his part in supporting the same. "Before the war he was a pacifist, but since the war he had thrown in his lot with those fighting for the suppression of Kaiserism and Prussianism."

In this regard, it is worthy of note that the American Federation of Labor, in recent convention assembled, by a vote of 450 to 15, endorsed the action of Mr. Gompers in assuring the government at Washington of the hearty support and co-operation of the Federation in all measures that may be taken for the vigorous prosecution of the war.

HOCKEY LEAGUE.

By Courier Leased Wire. Winnipeg, Nov. 28.—The Winnipeg Military Hockey League was organized at a largely attended meeting held here last night. This league will be composed of three or four teams and will be the premier hockey organization in Manitoba. Captain Jack Ratten, returned from the front and formerly one of the greatest cover points ever developed in amateur hockey in Winnipeg, was elected president.

SIXTY THREE MISSING.

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Nov. 28.—Sixty-three men are missing in the three unaccounted for boats of the American Steamer Actacon, reported yesterday

THE ONE GREAT ISSUE.

There is a manifest disposition on the part of a few to inject personal feeling, animosity and prejudice into the present campaign in this riding. In Heaven's name is the present crisis with regard to Canada, and the Empire not serious enough to tolerate all such petty and unworthy feelings?

Mr. Cockshutt is conducting a clean and manly fight without one word of disparagement for his opponents, and he dwells solely upon the "win the war" issue—an issue in whose behalf he has from the very first done, heart and soul, all that he could.

In response there have been contemptible whispering and mendacious insinuations, unworthy alike of the vital matters at stake and this solemn time.

One such has been the circulation of an anonymous dodger headed in large letters "Warning." Then follows the assertion that "it has become known to the Liberal Association" (whoever is now speaking for same) that enumerators have been actually canvassing for "the Conservative candidate." (Mark the word Conservative in lieu of Union) and so on, etc., and so forth.

As a matter of fact all enumerators are under oath and the propriety of Mr. T. S. Wade, the returning officer, is too well known for anyone to seriously believe for a moment that his direction would be other than competent and careful.

Then there have been attacks upon the War Veterans because of their decision to support Mr. Cockshutt. Well what more natural than that they should reach such a conclusion? Mr. Cockshutt has been an ardent "win the war" man from the very inception. Every member of his family capable of bearing arms is in khaki, he was instrumental in forming the 125th Battalion, he has given liberally to the cause and has spoken on many platforms on behalf of backing the boys at the front. Under such circumstances what is there to be wondered at in the fact that the veterans feel that he is a man worth supporting. And why for so doing should the unworthy attempt be made to taunt them for their choice? They are men who have voluntarily shown their courage and their calibre; men who like British fair play and who will show at the polls, as they have demonstrated on the battle field, that they know how to stand by a friend and the great cause.

Piffing things and underhand suggestions should not be entertained or countenanced at this time for one moment. What are they along-side the great battle for Canada, for the Empire, and for human liberty? The brave veterans who have returned to us from those scenes of violent struggle, poisoned gas, terrific bombardment, the hell of machine gun fire and all the other horrors of modern warfare have shown right well that they did not allow any trifling thing to divert them from their steady purpose on behalf of the one great cause. Those of us at home cannot do better than follow their grand example and see to it that the Union Government, which is backing our boys, is backed by us and remembering that the overthrow of the present administration and what it stands for would be a source of great rejoicing in the Hohenzollern camp.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Kitchener has shown that it is still Berlin and the name of that great man should cease to be used as a veneer.

The British are now so near to the Palestine capital that it will soon be Jerusalem the Holden.

See that you have a vote in order to help the brave boys at the front.

Residents of Galt, Preston, Hespeler and other parts of South Waterloo have started a movement to either have a separate county formed, or else to have the county buildings removed from Kitchener. The recent insult to Premier Borden is very properly coming home to roost.

Surely all who subscribe to the Victory Loan will still further make the credit of this country good by seeing that the necessary reinforcements go to the front.

torpedoed by a German submarine. The navy's official report says one boat with twenty survivors landed at Cape Finistere yesterday and adds nothing more to published accounts of the sinking.

GOMPERS BUYS BOND.

By Courier Leased Wire. Toronto, Nov. 28.—The first act of President Sam Gompers of the American Federation of Labor when he arrived on Canadian soil was the purchase of a $50 victory bond. The federation has bought $10,000 worth of the Canadian war loan.

He will address a mass meeting of labor men at the armories to-night in behalf of the victory loan. "Unity of action is what I am here to advocate," he said to-day.

JUMPS FROM FAST TRAIN

(Continued from page one) to cover his uniform and directed him to the nearest route to the frontier. O'Brien swam the River Meuse near Namur, and the next day was challenged by German sentries, who decided he was a peasant. But his narrowest escape was reserved for his last day as a fugitive, when he could see Dutch territory. To circumvent the charged wires, O'Brien built a bridge in a nearby wood and threw it across the wires. But it broke under his weight and O'Brien received a shock which he says he can still feel. When he recovered he dug with his bare hands, a tunnel under the wire, and although it

ALLIES WILL ANSWER

(Continued from page one) Out of the maze of Russian complications there emerged today word of renewed trouble at Petrograd, with a hint of another revolution, to arrest, momentarily at least, the interest of the Washington Government. What proportions the movement assumed was a matter of conjecture, the early reports telling of firing and wounding of several persons, and epidemic of political turmoil. No official message has come on the outbreak.

Like the other Entente Allies, the United States Government is reserving formal expression of its attitude toward the Bolshevik regime, pending further developments, and its concern is focused largely on the conference set for next Sunday between the Bolshevik leaders and the Germans regarding armistice and peace. From American and French British sources, warnings have gone out for the information of the party in power at Petrograd, of the serious consequences of its movement for separate peace.

