

What Society is doing

Before action.
By all the glories of the day,
And the cool evening's benison;
By the last sunset touch that lay
Upon the hills when day was done;
By beauty lavishly outpoured,
And blessings carelessly received,
By all the days that I have lived,
Make me a soldier, Lord.

By all of men's hopes and fears,
Of all the wonders poets sing,
The laughter of unclouded years,
And every sad and lovely thing;
By the romantic ages stored,
With high endeavor that was his,
By all his mad catastrophes,
Make me a man, O Lord.

I, that on my familiar hill
Saw with uncomprehending eyes
A hundred of Thy sunsets spill
Their fresh and sanguine sacrifice,
Ere the sun swings his noonday sword
Must say good-bye to all of this;
By all delights that I shall miss,
Help me to die, O Lord.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By Rev. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Editor of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 8 CONQUERING EVIL.

(May be used with temperance application.)

LESSON TEXTS—1 Kings 21:1-29; Ephesians 6:12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. (Romans 13:12.)

DEVOTIONAL READING—Romans 12:1 to 13:10.

TEACHERS' MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Deuteronomy 9:18; Psalms 14:16; Luke 4:1-13; 19:41-45; Romans 7:14; 8:14; 11 Timothy 4:2.

The robbery and murder of Naboth is one of the darkest of human deeds. Near the scene is the righteousness of Naboth's position, and to master his own personal selfish desires, resulted in this dark deed.

1. A Notable Example of the Triumph of Evil (1 Kings 21:1-29).
1. Ahab's covetousness (vv. 1-6).
Near the king's palace, especially by a plot of ground belonging to a simple farmer which Ahab selfishly longer for. Naboth, loyal to the law of God and exercising his personal rights, refused to part with it, though the king offered him what it was worth, or even a better one in exchange. With Naboth it was a matter of money value, but of loyalty to God and his fathers. It doubtless would have been gain to him to have complied with Ahab's desire, for he offered it his worth in money, or a better one in exchange. Naboth put principle before worldly gain, or even the desire of conquering his selfishness sulkily refused to eat.

2. Jezebel's wicked plot (vv. 5-16).
When she found Ahab putting the matter into his own hands, (1) She taunted Ahab (v. 7). A weak man took stand to be taunted, especially by a woman. (2) A mock trial given (v. 8-13). The charge made against Naboth was false. They played the hypocrite. His death was secured under the pretense of justice. Jezebel desired Naboth out of the way, so she secured false witnesses against him. (3) He was executed (v. 13). (4) Jezebel informs Ahab of Naboth's death, and instructs him to take possession of the vineyard (v. 14-16).

3. The doom announced (vv. 17-28).
(1) By whom—Elijah (vv. 17, 18). At the command of the Lord, Elijah, who had fled from Jezebel, goes to meet the king in the vineyard. He went to take possession but could not. God always finds a man to bring to the sinner the fruit of his wrongdoing. (2) What it was (vv. 19-26). (a) A shameful death (v. 19). The dogs were to lick the blood of Naboth. There is a retributive justice in the judgments which God metes out to sinners. " whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Gal. 6:7). Jezebel should be ashamed that the sinner should be ashamed that he should be ashamed. (b) Obliteration of posterity (vv. 21, 22). It was best that the children of such a man should be cut off so that there might be an end to such a wicked dynasty. It would seem that the world has now come to such a state as this. The nations are in a state of confusion and sorrow of the world at this time would better end and its posterity be obliterated from the earth.

4. Ahab's repentance (vv. 27-29).
Through his humiliation he gained a respite from judgment. God allowed him to live until he should be permitted the judgment to fall upon him. A few years later he was slain in the battle of Ramoth-Gilead (chapter 22:37).

11. How to Overcome Evil (Eph. 6:11-13).
1. By separation from it (v. 11). The only way to overcome evil is to refuse fellowship with it, to withdraw from it. Lot, who had entered into fellowship with the Sodomites, was overthrown with disaster; but Abraham, who was separated from it, was able to deliver him.

2. By reproof (v. 11). It is not enough to merely refrain from practicing evil. No neutral position is possible. There must be victory over it; it must be defeated. Antagonism of the evil is necessary.

3. By watchfulness (v. 14). Living in the light of Christ is necessary in order to overcome evil. Deception is on every hand.

4. By a drumspect walk (vv. 15, 16). Pitfalls are all about us. To walk without looking about us is most foolish, because the evil one is on the alert, doing his best to cause us to stumble.

5. By a sober life (v. 18).
6. By being filled with the Holy Spirit (v. 18).

Those who would overcome evil must abstain from intoxicating liquors and all the influences of the world which induce excitement.

The Spirit-filled believer has the world and power to overcome.

Regenerated Life.
The best personal workers are those who have a new life. They are not the same as they were. There may be argument against some forms of reasoning and against various cults and "isms," but there can be no argument against a regenerated life. "Something Doing."

1500 XMAS STOCKINGS

The following letter from Toronto headquarters has been received by the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross:

Dear Madam,—We have again received a request from England to furnish Christmas stockings for our men in hospitals and homes overseas.

This year we shall need 35,000 stockings. Below will be found specifications of the stockings required. These specifications were sent out last year, but we regret to record that in many cases the branches made or accepted for the shipment stockings which were greatly above the limit of value placed, namely $2. In some cases money was expended for such stockings as high as $5. We feel sure that if those who made the stockings would use their imagination enough to see what happens when men in adjacent beds receive stockings on Christmas morning so far differing in value they will see that in setting a $2.00 limit of value for stockings and in asking all branches to approximate to it, the society is doing what is in the best interests of the men who will receive their Christmas gifts.

The stockings will be made at the Women's Patriotic League headquarters, Y. M. C. A., and all school children, organizations or individuals who will contribute to the stockings with Christmas cheer for our wounded men, are urged to phone at once the number they will be responsible for, as all stockings must be shipped by the last week in September.

DON'T WANT MR. COLE AT SIMCOE

Board of Education Asks the Provincial Department to Discipline Him

JUMPED CONTRACT Other Simcoe News - Accident Claim Are Settled

(From Our Own Correspondent.) Simcoe, Sept. 7th.—At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night the general feeling prevailed that Mr. Cole would be better without a mathematical master who had contracted for a year and then considered his agreement "a mere scrap of paper," and the following resolution was passed unanimously.

That the secretary of this Board be and he is hereby authorized to report to the High School Inspector and to the Department of Education the refusal of High School teacher W. G. Cole to carry out his contract entered into with this Board, and for this purpose to forward to the proper authorities the contract and subsequent correspondence with respect thereto, to be dealt with pursuant to the High Schools Act in this behalf.

The penalty in Mr. Cole's case is the suspension or cancellation of his certificate. A case was cited during the discussion wherein a teacher was ordered to report within three days, but the year's service was quite unsatisfactory.

Blackboard Slate Coming. Chairman Marston of the building committee reported that the last slate had been found and had passed the customs officials at the line.

Principal McPherson reported an attendance of 540 on the opening day and the enrollment had increased to 574 on Friday. As yet none of the divisions are crowded. In two rooms the seating has been reversed to get proper lighting. The principal reported that the entire senior fourth class had passed H. S. Entrance, and 26 of them had taken honors.

Principal Christie reported the enrollment at the high school by forms, 1. 41; II. 24 III. 19; IV. 24; V. 8; Total 116 with many still out at summer resorts, the factory or the farm.

The Finance Committee passed on the following accounts: High School: R. Mead, painting base, $60.40; Advertising for teachers, $29.16; Sundry, $5.96.

Total $95.52 Public School: J. B. Jackson, coal, $121.00; West and Peachey, repairs, 46.68; Gas Company, 11.19; Insurance premiums, 25.04; Sundry, 19.19.

Total $222.92 Mr. Kelly introduced the question of carrying out the program of ward schools by calling for tenders for the North School, and prepared a motion to that effect. Mr. Marston refused to second the motion on the grounds that it would not be fair to ask contractors to go to the trouble and expense. He thought present prices prohibitive, and claiming that there was no certainty about ability to get material at any price. Then there was the difficulty of financing the proposition. Mr. Kelly tabored the question of cost, and thought an accommodation essential.

Mr. Murdoch thought the present accommodation sufficient for the time being. "The pupils are out of the market; it was a disgrace that they were ever put there. We lost $8000 through the refusal of the council to provide money for building in 1914.