DISCUSS DIVISION OF SPOILS OF THE WAR

Ever Pasha, of Turkey, who is conferring with the Kaiser, Emperor Charles and Czar Ferdinand on the Italian front.

To The Editor of The Courier

Nov. 29, 1917.

It seems to be necessary that some one must attend to those who prattle about things they don't understand or persist to do without understanding for political advantage.

To-day Canada is proud of the fact that 400,000 men volunteered to defend it from the grasp of the Hun and 400,000 are casualties. I think that such a reference to pay for such a cause is a downright insult to those in khaki in France, in hospital, and our comrades lying in Belgium or France. When they call me and Canada, would you think that she was in trouble see how they flocked to the flag, see how the noble women acted, by urging their boys to go, and yet Mr. Gould says that such a reference to pay for such a cause is a downright insult to those in khaki in France, in hospital, and our comrades lying in Belgium or France. LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

HE'S IN AGAIN

While a number of the 1917 aldermen have announced their intention of entering the mayoralty arena this year, Ald. W. J. Bragg is the first of this year's aldermen to throw down the gauntlet and admit that he will again be in the field next year.

The suggestion has been made by a local concern to the city council that steps be taken to illuminate the Bell Memorial at night. This could be done as in many cities in the United States, by the flood light system which could be maintained at a small cost after the initial installation which, it is estimated would cost in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty dollars.

Isaac Bainbridge, editor of the Canadian Forward, a Socialist publication, was sentenced to serve nine months in jail by Mr. Justice Hodgins in the Assize Court yesterday for seditious libel. Bainbridge was convicted by a jury last week, and the jury made a strong recommendation for mercy; but as he was already under suspended sentence on a similar charge, the court held that he could not be leniently dealt with.

A union prayer meeting of the members of the Women's Missionary Societies of the Methodist churches of the city was held in Colborne Street Church yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. A. Shultis presiding. A series of interesting topics constituted the program in which ladies from the different churches participated. The subjects discussed were: "Why This Day of Prayer," Mrs. Gandler of the Wellington Street Church; "Our Missionaries," by Mrs. (Rev.) D. E. Martin of the Wesley Church; "Japan," by Mrs. Isaac, assisted by Mrs. Scruton of the Sydenham Auxiliary; "Our Young Women," by Mrs. (Rev.) Peters, Marlboro Street Auxiliary; "China," by Mrs. (Rev.) Lavell, Brant Avenue Auxiliary; "Canada and the Empire," by Mrs. Robt. Reid, assisted by Mrs. Ridolle of the Colborne Street Auxiliary. The consecration service was conducted by Miss Robertson of the Hanley-Fisher evangelistic party. Mrs. Leeming contributed a beautiful solo that was greatly appreciated.

STILL GROWING

Up to last night the total for the Victory Loan in Brantford and Brant County was $3,311,200. Receipts have been large to-day, and it now looks as if three million dollars might be reached.

A man from Kitchener, who was in the city to-day, said that some manufacturers were thinking of removing their plants from there, and that Brantford was favorably regarded.

AT HALIFAX

A telegram has been received from Major Ashton Cockshutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cockshutt, stating that he has arrived at Halifax with a number of Brantford boys. The Major left as Lieutenant in the 10th Battalion, Calgary, some three years ago, and was wounded at Festubert in June, 1915. He was in England, and went overseas a second time with the 125th battalion.

SHORTAGE INCREASING

The coal shortage in the city remains as acute as ever, and coal dealers as well as consumers are experiencing difficulty in securing sufficient supply. The waterworks department of the city, along with other individuals and concerns, is feeling the lack of fuel. Hitherto the waterworks has required two carloads per week, but the order has been decreased to one car in fifteen days, and in a letter received from a coal dealer in Buffalo, Secretary Frank was notified that this supply was all that could be hoped for, as the government was requisitioning soft coal. One coal merchant this morning stated that on Saturday last there were over two hundred applicants at his office for fuel, and he was unable to give them more than a few bags at the most. City Relief Officer Wm. Glover reports great difficulty in securing sufficient coal to relieve cases of actual need and suffering, and there are reports on the street that many families have absolutely no black diamonds, and are forced to rely upon the gas supply.

Another success was scored by the Ladies Aid of Alexandra church yesterday afternoon when the annual bazaar, anticipated throughout the year, was held. There were five booths from which were sold fancy work, home-made cooking, aprons, and tea. The bazaar was well attended and all the booths were well patronized. The ladies whose efforts were largely responsible for the success of the undertaking were: Tea room, Mrs. Davie (convener), Mesdames O'Row, Brass, Ross, Stewart and Gress. Fancy work, Mrs. Chamber (convener), Mesdames Bond and Cameron. Home-made cooking, Mrs. Hazel (convener), Mesdames Phillips, Corey, Scott, Burns, Taylor and Hunter. Aprons, Miss Cameron (convener), Mesdames Jex, and Baxter. Candy, Mrs. Bettie and Miss Heath.

Found early in the morning on November 6th, with an ugly gash self inflicted in his throat, William Johnson, who claimed no place as his home, has been undergoing treatment in the hospital since. He is now recovered and appeared in the police court yesterday afternoon, charged by Constable J. G. Pickel with attempting to commit suicide. The old man, who is aged seventy-two, was remanded until to-day when a doctor and the crown attorney will be present to assist in disposing of the case.

Frederick McCann paid $10 and costs in the police court last night for being intoxicated. Frederick John Walters has been obtaining board from Mrs. Martha Pitta under false pretences. He was supposedly employed but it later transpired that the star boarder had no visible or invisible means of support and hence a charge of false pretences was preferred by the indignant landlady. The case was adjourned for one week.