Mr. Sutton admitted there was a little north end opinion favorable to building at once, but thought that most of the citizens there were informed as to conditions and were patient. Other members remarked that those up there who want us to go on with the school now, blocked the board when they were in the council.

Mr. Kelly promised to bring the matter up again. "We have the joists and the Roman stone, and the grounds and we need the accommodation."

Others fervently waiting till the town is able to put a complete 10 room school in the North Ward, and the addition to the south school in one contract and draw out from the old building and the factory noise entirely.

Belated Economy. Messrs. Marston and Sutton were responsible for a motion authorizing the school principals to purchase foolscap in bulk, at the Board's expense, for examination purposes. The pad system was condemned as excessively extravagant and the schools have heretofore provided ink only. There is some sentiment in favour of putting pen points on the supply list.

Scrapbooks and pencils were mentioned but there were expressions of fear of extravagance were this course followed.

It is quite possible that before many years the Simcoe Board may take up the question of providing texts for some of the excessive drain for supplementary texts in literature, geography and history.

The following members were present: Chairman, Monroe and Messrs. Marth, Marston, Burt, Kelly, Alkin, Edmonds, Sutton, Murdoch and Lawson.

BUSH UNABLE TO HOLD MITCH'S CUBS

Tyler Too Much for Red Sox in the Second Game of Series

CUBS GOT LEAD EARLY

Chicago Drove Over Three Runs in Second Inning and Won

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The Chicago Nationals put the world's series on a fifty-fifty basis to-day by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 1, in a good old-fashioned game of baseball.

Tyler, pitching for Chicago, was the hero of the contest; for he projected a steady stream of fast balls, coming to bat for Boston, was cheered as he came up. His wallop was the mightiest of the series thus far.

White man, who drove in yesterday's game, struck the wall in centre field. Strunk trotted home and the Chicago pitcher, who had counted the game won, halted on their way to the exits. Tyler, however, steadied and threw out McInnis at first. Scott was allowed to walk, and Puhuc came to bat for Boston.

He fouled a half a dozen good ones, but in the end struck out on a wide one; Schanz, who batted for Agnew, popped to Hullocher and the game was over.

Merkle started the scoring for Chicago by waiting for four bad ones. Thomas let it bound past him. This Pick hunted gently toward third and never got far, however, as Puhuc rallied heroically. The infield drew in and Mann was out. Scott to McInnis, Hullocher hardly having a chance to move off the third sack.

He tried to register on Paskert's grounder, but Scott threw away from ahead of him. Paskert was safe and Merkle singled, but a miss fire double stail failed igno by and the cloud cleared from the Boston sky.

Pick saved the day for Chicago in the eighth. Schanz, batting for Agnew, singled into the right field. Hooper singled into the right field. Schanz passed second, but Flack, throwing on a line with greatly accuracy, caught him feet away from the base. It was a disappointing out for Boston.

Despite warm and pleasant weather, the attendance was only a few hundred more than yesterday and the 20,040 persons present left many vacant seats.

MARKETS

The following comment on the market, situation as regards food-stuffs, appearing in Canadian Grocer this week:

Saltion is again of interest during the week, though this time interest centres in the United States. The Food Administrator there has wired the packers to hold their hands still, citizens to the order of the Government and make no deliveries to civilians. It is further intimated that when Government needs have been supplied, any surplus will be released for domestic trade.

Whether this presages similar action here in respect to the cheaper grades of salmon is not easily determined. At present it is understood the War Trade Board purchase includes only the best grades but should the authorities cannot be determined. The negotiations in Canada are being handled by the War Purchasing Commission—in the United States this last order was issued from the Food Administration Department.

It is intimated that new certificates and allocations of sugar are to be issued only to importers of sugar who brought in sugar supplies during the past season, thus establishing a trading basis. Others will have to secure supplies through wholesalers and dealers.

Montreal—Fewer changes have been made this week than for some time and the jobbers are awaiting definite prices on new pack canned goods, etc., for the ensuing season. These should be out any day now. The probability is the canned tomatoes will be available at a better figure than even promised a few weeks ago. Quebec province has produced a good yield this year, and there will be a good condition in this respect elsewhere.

The flour situation is one that promises to take on new interest in the immediate future. Millers are just awaiting the decision of the Food Controller on several points, and hope to be milling wheat here in a few weeks. Flour has gone up 2c. higher and some brands of fish cakes as well. There is not a great deal of movement in some lines but the trade is looking forward to a general revival of trading within a few weeks.

Toronto—Advances for the week include one manufacturer's line of confectionery, which has gone up 2c. per pound; their bon bon packages 5c. pound, and bar goods 5c. per box. Sugar restrictions have also extended to a few manufacturers, as well as when present stocks of some lines are exhausted, there will be nothing further offered, at least until the general revival has assumed less serious proportions.

Wholesalers are again emphasizing upon their salesmen that all bakeries, confectioners, hotels, restaurants, caterers and eating houses, as well as manufacturing plants and firms using sugar for commercial purposes must send out mail in sugar certificates to have requirements met thereon before delivery can be made. The regulation governing the use of eating houses of all kinds is now effective, viz., 2 pounds for each 90 meals.

Another line of dried fruits has been added to the list of those which the government will be going in the United States. This is choice apricots, it being understood that the Government has commandeered the entire crop of this grade. This means that the Government requirements now embrace prunes, peaches and apricots. When their needs have been fully met on these lines, the balance left for civilian use is not likely to be any too heavy, and Canada's allotment will probably run pretty small. There is some hope expressed that permits to import Malaga raisins in limited quantities may be granted.

At the present time liberts are looking upon as the cheapest nut offered locally. A sharp advance at primary points occurred two or three weeks ago, and this has been followed by another increase amounting to about 40 per cent. Today's prices locally are well below present cost to import. The trade shows some interest in this line, and sales have been very fair.

CANAL DUNORD HELD IN STRONG FORCE

Enemy Has Machine Gun Posts at Every Favored Locality

CANADIANS IN FIGHT

By Courier Leased Wire.

With the Canadian Forces, Sept. 6.—(By J. F. B. Lyessy, Canadian Press correspondent)—Our patrols report the enemy is holding the Canal du Nord in front of us in strong force. He has very strong machine gun posts in the wood of Oenancy, on the border of the Seneze River valley and north of this valley he holds strong ground.

He holds the villages and woods fronting across the Canal du Nord, which is here in some parts, fifty yards across. The enemy has blown up the locks and nearly every bridge. The British troops have crossed the canal further south. Meantime the Canadian Corps is having a well earned rest. Some of its units suffered heavily from enemy machine gun fire.

Nothing in the desperate infantry battle of last Monday was more remarkable than to see the enemy's troops streaming away eastward while down through these beaten masses, his picked troops and machine gunners, prepared to sell their lives dearly. The extent and significance of that great victory when the Canadian Corps stormed the famous Quent-Drocourt switch, hitherto regarded as impregnable, may be best judged by the fact that the Canadians and British fighting in this sector, overwhelmed on that day the elements of no fewer than eleven enemy divisions, including picked troops and divisions brought in fresh from reserve. These elements have been all positively identified by prisoners taken from them and they may be recapitulated in detail with profit.

The battle divided itself materially into two topographical sectors, north and south of the Arras-Cambrai road. Chronologically it was regulated into three stages by the program prepared beforehand by the corps commander and his staff. This program, despite heavy losses, was carried out to the letter and that accomplishment in itself rendered unnecessary further reference to the wonderful spirit of the troops engaged. Each unit was imbued with the fixed idea that it must be on its objective at the dot and it was this spirit that wrung victory from the masses and desperately fighting enemy ranks. North of the road our divisions engaged encountered in the first stage, namely from the five o'clock kick off the Fourth Brécats division, including the 214th, 222nd and the 26th regiments, all the battalions of these being identified as follows:

Passing on to the second stage, it encountered the 15th and 21st regiments of the second guards reserve division, all these battalions being identified. In the third stage we overwhelmed all the battalions of the first and second guards reserve regiments belonging to the first guards reserve division. In addition to this, there were encountered and beaten on this front the first and third grenadiers and the 1st division and 43rd regiment of the same division. South of the Cambrai road, the task was no light one. In the first stage our troops disposed of the enemy's sixteenth division, including all the battalions of the 26th, 68th, and 29th regiments, as well as the 103rd regiment, some attention also being given to the 58th division. In the second stage, they defeated and passed over the enemy's third reserve divisions, including all the battalions of the 24th fusilier regiment and the 49th reserve regiment, and all but two battalions of the second grenadier regiment. Advancing after a halt to re-organize for the third and final stage, the units engaged overthrew the enemy's One Hundred and Eleventh division, consisting of all the battalions of the 164th and 73rd regiments, as well as all but one of the battalions of the 76th regiment. In addition to these, three divisions of our troops south of the Cambrai road withstood and defeated counter attacks by various enemy elements identified from prisoners captured as follows:

Fifty-first Regiment, 167th regiment, 70th cavalry division, consisting of the 26th dragoons and 4th and 15th Fluffs and the 4th Jaegers. Allowing for the weakening of the enemy divisions, the force opposed was still about four times that of the Canadian troops actually thrown into the assault. The enemy was entrenched on chosen ground among fortifications whose construction dates back to the battle of the Marne and which year by year have been improved and strengthened, bringing the map to the latest developments of defensive warfare.