Heavy fines of $25 and costs each were imposed on Emmerson Charler and Walter Sherry, two Indian youths, who appeared before Judge Hardy in the County Judge's sitting of the Criminal Court, held at the Court House yesterday morning. The boys were charged with indecent assault upon an Indian girl named Miller. The offence took place near the council house on the reserve.

A partial re-election of officers took place at the Tuesday night meeting of the High School Club. Dudley Hurley was elected president to replace T. Truss, who will be unable to act, and Jeff Whitaker of the Fossils was elected vice-president. An interesting address on the air service and on coast patrolling in England was given by Lieut. Frank Wood, R.N.A.S., who is home from overseas on leave.

Special instructions from W. F. O'Connor, chief returning officer for the Dominion in the coming federal elections, have been received by telegraph by returning officers Sheriff J. W. Westbrook, for the riding of Brant, and Thos. Wade, for the riding of Brantford. The instructions authorize the returning officers to provide badges or buttons for the enumerators who are compiling the voters' lists. This step is advised for purposes of identification to prevent bogus enumerators from scouring the country, as is reported by a government official. The work of the enumerators in the two local ridings is practically completed, and as yet no reports have been made to the returning officers of men impersonating the enumerators. Sheriff Westbrook stated this morning that should any complaints of this nature be reported, he would immediately take preventative steps.

Every woman who is represented by either, father, husband, sister or brother overseas, is, if she is of age, entitled to a vote. See that the enumerator puts you on, or call Bell Phone 692 or Machine Phone 643.

MISS FLORENCE HUNTER, Toronto nursing sister, who was married in London on Saturday to Major Howa! Ridout, also of Toronto. Miss Hunter won the Royal Red Cross decoration for her services in France.

CLOSE CALL FOR PTE. SHELDRICK

Horse was Killed but he Escaped With Dislocated Shoulder

Mrs. Sheldrick, Grandview, has received a letter from her husband, Pte. R. J. Sheldrick, in which he says: "I have been in hospital since the 23rd of October. I was a little over eight days in making Blighty, and arrived in England on the 6th of November, and was taken to this hospital. I was going up to the trenches, and a horse, when a shell lit on the road just in front of the horse, killing it and throwing me and dislocating my shoulder."

Pte. Sheldrick left here with the 36th Battalion (Col. Ashton) and came to the city from Montreal in order to go with a Brantford battalion as he was born here. He has been at the front over two years, and was wounded on August 3rd.

"The Blind Musician," a story of the life of Beethoven, was the subject of a lecture at the public library this afternoon.

Returning Officer Wade wishes to emphasize the fact that in the case of a married woman entitled to go on the Voters' List, her Christian name must be given and not the initials of the husband.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Necessity for the practice of the strictest economy in the use of coal in Canada, is emphasized in the communication forwarded to the Dominion Fuel Controller, by the Fuel Administration here to-day. Calling attention to the fact that the most intensive conduct of a coal conservation movement is under way in this country, the Fuel Administration requests Canada to adopt a similar method to safeguard its supply, which is derived chiefly from the United States.

GREY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Look years younger! Try Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur and nobody will know. Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because so one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

By Courier Leased Wire. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 28.—Six men all members of the crew of three Dutch steamships lying at this port were drowned and nine were rescued early to-day when a launch carrying them in their ships capsized in the harbor. All were Hollanders. Six of the survivors were taken to a hospital suffering from exposure.

Among the dead were D. Wiegkes, chief engineer of the Steamship Winteryk, and C. Rotschard and R. Kaupers; assistant engineers of the same vessel.

By Courier Leased Wire. Montreal, Nov. 28.—The national professional hockey league expects to get under way, Wednesday, December 26, President Calder announced this morning. The opening game will be between Wanderers and Ottawa and Toronto and Canadians in Montreal.

GET YOUR NAME ON LIST. If the enumerators did not get your name on his list, and you feel that you are entitled to a vote, call up Bell 692, Machine 643, and make sure.

The boys at the front are busy. Vote for Cockshutt and help keep the munition factories busy to help them.

BAPTIST NIGHT AT ZION

Members of the Various Churches Sat in Separate Group Sections

Last evening at the Tabernacle was Baptist Night. The different Baptist churches sitting in groups. The attendance was large and made a fine showing for that denomination. The chorus singing under the direction of Prof. Fisher, as usual, was very fine. Mrs. Tyler and Mrs. Satergood, of Wesley church, sang a duet entitled "Somebody loved me long ago" which was well received, and later on a solo, entitled "Open mine eyes that I may see" was sung with good effect by Rev. W. E. Bowyer, B.A., of Calvary Baptist Church.

Professor Fisher called for Scripture passages, containing the word "faith," and many were rapidly given by the people. Dr. Hanley stated that the prayer meetings throughout the city were being largely attended. The Evangelist also made reference to the uniform loyalty and helpfulness of the ministers of the city. In the Evangelistic campaign, he stated that he was not here to preach doctrinal sermons—that he left to the pastors. His work he believed was to stir up Christian people generally, and urge men and women to decide for Christ.

A tribute was paid to Rev. E. H. Dingle, the organizer, who leaves for a few days to begin organization elsewhere, for another campaign. Earlier in the evening the Rev. Llewellyn Brown led in prayer, and just before the sermon, Rev. W. J. Thompson, of the Congregational church, asked God's blessing upon the preacher and his message.

The subject of Dr. Hanley's sermon was "Son, Remember." Jesus was spoken of as the most remarkable story-teller the world has ever known. He stated the preacher, I am not here to enter into any theological discussion about the central subject of the parable—but to me it seems to say, "Remember."

There is a distinction between conscience and memory and this distinction was borne out by a most striking array of contrasts, but in all memory lives forever. Dr. Hanley urged his hearers to exercise memory in three main directions—First, remember God.

Pharaoh defied God, who wanted the Israelites freed from bondage, and to-day, all that remains of Pharaoh is a mummy in a museum. Rome had its wicked Nero, who amused himself with the sufferings of his fellow creatures, but he is gone.

Napoleon once said, I know no God here or hereafter. A Corsican in his last days on St. Helena, exclaimed the speaker, I would like to chisel on Napoleon's monument, "Remember God."

Men should remember that God is the greatest force that touches human life.

The people were also exhorted to remember Christ.

Dr. Hanley declared his positive belief in the divinity of Christ. Christ is more than a merely good man—Robert Ingersoll went up and down the American republic, with all the force of his compelling eloquence and wit ridiculed Christ, but in the very room where he prophesied that Christ would soon be one million copies of the word of God are published—surely this is one of the ironies of history.

The representatives in the American Congress are Christian men. An infidel could not be elected to that deliberative body, so has Christ seized the thought and sentiment of the republic at our south. The time is coming when men will remember how they treated Christ.

Men should also remember that God hates sin. He hates it in all forms—God hates sin, but not the sinner. Said the preacher with great impressiveness: I do not know where Hell is, but I do know Hell is a place where one always remembers. In Hell the sinner will forever be in the company of his sins. The worst of all sin is the stubborn rejection of Jesus Christ.

The sermon closed with a thrilling word picture of a son who had rebelled and abused his mother and then in his agony after she was dead he could not forget it. Memory will never die. A large number responded to the invitation, thus indicating their desire and intention to lead new lives. The services are growing in interest and power each evening. To-night is Eagle Place night when a great crowd is expected from that part of the city.

Wedding Bells

On Wednesday afternoon at Zion church the marriage took place of Anna Josephine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howarth, and Mr. Harry Carpenter, eldest son of the Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Carpenter. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Woodside in the presence of the immediate relatives. Mr. David L. Wright presided at the organ, and when the wedding was being signed, Mr. Walter Carpenter sang Yeoman's "Wedding Song." Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter left on a trip to New York and other points.

CLAIM BOARD OF BUILDING BY-LAW

Doors on Market Public Station Open Wrong Way

T. & L. COUNCIL KICK Want Moderation of Headlights on Automobiles Also

Why should the city Board of Works be allowed to violate the building by-law when private citizens were made to observe it?

This question was asked at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council by Delegate Brown. He cited an instance where "one poor devil down in the East ward" had recently been brought before the magistrate for violation of the building by-law. Delegate Brown, on the other hand, the Board of Works had flagrantly broken the terms of the by-law by the manner in which the public square was built. The doors of this building, declared Delegate Brown, opened toward the inside instead of outward, as was required by law. A resolution was passed authorizing the secretary to write to the city council calling attention to this breach of the by-law.

Automobile Headlights. A protest was also registered by Delegate Brown regarding the prevalent practice of motorists of using strong and blinding headlights on their cars, thus greatly endangering the safety of pedestrians.

Delegate McGrattan stated that there was a by-law forbidding the use of headlights that would throw a light more than seventy-two feet in advance of the automobile. The headlights used by many automobile owners in the city at the present time were very dangerous, in his opinion, especially to motorists on the cars of the street railway system. The corresponding secretary was authorized to write Chief of Police Steinhilber asking that this matter be looked into.

Infant Kiss. Wednesday morning the remains of Annie Kiss, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kiss, 63 Palace street, were interred in St. Joseph's cemetery. Services were conducted at St. Basil's church by the Rev. Father Catania.

George Young. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon of the late Geo. Young, 112 Acatur street, to Mount Hope cemetery. The services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. W. E. Bowyer of Calvary Baptist church.

Mrs. Drake. The funeral of the late Mrs. Drake, relict of Phineas Drake, took place from the home of her son, Samuel, to Jerseyville with a large number of sorrowing friends in attendance. The services were conducted at Jerseyville by the Rev. H. F. Deller, assisted by the Rev. C. F. Logan, of this city. The pall bearers were Messrs. E. J. Howell, John Day, John Cornell, John McMillan, H. Patterson and Robert Wood.

MRS. ALLAN FRANKLIN. The funeral of the late Mrs. Allan Franklin took place from her late residence, Burich, Monday afternoon to Farrington Cemetery. A very large number of relatives and friends met to pay a last tribute to one beloved by all. Rev. Mr. Vale of Burich conducted the service which was very impressive. The favorite hymn of the deceased "Nearer My God to Thee," was sung by those present. Mrs. Franklin was a member of the Baptist church for many years, always taking a great interest in all church work. Her vacant seat in the church and home will be hard to fill. After a few more years of married life she passed away at the early age of 37, leaving besides her sorrowing husband, three daughters, her mother, one sister, two brothers and a host of friends who will always remember her as a loving and faithful friend. The number of beautiful floral tributes could only partially show the high esteem in which she was held by the community. The pallbearers were: Russell Hartley, James Smith, Harris Charlton, Wm. Black, Ellis Coleman, Charles Bellhouse, assisted by Rev. Mr. Vale. Burial at St. Basil's church.

Hurd suffered severely, and in the fifth Billy Sunday stepped into the box and took a hand at pitching. MEATLESS DAYS WELL OBSERVED

Regulations of Food Controller Acceded to by Great Majority

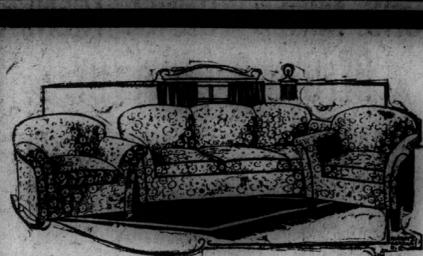

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The Food Controller has received from Mr. F. W. Mossop an interesting report on his inspection of hotels, restaurants and clubs in the city of Toronto.