SONS OF SCOTLAND PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD MEMBERS

Regret Passing of Late Mr. J. B. Wilson And Late W. H. McKay

The regular meeting of Camp Scotia, S.O.S., was held on Thursday evening. Previous to taking up general business, Chief A. M. Duncan and other members paid a fitting tribute to the memory of our late past chief, J. B. Wilson, who passed away last week. For many years he had been continuously in office, having served several years as Chief, and as acting Chief this year owing to the indifferent health of Chief Duncan. During these years he has fully proved his sterling worth, and ability to direct and guide the affairs of the Camp. His strong personality and tireless interest has been a dominating factor in the progress and development of the Camp. As a member for many years of the Grand Camp S.O.S., he had a most intimate knowledge of the work of the society, and was ever active in support of all progressive measures tending to the welfare of the society. In all circles, his sudden death leaves a blank hard to fill, and members of Camp Scotia extend their sincere sympathy with his wife and family in their irreparable loss. The Camp also mourns the loss of Bro. Wm. H. McKay, Darling St., who passed away this week. Owing to falling health and advancing years, he has for many years been unable to take any active part in the work of the Camp. A member of long standing, Bro. McKay was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and news of his death was received with deep regret. To his wife and friends the most sincere sympathy of the Camp is extended in their sad loss.

NEW G.T.R. DIRECTOR KNOWN IN CANADA

Montreal, Sept. 7.—A cable message received here from London announces that Lord Southborough has been elected a director of the Grand Trunk Railway Company in place of the late Frederick Firebrace. Lord Southborough has been a prominent figure in public life for many years, is an acknowledged authority on railroad problems and is widely known in Canada and the United States. The new director, who was recently elevated to the peerage in recognition of his services to the Empire, is better known as Sir Francis Hopwood. He began his public career in London, where he was Secretary to the Board of Trade, relinquishing that post to become Under Secretary of State for Colonies. He was employed on several occasions by the Imperial Government on missions to Canada, Newfoundland and the United States, and founded the Hospital and Medical Service for the Canadian and Newfoundland fishermen. He was chosen as the British delegate to the International Railway Congress in London and in Paris, and was a member of the Royal Commission on London Traffic, on Shipping Rings, on Canals and on Electoral Reform, and a member of the Commission to South Africa to advise on the constitution for the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies. Lord Southborough was also on the staff of the present King on his visit to Canada in 1906, and on the staff of the Duke of Connaught to open the Union Parliament in South Africa in 1910. He has been a Civil Lord of the Admiralty since 1917, is a Privy Councillor and is a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath, the Order of St. Michael and St. George and of the Royal Victorian Order.

KILLED BY ACCIDENT. VERDICT

No Responsibility Attached in the Death of Clarence Curley INQUEST LAST NIGHT

A verdict of accidental death was brought in at the inquest last night into the death of Clarence Curley, who died of injuries sustained when his car was struck by an automobile. Coroner Dr. Hicks was in charge. Mr. J. A. Ogilvie was the first witness called. On the evening of Tuesday last while he was travelling eastward along Colborne street at about ten miles per hour, just after he had passed the G.T.R. tracks, his car had struck an obstruction and he immediately stopped. He got out and found the boy lying across the road about fifteen feet behind the car, in an unconscious condition. The witness did not see the boy before he struck him and at first thought he had had a punctured tire. Dr. Wiley was immediately summoned. Dr. Wiley was then called to the box. He had been called from his office at about 10.30 on Tuesday night. When he arrived the boy had been carried into an apartment above one of the stores nearby. He made a hasty examination and ordered the boy's removal to the hospital in the ambulance. The witness had been in attendance until the death of the boy at 12.45 the next day. All the injuries were in the head and death was due to concussion of the brain. Mr. Thos. Brown, the next witness, while in a car travelling west on Colborne street, had first seen the boy crossing in front of the car turning from Clarence street on to Colborne street. The boy turned off Clarence street. In a circle and cut right into the side of Mr. Ogilvie's car. Witness thought that the blowing of the horn in the car in which the witness was had attracted the boy's attention. He did not believe Mr. Ogilvie to be in any way responsible. Mr. Gibson, the driver of the car in which Mr. Brown was riding, corroborated the statement of Mr. Brown in every detail. Mr. Thos. Kelly, who was passing at the time of the accident, was the next witness. He had not seen the accident, but had rushed over when he heard the noise and had picked the boy up, unconscious, and carried him to the hospital. As far as he could see the affair was an accident. The jury then retired and after ten minutes deliberation brought in a verdict of accidental death, completely exonerating Mr. Ogilvie from any blame. They recommended that lights be placed at that corner. The records of McGill observatory showed that almost two inches fell from 3.55 a.m. till 8 p.m. last night.

RETREAT BECOMES ALMOST A ROUT

So Rapid Has the Progress of the Allied Forces Increased

New York, Sept. 5.—The Associated Press to-night issues the following: The French and Americans are fast driving the Germans out of their positions in Southern Picardy and in the sector between the Vesle and Aisne Rivers. So rapid has been the progress of the allies—the French in Picardy and the Americans and French from Soissons eastward towards Rheims—that the retirement of the enemy has the appearance at present of the beginning almost of a rout. Meanwhile Field Marshal Haig in the north from Peronne to Ypres, has been almost as busily engaged with his troops in carrying out successful manoeuvres which are only in a slightly less degree of rapidity forcing the Germans everywhere to give ground. Haig's men again have made the Germans taste bitter defeat on numerous sectors, and the end of the punishment for them seems not yet in sight. In the last fighting in the region extending from the old Ypres sector to Soissons the French have crossed the Somme Canal at several points and are standing only a short distance from the important junction of Ham with its roads leading to St. Quentin and La Fere. On the south they have made further crossings of the Ailette River and are fast skirting the great wooded region which acts as a barrier to direct attack on Laon, the Chemin-des-Dames and the western Aisne defences of the enemy. Seemingly at the present rate of progress this barrier shortly will have been overcome and, indeed, the entire salient north-west of Soissons obliterated. Already the French south of Fresnes, on the fringe of the high forest of Coucy, have penetrated the old Hindenburg line.

All behind the lines north-east of Noyon the great confederations are to be seen, particularly around Jusy and La Fere, which apparently is an indication that it is the intention of the Germans to fall back as fast as they can to the old German lines running south-eastward from St. Quentin. Between the Vesle and Aisne, the French and Americans are hard after the Germans between the Vesle River and the Aisne, and for more than eight miles, extending from Conde to Vill-Arcy, they have driven the enemy across the Aisne and are standing on the southern bank of the river. Eastward toward Rheims, almost up to the gates of the cathedral city, the German line is falling back northward. At the anchor point of the line in the vicinity of Rheims, however, the Germans seem to be holding, evidently realizing that a retrograde movement here would necessitate a straightening of their line perhaps as far eastward as Verdun. In the initial manoeuvre to the retreat along the Vesle front the Americans and French captured both Bazoches and Pismotte, from both of which they moved six miles northward to Vill-Arcy, while from Pismotte they have penetrated more than three miles northward to Barbonval, which is only a little more than a mile south of the Aisne. Inlanders the British have taken the town of Plogastert and positions south-west of Messines and north-east of Wulverghem, and repulsed strong counter-attacks launched against them. South-west of Arras all the way down the line to south of the Somme the Americans, French, captured both Bazoches and Pismotte, from U.S. LEADS IN SHIP PRODUCTION By Courier Lensed Wire Washington, Sept. 7.—America is now leading the world in ship production. Comparison of figures on deliveries announced by the shipping board with unofficial figures on the output of yards in the United Kingdom, show that plants in this country have delivered 1,636,403 deadweight tons since January 1, while British yards have turned out 1,345,826 tons. American yards began to take the lead over those in the United Kingdom two months ago. In August, yards in the United States increased their lead, delivering 327,660 deadweight tons, compared with 137,019 deadweight tons for the United Kingdom.

It's Nature's First Food

But You Should be Sure You Get the Best and Safest Milk Possible

NATURE first gives the infant milk. Then why give up milk? Why defy Nature? Why try to get along with only a little of Nature's richest, most nourishing, most economical food?

When sickness comes, what do you do? You get back to Nature—back to the concentrated nourishment of milk. For grippe and cold you take hot milk. To keep up the strength of the weakened patient you give milk—lots of it.

Why not make Nature's first food a more prominent part of your daily fare? Drink it instead of tea or coffee. Make more dishes that contain milk. Health, loyalty, economy, demand it.

But make sure of three things— That you get safe milk, milk that is scientifically protected by pasteurization in a modern sanitary dairy with up-to-date equipment. That you get your milk in bottles—the clean, modern way—and in bottles that are sterilized each time before use. That you get the best value for your money—whole milk—milk that comes from the finest farms, that is richest in cream.

Stop our driver and get Tickets—16 for $1.00. Better still—Phone 142 and make sure he will call.

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

Organizer E. Ingles of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has succeeded in forming a local of his organization in St. Thomas. It has started out with a good list of charter members, and is expected to be one of the live wires of the Railroad City.

The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission in the Niagara district is now paying the minimum wage rate of 55 cents an hour to carpenters and woodworkers, and recently made application to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to supply them with men.

Nearly all the building trades are now organized in Peterboro or in course of formation, including the Builders' Laborers, and steps are now being taken to form a building trades council to secure closer and more effective co-operation among the building crafts.

Nicol Thompson, fuel administrator for British Columbia, has issued a new schedule of prices to mine operators as the result of the recent investigation. The fuel controller sanctions an advance of 75 cents per ton of two thousand pounds to the Canadian Collieries Co., Ltd., the Pacific Coast Mines, Ltd., and the Nanosco Collieries, Ltd.

A new federal labor union, composed of flour and cereal mill workers, was recently organized in Port Colborne by Organizer John A. Fleit of the A. F. of L., and has received its charter from that organization. The new local has a good set of officers and is expected to make quite an accession of strength to the labor movement in that district.

H. J. Halford, of Hamilton, executive board member of the Journey-men Barbers' International Union, is at the present time on a trip to the Maritime Provinces, where he has gone in the interests of his organization. Harry is one of the stalwarts, not only of his own organization, but of the labor movement in the Ambitious City, in fact, he is always on the job.

St. Catharines is now solidly organized under the banner of the I. A. M., and as a direct result the nine hour day and straight union conditions have been established in most of the shops, with a minimum wage of 60 cents an hour for machinists and 65 cents an hour for tool-makers, though many craftsmen are being paid in excess of that sum. The Saturday half-holiday is being enforced and at the present time non-union machinists are about as scarce as hen's teeth. St. Kitts is now a-ways on the job.

Thirty per cent. of the members of Federal Labor Union No. 15345, of Sydney Mines, N.S., which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are serving overseas with the Canadian expeditionary forces, and at a recent baseball clash between the Sydney Mines Athletics, and the Hawks of Dominion, which was won 16 to 5 by the former, a collection which netted a handsome sum of money was taken up, the proceeds being donated to the Great War Veterans' Association to help build a memorial hall which it is proposed to build in honor of Canada's soldiers.

The International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and the Amalgamated Society of Engineers have been co-operating of late in thoroughly organizing the craft in Canada, and recently the members of the two organizations in Toronto held joint meetings during the strike. The result has been that a great deal of ground has been gained recently. In Toronto, after a majority of the employees had signed up with the union it was mutually agreed to submit the questions at issue to a board of investigation under the provisions of the Canadian Industrial Disputes Act.

The three branches of the Independent Labor Party in the County of Wentworth, Hamilton, East Mount Hamilton and Dundas are making ready for some real organization work this fall and winter and are all of them looking for larger accessions to the ranks. These are all mixed branches, being open for membership to men and women alike. They have carried on all summer and are only waiting for the cool weather to arrive to put on a number of social events and open meetings, which it is confidently expected will secure a large number of recruits for the cause of independent political action.

The long talk of and much-needed labor temple for Halifax got a boost at the last meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, when the temple committee was authorized to apply for an act of incorporation and also to secure an option on the McPartridge property at the corner of Government and Cornwell Streets. It is believed that this will make an ideal place for labor's headquarters and all that will be needed will be the financial support and enthusiasm of the trade unionists of Halifax. W. H. Harris is chairman of the committee and a representative from each union in city will be appointed to membership on the committee. Shares in the temple building will be sold at $10 a share.

The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in Cobalt propose to take action along the line of asking for amendments to the Provincial Workmen's Compensation Act. The members believe that the rates of compensation should be materially advanced especially as the cost of living has more than doubled since the present rates were adopted. The provincial union is providing for dependent widows and mothers with families to raise.

CABINET MINISTERS VISIT WASHINGTON
Confer With Secretary Lansing on Question of Weir at Long Sault

By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, Sept. 6.—In support of an appeal from the international boundary commission's decision granting permission to an American aluminum company to construct a submerged weir in the St. Lawrence River at Long Sault, Sir Joseph Pope, secretary for external affairs, has brought to the State Department two members of the Canadian Cabinet, Hon. A. L. Sifton, Canadian Minister of Customs and Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior.

The Canadian officials were closeted with Secretary Lansing for half an hour. They explained that the project because it infringed Canadian treaty rights in St. Lawrence. The American company contends that the treaty obligations should be waived for the present since the Entente Allies and America are in great need of aluminum, which it proposes to produce.

It is believed a compromise can be reached that will be satisfactory to both sides.

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE STORED WITH TREASURE

Queen Alexandra's Services Deposited There in a Great Stone Vault

The collection of treasures at Marlborough House which was the London residence of the late King Edward, in the way of gold and silver and works of art, is one of the most valuable in the world. And every article at Marlborough House is the personal possession of Queen Alexandra, with the exception of the famous Gobden tapestries, which belong to the nation, says an authority. These were accounted by King Edward as being among the most valuable works of art in the possession of the royal family and they were packed on this account specially by the Queen Alexandra.

The late J. Pierpont Morgan is said to have offered $250,000 for them in the late reign; but of course this offer was not made directly to King Edward.

Virtually all the gold and silver treasures in possession of the late King, which His Majesty bequeathed to Queen Alexandra, are stored away in a vast steel-lined room, on the ground floor of Marlborough House. Court jewelers and goldsmiths several years ago roughly fixed the value of the treasures at $10,000,000.

Guests of Queen Alexandra visiting Marlborough House for the first time are always shown this famous royal treasure room.

It is difficult to convey in words any idea of the wealth of treasure revealed by a sight of the vault. The walls are lined with immense glass, ebony-bound cases crammed with gold and silver treasures—huge Etruscan bottles, immense gold and silver drinking cups, shields of Oriental design, ornaments of every sort.

Cases of Treasures.
In one case there are twenty-four silver tea services, twenty dinner services and more than 1000 massive solid gold candlesticks. And this is one of the smallest cases. A large case in the center of the vault is filled with the various racing trophies won by the late King, and underneath the case at each side of it is a deep drawer, filled with all manner of gold ornaments, boxes, etc., that were given to the King by his various friends at home and abroad.

In one drawer there is a solid gold box, the sides of which are about a quarter of an inch thick. It is about a foot square and six inches in depth. On the outside of the cover are the letters "E. R." surmounted by a crown set in the rarest jewels. On the inside of the cover are carved the words, "From His Majesty's devoted and loyal subject, Alfred de Rothschild." This is but one of hundreds of such gifts that these drawers contain.

In one case is a small glass, silver-mounted salt caster. Intrinsically its value is probably not more than $5, but it is one of the objects among this wealth of treasure that Queen Alexandra particularly values. It was given to King Edward years ago by a close friend, and the late King always regarded this caster as a sort of mascot.

His Majesty had it sent up every morning on his breakfast tray, and even when he went to the house of a friend the mascot was among the articles always taken with the monarch. It appeared on his breakfast tray when it was sent up to his room on the very morning of the day he died, and the dying King said to the servant:

"I am glad you have not forgotten my mascot. I shall never see it again."
In the Green Room.
But the treasure vault contains only a part of the treasures at Marlborough House. In the green drawing room, given to their Majesty by the late Sir Richard Wallace, the man who bequeathed the Wallace Gallery to the nation. These chairs are said to be worth $10,000 apiece.