Mr. Mossop personally visited 560 public eating places. On the general question as to whether the hotel and restaurant keepers are carrying out the spirit as well as the letter of the Food Controller's orders, he states: "If I am to base my opinion on the number of places keeping the law in all regards, it is that the scheme is an unquestionable success."

It should not be forgotten that the obligation to provide wards for display in public eating places rests with the proprietor alone, but the Food Controller's office will gladly send a supply of suitable cards upon request.

HUNS MINED TUNNEL TRENCH BEFORE CAPTURE BY BRITISH

Famous Dugout Northwest of Bullecourt Now In Hands of Byng's Victorious Forces—Huns Fire on Own Troops Who Show the White Feather

By Courier Leased Wire
British Headquarters in France, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Desperate and sanguinary fighting has been raging in and about Fontaine Notre Dame since dawn yesterday, when the British again attacked the strongly held village. Shortly after nine o'clock it appeared that the assaulting infantry had stormed its way through the village in the face of tremendous machine gun fire, both from the houses of the hamlet and from La Folie wood to the southeast. Five hundred German prisoners were taken in the early hours of the fighting. Late in the afternoon the Germans hurried up two new divisions and threw them in for a counter-attack along the Fontaine-Notre-Dame line. The fighting which followed in Fontaine was even more bitter if possible than that which occurred in the first rush through the ruined hamlet. At latest reports superior numbers of enemy infantry had pushed the British back through the village again to the western and northwestern outskirts, but the battle still continued with unabated fury.

In the meantime the British line running around Bourlon wood to the northwest was sustaining a heavy assault. The enemy appeared to be determined to regain this important position if it were humanly possible. The whole front from Fontaine to Bourlon village was the scene of fierce fighting, which at many places was at close quarters. The British line about Bourlon wood is still intact.

The attack on Fontaine Notre Dame was begun with the assistance of a very heavy artillery barrage, and throughout the morning the British gunners maintained an intense fire against the German positions there. The on-rushing infantry drove an entering wedge into the northeastern part of the village in a short time, but they were held up here by a terrific rifle and machine gun fire, to which they were subjected from every point of vantage.

Conditions were favorable to the Germans, for they were fighting on the defensive in well prepared positions which could only be taken by storm. Every machine gun was equivalent to several hundred rifles. Despite the disadvantages, the British continued the onslaught. It was a glorious exhibition of bull dog courage. They surged on, and in less than three hours had pushed the hard-hitting Germans back to the eastern side of the village, leaving enemy dead strewn the streets.

As the British fought forward and surrounded the various buildings containing enemy machine gunners, many Germans were compelled to surrender or lose their lives. By the time the eastern side of the village was reached, 500 captives had been collected and sent back to swell the great total of prisoners taken since General Byng struck his telling blow last Tuesday.

The arrival of a large body of German reinforcements put a different complexion on the situation. These fresh troops immediately counter-attacked, and the fighting through the streets of Fontaine took on renewed vigor. The weary British retired somewhat in the face of this onslaught, selling each foot of ground to the enemy at a cruel price. It was thirteen miles long and forty feet deep. Entrances were driven into it every 35 yards, and the Germans lighted the entire place with electricity. The tunnel was mined at intervals throughout its length, but the British quickly discovered the electric wires leading to the mines and they were rendered useless.

Huns Hid in Dugout.
British headquarters in France, Nov. 28.—(via Reuter's Ottawa agency)—The battle area is suppers and difficult owing to the continued heavy rains. Last Monday night the Germans determinedly counter-attacked the northeastern fringe of Bourlon wood. After fierce fighting they were driven off and heavily shelled while retreating.

A German order has been found stating: "If certain soldiers who are lurking in a big dugout do not come out immediately and participate in the fighting the dugout will be blown in. It was further directed that this order be read aloud to the whole battalion, presumably for their encouragement."

British Official.
London, Nov. 28.—"The German artillery was active last night in the region of Bourlon wood (Cambrai area)," says today's official communication. "No further infantry fighting has taken place."

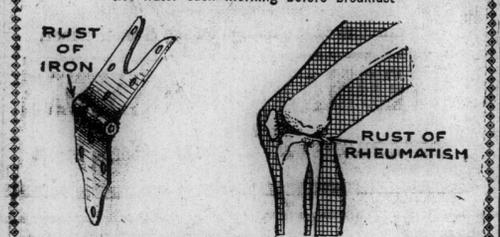

"On the northern front, east and northeast of Ypres, hostile artillery activity continues."

BOOTLEGGING UNDER BAN.
By Courier Leased Wire
Halifax, N.S., Nov. 28.—The increasing number of soldiers arriving in Halifax from overseas has made the authorities determined that the bootlegging menace must be completely wiped out. Last night Private Edward Legg, a Canadian engineer on home service, was arrested. On his person was found a bank book with a credit of $330 and also a large roll of bills. In a little room he had rented in the vicinity of the chief hotels was discovered tons of rum, mixing cans, funnels, corks and a complete bootlegging equipment. It is alleged that Legg's practice was to mix his decoctions in the room and with flasks and bottles in his pocket mingle with the returned soldiers and dispose of his adulterated liquor at an enormous profit. The police consider that by his capture they have secured the most flagrant offender.

DRINK HOT WATER AND RID JOINTS OF RHEUMATIC RUST

Why rheumatism and lumbago sufferers should drink phosphated hot water each morning before breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incrustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infect the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste material, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons, called uric acid, is formed and then sucked into the blood where it continues to circulate, collecting grain by grain in the joints of the body much like rust collects on the hinge of a door.