Under a glass case in another apartment is a fan of beaten gold, ornamented with a most delicate tracery work. It was despatched as a Christmas present to Queen Alexandra by an Indian Prince years ago. It was carried by a servant of the Prince. The first part of the servant's journey lay through a jungle, and here he was attacked and killed by a tiger. The case containing the fan afterward was found and sent back to the Prince, three years after it had been first sent. Once more it was despatched, and this time reached Marlborough House in safety.

One of the rooms in Marlborough House is furnished with all the furniture, ornaments and pictures that were in King Edward's writing room at Buckingham Palace.

Two objects of art in the green drawing room, especially prized by Queen Alexandra, are two genuine Tahitian statuettes, purchased in Paris for her by the late King during one of his early trips after they were married. In this room also is a pencil sketch of King Edward when Prince of Wales, done by an artist in a restaurant in Paris, at which His Majesty was dining, and a screen completely covered with photographs of the late King's personal friends.

The first photograph was pasted on it two years after the King's marriage and the last a year after his accession to the throne.

Buy Car Now, if You Want One

They Will Not be Obtainable When U. S. Order is Enforced

Some of the recent action of the United States War Industries Board that has decreed that manufacturing of passenger automobiles must, within a "reasonable time" convert their factories into 100 per cent. war work plants, has caused widespread interest among motor car men. The order states that the change must be made not later than January 1, 1919. Pending receipt by the board of sworn inventories of materials on hand on July 16 last, no materials will be permitted passenger car manufacturers.

The story, emanating from Washington, is said to have been a decided shock to automobile manufacturers in Detroit who had planned on a 50 per cent. curtailment for the coming year, but apparently had not anticipated a complete closing down of the passenger automobile industry.

Some dealers are of the opinion that the Canadian Government may take similar action, although many of the cars sold in this country are made on the other side and would automatically stop coming when the American Government makes its move. People who contemplate the purchase of cars are therefore advised to buy now when the machines are still available. As one motor car dealer said, there is no telling what may happen in the next six months.

"It should be distinctly understood," said one dealer, "that there is no shortage of gasoline. The fact that the use of pleasure cars has been curtailed in England is due to the fact that transportation facilities for carrying the gasoline to the old country are so limited, not that the supply of gasoline is short."

SAILORS OF THE SEA SAVED THE EMPIRE

Undaunted by Danger They "Carried On" Despite Terrible Loss

Service without adequate recompense. That is the tale of the toilers of the sea in these dangerous days of war. Though Hun U-boats and drifting mine beset him, threatening his path in the trade routes of the Atlantic, he still goes on, keener, braver, heart steeled for anything that may come.

The record of the men of the Mercantile Marine since the outbreak of hostilities is one that might well be proud of; the tragedy of it is that so many are called upon to immolate themselves on the altar of duty. There is one of silent service; service that only those of the bulldog breed will give. Rain or shine, fair weather or foul, weekday Sunday or holiday, they go forth boldly to a hazardous calling that offers little but the necessities of life for themselves and their dependents.

With a view to bringing home to the hearts and minds of the people of Ontario the unselfish service of the men of the Mercantile Marine, the Navy League of Canada has created "Sailors' Week" when contributions will be asked on behalf of the dependents, who are left desolate and who receive no Government aid.

They can look only to the generosity of the nation. They gave their loved ones to us. What will Canada give to them?

RECORD REVENUE BILL BEFORE HOUSE

American Congress Considers Measure to Raise Eight Billion Dollars

By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, Sept. 6.—The House today began consideration of the greatest revenue bill ever presented to the American Congress. Three months in the making and carrying a total of $8,000,000,000, it was offered by Chairman Kitchin of the Ways and Means Committee as providing the speediest method of providing funds for successful prosecution of the war.

Mr. Kitchin expected to take the entire day in explaining the various features of the bill and in answering questions and objections of members some of whom in both parties, reserved the right to vote independently after giving it a favorable report in committee.

The Senate finance committee at the same time began hearings. By limiting debate, House leaders hoped to vote on the bill by the end of next week, although the opinion was expressed by many that as the Senate might attempt to re-write it, it would not become a law until after the November elections.

VERITY TEAM CHAMPIONS OF CITY LEAGUE

Found Motor Trucks Easy Picking in Final Game Last Night

BUNCHED THEIR HITS

And Won By 9-4 Score—Lead League by Half a Game

John Kerr's aggregation of Plowmakers, better known as the Verity team, romped off with the City League championship last night, defeating the Motor Trucks 9-4 in the final and deciding game of the season.

A tight finish had been looked for, but the muniton team showed another of the sudden reversals of form for which they are noted, and went all to pieces before the game had lasted many minutes, with the result that they proved easy picking for the Verity outfit, who bunched hits off both Whittaker and Anderson.

Harwood, twirling for the winners, was touched even more freely than the opposing pitchers, but received better support, and kept the bingles more widely scattered.

The Plowmakers led off with three runs in the second. Anderson drove the first ball pitched between Whittaker's legs and straight over second for a single, taking second on a passed ball a moment later. Watt walked. Harwood was out at first, but both base runners scored when Bradshaw hit safely. McAuley and Crandall walked, filling the bases. Jeffries fumbled Davidson's bonder and Bradshaw scored, but McAuley was caught when he collided with Baird at the plate. Sears was out at first.

The Motor Trucks scored one each in the third and fourth frames, but Verity's came back and overwhelmed them in the fifth, adding five tallies to their score.

Sears was an easy out at first. Moss walked, and Anderson hit safely to left field. Watt was safe when a vain attempt was made to catch Moss at the plate. Anderson scored on Harwood's single, and Watt crossed the plate when Bradshaw lifted a Texas leaguer. McDonald's error gave McAuley a life and allowed Harwood to score. Crandall walked. Davidson lifted an easy foul to McDonald. Sears came to bat for the second time in the inning. Whittaker uncorked a wild pitch, and all the runners advanced. Sears hit a grounder, and McAuley, who was caught at the plate.

The Motor Trucks gave signs of life in the seventh, and drove two runs across, but the game ended 9-4. The score:

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

STOP LYING MISNOMER "PLEASURE CAR" NOW

A Great Modern Utility, the Passenger Car Has Been Unjustly Stigmatized and Singled Out as a Luxury, Because Christened with Misnomer

By H. B. Lewis of the Packard Motor Car Company. What is a pleasure car? Presumably a car that is used primarily for pleasure. No vehicle can be a pleasure vehicle per se for vehicles are built for transportation and transportation is not in itself a thing of pleasure, but the process of carrying people or commodities from one place to another.

A car used daily for the pleasure of some of its owners, but we do not call it a "pleasure car" because it is used chiefly for pleasure. If it were used chiefly for pleasure we should have a right to do so, but the total of its passengers who ride for pleasure as against the total tonnage of passengers and freight combined is such a trifling percentage that we scarcely consider them at all in estimating its usefulness.

The telephone is useful, it promotes pleasure as any other institution in the world, but who calls it a "pleasure telephone"? The horse is used for many purposes, but we do not call it a "pleasure horse" because he has become, he is not, the chief means of transport for the whole of his species.

After the satisfaction of one's appetite the next step is to satisfy the physical need, and many of the pleasures of life are derived from the satisfaction of this need. The automobile is a machine that is used for many purposes, but we do not call it a "pleasure car" because it is used chiefly for pleasure.

The utilities of this world are not marketed by proclaiming them "smartest," "most beautiful," "live-liest," "unprecedented," "unparalleled," "the last word," "the only car for people of discrimination," "the most amazing value ever offered," by using every irresponsible superlative in the language in one's printed message and by overestimating the value of the car in the eyes of the public. A combination of errors all too common heretofore in motor car salesmanship, and one ideally calculated to create in the public mind a lack of respect for the passenger motor car as an institution by discrediting the sincerity of the industry behind it.

Utilities are presented as such and sold on their utility. The needs of persons who require their particular services are served. The telephone ad, shows the night call to a burglar baited by the tractor is pictured turning furrows in a fifty-acre corn field, and so it goes right down the list. Motor cars are actually doing more good, has restored to caprice, its pictorial effects have suggested nothing but the trivial, its verbiage has been one long flow of hyperbole—with the result that people have not discovered from direct experience how much more substantial it is as an institution than the thing its producers have been picturing classily associated with gowags and gimcracks.

Naturally in the first national frenzy to give war the right of way, the motor car was so widely used and yet so rationally sponsored is one of the first to be singled out by theorists as a fitting sacrifice to the cause. Fortunately, the disengagement of a good thing from its long run to its advantage, the times are too serious for hasty action on propaganda of any sort, and the close security the motor car has received under this pressure has actually done more to establish its indispensability than all the friendly eulogies of its advertisers for the past ten years. It has led to such significant pronouncements as that of the U. S. food administrator in his exemption granted garages under the Monday closing order on the ground that automobiles are public utilities, and that of the United States Farm Loan Board in listing passenger motor cars as necessary farm equipment for the purchase of which the farmer may borrow money under the board's plan for aiding agriculture, and in spite of every argument adduced to discourage the buying of automobiles their sales are so well sustained that a shortage is among the possibilities of the late summer season.

But no thanks to us, except for having built better than we talked. Our business vision has fallen far short of our creative genius, and the rage in their hearts when public men chatter absurdities about the "pleasure car" is merely the grief of our own absurdity come home to roost. Among the many reflexes of this mighty war is certainly destined to be a new type of motor carriage salesmanship. In the long run whatever it may have cost the industry to learn the consequences of triviality will be well worth the sacrifice. Better the lesson should come at a time when conditions were demonstrating the indispensability of the motor car without any help from us than in a day when time and labor saving machinery of every kind was not at its highest premium.

The gods have done us a great kindness in pointing out our errors so conscientiously. Let us profit by their mercy.

FOE DESTROYING BRIDGES BETWEEN CHAUNY AND FERRE

Is Flooding Country as He Makes Preparations to Retreat

ALLIES ADVANCING

With the French Army in the field, Sept. 5, (by the Associated Press)—The Germans tonight are destroying bridges and flooding the country between Chauny and La Fere which is a good indication that they do not expect to remain much longer in advance of their old line, which runs from La Fere to Barisis. Today their retreat continued in daylight around the Ailette river, and their columns suffered very heavy losses from shell fire.

Between the Ailette and the Aisne, French troops advanced to a line from Mervilly to Guiney and Chivres, while to the north they occupied Coucy-le-Chateau and Coucy-le-Vieille, approaching their old line of 1917 around the edge of the hilly wood region of St. Gobain. There they will encounter the formidable defence works the Germans prepared as part of the old Hindenburg position, and which, perhaps, have been further strengthened since beginning their retreat.

BRITISH OFFICIAL London, Sept. 6.—The test of the War Office statement reads: "Yesterday our troops forced crossings of the Somme south of Peronne in the face of vigorous resistance of the enemy's rearguard on the east bank of the river. The villages of St. Crist-Briest and Le Meul-Brunet were captured, with a number of prisoners, and our troops, pressing forward stride the Ailette-St. Quentin road, have reached Athies and Monsen-Chaussee.

Doing and have made important progress on the high ground between Peronne and Nurlin. We hold Busset and are close to Templeux-le-Fosse, Nurlin and Esuancourt. Sharp fighting took place last night on this line.

"On the Lys front ground was gained by our troops during the night west of La Bassée and an attack upon one of our new positions in this locality was successfully beaten.

"As the result of their continued progress yesterday and last night our troops are established in portions of the old German front line east of Neuve Chapelle and the old British front line in the Fauquemont sector is again held by our troops. By successful attack carried out yesterday evening, British troops advanced on the line northwest of Ammentiers, capturing several prisoners.

THE FOE GIVES WAY. "Along the whole Ailette front the enemy, exhausted by hard fighting since the 20th, began about three o'clock this afternoon to give way before our troops. Pursuing the German rearguard our troops made rapid progress. North of the Ailette, Pierremont and Autreville are in our possession, as well as a greater part of the lower Forest of Coucy. Further east we occupied Folembray, Coucy-le-Chateau and Coucy-le-Vieille. We have advanced to within a kilometre south of Fresnes.

"On the right our front passes east of Landricourt. "South of the Ailette we hold the line of Neuville-sur-Margival, Tregny and the western slopes of Fort Conde and Vieil-Arcy. To the west were retaken in the course of the day on this part of the front.

"North of the Vesle our line extends along the Aisne between Conde and Vieil-Arcy. To the east our line passes north of Dhuizel to Barbonval and the plateau of Beaugregard Farm.

QUICK ADVANCE ON SOMME. "On the north bank of the Somme we hold Fairy and Offroy. To

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO WRECK INTERNED SHIPS

Crews of German Vessels in Chilean Harbors Attempted Campaign of Sabotage—Indignation Sweeps Country

By Courier Leased Wire Santiago, Chile, Sept. 6.—The attempt of German crews to destroy their interned ships in Chilean harbors on Tuesday night, has caused a sensation and a wave of indignation has swept through Chile. The plot to destroy the ships apparently was carefully planned, as crews in three different ports acted simultaneously, using dynamite to destroy the machinery of their vessels.

The south we have brought our lines nearer to the road to Ham, along which our front extends from Flessis Pate d'Oie to Berlandcourt. "Southeast of that village our front passes through the outskirts of Guivry and Gailloeu-Crepigny, north of Marest-Dancourt and the southern outskirts of Abbecourt. At certain points our advance covered a distance of six kilometres.

In the region north of the Ailette, the French reached the outskirts of Sinceny and the plateau north of Landricourt and south of the Ailette the advancing forces are along the Vauxallion ravine. The American troops advancing from the Vesle have captured the town of Glemes, southeast of Revillon, and have advanced their lines as far as the outskirts of Villers-Prayeres, on the Aisne.

The text of the statement reads: "In the course of the night we continued to advance on the entire front between the Somme and the Vesle. Our troops continued to cross Coucy and further south pushed forward at several points as far as the road from Ham to Peronne. South of Ham the French occupied Le Plessis-Patte-D'Oie and Berlandcourt, and passed beyond Guivry, Gailloeu-Crepigny and Abbecourt.

"North of the Ailette we attained the approach to Sinceny and the plateau north of Landricourt. South of the Ailette we are along Vauxallion ravine. "On the Vesle front the Americans carried their lines as far as the outskirts of Villers-Prayeres and occupied Glemes."

FOUR ARMIES ADVANCING. By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 6.—General De Beney's army is steadily advancing in the direction of Ham, which has been completely removed from the German menace from Noyon. General Mangin's troops are now in sight of Laon, having reached positions within ten miles of that city. General Berthelot's soldiers have reached the Aisne on a large front. General Humbert's army is making steady progress and has succeeded in completely removing the German menace from Noyon.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH"
The climax in scenic realism is reached in "The Garden of Allah," which comes to the Grand Opera House on its sixth annual tour, commencing Saturday Sept. 14th, for a limited engagement of two performances, matinee and night. The story of the desert, the region of strange colors and sounds and smells, only by means of the mechanical ingenuity. At the rise of the curtain on the opening tableau, the white desert and the caravan of many Arabs, camels, horses, donkeys, goats, etc., crossing it and the sun just rising, the audience is transported to that strange land. Robert Hichens, the author, visited, one is not allowed to leave the region of strange colors and sounds and smells until the curtain has fallen at the close of the play. This atmosphere is maintained in the nine surprising beautiful scenes.

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH"
That massive, irresistibly gripping, fascinating, romantic drama of the mystery of the desert, "The Garden of Allah," which, for a limited engagement of two performances, matinee and night, will come to the Grand Opera House, on its sixth annual tour, starting next Saturday, Sept. 14, is profoundly impressive and its scenes of beauty marvelous achievements in modern stagecraft.

man marries her. Then together they go into the desert where they find happiness for a time.
But the young monk is discovered by a man who persuades him to confess to his bride. The story ends with the monk's return to his monastery—in a strikingly dramatic scene, in which the bride says farewell forever to the monk as the gates close upon all that she loves best on earth.
Prominent in the cast are Edna Archer Crawford, Paul Gilmore, Walter Edwin, Edward Everett, Pearl Gray, John Ridgeway and Leo de Valsey.