Men and women who suffer from lumbago, rheumatism or sore, stiff, aching joints should begin drinking phosphated hot water, not as a means to mitigate relief from pain, but to prevent more uric acid forming in the system. Before eating breakfast each morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will first neutralize and then wash out of the stomach, liver, kidneys

BURTON

(From Our Own Correspondent).
Rev. Mr. Vale conducted the service on Sunday afternoon. The sermon was interesting and impressive. Quite a number of those who usually constitute the congregation attended the memorial service for the late corporal Russell Smith, which was held at Newport.

Misses Evangeline and Minnie McIntyre and Mr. Douglas Eldridge were the guests of Mr. Gilbert Bailey on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Campbell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emmott.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson gathered at their home on Tuesday evening to bid farewell to their removal from this neighborhood, where they have spent so many years, will be sincerely regretted by all. The evening, however, was a gay and happy one. Mr. John Campbell, sr., very appropriately filled the position of chairman and each one present was requested to contribute some share toward the program. There were songs by the Campbell brothers, and Mr. Charlie Thompson very generously rendered some of his comic songs and was surely applauded. A speech by the chairman, and an address by Mr. J. S. Buckwell was followed by the presentation of a beautiful leather arm chair to Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Each lady had brought her basket, and lunch was served at the midnight hour and certainly enjoyed. There were about one hundred present. The whole affair was a complete surprise but a pleasant one.

Miss Elma Townsend was the guest of Miss Eva Campbell on Sunday.

The stork visited at Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eddie's home on Wednesday, November 21st, and left a baby boy. Mrs. I. Holderman and two children from Jarvis have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minshall and "auld acquaintances."

The young folks of this community wended their way with one accord to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simington on Thursday evening last, just for fun. They certainly got all they wanted. Mr. and Mrs. Simington are popular with the young people because they have never ceased to be one of them. The bunch unanimously agreed, "We won't go home until morning," and therefore were willing to be amused. The entertainment provided was games and dancing and as "variety is the spice of life" no small amount of singing and speech making added to the simple delight of this fun-loving crowd. A light and dainty lunch was served at the noon hour of night by the hostess and was much appreciated. After refreshments they decided that "there's no place like home" and proceeded to betake themselves thither.

Music and Drama

"THE PRINCESS PAT."

"The Princess Pat," the Cort Theatre, New York production of the Henry Blossom-Victor Herbert musical comedy success, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Monday, Dec. 3rd. When this latest triumph of the celebrated collaborators received its metropolitan hearing it scored unqualified approval and was stamped the best musical offering of the year. A Victor Herbert's score can always be depended upon for thorough enjoyment, while Mr. Blossom's book and lyrics have never yet failed to fully fill all requirements. The story of the comedy relates the flirtations of the Princess di Montaldo, an Irish girl, who has married an Italian nobleman. By her friends she is called Pat for short. At a house party on Long Island, she becomes acquainted with Janus O'Brien, an elderly millionaire who is about to marry Grace Holbrook, Grace is not in love with O'Brien, but his money will bring financial relief to the depleted treasury of her uncle, with whom she lives.

The husband of the Princess has during his absence been the lover of other days, and to teach him a much-needed lesson, and by some means cause the breaking of the engagement that exists between Grace and O'Brien, she induces Bob Darrow, a sort of adventurer, to lend his help. A plot is evolved that results in a series of most humorous situations. The Princess is made wildly jealous, while O'Brien is planning on an elopement with the Princess. However, everything terminates happily as it should in all good musical comedies, and the love affairs of all conclude as they should. The presenting company includes Annette Ford, Genevieve Yernhardt, Peggy Johnson, Will H. Sloan, Neil Moore, Charles Coghlan, Overton Moyle, Augustus Buel, John Reinhard, Andrew Bixby, George Williams and others of importance, in addition to which there is a large singing chorus. Among the twenty numbers supplied by Mr. Herbert are: "Alles," "Make Him Guess," "Love is best of All," "For Better or for Worse," "I wish I was an Island in an Ocean World for Two" and "Two Laughing Irish Eyes."

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE."

"Seven Days' Leave," the big spectacular military comedy success now packing the Lyceum Theatre, London, despite its stay of ten months there, and notwithstanding the necessary curtailment of theatre interest because of war conditions, is coming to Canada. Walter C. Jordan, in combination with Daniel Frohman—names that stand for the best things of the playhouse—have arranged for a special company for the play's presentation in Canada and the provinces. "Seven Days' Leave" will be seen here at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30th and December 1st, for an engagement of three performances.

SOCIALISTS' PROTEST.

Amsterdam, Nov. 28.—A great Socialist demonstration at Budapest on Sunday in favor of an armistice and peace, is reported by The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin. Declarations were made that democracy must employ all means to end the war and that it is impossible to bring peace by force of arms. These statements led to demonstrations against her war and in favor of a general strike.

A resolution was passed opposing the aims of the Pan-Germans and annexation of Poland and Livonia by Germany. The meeting voted in favor of holding an international labor conference at Stockholm.

MISSSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

This design for a misses' dress is especially suitable for: foulard silk, though it might also be developed in lightweight serge trimmed with satin. It is an excellent model for the little "best" frock for the girl who is going away to school. The waist is rather plain, but the whole interest centres in the smart collar and vest. The neck's set out in a graceful rounded line, and a narrow collar of the satin emphasizes the shape. There is a tiny inset vest of white satin which fastens with a row of fancy buttons. The long sleeves have cuffs of the darker satin. The skirt is the easiest part of all to make, as it is in one piece and is gathered at the waist. A softly crushed grade of satin completes this attractive dress.