The dramatization is by Robert Hichens, who wrote the now famous novel, assisted by Mary Anderson de Navarro.

cracy for "The Belgian" comes upon us like a storm that is mighty and blows us powerfully into a vivid realization of what this conflict has to overcome.
Practically an all-star cast has been used by Mr. O'Leary, headed by the noted stage star, Walker Whitehead. Mr. Whitehead gives a fine impersonation in the role of Victor Moreau. Valentine Grant, the star in "Methers of Men," has achieved another personal triumph in this production. He deserves much of the credit. Anders Randolph as Berger, a German spy, gives a magnificent characterization. Sally Cruce as a woman spy does a fine bit of work. The rest of the splendid cast includes Arda La Croix, Georgia Majeroni, Henri Leone and Blanche Davenport. In direction and settings "The Belgian" presents all that could be desired.

"LEST WE FORGET"
Rita Jolivet, the star of Metro's great spectacle of international war events "Lest We Forget," is a survivor of the ill-fated Trans-Atlantic liner Lusitania, the sinking of which forms one of the most spectacular scenes in this wonderful picture, which will be seen at the Rex the last half of next week.
Miss Jolivet, it will be recalled, was the young woman to whom the late Charles Frohman spoke his immortal words—"Why fear death? It is life's most beautiful adventure." For a long time after the disaster which proved to be the first step in a series of atrocities which brought on US war with Germany, Miss Jolivet was unable even to think about it. However, she came to the conclusion that the events immediately concerned with the sinking of the great leviathan were of such vast moment that they should be recorded in permanent form. So she and her husband Count J. C. Cippole, arranged to make a picture which would be not mere history, but live, an interesting story as well. Miss Jolivet is one of the few persons available who could describe in a practical manner the scenes on the Lusitania, the scene was worked out largely from her instructions.

Miss Jolivet's impulse toward the stage came early in life. The great Coquelin told her when she was only four years old, that she was born to be an actress, and she has tried to justify his prediction with gratifying results. Her wonderful work in Metro's "Lest We Forget" is her greatest triumph.

"THE MARRIAGE QUESTION"
In the Marriage Question, patrons of the Grand Opera House opening attraction, Tuesday, Sept. 10th, will see a new play by Ralph T. Kettering and Lorin Howard, authors of "A Daughter of the Sun." Its aim is to reveal mistakes made by many who embark on the matrimonial sea and it deals with the question in a frank manner. An excellent moral calculated to guide those who contemplate matrimony is advanced, and the entertainment not only entertains but instructs.
The play is rich in bright and telling lines, and while they abound in comedy, beneath them there is a deep significance. The plot is well

Music in the Home

HOW MUSIC IS USED IN LONDON SCHOOLS DURING AIR RAIDS
A Canadian during air raids in England has sent home an account of how the school teachers in London utilize singing to calm the minds and steady the nerves of the pupils when the terrible air raids are on. These particulars are gleaned from an article in the London School Music Review which at once testifies that music is an absolute necessity as obvious and announces that wise teachers are using music in the "merry" times to an increasing extent. "Like most London schools," he says, "our rooms are round, the hall opening into a corridor. All classroom doors have to be kept closed because of the only one piano available and so the songs chosen must be those that every pupil can sing.

In our school recesses, first there are the hymns, seven or eight of them. Next come the national songs prepared for Empire Day. Nearly every child in London has learned these so that if one moves from one school to another he is able to join in the singing. Other tunes most of them knew were twenty old tunes such as "John Peel," "Hunting we will go," "Here's a health unto His Majesty," "A Man's Man," "The Minstrel Boy," with of course "Rule Britannia," "Men of Harlech," and the National Anthem.

On the day the warning came—just as the children were assembling for school. Children were soon in their proper places—some left from after the signal, as they preferred, to come to school to sing it through. Teachers stood at the door of their classroom where they could see the conductor, and one or two of the best violins stood behind the pianoforte to give a hand. The head, conducted from the floor of the hall, and walked round from class to class, occasionally, with "Begone, Dull Care," and went on with other national songs. "Imperfectly known, for we judged that if trouble was coming it would be later, and we reserved our best-known songs to draw gun-fire. The children joined in with the only visible sign of excitement being the way in which they tried to about the loud parts.
After going through Marching through Georgia, the children became slightly hilarious again and as no gun-fire was heard, the Head stopped the singing and asked if they were nervous. "No," they shouted, so we cancelled a carousal song, "Three islers," which was sung with good expression. "That was good," said the Head, "here's a hard one. Let us see if we can sing. But the Lord is Merciful of His Own." It was a great triumph for music and showed the children had themselves entirely under control.

"This would likely have been followed by 'Mino Eyes' Have Seen the Glory of the Coming Lord,' and the folk-song 'Hark the Robbers Coming Through' but at the end of forty-five minutes the welcome 'All-deller fallen on the floor and every tramped out into the hall and this time we certainly sang a hymn 'O God, Our Help in Ages Past' followed of course by 'God Save the King' and three cheers for our brave air-men."

THE LESSON OF A PICTURE
Silent things often speak the most loudly. A good example of this is that great painting—a war picture and yet not a war picture—of Matsuda known as "An Interlude." It brings to mind a scene in a partially demolished French chateau. The plaster on the walls is smashed, the pictures broken, a profusion of shrapnel fallen on the floor and everywhere the work of the destroying Hun is in evidence.
But these evidences of a bombardment fade into the background for the children in rooms away from the windows towards the central hall. All the books needed by the pianist were to be kept in one place and company in a room specially detailed for the service.
One day the warning came—just as the children were assembling for school. knit and the story is credited with having the "punch" that tells. "A young girl of moderate means marries a man of wealth ostensibly for his money. The match is brought about through the machinations of the girl's aunt who considers sentiment a secondary condition in all matters where wealth is concerned. Suddenly elevated to social position the girl's head is turned. In the giddy whirl of society she is attracted by many men. Despite this she begins to love her husband. The crash comes when the husband finds her just arrived from a reception with another man at three o'clock one morning. A sensational scene follows. Jealous rage possesses the husband at first, and he is about to kill the man he thinks has ruined his life. His wife is distracted, and she tells him of the gradual change that has come over her, and how she has come to see things his way. She is so upset by her husband's action, however, that she leaves him. He proves his love for her by turning over the remainder of his fortune to her in an indirect manner. The wife starts an ideal dairy and she strikes a snag in the milk trust which tries to force her out of business. The husband, who has been trying to find his wife finally locates her and they are reconciled by the baby.

"HER BLIGHTED LOVE"
"Her Blighted Love," a Mack Sennett comedy, will be seen at the Brant the first of next week.

awards her $20,000 damages, and announces that Charles must pay that sum for wed Alice. Charles decides to marry the heiress he has just found and to pay the money out of the wed she agrees to supply him with.

"THE STORY"
On the day Alice lost her fortune, her dream of love has a serious setback. Charles, her sweetheart, although a careless one, happens upon a beautiful heiress while bathing in the surf, and he instantly finds Alice to be a trifle too passé to suit his artistic taste, and when he learns that she hangs her hair over the back of her chair at night, he calls the engagement off.
But Alice is made of sterner stuff and she carries her love troubles into court in the form of an action against Charles for damages for breach of promise of marriage. The Judge awards her $20,000 damages, and announces that Charles must pay that sum for wed Alice. Charles decides to marry the heiress he has just found and to pay the money out of the wed she agrees to supply him with.

He seeks to elope with the heiress and stall off Alice at the same time. This involves him in serious difficulties. He hires a lawyer to fix matters with the heiress and the ungrateful rascal himself elopes with the heiress. Meanwhile, Charles narrowly escapes wedding Alice who disguises herself as the heiress. His feelings are hurt because he has lost a chance to marry Alice off to the lawyer who for a time believed her to be the heiress.
The hand plot comes when Charles takes his "Christian" charity upon a supposedly colored couple whom he assists to elope only to discover when the lampblack is washed off that the supposed negroes are the heiress and the lawyer.

"THE LIE"
Elsie Ferguson, the famous actress appearing in Arcraft pictures, chief among which were the phenomenally successful "Barbary Sheep," "The Rise of Jennie Cushing," "The Song of Songs" and "Rose of the World" will be seen in her latest Arcraft picture, "The Lie," at the Brant theatre, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Few pictures in which Miss Ferguson has thus far appeared surpass "The Lie" in point of human interest and distinct heart appeal. The theme embodies a great sacrifice made by one sister for another, to the end that the family honor may not suffer. The scenes of the play are laid in an old abbey in England and afford interesting glimpses of aristocratic country life. It is filled with numerous thrilling dramatic incidents, not the least absorbing of which is the scene in which the sacrificing sister refuses to give up to its mother the child she has learned to love as her own, and for whose sake she has suffered bitter scandal and reproach.