The misses' and small women's dress pattern No. 8494 is cut in four sizes—14, 16, 18 and 20 years. With at lower edge of skirt is 2 1/2 yards. As on the figure, the 16 year size requires 5 yards of 36 inch material, with 5/8 yard 36 inch contrasting goods and 3/4 yard 18 material for

The Sealed Valley
 By HULBERT FOOTNER
 Author of "Jack Chaney"

(From Wednesday's Daily)
 "Always I think if I could be friends with a white woman, we could talk. And to-day the river bring you to me, so I think it is like magic! And my tongue, she shoot the rapids of talk! I am sorry I scare you!"
 "You don't scare me a bit!" protested Kitty. "I like to have you talk to me. I'll talk to you, too.
 Tell me about the white man," she said shyly, "the one you liked." Nahnya was startled. For an instant the old walled look darkened her face.
 "I not say I like any white man,"
 she said quickly. "I not want any man."
 Kitty hung her head a little.
 "That's what we say," she murmured with a burst of shy candor:
 "but how true is it?"
 The dark fled out of Nahnya's face. She turned a pair of wondrously soft eyes on Kitty. "You are lonely up here!" she said. "I know what lonely is!"
 Kitty's eyes grew large and bright with tears. She nodded.
 "I wanted a friend, too," she said very low. "Some one to talk to, like you. The boys are good to me, but they treat me like a baby. I wanted a woman friend. I haven't talked to a woman in a year and a half!"
 Nahnya sprang to her knees, and unconsciously clasping her hands to her breast, leaned toward Kitty. "I will be your friend—always!" she said with trembling eagerness. "If you want me!" she added with wistful humility.
 Kitty's answer was to fling her arms around Nahnya's neck.
 Nahnya recoiled in a kind of terror. "You—you kissed me!" she faltered. "Me!"
 "I'll do it again!" cried Kitty.
 "And again! And again! I think you are just sweet!"
 With an odd little cry the dark girl hid her face on Kitty's shoulder and clung to her, and broke into a silent, shaken weeping. Broken whispers of confession reached the white woman's ear.
 "I never have a friend—Always inside of me I am alone. I think I am marked out to be alone—My heart hurt me like any woman's heart— But always I must make out I don't care about anything!"
 An hour later they heard a hail from far up the river. Kitty leaped up in great excitement. Nahnya answered the hail. She had the river-man's trick of sending the voice to a distance.
 Bye and bye they came flying around the bend, father and sons paddling like men possessed, and momentarily raising hoarse, anxious cries. Nahnya tore off a branch of leaves and, putting it into Kitty's hands, urged her down to the beach to wave it.
 At the sight of her safe on dry land the three men sent up tremendous shouts of joy and relief. Nahnya retired up on the bank.
 They landed, and Kitty was instantly locked in her father's arms.
 Dick collapsed in the boat, while Bill's legs caved under him on the beach. Both boys wept unashamed.
 "We heard the rapids," Bill blubbered. "We thought we were just too late!"
 They quickly recovered.
 Kitty had presently to submit to their bear-hugs, and again to her father's embrace. All four talked at once, and foolishly laughed. Kitty was abashed by their transports.
 Never had she seen her men so stirred.
 Afterward questions began to fly.
 "How did you drift off without knowing it?"
 "Why didn't you scramble ashore and let the boat go?"
 "How did you get ashore here without a paddle or anything?"
 "Who is with you?"
 "Why, she's gone!" cried Bill
 suddenly.
 It was true.
 They looked around in vain. During the excitement of the men's landing the dark girl had stolen unobserved to the other dugout. It lay a little down-stream, and partly screened by some bushes.
 Putting off and keeping close to the shore, she was soon lost to their sight.
 Kitty's face fell like a child's.
 "Without a word of good-bye!"
 she said.
 "She's taken our best boat," said
 Jim Sholto, frowning.
 "She lost her own in the rapids saving me," said Kitty with quick indignation.
 Jim hastened to mollify her.
 "That's all right," he said. "But to steal away like this!"
 "It's just like them," said Dick:
 "always mysterious."
 "You're not very grateful," said Kitty at the point of tears. "I tell you she saved my life."
 "You haven't told us anything yet," said her father. "Who is she?"
 "Annie Crossfox."
 "I had a look at her," said Bill.
 "She's mighty good-looking. Don't see why she couldn't wait to receive our thanks."
 Kitty, looking at him sharply, saw the untoward eager light in his dark eyes and became suddenly thoughtful. A reason for Nahnya's abrupt departure occurred to her.
 "She will bring the boat back to our camp," she said quietly. "Just as soon as she can get her own boat.