The picture is based upon the famous play by Henry Arthur Jones, the scenario having been written by Charles Maigne, author of many famous pictures. The production was directed by J. Searle Dawley.

The bagpipes, however, have been found a necessary adjunct in the conduct of a successful charge. They have been known to turn the tide of battle when our men seemed exhausted. The brave pipers play under the fiercest fire giving up not only their own wounded, but it is little wonder, in view of all this, that those who can judge the troops' needs on the spot, emphasize the value of music and make liberal provision for it. As a stimulant to the spirits of the men its importance can hardly be over-estimated."

"MUSIC MAKES FIGHTERS"
In music, as in our lives, there are many kinds of food, and there is a field which is far greater and almost limitless in its scope. Sending our boys to the front without music is akin to sending them without our good wishes. We shall win, and the quicker we realize, both combatants and non-combatants, that their spirit is their success, the quicker the great conflict will be over. Just let our boys feel that they can whistle and sing when and where they please while in the conflict, just so quickly shall we see the merit of our democratic blood. Discipline is essential to be sure, but freedom of mental activities is also essential. Let them sing. Encourage it. It makes them fight.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

The "Hole-in-one-Stunt" is certainly a popular pastime this season in Canada. Four more "Ones" have recently been reported, the performances stretching clear across the Continent. Lieut. Caven turned the trick at the United Service Golf Club in Victoria, B.C., and "down by the soundings sea" at Digby, N.S., Dr.
W. F. Read also negotiated a one.
Two Ontario golfers decided to keep that Province in the running. Mr.
John B. Keeble finding the cup from the tee at the 170 yard, 18th hole,
at Rosedale, Toronto, and Mr. F. J.
Rutherford, the fourth hole at the Eastbourne Golf Club, near Jackson Point, a popular summer resort course. To date, 12 hole-in-ones have been registered in the Dominion or the same number as made during the whole of last year, and still two of the best and busiest golf months to be heard from.

The Eastern professionals have been quite active, giving exhibition matches for the Red Cross. At Little Metis, the brothers Charlie and Albert Murray, and A. Woodward, of Montreal, with the late Mr. J. H.
Cassidy Club, Little Metis, were seen in a most interesting game which netted the very satisfactory sum of $500 for the Red Cross. Then travelling onto St. Andrews, N. B., the Montreal cracks, with the local pro, John Peacock, were instrumental in raising over $400 for the same deserving fund. At St.
Andrews, Albert Murray and A.
Woodward, were pitted against Charlie Murray and Peacock, and took them into camp to the tune of 5 and 4. The winners best ball score was 72 as against 77 for their opponents. St. Andrews has possibly the best sea-side course in Canada, and the Montreal pros. were enthusiastic about the fair greens and greens. There are few better on the Continent.

So successful has the innovation
of keeping sheep on the Rosedale course, Toronto, proved, that the number has been increased to 120, and the directors have decided to carry the "wooly-ones" through the winter. Lucky Rosedale members are looking forward to the "Baba" game, its both patriotic and profitable.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association is out with its programme for the Coast to Coast Red Cross campaign on Thanksgiving Day. All clubs will be asked to observe this holiday on the links by competitors carrying an entrance fee for the Red Cross. The special feature will be an 8-hole handicap event in which each participant will turn in his score on the first round only, whether playing in the morning or afternoon. A specially designed medal will be denated by the Association and awarded to the winner in each club. It is left to the discretion of the individual club to arrange the fee. It has, however, been suggested that a fee of five cents per stroke on the net score of the players be enacted, or if a fixed entrance is considered preferable, that it be $2. There will be three especially designed silk banners, size 3-ft. x 4-ft., donated by the Association to be hung in the three club rooms whose returns are the largest in proportion to their resident men members. Every golf club in the Dominion should, and undoubtedly will, respond joyfully to this deserving call made by the governing body of golf in the Dominion.

The objective aimed at should be at least $15,000. That amount, if more ought easily to be raised by the many clubs, both big and little, belonging to the R. C. G. A.

"Cluck of the Cheery Smile," has always been the lead for his side of 1 up. Mr.
Adams has never before gone through the match of playing before a large gallery. He was nervous ing out, but coming in notched a 37, which was the best 9-hole round of the match. The greatest veteran of them all, Mr. George Lyon, had the best card at Hamilton—a well-played 75.

At Scarborough, the play was 36

AN ENGLISH MOTHER

(By Lieut. C. D. Stelling.)
By the light on the part of Providence, against which for three years he never ceased to rail, the date of Douglas Barker's birth was deferred until 1897 A.D. That epoch-making event took place in the springtime of the year, at one of those typically London houses, in the neighborhood of Hyde Park, which cannot even boast of being semi-detached. His father was a doctor and his mother was—just a mother, an English mother, who unobtrusively devoted the greater part of her life to the welfare of her only son, and what was left to the care of her husband. Thanks to the improvident dispensation which settled the date of Douglas' birth, it happened that when the Prussian hordes overran Belgium in the Austust of 1914, young Barker, to his disgust, was only 15 years of age, a lance-corporal in the Cheltenham
O. T. C., half-back and big House Rugby Tipton and top of the bowling averages in the school cricket eleven.

Of his companions in the Eleven,
he was the only one who had obtained commissions; while from the O. T. C. no fewer than 24 were officers in the Army before Christmas, and several, if not actually at Messin, at least in the hands of "House" wanted to know. For though his father was a healer, there was fighting blood on both sides of his family, and if his paternal glance had not been in doubt at Talavera, his maternal grandfather was at Inkerman. But meanwhile this action of the fighting Barkers had to sit at home and captain his team at football, while the great set war in history was being fought without his help. It was too bad, true, Lord Kitchener had said that England would last three years, but that was too much to hope for, and However Lord Kitchener turned out to be right. As Douglas' approached his 18th birthday—now a sergeant in the O. T. C.—the war was well advanced in its fourth year, and the end was still not yet in sight. Meanwhile Mrs. Barker—and it is of Mrs. Barker that I wish to tell you tonight for nearly 15 years that the war might be ended
before her beloved only son was old enough to join the noble army of those who offered up their lives gladly and without a thought of freedom. But Mrs. Barker was more than a mother, she was an English woman, and would have scorned to show to her son the tears
she might have shed.

By example as well as by precept,
she made it clear to him that to her,
as to him, when the hour arrived,
it would be a joy that he should take his place beside every other young Englishman in the ranks of those who fought against the Prussian menace.
For herself, she spent her days, characteristically, managing a voluntary committee and her husband, it was she said, the least that the daughter of a Colonel who had fought in the Crimea could worthily do. And though in her heart was fear for Douglas, she never let her joy in her mind who knew that she would not have him other than what he was,
virile, eager, thoroughly English.
So, as the day approached when he was to play his part too, in the great and wonderful tragedy that was being enacted on the world-stage, she changed her prayer. It was no longer "O God, my son,
these horrors, O God," but "Grant that he may play a worthy part in the conflict wherein so many of his peers have offered up their lives to Thee, a holy sacrifice."

Douglas stayed at school long enough to captain the fifteen in its annual match against Horrawby—he scored the winning try in the last of the games and he was to win a scholarship at Cambridge,
of which he had no intention of availing himself until the war was over.
Then he suddenly ceased to be a schoolboy and became a first-cadet in an officers' training battalion and then the junior subaltern in the mess of a regiment of the Guards. He spent more months than his immediate superiors in in training quarters on the banks of the Upper Thames, until finally he received his marching orders. In the shape of four days' farewell leave.

He came home to Hyde Park,
where his mother was as occupied as ever with her hospital, but not too occupied to devote many hours of her days and more of her nights to her soldier son. If she had any sorrow in her heart that her son was leaving his home and his career to play his part on the world stage,
of that she never showed it to him.
"Mother," he said to her one evening, as he sat on her bed in the way he had done for nearly as long as he remembered, bidding her a long farewell.

EVERYBODY NEEDS
PURE RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach,
liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. Its acts directly on the blood, forming it of scrupulously pure elements. It is

WILL CURE YOU

Dyspepsia is an advanced stage of indigestion, arising from the stomach refusing to perform its normal functions. Digestion consists in the changing of foods from an insoluble form, so that they may pass through the walls of the alimentary canal and become part of the blood. The stomach keeps the food in almost constant motion for a considerable time to accomplish this purpose; and should this organ not be kept in good condition, indigestion results, to be followed in due course, if not relieved, by dyspepsia. You can keep the stomach performing its functions, and even relieve and cure dyspepsia if you get a Box