(She promised me.)
 "But Dick and I will be gone then," grumbled Bill. "If we've got such a good-looking neighbor I want—" Kitty interrupted him. "She saved my life," she repeated with a direct look. "She is my friend."
 "What of it?" said Bill, beginning a great parade of innocence.
 He caught his little sister's eye and saw something new there—knowledge. He had the grace to drop his own gaze and blush a little.
 Bill was an honest youth.
CHAPTER XVII.
The Grand Prayer.
 Kitty was ironing clothes in the kitchen of the living shack. She and her father had been alone in camp for four days. It had rained in the interim and the greens of Milburn gulch were freshly polished and gilded.
 Inside the shack the cherry-colored embers glowed on the grate, and a blue gingham dress was falling into crisp and immaculate folds as it was turned on the ironing-board.
 The door stood open and a single big fly buzzed in and out over the sill, as if he couldn't make up his mind whether he preferred sunshine or shadow.
 While Kitty propelled the iron she thought a girl's thoughts, which alight on a subject as delicately as butterflies and as lightly sheer away. Since she had beheld the eager light in Bill's eyes at the sight of the dark girl a fluttering disquiet winged in Kitty's mind. She was thinking of men and women now.
 "Annie knows much more"—thus it ran in her head. "I wish she would tell me. I ought to know.
 But why do I want to know what is ugly?"
 "But it's neither ugly nor beautiful; it's mixed. Men are not angels.
 That's only silly dreaming that leaves you flat. I wouldn't want a man to be too good, really. Just a spice of danger and uncertainty."
 Kitty blushed and looked around her guiltily, as if this dreadful thought might have been overheard.
 She applied herself to her ironing with prim lips.
 "I am a fool!" she thought. "Annie is wise. I wish she would come."
 Kitty's thoughts were broken in upon by the sound of a footstep outside the shack. Something heavy and unfamiliar in the fall of it caused her to call out sharply: "Is that you, dad?"
 There was no answer.
 She started around the ironing-board to investigate. At the same moment the doorway was darkened by the figure of a strange man—a piteous, ghastly, unkempt travesty of manhood.
 For a moment he wavered there,
 then pitched headlong toward her feet. One arm reached toward her as in supplication; the other was grotesquely doubled under him.
 Kitty screamed and stood rooted to the spot.
 The man lay without moving. He had uttered no sound. Jim Sholto came running from the works with a blanched face. He all but fell over the body and stood like his daughter turned into stone with astonishment.
 His admirable composure quickly asserted itself. He dropped on his knees.
 "Help me to turn him over, lass,"
 he said quietly.
 The face that was revealed, with its sunken, bearded cheeks and painfully drawn lips, seemed aged to Kitty. The eyes were closed. Jim lowered his head to listen at the man's breast.
 "Fishes," said he succinctly.
 "Dislocated shoulder—starvation.
 Give me your sharpest knife to cut away this sleeve. Get a pillow for his head. Put water on the stove."
 Kitty flew to obey the various orders.
 "I'll put his shoulder in before he comes to," Jim went on grimly. "It is more merciful. It's a nasty job—after a week or more untended. Can you stand it?"
 Kitty nodded.
 "Then hold him as I bid you."
 Jim Sholto at fifty was still more powerful than either of his sons. He needed all his strength for the cruel job in hand. The swollen, feverish flesh was dreadful to see.
 Kitty closed her eyes and gritted her teeth and held on. Deep, soft groans broke from the unconscious man as Jim worked over him. Finally, with a dull click as of colliding billiard-balls, it was done. Jim stood up and wiped his face. Now that the most urgent service had been rendered, curiosity began to have way.
 "Did you see him come?" he asked.
 Kitty shook her head.
 "H-m!" said Jim. "With all this vast empty land to choose from, he stumbles on us. Look, his moccasins are worn clean through!"

ITALIANS ABLE TO HOLD LINES

Foe Will Pass Only Over Dead Bodies of Defenders Says Gen. Garibaldi

Italian army headquarters in northern Italy, Tuesday, Nov. 27—(By the Associated Press.)—A visit made to-day to the fighting front at Monte Tomba, Monte Montenera and other mountains in the fighting zone in the north and then to the Piave line, where it joins the mountain front, afforded opportunity to see this central point of the present struggle and to obtain from several at several division and headquarters direct confirmation in regard to the condition of affairs. The tour was made with a staff officer from headquarters and covered about 100 miles, with stops at the main points of fighting.

General Garibaldi, commander of the famous Alpine brigade, declared the fighting had shown that the Italian troops could hold the line beyond any question. Speaking of the spirit of his men, he added: "If the enemy ever does get past, by superior strength of guns, it will be only over the dead bodies of our troops, for they are determined never to yield."

The roads leading to the battle front showed increasing masses of troops being brought up for concentration on the threatened lines. Much artillery was coming in. The men and horses seemed to be in good condition after the hard drive. Miles of infantry moved forward, the ranks showing fresh and youthful troops. They were steel helmets, getting ready to go into action. Many had little pink boxes in their hands, which looked like packages of candy, but when they were opened, it was not candy which was seen, but the thin bullets which fit into the Italian rifles. Every cartridge belt was full of these pink boxes.

Passing the headquarters of the fourth army, which hold the vital line between the Brenta and Piave Rivers, a staff officer of General Robilant, commander of this army, summed up the general situation as "satisfactory" the reports showing that the enemy was being held.

While the pressure of the Austro-German forces is still impetuous at the same time they seem to have been held down by heavy losses and the unexpected strength of the resistance they have encountered. This staff officer estimated the enemy losses as fully two to three times those of the Italians as the defensive lines always have afforded greater shelter.

Good Night Stories

HAPPY GIGGLES HELPS DOTTY.

Dotty stood kicking her toes against the gate post. "Don't do that; you'll spoil your shoes," said her brother Benny. "I don't care," cried Dotty, and when Linda, her sister, laughed at her she grabbed her doll and tore its dress. "See what you've done! We'll not play with you, you're mean and cross!" said Linda, pulling Benny away. "Cross patch," cried Benny. "Isn't she ugly with that pout on her face?" "I don't care! I don't care!" exclaimed Dotty, and the children ran off down the road, leaving her alone. Two big tears rolled down Dotty's cheek as she watched them disappear around the corner, for deep in her heart she did care. "Well, well," laughed a cheery voice. Dotty looked up and saw a queer little fellow sitting on the gate post. He was just about half as tall as Dotty herself. He wore a little red suit, and a tiny yellow cap with a green feather sticking in it. "His eyes sparkled as he saw Dotty's surprise. "I'm Happy Giggles," he cried. "What's the trouble?" Dotty was so glad to have some one to tell her troubles to that she told him how mean Benny and Linda had been, and ended by sobbing. "They won't let me play with them because they say I'm ugly." "There, there!" soothed Happy Giggles. "I'll straighten things out. Now, in Makebelieve-land, where I live, we have such pretty children because they never frown. Frowns are just small things at first, but they grow so quickly that before long they can spoil a pretty little girl. Didn't I hear you say 'I don't care!' just a while ago?" Dotty nodded. "Well, in Makebelieve-land we never use that sentence, for folks must care if they wish to be happy. So come over the doll's dress!" "I did!" sobbed Dotty. "But I'm sorry now."
